Allege Irregularity in Board of Education Tenders

TRUSTEE EDWIN SMITH DEMANDS INVESTIGATION

Claims Insufficient Time Was Not Allowed by the Members.

ONE CONTRACT ALLOWED London Stationer Asks What Right Member Has To Get Sale of Supplies.

A special meeting of No. 3 committee of the board of education will convene this afternoon to go into the matter of tenders for supplies. It is not properly placed, so as to give all firms a chance to tender on them. There may also be some questions asked in regard to members of the board selling supplies to the board.

Edwin Smith, a member of the board, told the electors of Ward 2 last night that he and the chairman of the board had brought about the meeting over the rushing through of tenders for high school furnishings. Proper time was not allowed, he contended.

C. R. Smith, a stationer, was at the meeting at the Talbot Street School, armed with a bluebook of the board. He asked if it was right that a member of the board should sell large supplies to the board. He read off items. He did, A. A. Langford was the name given.

Trustee Edwin Smith said he was pleased to get the information, and would look into it.

The trouble comes over the short time allowed for the submitting of tenders. It was alleged that tenders advertised on Wednesday have already been let.

This is the principal matter for discussion and airing this Thursday afternoon.

One Contract Allowed.

This matter was brought to the attention of No. 3 committee at the time the tenders were opened, and Trustee Harry Hayman held otherwise, and Trustee Clark was absent. After discussion Trustee Hayman moved that no time limit be extended. There was no opposition.

To date only one contract has been allowed, that of electrical supplies to the approximate value of $500 to a Galt firm. This announcement has met with considerable adverse criticism from those who contend that a local firm should have received the contract. E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities, is highly indignant.

ported as one of the special meeting of No. 3 committee to be held this afternoon many tenders for various types of equipment, desks, chairs, etc., will be considered. Whether Trustee Smith will, as he is reported as having promised at Wednesday night's meeting, "look into matters" is undetermined at this moment.

W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, who has already been reported as having charged members of the board of education with having been hasty in their closing of contracts, explains that he did not make any charge, but simply remarked that such complaints have been made by representatives of firms.

Other Lights Installed.

J. B. Wright, a member of the board, called The Advertiser to protest against the letting of the electric wiring contract to an outside firm.

"Hydro people did not get a square deal," he said.

Mr. Wright declares that the board's method of doing business is wrong. It's a loose way of doing business.

A committee, with perhaps only three men, lets large contracts, and no one knows about them. The board has no say.

He instanced a case where a meeting of his committee, with three present, placed the contract for seats for Victoria school. The contract ran into thousands. The board had no say.

He pointed to Wortley Road School. The committee went over and inspected a room fitted with desks placed by the firm. The committee decided to take these lights.

"I learned to my surprise later that these lights were never purchased. That other lights were installed by another firm. On whose orders I don't know. I know that the committee decided on the lights of the hydro shop."

THINK WRECKAGE FROM MISSING SHIP—NEW YORK

Oswego, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Belief that the wreckage washed ashore at Ford Shoals, near here, yesterday came from the foundered steamer City of New York was expressed by coast-guardsmen today. The City of New York disappeared after leaving here for Trenton, Ontario, Thanksgiving Day, and two days later the bodies of five persons who were aboard were found floating in a yawl in Lake Ontario.

Part of the wreckage included a boat bearing the name "Pennington," but the coast-guardsmen did not believe that it came from the tow barge "L. Pennington."

DR. LLOYD APPOINTED SASKATCHEWAN BISHOP

Prince Albert, Sask., Dec. 1.—Rev. Dr. George Exton Lloyd, formerly archdeacon of the province, and subsequently principal of Emmanuel Divinity College of Prince Albert and Saskatoon, was elected bishop of Saskatchewan at a special meeting of the diocesan synod last evening.

"How We'd Make London PUPILS SUBMIT THEIR IDEAS A Bigger and Better City"

BY HELEN McMILLAN.

"Out of the mouths of babes" is a biblical saying which surely has some verification in the multitude of suggestions offered by children of the city for the making of a bigger and better London. Extremely democratic in my views, and having consulted the businessman, the craftsman, the professional man, the mothers and the youth of the city on this most important of questions, I thought it was only fair to ask the little children.

I had a most sympathetic helper in W. H. Liddicoat, principal of the Talbot Street School. Mr. Liddicoat is a keen lover of these smaller citizens of London, and he believes in their intelligence. And so it was not a surprise to him when they responded to my request so generously and so intelligently, so generously, in fact, that it will be necessary to give their views to the public in three instalments.

"What I would do if I were mayor of London in 1922," was the hypothesis upon which they based their suggestions for a better London.

I should get everyone living in London to be well educated by building schools and universities for them to learn from. I should build better houses and have the streets kept cleaner, so that people would not get diseases. And I would advise people to look before crossing the roads to see that no autos were coming to knock them down.

EARL CHAMBERS.

The first thing I should ask the people would be to keep their lawns and streets tidy. And I should ask the factories to start back to work. This would give Londoners a chance to have some money, and to have lovely homes, and this would make the streets look lovely. Then I should tell the people to clean out all their old attics. This would stop so many fires. Then I should ask the country to fix the roads. Then I would fix the dam at Springbank, and especially pave the road to Springbank.

GORDON BOYCE.

I should hire about fifty more men to keep the streets clean, and have some to go out and inspect every yard in London, and if it is not clean, have these men to clean it all up. And have the people arrested that will not let them clean their back yards.

I should hire more men for the police force to keep the drunken men out of the city, and the men and boys, ladies or girls that swear, to have them arrested.

LEXIE HOEHN.

I should build an extremely wide road in the center of this road I should have grass and lovely flowers and trees for the children and people, so they could sit there when they have no other place to sit. To make it pleasant, I should have an amusement park with a swimming pool, a merry-go-round, a roller-coaster, and all the amusements that I could think of. I should have two or three parks built for the people, so they could go skating and so on.

ALFRED EDWARDS.

I'd work very hard. I'd make farmers work hard. I'd get good food. I'd keep Turn to Page 9, Column 1.

SUPPOSE NOBODY CARED!

ON CHRISTMAS MORN

"Only a poor little nickel, It's all I have to give. But as nickels make the dollars, It may help some child to live."

—MALCOLM.

THIS is a wee note which came slipping into the "Goodfellows' Christmas Cheer Fund" today on a crumpled little scrap of paper, very carefully wrapped about a shining five-cent piece.

And the mite of a five-cent piece was lovingly added to the fifty-cent pieces, to the dollar bills, and to the hundred dollar checks, which are all being funded together to make sad hearts happy and shivering bodies warm on Christmas Day.

The mites are needed just as much as the bigger amounts, for a whole lot of mites can do even more than a single big sum, because they bring with them a great many love messages. The big sums are needed desperately, but so are the mites.

Here's to the mites, then! As the days go on, may you come tumbling into our fund like soft summer rain patters on a tin roof, singing your love messages as you come.

May you come bringing gladness to all folk at Christmas time, overflowing the treasury of the "Goodfellows' Fund" as your hearts overflow with good wishes and eagerness to help.

JUST PLAIN FACT

THE Meighen organ in London carried on its front page a disgusting cartoon, in which the mangled form of a soldier was used in order to create political sentiment for the Meighen candidate in London.

In introducing the matter these words were used:

"The Khaki Call, official organ of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, has the following to say regarding Mackenzie King."

Then followed an attack on the Liberal leader, unfit for republication.

The following wire from the Dominion secretary of the Army and Navy Veterans, Capt. Colebourne, of Montreal, gives the lie direct to the organ's premises:

To the London Advertiser:

"The Khaki Call" is not the official organ of the Army and Navy Veterans."

CAPT. COLEBOURNE.

Dom. Secretary A. and N. V., Montreal.

"To the London Advertiser:

"At the Army and Navy Veterans' Association convention the Army and Navy Gazette was chosen as the official organ of the Veterans in the Dominion of Canada. The 'Khaki Call' ceased to have any connection with the Veterans on the 4th of October last, and according to our constitution our official organ cannot be used for political purposes."

DELAYS DECIDING LONDON WILL CASE

Toronto Judge Reserves Ruling On McCormick Bequests.

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Justice Middleton this morning recognized the "very difficult and delicate" position in which Mrs. McCormick, wife of the late T. P. McCormick, manufacturer, of London, found herself by reason of a clause of her husband's will, which left $10,000 to be distributed among charities, such as certain named organizations, and among certain named relatives and other, in the manner and at times which Mrs. McCormick might advise.

Justice Middleton suggested that the court might relieve her of criticism by the disappointed by directing a distribution, to which she would give her consent, so as to technically comply with the will.

J. D. Montgomery, for Mrs. McCormick, declared that she would like to distribute the fund if she was relieved of the embarrassment of distribution. Organizations identical in name with those named in the will existed throughout the world and he raised the question as to which of these organizations of the same name should share in the fund. She admitted that there were organizations such as those named in London, and that Mr. McCormick had identified himself with their foundation and maintenance.

"The natural place to start from is from the testator's armchair, as a center, and to examine his neighborhood," said Justice Middleton, intimating that he thought it clear that the London organizations were intended to share, and not charities of the same name in Toronto or elsewhere.

"No one who knew the man and who knows London would think otherwise," said J. M. McEvoy, K. C., who appeared for the relatives.

Mr. McEvoy cited authorities to show that half of the fund should be devoted to the charities and the other half to the relatives and others named. Judgment was reserved.

SETS FREIGHT RATE OF EXCHANGE AT 93.8 P. C.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—In accordance with the order of the board of railway commissioners, dated January 14, 1921, the rate of exchange in connection with shipments of freight between points in Canada and United States from December 1 to December 14, inclusive, will be 93 per cent and the surcharge on international passenger business will be based on 9 per cent exchange.

The London Advertiser Straw Vote

The straw vote of The London Advertiser is mounting steadily and continues to create added interest wherever the vote of any large gathering is solicited.

The men of the G. T. R. carshops today showed a keen appreciation of this newspaper's efforts to size up the trend of public opinion, when they were asked during their lunch hour to mark ballots.

The contribution of the workers of this large institution, added to those gathered by reporters in other parts of the city, added very materially to today's total.

Liberals Not Free Traders

THE BIGGEST ISSUE in the campaign, which closes on Tuesday evening, Dec. 6, is the success of Liberal principles in the contest that is being waged more bitterly and more unfairly than ever before to destroy them.

The London Advertiser holds firmly to the belief that no local issue, great or small, personal or otherwise, can be allowed to be brought in at this late hour in order to becloud the issue.

In London there has been a peculiar development, and of that this paper can speak frankly. The Advertiser published pictures of graves of Canadian soldiers in France. This form of campaign was called into question, and Mr. C. R. Somerville saw fit to repudiate this material, using the columns of his opposition paper to do so. The London Advertiser takes full responsibility for the publication of all material appearing in these columns. This paper was willing at the time, and is willing today, to relieve C. R. Somerville of any responsibility for the appearance of that material in the columns of this paper.

Those pictures were absolutely genuine. They were taken by a London father at the grave of his own son, and furnished by him to The Advertiser.

This paper is sincere in its advocacy of Liberal principles. It believes this is a fight for the rights of the people, otherwise it would not be in it. The London Advertiser still believes that C. R. Somerville is the man to represent the city of London in the next House.

His principles and his idea of tariff regulation are in accord with the principles and ideas of this paper.

This city is honeycombed with a campaign to represent C. R. Somerville as a free-trader and the follower of a free-trade party.

The campaign is carried on openly and by whispers. It is used in the personal appeal in a way that it would not dare to appear in the open.

The campaign ignores facts. The speakers on the Meighen platform in this district make direct appeals on the assumption that C. R. Somerville is supporting a party that will wipe out the tariff.

The Liberal party is not in favor of Free Trade. Its leader is not a Free Trader, neither is C. R. Somerville, the London candidate.

IN THE LAST few days of the campaign everything possible is being done to scare the voters into believing that their safety lies in voting for the Meighen candidates. This campaign is nation-wide, and it is being pushed to the extent of intimidation.

The following case comes to light today from Guelph. It is in the form of an advertisement in the Guelph Herald, and reads as follows:

JAMES STEELE, LIMITED.
Manufacturers of Wire Springs.
Guelph, Ont., Canada, Nov. 24, 1921.

TO THE EMPLOYEES OF THIS COMPANY:

THE BONUS AND PROTECTION.

The bonus for October, 1921, averages 7c per hour worked for each man in the shop.

In this bonus you are reaping the benefit of a 10 per cent protection this industry has against foreign competition. Give us a 10 per cent protection against foreign competition on implement springs and we will immediately commence their manufacture, which action would automatically and considerably increase the amount of this bonus.

Remove the protection we now have against foreign competition and you remove the bonus also.

Both the U. F. O. and Liberal parties have made it plain they will reduce the present tariff, and will put many items, including farm implements and parts, on the free list.

Don't vote your bonus away. Vote for protection and thereby assist us to increase it.

This company will support Guthrie.

Yours truly,
JAMES STEELE, LIMITED.
JAS-HF J. A. Steele, Manager.

THE Liberal party is not in favor of Free Trade. Its leader is not a Free Trader, neither is C. R. Somerville, the London candidate.

MACKENZIE KING, where do you stand on this matter of Free Trade?

Speaking at Brantford a few nights ago, Mackenzie King said:

"I AM NOT, THE LIBERAL PARTY IS NOT, IN FAVOR OF FREE TRADE."

"What the country needs is a group of the ablest men we can get whose collective wisdom will guide the ship of state through the years of stress. Should I be entrusted with this higher office—and I believe I will—I will do as Sir Wilfrid Laurier did, surround myself with the ablest men and seek to restore confidence in this country. I will not tell the people I am going to plunge ahead without caring for conditions in years to come. 'It is the letter that killeth; it is the spirit that maketh it whole.' That is the case with the Liberal party. That is the point of view from which the affairs of the country are going to be conducted by the Liberal party if I am prime minister."

WHERE DOES C. R. Somerville, the Liberal candidate in London, stand?

"Let me reassert my position. I AM NOT A FREE-TRADER. THE LIBERAL PARTY DOES NOT STAND FOR FREE TRADE. I do believe in tariff revision in the interests not only of the consuming masses, but also in the interests of the manufacturer himself, because on the general prosperity of the great mass of the people—the toilers in the cities, the farmers, the workers in all lines of production—depends also the prosperity of the employer. That is in essence the Liberal policy."

INSISTS THAT CAPITAL SHIP FIGURES STAND

Ratio Question Has Created Deadlock Among Naval Experts of Two Nations.

AMERICANS CONFIDENT

Chinese Delegates To Bring Shantung Issue Before Conference.

Washington, Dec. 1.—(By Ben Deacon, staff correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—The Washington conference assumed a new aspect today. It has developed, temporarily, into a series of two-nation discussions upon questions of major importance in connection with both the naval armament and far eastern problems.

The delegations of the United States and Japan picked up the work which the naval experts were compelled to abandon yesterday—the settlement of the capital ship ratio question. Japan, it is understood, entered the discussion still determined to maintain her position in regard to the computation of the naval figures. This is that ships under construction should not be included. It would bring her a higher ratio than that allotted her in the United States proposals. The United States delegates are determined that the United States figures must stand, and in this they are believed to have the support of the British delegation, though the latter are leaving it to the United States to persuade Japan that her position is wrong.

British Ready To Accept.

The British, it has been indicated, have reached a decision on the point, and are prepared to accept the proposed ratio at the plenary session to be held next week. Meanwhile the United States and Japanese delegates will thrash out the matter. The naval experts yesterday reported it was impossible for them to reach an agreement, and this put the matter up to the delegates themselves for settlement.

That the United States delegates are likely to win their point is the general opinion of observers here. There are indications that they are becoming impatient at the delay, and will make no concessions in Japan in the matter of the ratio. The question has been raised as to whether the Japanese are not merely bargaining, and there is an impression they will give in when they see further argument on the point is useless. A spokesman for the United States delegation has indicated very clearly that the figures in the Hughes proposals must stand.

Two Nations Involved.

The Shantung question was definitely launched as a development of the conference today. In this also only two nations are directly involved in the discussions, though the representatives of two other nations—Mr. Balfour and Mr. Hughes—will refer to the matter, clearly that the figures in the Hughes proposals must stand.

The first meeting of the Chinese and Japanese representatives is scheduled for this afternoon. Messrs. Balfour and Hughes will be present and will see the discussion started.

LONDON SCOTS HOLD BANQUET ON SAINT'S DAY

Present Jewel To T. H. Purdom, K.C., in Recognition of Service.

HEAR MANY SPEAKERS

Col. Beattie Declares British Empire Biggest Single Factor in World.

St. Andrew's Day was right royally celebrated by London Scots at a banquet held in the Tuncumseh Hotel Wednesday night, the occasion being the 62nd anniversary of St. Andrew's Society, London, Canada.

Over 200 members were present, and listened with a great deal of pleasure to the splendid speeches delivered by Rev. A. Logan Gieggle, Toronto, Rev. D. C. MacGregor, and Rev. Col. Beattie, T. H. Purdom, K.C., Mayor E. S. Little, Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae and Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M. L. A.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a St. Andrew's Society jewel to Mr. T. H. Purdom, who has also been honored by the society by being made its first honorary president and being given a life membership.

Mr. Forbes referred in glowing terms to the work that had been done in the past by Mr. Purdom for the society, while Rowland Munro read the illuminated address that accompanied the presentation. Mr. Purdom has been a member of St. Andrew's Society for the past 42 years, and was given credit for reviving the Scotch spirit in the city when it had become almost dormant some years ago.

Tells of Games.

Mr. Purdom in reply thanked the society for the honor conferred, and spoke of the early days of St. Andrew's in this city, referring to the Caledonian games, recalling a score of the men who had been prominent in the interests of the Scotch people here, and although some liquids have vanished from the banquet tables on such occasions, the "Haggis" was attended to in Hielan honors.

Mr. Purdom, who acted as toastmaster, read telegrams of greetings from St. Andrew's societies in Cornwall, Detroit, Buffalo, Albany, Toronto, Montreal, Kingston, Winnipeg, Windsor, Hamilton, St. Thomas and Quebec.

Col. Beattie, who responded to the toast "The Empire," declared that Canada was a fair example of the colonizing power of Britain, whose ships entered every port of the world.

The speaker referred to the work done by King George in the war, and stated that there is an idealism in the monarchical type of government that no republic could ever have, and that the monarchical idea is the heart and soul of greatness of the British Empire.

Col. Beattie declared that the empire is the biggest single factor in all the world, and that Scotland's empire was in every corner of the world.

"Tonight, the world over, tens of thousands of hearts beat fast to the skirl of the pipes," said Col. Beattie, adding that Scotland has made great contributions to the world in her pursuit of learning, and also in humor.

Like To Hear Them.

"There are no more humorous people in the world than ourselves, and we always like to hear a joke on ourselves," he stated, telling a number of stories that rocked his audience with laughter.

Col. Beattie said that Scotland's chief characteristic today was religion and love of the Scriptures.

Dr. Stevenson, in replying to the toast of "Canada," briefly referred to the country's natural resources. "The world is divided into two classes," said Rev. A. Logan Gieggle, in responding to the toast of "Scotland," "that is the Scots and those who would like to be Scots."

Mr. Gieggle spoke in glowing and affectionate terms of his native country and told of his aspirations and achievements. Scotland was not a land of natural resources, but her people were able to cultivate many fine qualities on oatmeal; in fact, a great nation had been cultivated on oatmeal.

In mentioning the wealth of humor of the Scot, Mr. Gieggle stated that he was an object of ridicule because of the wealth of his personality.

Little Paper Passes.

Mr. Gieggle dwelt on the love of the Scotsman for his country, his cautiousness in speech, and his generosity, and the last characteristic being exemplified by the fact that little paper passes between two Scotsmen doing business. Canada, the speaker declared, needed a larger, intelligent independence of thought regarding public questions of the day.

"May the name and fame of Scotland never die; may she lead a life of honor and be established more and more in righteousness," was the concluding remark of the brilliant Scotch orator from Toronto.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor, who spoke to the toast, "Brothers the War O'er," was introduced by Mr. Purdom, as the "finest preacher in the finest Presbyterian Church west of Toronto."

Mr. MacGregor stated that the Scot has manifested his supremacy when he got away from the old land by reason of his training there, and occupied the foremost places in business and education.

The speaker declared that Canadians had been given a wonderful opportunity to build up a nation and pleaded for a better citizenship, not only a Canadian but a world citizenship.

"If we are going to do our duty by the world we must think in terms of the yellow and black men as well as the white," he declared.

Those who took part in what was voted the best musical program ever put on at a St. Andrew's banquet were: A. G. McCulloch, Earl McAllister, Donald Ellis, I. B. Ballantyne and Anderson. Recitations by John Kellman were heartily enjoyed.

COMPANY HEAD SHOOTS HIMSELF

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—C. W. Meekins of the Meekins' Brush Company, Craig street west, this city, accidentally shot himself this afternoon.

While in the garret of his office, it is supposed that he pulled a gun toward him while it was lying on a bench. The trigger caught in some obstruction and the discharge lodged in his breast, death being instantaneous.

EVADES DIRECT ANSWERS TO PLAIN QUESTION

Charge Made Against Premier Meighen by Major Duncan Ross At Ilderton.

HAS BROKEN* PLEDGES

Declares Sergt.-Major Rawlings in Reviewing Government Promises To Soldiers.

Major Duncan Ross, Liberal nominee for East Middlesex, presented his platform to the people of Ilderton at a meeting held there Wednesday night, which brought a gathering of hearers who filled the hall to capacity.

Sergt.-Major J. Rawlings and Captain A. E. Reason also spoke at the meeting which was presided over by Colonel B. Robson.

"I stand absolutely behind Mackenzie King's platform," said Major Ross, "which is known everywhere." He declared that "a whispering campaign" had been carried on against him by means of which he had been accused of backing free trade and of having declared himself in favor of cutting down pensions for soldiers, neither of which accusations "or reports were true."

The candidate directed a verbal broadside against the orders-in-council of the present administration, making particular reference to the one which had loaded on the people the railways and that which had been passed allowing the building of ships for the Merchant Marine, "ships now lying idle looking for cargoes."

The questions put to Mr. Meighen by Mackenzie King, which could have been answered by a direct "yes" or "no" had been evaded, the reply of Sir Henry Drayton to the question regarding the Brixton case was of the nature of an evasion, since it was full of technicalities which left the people at sea.

Vindicates King.

The constituency of East Middlesex was one of the few, said the candidate, where the war record of Mackenzie King had been brought into the campaign. Mr. King had fully cleared himself in that matter on the floor of the House of Commons, said the candidate. He then challenged the war record of Meighen, who had been offered a battalion to command by the minister of militia, but who had not accepted.

"I know that the feeling in the country is against the government, underlying which is felt the need for a change. This is not the government of Sir John A. Macdonald. I fear that if he looked down at the present party he would say: 'This is not my handiwork.'"

A misnomer was the name National Liberal Conservative party, the Liberal being inserted to influence weak-kneed Liberals, said Major Ross.

Sergt.-Major J. Rawlings in his address attacked with vehemence the pledges which the government had made to the soldiers, and which had been broken. The re-establishment of men categorized as A1 on their return home, but who, through the effects of long years of hard work, had found themselves incapable of doing hard work, were now objects of charity, said the speaker.

Your farm earns less— make your money earn more!

From the high prices of 1920 to the low prices of today is a drop that is making thrifty farmers and their wives consider and take advantage of every safe means for increasing revenue.

"This government has not re-established returned men," he declared. Capt. A. E. Reason presented the farmers' point of view, showing how the present administration's policy of allowing exorbitant freight rates had caused hardship to the farmer. "The railroad commission has this government tied hand and foot, and they will do as they wish," he declared.

HEARTY THANKS TO LONDON CITIZENS

Major Gordon Cooper, Candidate for Board of Education.

"It is one of the greatest honors that the people of London can bestow upon a fellow-citizen when they elect him as a member of the board of education."

Last election, I was nominated, ran, and was defeated by the small majority of eight votes. I had just returned from overseas after an absence of some five years, and was anxious to offer my services to the citizens of London during the period of readjustment. I hold my absence as a reason for my defeat, and I am sure that the feelings of my friends and fellow-citizens are with me at the coming election.

I take this opportunity of thanking each and every supporter of the last election, and I again respectfully solicit your support for this election. Should I be elected at the coming election I will pursue the policy of intelligent economy in educational matters.

PLATE GLASS BREAKS WHILE ARRANGING SPECIAL DISPLAY.

Probably the window-trimmer at Todd's, 150 Dundas street, was a trifle careless this morning while arranging a special display for the big three-day sale which opens Thursday. He had the misfortune to break a very useful plate glass fixture by piling on too heavy a load of pure wool English cashmere socks, to sell at 75 cents per pair. Every man needs socks, and should make a special effort to get in on this offer before they are gone. See window displays tonight, sure.

PRINCE GOES ON HUNT FOR BOARS

JODHPUR, British India, Nov. 30.—The Prince of Wales engaged in his boar hunt at early dawn today with five teams of men, each team with four spears. Many women accompanied the hunting party. Numerous big black boars were found. The prince obtained his first kill by riding down his boar and securing a clean and vigorous thrust at a vital spot.

ADMIRAL BEATTY SAILS FOR HOME

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Admiral Beatty sailed for home today with Lady

Beatty on the steamer Adriatic after "six weeks of a happy, hectic time" in the United States and Canada. The hero of Jutland, dressed in mufti, said he was coming to this continent again, "just as soon as I jolly well can."

PRaises FIRST AID CLASS WORK

Dr. J. C. Copp, Toronto, Inspects Lord Kitchener Nursing Division No. 28.

A broom, a stick, some rolls of newspaper and improvised bandages, these were the emergency supplies used by members of Lord Kitchener Nursing Division, No. 28, in giving a demonstration of rendering first aid to a street accident case at an inspection and presentation of certificates, labels and medallions Wednesday evening in the headquarters, corner Dundas and Teab-street, by Dr. J. C. Copp, assistant commissioner for the Dominion of St.
John Ambulance Brigade Overseas.

The accident victim in question was supposed to have a fractured hip and to be in an unconscious condition from shock. Dr. Copp, Col. T. J. Murphy, A.D.M.S., M. D. No. 1; Dr. H. W. Hill, director Institute of Public Health, and other doctors present, gave warm praise to the dispatch with which the patient was made comfortable (provided he had suffered the alleged injuries), the efficiency with which he was placed on a stretcher and removed from it to a bed, hastily prepared as part of a demonstration of home-nursing.

Emergency Service.
Addressing the division, the class receiving certificates, and other members of the interested audience, Dr. Copp emphasized the point that the policy of St. John Ambulance work in the years of its history has been to render prompt and efficient emergency service in the way of first aid, in street, factory or other accident, and when unexpected illness occurs. Maternity nursing, classes which have proved especially popular in London, he classed as a training for possible emergency along that direction.

Emphasis was laid on the importance for everyone of understanding how to produce artificial respiration. The prone method was demonstrated and recommended for its simplicity and effectiveness, the patient laid on his stomach, head on one side, supported by an arm. In this position the tongue naturally falls forward and does not need to be held. The full weight of Supper.

More than 175 junior boys were present at the Trail Ranger Grand Camp held in the Y. M. C. A. Building Wednesday night. Supper was served at 6:15 o'clock, during which Allan Kay mayor of the boys' council, led an enthusiastic sing-song.

The toast to the king, proposed by Ross Moulton, was responded to by the boys, who sang the National Anthem.
Millard Grant, chief ranger, made an efficient chairman. He welcomed the groups to the Y. M. C. A., and briefly outlined the work of the Trail Rangers and the interest they have manifested

Wingfoots Gain Shield.
George Tambling, in presenting the Rotary shield to the Knox Wingfoots, declared that there had been intense competition among the Trail Ranger groups in their sport events and he hoped that the same competition would remain in future programs, and that all their sport events would be clean.

The toast to the city of London was proposed by George Winder and responded to by B. Spierin. The addresses were marked by appreciative tributes to the Forest City.

The toast to the C. S. E. T. proposed by William Grey, was responded to by William Young, who represented the Boys Community Council. He spoke of the value of the C. S. E. T. for boys, and said the program is to develop a

ASHPLANT READY FOR GAS COMPANY
Ex-Ald. Henry B. Ashplant, who as an alderman candidate this year in Ward 4, holds that the existing agreement between the city and the gas company should not be renewed upon expiration in May next.

"I am taking this stand before the electors of my ward this year," said
Mr. Ashplant at the Labor Temple on Wednesday evening. "This agreement was made over the heads of the elected city council by the Drury government at its last session. Both Mayor E. S.
Little and Ald. John Bridge spent some time in Toronto on this job, but they are what you might term practically down and out."

Ex-Ald. Ashplant predicts that when the contract expires a strenuous attempt will be made to renew the $1.25
gas. "They will make a start," he said,
"for $1.40, and let it go for $1.25. But I suggest the 90 cent gas."

SUGGESTS PLACE FOR NEW EAST END SCHOOL
The matter of a new school for the east end of the city has been mentioned several times by speakers at the political meetings. If such a school is to be erected, Ald. Fred Watkinson contends that the logical site is the corner of Ashland avenue and York street. It is the center of a large growing industrial area, and at the present time the many children in this section have a long way to go to get to any of the four schools serving the eastern part of the city.

MIDDLESEX MEDICAL MEN HEAR ADDRESSES
At the meeting of the Middlesex Medical Association held in the Tecumseh House Wednesday afternoon, a paper by Dr. George Strathroy of Toronto University on "The Defectual Diagnosis of Pain in the Back" was read. There was much discussion on this subject.
Dr. W. Doan of Harrietsville spoke on "Medical Treatment of the Gout." It was decided to hold the next meeting early in January.

Following are the names of the doctors who attended: A. F. Thompson, Strathroy; W. Doan, Harrietsville; J. R.
McCabe, Strathroy; A. Smith, Dorchester; O. W. Milton, Granton; and W. H.
Woods, Mount Brydges.

LONDONER WINS PRIZE

Chicago, Dec. 1.—In the South Down sheep classes at the live stock and grain show, Robert McEwen, of London, Ont.,
Cecil Stobbs, Wheatley, Ont., and J.
D. Larkin, Buffalo, N. Y., who has a farm in Ontario were winners.

Two additional Canadian corn winners during the day were H. L. Thomson of Ottawa, with an exhibit of Flint corn. Mr. Thomson finished seventh in region No. 1. In region No. 2, ten ears of white corn, B. R. Cohoe of South Woodlee, Ont., was also a premium winner.

RAINFALL WAS HEAVY DURING PAST MONTH
The weather statistics for the month of November and for the corresponding month in 1920 as issued by the government weather bureau are as follows:
Rainfall, 2.52 inches; snow, 12 1/2 inches;
the warmest day of the month was the 12th, when the temperature rose to 63; the coldest day was the 12th, when the temperature went down to 20.

For the corresponding month last year: Rainfall, 1.25 inches; snow, 7 1/2 inches; the warmest day was the 9th, when the temperature rose to 60. The coldest day was the 12th, the temperature being 18.

TO BORE 8 TEST WELLS IN LONDON

Eight new test holes have been laid out by the drillers of the Ohio Well
Digging Company of Massillon, Ohio, who for weeks past have been probing
for water in the London area.

The experts feel somewhat enthusiastic over their new prospects, and fully expect that at least two of the new wells will prove satisfactory.

All the new tests are based upon the results of the first survey of six wells.

TO BORE 8 TEST WELLS IN LONDON

Eight new test holes have been laid out by the drillers of the Ohio Well
Digging Company of Massillon, Ohio, who for weeks past have been probing
for water in the London area.

The experts feel somewhat enthusiastic over their new prospects, and fully expect that at least two of the new wells will prove satisfactory.

All the new tests are based upon the results of the first survey of six wells.

PRESS ADVISES PRESERVATION OF IRISH TRUCE

British Newspapers Appeal Against Renewal of Bloodshed If Parley Fails.

FURTHER EFFORT LIKELY

Sinn Fein Authorities Expect To Meet Government Representatives Again.

London, England, Dec. 1.—Preservation of the truce in Ireland, whatever may happen to the peace negotiations, is being urged today by a considerable section of the British press. It is suggested that this be achieved through adjournment of the conference to a fixed date a month or six weeks hence.

The Sinn Fein publicity department has reiterated this forenoon that it expected further meetings between the government and the Sinn Fein delegates, and it is believed arrangements regarding the truce will be considered at the next meeting.

The original truce terms provided no plan for its cessation, and it felt, it is said, that even if it develops that hostilities must be renewed provision should be made fixing a definite date for abandonment of the pact instead of letting the truce break down without notice, which has been considered in many quarters the probable outcome.

On the other hand the spectre of renewed bloodshed in Ireland stirs the British press in the face of the consequences of the virtual collapse of the peace negotiations for the last five months.

Wants United Ireland.

The Sinn Fein has stood firm on its demand for an all-Ireland parliament as the basis of settlement, at the same time refusing to concede allegiance to the British crown. Ulster has refused point blank to scrap her own parliament to enter an all-Ireland legislature "under present conditions" on the ground that she would thereby come directly under the control of the numerically superior south.

The latest plan, that for an all-Ireland parliament, under which Ulster could retain her existing rights until, or unless, she changed her mind, has been rejected by the government. A statement by the Sinn Fein delegation here that it cannot be considered.

As a result, in both government and Irish circles, the opinion is expressed that nothing short of a complete reversion to complete collapse of the negotiations and resumption of the warfare in Ireland.

Seek New Avenue.

The government, however, bending their entire efforts to seeking some avenue of negotiation yet unexplored, but it is believed all possibilities of a settlement have been exhausted during the lengthy parley which seem now to have ended. As to how long the truce will last under present conditions there is no indication.

The Sinn Fein have expressed the view that there could be no formal denunciation of the pact by either side, and this leads to the belief that any spark of combat set off in Ireland with the peace movement apparently deadlocked might start the conflagration anew.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GREY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, grey hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you get this same old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says the darkest hair he has seen lately is even that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking the strands at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Paris Actors Planning a Campaign Against "Theatre Cough"

PARIS, Dec. 1.—Paris actors have decided to organize a campaign against the "theatre cough." Coughs, they say, have a habit of occurring at dramatic moments in the plays and spoiling the effect intended by the playwrights.

There is little excuse for 75 per cent of the "theatre cough" according to French specialists. They say a moment's concentration when the cough is felt to be coming on will usually prevent it. There have been instances of actors threatening to stop performances marred by the coughing in the audience.

Following is a short resume of the last actions filed at the court house, all of which are non-jury.

Money Due On Alterations.

G. N. Weeks for Plaintiff, and V. A. Sinclair of Tillsonburg for Defendant.

Thomas Traver, a farm hand, who is now residing in London, claims $612 for wages and breach of agreement. Gordon C. Culham, a farmer living near Morpeth, is the defendant.

Mr. Culham alleges that Traver was not competent, and that he treated his horse badly. The action is dismissed.

G. N. Weeks for Plaintiff, and O. K. Watson, Ridgeway, for Defence.

M. White & Son, London, are suing the Union Tr. and Men. Company of Toronto for $75.28 in settlement of an account and for material ordered that was not up to specifications.

The defence submits that there was never any agreement to accept less than the contract price.

McKillop & Douglas for Plaintiff, and Norman Somerville & Co. for Defence.

Apples Were Frozen.

E. C. Fraude of Warwick, Ont., is suing the G. T. R. for $1,040 damages. He alleges that owing to negligence on the company's part 34,900 pounds of apples were frozen en route to Copper Cliff.

The G. T. R. disputes this claim and in turn wants $152 for freight charges from the plaintiff.

McKillop & Douglas for Plaintiff, and W. H. Bigger, Toronto, for Defence.

The Webster Construction Company is claiming $55.56 from Isaac Hersch and H. Taechman for rent and taxes under a contract made on March 3, 1918.

The defence states that the building burned down in December, 1920, and they had to seek new premises.

The Sharples Separator Company of Toronto is suing George T. Markham and the G. T. Markham Cheese Company of West Lorne for $736.95, alleged to be due on the purchase of goods.

The defence claims that the agreement called for payment as the equipment paid for itself, and that he remitted the company the share of the profits. When he sold the factory he notified the company to remove their churn.

A. A. McTavish, Parkhill, for Plaintiff and Norman F. Newton, Parkhill, for Defence.

Willing To Pay.

The Savoie Hat Company of Toronto alleges that the Royal Millinery and Ladies' Wear Company of London owes $232 for hats delivered, while the defence claims that the hats were not according to sample, and stands willing to pay for the goods actually kept.

Ed Davis of St. Mary's is suing the Dominion Flax, Limited, and A. L. McCredie of St. Mary's for $36 wages and $500 damages for breach of agreement. The plaintiff alleges that he was to have been paid $6 per day for his services for one year, commencing August 1, 1920. In January, 1921, defendant wanted to cut his wages in two. Defendants claim that there was a contract and that Davis accepted $3 per day.

A. G. Chisholm for Plaintiff and Robertson, Chadwick, Sedgwick & Aitchison, Toronto, for Defence.

B. C. LEGISLATURE TO ASSIST UNEMPLOYED

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 1.—Amendments to the provincial liquor act were not brought up in the legislature yesterday afternoon, as was expected. A lengthy discussion of unemployment relief, during which the amount of the forthcoming government grant for this purpose, was not revealed, and an opposition motion dealing with by-elections occupied the legislature until the dinner recess.

The motion for by-elections to fill two vacancies in the house was defeated, 23 to 17.

$8,000,000 BOND ISSUE WITHDRAWN IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Dec. 1.—The $8,000,000 bond issue offered by the city two weeks ago to meet a deficit in the city's revenues in 1922 was taken from the market today when a lone bid was withdrawn. New bids will be called for.

SHOVEL BUSINESS OF FINANCE BOARD

Two Members Present Unable To Deal With Urgent Issues.

Despite the fact that there has been a long agenda hanging fire for weeks, through questions being laid over from time to time in the absence of a majority of the members, the finance committee failed to get anywhere on Wednesday afternoon, and the great bulk of important business had to be shelved over again.

Only Chairman Fred Watkinson and Ald. Harley showed up for the meeting, and their effort to transact some of the pressing business was worse than useless.

If the city is to have a City of London bill for the next session of the legislature it will cost the ratepayers something to have it considered. The next meeting will not allow for to advertise the measure. It will have to go in late and this will mean quite a nice little fine.

In all there were 38 items, about half of them important and demanding more or less immediate attention, to have been dealt with by the committee. Some of the most pressing will be taken up by the chairman, and the rest will be dealt with at the next meeting of the committee, Dec. 14. Some items on the agenda have appeared for the last three or four meetings, and will go on to the next.

Members of the finance committee are: Ald. Watkinson, Harley, J. C. Wilson, G. A. Wenige, John Bridge and Watt. The latter is seriously ill.

TO CLOSE EIGHT COAL MINES IN CAPE BRETON

Glouce Bay, N. C., Dec. 1.—Because the slack demand for coal will only warrant the production of 5,000 tons a week, eight Cape Breton collieries, controlled by the British Empire Steel Corporation, will close down this week.

H. J. McCann, assistant general manager of the Dominion Coal Company, told a miners' delegation which waited on him today. Over 2,500 men are affected, but so far as possible they will be given work in collieries continuing production.

Announcement was made last night that the closing of the Dominion machine shops here reported as permanent, is a temporary measure.

CANNOT HOLD REUNION UNLESS RATES REDUCED

Edwin Smith, secretary of the London Old Boys' Association, received a communication from G. H. Webster, secretary of the Canadian Passengers' Association, Montreal, stating that the question of reduced railroad rates for the London Old Boys' Association was left in abeyance until another meeting of the association. The present railroad rates for the London Old Boys' Association are too high to make a reunion possible.

Secretary Smith declares that it is impossible to hold an old boys' reunion in 1922 unless they receive reduced rates, unless the Canadian Passengers' Association at its next meeting, preparations will be made by the London Old Boys' Association for a reunion.

REGINA HOCKEY PLAYER JOINS OTTAWA TEAM

Regina, Dec. 1.—The information that Morley Bruce had signed a contract to play for the Ottawa Senators this season was a disappointment to W. W. Champ, owner of the local professional team.

Mr. Champ declared that Leth Graham and Eddie Lowrey, from Ottawa, and Gordon McKinnon, from Vancouver, had left these cities to join the local team.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

A meeting of the central committee and all the ward chairmen of the various men's clubs in the city will be held in the Tecumseh House today to report on the canvass being conducted on behalf of the Western University bursar. Everything is being done to assure success, and no effort will be spared between now and Monday in order to acquaint every voter with the facts of the case. The committee have had a large number of speakers at the big factories throughout the week and have sent out a large number of circulars, besides advertising in the papers.

THE CUSTOMS house reports the following returns for the month of November: Import duty, $117,842.50; excise tax, $85,774.65; excise duty, $24,321. sundry, $378.95. These total $228,986.52.

IN ORDER that any outstanding business, the passing of accounts, etc., may be cleared up before the last regular meeting of the board of education on Dec. 6, the secretary has called the additional committee meetings for this week. No. 2 committee meets on Friday at 4:30 p.m., while the industrial advisory committee will meet the same day at 8 p.m.

POLICE COURT statistics, compiled for the past three months as far as summary convictions are concerned, show that 965 convictions were registered in the big police court blotter, while fines paid into court totalled $8,244. "The statistics are growing," stated Mr. Moule, in reply to a question. "The three months previous were record-breakers and the last quarter was pretty nearly on a par."

A MOTOR CAR stolen from Komoka Tuesday night and owned by Stanley Sinker, was recovered four miles from the village. The motor found on the north end of the city on Wednesday night by the police is owned by George R. Brien of Ridgeway, and it is thought that the thieves who entered the M. C. R. station there on Tuesday night used Mr. Brien's car to make their getaway.

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES commission will not hold its regular session Thursday afternoon. Commissioner Jared Vining is confined again to his home, having taken a slight cold at the recent meeting of municipal candidates in the east end hall. He expects to be out and around again, however, by the end of the week. Commissioner Vining is one of the two retiring members of the utilities board who are seeking reelection.

Doukhobors Barred From U. S. Stage Naked Dance As Protest

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 1.—Three men from the Doukhobor settlement near Nelson, B. C., discarded all their garments in a waiting-room at the Canadian Pacific Railroad here and paced off a protesting war dance when they were refused admittance to the United States. They were arrested by Vancouver police for disorderly conduct.

United States Immigration Commissioner Hendrick had questioned them as to their fitness to proceed on their journey to the State of Washington as prospective settlers. He found their views coincided with the accepted definition of "philosophical anarchism," and declined them the hospitality of his government. The naked dance was the result.

LABOR CANDIDATE RAPS OPPONENTS

Adds Large Rally At Perrin Plant On Political Issues.

"Tell me if Charles R. Somerville, who represents the financial interests, can properly represent you at Ottawa," challenged Arthur Mould, the Labor standard-bearer, addressing the employees of the Perrin Biscuit Company at Thursday.

"C. R. Somerville is a financier, pure and simple. If he were still a manufacturer I could challenge him as such on different grounds. There is not a girl or a woman in this room, but who knows that I need say no more on this question."

Men Represent Movement.

"I still maintain that it makes no difference how splendid a gentleman may be or what church he goes to, you must recognize the fact that men represent movements and what they profess one day of the week they should live up to the other six days. C. R. Somerville represents special financial interests and as such cannot fail to legislate at Ottawa for them."

"How can a man like Somerville ask the workers and the returned soldiers to represent him when we see him only yesterday turning against his own supporters? Why, I don't know, but it appears to me as if there is something radically wrong somewhere."

"Belong to the Labor Gang."

"Let the returned men look at the question of insurance during the war, and how he turned down a proposal for their betterment. I say, can you trust a man whose record as a 'turn-coat' is so obvious? These developments show to my mind, that White and Somerville belong to the same gang."

Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London spoke briefly, reviewing the record of the farmer-Labor Government of Ontario.

GIVES DETAILS OF MOPLAH TRAGEDY

Guard Tells Why He Ignored Prisoners' Cries For Water.

Tirur, India, Dec. 1.—Testimony as to the circumstances surrounding the suffocation recently of 64 Moplah prisoners while being transferred from Shoranur to Bellary in a closed railway wagon was taken by the official commission of inquiry here on Tuesday.

The reserve policeman in charge of the wagon told of the prisoners shouting for water during the journey, and said he refused to heed their cries, because it was not customary to supply water on the trips before reaching Podanur. He said he had taken prisoners over the same route in similar vans on fifteen previous occasions with similar attention; moreover, the prisoners were not large enough to allow him to open the doors of the van without the possibility of the prisoners escaping.

When the Moplahs entered the wagon, he testified, they appeared to be in a healthy condition.

The policeman described the scene in the van when the front compartment was opened at Podanur. All the prisoners were lying down, many were unconscious, and the others were groaning.

The inspector for the South Indian Railway testified that only subsequently to the tragedy was it discovered that the mesh of the wire ventilating gauze in the van had been blocked by a fresh application of paint.

SIX DIE IN PORTLAND HEAD-ON TRAIN CRASH

Portland, Ore., Dec. 1.—Six persons were killed in a head-on collision early today by the eastbound Portland-Spokane Limited and westbound Oregon-Washington Limited trains of the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation Company, 20 miles east of Celilo. Twenty-two persons were injured. Among the dead was A. H. McBride, a marine, who was guarding the mail on one of the trains. The others who were killed included two trainmen and three Oregon passengers.

ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF WORKING ON SUNDAY

Mike Sobel was charged in the police court Thursday morning with working on his usual calling at the Simcoe street rink last Sunday. The evidence went to show that Sobel and two friends, William Butler and Harold Cartwright, had merely been hauling up some boxes to replenish the fire, and that no work had been attempted. Sobel was discharged by the court.

James Wonch pleaded guilty to stealing 50 cents' worth of coal from the Scott-Chamberlain Company, and was remanded till Friday, when the case of his companion, Gordon White, will be tried.

Ben Shapiro was fined $5 or ten days for a breach of the Lord's Day act.

WILL LIKELY PROPOSE GERMANY IS BANKRUPT

Paris, Dec. 1.—A receivership for Germany as a bankrupt with an autonomous Rhineland to be exploited by the Allies for reparation purposes, was likely to be proposed by France as an alternative to any moratorium on reparations that may be suggested by Great Britain, it was said in official circles here today.

NOTIFIES BANKS IN SHILLINGTON CASE

Pinkerton Agency Sends Out Detailed List of Missing Bonds.

Almost a month after the theft of stocks and bonds from the London and Western Trusts Company, the banks of the city have been officially notified by the Pinkerton Detective Agency of Toronto regarding the matter.

The circular, which contains two pictures of Harold Shillington, the missing accountant of the trust company, states that a reward of $1,000 has been offered for his capture, which expires Nov. 1, 1922, and that Shillington is wanted for the theft of 69 Grand Trunk Pacific bonds, due 1929, and 15 Dominion of Canada war loan bonds, due March 1, 1937, and numbered E41613 to E41627, inclusive.

Shillington is described as being 5 feet, 10 inches in height, age 26, weight 170 pounds; medium build, dark complexion, brown eyes and dark hair. A description of the clothes worn by the young man when last seen is also given. The circulars displayed in some of the bank windows attracted large crowds of curious people during the afternoon.

Assistant Manager Duncan McArthur of the London and Western Trusts Company, declared that he had no new information about the case. He would not say that the bonds mentioned in the circular composed the entire list of securities missing.

DEFENDS CONDUCT OF WELFARE WORK

Alderman Harley Replies To Charge of "Overlapping."

In discussing the social welfare work being done in the city, Ald. Frank Harley this morning took exception to a recent suggestion that there was a good deal of overlapping among organizations doing this work.

"On the contrary," said Mr. Harley, "at a recent conference, called to inquire into this very question, with a view to deciding the need of amalgamating the various welfare agencies under one head, it was found that in the place of overlapping there were opportunities for greater work even than was being done."

Favor Civic Department.

"I am not, however," continued the alderman, "minimizing the value to the community of a central office to co-ordinate the work of these organizations. Such a central office should preferably be a civic department, with a definite system and policy; co-operating with these various agencies. Many cities the size of London have such a department, doing wonderful work in the communities, and larger places like Toronto, have perfected organizations along this line, which not only make for economy but more that we have such of the humanitarian problems of the city."

"In my opinion the care of children is one of the most important problems we have to deal with today, and unless we are united to the city, we will undoubtedly suffer for our neglect in the future," continued Ald. Harley.

Comments S. A. C. Work.

"The work among the families carried on by the Soldiers' Aid Commission in this city has been the most valuable from a community standpoint of any work that we have undertaken, and with the seriousness of the present unemployment situation, it is a mighty good thing that we have such an organization in existence, functioning for the relief of distress and the upbuilding of the homes in the city."

WANTS CITY TO SUBMIT TENDER

Mayor Suggests That London Figure On New Highway Paving.

The outlook is that next year's council will not initiate nearly as much paving as has been done during the past year. This has been stated as a fact by one of the members of the council.

The suggestion is being sent forward to the new council, that such being the case it might be good business for the engineer to tender on the laying of the new highway to the city, which is to be started in the spring.

The suggestion came from Mayor Little. He said that the plan may be little part of the time, and was satisfied that the city could enter a tender, do the work considerably cheaper than contractors, and at the same time bring a nice profit to the city, and thus help to pay for the paving plant.

The engineer's tender would be higher than the cost of city work so as to allow for a profit and the extra cost of securing a supply of water.

COMMITTEE TO ASSIST "DRY" DRIVE IN MICHIGAN

Detroit, Dec. 1.—The vigilance committee organized here recently during the visit of Prohibition Commissioner Hayes, plans to continue its assistance to local prohibition officials, despite reported criticism of its methods by officials of the treasury department at Washington, it was announced today.

Hundreds of liquor law violators have been reported to the authorities since the movement was launched, it was said. James R. Davis, federal prohibition director for Michigan, said he would welcome the reports of members of the committee and rely upon them for much of his information unless orders to the contrary were received from Washington.

FORD WORKMAN IS KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Windsor, Dec. 1.—Albert Rechle, aged 39, of Ford, Ont., was electrocuted when he touched a live wire hanging from a telephone pole on Ottawa street, Ford, while on his way to work at 7:30 o'clock today. He was employed there in the machine shop as assistant foreman. He died within five minutes, a heavy voltage of electricity going through his body.

According to an investigation made by Chief Albert Maisonneville of the Ford police, the wire which Rechle came in contact with was broken late Wednesday afternoon by a steam shovel owned by contractors in charge of the paving on Ottawa street.

THE BANK CLEARINGS FOR THIS WEEK WERE $3,104,700, AND FOR THE CORRESPONDING WEEK LAST YEAR $3,502,044, A DECREASE OF $397,341.

Kiwanians Will Play Santa Claus To 62 London Boys

THE Kiwanians are planning a big turkey dinner and Christmas tree for the 62 underprivileged London boys whom they have pledged themselves to look after this year. The dinner is arranged for Thursday night, Dec. 22, at the Tecumseh House, and the tree will be laden with all manner of winter needs for these boys.

They have estimated that the amount which will be necessary to give these boys the privileges which are their due as future citizens of London, is about $3,700. Among their plans to raise this sum is the dance which the Kiwanis Club is holding in the Winter Garden tonight.

INSISTS FREIGHT RATES TOO HIGH

Crerar Declares the Western Farmers Paying Too Much For Shipping Grain.

Fox Warren, Man., Dec. 1.—Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.—There would be 166,000 farmer members of the House of Commons if the farmers were represented at Ottawa in the same ratio as are the lawyers," declared Hon. T. A. Crerar, Progressive leader, speaking here last night. He said he had been credibly informed that this was a correct estimate. Once again he denied that the Progressive movement aimed at government by class.

Mr. Crerar insisted that freight rates were too high. He stated it was costing the western farmers $10,000,000 more this year to ship out their grain than for the same quantity in 1918. In his argument tending to show that the protective tariff policy had entirely failed to provide the farmer in Canada with a home market, More than 50 per cent of the Liberal party in Canada stood squarely in favor of protection, Mr. Crerar asserted, in commending to his audience the advantages to be secured by reciprocal trade arrangements with the United States.

Asked if he advocated the closing of grain exchanges, Mr. Crerar said he could hardly answer the question. The grain exchange, he said, was a medium for gathering valuable information about the world's markets. If the exchange was closed some other medium would have to be organized.

DAIRY REPORT SHOWS COW-TESTING ADVANCE

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—The dairy and cold storage branch of the Dominion department of agriculture reports a great increase in the number of herds and cows under test. Complete returns for this year are not available, but last year the increase was marked, especially in the Province of Quebec, where upwards of a hundred per cent more testing was performed in 1920 than in 1919.

The total number of herds tested in the nine provinces in 1920 was 3,847, against 2,416 in 1919, and of cows 33,382, against 22,517. The increase last year, due chiefly to Quebec and to Ontario and Nova Scotia in a lesser degree. The last-named province shows an increase of 155 herds, compared with 23 in Ontario.

In the matter of richness of milk, taking only the cows recorded for the full year, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia rank equal in the tests, with a percentage of 3.9, Quebec coming next with 3.8, followed by Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island with 3.7, Manitoba and Ontario with 3.5 and Alberta with 3.4.

FORDNEY'S BILL HAS FAILED TO BRING RELIEF

Declares Mrs. E. Grange While Discussing High Tariff At Women's Meeting.

NO DROP IN PRICES

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 30.—Before a large and attentive mass meeting of women in the public library Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Edward Grange of London gave an inspiring address in the interest of William Tolmie, Liberal leader in West Elgin.

Mrs. Grange dealt with the women's ballot, asserting that although all parties claimed the credit of giving women the vote none could really do so, as women's franchise came about in the natural course of things, as women gradually took a greater part in the nation's affairs. Since women had the vote, it was their duty to study national affairs, and vote rationally and intelligently.

She outlined the course of the Conservative government, since it came into power, stressing especially the huge debt, as large as that incurred by the war, with which it had burdened the average citizen and taxpayer, by taking over two bankrupt railways, and encouraged the building of a merchant marine, which has become a white elephant, eating up millions of dollars of public funds.

The Horden Company was cited as an instance of a government catering to the privileged classes. Although they could afford to pay large dividends and pay the United States a huge business tax for their American branches, they were allowed to pay the Canadian government, badly in need of money, with an I. O. U. Mr. Average Man was forced, she said, to part with cash, which he needed.

Same Old Stand.

Comprising the stand now with the Conservative government taken when they had taken when the Liberals were last returned to power. Mrs. Grange said: "The Conservatives claim now, as they did then, that the Liberals are advocating a platform of free trade. This is based entirely on a misconception. The Liberal government stands for the people and a readjustment of the tariff, which will benefit, not the 'privileged' classes, but the consuming masses."

Mrs. Grange refuted the argument used by the Conservatives that Canada must raise her tariff in her own defence, as every other nation in the world found it necessary to use a high protection tariff. She stated that Canada, while needing retrenchment and the strictest economy, had not the huge expenditures of European countries to compete with, and also that it was a generally acknowledged fact, even by the men who passed it, that the Fordney bill had not accomplished the great things that were expected of it. It had brought no relief to the unemployment situation, and no drop in prices, either to the farmer or the consumer in the United States.

Objects to Personalities.
Strong objection was taken by Mrs. Grange to the personalities in which Miss Constance Boulton indulged, and also to the Conservative posters, "Melchior Will Lead Us Through."

Although she preferred herself to leave questions of a purely personal nature strictly alone, she felt that it was not fair to Mr. King himself that his splendid record of public service should go without mention.

She cited the honor done Mr. King's ability, when he was asked by the Rockefeller Institution to draught a plan for the spending of $5,000,000 for the benefit of humanity. He had several times refused lucrative positions, including professorships in prominent universities, preferring a career of public service.

During the war, although a single man, Mr. King had family responsibilities, as well as Mr. Melchior. Mrs. Grange claimed that both men had the same reason for exemption in the nature of the service they were able to render by staying on this side.

Mr. King's executive ability was unusual, and he was able to render an exceptional service in seeing that the Canadian Forces were regularly and sufficiently supplied with munitions.

There is no doubt that his service was just as great as if he had served in the trenches. "Indeed," Mrs. Grange said, "it is a question if Mr. King would ever have reached the trenches, as he was somewhat overage."

Referring to the posters, the speaker said: "It is a sad thing that a party enjoying the prestige of the Conservatives should be reduced to putting their whole trust in one man."

Mr. King's object is not to lead Canada through himself, but to surround himself with a body of able men and with their advice lead Canada to the prosperous times it enjoyed under Laurier."

Modern Mother Couples Child With Career!

THE world's most modern mother is the title given Phyllis Duganne, New York writer, who at 21 is an established success as an author. Her daughter, Jane, at 18 months, is attending school. The young writer-mother has drawn up some maxims for children of Canadian authors and newspapermen. Phyllis, Jane and pictures which illustrate the maxims are all shown above.

MODERN MOTHER MAXIMS

BY PHYLLIS DUGANNE.
Author-Mother.

To you, my child, I would say:

1. You must believe that your mother is the greatest author in all Canada.
2. Never begin to cut a new tooth until you see mother write X X X at the end of a typewritten page.
3. Try to confine such activities as falling downstairs to moments when mother is not penning a tender paragraph.
4. Do not make faces at editors or publishers, whatever emotions they may inspire.
5. When mother sits up late typing a story, remember that breakfast will not be served before 8:30.
6. Never confuse fact with fiction by making your existence known in any way when mother is writing about the charms of little children.
7. Always maintain a discreet and sympathetic silence when you see the postman deliver a long, thick envelope.
8. Remember that mother's typewriter is neither a piano nor a bicycle.
9. Do not eat manuscripts, however dull they may look.
10. Whatever else: Do not grow up to be a writer!

SEES DANGER OF MENTALLY UNFIT

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Emphasizing the great danger of mental defectiveness, Lady Byng gave a spirited address to the Big Sister Association of this city at luncheon today. She said the women's organizations had done admirable work in other directions, but they had not dealt with this, the greatest danger of all.

GIVES DRUGS TO HER OWN BABIES

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Three little children, baby John, aged one year, Margaret, aged six, and Ernest, aged eight, are in a local hospital suffering from the effects of narcotic drugs administered to their mother, who is a self-confessed drug addict.

City Engineer Complains of County Hauling in City.

THIEVES LOOT HOME OF SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

The home of W. H. T. Mooney, 562 Dufferin avenue, was broken into during the absence of the family Wednesday evening, and a seal coat, valued at $500, and two necklaces were stolen. Entrance to the house was gained through a basement window. The seal coat has a sable collar and cuffs, and a full length belt. Detectives from the central station are working on the case.

"DANDERINE"

35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff, Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthfully bright, lustrous and just twice as abundant.

LEADER OF BAHAI MOVEMENT DIES

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Abdul Baha Abbas Effendi, known throughout the world as Abdul Baha, was born in Teheran, Persia, May 23, 1844. He was leader of the Bahai movement, which has as its aim world religious unity. The Bahai belief is said to be that universal peace is possible only through harmony of all religions. The Bahaiists teach that all religions are basically one; that differences in them have arisen through the corruptions of theology and dogmas.

Abdul Baha visited America in 1912. He was the third of the leaders of Bahaiism. For many years because of his teachings he was a prisoner of the Turks and Persians.

Arrant Humbug.

There's a lot of arrant humbug about this reiterated appeal of supporters of the Meighen government to stop all imports from the United States and buy only products of our own protected manufacturers. Protection for the ordinary consumer is quite different from the practice of the beneficiaries of high protection.

The locks on the desks of the members of parliament in the new house of Commons are stamped "Made in the U. S. A."

The very appeals sent out broadcast by the government to be patriotic and buy only made-in-Canada goods, and the envelopes which carried this patriotic message are printed on presses imported duty free from the U. S. A.

And the government itself, when it started to reorganise the civil service, imported experts from Chicago and paid them $200,000 for a report which has only been partially acted upon.

And Toronto—Tory Toronto—presided over by a mayor who is running as a Meighen candidate in that city—is placing new rails on its streets for the car service.

These rails are coming from United States mills, while Canadian rail mills are closed for want of orders.

In fact, so glaring is this case become that Dr. Stevenson, member for London in the Toronto house, has served notice on Premier Drury that he will oppose the passage of any city of Toronto bill to validate the expenditure of money in connection with its "clean-up" of the railway situation, unless Canadian-made steel is used.

The Case of the Soldier.

The G. W. V. A. is asking that the whole matter of their treatment by the government and of the conduct of re-establishment shall be reopened.

The inference is very plain—the soldiers are not satisfied with what has been done for them and to them.

The soldiers realize that enough money is being spent, but they fail to see the wisdom of much of the expenditure.

There are thousands of men in Canada today who have never been re-established.

They have never been able to get back to the standing they had at the time of their enlistment.

They look to Ottawa now, and they have every reason to look to Ottawa, because it is from Ottawa that they have been directed and misdirected in their efforts to get a standing in Canada.

There is nothing a returned man wants more than a chance to get a reasonable fulfilment of promises that were made to him when he went away.

He has looked to Ottawa, and the present discontent and demand for more and better action is proof beyond words that these promises have not been carried out.

Going the Limit.

The Meighen party has secured space in the Brockville Recorder to present its side of the case.

Full permission must have been granted by the publisher to allow them to go ahead and say anything in that space, regardless of fact, as long as they paid for the space.

A recent issue has this:

"Whether or not retail dealers are justified in catering to the trade, which, educated by the Liberal and Progressive press, disdains everything made in Canada in Canadian factories by Canadian workmen, we do not presume to judge, but we do take the position that had it not been for the systematic decrying of Canadian goods or anything made by Canadian workmen, which has been for years a strong feature of the Liberal propaganda in the press and on the platform, there would not be such a demand for American goods that high-price retailers would be selling Canadian-made goods 'faked' as American, and obtain a higher price for them."

And so that is the sort of material which the electors in Leeds are being given, on which to cast their ballots next Tuesday.

The Liberals, on the platform and through their press, have kept up a campaign of studied opposition to the manufacture or sale of Canadian goods.

The Advertiser reproduces the clipping, not for its value or its logic, but simply as a black and white object lesson of the length to which the Meighen party is prepared to go in order that it may gain proceed with the distribution of patronage at Ottawa.

Looking Back.

A little look at Canadian history of recent years is helpful in dealing with the present political situation. The Chatham News recalls that before the election of 1896 the government of the day had achieved practically the same stagnation as

Be It Ever So Humble.

A FELLER'S WORK IS NEVER DONE -

The Meighen government has reached now. There were soup kitchens in Chatham in those days—and the same cry was raised that a Liberal victory meant free trade, and the ruin of Canada.

That was theory—a mere empty bogey, designed to frighten timid electors into voting for a moribund government.

Under the Liberal government, between 1896 and 1911, industry thrived and agriculture prospered. Canada grew as she had never grown before, and new industries sprang up in all our cities. Even the world-wide panic of 1907 failed to seriously affect this country. It was conceded that Canada weathered the conditions of that year far more easily than any other country in the world.

Those were practical results. The Canadian farmer and the Canadian workman didn't have to figure out their prosperity on paper; they realized it in their pocketbooks and bank accounts.

Canada right now would appreciate four or five years of the same sort of prosperity. It would be willing to exchange the blessings of Meighen rule for the Fielding prosperity of 1896 to 1911. "Meighen will lead us through" is an all-right slogan for people who want to go on wading in the mire of national despondency for another parliament; but Canada doesn't want that. Canada wants to be lifted out of the mire.

Meighen is a protectionist who in the past eighteen months has done absolutely nothing toward restoring prosperity in Canada. Crerar and his followers are free traders who, given a chance, will do everything possible to destroy the few shreds of prosperity Meighen has left us.

With two such alternatives, Canada is apt to turn to the men and the policies that made the years between 1896 and 1911 the most prosperous in Canada's history. Canada wants that practical prosperity, and Canada doesn't care five cents which party brings it so long as it comes.

Having a Trade.

Does the man with a trade stand any better chance of getting employment than the man who has no trade?

The first impulse in framing an answer to such a question would be to say that the chances were all in favor of the man with the trade.

This matter comes to our attention through a communication with a mechanic, who claims that the changing tendencies in industrial life have, in many cases, more or less eliminated the skilled mechanic. He chooses his own personal experience for an example. He learned his trade as a machinist, and worked in a plant where he secured an all-round training, at the conclusion of his time being able to operate any machine in the plant and do a certain amount of tool-making, as well.

TO do anything because others do it, and not because the thing is good, or kind, or honest in its own right, is to resign all moral control and captancy upon yourself, and go post-haste to the devil with the greater number.

—Familiar Studies—

He says he was all right at this work for a number of years until the larger plants started to work on the basis of quantity production, when all that was required was a handy-man and a number of assemblers. His training was of very little use to him, and it placed him at no advantage over the man who had no experience, and who had started in to earn wages right from the start without four or five years as an apprentice.

Today he claims his trade is of no use to him, for he has no opportunity to work at it, and such positions as are open are filled just as well by a man who knows nothing at all about the trade of a machinist.

Inquiry of several other mechanics in this city bears out this man's experience to a considerable extent. They claim that the idea of gang production got its big start in Canada in the war shops and in the automobile shops. The automobile factory of the present day has comparatively few skilled mechanics in proportion to the amount of work that is being turned out that the laymen might think would be the output of the trained hand and skilled mind.

Mechanics questioned on this point agree that it is hard for the trained man to get the advantage of his training in the way of wages or preference of employment. They also claim that the call today is for men who can tackle and solve the science of mass production.

The mechanical field has changed rapidly in recent years, and the mechanic who is going to keep up with the changing times has to study the situation very carefully.

Why We Age.

Our bodies age in winter, but not in summer. This belief is advanced by a doctor who writes for the London Times.

According to his theory, a person would never grow old if he lived in the perpetual summer of the south.

However, the theory has a certain amount of truth.

Nothing ages the human body quite as rapidly as a sedentary life—sitting about, especially indoors, without exercise. That is the rut which the average person has a tendency to fall into.

Your body constantly is collecting various toxins, or impurities of a poisonous nature. Nothing can eliminate these poisons except exercise and fresh air.

A person living in the northern states gets a fair amount of outdoor life in summer. But in winter he makes himself a prisoner of the indoors, rarely venturing out into the cold unless the trip is compulsory.

In the south there is a languor in the air—the outskirts of the tropical aversion to effort.

Balance the year up, and the south is much like the north. After twelve months, no matter where you live in civilization, you look back and know that you "ought to get out more."

The practice of taking a Saturday afternoon off, for exercise, is unscientific because it is in the nature of a sport. It is like neglecting a machine for a week, then giving it a thorough oiling and overhauling.

The machine should be oiled daily. So, also, the body. Poisons are collecting in the system daily, and something should be done daily to eliminate them.

Physical exercises at home are not sufficient, for they are monotonous, which makes them less beneficial than something that is interesting and involves sport.

And then we have the man who always wants to "get out the old bug" even for a three-block trip. By all means use the old bug, but don't forget that health and energy depend largely on the use of Shanks' mare. Now that the weather is getting colder don't shut yourself in for the winter. Don't imagine every breath of fresh air that gets into your house in a draft laden with the makings of pneumonia and what not.

Pull the fuzzy old hat down over your ears, put on the old grey mitts, and leg it.

Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest, As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1896.

DECEMBER 1, 1896.
The sixth meeting of the London Auxiliary of the McAll Mission was held in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon. The president, Mrs. John McMechan, occupied the chair. The secretary, Mrs. C. E. Jarvis, read her report, which showed the following who subscribed $5 to apply on chairs for the mission hall: Mrs. Boomer, Mrs. V. Cronyn, Mrs. Bullen, Mrs. McMechan, Mrs. Fraser, Miss Elliott, Miss McKenzie, Miss Fraser and Miss Robinson.

The Woman's Art Club and Mesdames Hyman, Hunt, Mortimer, Leonard, Secaton and Lipsey, members of the china committee, provided a rare treat for the public recently by giving an exhibition of china painting in the public library. There are several pieces from Miss C. E. Galbraith of Hamilton, Miss Hesson of Stratford, Miss Hatch of Woodstock, and the work exhibited by Miss Burnett's pupils is particularly worth mention. Mrs. Lipsey of this city exhibited some particularly fine pieces of wood carving. Among the other exhibitors are: Mrs. Mortimer, Miss Bacon of Stratford, Miss Clark of Stratford, Mrs. J. O. I. Hunt, city, Mrs. C. W. Davis, Miss Robinson of Stratford, Miss Fenwick, Miss Elsie Perrin, Miss Hanafor of Toronto, Mrs. A. Secaton and Mrs. A. B. Greer.

The half-yearly election of officers in connection with the Epworth League of the Frank Street Methodist Church was held recently, with the following results: President, Howard Evelyn; first vice-president, Miss Frances McKellar; second vice-president, William Walker; secretary-treasurer, Miss Evelyn; assistant treasurer, Miss Maud Ballantyne; organist, Miss Ada Banghart; assistant organist, Miss Grace Wilkinson; chorister, Mr. O. E. Fortner.

The question of world finances and world debt will not be discussed at Washington. The Manchester Guardian holds that the paying of debts is a matter that must be dealt with soon. The Guardian points out that "the quickest way of both showing our good faith and enlightening public opinion in America will clearly be to start paying up. This, the chancellor of the Exchequer has stated, we shall do next year."

In answer to a correspondent who has inquired for republication of particulars of the extent to which Britain and United States will scrap war vessels and programs, we give a summary of the proposals: United States is: (1) To scrap all capital ships under construction, including six battle cruisers, seven battleships, representing a total tonnage of $18,000. (2) To scrap older battleships up to, but not including, the Delaware and North Dakota, numbering fifteen, with a total tonnage of 227,000, making a total to be scrapped of $45,000 tons. Great Britain is to: (1) Stop further construction of the four new Hood's, which had not yet been laid down, although the money had been spent, having a total tonnage if completed of 172,000 tons. (2) She should scrap her pre-dreadnought second-line battleships and first-line battleships up to, but not including, the King George class. These, with certain pre-dreadnoughts already scrapped, would mean a tonnage reduction of 411,000, making the total British scrapped 583,000.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 49—SQUARE FACES.

You can classify all the faces you see into three types, triangular, round and square, and each type of face indicates a different type of individuality.

Of course the distinctions between the types are not hard and fast. Face shapes range all the way from the extremes of the three types to combinations of them, and in attributing the indicated character to the individual you must be guided by the accentuation of the face type or the lack of it.

Square-faced people, men and women, are "tough customers." That does not mean that they are necessarily "rough-necks," though the "roughnecks" as a rule belong to this classification. Nor does it indicate that they are "hard-boiled."

But square-faced people are determined, and in an active way. They are positive and active in their determination rather than merely passively resistant. They are, too, as a rule, notable for their practicality. They're not the spinners of the fine webs of reasoning and speculation. They're the people who get things done.

For the most part they are active physically, and capable of sustaining physical activity under strain and resistance.

And they fight, not like the people with heads that are short and flat in back, from a sheer fighting instinct, nor like those of long heads, for an ideal, but rather for practical results.

But, you say, suppose a person has a square head and one of these two types of head. What then? Just this: That person combines the two different kinds of fighting characteristics indicated.

Tomorrow—Long Legs.

WHY HE KNOCKED.

A pawnbroker was deep in sleep when a hammering at his front door caused him to hurry to his bedroom window.

"What's the time?" asked the caller. "Do you mean to tell me—?" he stormed.

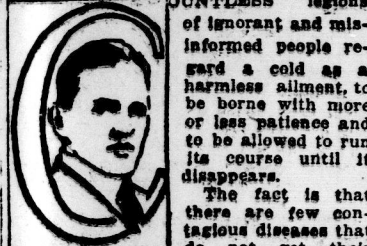

"I want to know the time," repeated the midnight visitor.

"How dare you knock—?"

"Well," broke in the injured reveler, "you've got my watch."

INDIFFERENCE TO COLD

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

start from a trivial cold. A cold always weakens to some extent the resisting power of the victim's body, so that he can easily "catch" any contagious disease that is about.

The germ of a cold, of course, is always present, awaiting the chance to put in its work. If your body is at ways normally fit, the germs are ineffective. It is when one's resistance is lowered that it is ready to strike.

Overheating the body, either by heavy tight clothing or hot rooms, weakens the skin. Then when one emerges into the open air, he "catches a cold." This is the reason for the "draft" idea of catching cold. It is not a draft that makes one catch cold, but the lowering of resisting power by the quick changes of temperature.

Lack of fresh air is another reason for colds. One should sleep always with a large amount of fresh air in circulation. Outdoor exercise and deep breathing is essential.

Constipation renders the body low in vitality and readily liable to colds. Overeating and fatigue also produce conditions in which one is liable to infection.

One of the best ways of getting rid of a cold is to go to bed if possible. This rests the body and keeps it at an even temperature.

A good cathartic should be taken to eliminate the poisons in the system. The diet during a cold should be simple and in a small quantity. Drink a glass of water every half hour.

If the cold is severe or if a pain in the chest develops a physician should be summoned immediately. Medical treatment will shorten the duration of the cold and prevent complications which might develop from the continued weakness of resisting powers of the body.

Is Western University a Needed Institution?

Ask the 750 students now attending the various overcrowded faculties of the Western University.

Ask overcrowded Toronto University, now urging us to take some of her students, where 1,247 are now enrolled from the fourteen counties in the Western University constituency.

Ask the 150 students of the Western University, sons and daughters of London working men, professional men and business men of moderate incomes, who could not possibly afford the expense of going to Toronto or Michigan for a university course.

Are the New Buildings Needed?

London is the natural center of a district of fourteen counties containing over one-third of the secondary school population of Ontario.

Western University buildings and accommodations in London are scattered here and there in different parts of the city.

Here is a table showing the rate of increase in enrolment in the various faculties for six years:

	Arts.	Medicine.	Pub. H'th.	Total.
1916-17	33	69	50	152
1917-18	41	68	115	224
1918-19	47	93	77	217
1919-20	175	120	37	332
1920-21	288	138	108	534
1921-22	364	154	230	748

So overcrowded are they that no more students could possibly be enrolled in the Arts Faculty.

Three hundred and sixty Arts students are crowded into a building which once housed a family.

The Library is three-quarters of a mile distant. The Physics and Chemistry building, now also overcrowded, is in another part of the city. The Gymnasium is in still another and inconvenient quarter, and the Arts Annex likewise.

Not one of these buildings is adequate.

The new $2,000,000 buildings for the Western University, which will be possible through the passage of the $250,000 bylaw, will be ample for the Arts and Natural Science Faculties for some years to come.

AN IDEAL SITUATION

They will be situated on their own beautiful grounds, 220 acres in area, on the north branch of the Thames.

With the university's own new bridge across the North Thames the new buildings will be only 10 minutes' walk from Richmond street.

The site, besides being ideal for a University Campus, accords with the most modern experience in being just close enough, but not too close, to the city itself.

There is ample space for the university to expand, and plenty of vacant land for a new and modern growth of the city towards and around it.

One bitter complaint of Toronto University today is that the slums of St. John's Ward have overspread the district around the university, making it almost impossible for students to obtain accommodations in proper surroundings.

Situated as the Western University will be, this complaint need never be a possibility.

When you vote for the bylaw you help to assure to London a great seat of learning, the value of which will be incalculable, whether you view it from a business, an economic or a cultural point of view.

London is worthy of it—see that your vote helps to achieve it.

A pittance—30c on $1,000 assessment annually for 20 years—is all it will cost.

HAVEN'T HAD TULIPS FOR LAST 2 WEEKS

Raid On Bulbs Forecasts Gay Spring Gardens.

"Tulips? Haven't got a bulb left. Been sold out for the past two weeks." was the story one of the largest dealers in bulbs in town told the women's department of The Advertiser on Wednesday afternoon.

"Tulips? Just got about twenty-five bulbs in the light white," said another big dealer. "If you want them, you'd better take them right away."

London evidently is going to blossom gorgeously in the spring of 1922, trial never before in the history of the merchants dealing in bulbs has there been such a big run on their stocks. One merchant, sold out of other bulbs, had a few hyacinths left this week; another, many more than last year, and the best quality we have ever had," stated another firm.

What is the reason for all this mad scrambling for tulips and other bulbs on the part of the citizens of London and surrounding district?

Among a variety of reasons given by the dealers is a "psychological" one. Every year, it is stated, there has been a growing knowledge on the part of the public of bulbs, and with this knowledge increasing interest in them. Coupled with this is a more general desire to beautify home surroundings and make the city an attractive place.

The weather, it is pointed out, has been unusually favorable this fall, the ground still unfrozen Dec. 1. Procrastinating gardeners enthusiasts have been able to putter about and dig to their hearts' content, without the necessity of breaking clods in order to make way for their bulbs.

One woman, who has always planted her bulbs late, with results that aroused the envy and admiration of neighbors, recalls her experiences of late November in former years.

"Last year," she says, "we chopped out the earth with an axe, then powdered it with a hammer. It was as easy digging on Nov. 23 this year as in June."

Still Double, Going Down.

The economic reason is perhaps one of the most important factors in this fall. Increasing the sale of this fall. Bulbs of all kinds are just about two-thirds the price they were a year ago. At that they are double the prices of pre-war days.

Just before the war bulbs had begun to achieve well-merited popularity. Then came the dark four years, when all thoughts were on the problem of bringing the big struggle to a successful issue, and providing, with the front, the men in hospitals, with as much comfort and cheer as possible. People had very little money to spare for beautification of their gardens, apart from the difficulty of securing good bulbs.

One merchant is inclined to think the price isn't such a very important factor after all. He says: "We have had varieties for retail trade this year for which it has been necessary to ask $3.50 and $4 a hundred, varieties that never sold for more than $2 a hundred before the war. Again, we had some especially fine varieties for which we were obliged to ask $5 a hundred, varieties that we were able to sell for $2 in pre-war days. At that, they are considerably lower in price than a year ago."

Fashions in tulips—first choice of all the bulbs for general use—purpose—change as in other things.

The Darwin leads the way in popularity. To begin with, it is a late tulip, distinguished by great variety and richness of coloring. Even the gaiety of their plumage cannot hold for the parrots a place in the Darwin class. Geographical as are their hues, and Relieving the Blackness.

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—She rather loves it, and she's making the most of it—this black madness which has taken hold of the whole fashion world—but somewhere in the whimsical heart of midday is a longing for something colorful, oh, so colorful! So vivid! Something to give wild accent to the darkness of her gown.

And so she evolved the fascinating trick of lining the skirts of her dance gowns.

Jagged, scalloped hems of velvet costumes reveal the brightest colors imaginable—most of them in crisp tulle. This pair, gown in black velvet, short at the front and back and hanging in sweeping graceful lengths at the sides is lined with cherry tulle.

A cluster of lovely flowers at the low, draped waistline trail long sashes of pink flowers at the hem ends.

The bodice is a soft crushed thing of only half suggested lines and curves—gracefully.

Jauntily fringed their petals, their heads have a habit of being too heavy for their slender stems.

My Lady of the Garden remembers how she has been obliged to prop up the tipsy parrots in the past, so she has developed a habit of passing them by for the varieties of sturdier necks. To be sure, she loves to have a corner them in the backyard garden in order that she may fill her rooms with their brightness in the spring days.

What if the winter is severe? A springtime of gay gardens is assured for London.

Doggies Suffer Because of Tax

Owning Them Them Adrift, Humane Society Benefits Suffering Waifs.

Since Thursday evening, Nov. 24, Inspector George Tustin of the Humane Society has befriended eighteen stray dogs and fifteen cats, rescuing them from starvation, destitution, cold, pain and the discomfort arising from wounds and diseases in several cases.

What is the reason so many dogs are running around uncared for, homeless at this season of the year?

The inspector puts it down to the fact that a number of people want to get out of paying their dog taxes, so turn the poor animals adrift, without a tag or any other identification mark.

"There is no need of turning an animal adrift in that manner," said Mr. Tustin to The Advertiser, indignation in his voice as he spoke of the sufferings of the dumb animals. "All the people have to do when they want to get rid of their pets or pets, is to call me up and I will go get them and put them out of the road in a painless manner. I think perhaps the fact so many animals are reported and brought to me now is because they have been humanely disposed of a very large number of animals in the past eighteen months."

Wednesday alone, Mr. Tustin collected five new dog guests and three cats at his shelter for animals, the cats arriving between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

"And a sight to behold they were," he said, "so many that their eyes were almost closed right up to the door. The other, a fine cocker spaniel, belonging to a prominent London businessman, was rushed to Dr. Tustin in a motor car when it was discovered the valuable animal was suffering from some malady that pointed to poison. The inspector managed to revive it to the extent where it was running around 'good as new' in the course of a few hours."

"Do I kill all the stray animals?" said Mr. Tustin to The Advertiser? No, indeed, I find their owners, if I can. If not, I try to get homes for the best of them. There is a fine Boston bull dog I have had here a week now for which I haven't got the owner yet. Like most, someone is worrying over this dog I picked up on Queen's avenue."

"THE STOLEN KEY"

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

When he had gone, Mr. Pim Pim turned to Nancy and Nick.

The Twins liked Mr. Pim Pim at rather out he went, like a candle flame when you blow it. One instant he was there, and the next he wasn't, that was all! That's what comes of being magical.

When he had gone, Mr. Pim Pim turned to Nancy and Nick. "Well, well, well," he said. "You couldn't have come at a better time, for Kip has been cutting up high jinks. You know he used to be leader of the Brownies, and is now trying to do what he can to hinder me in my work. What do you think he's done? Stolen the key to my cupboard where I had the shovels hidden! The worst of it is that he's skipped off through the secret passage to the village of the gnomes, and if he gives the gnomes away, dear knows when we'll ever get it! The gnomes have as many secret places to hide things as a porcupine his quills!"

WITH THE BRIDES

BROWN-MARSHALL.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the New St. James' Manse, when Myrtle Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stewart Marshall, Horn street, was married to Mr. J. Milton Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Brown. The bride, who was attended by Miss Mary Graham, was a becoming sight of midnight blue, with small hat to match, and the groom's gift, a grey squirrel scarf.

Mr. Gordon Brown, brother of the groom, was the best man. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brown left on a honeymoon, which will be spent in New York and Montreal, and upon their return they will reside in London.

HANNON-HOPPER.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon the wedding of Miss Eva Hopper and Mr. Zelman Hannon took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hopper, Victoria street, Thamesville.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. Allen Hopper of Delaware, in the presence of about twenty-five guests.

The bride was married in her traveling dress of brown velvet and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses.

The wedding march was played by the groom's sister, Miss Verna Hannon.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served, the dining-room being attractively decorated with pink chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Hannon left on the evening train for Detroit, where they will spend their honeymoon with the groom's sister, Miss Verna Hannon.

On returning the bride and groom will reside on a farm near Kent Bridge.

CHURCH BAZAAR IN WEST LONDON

Many Christmas shoppers took advantage of the lovely gifts to be found at the bazaar held in the Sunday school of St. George's Church, London West.

The booths were gay with Christmas decorations, and artistically arranged wares. The candy table with its sweets attractively done up in colored paper baskets and boxes, was in charge of Miss Hazel Gibson, while the fancy work booth, with its hundreds of dainty little articles, was in charge of the King's Daughters, with Miss Agnes Wallace as convener.

Mrs. J. H. Hobbs and Miss E. B. Gibson supervised the disposal of the articles displayed on the Christmas tree, and the work table was under the management of Mrs. F. G. Turvill and Mrs. R. A. Y. Stunchoombe. The booth where was found clothing for the little tots, was in charge of Mrs. Frank Copp. Delicious home-cooked pastry and other delicacies could be purchased at a booth presided over by Mrs. T. Hodgins and Mrs. Brown. The convener of the art table were Miss A. Small and Miss A. S. Platt.

At the country store, in charge of Mrs. J. H. Hobbs and Fred Hodgins, could be purchased almost everything in the grocery line. The fish pond, the children's delight, was in charge of Misses Jean Hodgins and Edith Johnson, while another popular resort, the ice cream booth, was looked after by Miss Cushing and Miss May Smith.

High tea was served in the tearoom, which had been very attractively decked with flowers, and was in charge of Mrs. Garvett and Mrs. Kershaw. The numerous shoppers received a cordial welcome from Canon Sage and Mrs. Sage.

The bazaar will be continued on Thursday.

SPEAKS OF MAIL BOX QUILT.

Dear Miss Grey,—I must tell the boxites that I had the pleasure of seeing the real Mail-Box quilt, and I must say it is a most congratulatory on the way she has worked at it, spending her time and much patience for a good cause. It is too bad the people do not try and be more prompt with their patches. Inclosed you will find my note for my name. Would you please send the stocking foot pattern?

MAUDE.

I presume you have given your name to the Quilt Lady herself. Am mailing you a pattern, and many thanks for hospital mite.

SANTA WON'T COME.

Dear Miss Grey,—Mother said if I sent you a letter perhaps you could help me. I must tell the ladies who write to you have any story-books? I am 12, and I have a brother 10 years old, and we like to read story-books, but mother can't get any, as dad can't get steady work, and I have four sisters and two brothers. I wanted a book for Christmas, but mother says Santa Claus won't come to our house this year. I only wanted a book. I read the story in The Advertiser every night. I got 11 cents on Saturday, but mother told me I could write to you, so my little brother and I kept our show money to send for the little sick babies' club. I hope they soon will be all better.

LITTLE FRIEND.

I was lovely of you to remember the sick babies with your little mite, and in return we are going to remember you at Christmas. I have told the Good Fellow Club of The Advertiser all about you and your little brother, and they are going to see that Santa finds you on Christmas Eve.

DESSERT FOR TWO

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN.

To make a dessert small enough for two persons is quite a problem. Few desserts are good the second day, and most are unfit for use. Choose small puddings, dishes and pie pans. Include a small do-over beater with a small earthen bowl for beating egg yolks in your kitchen equipment.

This beater and bowl will be indispensable for desserts of all kinds and very convenient for salad dressings.

Cocoonat Tapioca Pudding for Two. One-third of a cup of pearl tapioca, 1 egg, 1½ cups of milk, ½ cup of sugar, ¼ teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons grated cocoonat (fresh or dried), 2 more tablespoons sugar.

PETROLEA SET FOR GALT CREW

Not Under-Estimating Their Unexpected Opponents.

WANT ANOTHER TITLE

PETROLEA, Nov. 30.—Galt has been ordered to play a sudden-death game for the O. R. F. U. intermediate championship in Petrolea Saturday. The winner will meet Hamilton Tiger seconds Dec. 10 in the Dominion final.

Galt is allowed in the final by virtue of the O. R. F. U. executive's decision in suspending the Dundas club for unsportsmanlike tactics in both their games with the Scotch aggregation. Petrolea had made arrangements with the Dundas club to play here Wednesday and the fixture was advertised broadcast, so it was something of a blow to the Hard Oils when they received a message at midnight Tuesday to the effect that the game had been cancelled.

Although Dundas was fifteen points up on the round, those who saw the second game state that Galt has just as good a football team as Dundas, but the breaks of the game cost them the honors. In any case Petrolea is not under-estimating their opponents, but are going into the game fully determined to bring the union championship once more to Petrolea. Should they beat Galt they will be ready to take the Tigers into camp the following week and for the second time in the decade bring to Petrolea the honor of turning out a Dominion championship team.

ON THE ALLEYS

PRINTERS' LEAGUE.

The Picas and Breviers clashed yesterday afternoon, and after the smoke had cleared away the Picas emerged with two out of three games to their credit. The Breviers were all away off form, and the same can be said of the Picas, especially in the case of Mr. H. Cameron, who fell down to 139 pins for his last game. "Slim" Wilson showed that he is a coming bowler, as he had a total of 421 pins yesterday. This is "Slim's" first year in fast company. Had Jack Hately and William Flory bowed up to their average there would have been a different story to tell. Breviers and Picas are now tied for the leadership of the league.

Friday afternoon the Minions and Nonpareils clash for the championship of the cellar position, and as both teams are about even matched, some close scores should result.

HUNTER TO DEFEND TITLE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Willie Hunter, British amateur golf champion, who returned here today from a visit to Chicago and Toronto, announced that he would defend his title in the British amateur championship event next May. Hunter is now residing in the United States.

HYDE MAY BE ON O. H. A. EXECUTIVE

Woodstock Man Allows Name To Go Before Convention.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 30.—"Yes, I will allow my name to go before the O. H. A. convention for a position on the executive," said Frank Hyde, when asked tonight if he would comply with the request of the fans and admirers of hockey in this town to again give some of his time to the furthering of the welfare of the O. H. A.

Mr. Hyde had been urged to allow his name to go before the convention for the office of first vice-president, but rather than bring on a contest for the position he would try for the executive. Mr. Hyde spent several years on the O. H. A. executive and was in line for the presidency when he resigned following the treatment of the Woodstock Juniors in the play-off with T. T. S. for the junior championship several years ago.

ON THE SPORT TRAIL

The number of puck-chasing leagues in London this year makes it look like a good year for the game. The Holy Name and Bankers' Leagues were formed this week, and there are still a number of church circuits to be formed yet.

The Holy Name will decide at a meeting Saturday afternoon where they will play and the number of teams to be entered. The games will be staged in the open air, but where the rink will be located will have to be decided yet.

If the Holy Name Hockey League does as well as the baseball league succeeded in doing this summer, it should develop some good hockey talent.

A Bankers' League should also be formed. A good hockey player suddenly moved to the city from small towns hesitates to make an appearance with a squad full of strangers and try for a place, and thus are lost to the game. Some exceptionally good material might very well crop up in this organization, which could be used by the Alerts.

The executive of the Brantford Intermediate O. H. A. team will propose to the junior O. H. A. club that they come under their wing for this winter. The intermediates say they must have complete control of the youngsters.

Manager Eddie Gault of the Calgary Hockey Club, is after "Barney" Stanley to play for him this winter. Both had a long consultation yesterday but no agreement was arrived at.

The new $50,000 hockey arena at Milton is nearing completion. This town will have both intermediate and a Junior O. H. A. teams on the ice this year.

The Ottawa Hockey Club has offered $50,000 for the new arena at Milton. The club is offering the money for the last two seasons.

Hamilton Herald.—Hamilton's N.H.L. club has Munnery and Wilson, two rough players when they came to be, and may also get Ken Randall, who doesn't play parlor hockey. But they'll have to behave themselves if they want to stay here. Hamilton's fans like to win, but they insist on clean hockey.

"Jim" Riley, star baseball and hockey player, has not come to terms with Seattle.

Wylie Wilkinson, of Galt, is the only candidate to the O. H. A. Executive Committee who is an active player.

The former Toronto boy is one of the best defence men in the sport.

Murray Rutherford is showing great form at the Aura Lee senior workouts. Rutherford is of the quiet type, but he is a hard worker and generally gets results.

Another amateur player has listened to the arguments advanced by the pros. Chubs and has taken the leap from the amateur. Hallybury suffers this time, as yesterday it was announced that Brian McFarland, their star right "winger," will play for the Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Canada League this season.

Waller, who is trying out with Granby, will likely be found with Argonauts later on. He is a good player but the battle for places among the Argonauts is keener than ever, and Waller's chances are none too bright. He is one of the best players who graduated from the Junior last season.

Hamilton Herald.—Despite reports that "Herbie" Reaume may join the Saskatoon professional club, tickets say he will be back here and Manager Jack Fraser plans to use him as a defence player. Fraser also hopes to make a strong defence man out of Harry Reid, who has hitherto been a centre-line player. Roy, Naylor, the two Coopers and "Jimmy" Stewart are available for the forward line, while "Charlie" Stewart will play goal.

Hamilton Herald.—An offer was received this morning by Percy Tait, for George Carey, the light wing player of the Hams Thompson wired back his refusal to sell.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS? NO, A DOUBLE

OSCAR VITT
WHO KNOCKED BOLAND OUT OF THE BIG LEAGUES

BY BILLY EVANS.

NO ONE can better appreciate the honesty of baseball than the umpire. True, some of the Chicago White Sox once strayed from the pathway of righteousness, but that case was one of the very few exceptions.

Time and again during the summer incidents came under the observation of the umpire that prove conclusively that to the player the honesty of the game is paramount. Let me relate such an incident.

Not so many years ago, Oscar Vitt and Ernie Boland were members of the Detroit American League Club. They were close friends, pals, and for years had been room mates. Both were rated extremely valuable players, Boland as a great pitcher, Vitt as a crack third baseman.

Strange things happen in baseball and happen quickly. Last year found Vitt with the Boston Americans, and Boland with the St. Louis Browns. Boland had been released by Detroit because of a bad arm. St. Louis, needing pitchers badly, took a chance on him, as Boland expressed the belief that he was in shape to deliver.

In his first start with the Browns, Boland got along fairly well, good enough to justify the belief that he would be of some help to the St. Louis Club. Then the Boston team invaded St. Louis for a series of four games.

Perhaps no fellow in baseball was more interested in Boland's attempt to come back than Oscar Vitt. Boland was selected to start one of the games against Boston. It was umpiring the bases and in the very first inning, Vitt came over to me and said:

"What about Boland? How does he look, Bill? Do you think he has a chance to come back?"

Pleased With Optimism.
I told Vitt that while Boland lacked his old-time speed, he had fairly good stuff left, and had a chance to string along with the Browns. It was evident that Vitt was much pleased with my optimistic opinion as to Boland's chances.

Few pitchers know more about the art of deceiving batters than Ernie Boland. His knowledge of the weakness of every batter, his use of a slow curve and a nice change of pace, enabled him to go along for about five innings on even terms with the Bostonians. Then came the break of the game.

A base on balls, and a hit filled the bases and brought Oscar Vitt to the bat. Here was the big crisis in his old-time speed, he had fairly good stuff left, and had a chance to string along with the Browns. It was evident that Vitt was much pleased with my optimistic opinion as to Boland's chances.

BRANTFORD TEAMS UNDER ONE BODY

The Intermediates Will Have Charge of Financing and Coaching.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 30.—At a joint meeting held tonight, of the Junior and Intermediate O. H. A. teams, the juniors decided to affiliate with the intermediates who have been known as the Brantford Athletic Association. The new body will be known as the Brantford Hockey Club.

E. Beswick, J. L. Barnes and C. M. Fairchild will represent the juniors on the joint executive. The intermediate will take full charge of the juniors including financing and management.

PIMPLES ON FACE DIDN'T LIKE TO GO OUT

Those nasty little pimples that break out on the face and other parts of the body are simply indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

There is only one way to get rid of this obnoxious skin trouble, and that is by giving the blood a thorough cleansing which can be done by that old reliable blood medicine and when the blood is purified the pimples will vanish and you will have a clear, healthy complexion.

Miss Mary E. Flanagan, R. R. No. 2, Stella, Ont., writes: "I suffered for about two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctor said it was caused by bad blood. My face was so bad I didn't like to go out among a crowd of people. One day I was talking to a friend, and she advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and try it. I just took three bottles, and there was not a blotch or pimple of any kind left. Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said: 'Burdock Blood Bitters chased them.'"

B. B. B. has been on the market for the past 45 years, so you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy.

COHAN DENIES HE BOUGHT DODGERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—George Cohan, noted theatrical producer, has not purchased the Brooklyn National League franchise, the club owners said today. "The club has not been sold, because it is not for sale," Charles Ebbetts, president, said. "Cohan has not approached us about a purchase."

HOYT TO BE MARRIED.
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Waite Hoyt, pitching star of the Yankees, will take a bride with him when he starts next spring for the training camp. His engagement to Miss Dorothy Pyle of Brooklyn was announced today, and it was stated the wedding would occur just before the trip south.

Ty Cobb is making a bid to win two batting championships in the same year. Having corralled the honors in the American League, he is showing the way in the Winter League, now are candidates for the basketball team, in operation on the coast.

London Man Likely To Head M.-O. League.

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Vice-President Walter J. Pess of the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League wired from Bay City, Michigan, tonight to the effect that he had called a meeting of the directors of the league for Buffalo on Tuesday evening next to elect a president, a course made necessary by the refusal of the office by Fred Wilson, who accepted the office provisionally and subsequently declined to act. Indications now point to the election of A. J. McGuffin, business manager of the London club.

SHIFT CANADIAN BOXING BOUT TO BAYONNE, N. J.

New York, Dec. 1.—Mike McGuire, who claims the Canadian middleweight boxing championship, and Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J., who also makes claim to that title, will meet in a scheduled 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. The bout had been arranged to take place in Montreal later in the month, and the fighters and their managers are now on the prohibited list in the Canadian city for shifting it to New York. There have been threats that action would be taken by Canadian promoters to hold up the bout tonight, but this morning no steps in this direction had been taken, so far as could be learned.

OWEN ONLY ONE LEFT OF OLD HARVARD TEAM

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 1.—In hockey as in football, George Owen is the nucleus around which Harvard team of the present year is built. When the Crimson ice athletes reported for the first practice yesterday, it was found that Owen alone was left of last year's varsity seven. He is captain of the team. To complete the other five places, all that will be necessary, as Harvard will play six-man hockey this year, Coach Clavin will have to depend largely on last year's freshman team.

TENDLER TO MEET FRIEDMAN.

New York, Dec. 1.—Lew Tandler, the Philadelphia lightweight, will meet Sailor Friedman of Chicago in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden on the night of Dec. 16, it was reported today.

BOY CRIES 'CAUSE DAD MAKES BAD INVESTMENT.

It's a very common thing to see a small boy gazing wistfully into a shop window, especially near Christmas time, but one little fellow last evening found something of more than usual charm in the display at Todd's, 150 Philadelphia street. When he was asked why he was sobbing the poor little fellow replied, "If dad had only enough sense to come to Todd's for his blue suit he could have bought this one," pointing to a form in the centre of the display. "It looks better to me for $32 than what he paid $45 for, and then I could have had my electric train."—Advt.

ESKIMOS GET HARD BUMP

Enright, Edmonton Captain, Will Not Play.

SWEET LINE PLUNGER

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—There is a little business in the camp of the invading Eskimos. Dr. Higgs today informed Manager Lieberman that Jimmie Enright, the captain of the team, who has been in the General Hospital (the with throat infection ever since the team de-trained, will not only be unable to play in the final Saturday, but he will be lucky if he even sees the game.

"It is pretty tough luck," said Lieberman. "Enright is the sweetest-looking half-plunger you ever saw and I was anxious to show him to the fans down east. He hits the line so low down that no one in the west has yet been able to stop him without at least a three-yard gain."

Severe Loss.
Enright is one of the stars of the Eskimo team in addition to being captain, and his loss will be severely felt. He plays at flying wing. Creighton will probably be sent in to take Enright's place and the team will probably line up as follows:

Flying wing—Creighton.
Flying wing—Dunsworth.
Left half—Dorman.
Right half—Fraser.
Quarter—Rankin.
Snap—Shieman.
Line—Dunsworth, Fowler.
Right middle—Yancoy.

It will be perceived that the Eskimos play only two backs and use two flying wings.

Both Eskimos and Argos worked out yesterday. The Edmonton team did their work behind tied gates and the players came back to the hotel reporting that they had had the best practice they ever had. The Argos worked in the open and had every man on the line-up. They are taking no chances. The chances are that if the weather is fine 10,000 or 12,000 fans will see the game. The demand for tickets today was phenomenally strong.

"UNCLE ROBBY" AGAIN.
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Owners of the Brooklyn National League baseball club announced today that Wilbert Robinson will manage the team next year, and denied local reports that they had been negotiating for the club's sale.

"How We'd Make London PUPILS SUBMIT THEIR IDEAS A Bigger and Better City"

the roads clean. I'd keep the lawns clean. I'd get fresh and pure milk for the people. I'd make cement roads all over London.

MARTHA RYCKMAN.
I would give men work and help them to have nice homes and be happy, and see that their children went to school. I would see that the farmers didn't charge too much for their stuff, and that things wouldn't be too dear, so the people could live happy and not be poor.

IRENE TOPPING.
I should make London the happiest place on earth by making nice laws and by keeping ruffians out of the city.

DOUGLAS FREEL.
I should build a new university. I should build up the police force. I should do my best to give all married men of the city a job, so they could support their families. I should build up a great many of the roads in the city. I would not do too much to make the taxes go any higher.

WINNIE BOWERS.
I should build up all the old houses, and churches and new ones out of them and I should try to stop men and women from stealing and holding up people on the street. I should have a big dancing hall built for people to go to and dance there. I would make a nice big skating rink for people to go and skate on.

JACK RUSSELL.
I should cut down the high cost of living in London and raise the wages so that poor people should get along. I should build more houses and factories and invent something, and pave the muddy streets and put down sidewalks. I am a man of action, and would do something for the number of men out of work in London at the present time.

LESLIE NEAL.
I should try to make London the brightest, happiest and cleanest city in the Province of Ontario. The first matter I should settle would be about the unemployed men of today. I should do my best to have the men kept at work.

The next matter I should settle would be about fire prevention. I should send an inspector around to the houses and see that cellars, attics, back kitchens and backyards were so clean that there could not be a fire if there wanted to. Then I would settle about the dirty and muddy streets. I would have as many streets paved as possible. Then I think the city of London would be a very nice city.

RAYMOND NEAL.
I would make everybody happy, and I would give people their money to spend then happy. I would have nice red brick houses made, and I would make the storekeepers bring down their prices.

HARVEY SHANNON.
I would try to make people stay off the grass, and I wouldn't have sign-boards up every place. I wouldn't have little tiny houses every now and then, and I wouldn't have the farm wagons all over, as dirty as they are. I would try to think of some way not to make the air so smoky.

RALPH TALBOT.
I would tell the people to keep their lawns nice, and tell them to drink lots of milk to make them healthy, and eat lots of bread. That's what I'd do, wouldn't you?

CLARENCE CARRAE.
I would make it a law for all children to be taught to behave nicely, and when they grew up the city would be full of good clean people. Then the children, when they raised, would become the same. When they got bigger they would do the same as their parents. And I would keep the city always getting better.

HAZEL CRESSY.
I would lower the taxes and bills and things that the people have to pay, and grow lovely shade trees for the summer season. I would have everybody's lawns cleaned up and the grass cut, and have every road paved nicely. I would have every house outside look very neatly painted.

ELLA WARNE.
I would clean up the streets, and when the people died I would see that they were buried, and have a nice cemetery for them. I would see if the houses were in good condition and if the people had electric lights and all that they needed.

FRED HERTEL.
I would always stop quarrels, and help the poor people, and I would respect the houses to see if there were any diseases.

LOUIS FULLER.
The way I would make London a better and bigger city would be to clean up the streets, and not leave a piece of paper lying around anywhere. I would make the yards clean, and in the summer have all lawns as green as grass. I would have several places for children to play on Saturdays and holidays. I would let them play on the streets. I would keep every house in good condition. I would look after the poor and see that every man able to work would get work. I would pave all the streets having muddy roads, and build up the dam near the pump-house to make the river high and beautiful like it was once.

CLARENCE BARNHILL.
I would have the Grand Trunk station torn down and a more modern one put in. I would have all the schools supplied like Lord Roberts'. I'd have the every limit 25 miles for the city and 30 miles for the country.

HILDA ROWLEY.
I would have all garbage cans kept off the street. I would have the people be gentle and not knock people out of my way. If I saw an old lady and I was going her way I should help her. I would not allow people to throw papers on the streets.

MARVIN NOBLE.
I should buy a university and a new city hall and a new Grand Trunk station, and new roads running to St. Thomas and Port Stanley.

MAY LACEY.
I would do my very best to get work for the laboring men. I would get men to support the city, and I would have men just on purpose to keep the roads clean. I would build up factories for the men to work in, so they could support their families. I would build roads all through London. I would pave streets, and I would get the men to build parks and show grounds, so try to keep everything in repair, and try to keep enough fire boxes in London.

CHESTER LAWRENCE HENSON.
I should get sewers put down on a lot more streets, and build more houses, and build some more parks, and pave some more roads.

JACK BOWMAN.
I should build a hospital for little children that are ill with the $100,000, and let the little children go there when they are sick. And that is the way I should make London bright and happy.

VICTORIA MACPHERSON.
If I wanted to make London the very happiest place to live in, I would have all the streets paved and all clean, and then see that there were no thieves around. I would always have the people's yards clean, so there wouldn't be so many fires.

GEORGE HODGSON.
I would make the people keep off the lawn. It would make London more beautiful, and I would build churches and houses.

DOROTHY HODGSON.
If I was mayor I would make everybody happy. I would give people their money and I would make the city a better place. I would trim the trees and I would make lawns.

HELEN ROUSSELLE.
I'd try to make London the prettiest city in Canada.

KENNETH CROMWELL.
I would make the city look nice by making the streets look nice and making the houses look nice, and I would make flower-beds in the park and keep the trees in good condition.

CECILIA MAY.
I would have a law for the children to keep off people's grass and have raple trees around the city. I would have the streets paved with cement, and I would have the horses and buggies not go awfully fast.

IVA CLEMENTS.
If I was going to make London the happiest place to live in, I would try to make the lawns look nice and make the people happy by doing what I wanted them to, and by keeping off the lawns.

BERT BRYANT.
I should get a new garbage system, and I should see that the streets were tidy and clean. I should have new schools built. I should have more fountains in the parks, and I should have the streets paved.

VERA TATTERTON.
I should make the parks prettier and the schools bigger. I should make the Western University bigger. I should have bigger and better hotels. I should make a better home for children that have no mothers or fathers. I should have more places where mothers could leave their children while they went out working, and I should see they got fed well. I should have a university for poor children, so they could have an education. I should see that everybody would go to church and learn about Jesus.

MARGUERITE KILBOURNE.
I would have more playgrounds and one big playground that would be useful for summer and winter. I would have all the roads paved. I would have a good sanitary law, so that everything would be clean. I would build more schools and more universities. I would put lots of flowers on the graves in the cemetery. I would build more hospitals. I would have better electricity in the city. I would build a home for poor children.

KATHLEEN LITTLE.
I would make London beautiful by paving the streets. I would build more houses, more schools and hospitals. I should take up subscriptions for the poor children, and let them have better pleasure. I would fix the bridges and cemeteries.

ARNOLD LINK.
I would have all the roads made of cement, and up on Richmond street, where there are old stores, not painted, and broken windows, I would have them all built up again.

KATHARINE KILBOURNE.
I would have beds of flowers and trees and water-fountains and pretty little squirrels and birds and birds' cages and squirrels' cages in the park. I would have the lawns all fresh and have the old roads.

RETA HOOVER.
I would see that all the roads had cement on them and would make more playgrounds. I would have all the houses painted again, and I would have more stores all over the city.

HELEN BEAVER.
I would take up a tax for the poor children in the homes, and try to get them new homes and a Christmas tree and toys for Christmas.

ETHEL RUSSELL.
I would try and fix the houses up and help the poor and try to get the men that are out of work a job. I would make the homes happy, and put in new cement sidewalks. I would trim up the trees and fix Queen's Park up.

INA SHAWCROSS.
I would plant the prettiest flowers and trees and have a beautiful garden in front of my house, so when people would go by they would have the beautiful scent from the flowers. I would have new schools and churches built up.

ANNIE MCKAY.
I would want to keep clean and neat and have clean things. I would have a bath every night and keep my teeth clean and finger nails clean.

VIOLET RICE.
I should get new roads in some parts of the city where there are no roads, and where the roads are all mud and water. The kind of roads I would get are paved. I should build new schools for the children and the poor children. I would give the children that are in homes plenty of little presents for Christmas.

GERTRUDE PLAYER.
I should build a comfortable home for children that have no mother or father, and I should see that they got looked after well, such as seeing if they had plenty of good food and comfortable clothes. Another thing that I should do would be to make the park look nicer. Some of the roads in London that are not paved I should get paved. I should see that the children go to school till they are 15 years of age, so that they can be useful in the world.

ELMER DANBY.
I would gather money and make play-parks for the children. I would build a large "zoo" for the animals down at Springbank.

VAUGHN, O.
I would go all round the city and see how things were; see that the roads were kept clean; get men to see that the garbage was gathered and see that the people that stole things would be looked up so that the street cars, inside and outside, were clean; see that the backyards were clean; see that the roads, were kept safe; see that the telegraph poles were all safe; see that the bridges were safe, and see that the railroad tracks were all down tight.

ARTHUR CLARK.
I'd see that the poor people had a nice house to live in, and the rich people had a nice place, too. I'd see that the streets were kept clean and banana peels were not scattered about. I would see there was no rubbish around that would catch on fire.

MARY CLARK.
I would have all kinds of pretty flowers and have the lawns nice. And have nice cement sidewalks, have the roads looked after, and have people not cut across the lawn. And I would see that there were no thieves around, and that there were no holdup men.

GRACE ROBINSON.
I would have all cement roads and have all the houses painted and back yards clean. I would not have dirty yards, so the germs couldn't get around. I would have the fertilizer away out in the country where nobody lived. I would see that all the widows had a pension and the poor had food. That's what I would do.

DORIS PETERS.
I would put taxes lower, and see that everybody had a decent house to live in, and that all of the streets and people's lawns were clean. I would build better schools, and make the school yards more decent for children to play in. I would see that people do not have liquor or make it.

MARGARET DOBBS.
I would try to make people good and then I would go and cut down the prices of goods. I would try to make people happy and get food for the poor.

HARRY LAWRENCE.
I would organize a meeting in the city hall and tell them to make the streets clean and pull down the old houses and make everything new, and try to make a beautiful city and I think that would make all the germs stay away.

GLADYS MOSSOP.
I should first try to better the education; second, I should find work for the men of the city who are unemployed, because I think if the men and young men got work there would not be so much stealing and murdering, although there is no murdering in London. Third, I should pave the roads that are not paved in London. Fourth, I should try to have better service in the city. Fifth, I should try to make the parks and streets safer to cross by making strict traffic rules, and try to make motorists live up to them. Six, I should have good clean amusements for the city.

ANNA GRANT.
To make London a better city I would close a few dance halls for a while and not have so many silly shows, but have mostly learned ones. I would have night watchmen in all the banks, so as to keep out thieves and robbers. I would try to find employment for every man or woman, so there would be no robbers by thirty years, or even ten, from now, if I were mayor.

BETH HARKNESS.
I would organize a club to go around the streets and clean them up, so that when people came to visit London they would say: "Isn't London a lovely city?" I would build a new Talbot street school.

WILLIE HAMMOND.
To make London the happiest and the best place on earth, I should have more cement roads made. I should have another high school built. I should have a new garbage system, and I should have more fountains in the park. I should have a cement road built to Port Stanley, and I should have more employees for the city.

EDWIN MARTIN.
I would make London the best place on earth to live in for rich and poor people. I would not put heavy taxes on for the poor people, and I would make the rich people pay heavy taxes. I would have all the roads made of cement, and I would keep as many germs out of London as I could. I would not let any liquor in the city.

JEAN HALL.
I would put thought to the matter, and I would not be proud or haughty. I would put out a lot of money on street cleaning and making the parks beautiful. I would try to keep the street cars as quiet as possible. I would pave the unpaved roads. If I could, I would have the garbage collected at night, and the people would get taken away. I would not have taxes any higher than was absolutely necessary, so poor people could have good homes. That's what I would do.

JOSEPHINE VICE.
I would make a bigger market and better market for the people, because the market in London is too crowded on Saturdays. Then the rich and poor and all kinds of people can go there. I would build a new city hall, because ours is no good at all.

FRANK HAINES.
If I was mayor of London, I would have lower rent and taxes, so as to make it lighter for the poor of the city of London.

GOLDIE JURY.
On market day I would give each farmer a stall, so they would be able to keep in there and not be out on the buyer's things and himself from being upset, too.

ORLO MILLER.
I would get right to work and make London the cleanest place. I would get all the little boys and girls of London to pick up scraps of paper and throw them into the garbage cans. I would try to impress upon the children to be as polite as possible, when strangers come to town, and to show them around to places that they would like to see. I would cut down the taxes, so the people wouldn't be so poor.

ARLETTA LINK.
I would have all the rich not to be stingy with their money. I would make them divide it up with the poor. I would make all the roads and sidewalks clean, and ask the people to be careful with their cars, not to go fast with them on the busy streets, because they might run over people and kill them. And in all the dark places, where there are no lights, I should put some lights up.

ROLLAN DEDACON.
I would pave the roads and sidewalks and keep the lawns clean. I would make nice bungalows and nice cottages. I would have no papers or orange skins, or banana skins on the road. I would have electric lights in the houses.

CASSIE NEWMAN.
I would cement the roads and sidewalks. Then I would get some men to hand out bills for the people to vote, to see how many would vote for making the world all over again and happy.

HAROLD USHER.
I would have the streets clean, and I would hire men to look after them. And I would put cement on all the streets. And I would fix the houses, and I would hire men to make a "zoo." Then I would hire men to catch animals to put in the cages. Then I would put a lot of English and Canadian flags up on each corner.

ROBERT FISHER.
I would send gardeners to make the gardens grow. I would grow trees in the park, and send doctors to make people well. I would not let boys fight on people's lawns, and I would make as many roads paved as I could.

SHIRLEY KNOTT.
I would make the boys keep off the lawns to make the city of London more beautiful, and I would not let the boys do anything wrong.

DORIS L. HENSON.
I would keep my lawn clean and I'd keep my sidewalk clean, and I'd have some flowers in front of my house, and I'd keep my house clean.

WILFRED WASTELL.
I would fix the town up, and would make the town the best I could. I would supply the schools with books for children, and would build buildings and houses for people to live in. And I would tell the children to keep off people's lawns. I would make paved streets, and I would build a street railway so people could go from one street to another.

IRVIN JONES.
I would clean up the roads, and have nice green grass all over the city. I would have flowers everywhere and nice parks and nice buildings on the streets of London. I would have work for the men and good pay. I would pave all the roads if I had money enough, and I would fix the schools in London, and hold good times quite often.

ROBERT KING.
I would keep the children off the lawns and keep the grass cut and the streets clean, and I would keep the schools nice, and I would keep the country roads clean.

HELEN BURCH.
I would keep the lawns clean and have pretty flowers growing.

PHILIP MANDAS.
I would like to make the people happy and have nice houses for them, and make London the best city on earth.

EVELYN ROGERS.
I would try my very best to keep London a very beautiful city, and then people would live in it. And I would make the children stay off the lawns, and make the city healthy.

WILLIE MERTON.
I would build a cement breakwater from Blackfriars street to Dundas street. Then I would pave Wyatt street and build a cement breakwater from Wyatt street to Mount Pleasant avenue.

Then I would pave Mount Pleasant avenue as far as Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and pave Woodward avenue. I would have a plunge put in all city schools, and have the old ones rebuilt. I would have a bathing camp in all school districts.

GLADYS DAWSON.
I would like to make the people happy. And the way I'd like to make London nice is to have lovely flowers growing around the houses.

MADELINE MINO.
I'd like to have a nice house to live in, and I'd like to have other people living in nice houses, and the streets clean.

WILFORD CHELEV.
I would cut the price of things and make good roads, especially over London West. I would not let any liquor into London, and I would bring the gas bill down so we wouldn't have to pay so much for it.

Then I would have a bathing camp in all school districts.

ADA BARKER.
I would not allow people to put rubbish on the roads or break cement sidewalks. I wouldn't let them make slides on the sidewalks, so old people wouldn't break their arms or legs. I wouldn't allow them to run into people with automobiles.

MARION TOPPING.
I'd make the boys keep off the lawns and make London look pretty.

Powdered animal horn enters extensively into native remedies of China. Trains on Great Western Railway go as high as 78.5 miles an hour at certain points on the line.

CLAIMS CRERAR OR KING WOULD RUIN COUNTRY

Meighen Charges That Their Policies Sure To Paralyze Industrial Life.

SUTHERLAND SPEAKS

Declares Liberals in South
Oxford Are "Sniping" Him Through Mails.

INGERSOLL, Nov. 30.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Three more constituents were covered by Premier Meighen today when he addressed large meetings in Simcoe, Woodstock and Ingersoll. By holding the first meeting early in the afternoon and the second from 6 to 7:30 o'clock, the premier was enabled to crowd his three meetings into the latter half of the day. It is probable that at least 8,000 persons heard him at the three meetings.

At the Woodstock meeting E. W. Nesbitt, former member and candidate in the North Oxford riding, occupied a seat on the platform.

The premier's speeches followed the lines which he has emphasized in previous addresses. "The people are called upon to decide not only whether we shall have protection or no protection, but also whether we shall have candor and honesty or trickery and chicanery in public life," he remarked in discussing the attitude of his opponents on the tariff. The policies to which both Mr. King and Mr. Crerar were pledged would "paralyze the industrial life of Canada," he declared.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts To Flush Kidneys
if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms ure, which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headaches, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

rink. John J. McLeod, also of Ingersoll, was chairman of the meeting.

Charge "Sniping."

Donald Sutherland, former member for, and government candidate in South Oxford, was the first speaker. He said that political parties usually had platforms on which they were proud to stand. This was not the case with the government's opponents in the present campaign. The Liberals were not coming out and fighting in the open, but were "sniping" through the medium of circulars and documents forwarded through the mails, he said.

Premier Meighen said that a government must always expect opposition and criticism—genuine, fair criticism should be welcomed by a government as tending to clear the air and shed light on difficult problems. Error in matters of policy injured the whole nation and every class in the nation. Consequently such errors must be avoided.

The premier recalled the charge made some years ago that the government had allowed Canadian nickel to be made into bullets to shoot Canadian soldiers. He declared that every ounce of nickel sent out of Canada was supervised and assured obtained that it was going to the Allies and not to Germany. The only nickel that Germany obtained was procured by a submarine which broke through the cordon of the British fleet, he said. This, and a small quantity manufactured before the war, was all that Germany had procured.

LACK OF FRENCH JAILS PRISONER

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—George MacDonald, who admitted stealing a suitcase, in the police court this morning, is going to learn the French language. When Detective Bogli, who made the arrest, told Judge Landot that he could not find the complainant, the judge ordered the case dismissed. Clerk of the Court Leclair was writing "envoyé" (dismissed) across the record when MacDonald, who had not understood the conversation, said: "I plead guilty, my lord."

So instead of walking out of the court a free man, MacDonald will go down in Bordeaux until his trial, and perhaps for some time longer than that.

Coast Population of Sweden Quits Fishing For Rum-Running

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 30.—Rum-running into Sweden from Germany has developed into something like a public scandal, say Swedish newspapers. The broken nature of the coast line and the thousands of small islands dotting the sea approaches are all in favor of smuggling enterprise.

The craft engaged in this trade are generally small, fast-sailing schooners, captained as a rule by ex-officers of the Imperial German navy. Many of the skippers bear names well-known in the records of submarine activity. Their daring and experience makes it very difficult for Swedish coastguards to stop them.

From Reval, Rostock, Stettin, Lubek and other German ports these vessels put to sea, their cargo always consigned, according to the ship's papers, to some Finnish port. Once among the rocky archipelago of Eastern Sweden, the cargo is landed piecemeal after night-fall on the rocks, from which it is later removed by accomplices ashore who have a widely ramified organization for the island distribution of the goods.

Claim Traffic Enormous.

This illicit traffic is said by Swedish paper to be enormous. The papers are full of stirring stories about smugglers and their doings. They remain outside the territorial waters, cruising about until their friends seize their chance to rush out in fast motor-boats, often in a heavy gale, tranship the liquor and disappear in the dangerous labyrinth of the archipelago.

Lately the police has started a scheme to beat the rum-runner at their own game. The other day a police boat, camouflaged as a smuggling craft, boarded a German schooner and loaded up to the gunwale from the schooner's hold, unconscious of the fact that the schooner was just outside the territorial limit. When the policemen tried to leave the schooner without paying, the smugglers threatened to throw them overboard and there was nothing for them but to pay for the liquor.

Take Guards to Germany.

In another case, the correspondent was told, a gale blew up soon after the coastguards had boarded a ship which happened to be within the three-mile limit and, owing to the dangerous coast, the ship had to put out to sea, taking the Swedish guards away to Germany.

In Sweden and in Finland many of the coast population get their living by smuggling and refuse to go fishing and carry on their legitimate trades. In Finland, where total prohibition prevails, conditions are even worse than in Sweden. Fishing there has entirely ceased, it is said, because rum-running is far more profitable business.

WEST ELGIN LIBERALS HOLD BRISK MEETING

EAGLE, Nov. 30.—William Stapleton of St. Thomas delivered an address here Wednesday night in the interests of William Tolmie, Liberal candidate in West Elgin, in which he gave an exhaustive description of the extravagance of the present administration and assailed it as inefficient. He declared that even as Sir Wilfrid Laurier had overcome the depression of 1896, so the Liberal party could today, the two cases were parallel, he said. The speaker also attacked the merchant marine and the salaries of cabinet ministers. Mr. Tolmie and a railwayman of St. Thomas also addressed the meeting.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. MARYS, Nov. 30.—James Murdock, who was to have addressed a mass meeting in the Allen Theatre here this afternoon in the interests of William Forrester, Liberal candidate for South Perth, found it impossible to come owing to poor health. However, a worthy substitute in the person of J. J. Hunter substituted and addressed the most successful political meeting held in the riding since the present campaign opened. In his opening remarks, Mr. Hunter spoke of the controversy between Murdock and O'Connor.

"I am sorry," he said, "that Mr. Murdock is not here to carry on with his exposure, but I will call your attention to an article appearing in the Globe, asserting that O'Connor was being paid $8,000 at the rate of $1,000 a month. Murdock knew this, but he left it to the newspaper man to find it out."

Forced to Smile.

"I remember when Sir Charles Tupper came to Canada and took over the government. He and Macdonald were men of credit and honor, but when I look at the men who are today trying to run the country it makes me smile and is making the people of Canada smile. Men who told the soldier the country could not afford to pay them any more money, then slip down to Ottawa and vote for an increase in their own salary, those are the men who are asking for your support today. And right here let me say that I want to pay a tribute to the late Sir Sam Hughes, the greatest man Canada ever had. When history is written there is no doubt but what he will receive a prominent place in the historical page of the country."

"They say we Liberals are free traders. Yes, we are, if the rest of the world will trade with us, but certainly not otherwise. They tell us that the tariff is the main issue and that it will prove a cure all for these times of unrest, but do not be fooled for such is not the case. They told us in 1911 that if reciprocity carried we would be giving ourselves over to the United States—just a little bit of free trading for without doubt it would have meant the making of our country. If ever we are separated from the Motherland it will not be to go to the United States, but to make a nation out of ourselves that will be a credit to the world."

"I object to the U. P. O., not as an organization working for the welfare of the farmer, but as a class movement, for an association not large enough to take in every elector is not capable of running the affairs of the country. You have them in power in Ontario, and must know that the province is being run at a financial loss."

Attacks Election Act.

The 1917 election act was vigorously attacked by the speaker as well as the handling of the soldiers' vote. Meighen, he said, did not deny the sending of a telegram asking for a thousand soldiers' votes.

"It is a shame that more than one seat was stolen in that election by these corrupt methods. The soldier wanted to vote honestly. I know of one man who was not permitted to vote and who underwent severe punishment because he condemned Sir Robert Borden in a letter sent home."

"Hon. Arthur Meighen is held up before you as the man of the hour. I ask you candidly, has he any more ability than Mackenzie King? Certainly not! There is no man in Canada today better able to fill the responsible position of prime minister than Mr. King, who served as minister of labor under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and a man who has the welfare of our country at heart, true to principle, and one who does not change his attitude wherever he goes. I trust that the friends of good honest government will line up behind Mackenzie King and place Mr. Forrester in the seat which he won in 1917, but did not occupy. You owe it to your country and to Mr. Forrester to stand by him in the fight and to see that this time he does occupy that seat."

Mr. Forrester made a brief address in which he appealed for the solid support of the electors and expressed gratification that present indications are much in his favor.

ADOPT SCHEME TO GUARD MERCHANTS

St. Thomas C. of C. To Govern
All Solicitations.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 30.—To guard the merchants of St. Thomas from fraudulent solicitations for funds for worthless advertising, the Chamber of Commerce has prepared cards printed attractively in red and blue, setting forth the principles of the chamber governing all solicitations for donations. The cards will be distributed among the merchants.

It is not the purpose of the chamber to endorse any scheme for solicitation of funds, it merely gathers data and reports to inquiries the essential facts regarding projects financed through soliciting and will state whether or not the solicitations come within the principles set down by the organization.

Subscriptions and donations must be for worthy causes and satisfactory assurance must be given that at least 70 per cent of the gross receipts will go for the cause for which they are solicited.

An advertising solicitation is judged either as a business proposition or as a donation. When as an advertising proposition, it must elect to be judged by accepted values and standards.

Chamber members are advised to satisfy themselves that the essential facts about such projects are filed with the chamber before they subscribe either by inquiry from the solicitor or by calling the chamber on the 'phone.

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N. S., harbor, and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Hill, now of Windsor, N. S., was living in Halifax at the time, and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows: "I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves, so that I could not do my housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care."

I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

So all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend our Appoint Woman To $12,000 Position As Registrar in N. Y.

New York, Nov. 30.—There'll be no regulation against the bobbing of tresses by her employees when Miss Annie Mathews takes over on January 1, the office to which she has just been elected as registrar of the county of New York—the richest, political plum that has ever fallen into the lap of a woman in New York, if not in the entire United States.

Not that the $12,000 a year registrar-elect hasn't very decided ideas on clothes and all the allied arts so precious to women. Indeed, she has spent the greater part of her 40 odd years studying the clothes problem, first as dressmaker, then a designer, and finally as an importing modiste.

But she has even more decided ideas on the question of personal liberty.

"I am opposed to all prohibition," she said.

"It is impossible to make women or men moral by legislation. The human race can be improved only by education that will make them appreciate the good and the artistic."

"If any of my young women employees ask for my advice on clothes, I shall give it. And the most important thing I will tell them is to wear something appropriate for the occasion. A woman's business attire or house attire certainly should be simple."

Busy herself at the time receiving congratulations at her campaign headquarters, Miss Mathews' attire emphasized her formula. A plain blue serge dress, softened at the throat by a bit of embroidered linen collar. Black high shoes. No jewelry. Copper colored hair simply coiffed.

"Bobbed hair," she went on, with a twinkle from behind her pince-nez glasses, "is largely a matter of taste. All this talk about depravity among young women makes me a bit weary. I believe the young people are as good as young people ever were."

"Of course there are and always have been extremists. But—well, I don't think I will be troubled with these, for I can tell a great deal about character by the clothes one wears. Yes, even the standardized clothes of men."

Miss Mathews enters on her new job of keeping the country's deeds, mortgages and leases with but one preconceived idea—that there shall be no prejudice either for or against any of her 150 employees because they happen to be women.

ANOMALIES EXIST IN BETTING LAWS

Revived by Agitation To Legalize Paying Bets by Check.

LONDON, England, Nov. 30.—Despite the recent betting by check case in the House of Lords, whereby the recovery of bets paid by check was made possible, bookmakers here do not anticipate many applications for the return of their money or that many complications will ensue as a result of the decision.

An agitation has recently been started with the object of legalizing the system of betting by check, and the National Sporting League, to which practically all bookmakers are affiliated, has made arrangements with two prominent members of parliament to introduce in the House of Commons a short bill on that subject. A bill with the object in view has already been introduced to the House of Lords.

The judgment that a bet by check can be recovered by the man who pays it came at first as a bombshell to the gambling fraternity but, in the light of subsequent happenings, it has appeared to them to be a blessing in disguise inasmuch as it has shown up what they regard as the many anomalies which exist under the present betting laws of Great Britain. The lord chancellor (Lord Birkenhead) when he was delivering the judgment in the case referred to, said he would support any bill to revise the gaming act.

The position at present is that the government allows betting under certain conditions. A person desirous of placing a bet must not hand a slip of paper with the bet thereon to a bookmaker in the street or any public place, but he may put the same words on a government telegraph form and send it over the government wires at the usual tariff without fear of being arrested.

It may be sent to the bookmaker's office by letter or telephone and the sender will still be on the safe side.

THE MAN FOR LONDON.

DO NOT ALLOW THEM TO EVADE THE ISSUE

In his daily circulars to the voters of London Mr. C. R. Somerville, candidate of the Liberal party, invites them to make a careful study of the Liberal platform.

The Liberal convention which met in Ottawa in 1919 did more than that—it adopted a platform, and pledged itself if elected to bring it into effect. That same convention appointed Mr. Mackenzie King leader of the Liberal party, and in accepting that responsibility he also accepted the policy that party was to uphold. That policy calls for such substantial reductions in the Canadian tariff that it will have a most disastrous effect upon Canadian industries. Today, Mr. King says he regards the Liberal tariff policy only as a chart. Mr. Somerville, Mr. King's candidate in London, invites the people to study it, but has openly refused to commit himself as to whether he agrees with it or not.

Make Them Speak Out --- Accept No Alibi!

If Mr. Somerville was sure of his ground he would say of the Liberal tariff policy as Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen says of the policy of his party: "This is what I shall do if elected to power." But Mr. Somerville in London evades the issue, while Mr. King in the West preaches free trade.

ERECT WAR MONUMENT TO MINTO TP. HEROES

[Special to The Advertiser.]
HARRISTON, Nov. 29.—W. J. Welch, who has the contract for the erection of the soldiers' monument, purchased by the taxpayers of Minto Township and of this town, on the market triangle, has placed the granite work in position, and is awaiting the arrival of the bronze statue selected by the committee. The monument is a fine piece of work and bears a list of the men from township and town who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war. A drinking fountain forms part of the monument and a large watering trough for animals, which will be installed opposite the monument, is a part of the work.

The money for the monument has been collected in the taxes, the people willingly paying it. The committee in charge of the work is composed of citizens, no ex-service man being included.

Approximately 50,000 women from Europe have entered the United States since the armistice.

The Gas Company Doesn't Like Wenige

They don't want to see him ELECTED MAYOR FOR 1922. They have a good reason; they are making application to Parliament right now for another increase in their Gas Rates and they know WENIGE won't stand for it.

THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY DOESN'T LIKE WENIGE, and doesn't want to see him ELECTED MAYOR for 1922. It's good business on their part.

THE CITY ENGINEER'S DEPARTMENT, the Department that spent this year $800,000.00 of your money, doesn't want WENIGE ELECTED as MAYOR for 1922. Why? Because WENIGE will insist that you get a better run for the money spent.

THE WESTERN FAIR BOARD will not vote to elect WENIGE as MAYOR for 1922. Because he will insist on getting new Blood on this Board, and will insist on making it an EXHIBITION in place of a FAIR, and one that Londoners will be proud of, and will get behind.

BUT THE REAL HONEST-TO-GOODNESS CITIZENS, the TAXPAYERS, the men and women that have to pay the shot want Alderman WENIGE as mayor for 1922; they need him a man of action, and with the courage of his conviction. The Man that has no POLITICAL Promises to fill, has no HENCHMEN tied to him. He will apply the same business ability and energy to Civic affairs that has made his own business such a success.

DON'T LET SENTIMENT govern your action on December 5. MARK your BALLOT FOR HIM. HE is a successful business man and will carry out his platform.

School Board

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF LONDON:

I had the honor of serving the city on the Board of Education for four years, 1914 to 1917, inclusive, being forced to withdraw owing to the pressure of private business. During these years several of London's finest schools were built.

I have been solicited by several local organizations and numerous friends to re-enter the Board of Education.

It is generally recognized that during the coming year the board will be faced with several of the most difficult problems in its history, and for that reason I have consented to again stand for election.

If my former record on the Board of Education and in connection with the business life of the city is such as to merit your confidence and support, resulting in my election, I can assure you that all the problems of the board dealing with primary and secondary education will receive my most careful consideration.

Yours faithfully,

KING COMPARES MEIGHEN WITH SOVIET LEADER

Declares Premier Violated Voters' Constitutional Rights by Seizing Power.

URGES UNITY AS VITAL

Denies Anybody in Country Today Stands For Free Trade.

GANANOQUE, Ont., Nov. 30.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Addressing a capacity audience at the Opera House this afternoon in the interest of A. W. Mallory, Liberal candidate in Leeds constituency, Hon. Wm. L. Mackenzie King attacked the statement that the issue in the present fight was between free trade and protection.

"There is nobody in this country today standing for free trade," Mr. King declared. "It is nonsense for the prime minister to try and frighten the people by putting forward a camouflaged issue. What Mr. Meighen sought was to have the people entirely overlook the record of his government during the last sixteen months."

Mr. King asserted that in this election the real issue was whether the people, or a small group, were to govern. Mr. Meighen had only differed from Lenin and Trotsky in that they resorted to physical violence to gain power, while Mr. Meighen violated constitutional rights in seizing and holding power as he had done.

Dealing with the railway problem Mr. King said that both Sir A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier had consulted Parliament on their railway commitments, while Mr. Meighen refused to consult Parliament.

The Grand Trunk shareholders were given a chance to consider their agreement, while Canadian people were refused sight of the agreement, Mr. King declared.

Mr. Meighen, he said, had forgotten that the cabinet was simply a committee of Parliament. "We must get back to parliamentary government and responsibility," Mr. King stated. The Liberal leader declared that all questions of re-establishment of returned men should be reopened before a committee of a representative parliament. He charged Mr. Meighen with "destroying the most sacred rights of the House of Commons by forcing estimates through under duress."

The building and operation of Canadian government merchant marine was also objected to, as was the passage of marine closure estimates under duress, which meant "the shutting off of discussion."

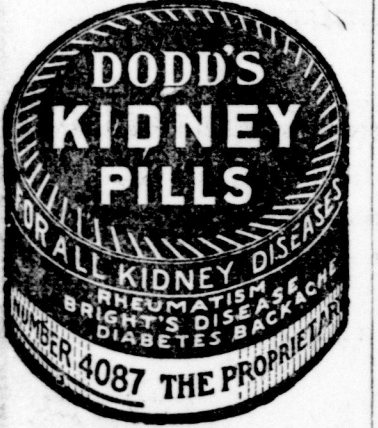

The abuses of the protective tariff system, said Mr. King, made multi-millionaires of a few persons at the expense of the majority of the people. The Liberal revenue tariff policy would help bring the needed revenue, and increase production in the great industries. Machinery and tools used in the four basic industries of agriculture, lumbering, mining and fishing, and also necessities of life must be freed from onerous taxation.

Mr. King again dwelt with the Progressive movement, and with his appeals during the last year for co-operation between Progressives and Liberals. He believed the Progressive movement had become really a class movement, and as such was against the best interests of the country at large. The great body of Canadian farmers believed in seeking their reforms with the aid of all other groups, Mr. King declared, and the Progressive movement drew on the country at large for support. Political action, members elected as Progressives would have difficulty in securing the co-operation of those whom previously they had opposed.

Windsor Veterans Object To Silk Stocking Women As R. Os.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WINDSOR, Nov. 30.—Returned soldiers will protest to the government against the employment of society women here as deputy returning officers next Tuesday.

Pointing out that scores of returned soldiers and unemployed electors are qualified to do the work of deputies, representatives of the different soldiers' organizations were this afternoon staggered by the publication of the names of persons chosen by the local Tory machine.

Out of 84 deputies appointed in the city, 24 are women, some of whom live on Victoria avenue and other select residential districts. "While scores of men are walking the streets of Windsor," officers of the Great War Veterans' Association said, "the Tories have seen fit to employ silk-stockinged women. Then they expect to get the vote of labor and returned men."

Report or November Shows Increases Over Last Year.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 30.—Although a report presented before a meeting of the street railway committee of the city council by Manager Johns Wednesday night showed a deficit of $2,729 for the month of November, the results of the month's operation were much more encouraging than they appear.

The total receipts for the month totalled $2,695.92, of which $1,041.84 was from cash fares, while the balance was made up of ticket sales. The expenditures totalled $5,424.84. It was pointed out by Manager Johns, however, that included in the expenditures for the month was the sum of $1,017 paid to the Globe Indemnity for insurance covering the whole of the year. If the amount had been spread out over twelve months, the deficits for November would have been greatly decreased.

He also stated that many of the supplies, such as rails, rolling stock and ties, which had been purchased and paid out of the revenue for November, would be good for several years, therefore, taking everything into consideration, both he and the committee considered that approximately an even break had been made for the month.

The number of passengers carried during the month showed a decided increase over the same month last year. In November this year 52,535 people were carried, while in 1920 for the same month only 38,539 rode on the cars; showing an increase of 13,996. Ticket sales showed an increase of $501 over a year ago, while the cash fares showed an increase of $219.22.

GIVE BIG WELCOME TO JUDGING TEAM

O. A. C. Students Enthusiastically Receive Successful Classmates.

GUELPH, Nov. 30.—About one hundred fourth-year students from the O. A. C. gathered at the G. T. R. station at 3 o'clock this afternoon to give Prof. Wade Toole and the college stock judging team a rousing welcome on their return from Chicago, where they won fame for the local agricultural institute by carrying off second place in the international stock judging competition.

As the train pulled into the station, Prof. Toole, his seven assistant judges were hoisted to the shoulders of stalwart college boys and were carried to a gaily decorated carryall. Over the top of the vehicle which carried the team was a huge 1922 banner, while the sides were also covered with pennants and bunting. A poster on one side of the carriage bore the words, "Walsh, the Champion Student Judge of America," while on the opposite side was written, "A Close Call For the Yanks."

After being heartily cheered upon their arrival, the party from Chicago were driven through the main streets, followed by the army of students who had assembled at the station to meet them. They were then driven to the O. A. C., where they were given a warm welcome.

The members of the stock judging team, who took second place in a competition against 21 other colleges, were: F. W. Walsh, Westmoreland; N. S. White, Myrtle, Ont.; George Rathby, Huron County; Frank Greaney, Mount Pleasant, Ont.; Douglas Hart, Woodstock; F. S. Thomas, Streetsville, Ont., and A. Cockburn, Fushinch.

Judge C. W. Colter Replies To Questionnaire Submitted To Candidates by Veterans.

WILL SUPPORT VIEWS

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 30.—Two more answers to the questionnaire sent by the G. W. V. A. of this city to the six candidates in East and West Elgin have been received by the veterans.

On Tuesday replies were received from Judge C. W. Colter, Liberal candidate in East Elgin, and from A. E. Hookway, standard bearer for the Progressives in West Elgin.

Judge Colter, except in two instances, dealt with the five questions asked by the G. W. V. A. to ascertain the attitude of the candidates regarding pensions, housing, unemployment, immigration and re-establishment, collectively. He said in part:

"My attitude toward the soldiers' welfare, especially the unfortunate victims of the war, was very clearly defined by me, when I made speeches on recruiting in Ashover, Rodney, Dutton and St. Thomas during the years 1914, 1915, 1916. I then maintained that those who suffer from wounds, disability or bereavements should be put in as good a position, financially at least, as they would have been had they remained at home. I was absolutely sincere in advocating this doctrine at that time. I hold the same views now.

System Erroneous.

"The system followed in awarding pensions is in my opinion erroneous. Many of the officers owed their position to political or personal pull rather than to merit or experience, many in the ranks were their superiors intellectually, socially and physically. Now that the war is over these unjust distinctions should be set aside. The humblest private and his family are entitled to as much financial assistance as those higher in military rank. "In regards to questions 3 and 4 I cannot give a definite answer until schemes proposed are submitted in more detailed form.

"Hitherto the legislation enacted has proved unsatisfactory. Inexperienced and incompetent officials drawing comfortable salaries have been employed to work out the plans proposed. In many cases the men for whom relief was sought have been cruelly deceived and disappointed.

"As to question 5, I unreservedly answer 'yes.' I would also discourage immigration from the slums of Europe. From these to a large extent the criminal classes have been recruited. "Soldiers who in consequence of their war experience are unable to resume their previous avocations, should when properly qualified have a very decided preference in obtaining positions, when vacancies occur in the public service.

"These views I am prepared to advocate and support to the best of my ability both in and out of parliament. "Yours very sincerely,

"C. W. COLTER."

A. E. Hookway Replies.

From A. E. Hookway came the following reply:

"I am very much in favor of supporting all question set forth in your questionnaire. My sympathies have always been with the returned men, and if elected will do all in my power to further their interests.

"Yours very truly,

"A. E. HOOKWAY."

Replies are yet to be received from S. S. McDermid, Progressive leader in East Elgin, and J. L. Stansell, Conservative candidate in the same riding.

PRESENTED WITH CASE OF SILVER

[Special to The Advertiser.] GALT, Nov. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin of Chisholm street, a well-known and highly respected couple, celebrated the 45th anniversary of their marriage at a banquet held at First Church Tuesday the Ladies' Aid Society realized the sum of $350.

An effort is being made to ascertain if it is possible to organize a field company of engineers here.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, who is to speak here tomorrow, will address the Kiwanians at a noon-hour luncheon. During November City Engineer D. T. Black issued eight building permits, three for dwellings, representing a total value of $10,494, bringing the amount of the building activities for the past eleven months up to $493,536, compared with $291,760 for the same period in 1920.

CHATHAM MAN'S ACT TO BE RECOGNIZED

CHATHAM, Nov. 30.—Full military honors will be accorded the late George Howell, who was burned to death in his home last night when attempting to rescue a sick son, on Friday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock. Howell was a member of the Kent Regiment Band, and had played second cornet for over two years in that organization.

The firing party will be supplied by the Kent Regiment, and the regimental band will turn out in full strength. A full turnout is expected, and the officers are sending a wreath on behalf of the regiment. President Murdoch of the G. W. V. A. has asked every veteran in the city to attend the funeral.

The Chatham Daily News is inaugurating a fund for the relief of the family, who are stated to be in dire distress. A particularly pathetic note of the tragedy is that Howell had just started at work yesterday, after being out of work for nearly seven months.

Pennsylvania railroad paid out $1,354,692 to its retired employees during the first six months of 1921.

FINED $10 FOR STRAPPING BOY

HAMILTON, Nov. 30.—Because Miss F. Cuthbert, a school teacher at the Hess street school, strapped Sydney Painting, a pupil in her class, she was fined $10 and costs in police court this morning.

Magistrate Jelfs held that the punishment administered was "a barbarous way of assaulting a boy and never should be used. One or two strokes would have been sufficient," declared Magistrate Jelfs, "and I find that the boy has been excessively punished. I will fine the teacher $10 and costs."

The boy testified that the teacher struck him fifteen times for telling an untruth.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Nov. 30.—The Ontario Fire Marshal's Department will conduct an inquiry into mysterious fires reported in Brantford recently. A few days ago a small frame cottage at 215 Park avenue was gutted during the absence of the owner. There was $1,500 insurance on the building and $1,500 insurance on the contents. The fire occurred at an early hour in the morning.

Too much work caused the breakdown of the civic ambulance Tuesday night, and a patient had to be transferred from the regular car to the emergency ambulance. The ambulance has been used continuously for three years, and throughout several epidemics.

Two local farm implement factories have taken on many of their old employees this week. The Cockshutt Plow Company announced today that 150 men had been taken on for part time. The Massey-Harris Company took on 200 of its old employees for part time work. It is expected that during the next week another 200 will be given positions. These figures indicate that only a quarter of the number of men previously employed in these factories have secured work again.

The annual meeting of the social service council of Ontario will be held in Brantford in May next and in connection with this meeting two secretaries are in Brantford today. Gilbert Agar, general-secretary of the council of Ontario, and T. D. McCullough, district secretary from London. They are calling on several of the prominent people in connection with the promotion of the work.

AVERSE TO HAVING PICTURE TAKEN

Buenos Aires, Nov. 30.—President Hipolito Yrigoyen of Argentina is reported to have an aversion to having his picture taken, and it is said that he has persistently refused to sit before a professional photographer.

This reputation is confirmed by the government organ, La Epoca, which takes an anti-government paper to task for saying that at the instance of one of the departments of the government, photographs of the president were distributed among crowds who gathered at the government house to see a military parade reviewed by him on Columbus Day. The intimation was that the photographs were distributed for political effect.

"The entire country knows," says La Epoca, in denying the responsibility of the government in the matter, "that the president of the republic, Dr. Yrigoyen never has consented to sit in front of a camera. Of the many pictures of him which circulate there is none that can be called authentic, although some snapshots which he could not prevent being taken reproduce his features with more or less perfection. This everybody knows, just as everybody knows his simplicity and his repugnance for this sort of exhibition."

AVERT RIOT AT BIG MEETING

Wilson, J. H. Laughton and others, including the chairman, had a hard time getting the hecklers to let Wenige start to speak. The temper gathered strength, however, as he went along, and at times there were spells when he stood for ten minutes waiting for the uproar to cease.

At one time Wenige said after a series of uproars that he would address the rest of his remarks to the intelligent part of the audience. This was greeted with howls of "apologize," while others insisted that he cry which had been heard several times before: "When were you naturalized?"

Ald. Harley, in his opening remarks, referred to the discussion which preceded, in which the needs of West London had been emphasized. There were other parts of the ward, he pointed out, and he did not approve of the policy of ward grabbing as suggested by Ald. W. A. Wilson for himself and Ald. Drake.

He thought that a man should be big enough to represent the whole city, and this was one of the reasons that he argued for the election of aldermen by the city at large.

Start at Ground.

The question of taxes, the speaker said, was uppermost in most of the meetings, but he was of the opinion that to reduce the taxes, a start at the ground had to be made, and there would have to be some co-ordination of the different spending bodies. In this regard, he thought the naming of a finance commissioner a step in the right direction.

Ald. Harley expressed the opinion that the needs of West London had been fairly well looked after during the past year and thought that section was now in a position to have some paying done.

He said that Ald. W. A. Wilson had raised the point of graft. He declared that in his five years' experience on the council he had never been approached, or heard of anyone being approached. Of course, he pointed out, in a joking yet serious manner, he was not a member of the board of works that let the big jobs. However, he was satisfied that there had been no graft in the past five years. He could not speak for the years before.

He spoke on the juvenile court, and when he concluded his remarks on this, he was asked by Ald. W. A. Wilson if the whole council had not voted this year in favor of a juvenile court.

Would Have One Now.

Harley's reply was that if the council had voted for a juvenile court the city would have had one now. The matter was brought up, and Ald. Cameron Wilson asked that it be referred to the police commission, and that the commission be asked to have a separate place prepared for the court. It was a matter of stalling, pure and simple matter, and that is the reason why we haven't got a juvenile court today.

When Wenige was able to get under way, he pointed to the many existing difficulties outlined by the previous speakers, but none of them had prescribed a remedy. As Ald. Wilson has said: "You don't get anywhere by camouflage. You want action. I have the remedy, a pure business basis. It is maybe as Ald. Harley has said, I hope he is right, that I will be a modern Santa Claus, but hopes and wishes do not get results. You have got to have action and that is what the city is not getting."

Wenige then launched into the city gas problem. He quoted the mayor as saying that they would be a "bunch of jackasses" to try and get the service charge back from the gas company. He admitted that he had been jackass enough to try and get his back, just to get the action that the council should have taken on behalf of the citizens. He answered the charge that the platform was impossible by stating that the policy he was advocating was in force in every business house. He told his hearers that the new mayor would go in with six new aldermen. It would be new thought, and he hoped they would "bust up the ring down there."

Opposed to Cut.

The city of London bill he termed a juggling device to juggle the people out of their money, and "we've got to pay for it." He repeated his charge that items were held back from the council this year so as to not jeopardize the university bylaw, and that it was the intention and scheme of the council to slip several other amounts in the city of London bill.

In regard to reducing expenses he did not advocate cutting the wage of labor, but what he did think should come in for attention was the salaries at the city hall. These are on a wartime basis today.

Wenige charged that the procedure bylaw is daily violated, and that a great deal of the work being carried out by the city is illegal, inasmuch as the law says that in cases of work costing over $200 tenders must be called.

As to his charge that the city had spent up to the limit, he said that the city on the 1921 assessment was positively bankrupt, but, to get away from it, took the stock sheets and put on another ten million.

Coming to his charges against the engineer, he said that the whitewash brush was applied. "It is evident," he tried was me, not the engineer."

"Who are those men who applied the whitewash brush?" he asked, and answered that "One of them is being sued for $35,000; another sells thousands of dollars worth of lumber to the city—legal, I admit, because it's a company, though the members of one family may be 100 per cent of the company. A third borrows money from the city to build a house for himself. Here are two checks, showing that he got $2,000 from the city. Here is the ledger sheet showing that the loan was cancelled because of the title being faulty. He is the man who in his platform says he has made a special study of the city's finances. It is evident that he has not made a good study of his own. Do you want that man to handle your funds?"

"Another of the committee is a corner grocer who falls once anyway and paid 20 cents on the dollar, and the other a street car conductor, and this is not a reflection on his position."

Then the uproar reached its full height. The names and cries at the speaker were numerous and varied.

"How long since you were naturalized?" "Where were you hiding during the war?" were among the most often repeated.

When there was a let up, Wenige remarked about speaking to the intelligent part of the audience and the uproar opened anew. This time it was featured by the call for an apology.

A Mr. Ball got the floor and asked the point-blank question of when the speaker was naturalized.

"Seven or eight years ago," said the speaker.

"What were you doing during the war?" asked another.

"I was in business in the City of London, contributing my quota to the Welfare, Red Cross, and taking up my share of Victory bonds."

The alderman was asked to give the names of the aldermen he referred to above.

To the charge about the lumber, Ald. Harley said that he supplied lumber to the city when others could not. In all other cases the lumber was all purchased by tender.

Finally one of the members of the audience said that the meeting was to hear the municipal issues intelligently discussed and he thought it should be done without so much uproar.

Ald. J. C. Wilson termed Ald. Wenige's charges wild and misleading. There was nothing wrong about the checks which he pulled out, and intimating that there was something wrong.

Wilson's explanation was short and terse. He went to build a house. The bank wanted 8 per cent. "I saw I could get cheaper and went to the housing commission as an ordinary citizen. I applied for a loan in the proper way. It went to Toronto, and was approved. It came back; they gave me the money. I started to build. A couple of weeks later they notified me that there was some little flaw in my title to be straightened out. I immediately withdrew my application and tendered a check for the money already advanced. That is all there was to it."

Asked Removal.

Ald. Wilson replied to Ald. Wenige's charges regarding the gas company to the effect that he had moved that the company be asked to remove statements made on the back of their bills and that he had fought against the increase in the price of gas.

However, Ald. Wilson said that Wenige personally was not an issue in the campaign, and he proceeded to lay his platform before his hearers. He defended himself against the charge that he was not capable of administering civic affairs by pointing out that he had administered a hospital of 1,000 beds and had been offered the position at Ottawa of deputy-director of medical services for the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Commission.

Concluding his remarks on the Wenige charges Ald. Wilson told his hearers that if any of their 16-year-old children had used the English language and logic contained in the charges, they would have been ashamed of them.

Edwin Smith of the board of education was a late speaker, but he startled his hearers by declaring that if he and the chairman had not been active the entire equipment of the new collegiate would have been purchased without one closed tender. He expressed the opinion that no one connected with the board, directly or indirectly, should have any part of a contract with the board.

It came out in reply to a question that the Bailing school is erected on property that the board does not hold a title to.

A man in the audience said that one member of the board sold much material to the board. He was asked to give his name. He said it was Langford. Smith said he would look into the matter.

Mr. Pocock of the utilities board asked Mr. Smith about the contract for wiring the Collegiate. He said that there were no specifications and so he could not see how it could be said that the tender was let to outsiders. The job has been so placed, he understood, but it was not a tender. He said that the utilities price was at absolute cost, and the cost of supervision was to be given to the board free.

Mr. Pocock, in dealing with the work of the utilities commission for the past year, and after outlining the splendid progress that has been made, rose to the defence of doing work by day labor. His department had gone into the matter fully and saved money by it. He insisted one main point of which was laid by contract at a cost of over $1 a foot, and the next year this cost was cut in half by day labor, when the main was continued. He said that if the results of day labor did not work out then the fault was in supervision.

John Colbert, also a utilities candidate, remarked that he was glad that he had no past to apologize for, or the meeting would be there all night. He said that there was a feeling abroad that in this democratic time the utilities were not being operated in a democratic way. He thought that labor was turned around and let Kitchener remodel a 12-room school into one of 21 rooms. He thought that there were many frills in the building of the schools that could be cut off. This was especially true about the massive stonework.

Mr. Ball, a member of the audience, asked how the women had voted for the central Collegiate. The reply was that one woman supported one school and the other three were for a number of schools.

R. H. Hessel, a Labor nominee for the board, got in hot water with a member of the audience over the purchase of bricks for the schools. He contended that there were too many frills about the schools, and also went after the past boards for burying the proposal that there be free text books given the children.

It was close to morning when the meeting finally broke up.

SIR GILBERT PARKER PLEADS IN DEFENCE OF THE MOVIES

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Many who read Burton Rascoe's arraignment of the movies in the last issue of "The Bookman" arose to take issue with him.

Now from the ranks of picture authors arises the distinguished British author, Sir Gilbert Parker, to debate the question in the same magazine.

To this writer, sitting on the sidelines, it appears that Sir Gilbert Parker has all the best of the argument. He is as well acquainted with the subject as a football coach with the rules of the game. Rascoe showed that his knowledge of the subject under discussion is comparable to the understanding of a ten-year-old team captain in the intricacies of football.

To Sir Gilbert the movies are an art. To Rascoe they are only an industry, a low form of commerce.

Sir Gilbert characterizes Rascoe's denunciation of authors as dark-spirited and harsh on Rex Beach, Rupert Hughes, Mary Roberts Rhinehart, Gertrude Atherton, Zane Grey, Ralph Connor, James Oliver Curwood, Samuel Merwin, Sir James Barrie, Edward Knoblock, Somerset Maugham, Arnold Bennett, Robert Hichens, Elinor Glyn, Henry Arthur Jones, Pinero, D'Annunzio and Maeterlinck, all of whom have written directly for the screen or have given their books and plays for screen adaptations.

Rascoe said good books and plays are warped out of recognition when converted to the use of the screen. Sir Gilbert answers that at first hand, ten of his books have been screened. He mentions two, "By Right of Way" and "Behold My Wife!"

"The public will agree that they were faithful reproductions of the main idea of both books and were altered very little," he writes. "Indeed, it was the public which decided the end of 'The Right of Way' should be, for Metro made two endings, a happy and a so-called unhappy ending—that is, the ending of the book—and the exhibitors insisted on the book ending."

"I can indicate a hundred films within my knowledge where there is a main idea carried out with power and simplicity and fidelity to the author's plan. 'Is it to be supposed that Edward Knoblock, a famous playwright, would lend his name—his dramatist and an authority on French history and costume—to a piece of 'hokum'?" He did not, and "Little Lord Fauntleroy" is as legitimate on the film stage as in the book, or Mrs. Hodgson Burnett would not have allowed it to be produced."

To this writer the most significant thing Sir Gilbert says is his tribute to the movie as a medium of education.

"I am a fairly well educated man," he writes, "but I have learned much from the films. It is too easy learning, is it? Well, is it better to learn easily than not at all? Let us have faith. 'The film industry and art have come to stay.'" high school, the only one which the people approved of, was being held down to sixteen rooms. The department threatened that if the school was made larger the grant would be cut off, then it turned around and let Kitchener remodel a 12-room school into one of 21 rooms. He thought that there were many frills in the building of the schools that could be cut off. This was especially true about the massive stonework.
