59TH YEAR. NO. 23411 | LONDON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 10, 1922. | PRICE, THREE CENTS

WILL ASK TWO ASSESSMENT OFFICES

Middlesex Members To Ask Ontario Cabinet To Investigate Charges Against Chittick Court

LONDON'S M.L.A. MOVES TO HAVE ISSUE SETTLED

Dr. Stevenson Declares Motorists Persecuted Under Fee System.

MAGISTRATE SPEAKS

Will Withdraw Authority Given From Justice If So Advised.

"What do you intend to do about the Middlesex county police court?"

This is the question that will be asked Attorney-General W. E. Raney at a special session of the Ontario cabinet Friday afternoon, according to Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M. L. A. for the city of London, who declared to The Advertiser Thursday afternoon that "Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon had assured him that he would withdraw all authority from Squire W. H. Chittick to preside in the Middlesex county police court."

Questioned on this point Magistrate Graydon, while declining to state that he had acted as stated by the member for London, declared that he was quite ready to do so when called upon by the government.

All the members of the provincial legislature for the county of Middlesex will journey to the capital Friday when the entire question will be brought to the attention of the attorney-general. "I intend to ask him what he proposes to do about it," was the emphatic statement from Dr. Stevenson.

That it is time for a change is the latter's unqualified contention. There has been altogether too much persecution of motorists in this county, he declares, much to the detriment of the city of London.

Claims Arrests Bad Business.

"I have already spoken to the police magistrate about Squire Chittick," Dr. Stevenson explained, "and he has given me the definite assurance, whether he will now admit it or not, that he will withdraw from the squire any authority that he may have given him, written or oral. In that event it will be incumbent upon him to act himself."

"This continued arrest of motorists is a decided knock against the city of London. It is bad for business, more particularly with the Western Fair coming on. Look what the visitors were subject to last year. The question will certainly come up before the meeting of the cabinet tomorrow."

"While Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.L.A., has spoken to me about written authority for Squire W. H. Chittick, such is not at all necessary."

This was the opinion expressed Thursday morning by Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in connection with the questioned status of Squire Chittick while presiding in the Middlesex County police court. He made no reference whatever to the report that he would withdraw all authority from the squire.

"While I told Dr. Stevenson Wed-

SAYS MUCH BEING DONE, ENCOURAGE IMMIGRATION

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Taking up the cudgels in defense of the department of immigration and colonization, R. J. C. Stead, director of publicity for the department, declared last night when speaking at the union of municipalities convention that more was being done to bring immigrants to Canada than many Canadians appeared to believe.

"I have been asked," said Mr. Stead, "when the government proposed to resume its immigration activities, and at the very moment that question was asked our advertisements were appearing in no less than four thousand newspapers in the United States."

Mr. Stead said there were many things about campaigns of this kind which could not be shouted from the housetops, but because department officials failed to shout, it must not be supposed that the department was inactive.

May Make Negligent Pay For Fighting Fires

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 10.—A draft of the proposed personal liability for fire bill was read and indorsed at the annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals here yesterday.

This act, which will come into force sixty days after receiving royal assent, will be adopted by every province. The purpose of the act is to enable fire departments to recover the cost of extinguishing fires from persons who, through criminal negligence, are responsible.

Canada's consumption of matches averaged twelve a head of population a day, and 15 per cent of Canada's fire loss was due to careless use of matches, declared George F. Lewis, deputy fire marshal for Ontario.

11 PERISH WHEN SHIP GROUNDS

Remainder of 700 of Raleigh's Crew Are Rescued.

Liner Empress of France Saves Men From Cruiser.

Ottawa, Alg. 10.—Canadian Press.—Eleven lives are believed to have been lost from the British criser Raleigh, which went ashore near Point Amour. This word is contained in a second report received by the radio branch of the Canadian Department of Marine.

The message, which was received by Commander C. P. Edwards, superintendent of the radio branch, was sent by Senior Electrician Coade from Point Amour yesterday, via Fogo, Newfoundland, and reads as follows:

Raleigh struck 4 p.m. yesterday during dense fog, quarter mile west Point Amour light, whilst bound for Forteau. Crew, 700, all ashore except so far as known eleven missing. Ship laying easily about 200 yards from shore. Her bow few feet under water and her stern few feet above. Extent damage to bottom unknown, apparently in no great danger. Crew quartered ashore, bringing provisions from ship. Wireless service giving good assistance."

"Forteau Bay," where the Raleigh went ashore, "is four miles wide between Amour Point, on the eastern, and Forteau Point on the western side, of the bay," according to description given by the British admiralty, "in the Newfoundland and Labrador pilot."

"It is said to be the best roadstead in the straits of Belle Isle. Holding ground is good and fishing vessels moor in it through the summer, but a heavy swell rolls in with a south-west wind. The shore is generally bold, and the water is deep beyond one cable from shore, except at the head, where a shoal extends from the schoolhouse one-quarter of a mile into the bay. In foggy weather," the pilot adds, "great caution is needed."

RESCUES CREW.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—Word was received by wireless this morning that the C. P. R. liner Empress of France outward bound had stopped at Point Amour and was taking on the officers and men of the stranded British cruiser Raleigh. The Empress of France sailed from Quebec Tuesday, and arrangements were made with the government to pick up the crew of the Raleigh as she passed through the Straits. The rescued officers and men will be carried to Southampton. By 8 o'clock this morning 600 members of the crew had been transferred to the liner.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Provisions of the tariff bill under which the president would be given broad authority over taxes levied at the customs houses, occupied the attention of the senate today. IRISH ASSASSINS PAY WITH LIVES

O'Sullivan and Dunn, Slayers of Sir Henry Wilson, Hanged.

Crowd Outside Wandsworth Prison Pray for Condemned Men.

London, Aug. 10.—Joseph O'Sullivan and Reginald Dunn were hanged this morning in Wandsworth prison for the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson on June 20.

A crowd of about fifty Irish men and women assembled outside the jail at 7 o'clock, an hour before the execution. They sang hymns and prayed for the souls of the condemned men.

Both men submitted quietly to being pinioned. They were escorted simultaneously from their cells to the scaffold, where as they met they smiled encouragingly at each other. Both met death unflinchingly.

The mourners outside included the sisters and brother of Dunn and O'Sullivan. The laymen who led the prayers announced that masses for the two men's souls were being said in various churches throughout London.

O'Sullivan and Dunn were captured red-handed by the police after shooting down Field Marshal Wilson as he was alighting from an automobile at the door of his home in Eaton Place, London. The field marshal was in full uniform, having just returned from a war memorial unveiling, at which he delivered an address.

When arrested the assassins gave fictitious names, but their identities were established by Scotland Yard, which showed them to be former soldiers, and Dunn a member of the Irish Republican army. The crime was ascribed to feeling against the field marshal, following the announcement that he had become military adviser to the Ulster government. Their trial was speedy, the sentence of death being pronounced twenty-six days after the assassination, and the jury requiring but three minutes to reach its verdict. This constituted a record in the dispatch of a criminal case in England.

Subsequently the court of criminal appeal and the House of Lords refused to consider appeals, and yesterday a reprieve was denied by Home Secretary Shortt.

BELIEVE STRIKE NOT NECESSARY

Shopmen Think Companies' Action First Step Toward Amicable Agreement.

The first step towards an amicable understanding between the Canadian railroads and the Canadian Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-Way Employees was reached when the railways withdrew the wage cut, which was enforced a few weeks ago, pending further negotiations between the Canadian Railways Association and the union leaders. This is the firm belief of R. H. Hessel of this city, member of the Maintenance-of-Way protective board of the Grand Trunk system.

Mr. Hessel has received notification to the effect that the wage cut was cancelled, and he states that the men in this district seem satisfied with the turn affairs have taken and are confident that a resort to a strike will not be necessary.

The Maintenance-of-Way Employees, following the example of the Federated Shop Trades, had applied to the minister of labor for a conciliation board to settle their differences, but later withdrew their application when the temporary agreement was reached between the Canadian Railways Association and the labor leaders.

Present indications are that the board investigating the grievances of the Canadian shopmen will be able to settle the existing differences through peaceful methods. After the first meeting of the board, Tuesday, prominent officials stated that the danger of a shopmen's strike on the Canadian lines was practically over.

It is stated authoritatively that the Dominion railroad men are reluctant to strike unless it is absolutely necessary, after watching the disastrous results of the walk-out across the border. Then, again, a strike brings in its wake a probable loss of seniority rights in case of reinstatement, which would place a man of 25 or 30 years' service on the same standing in the eyes of the company as a new employee.

Negotiations between the Canadian railways and the Canadian Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-Way Employees will reopen within a few days, and it is probable that Mr. Hessel will attend the conference in the interests of the men.

Ford Would Muzzle Financial Kings To End Strikes

SAYS CAPITALISTS RUN UNIONS.

CLAYTON, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Muzzle the financial kings of Wall street and railroad and coal strikes will be ended, Henry Ford declared in an interview aboard his yacht, the Sialia, which docked here yesterday on the way to Boston.

Big financiers are entirely responsible for the two great strikes which now threaten to paralyze the industrial life of the nation and bring suffering on countless thousands of innocent persons in the coming winter unless they are soon settled, Mr. Ford asserted.

"There can be no settlement of these strikes," said Mr. Ford, "so long as the moneyed interests of Wall street continue in their efforts to dominate American industry. They are behind these walkouts, as they are behind every disturbance in the ranks of labor or capital. 'Get' them and you will succeed in bringing industrial peace.

"Let the manufacturers treat their men like men, pay them a living wage and give them working conditions conducive to self-expression and you will have gone far toward eliminating strife."

Mr. Ford declared there was not a single union in the country formed primarily by men themselves or run for their benefit. All unions were engineered by capitalists, he added, who knew that men could be more easily handled as units than as individuals.

Bandits Rob New York Jewelry Firm of $18,000 In Broad Daylight

New York, Aug. 10.—Two bold bandits, ignoring the traditional deadline established by the police on lower Manhatten, invaded Maiden Lane, in the heart of the jewelry district, shortly after noon today, holding up and robbing the Modern Jewelry Company of $18,000 in jewelry.

John Tratoni, a member of the firm, was alone in the front of the store when the bandits entered and asked to see some rings. As he produced a tray they covered him with pistols, backed him into a room at the rear, where Joseph MacArio, the other firm member, was working, and while one held them at bay the other bandit looted the place.

The bandits escaped on foot, mingling with the heavy noonday crowds in Maiden Lane. Neither was masked, and Tratoni was able to give the police a good description of the air.

BIG BARGAINS ON DOLLAR DAY

Londoners Take Advantage of Gaining Good Things at Cheap Prices.

Many Humorous Happenings Seen in Tour of City's Stores.

BY ISABEL C. ARMSTRONG.

Is Dollar Day in London a success? Just make a tour of the one hundred and six shops safe within the Dollar Day fold, and see their proprietors smiling, see them smiling just now. August tenth, nineteen twenty-two, see them smiling, see them smiling just now.

Merchants and buyers alike were early birds, and early days in the history of the city were recalled to oldtimers when they saw or heard the tales of, stores opened at 7:30 o'clock to specially oblige the public, and humanity lined up even before that hour, to get in with a grand rush and be among the "first come, first served."

Came From Florida.

Citizens had reason to be out betimes, owing to the competition offered from outside in securing bargains. The record for distance covered to participate, so far as investigation can discover, is held by a party that had motored all the way from Florida. Incidentally, among other places they drew up in their magnificent touring car in front of impressive plate glass windows, liberally bedecked with Dollar Day maple leaves, and when they got outside again they were accompanied by attendants carrying carefully packed in boxes a fine set of French china, for which they had paid cash, between $175 and $200.

Never since Dollar Day was inaugurated in London was there such weather for the great merchandising occasion, by special arrangement, of course, of the very superior association officers and committee with the meteorological bureau. There was a look in the eye of each that told to the world the fact that the Dollar Day committee took to itself a large share of the credit for the clear skies, brilliant sunshine and ideal temperature with which the day began and continued.

They were inclined to be a bit pompous about the rule holding that "Virtue is its own reward."

Dollar Day is a week earlier than usual this summer. It took the head of a large firm to tell to The Advertiser tramp the reason why. "You know," he said, "we had intended at first to hold Dollar Day on the seventeenth, when more people would be home from their vacations, but we learned that the Irish picnic had chosen that day, and since the Irish picnic has been such an institution here for years, we decided to give

CLAIMS GOOD CROP OUTLOOK IN WEST

W. S. Evans, M.L.A., Winnipeg, Claims Yield Second Only to 1915.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—The convention of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association was virtually brought to an end last night with a banquet, at which W. Sanford Evans, M.L.A.-elect, who substituted for Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan, declared that there was every reason to be fully satisfied with both crops and business outlook of Western Canada.

Placing the unit at 100, Mr. Evans compared the various prices of grain and farm stock with that of other commodities. "While Western Canada this year will have a crop second only to 1915, the monetary value will not be so great from the farmer's point of view," he said. "One reason is because wheat now stands at 91, as compared with 100 previous to the war, although this is much better than it was twelve months ago."

The managers of the various divisions will meet today, which will wind up the convention.

BUFFALO RAILWAY STRIKE REACHES DECISIVE PERIOD

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Buffalo's street car strike, in progress for forty days, entered upon its decisive period today, in the opinion of city officials. With jitney transportation virtually at a standstill, today will tell whether the people will ride on the cars in sufficient numbers to pay the expenses of operation.

An unusual number of minor disorders marked operation of late night cars last night. Many car windows were battered by stones, one woman passenger was struck in the face by a flying missile, another fainted when a car ran over a railroad torpedo and a conductor was cut by flying glass when a stone shattered a car window. In two cases, policemen guarding the cars fired to check the attacks. No one was hit.

Sir Arthur Currie. The value is 6,000 francs, with an additional allowance of 1,000 francs for traveling expenses. The offer was made by the government of the French republic through the consul-general for Canada, Paul E. Naggiar. Sir Arthur Currie has accepted the scholarship on behalf of the university.

PREDICTS CORK WILL SOON FALL

Irish National Troops Drive Regulars From City.

Biggest Battle of Rebellion Reported To Be in Progress.

London, Aug. 10.—"The end of the war in Ireland is in sight, and the fall of Cork is hourly expected," says a general headquarters bulletin from the Irish National Army troops recently landed near Cork, says a dispatch bearing a Cork date to the Evening News this afternoon.

Troops, numbering about 1,000, which were landed in the west passage at Youghal and Unionhall, are now within ten miles of Cork City, adds the message. They are encountering stiff opposition and the battle is the biggest of the war on the Irregulars, and in the opinion of observers, may last several days. The Irregulars have a full squadron of cavalry to oppose the Nationals' advance.

BIG BATTLE RAGES.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—A special cable to the Star from Dublin says: Rebels were driven from Cork in the biggest battle of the Irish rebellion, it was reported here today. The city was attacked by thousands of Free State troops, who rushed from Dublin to Cork by water. The Free State troops disembarked in small boats ten miles from Cork, marched on the rebel stronghold, firing heavy artillery at rebel stands along the way. Although there were no reports of the casualties, hundreds are believed to have been killed or wounded in the terrific battle.

The offices of the Examiner, Cork Constitution, the Hotel Victoria and the military barracks were blown up during the fighting.

INDIAN CHIEF IN CAPITAL TO INTERVIEW CABINET

Chippewas and Reindeers Claim Moneys for Lands Appropriated in Early Eighties.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—Attired in his native costume, with elaborate feathered headgear, Chief John Bigwin of the Reindeer Indians, Rama Reserve, Orillia, is in the city, accompanied by four other Indian representatives, to interview members of the cabinet in connection with the granting of certain rights which the Indians claim are their due. Among those, according to Chief Bigwin, are the payment of moneys to the Indians throughout Canada for lands appropriated by the government in the early eighties, and some adjustments to the game and fisheries laws.

Chief Bigwin, who comes from Orillia and represents the Chippewa and Reindeer Indians of the counties of Haliburton, Victoria, Ontario and Simcoe, and the district of Muskoka, is 72 years of age.

SUMMON LIQUOR VENDORS FOR NOT CLOSING STORES

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 10.—Government vendors in charge of every liquor store in Vancouver will be summoned to appear in police court on Thursday to answer charges of breaches of the Wednesday early closing law. This follows the report to police headquarters that every government liquor store here remained open yesterday afternoon in accordance with instructions from the liquor control board. The police, however, do not recognize the board's right to overrule the municipal closing laws and will prosecute accordingly.

Government liquor stores in Victoria also remained open yesterday but no action was taken by the police pending instructions from the police commission in the city.

ALDERMAN MAY TO SUBMIT PLAN TO CITY COUNCIL

Declares Additional Revenue of City Justifies Immediate Change.

CLAIMS HANDICAP

Will Urge Pension to Any Officials That May Be Retired.

Declaring that the additional revenue for the city will warrant such action, Ald. John T. May informed The Advertiser Thursday morning, that at the next meeting of the city council he will introduce a proposal to divide the assessment department into two offices, each presided over by a city official.

These offices, according to Ald. May's plans, will deal with real estate and building assessment of the city, and income tax assessment. In proof of his theory that a separate income tax department is essential for London, Ald. May quotes the recent report of Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant, which shows that despite the fact that federal income tax returns for London this year showed a 35 per cent falling off, the city assessment figures were boosted $6,001.

Ald. May points out that the assessment department is at present working under a handicap, because the staff deals with income, business and land and building assessment at one time, and in one office, whereas separate departments would be more productive of efficiency and increased city revenue.

Would Provide Pensions.

Working under such a handicap the assessment staff has been enabled to show an increase over 1921 returns, and Alderman May declares that the results under his scheme would be more startling. He has mentioned the matter to Mayor Cameron Wilson, who has pronounced the idea worthy of consideration.

It is understood that before such a scheme could be placed into operation a few members of the assessment department would be superannuated, as their years of service with the city have taken a toll of efficiency from them, and age must give way to youth. However, Alderman May declared that if any city officials are to be retired on account of age he will insist that they receive proper recognition for their service from the city.

He suggests that such officials as deemed necessary be superannuated by the city council, with a legitimate pension paid them by the city.

Change Coming Soon.

"We have to make a change soon," said Ald. May, with reference to the assessment department. "In fact, we should send a man to Toronto right away to become familiar with the new assessment laws, so that they can be efficiently put in operation here.

"I will ask the city council to authorize two separate offices in the assessment department, each presided over by a different official. The one department should be devoted to income and business tax assessment, and the other to the valuation of land and buildings of London for taxation.

"If any officials are to be retired because of the change, the city must recognize their services reasonably in a financial manner," concluded Ald. May, "and I will urge such action, if necessary."

MEIGHEN USES BLUE RUIN CRY AT TORY RALLY

Former Premier Draws Sad Picture of Canada Since His Defeat.

SPEAKS AT PORT STANLEY

Unwittingly disclosing the fact that he is still smarting from the defeat handed him by the electorate of the Dominion last December, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party in Canada, addressed an enthusiastic audience of 3,000 people in attendance at the picnic of the Liberal-Conservative Associations of Elgin and Middlesex Counties at Port Stanley Wednesday afternoon.

Accompanying Mr. Meighen to the picnic, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, provincial leader of the Conservative party, also addressed the meeting, but as he followed the former speaker, who did not conclude until almost 6 o'clock, his audience became tired, and ere he reached the climax of his speech, had dwindled to a few score people.

Other speakers on the program included Hugh C. McKillop, M.P. for West Elgin; John L. Stansell, M.P. for East Elgin; Michael McKnight, introduced as West Elgin's "new M.L.A."; T. Murritt Moore, a defeated East Elgin candidate, and J. Frank White, M.P. for London. W. S. Scott of St. Thomas acted as chairman.

Cheer Meighen.

Speaking from the flag and flower-bedecked platform on Invererie Heights, Mr. Meighen depicted the ruin and desolation into which he believes Canada has fallen since the electors turned him out of office. His word pictures aroused several hearty cheers from the audience at intervals, almost as lusty as those which greeted his initial appearance on the platform.

An original explanation of the Liberal victory last December was offered by Mr. Meighen, who carefully pointed out to those present that the people of Canada "decided on a change under a deluge of misrepresentation, and it is not much wonder that they did."

With this alibi for his defeat firmly established in the minds of his stalwarts present, Mr. Meighen then proceeded to take Premier King to task, and already predicted the downfall of the Liberal party at the next federal elections.

"Every career has its trials; its obstacles, its disappointments," he began, "and public life is not without its share. However, there is the satisfying sense of something done. It is enough for me if notwithstanding the ups and downs of politics; the long arduous ups; and the sudden downs, I may feel that my fourteen years of public life are considered by some of you any way not to have been without a little advantage to my country."

Attacks Premier.

The speaker then declared that although Port Stanley had always been a favorite picnic haunt for those of his boyhood neighbors, he had never in his life visited the beautiful resort because of the onerous duties of performing the chores on a humble Perth farm.

He then proceeded to place Premier King on trial for his alleged misdeeds during the seven months that he has been at the helm at Ottawa. Predicting vengeance on the perpetrators of these offences, Mr. Meighen asserted that the Liberal administration in Canada would be shortlived.

"After one session we are able to estimate the fraud put over on the people of Canada last December," stated the former premier, declaring that the government had placed into operation the fiscal policy of the Meighen administration which they had set themselves against a short time previously. He challenged his audience to instance any favoratism shown the rich in his fiscal policy, and asserted that Premier King is following the channel mapped out by his predecessors in this regard.

Ridiculing the fact that the budget was changed this year before being brought down in the house, Mr. Meighen opined that this showed a weakness, as "governments usually know what they want." Once more he charged that the Liberal party did not lay down the platform utilized prior to being placed in power.

Ridicules Budget.

He sarcastically referred to a resolution placing 1,600 articles on the free list for entry into Canada by the King administration, and declared that but one of these articles was actually placed on the free list, and "the best microscope in the country could not see it. This article consists of the porcelain parts of pumps."

Leaving the Liberals for a few moments the speaker turned to "those brave and bold and patriotic Progressives."

"First cousins of the Liberals did I say?" he commented bitterly, "they are brothers in blood and brothers in conduct." He then attempted to illustrate the point that he wished to drive home to his audience, namely, that Premier King is playing into the hands of the Progressives continually, catering to their votes in the house. Several alleged illustrations were introduced.

Orders-in-council he declared to have been the chief bone of contention of the Liberal party last December, yet he asserted that since assuming the reins of government Premier King has legislated to any height that he wanted to by orders-in-council.

Mr. Meighen vigorously condemned the government as "those rampant free traders." "Those crusaders against autocracy" and "order-in-council government" were other terms applied to his political foes by Mr. Meighen, whom, he declared, had vested themselves with powers that "any government had never dared to ask for."

Discusses Income Tax.

Mr. Meighen took credit for instituting the income taxation as a source of revenue, which, he asserted, his successors did not dare to touch, as it was equitable with regard to the poor man. However, he pointed out that Mackenzie King, whom he branded "the man of sermons," had not only left the sales tax, but "it was increased by 50 per cent."

"Nebulous meandering in the clouds, preaching a sermon instead of facts," was the speaker's description of Premier King's address at Leamington Tuesday, and this word-juggling on his part brought forth applause from his supporters. The tax on cigarettes and soft drinks came in for its share of condemnation, as "just enough to make a little annoyance for all of us, and no money for any of us."

The government-operated railways were also assailed by Mr. Meighen, who repeated his words of Tuesday at Kingston on this phase of politics. The wheat board and results obtained were dealt with in similar vein to that of the Meighen address at Kingston, the speaker utilizing the same ammunition to hurl at the Liberal party.

"Seven lazy months," was the speaker's characterization of the Liberal administration to date, who reiterated his declaration that Premier King and his cabinet have left behind them a trail of broken election pledges. He diagnosed "government paralysis" as the cause of the young people of Canada "hiking" to the United States and dealt at length with immigration to Canada.

Lauds Conservatives.

Such flowery tributes to the Tory administration as "seven years of progress, enterprise and effort" were caustically compared to "seven months of standing still and relapse; marking time; drifting in the open plain; and prostitution of its own prepared program" credited to the Liberals.

Graciously asking for five minutes more of his hearers' time, Mr. Meighen proceeded to monopolize the platform for another quarter hour by dealing at length with alleged threats of disclosures made by the Liberal party, which, he declared, had not materialized.

After handing a few bouquets to Mr. Meighen as a beginning, Hon. Mr. Ferguson then proceeded to place the Drury government on trial. He characterized the United Farmer movement as an epidemic, and freely criticized the expenditures of the Legislature on highways, legal fees and in general.

The provincial debt, which proved his best card at Kingston Tuesday, was again in the limelight, and the only new feature that the speaker laid before his audience was the prediction that there would be no provincial elections until 1923.

"Mr. Meighen has spoken of the irresponsible government at Ottawa," he concluded. "God knows we have something infinitely worse at Toronto."

Praises Meighen.

Hugh C. McKillop, M.P., addressed the gathering briefly, declaring that he was more than ever convinced that the Tories are the best administrators, and that after one session at Ottawa he possesses greater faith in "our leader."

John L. Stansell, M.P., for East Elgin, spoke for five minutes, during which time he stated that the "quicker we get back the two-party system the better." Previously, he had said, that the people can obtain "much more stable legislation from the four-group system than the two-party system." He concluded by expressing the fervent wish that this party return to power again under the leadership of the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Michael McKnight, mentioned as the Tory candidate in East Elgin for the Legislature, addressing the audience said: "I want all the support I can get."

"That's true," shouted a spectator in the front row, to which comment the speaker added the information that he will be "against great odds" in the contest.

At the conclusion of the rally Mr. Meighen and party returned to London, where they expected to remain until Thursday morning. An opportunity was given all who desired to shake hands with the former premier on Invererie Heights when he had finished his address.

Claims Arctic Has More Land of Value Than Dry Regions of South

TORONTO, August 9.—"The age of exploration of the arctic regions is over and the age of commercial development has begun. I intend to devote the rest of my life not to the exploring of the northlands, but to the building up of a greater Canada," thus said the explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, today, on the occasion of a short visit to Toronto.

"I venture to prophesy that within fifty years from now there will be less land in the northern hemisphere that is considered worthless because of cold than there is land in the south that is considered worthless, because of its being dry."

MOVES TO HAVE ISSUE SETTLED

esday that I did not give the squire written authority to proceed with such cases as within his jurisdiction," Magistrate Graydon continued. "But I am qualifying that declaration today. I cannot remember distinctly whether I sent him a letter to that effect or ndot."

Magistrate to Await Word.

The magistrate explained that while he was confined to his home through his recent severe illness, he was approached by the late crown attorney, J. B. McKillop, respecting the question of the county police court, and at that time he tendered Squire W. H. Chittick what is termed a "blanket" authority for all cases that may come within his jurisdiction, such as breaches of the motor vehicle act.

"I gave this authority to the squire," continued the magistrate, "in order to facilitate the court procedure. I hold no particular brief for Squire Chittick. If the government expresses a desire that he should be removed and another placed in his position, I would not oppose the move."

Magistrate Graydon declared, however, that he would do nothing in the meanwhile, and would not rescind his order until a move would be made at Toronto.

"I could assume the duties myself," he said, "but I do not want to. I have sufficient to do as it is now. In any event I would be subject no doubt to the same criticism as Squire Chittick, and if I deemed it expedient to find any person guilty of speeding I would no doubt be abused and told that I was reaping a nice fat fee.

"You really can't blame the squire. The entire system is wrong there in my opinion. The fee system should be abolished and competent officials placed at fair salaries."

Chittick Defines Attitude.

The mill of justice did not grind at the county court Thursday morning. There were no wayfarers from outside the bounds of the law to be tried, and Squire Chittick, whose legal right to sit on the county court bench is now being called into question by Hugh Stevenson, M.P.P., found time to talk of the matter for a few minutes.

"Has Stevenson done anything further in the matter?" the squire was asked, with reference to Stevenson's appearance and argument in yesterday's court.

"He hasn't done anything. What can he do? 'Pon my word, I don't know what he meant yesterday, and I don't know what he means now. What I should have done was have the constables put him out of the court," declared the squire, intimating that the provincial member's action yesterday almost amounted to contempt of court.

That matters concerning the long expected investigation into the administration of justice in the county courts are now coming to a head, is indicated by the fact that a special session of the Middlesex county council has been called for Tuesday next.

The council proposes to discuss the erection of a city registrar's office on the county court-house grounds, the road problem, and "such other matters as may come before it." One of these other matters will be the looked-for investigation into county court justice, and the payment of county constable's fees.

Constables To Act.

Accounts of the county constable's for certain fees, which they claimed have not been honored by the audit committee of the county, Judge Macbeth turning back the bills of the constables.

The constables are determined to bring the matter before the council and make it decided whether or not they are entitled to the money they ask or not.

At ten o'clock in the morning the board of road directors of the council will meet. At two o'clock in the afternoon the whole council will meet.

ADJOURN CASE AGAINST DOCTOR AT BRANTFORD

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 9.—Dr. D. S. Sager, charged with breaking the building bylaw of the city, appeared before Magistrate Blake this morning, and the case was adjourned for a week.

Dr. Sager was charged with making repairs to a building on Queen street contrary to the bylaw, and after a permit for the repairs had been refused by the building inspector.

In adjourning the case, Magistrate Blake asked the counsel to get together to see if some arrangement could not be made between the doctor and the city.

TRAVEL IN FRANCE BY PLANE CHEAPLY

Tourists in Europe Find Both Motor and Air Routes Convenient.

Passage by airplane lines or motor is rapidly taking the place of the journey by railway in Europe.

Regular airplane lines are in operation in France, now connecting Paris, London, Brussels, Amsterdam, Toulouse, Barcelona, Casablanca, Bordeaux, Prague, Warsaw and other important centers. Rates are reasonable, and are found in many cases to be cheaper than rail tickets.

Many regular services of comfortable motor cars have been organized, and in most cases by railway companies themselves, in practically every region in France.

Seven-passenger cars of the latest models can be hired without difficulty in every important center, and it is estimated that five persons traveling together can make a trip of 1,000 miles in fifteen days for 5,000 francs (about $475 at the present rate of exchange), which includes the hiring of the car, the chauffeur's expenses and the gasoline.

GREAT BARGAINS ON DOLLAR DAY

way and make our plans for a week earlier."

And it took a real, born-in-Canada Canadian to give away a trade secret. "We knew the Irish were such good spenders," he said, "we were afraid if we waited till after the Irishmen's picnic, there wouldn't be any money left for us.

Liberal Supply of Money.

One of the striking characteristics about the Dollar Day crowds this year, according to merchants, one and all, was the willingness to spend money, and the liberal supply brought along for emergency.

"Usually," said the owner of a ladies' ready-to-wear establishment, "we do not get so much of the trade, because the women, who do the large share of the shopping, are looking for the small articles, one dollar and less. Today we have been selling a large amount of heavy winter goods, nice suits up to $37 and $40 in price, and there is no objection to paying for them."

As he spoke, a woman turned and twisted, moving triangular mirrors now this way, now that, in order to get a view of herself from every angle. "I like this suit," she said (forty dollars was the price quoted) "and I'd like to buy it on the spot, but I've got to see what he says. Personally, I like navy blue, but he always insists on me wearing black; thinks it so much more stylish than anything else."

The obliging head of the department, after a conference with the head of the firm, agreed to hold the suit till 1 o'clock, even if it was Dollar Day, until dutiful wife had time to go home and talk the matter over with "him."

Young bride took no such risks. She brought "him" right along to help select curtains and other household needs at wonderful Dollar Day bargains. Both looked equally bashful, though he tried to act natural and make his voice sound nonchalant when the saleslady advised having the filmy curtains chosen washed at home. He assured her he was a great hand at helping with that sort of thing.

In the big "haberdashery" shops men were buying everything, from winter overcoats and suits to collar buttons. A woman debated whether it would be safe to buy "John" shirts, she said he needed them; shirts at a dollar a piece, lo, wonderful bargains!

"What size does he wear?" asked the clerk.

Learn About Measuring.

"I never thought of finding that out," said the woman, who had selected three by the pattern to take away.

"Do you think it would be safe to take them?" said the man, who thus advertised himself "his brother's keeper."

Following the crowds in their journeyings suggested that women have something still to learn about measuring by the eye.

The comedian, who sang the song, "The funniest thing I ever saw," has missed the women weighing two hundred and twenty-five pounds at conservative estimate, who tried to get into a size 18 bungalow apron. She dashed into an exclusive shop featuring as a special bargain bungalow aprons at $1 each.

The Lady of the Avoirdupois charged on the rack of bungalow aprons, seized one apparently built for the ideal she cherished for herself, poked her head through the opening on top and her arms after. Then began the great struggle, in which she writhed and gasped, trying to get herself out again the way she went in. Three clerks were finally required to assist before she could be released and the sadly-crumpled apron restored to its place.

A plump, plump girl admired a boy's sweater in fetching shade as it was held up to view by the sylph-like young salesman. "Do you think I could wear it?" she asked.

"It would fit me exactly. I'm sure you could," said the gallant youth, measuring by his own shoulders, not half the width of hers.

A number evidently sallied forth in the morning, seized with the idea that anything in town could be bought up for a dollar, seeing it was Dollar Day. A woman catapulted into a fur shop, breathlessly announcing the coney skin coat in the window was hers, because she got there first. She was speechless with amazement when told that coat was $58.

"But," she said, "this is Dollar Day."

Retreated From Hat Shop.

A whole army of disappointed girls retreated from a hat shop, where advantage has been taken of Dollar Day to do decorating (and advertising) of exquisite new velvet models in black and white. Girlie after girlie picked out her bonnet from the ravishing array, only to hear the bitter news it was impossible to offer the pattern hats at a dollar each.

In one store, crowded all day long, the gentle, young woman clerk had thrust upon her early in the forenoon the ungrateful task of referee in a fight.

The participants were ladies, nobody could doubt, but, there was an epoch-making bargain in towels, and the towels in the bargain lot were just about run out. Lady number one, who managed to speak first ordered the whole batch. Lady number two said firmly: "I want some of those towels."

"I have them," said Lady Two, clutching her treasures in a manner reminiscent of "You can't play in my yard" days. Lady Number One managed to get her hands on the towels, whereat Lady One jerked them away. Lady Two, turned accusingly to the clerk. "It's not fair," she said. "I was standing here all the time and you waited on her first. I WANT HALF OF THOSE TOWELS."

Having was keeping, however, and Lady Number One walked triumphantly away with her big bundle, while Lady Number Two said things about the manners and morals of some people.

Dollar Day may have added to the revenue of the merchants, but, apparently from the bundles carried home, it did not increase delivery charges.

Carrying Iron Rule.

The first hint of Dollar Day in a quiet suburb was mother and daughter carrying between them a huge, new, shiny galvanized iron tub loaded to the brim with minor bundles. A chic young woman who looked like the millionaire dollar heiress of the movies marched blithely down Dundas street holding jauntily in one hand a new broom and an overflowing shopping bag in the other. Suit cases, club bags, market baskets, clothes baskets, every possible kind of container was pressed into service to carry home the loot.

Members of the Dollar Day committee who are smiling broadly with the other wise-in-their-day-and-generation members of the association are President Rowland Hill, junior, Secretary T. F. Kingsmill, junior, and Messrs. W. J. Ashplant, J. Hickey, W. Percy Young, C. Rait, H. H. Penny, Wilfrid Mara, Lloyd Chapman and Hugh Murray.

FLAMES DESTROY SOUTH KENT BARN

Farm Crops and Buildings of Robert Wilson Burned With $15,000 Loss.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, Aug. 9.—Fire of an unknown origin completed destroyed the barn, stables and adjacent buildings on the farm of Robert Wilson, concession 3, Harwich township, this morning.

Heavy crops, which had just been harvested, were consumed by the flames. All the farm machinery was totally destroyed, but the livestock, with the exception of two pigs, was saved.

The main barn, 36 by 72 feet, was erected on a cement foundation. The fire started in a straw stack nearby and reaching the barn created a big fire that could not be subdued. In a short time other buildings caught fire, the flames leaped to a great height and the dense smoke could be seen for miles around the countryside.

The fire was noticed shortly after nine o'clock this morning and up to a late hour this afternoon the buildings were still burning. It is one of the most disastrous fires for some time in South Kent and the loss will probably exceed $15,000. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Annual Meeting Will Be Combined With Show At St. Thomas.

The first annual exhibition of the Ontario Gladiolus Society will be held at St. Thomas, in Alma College, on August 23 and 24. The annual meeting of the society will be held there on the same date, and an enthusiastic and interesting meeting is assured.

An active committee, headed by Dr. Frank E. Bennett, president, and Perry S. Dobson, secretary-treasurer, is eagerly planning many features to entertain and interest all who attend.

A sight-seeing trip will be held on Thursday morning and a banquet in the evening at Port Stanley.

The ladies' auxiliary will look after all the women guests and assure them a splendid time.

A fine list of prizes for the show has been arranged, many of the foremost hybridists and growers of gladioli in Canada and the United States freely and generously contributing attractive premiums.

Classes have been arranged for the grower, the dealer, the amateur and the Horticultural Societies.

The wonderful growing season this year assures keen competition and a superior quality of exhibits.

All growers of gladioli, whether members of the Ontario Society or not, are cordially asked to make a display of their favorites, and they will be heartily welcomed to the convention.

EXPECTS T. N. & O. TO SHOW SURPLUS

Col. L. T. Marlin Reports Greatly Improved Conditions in Northern Ontario.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—The T. and N. O. will show a surplus at the end of the year in spite of the unsettled conditions, due to the railroad and coal strike in the United States, according to Col. L. T. Marlin, one of the commissioners of the line, who returned to Ottawa yesterday from an inspection in Northern Ontario. Col. Marlin bases this opinion on the encouraging volume of traffic that has been handled for several months past and the prospects for business.

George Lee of North Bay, chairman of the commission, and Commissioner John I. McLaren of Hamilton, were also on the trip. Col. Marlin says there are fine prospects for a bumper crop in the country north of North Bay, which is rapidly becoming a successful agricultural country. The general aspect of prosperity in Northern New Ontario is brighter now than it has been for some time.

Work on the extension of the main line of the T. and N. O. is proceeding as quickly as possible. In the last two or three weeks, the contractors have made good progress. The track is now laid to the first crossing of the Abitibi River, 13 miles from Cochrane, and part of this track has been ballasted sufficiently well to enable bridge and other heavy material to be moved over the new line. It is expected that the second crossing of the Abitibi will be reached before the snow flies next winter.

UNFILLED TONNAGE INCREASES.

New York, Aug. 10.—The monthly tonnage report of the U. S. Steel Corporation, made public today, shows 5,566,161 tons of unfilled orders on hand July 31. This is an increase of 141,680 tons over June's unfilled orders, which totalled 5,635,531.

RAIL COMPANIES OPPOSE CABINET

Feel That Government's Expression of Opinion On Dispute Improper.

Object to Action "Not in Accordance With Law."

Montreal, Aug. 10.—The executives of the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Grand Trunk Railways today issued a statement on the issue between the companies and the men over the industrial disputes' act. It is in answer to the minister of railways' communication on the subject.

The statement says: "The railways, upon the advice of their own counsel, are not in accordance with the opinion of the department of justice. The contention raised has been before the supreme court of Nova Scotia in District No. 26, United Mine Workers of America against the Dominion Coal Company and others, where the court in a carefully considered judgment unanimously decided that a similar proposed reduction is not a change of conditions within the prohibitions of section 57 of the act. It is thought that this authoritative decision may not have received full consideration in the preparation of the department's opinion.

"It is to be pointed out also that it is one of the functions of boards of conciliation to recommend the date when rates recommended by them shall come into force. The fairness of the companies' action in tentatively applying a revised scale of wages is a question before the conciliation board now in session, and we feel that an expression of opinion from the government upon the question, obviously based on a misconstruction of the law, is improper, and is bound to have an embarrassing effect on the proceedings before the tribunal properly constituted pursuant to the statute.

Payrolls Made Up.

"The payrolls for the last half of July have already been made up, and it is impossible to alter them for payment upon the approaching pay day. On the other hand, if, as a result of the proceedings of the board, additional payments are agreed upon for the period referred to, they may be added to subsequent payrolls.

"We would refer also to the facts which led to the present situation. On June 14, pursuant to their agreement with their employees, the railways gave notice of their desire to revise wages, and specified the reductions proposed to be effective a month afterward. In the negotiations which followed it developed that, owing to conditions affecting the same classes of labor in the United States, the employees were unable to concur in any downward revision, and that it would be impossible to conclude any agreement until the situation in the United States should have cleared.

"The railways then proposed that the reduction should be applied conditionally from July 16, with the understanding that the rates finally agreed upon should be made retroactive to that date. This proposal, it will be observed, effectually protected the interests of the employees as well as of the railways, and is the method which has obtained between the railways and the classes of employees involved in negotiations during the issue then resulting has been referred to a board of conciliation.

Willing to Return.

"The situation on United States railways has materially changed since the date of the negotiations to which we have referred, it not having been definitely announced by the employees there, who have been on strike for the last six weeks (forming a large majority of the members of the same organizations whose members employed on Canadian roads have applied for a board of conciliation), that they are willing to return to work at the same reduced rates, effective July 1, as were proposed by the Canadian railways, effective July 16.

"In these circumstances we submit that, in fairness to all parties the railways could not adopt a course of action which they believe is not in accordance with law if required by the merits of the case.

"(Signed) HOWARD G. KELLEY, president Grand Trunk Railway System; D. B. HANNA, president Canadian National Railways; E. BEATTY, president Canadian Pacific Railway."

REQUEST KITCHENER TO RETAIN ELECTRIC PLANT

Trustees of Bridgeport Fear System Will Be Taken Over By Hydro.

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, Aug. 9.—The trustees of the village of Bridgeport, a suburb of this city, are actively interested in the question of electric lighting.

The village is at present served by a plant owned by the Kitchener Light Commission.

They are fearful that the plant may be taken over by the hydro commission in connection with the extension of service to Bloomingdale rural district.

The trustees are prevailing upon the Kitchener commission to retain ownership of the plant, if possible, as they fear higher rates will result from the taking over of the plant by the hydro commission.

PLANS TO TEST LEGALITY OF LORD'S DAY ACT

POLICE EJECT COURT SMOKER

Fred Hopkins Disturbs Decorum by Persistent Lighting of Pipe.

Fined $2 On Charge of Window Peeping On Richmond Street.

Once in a while it may be quite possible to strike matches and smoke in the city police court while a session is in progress and "get away with it."

Not always though. Fred Hopkins tried it Thursday morning and drew upon himself the combined wrath of Police Magistrate Graydon, Chief of Police Birrell, Acting Sergeant Tomlin and Constable Gavin Monahan.

Donates Two Dollars.

About a half hour previous Hopkins had donated a two dollar bill to the city exchecquer and had strolled out, entirely unabashed, hat on head and stoutly maintaining his innocence. Returning at infrequent intervals to the halls of justice he evinced a keen interest in the proceedings. He became so absorbed evidently that he decided to stay a while longer and smoke up.

"Bring that man here," finally thundered Magistrate Graydon obviously exasperated, "what does he mean by striking matches on the wall while a court is in session."

"Yes, bring him in," boomed Chief Birrell equally aroused, "and chuck that pipe downstairs."

"What do you think this place is, a bar-room?" questioned the magistrate sharply. "I think that you are a very impertinent fellow. I've a mind to inflict further punishment. Now clear out of here, at once."

"And stay out," was the significant warning from Chief Birrell.

Hopkins, despite the evidence of P. C. Fraleigh, had earlier in the morning denied that he was peeking in a window back of 254 Richmond street. He maintained that his wife was residing there, and he was on the point of visiting her. As a matter of fact, as he explained to the bench, he made it a practice to see her every day, bearing with him presents, sometimes ice cream, upon other occasions, buttermilk.

Not at Window.

"Did you have the buttermilk with you at the window?" queried Chief Birrell. "I was not at the window, sir," retorted the accused.

While the latter contended stoutly that the woman in the house was his wife, Chief Birrell held a contrary view. "This woman was here yesterday and complained that he has been following her about the streets. She says she is not his wife, and that he has had two already."

"Nonsense. I can prove she is," exclaimed Hopkins, while the magistrate cut short the argument: "$2 and costs; next time it will be $10."

WESTMINSTER CHURCH PICNICS AT SPRINGBANK

A successful picnic was held at Springbank Wednesday afternoon, when the Guild of C. E. of the First Church, Westminster, turned out in full force and holiday mood to enjoy the beauties of London's riverside park.

Ideal weather prevailed and all entered into the sports enthusiastically. The results of the races were as follows:

Open race, girls—M. Elliot.

Boyd Is Marked Absent When Court Roll Is Called

"BRUCE BOYD, Bruce Boyd." Down through the various halls, and even out on the sidewalk in front of the Carling street police station, they were looking for him Thursday morning and shouting his name in loud, stentorian voices. He was nowhere to be found.

"Well, he should be here," declared Police Magistrate Graydon.

Chief of Police Birrell concurred. "We had him picked up yesterday, and I bailed him out until this morning. We'll have to get him again."

The case was adjourned again until Friday morning. Boyd is charged with fighting and general disorderliness on South Clarence streets a few nights ago. His companion was fined Wednesday.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?—Matthew 7:16.

PAPER and leather and ink—
All are but trash
If I find not the thought which the writer can think.
—Dr. Walter Smith.

THE MEMBERS OF the Canadian Passenger Association left by special train at 11:45 for Port Stanley, where they are holding a meeting. Rates and schedules are among the chief subjects of consideration.

BANK CLEARINGS for the past week, when compared to the same week in 1921, show a decided decrease. The amounts were the following: for the past week, $2,132,014 and for the same week in 1921, $2,-821,295.

ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN completed for the annual picnic of the employees of the public utilities commission at Port Stanley Saturday next. A special train will leave at 1:20 p.m. A lengthy and attractive list of sports will be provided. Luncheon will be served at the L. and P. S. tea-house on Invererie Heights at 6 p.m.

D. Duncanson, Audrey Carter, Nelson Andrews, Allan Penn, Harold Chapman, Cecil Hyatt, Norman Varey, Leonard Collard.

COAL WILL BE the chief topic for discussion at the Kiwanis luncheon, which takes place at the Tecumseh House Friday noon. Men in the coal business have been asked to speak on a subject which is expected to hold the keenest interest of all present. Vincent Colgan of the British-American Oil Company, Limited, will be the booster. The cup which the London Club won from Kingston at the baseball game in Toronto will be on exhibition at Friday's meeting. An important announcement in connection with the work of the Kiwanians is the fact that the date of the district convention at Windsor has been changed from September 14 and 15 to September 21 and 22.

REFUSING TO COMMENT on the intimation made to the city council by Charles Currie, president of the London Street Railway Company, that his firm would test out the legality of motor buses operating on city streets, Manager C. B. King of the above corporation informed The Advertiser Thursday morning that this question "is up to the lawyers." President Currie contends that the London Street Railway Company holds sole rights to carry passengers on city streets, and has intimated that the company will go to the courts for a decision on the matter.

Manager C. B. King, of the London Street Railway Comnany, announced Thursday noon that he has ordered his men to repair holes in the track allowance on Stanley street. This section is the famous Stanley street car tracks, over paving of which much controversy was evident in the city council last summer.

The company refused to pave their tracks because of lack of funds, but substituted crushed stone, tarvia and oil as a more economical measure. Now, after twelve months service, a few holes have been worn in the track allowance, and Mr. King announced that they will be repaired as speedily as possible.

CLOSES 2 BLOCKS ON DUNDAS STREET

City Engineer Stops Traffic While Thoroughfare Is Paved.

Traffic for two blocks on Dundas street east has been halted by City Engineer H. A. Brazier, who has announced that on Thursday afternoon paving operation on this thoroughfare will necessitate motorists making a detour via Ashland avenue, King street and Highbury avenue.

Beginning Monday, Mr. Brazier states that the entire stretch of road between Ashland avenue and the city limits will be closed to traffic, and that motorists will have to detour via Oxford street or south to the Gore, which is seven-eighths of a mile either way.

The engineer has ordered the London Street Railway Company to tear up its tracks on Dundas street east Friday afternoon, and expects to start laying a concrete bed for the pavement Monday. Eighteen men laid off because the paving program was halted are back on the job, and the remaining gang of eighteen laid off recently will be given work starting Monday morning.

Manager C. B. King of the London Street Railway Company informed The Advertiser Thursday that an order for new rails has been telegraphed to Sault Ste. Marie, and he expects them to arrive in London within ten days. They are of the T-rail type, 75 pounds to the foot, and during the time paving is being done on Dundas street the street cars will Y at Ashland avenue, with no service to the Ontario Hospital or Pottersburg provided.

"We started to pave Dundas street east Wednesday afternoon," reported City Engineer Brazier, "and it will be completed by fair week if the London Street Railway co-operates with us in every way and gets rails here. I have ordered the company to tear up its tracks Friday afternoon, but they want to wait. They will have to Y the street cars at Eleanor street.

"We are starting to detour traffic for two blocks via Ashland avenue, King street and Highbury avenue Thursday afternoon," continued Mr. Brazier. "The whole street will be closed to traffic next week, and we will rush the job from both ends. The cost of this paving will be reasonable, and when it is completed we will start to pave Hamilton road, from Egerton to St. Julien streets."

POLICE CLOSE GAMBLING GAME AT SPRINGBANK

Swooping down on the city park at Springbank Wednesday night, provincial police ordered the immediate discontinuance of two games that have been in operation all summer.

This act folllows after a thorough investigation of the situation in this respect, which has been conducted since the arrival of T. Y. Stratton, the new provincial officer in Middlesex county.

The games in question are described as being the horse race and the billiard game. It is understood that the district authorities were acting under special orders from the Toronto office, as these games, since the first of the season, have apparently not been disturbed.

No arrests were made, it is reported.

Ridicules Suggestion That Street Railway Has Exclusive Franchise

Ridiculing the suggestion that the London street railway enjoys an exclusive franchise in London, Ald. Henry B. Ashplant declared Thursday that as a member of the city council he stood ready and determined to oppose, tooth and nail, any further move to obstruct the passage of any further legislation that would tend to halt or deter the operation of motor busses in this city.

"While President Charles Currie speaks of an exclusive franchise," Ald. Ashplant commented, "he is wrong. His company has no such privilege now. The agreement has already been broken by the company itself. The recent elevation of fares was improper and unconstitutional."

Touching briefly upon the statement from Ald. John Ashton that "this was a fight against 300 men," Ald Ashplant declared, "Ald. Ashton should have remembered that 50,000 persons were involved when the question of a 5-cent fare was up for consideration."

Y. M. C. A. PLANS BOXING CLASSES

Geo. Sinclair, Senior Director, Wants Sport To Gain Foothold.

If the present plans of the physical department of the London Y. M. C. A. mature, boxing and wrestling will play a prominent part in the fall and winter program of the city association. In the past these two sports have had a checkered career in this district, mainly, it is said, because no organization or club has taken enough interest in the sports to sponsor them for more than one year.

George R. Sinclair, senior physical director of the London "Y," who came to this city from the general secretaryship in Moncton, N. B., is an ardent boxing fan, and states that one of his chief desires is to see amateur boxing and wrestling take a firm foothold in this city.

Tommy Wallace, the well-known boxing instructor in London, who in his prime has held championships in the British army, has conducted classes for the past few years, but has been handicapped in his work through the lack of adequate training quarters.

His endeavors, however, have borne fruit, as will readily be seen when Bobby Wallace, a 90-pounder challenges any person in his weight in the Dominion. Last fall Mr. Sinclair took some amateurs down to St. Thomas, where they eliminated their opponents without difficulty.

Gordon Butler, who a few days ago received the appointment of assistant physical director of the "Y," is a clever wrestler, and was a runner-up for a place on the Canadian Olympic team. It was said that Mr. Butler will probably handle the wrestling classes, while a boxing instructor will be procured to teach the sister sport.

U. S. BISHOP SCORES IRISH CIVIL WAR

Rt. Rev. W. Turner of Buffalo Delivers Outspoken Address in Limerick.

Dublin, Aug. 10.—Rt. Rev. Wm. R. Turner, bishop of Buffalo, delivered an outspoken address in Limerick last night, in which he scored the internecine warfare in Ireland, and told of conditions in Kilmallock during its siege.

"In Kilmallock," he said, "I learned a good deal by personal observation regarding the destruction of property, and especially the looting of workers' houses and the residences of the nuns, who are devoting themselves to the sick, weak and dependent. Neither the sacred character of the nuns nor their work for suffering humanity was considered by the crowds from the back lanes of Kilmallock, nor were they protected by the so-called Irish Republicans during the two entire weeks that they continued to load their carts with what after all was the property of the people."

The bishop urged that Ireland should be placed above every other consideration, and that no leader should be followed or countenanced who did not place Ireland before "his own selfish, sentimental or passionate interests."

TOLMIE REFUSES TO HEAD CONSERVATIVES IN B. C.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 10.—Addressing a meeting of his supporters here last night, Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., formerly federal minister of agriculture, definitely declined to accept nomination as leader of the Conservative party in this province.

Dr. Tolmie had been frequently mentioned as a possible successor to W. J. Bowser, K.C., as leader of the Conservative party or a new third party in British Columbia politics.

WASN'T DRUNK, WAS COLLECTING WOOD

Court Disbelieves Eloquent Appeal of Old Offender of O. T. A.

It is seldom if ever that such an eloquent appeal for clemency is delivered from the prisoner docket as that emanating from that section of the city police court Thursday morning.

The accused, dubbed by Chief Birrell, as an old offender under the provisions of the O. T. A., challenged with unmistakable fervor and at great length, the evidence as submitted by two constables that he was almost hopelessly intoxicated on the banks of the Thames Wednesday night.

"I'll make a bargain with you," the defendant suggested from his place to Magistrate Graydon. "Let me go this time, and if you see me here within a year, you can give me a year in jail."

"I wouldn't have power to do that in any event," replied the magistrate dispelling all hopes for acquittal or even suspended sentence. "The chief tells me that you have been up here quite regular, and you always say you were not drinking."

The prisoner explained that he was not staggering as Constable Monahan testified, but was pulling wood out of the weeds down on Harris' flats. The police stated that there were two others with him.

"Where are these men?" questioned the man in the box. "The police couldn't get them, so they just took me along. What is my word against theirs?"

"Ten dollars and costs," ordered the bench, in an effort to halt the discussion.

"That's ten days sure," rejoined the defendant as he passed out.

SUPERVISORS PLANNING CITY PLAYGROUNDS PICNIC

Final plans are being completed by G. Mel Brock, playgrounds supervisor of London, for the annual playgrounds picnic in which city children will compete at Thames Park on Saturday, Aug. 26. The outing is described by those in charge as "a three-ring circus," the events on the program including racing, jumping, swimming and other sports.

The children attending various city playgrounds will take part in the grand march past, each playground being represented by one group of coming citizens. A grand march will also be staged.

Prizes for the winners in the sports will include medals and a silver cup donated by the public utilities commission. Several organizations and individuals of the city have provided prizes for the champion kiddies, and by this means have added greatly to the prospects of success for this annual picnic.

DECLARES BALFOUR NOTE TIES GOVERNMENT HANDS

London, Aug. 10.—Canadian Press Cable.—Speaking at Oxford last night Viscount Grey said the note issued by the Earl of Balfour on the subject of war debts had intensified the feeling of despair and tied the hands of the government themselves in present conference, and had made a solution of the European difficulties more difficult and more remote than before.

The speaker said he longed to see a downright Conservative party formed as a healthy element in party politics.

The labor party, too, he said, was often liable to be stampeded by extreme men whose views, if carried to their logical conclusion, would produce great mischief.

Large Attendancce Proves Popularity of Playgroun d System in London

A total of 12,268 children of London patronized city playgrounds last week, according to the report issued Thursday by G. Mel Brock, chief supervisor. Of this number 5,119 were girls, and 7,149 were boys. Parents, to the number of 1,278, visited city playgrounds to see for themselves the kiddies' fun, and 28,201 children played games.

The latter figure is explained by the fact that many children indulge in more than one game per day, and as such are counted separately by the supervisors. Wading and swimming at the recreation centers appealed to 8,128 children last week.

At Thames Park, which seems to be the mecca of the children, 2,097 girls and 3,055 boys made merry during the week, while Birkett's playground attracted 1,125 boys and 913 girls, in addition to 3,000 bathers. Simcoe street playground, initiated this year, drew 747 boys and 481 grils, and Queen's Park was next on the list with a total attendance of 541 boys and 470 girls. At Lord Roberts playgrounds 520 boys took part in the fun and 352 girls also enjoyed the playground.

Riverview playground was visited by 325 boys and 265 girls, Tecumseh by 390 boys and 281 girls, and Dexter's bathing pool by approximately 1,600 young people.

POKER PARTY ENDS IN FREE-FOR-ALL

Court Fines Quebec Street Combatants $10 and Costs.

It has not been definitely established as yet whether it was somebody who spoke out of his turn or whether one of the visitors at a Quebec street residence Sunday evening last was playing with an odd ace up his sleeve, contrary to rules of the game as set down by Hoyle & Co.

There is no question, however, that there was a dispute of some nature arising from what was primarily intended as a quiet little poker game Acting Police Sergeant Tomlin, who responded to the hurried calls for assistance, relates that by the time he reached the scene with his squad of constables the table had been pushed back and the players, eight or ten in number, had turned for diversion to the manly art of pugilism.

The contestants, onlookers and all who, in the opinion of the raiding constables were more or less implicated, appeared at the Carling street station Thursday morning and paid their $10 and costs.

As Police Clerk John Moule collected the city's share of the gate receipts, one of the party hurried away to gather in, he explained, what the house was entitled to. Windows were smashed, it is recorded, and the furniture suffered to no small degree, all of which must be paid for, he declared emphatically.

POLICE FIND MIDDLESEX COUNTY LAW-ABIDING

Everybody in Middlesex County is so law-abiding that the criminal code is, with respect to the county, almost a useless collection of statutes.

County Constable William Fifield finds things so slow in his line that he has taken a week's fishing trip. Most of the other constables are also on vacations of indefinite length.

The county court did not hold a sitting Thursday morning, and all in all, the law seems to be working automatically.

KEELS FISHERMEN CATCH 30 WHALES

St. Johns, Nfld., Aug. 10. — The fishermen of Keels, Bonavista Bay, secured thirty sperm whales out of a school which appeared off that place on Saturday and were still plying their harpoons vigorously and successfully.

If the fishermen can dispose of the whales they will make big profits, but they are faced with a problem in finding a market as all of Newfoundland's whale factories have ceased operation.

CABINET FAVORS POINCARE'S STAND

Paris, Aug. 10.—The French cabinet, at a special meeting held this morning, presided over by President Millerand, is understood to have approved entirely the attitude taken by Premier Poincare at the London conference on the reparations problem.

The meeting had been called hurriedly to consider M. Poincare's report on the developments of the London deliberations. President Millerand came specially from Rambouillet to preside.

After the meeting a telegram was sent to Premier Poincare informing him the cabinet had unanimously approved the stand he had taken.

MINERS VOTE TO SEEK AGREEMENT

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—The policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America today voted to proceed with the negotiation of a wage scale agreement with the operators of Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and Illinois, who are here for the joint conference which was called with a view of breaking the soft coal strike.

OTTAWA FORBIDS NOVA SCOTIA LAW

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 10.—The legislation passed by the Nova Scotia legislature at its last session to change the rule of the road in this province from left to right, has been disallowed by the federal government. The legislation was disallowed on the request of the local government, who announce that the request was made because of certain misunderstandings concerning the date when the legislation should become effective.

HAMTRAMCK MAN STABBED 25 TIMES

Special to London Advertiser.

DETROIT, Aug. 9.—Max Wisnerowski, almost carved to pieces, having suffered no less than 25 stiletto wounds, is in a Hamtramck hospital dying, and Gus Moger, his companion, with but five wounds, is not so serious, as a result of an attack made on them by four men.

They tell the police that they were lured to a dark street by two women, who held them in conversation. A car drove up, four men leaped out, and the carving began. The police believe the intent was homicidal, so badly were the men attacked. It is believed that a feud is at the bottom of it all. The stabbing victims do not know their assailants or the names of the women.

COMMENDS PUMPS FOR FIRE TRUCKS

E. V. Buchanan Declares It Unnecessary to Raise Entire Water Pressure.

As a result of observations made during his tour of the British Isles this summer, E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, declares that he is heartily in favor of the proposal of Fire Chief John Aitken, that in future the water pressure necessary for fighting fires in London be maintained by auxiliary pumps attached to the motor trucks of the department.

Manager Buchanan declares that this system is universally in use in the larger cities of the United Kingdom, and while the initial cost is heavy, the result is more economical.

"The fire departments over there do not depend upon increased water pressure in the mains in fighting a fire," said Mr. Buchanan. "They utilize pumps on the fire apparatus instead. In Hamilton, Scotland, a city of 35,000 population, and smaller than London, they have a gravity water pressure of 150 pounds.

"They throttle is down to 50 pounds for domestic use, and never use it at fires, because, the chief informed me, that they would not take a chance on bursting the mains at a time when they need the pressure.

"There is no sense in raising the pressure in 150 miles of pipes which we have here, in case of fire, to get the pressure in one place," continued Mr. Buchanan. "All taps in the city will run faster when this pressure is raised, and the waste of water is enormous. In fact, we raised the pressure recently for a fire underwriters' test and burst a main, and the pressure immediately dropped. That actually happened.

"What Fire Chief Aitken wants, and he is right in asking it, is a pump to be attached to his motor truck to raise the pressure at fires," concluded Mr. Buchanan.

PURCHASER OF NAIL FILE FINED

Drug Clerk May Take Case to Higher Court.

Officer Claims Defendant Charged London's Police With Being "Smart."

Is the Lord's Day act obsolete and non-effective as it applies at this moment to the Province of Ontario, and more particularly, in this instance, to the city of London?

The indications are that this question, arising, as it does, in the city police court Thursday morning, will be threshed out in the near future in a high court of the province.

With a wealth of experience at his command, Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon is firm in his contention that the act is just as much a law to be upheld today as the moment that it was included in the statutes.

So with this belief uppermost in his mind, Thursday morning he declined absolutely to see "eye to eye" with Howard Cluff, attorney for Edward Adams, local drug clerk, charged with the sale on Sunday night last of a nail file, contrary to the provisions of the act in question.

Fined Five Dollars.

Adams was assessed $5 and costs. The charge was preferred by Acting Sergeant Tomlin.

While Police Magistrate Graydon declined to view with any appreciation the several objections voiced by the defence, that the charge had been improperly laid, he pointed out that it was quite within the rights of the accused to appeal to a higher court if such a move was deemed advisable.

Attorney Cluff held that the alleged transaction lacked at least one of the four essentials that, by law, constitute a sale—that is, the proper transfer of property. This was not shown, he contended, pointing out that the accused, not being the proprietor, had disposed of an article without the permission of his employer. The file had since been returned to the original owner, he said, and the money, 25 cents, had been recovered.

The defense argued that the law relating to the sale of goods on Sunday, while perhaps not actually recovered, had been autmatically supplemented by subsequent legislation. The reasoning dated back to the time when this province was known as Upper Canada.

Confident on Point.

Despite a stirring appeal by Attorney Cluff, lasting fully 30 minutes, Police Magistrate Graydon declined to dismiss the charge.

"I am confident upon this point," he declared. "Since I first assumed the duties of magistrate in this city I have had occasion to delve rather deeply into this question of selling on Sunday, particularly at the time when the Chinese were involved.

"I certainly fail to accept your contention that there has not been a sale made. The article was taken and the money was exchanged. The fact that they have been again exchanged makes no difference. Nothing would have come of this had not the officer interfered."

In his testimony the officer explained that he had accosted a customer coming from the store, who admitted the purchase.

Chief Birrell evinced certain interest in court as to what conversation had subsequently ensued between the defendant and Officer Tomlin. The latter explained that he had been told that the "London police think they are pretty smart."

GRAY'S EMPLOYEES HOLD ANNUAL FETE

Staff Enjoys Pleasant Outing at Wilkey Farm Near Komoka.

The farm of Melvin Wilkey at Komoka was chosen as the site of the annual picnic of the firm of Gray's, Limtied, and their employees.

In addition to the usual program of games and races, a pleasing note of interest was lent the picnic by a presentation made to John Imrie, who is leaving the staff to engage in missionary work in West Africa. Expressing their sincere regret at his departure, the employees joined in extending their best wishes and godspeed to Mr. Imrie and his wife, who will accompany him.

Music and recitations were features of the evening program, the conclusion of which was a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Wilkey for their hospitality.

FARMER ASKS DAMAGES OF ELGIN HUMANE SOCIETY

The Elgin County Humane Society faces civil action for unlawful destruction of animals if all reports are correct.

It was announced by local authorities Thursday that J. Thompson, a resident of Pond Mills or district, has entered action against that institution to recover the value of a cow that was destroyed, he claims, by orders from the Elgin County officials.

He contends that there was absolutely no need for such drastic action, and furthermore, that the persons who are alleged to have dispatched the animals did not possess the customary certificate authorizing such action.

The Premier's Speech.

THERE WAS no reference in the address of PREMIER KING to the Liberals of Essex and Kent to a wholesale fusion of Liberals and Progressives that might take on the form of a modified coalition. The premier, while addressing the Liberals of that section of the country, was at the same time undoubtedly speaking to the larger company of Liberals all over the Dominion.

His attitude is what was to have been expected, and is quite consistent with his dealings with the house ever since he was named premier on the 6th of December last. He stated plainly what has been known for some time, and about which no secrecy was ever maintained, that discussions had taken place with leaders of the Progressive movement, with the idea of having some of them enter the cabinet. If the tenor of the premier's remarks means anything, they were to enter as members of the KING government, and not as representatives of the Progressive party. The premier felt that he had been returned with a majority—grant that it was a small one—and that majority gave him the right to go ahead and form a Liberal cabinet, and not a coalition, which in the end could have been nothing better than a temporary arrangement.

His intimation that it was his desire to so conduct the affairs of Parliament as to make third parties unnecessary is significant. His own words are as follows:

"Liberalism, if true to itself, will seek out the causes of discontent and endeavor to remove them, and by thus going to the root and the source of the trouble will seek to remove the divisions that exist between forces that ought to be united.

"It is in this spirit and with this larger aim in view that the present Liberal administration has deliberately sought out and as adequately deliberately sought to remove the causes of political unrest which have brought into being as an entity distinct from Liberals that large body of opinion that describes itself as Progressive, but which, if the words have any meaning at all, are alternative expressions for one and the same attitude."

TARIFF and trade are the two points around which most of the policies of the government hinge that will have a bearing on the attitude of Progressives toward a closer working understanding with Liberals. The Progressives favor wider markets, and if possible, access to the markets of United States, in order that they may dispose of their produce. The Liberals have the same aim—in fact, they went down to defeat in 1911 on this very issue, and the votes of the farmers in many ridings helped to put them down.

The tariff is the great issue on which a point of contact will have to be found. Needed revenue to pay the debts of the country is the one sure place from which to start any tariff arrangement. There will have to be some plain talk on this question before any settlement can be made that would satisfy Progressives. The Liberals have all shades of tariff opinion in their ranks. They have protectionists, tariff for revenue, and low tariff exponents, while the Progressives stand in many instances for the elimination wherever possible of tariff restrictions entirely.

It is well that the premier should make it known that neither he nor his colleagues have any intention of letting politics get into the National Railroads. He was also sensible enough to state that they were prepared to go to the States or to any other part of the world in order to get the man who is well enough trained and qualified to take charge of the great system of roads which this country now owns. The country is looking for action in the co-ordination of these various roads, and not until this is accomplished will there be opportunity to go ahead on a business basis. It was also plainly stated that there had been an end put to any inside dealing in regard to members of the directorate of the National lines having business dealings with these lines. This was openly charged against the late government, and it was never successfully contradicted that government business from the National lines went to friends of the government, many of the directors being largely interested in other industrial enterprises.

In his address PREMIER KING stated publicly what must be apparent to any fair observer, viz., that the Liberals came through a peculiarly trying and difficult period of organization in the house, and did so with credit to the party and benefit to the country.

At the time of the Johnstown flood it was necessary to use force to make the same class of people desist when they sought to strip rings and valuables from the bodies of victims washed up from the waters.

Going along the highway from Buffalo to Batavia a few months ago a roadster was noticed turned turtle in the ditch. It had happened only a few hours previously, but one of the constables on the road stated that the strippling had been done within half an hour after the accident, right after the badly-injured occupants of the car had been taken away by a passing auto.

Unfortunately, we always have something of the human hyena around seeing what can be stolen from the misfortune of some down and out.

World Money.

IN THE list of foreign exchange on the New York market, August 8, it is worth noting that Canadian money stood the highest in the list, and suffered the least discount. It was quoted on that date at 99.4. Some other countries were listed as follows:

London	91.4
Berlin	0.07
Paris	42.3
Genoa	23.7
Spain	80.3
Vienna	0.05
Holland	96.1
Greece	16.6

It is also a noteworthy thing that the nations from which Britain has to collect war debts are those of very low currency values in many cases. United States, on the other hand, has to collect from Britain, a nation with a currency headed for par.

The two cases are somewhat parallel to making collections with the aid of a bailiff, as against presenting a marked check on a chartered bank.

Consumers, Too!

WE ARE already assured that steps are being taken to deal with any coal dealers who try to make undue profits out of the coal shortage. In fact, that fine old phrase about dealing with the profiteer is again trundled out to do duty in the coal crisis.

There is another class to deal with, viz., the man who has a certain amount of coal in his cellar, and who is placing orders now to get as much more, in order that his bin may be heaped up to the roof.

There is just as much need of getting co-operation and sane reasonableness from the consumers of coal as there is in preparing an official noose to slip over the head of any offending coal dealers.

Every time we have had a coal shortage in Canada we have had the spectacle of people running for coal when they have enough to put them through for a reasonable length of time.

Let the consumers be lined up as well as the dealers.

CAPTAIN MACK

Wi' thee noo, ance mair, fond readers,
In braid Scotch I'd lo'e tae crack;
A guid subject for these verses
Wad, I think, be "Captain Mack."
Lots aboot my London namesake
Ye'll be verra glad tae hear,
Sae, I'll no' plead wi' thee vainly
For a maist attentive ear;
Wi' first knowledge, heaps aboot him
I, in braid Scotch, here can tell,
For I've aften wi' great pleasure,
Met wi' "Captain Mack" masel'.

Aft he gi'es me guid impressions
That I cannot weel forget;
I ha'e never seen him gloomy,
Nor sit doon ava' tae fret.
In his hert there seems nae sorrow
That he's wearie tae beguile,
Yet, I canna' say for certain
That I've ever seen him smile.
He is young, he's gay, he's gallant,
In his manners there's nae lack.
Sae I sort o' feel I'm better
When I've met wi' "Captain Mack."

He is nae a huge Goliath,
As tae stature he's but sma',
Yet we Scots wad ca' him bonnie,
Or we'd ca' him truly braw.
Modestly he wears his honors,
Ilkabody that can see,
Yet he's neat, he's trim, he's jaunty
As a' captains ought tae be.
Lang I've lo'ed tae see a captain
Wi' a mustache that's coal black
That's the color o' th' whiskers
O' oor genial "Captain Mack."

I ken weel, for I ha'e watched him,
There's devotion in his e'e,
Fondly lavished on a lassie
In an office near tae me;
Wi' her I ha'e seen him daily,
Tae her wishes he's alert;
His is nae yon fickled fancy,
Which we find in ilka flirt.
Gladly, too, this sonsie lassie
Gi'es him true attention back,
For she aften fondly cuddles
Her wee doggie, "Captain Mack."

A PRESBYTERIAN NEXT TIME.

Little Mary Lou, aged 6, had always been an ardent Methodist, but was one day persuaded by a small playmate to visit a Presbyterian Sunday school. She was enthralled by the new surroundings, and was especially infatuated with the charming young teacher who had so cordially invited her to come again.

"I'd like to," said Mary Lou, wistfully, "if I didn't have to go to my own Sunday school. But do you know, if I had my life to live over again, I just believe I'd be a Presbyterian."

CERTAINLY THEY HAD.

"Golf is a very old game, isn't it, papa?"

"Yes, my son."

"They played golf in the ark, didn't they, papa?"

"What are you talking about?"

"Why, they had lynx in the ark, didn't they, papa?"

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 292—UNCOVERING ENTHUSIASM

There is usually something about the way an enthusiastic person speaks which is also revealed in writing. It lies in the choice of words and expressions. The naturally enthusiastic person generally writes as informally as he or she speaks. And in this, of course, lies the most obvious method of telling from a person's letter whether he is of the enthusiastic kind or not. It would be better to say "she," for, as a matter of fact, enthusiasm is a characteristic more often found in women than in men.

Still, there are times when the enthusiastic ones restrain their expressions and become formal in their writing. How, then, would you be able to spot them?

A little bit of analysis does the trick. Enthusiasm is essentially impulsiveness. Therefore you wouldn't expect to find enthusiasm in a person whose handwriting (backhand) indicated the natural schemer, nor in that (vertical) indicating the element of decided practicality. Nor again would you expect to see it in a person whose small writing betrays the elements of introspection and studious concentration.

It is the opposite of these indications which shows the enthusiastic one. It is the forward slanting hand which reveals a tendency to impulsive action, and the large formation of letters which indicate a tendency toward self-expression. Then, too, enthusiastic people are for the most part optimistic and hopeful, so you would naturally expect to find the lines of their writing rising toward the right of the page. The drooping lines of the pessimists do not fit very well into the combination.

HEAVY RAINS REPEATED IN NORTH OF ENGLAND

Stratford Cottage Where Anne Hatheway Lived Completely Isolated by Flood.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Monday's deluge that covered most of the north of England, has been followed by more heavy rainfalls throughout Lancashire, Yorkshire, and the Midlands generally. Sheffield today had a second visitation from the storm, a thunderbolt falling in the center of the city.

At Selby in Yorkshire the river rose 12 feet within as many hours and farm land for 20 miles is under water. Similar conditions prevail in Warwickshire. At Stratford-on-Avon the cottage in which Anne Hatheway lived has been completely isolated, while many districts around Glasgow have been flooded.

So far no loss of life has been reported and it is not considered that the damage done to growing crops is irretrievable if the rains are followed by a good spell of sunshine.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

PLENTY OF EXERCISE

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

REMEMBER how weak you felt after you had been laid up with that broken leg or sprained ankle? You weren't able to get any exercise; your muscles became soft and flabby.

Moderate exercise is absolutely necessary to keep you in good condition, to throw off body poisons, to give vigor and an appetite.

It is not necessary to go in for cross-country running, or football, or any other strenuous sport. Morning exercise immediately after arising will keep you toned up and ready for a full day's work.

When the alarm clock rings, hop out of bed, stand in front of the open window and stretch the muscles thoroughly. A few simple exercises may be gone through. Anyone can stretch his arms and legs in various positions without detailed instructions. A few deep breaths and you are ready for whatever the day demands. If you are within walking distance of your work, by all means walk. Walking is the commonest and cheapest form of exercise, and within the reach of everyone.

The chief good of walking comes from the fact that it must be done in the open air. Because of this fact it might well be considered the ideal exercise.

When you are walking, however, do it so as to be of distinct benefit. Walk with a full stride and swing the arms.

FIELDING WILL FLOAT LOAN BY BOND RENEWAL

Government Announces Liberal Offer To Raise Money At Home.

CONTINUE INTEREST RATE

Appoint Banks To Convert Present Securities Into New Issue.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, gave out today the following statement concerning government loan operations:

"Our loan act, passed at the recent session, gives us authority to borrow $350,000,000.

"We do not require all this money immediately. A five-year loan of 5½ per cent bonds issued in 1917 now amounting to $178,000,000 will mature on the first of December, 1922. It is our intention to provide for retiring these bonds by a domestic loan to take the form of a conversion loan.

"Any portion of the bonds that may not be covered in the meantime by arrangements for conversion will be redeemed in cash on the first of December.

"It is believed, however, that a great many of the holders of these bonds will desire to reinvest their money in Dominion securities. To meet what we believe to be their wishes, we will issue new bonds bearing the same rate of interest, namely, 5½ per cent, either for five years, maturing in 1927, or for ten years, maturing in 1932, as the bondholder may prefer.

"A further advantage to the investor will be that while the maturing bonds will be retired on Dec. 1, 1922, and the interest coupon of that date will be paid, the new bonds to be delivered in exchange will be dated Nov. 1, and will thus carry one month's accrued interest. The privilege of investment on these terms will be confined to the holders of the outstanding bonds about to mature.

The bonds of the Canadian government, it is hardly necessary to say, are the very highest class of securities that can be offered to our investors. In offering the terms above stated for renewal of the maturing loan, we are making a substantial concession to the home investors, in as much as our recent loan was placed in New York at a figure that yielded a little over five per cent.

"We believe that this highest class of security, offered on such terms, will readily be taken up by the holders of the bonds that are shortly to mature.

"The government will avail itself of the services of the chartered banks in effecting the proposed conversion. Holders of maturing bonds who wish to take advantage of the offer will be asked to communicate with one of the banks as early as possible and make their decision not later than Sept. 30. Receipts will be given for bonds that are deposited, to be exchanged in due course for the new bonds when ready.

"After the conversion plan has been completed it may be necessary to make a further loan in which new money will be required. But that is a matter not calling for attention at present.

"Arrangements are being made with the banks for the carrying out of this conversion plan. More formal announcement will be made by official advertisements within a few days."

Asked whether or not the new bonds would be exempt from taxation as were those issued in 1917, Mr. Fielding replied that they would not. It was not the intention of the government to issue any more tax exempt bonds, he said.

First Venture of Lord Lascelles in Business World Meets Failure

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The first business venture of Lord Lascelles, better known as the husband of Princess Mary, has proved a failure. The Conqueror Typewriter Manufacturing Co. in Stourton, near Leeds, of which he was the head and principal shareholder, has been sold.

The concern was started in 1919 with a nominal capital of half a million, sterling. It was intended by the promoters to produce an all British typewriter which should compete with the best of the American machines.

The erection of the factory and its equipment was undertaken at a time when prices ruled high. No expense was spared and when the works were completed they were considered the "last word" in modern mass production.

NOMINEES TO NEW BOARD WILL MEET

Plan Conference On Friday Regarding Wheat Control Undertaking.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 9.—(By Canadian Press).—H. W. Wood, nominee of the Alberta and Saskatchewan governments for chairmanship of the wheat board, and Premier Herbert Greenfield left tonight for Winnipeg, where on Friday thye will confer with representatives of the Saskatchewan government, and with C. Rice-Jones, who has been nominated for the vice-chairmanship.

Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan has gone to the coast, but it is understood that he will be represented at the conference by Attorney-General Cross.

It is stated in circles which presumably are well informed that Mr. Wood will not refuse the chairmanship until he has canvassed every possibility of organizing a board which would be considered satisfactory by the provincial governments concerned, and that in particular he is anxious that should he accept the responsibility, Messrs. Stewart and Riddell should join the board as private members.

It is understood here that Mr. Rice-Jones will take the vice-chairmanship.

SEVERS CONNECTION WITH AMUNDSEN EXPEDITION

Lieut. E. G. Fullerton Not Selected For Flight Over North Pole.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 9.—Lieut. E. G. Fullerton arrived here this morning from Kotzebue Sound, where he severed connection with the Amundsen expedition. He claims that Amundsen selected Lieut. Oskar Omdal to make the flight from Point Barrow, and that it was then up to him to stay on the Maud on her drift across the basin or return home.

He said he joined the expedition in order to make the flight to Spitzbergen, and is returning to his post on the Canadian Air Board at Vancouver very much disappointed over not having the opportunity to do so.

Interviewed today, Lieut. Fullerton stated that Captain Amundsen would attempt the flight with only one pilot. Lieut. Omdal, in order to avoid the extra risk involved in establishing an auxiliary fuel base north of Point Barrow, which would be necessary with two pilots, due to extra weight.

FEAR EFFECTS OF NEW TARIFF

Moderates Question Whether Fordney-McCumber Measure Will Benefit U. S.

Believe Excessively High Protection Will Tend To Reduce Exports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. — (By Canadian Prss).—While there is still more or less talk in Washington that the Fordney-McCumber tariff measure will not go into effect until next winter and may not go into effect at all, the fact that the Senate is expected to pass the measure this month has caused the belief to obtain quite generally that it will become law about the 1st of October, and this is causing a great deal of speculation about its effect on United States business with other countries.

The rates in the bill are extremely high, and in some cases almost or entirely prohibitive. The evidence on this point is so strong that it can hardly be open to successful dispute.

Shaped by Small Group.

The truth is the bill has been shaped by a small group of extreme protectionists in the house and senate working in conjunction with high protectionists outside. The believers in low tariffs or moderate tariffs in the two houses have been like those crying in the wilderness so far as shaping the bill is concerned.

It is a most interesting fact that the high tariff advocates are openly taking the position that the country's exports have little to do with the country's imports. In other words, they are contending that shutting down on importations through high tariffs will not curtail exportation and not hurt markets for the United States abroad. They are deaf to all arguments that the only way for the United States to build up a great foreign trade is to permit the tariff barriers to be kept down to a moderate level, and thus permit a considerable amount of import trade.

Trade Tends to Decline.

The evidences that the trade between the United States and Canada is tending to decline under the emergency tariff, and that Canadian-British trade is increasing, are having no effect on the high tariff elements in Congress. It is a fact, so far as that is concerned, that even the moderate tariff elements in Congress have not seemed to appreciate to the fullest extent the meaning of the growing trade between Canada and Great Britain and the declining trade between Canada and the United States.

What trade and business conditions in this country are going to follow the enactment of the new measure will constitute one of the most important propositions which has faced the United States in years. Unless the critics of the bill are much in error in their economics, it will be followed by heavy declines in the foreign trade.

FORESTRY EXPERT DECLINES OFFER

Judson Clarke Will Not Accept Ontario Post of Conservation Commissioner.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—The position of commissioner of conservation at $10,000 per year, a new post in connection with Ontario's forests, has been offered to Judson Clarke, the forestry expert, but declined with thanks.

Mr. Clarke has large timber interests. The Drury government knew that the money would not tempt him, but hoped the opportunity to do something worth while for the forests he loves might tempt Mr. Clarke to accept the position. Mr. Clarke has made it clear that he cannot accept the post, but he is preparing a survey that may help the government.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that as a result of Mr. Clarke's recommendation the Doyle rule, which has been used since time immemorial for the measuring of the lumber contents of logs, will be abandoned, and a more accurate system adopted.

ASK MAYOR TO REMOVE ORDER AGAINST BUSES

Buffalo Citizens Storm City Hall, and Police Disperse Crowd.

BUFFALO, Aug. 9.—Demanding that the order against operation of jitney busses be rescinded a crowd of about 1,500 stormed the city hall at 6 o'clock tonight. Police dispersed the crowd, and leaders were told to organize a committee to present their case to the city council.

Mayor Schwab today urged the jitneymen's organization to quit, and "see what the International can do." The mayor has contended that the street railway company has not enough strikebreakers to give adequate service.

MAY ALTER TAX PAYMENTS.

GALT, Aug. 9.—Galt, like many other cities, may adopt the quarterly payment of taxes, thus easing the burden on those who pay, and reducing bank interest for the money.

INITIATE PEACE STEP AT JOLIET

Railmen Stage General Walk-Out To Protest Calling of Troops.

Await Conference With Officials After Burying Victims of Battle.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 9.—First efforts to restore industrial peace here after several hectic days of war, including the killing of two men and wounding of another, the arrival of state troops, the arrest of a half dozen men for carrying concealed weapons near the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railroad yards strike zone, and the solemn burial of the two victims this afternoon, was seen late this afternoon in the announcement that a formal conference had been called between Elgin, Joliet and Eastern officials and leaders of the "Big Four" tomorrow.

It was hinted that the strikers would meet the railroad executives outside the meeting place, and there decline to go into conference before troops had been withdrawn from the yards.

Work in the yards was practically at a standstill as a result of action by the engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen, maintenance of way men and other workers last night in protest against the stationing of troops in the yards.

MAY USE OWN JUDGMENT.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 9.—Railroad brotherhood chiefs here today practically served notice that their members might decide for themselves whether objectionable working conditions at railroad terminals in connection with the strike of shopmen justify their remaining away from their jobs.

"We are not going to have our men shot or beaten up, or threatened by armed guards at railroad shops and yards," Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said, when told that several hundred members of the "Big Four" brotherhoods had gone on strike at Joliet, Ills., last midnight.

Brotherhood engineers have already been notified that they may refuse to take out locomotives in defective condition, but have been cautioned not to be "too technical."

INJUNCTION ISSUED.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 9.—Striking shopmen of the New York Central Railroad were restrained today by a temporary federal injunction from molesting employees at work in the shops or attempting to intimidate the men on their way to and from work.

The injunction issued by Judge H. Rogers of the U. S. circuit court, affects all New York Central strikers in Buffalo, West Seneca, Niagara Falls and Depew. The restraining order also prohibits the strikers from disturbing the homes or the families of railroad employees.

REFUSE HARDING'S PLEA.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Twenty-five thousand rail shop crafts workers, through Davis Williams, secretary of the eastern strike committee, today sent a telegram to B. M. Jewell at Washington, putting themselves on record as refusing to accept President Harding's proposal for submitting the seniority question to the railroad labor board.

The Telegram said in part:

"Many of the strikers have witnessed our so-called American railway executives hire cheap Chinese and Hindu labor to try to break the strike, and under no circumstances will these agree to allow this conglomeration of unskilled foreign workers be considered as favored employees of the railroads in order to gratify the autocratic desires of the American railway kaisers for a condition of industrial slavery for railway employees.

"Let us assure you again, we want no compromise, and urge that the fight be fought to a finish right now on its merits and the present administration in control of our government be forced to show whether it stands for real Americanism or the brand of Americanism represented by a few hard-boiled railroad officials who would wreck our entire country in their lust for power."

BLENHEIM WINS 3--2

Still Tie With Dresden as Result of Win.

BLENHEIM, Aug. 9.—Ball fans witnessed one of the best games of the season on the local diamond this afternoon, when Blenheim and Thamesville met in a Kent County League fixture, Blenheim winning by 3 to 2. The pitching was first class. Tobias, pitching for the visitors, held the heavy local swatters to three hits, the lowest record they have made in two years. His delivery was puzzling.

In the first inning H. Biseborough secured a hit, followed by two steals, and Rumble singled him in. In the fourth Rumble got to first on a fielder's choice, stole second and third, and a wild pitch let him in. In the eighth Hawgood got a fielder's choice, stole second, and in the attempt a throw to cut him off went high, and he scored.

Thamesville scored in the sixth, when Arnold walked, McCarthy tripled, Tobias doubled, letting both in.

Harry Gray pitched for Blenheim, and allowed six hits, struck out eight and walked two. Tobias allowed only three hits, struck out eight and walked three. Two double-plays by Blenheim featured, H. Gray to Coleman to B. Gray, and W. Biseborough to Coleman to R. Gray.

Blenheim	3	3	1
Thamesville	2	6	3

Batteries—Gray and Rumble; Tobias and Arnold.

Umpires—Collier and Pegg.

As a result of the games today Blenheim and Dresden still stand tie for first place in the county, each having won nine and lost two. Dresden won from Regiment at Dresden today by 3 to 2.

HOLD CONVENTION OF VETERINARIES

Dr. J. A. Campbell of Toronto Chosen President of Association.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—Veterinary doctors from all parts of the province, as well as government officials and bacteriological specialists from Ottawa, Guelph, Washington, D.C., and New York, were in attendance at the 44th annual meeting of the Ontario Veterinary Association held here today. Those present included F. Torrance, veterinary director-general, Ottawa; Dr. D. A. Schofield of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph; C. H. Higgins, New York, formerly animal pathologist, department of agriculture, Ottawa; Dr. C. D. McGilvray, president of the Ontario Veterinary College, and T. P. White of Washington, assistant chief of the United States Hog Cholera Control Division, Bureau of Animal Industry.

The elections resulted in the naming of Dr. D. A. Irvine of Toronto to succeed Dr. J. A. Campbell of Toronto as president of the association.

A feature of the convention was the declaration by Thomas Olsen of the Harris Abattoir, who spoke on "Bacon Grading," that the bacon trade of Canada with Britain, which this year would be only one-eleventh of what it was in 1918, was "going to disappear," unless the government took action to bring about through improved breeding and sale stock inspection, the marketing of a better grade of hog by the Canadian farmer. He said, however, he understood the Dominion government was about to soon place officials in the packing houses and stockyards to inspect the live hogs, and this would be a step in the right direction.

PARIS DELIGHTFUL, BUT INCONVENIENT

London 1921 Bride Glad To Be Back To Refrigerators, Kitchen Cabinets.

"With all the charms of Paris, I'm glad to be back to Canada where there are kitchen cabinets and refrigerators," said a charming young matron to The Advertiser Wednesday, a very well known London girl indeed, Mrs. Richard Crouch, previous to her marriage, Miss Hazel Tanner, M.A., graduate of the Western University, and for some time in charge of the children's department of the Public Library.

Immediately after her marriage to Mr. Crouch, a year ago, they went over to France, where the young husband was to enjoy the privilege of working out a provincial government traveling scholarship in a French university. Under the circumstances Mrs. Crouch's very first experience in keeping house on her own account was in a little apartment, finally run to earth in "Gay Paree."

"Was it hard to find!" she exclaimed in reply to a question from the Women's Department of The Advertiser. "I can assure you, I can fully realize the meaning of 'housing shortage' and 'housing difficulties' after trying to find a suitable apartment in Paris.

"By suitable, in Paris, is meant one that will house you and come within your means. Suitable there means something entirely different from what it means here. Kitchen conveniences? You learn not to look for them. They simply do not exist, unless possibly in the fashionable apartments at two hundred or more a month. An ice box or a kitchen cabinet is unheard of in ordinary apartments and, as far as a bath is concerned, the rule seems to be to take a sponge bath at home and go to the public baths, if you can reconcile yourself to community bathing. Personally, it didn't appeal to us. The bath tub is a missing object, either of art or utility.

"I am exceedingly glad of the experience of spending the past year in Paris, but I shouldn't like to housekeep there all my life, unless I imported some conveniences from Canada.

"Apart from the handicaps in the kitchen, I met with difficulties when I went marketing. In the first place, the money was different, and it kept me in a fever of calculation to make sure I was paying the right amount for things, and getting back the right change.

"Another thing that phazed me was the system of measurement, all the vegetables and so on, by weight, and not pounds and ounces at that.

"It was a real problem to decide how many kilograms of potatoes I wanted. One thing, though, the shop people were delightful, so considerate, courteous and helpful. This seemed to be characteristic of the French. When you got into difficulties over weights, measures or reckoning up your change, why, the customers in the shop would all crowd around and each and all try to help you out.

Sell Potatoes Peeled.

"Talking of potatoes, Paris is a great place for finding foods all prepared. For example, you can buy your potatoes natural, or you can buy them scraped, peeled or ready boiled.

"You can also buy other kinds of vegetables all plain boiled, ready to be creamed, served with butter or any other way you prefer for the table. Apartments are so inconvenient, and kitchen space so small that people, as far as possible, buy food ready prepared.

"What do the people do who live in houses? Live outside of Paris.

"The thing that struck me was that Paris is a great city of apartments. Everybody lives in apartments, and you miss the home-life we have here, surrounded by grounds of their own. Away from Paris, I understand, the people in the suburbs and town and country take great pride in their houses and housekeeping.

"The thrifty French housewives? I'm sorry I didn't have an opportunity to get acquainted with them. It seemed to us it was most difficult to get to know the real French people. All the time we were there we got to know one or two real French women, and four or five French men. The French we met were French-Canadians who had gone to France to study on account of knowing the language. Yet, they didn't want to be French, and wouldn't care to live in France or identify themselves with French interests, though it was the land of their ancestors. They weren't any more inclined towards England, and their interest, first and last, was in Canada and its welfare."

Thousands of Tourists.

Mrs. Crouch had another regret, that she was unable to remain in Paris for the convention of the International Federation of University Women's Clubs, at which she had been asked to represent the London University Women's Club.

"We were obliged to sail from Marseilles on the fifteenth of July," she said, "the very day the convention was opening. We had thought we could get back, sailing about the middle of August, but, when we went to book passage, we found, to our amazement, that it would simply be impossible to get a boat to bring us at the time we wanted to be here if we did not come the middle of July. The reason was the tens of thousands of tourists, chiefly Americans, who are traveling in France this year. On the boulevards and in the business districts of Paris after the beginning of June, you heard as much English as French spoken. We wanted to come by Marseilles because we wanted to see something of the Mediterranean and Gibraltar."

Not all of Mrs. Crouch's time was devoted to housekeeping and sightseeing while abroad. Two months, during which her husband was attending lectures in the university at Dijon, she availed herself of a similar opportunity, taking also lectures at the university in Paris.

"And it was so interesting," she told The Advertiser, "to listen to the very authorities lecture who had written textbooks we used in Canada."

WITH THE BRIDES

FISHER—GILL.

Mrs. M. Auld of London, Ont., attended in Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Irene Evadne Gill, daughter of Samuel R. Gill of Chicago, Ill., to Harold Snedaker Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Fisher of Plymouth avenue, Buffalo, the Rev. Gardner C. Eldridge, D.D., performing the ceremony in the Calvary Presbyterian Church. Miss Elsie E. Kuebler, Buffalo, was maid of honor, and Miss Evelyn S. Fisher and Miss Florence Fryer, both of Buffalo, were bridesmaids. Kenneth C. Estabrook of Ithaca, N. Y., was best man, and the ushers were S. Harold Houston of Goshen, N. Y.; Daniel Fisher of Clarence, N. Y.; Alvin C. Dechert and James H. Beers, both of Buffalo. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have gone to Georgian Bay on their wedding trip, and after September 5 will reside at No. 85 Whitney place, Buffalo.

LOUGHREY—DUNCAN.

The wedding took place at high noon, Monday, at Trinity Church, Blyth, when Helen Duncan, a recent graduate of Victoria Hospital, and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cumming, of Blyth, was married to Theodore A. Loughrey, Phm.B., son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Loughrey, of this city. The church was artistically decorated with white roses, chrysanthemums and sweet peas, which were massed on the altar, and vines covered the pillars.

As the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Miss Anne Taylor, the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church. She wore a smart suit of navy broadcloth, with hat to match, trimmed with crimson roses, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses, with streamers, caught with sweet peas. Mrs. Cyril Thomas of London, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, and was gowned in navy blue georgette, heavily beaded, over tricotine of the same shade. Miss Shirley Thomas was flower girl, frocked in white georgette, and she carried pink sweet peas. Mr. Cyril Thomas acted as best man. During the signing of the register, Miss Sara Milne sang, "I Love Thee, Dear."

Following the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. B. Hawkins, a wedding luncheon was served at the bride's home, which was decorated with summer flowers. Mrs. Cumming received with the bride and groom, wearing a dark green taffeta and georgette gown. Mr. and Mrs. Loughrey left by motor for Rochester, and will travel for a year through the eastern states.

With Certo you never fail to get wonderful jams and jellies—rich in the natural color and delicate flavor of the fruit.

Certo is pectin, and pectin is just the natural element in fruits which makes the jelly "jell."

By using Certo you supply the correct amount of pectin needed for perfect jams and jellies. The jellifying point is reached by one minute of boiling instead of 20 or 30 minutes. Thus you retain the full goodness of your fruit.

—and you get 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. You never fail.

Certo is a pure fruit product—no gelatine or preservative. At your grocer's.

How to make delicious Blackberry Jelly

MORE HELP FOR MOSS ROSE.

Dear Cynthia,—Having seen in today's paper where Moss Rose was asking for help, and as mother has some articles of clothing that would be of use, would you please send her address?

I also saw where Friend To Be would like a sister. I have no sisters, and would like to correspond with her, if you will please send her address(also the address of Tomboy Taylor.

Am glad the Mail-Box cot fund is increasing. As I want to help the good work, am inclosing a small portion. SORREL TOP.

A large number of the Boxites have already opened their hearts to Moss Rose, and have scurried around and picked up many little things to be sent to her. It was splendid of your mother, too, to help her out, Sorrel Top. I have mailed her address to you, also Friend To Be. I am sure she will welcome you as a sister. You never have experienced the joys of a large family, then, have you? Of course you may have many brothers, which I think would be much more interesting. Many thanks for remembering the hospital fund with a mite.

A DICTIONARY ARRIVES.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to your Mail-Box, but I am a constant reader. I am inclosing a mite for the hospital fund, which seems to be growing. I would like to correspond with someone between the ages of 14 and 16, and I will answer any letters. I am sending my name and address to Miss Grey, so anyone wishing to correspond can get it from her. Wishing the Mail-Box success, I will close. DICTIONARY.

I am sure there will be any number of letters for you to answer, as each day some little girl writes to us asking for an interesting correspondent. I have put your name on our family list, and will be pleased to give it to anyone asking for it. Thank you, Dictionary, for the contribution towards our hospital cot.

WHO WILL WRITE?

Dear Miss Grey, — I saw my first letter in print, so thought I would write again. I have one interesting correspondent through the Mail-Box, Dixie No 2. I have received two nice letters from her.

I saw some time ago where Peggy was asking for my address, but I have never heard from her. I wonder what is the matter? I wish she would write.

Can you please tell me, Miss Grey, what day February 6, 1907, fell on, also December 1, 1904?

If anyone else would care to write to me I will be glad to hear from them.

Please find inclosed mite for S. C. H. fund.

I will sign as before. KIP.

Dixie No. 2 must be a very interesting young person as so many are enjoying her letters. I think Peggy is away on her vacation, or very busy, for I am sure she would have written to you, Kip. Feb. 6, 1907, fell on a Wednesday, and December 1, 1904, on Thursday. The mite has gone into the strong box along with the others which keep coming in daily. Instead of lagging, the Boxites seem to be more interested than ever in the hospital cot.

WHAT IS HER NAME?

Dear Miss Grey,—It is a long time since I have written to your interesting Mail-Box. I was visiting my aunt, near Alvinston. I was there for two weeks and had a good time.

Will you please send me the words and music of "Tuck Me To Sleep in My Old 'Tucky Home," and "Let the Rest of the World Go By"?

Do you think yellow would be a nice shade for me? I have blue eyes, light brown hair, and a very fair complexion.

Please tell me what day May 5, 1916, fell on.

I am sending 10c for the S. C. H. fund. Wishing the Boxites every success.

A SCOTCH LASSIE.

You did not give us your name and address, Scotch Lassie, so I do not know where to send the words of "Let the Rest of the World Go By." "Tuck Me To Sleep" is not on file. Please give us your name as soon as possible, as I am sure there will be any number of requests to write to you. I think, but, of course, I can only use my imagination, that yellow would be very becoming to you. Why not try the color before you purchase the dress or the material for it? May 5, 1916, fell on Friday. Thank you, Lassie, for remembering out cot-to-be with a mite.

ANSWERS RIDDLES.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxites,—Here I come again after such a long absence that I forget my former pen-name. Aren't we having nice weather?

I saw two riddles in the paper that "Only a Gal" sent. I think I can answer them. "What relation is your mother's brother's brother-in-law to you?" Answer—Your father. The other one was: "What has four legs and only one foot?" Answer—A bed. Am I right? I hope so.

As I am about "Only a Gal's" age I would like to correspond with her if she wishes. I will leave my address with Miss Grey.

Now, here is a riddle: "As round as an apple, as busy as a bee and the prettiest little thing you ever did see."

A man looking at a picture says: "Sisters and brothers have I none, but that man's father was my father's son." Whose picture was it?

Inclosed find a mite for C. H. fund. BETTY BEE.

Even if you have forgotten your former name, you have chosen an original one, and we are more than pleased to have you with us again, Betty Bee. The answers you have given sound correct. Of course, "Only a Gal" did not give me the answers. I have heard the answers to your riddles, but I will not give them away. Thanks for the donation towards the fund, which is growing day by day.

HELPS FUND TO GROW.

Dear Miss Grey,—I would like to have a peep into your busy corner this lovely morning. How the fund is growing!

Inclosed find twenty-five cents for S. C. H. Fund.

Please send me some crochet patterns and I will return them along with a sample or two of mine.

Thanking you for your trouble, will write again soon. MARY No. 2.

The Mail-Box certainly is a busy corner these days, in fact it is always busy. It keeps me more than hustling counting and sorting the Mites, getting them changed into crisp bills, and finally sending them off to the hospital treasury. The twenty-five cents. inclosed is very welcome, Mary.

The crochet patterns are already on the way to you. I hope you like them, and we will be looking for a sample of your work.

BORNISH BRINGS HELP.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to your Mail-Box, but I read the letters every day and enjoy them so much. I have three small children to care for, and two of them have whooping cough, which is very trying. I saw in Saturday's paper when A Pitiful Case and Worried Mother No. 2 wanted help. I am inclosing an addressed envelope for their addresses. I think I can find a few things they could use. Hope I haven't made my letter too long. Please find mite for S. C. H. I wish I could spare more, but money is scarce just now. I will sign myself BORNISH.

I hope your little ones will soon be better, Bornish. It is hard on mothers to see their babies suffer so, but I suppose these are a few of the trials included in our crosses, which we all have to bear. It is sweet of you to offer to help the other mothers in need, and in return I am sure you will be blessed with well babies. Thanks for remembering the fund towards the Sick Children's Hospital. Yours was by no means a small mite.

TO CLEAN PLASTERED WALLS.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—In reading today's Advertiser I saw where Sunflower No. 2 was asking for something to ease her little boys' whooping cough. Well, my baby boy took the whooping cough in April and he was just eighteen months old, and I read of this remedy and it was splendid, so I am writing to Sunflower No. 2 and telling her, as you would not be able to publish it, as it comes under the head of advertising. A while ago I saw where some one wanted to know if there was anything to remove finger marks and other dirty spots off plastered walls in a new house. I have found out something for that too, only it also comes under advertising, so if any one cares to write me, my address is with Miss Grey.

Now, please, could I have a little help? I would like to get some recitations, comic ones, and also "Whispering Bill." MEDDLESOME MATTY.

"It pays to advertise, also to read the advertisements. You have apparently found this true, Meddlesome Matty. It was nice of you to pass on this valuable information to the readers. In return I hope some of our Boxites will send you comic recitations. At the present time there are none in the Mail-Box, nor is the particular one you are asking for, to be found. Your name is on file, and any one wishing to learn your remedies, may write to you personally.

Reserving Niche in Hall of Fame For Canadian Nurses' War Memorial

Members of the Victoria Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Association are particularly interested in the recent announcement that permission has been granted by the government to place in the Hall of Fame, Ottawa, the Canadian Nurses' War Memorial, which has been undertaken by the Canadian National Association of Trained Nurses. Victoria Alumnae lost five members in war service, three of whom were killed on duty, the other two dying as a result of injuries or strain after returning home. The total cost of the memorial will be in the neighborhood of $65,000. Ontario, with 3,500 graduate nurses, has assumed as its share $24,000. While no objective has been named for the London nurses, the associations are bent upon doing their share, and measuring up to an average of $8 per nurse.

Victoria Alumnae is delighted over the success of the first money-making effort for the fund, a garden party held at the home of Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore and Mrs. Gartshore some weeks ago, when, despite a cool evening, about $140 was cleared. Further entertainments will be planned at a meeting of the executive to take place in the near future. The necessity for a brisk campaign is recognized from the fact that all contributions to the fund are wanted by December.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY WHEN CHILDREN HAVE SUMMER COMPLAINTS

There is not a summer passes but that thousands of men, women and children are attacked by summer coomplaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc.

In looking for relief you should not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been on the market for the past 77 years, and has stood the test of time.

Mrs. Geo. Chapman, Sudbury, Ont., writes: "I am the mother of five children, and I must say they are seldom sick or in need of medicine. They are, however, sometimes troubled with summer complaint, diarrhoea, and such like, but I always find there is no cause for worry, as I just give them two or three doses, no more, of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and the trouble soon disappears. It is a remedy that all mothers should keep in the home for the children."

"Dr. Fowler's" is 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A. A. MILNE

© 1922 by Dodd, Mead & Company

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

The body of the ne'er-do-well brother,

ROBERT ABLETT, was found on the floor of the locked office of The Red House, and MARK ABLETT, bachelor proprietor of the country estate, was nowhere to be found. In the eyes of Inspector Birch, it was clear that Mark had shot Robert, particularly since everyone knew Mark learned with disgust and annoyance of Robert's return from his fifteen-year stay in Australia.

But the circumstances were mysterious. The shot was heard two minutes after Robert's arrival, and when

ANTONY GILLINGHAM, a gentleman adventurer, entered the house to visit Mark's guest,

BILL VEVERLEY, he found

MATT CAYLEY, Mark's constant companion, pounding on the locked door and demanding admittance. The two men entered through a window and found the body. How could Mark have locked the door if the keys were on the outside? puzzled Antony. He discusses some of the mysterious clues with Bill Beverley.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Antony smoked thoughtfully for a little. Then he took his pipe out of his mouth and turned to his friend.

"Are you prepared to be the complete Watson?" he asked.

"Watson?"

"Do-you-follow-me-Watson that one. Are you prepared to have quite obvious things explained to you—to ask futile questions, to give me chances of scoring off you. Because it all helps."

"My dear Tony," said Bill delightedly, "need you ask?" Antony said nothing, and Bill went on happily to himself. I perceive from the strawberry-mark on your shirt-front that you had strawberries for dessert. Holmes, you astonish me. Tut, tut, you know my methods. Where is the tobacco? The tobacco is in the Persian slipper. Can I leave my practice for a week? I can."

Antony smiled and went on smoking. After waiting hopefully for a minute or two, Bill said in a firm voice:

"Well then, Holmes, I feel bound to ask you if you have deduced anything. Also whom do you suspect?"

Antony began to talk.

"Do you remember," he said, "one of Holmes' little scores over Watson about the number of steps up to the Baker street lodging? Poor old Watson had been up and down them a thousand times, but he had never thought of counting them, whereas Holmes had counted them as a matter of course, and knew that there were seventeen. And that was supposed to be the difference between observation and non-observation. Watson was crushed again, and Holmes appeared to him more amazing than ever. Now, it always seemed to me that in that matter Holmes was the ass, and Watson the sensible person. What on earth is the point of keeping in your head an unnecessary fact like that? If you really want to know at any time the number of steps to your lodging, you can ring up your landlady and ask her. I've been up and down the steps of the club a thousand times, but if you asked me to tell you at this moment how many steps there are I couldn't do it. Could you?"

"I certainly couldn't," said Bill.

"But if you really wanted to know," said Antony casually, with a sudden change of voice, "I could find out for you without even bothering to ring up the hall-porter."

Bill was puzzled as to why they were talking about the club steps, but he felt it his duty to say that he did want to know how many there were.

"Right," said Antony. "I'll find out."

He closed his eyes.

"I'm walking up St. James' Street," he said slowly. "Now I've come to the club and I'm going past the smoking-room windows—one—two—three—four. Now I'm at the steps. I turn in and begin going up them. One—two—three—four—five—six, then a broad step; six—seven—eight—nine, another broad step; nine—ten—eleven. Eleven—I'm inside. Good morning, Rogers. Fine day again." With a little start he opened his eyes and came back to his present surroundings. He turned to Bill with a smile. "Eleven," he said. Count them the next time you're there. Eleven—and now I hope I shall forget it again."

Bill was distinctly interested.

"That's rather hot," he said. "Expound."

"Well, I can't explain it, whether it's something in the actual eye, or something in the brain, or what, but I have got rather an uncanny habit of recording things unconsciously. You know that game where you look at a tray full of small objects for three minutes, and then turn away and try to make a list of them. It means a devil of a lot of concentration for the ordinary person, if he wants to get his list complete, but in some odd way I manage to do it without concentration at all."

"I should think that's rather a useful gift for an amateur detective. You ought to have gone into the profession before."

"Well, it is rather useful. It's rather surprising, you know, to a stranger. Let's surprise Cayley with it, shall we?"

"How?"

"Well, let's ask him—" Antony stopped and looked at Bill comically—"let's ask him what he's going to do with the key of the office."

For a moment Bill did not understand.

"Key of the office?" he said vaguely. "You don't mean—Tony! What do you mean? Good God! do you mean that Cayley—But what about Mark?"

"I don't know where Mark is—that's another think I want to know—but I'm quite certain that he hasn't got the key of the office with him. Because Cayley's got it."

"Are you sure?"

"Of course, I don't really know that he's got it, but I do know that he had it. I know that when I came on him this afternoon, he had just locked the door and put the key in his pocket."

"You mean you saw him at the time, but that you've only just remembered it—reconstructed it—in the way you were explaining just now?"

"No. I didn't see him. But I did see something. I saw the key of the billiard-room."

"Where?"

"Outside the billiard-room door."

"Outside? But it was inside when we looked just now."

"Exactly."

"Who put it there?"

"Obviously Cayley."

"But—"

"Let's go back to this afternoon. I don't remember noticing the billiard-room key at the time; I must have done so without knowing. Probably when I saw Cayley banging at the door I may have wondered sub-consciously whether the key of the room next to it would fit. Well, when I was sitting out by myself on that seat just before you came along, I went over the whole scene in my mind, and I suddenly saw the billiard-room key there—outside. And I began to wonder if the office key had been outside too. When Cayley came up, I told you my idea and you were both interested. But Cayley was just a shade too interested. I daresay you didn't notice it, but he was."

"By Jove!"

"Well, of course, that proved nothing; and the key business didn't really prove anything, because whatever side of the door the other keys were, Mark might have locked his own private room from the inside sometimes. But I piled it on, and pretended that it was enormously important, and quite altered the care altogether, and having got Cayley thoroughly anxious about it, as I expected, he couldn't resist. He altered the keys and gave himself away entirely."

"But the library key was still outside. Why didn't he alter that?"

"Because he's a clever devil. For one thing, the inspector had been in the library, and might possibly have noticed it already. And for another —" Antony hesitated.

"What?" said Bill, after waiting for him to go on.

"It's only guesswork. But I fancy that Cayley was thoroughly upset about the key business. He didn't want to commit himself definitely to the statement that the key was either outside or inside. He wanted to leave it vague. It was safest that way."

"I see," said Bill slowly.

But his mind was elsewhere. He was wondering suddenly about Cayley.

"Now then, Watson," said Antony suddenly. "It's time you said something."

"I say, Tony, do you really mean it?"

"I mean what I said, Bill. No more."

"Well, what does it amount to?"

"Simply that Robert Ablett died in the office this afternoon, and that Cayley knows exactly how he died. That's all. It doesn't follow that Cayley killed him."

"No. No, of course it doesn't." Bill gave a sigh of relief. "He's just shielding Mark, what?"

"That's the simplest explanation if you're a friend of Cayley and want to let him down lightly. But then I'm not, you see."

"Why isn't it simple, anyhow?"

"Well, let's have the explanation then, and I'll undertake to give you a simpler one afterward. Only remember—the key is on the outside of the door to start with."

"Yes; well, I don't mind that. Mark goes in to see his brother, and they quarrel and all the rest of it, just as Cayley was saying. Cayley hears the shot, and in order to give Mark time to get away, locks the door, and that he can't get in. How's pretends that Mark has locked the door, and that he can't get in. How's that?"

"Hopeless, Watson, hopeless."

"Why?"

"How does Cayley know that it is Mark who has shot Robert, and not the other way round?"

"Oh!" said Bill, rather upset. "Yes." He thought for a moment. "All right. Say that Cayley has gone into the room first, and seen Robert on the ground."

"Well?"

"Well, there you are."

"And what does he say to Mark? That it's a fine afternoon, and could he lend him a pocket-handkerchief? Or does he ask him what's happened?"

"Well, of course, I suppose he asks what happened," said Bill reluctantly.

"And what does Mark say?"

"Explains that the revolver went off accidently during a struggle."

"Whereupon Cayley shields him by —by doing what, Bill? Encouraging him to do the damn silliest thing that any man could possibly do—confess his guilt by running away!"

Science has exploded the old idea of taking internal remedies for getting rid of blackheads, pimples and other skin impurities.

It is now done externally by the use of a simple, harmless powder that dissolves away every particle of dust, dirt, excessive oil and other disease forming impurities in the pores of the skin.

Just get from your druggist a small package of peroxine powder and at night, just before retiring, take your wash cloth, wet it with plenty of hot water, sprinkle a little of the peroxine powder on it and rub it over the face, neck, arms and bust, working up a little lather.

You will notice a delightful tingling sensation while this is on the skin. Leave on for a minute or two, then wash off with warm water and finish with cold—the colder the better. Dry the skin—look in the mirror and notice its wonderful refreshing appearance.—Advt.

COMMEND UNION OF ENGLISH-SPEAKING

Orators at California Union Urge Fostering of International Goodwill.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Four men prominent in world politics, addressing the California branch of the English-Speaking Union, in session here yesterday, commended the aims of the union in seeking to bring the English-speaking nations into closer harmony, with a view to fostering an international spirit of goodwill.

The four—William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, and former president; Lord Shaw of Dunfermline, member of the British House of Lords; George W. W. Wickersham, former attorney-general of the United States, and John W. Davis former ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, are here for the convention of American Bar Association, which opened here today.

Lord Shaw expressed a desire to see a wider understanding among English-speaking people. "When we stop troubling about our poorer qualities and find the best ones, we will all understand," he said. "That is what England has tried to do in Ireland, and it is succeeding so well that today I believe that Ireland is on the crest of a wave that will send it on to splendid achievement."

Mr. Davis said that solution of the Irish problem and the elimination of the jealousies aroused through the naval strength of Great Britain have removed two of the major threats which beset world peace. He declared that the "liberation of Ireland" did more to assure the world that freedom was not a mockery than any other agency in ages.

Mr. Davis concluded by saying that English-speaking nations must help Ireland by making the world a place of peace.

WILL CARRY CASES OF BANKRUPTCY TO COURTS

Action Decided at Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9.—In the case of bankruptcies and assignments occurring in any province the courts of that particular province should be used, it was decided at the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association convention here today.

The matter was brought before the convention because of a case in which the courts of Manitoba were used for assignments of Saskatchewan, which were managed by trustees in Manitoba.

It was felt it was the duty of trustees to instruct solicitors to carry their cases only to the courts of the province in which the particular assignment was made.

WINTERBOURNE

WINTERBOURNE, Aug. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sheriff and daughter Jean, of Detroit, are visiting relatives here.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Vietch and little sons, and Ralph Aiken, all of Toronto, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vietch.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bright, of Oshawa, spent a few days visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills.

Mrs. MarFarlane and son, Ernest, of Guelph, spent a few days visiting friends here.

Miss Nellie Brown of Guelph, spent several days visiting her mother, Mrs. Andrew Brown.

Miss Hattie Dicks is visiting her brother in Indiana at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Hamilton and little son, Garfield, of Brantford, spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sheriff.

Mrs. John Simpson, of Brantford, attended the funeral of her nephew, Carter Sugg, on Saturday.

RUTHVEN

RUTHVEN, Aug. 9.—The past week has been a busy one for all the farmers in this section. The heavy crops of every description are maturing faster than has been known here for years and the result is that it has been keeping the growers hustling almost night and day to pick the ripening vegetables.

The hum of the threshing machines is heard at many places and many bushels of oats and wheat have been already put through the fanning mills and markets.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Quick of Harrow, who were married at the home of the bride here recently, have left for their honeymoon trip and will tour the West. They will return by way of Los Angeles, Cal., where they will stop for a month as guests of the bride's brother and sister, Everton and Grace Malott, who have resided at Los Angeles for the past fifteen years.

The committee of the Old Boys and Old Girls reunion is now busy sending out invitations to all former residents.

The heavy west winds for the past two days have lowered the water at the lake almost two feet and large rocks and bars that have not been seen for years are quite conspicuous just now.

AN ANGLER'S PARADISE.

Two hundred miles north of Toronto and one hundred and seventy miles west of Ottawa, is situated Algonquin Park, where the fishing this year is better than it has been for some time. Great catches are being made—black bass running three and four pounds, speckled trout three pounds, and salmon trout up to twenty-five pounds. This park is ideal for the camper and canoe cruiser, and good hotel accommodation makes it the popular spot for the summer vacationist, who does not like to rough it. ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

NANCY AND NICK FIND CHOCOLATE ROOSTER

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

A Chocolate Rooster came out of a coop made of sugar cookies.

"HELLO," said a voice when Nancy and Nick and the Magical Mushroom had landed in the middle of the Tinky-Winkel Star. "Who are you and what do you want?"

"We're after Flap-Doodle, the purple fairy, who flies with his ears," said Nancy. "He stole the Fairy Queen's wand."

"Oh, ho!" answered the voice. "Well, he never told me a word about it!" And a Chocolate Rooster came out of a coop made of sugar cookies, with a saucy strut.

"Oh, do you know him?" asked Nick eagerly.

"Well, I should say!" answered the Rooster. "I'm his lord high councilor. He's the boss of this star, you know. In fact, I'm often mistaken for him, being so handsome and all, only I am orange instead of purple, and my ears are not quite so large and fine as his."

"Orange!" cried Nancy.

"Ears!" cried Nick.

"Certainly!" the Chocolate Rooster assured them with dignity. "All Tinky-Winklers are orange-colored and have big ears to fly with. Are you blind, my dears?"

"No, but we think you are," Nancy couldn't help saying. "You're not orange, you're brown, and you've no ears at all!"

At this the Rooster looked down at himself in astonishment, and no sooner had his eyes spied his chocolate feathers than he let out a screech like a fire-whistle and a foghorn rolled into one.

"Oh!" he screamed. "This is an outrage. This isn't I! Someone has turned me into this creature. I'm not I at all."

"I know," said Nick. "Flap-Doodle has the Fairy Queen's wand and he has used it on you."

"Sure as you're born," declared the Rooster. "What shall I do?"

NEW NAME COINED FOR MOTOR-BUS OPERATORS

Buffalo Citizens Patronize "Jit-Leggers" in Spite of Prohibitory Court Order.

BUFFALO, Aug. 9.—The police today began enforcement of the supreme court order prohibiting automobiles from operating in competition with the street car lines of the International Railway Company, which is endeavoring to resume operations with non-union men, after being tied-up for six weeks by a strike. Several arrests were made this morning.

The jitney men have formed an organization and intend to make a legal fight for the right to continue business. The six weeks' street car strike and the expedients adopted to handle street traffic have resulted in the coining of new words. Today the operator of a jitney is referred to as a "jit-legger," because such operation is held illegal.

REPORTS PAST YEAR'S ACTIVITY MADE RECORD

Secretary of Canadian Municipal Union Presents Encouraging Review of Work.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9.—Seldom, if ever, has the assistance of the Union of Canadian Municipalities been invoked more extensively, or exercised with greater success than during the past year, according to the report submitted today to the annual convention of that association by A. D. Shibley, secretary-treasurer.

Invitations for the 1923 convention have been received from Halifax, Windsor, Regina and Edmonton, and a selection will be made tomorrow.

Fall Frock Is Mixture of Cape and Panel

HERE is a fall frock from Paris that could not decide whether capes or panels were to be most popular this fall. So it has both.

The back panel folds up over one's shoulders in the most deceptively simple fashion, and is fastened on one shoulder.

This frock is made of velvet combined with satin, and is only one of many fall models of the same materials.

Velvet is expected to be aspecially fashionable this fall and winter.

There is no material made more supple or soft than the genuine French chiffon velvet—one can pull an entire breadth of it through a bracelet without crushing it.

This model was developed in navy blue and black, with bands of embroidery touched with red.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS

3 large cucumbers
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon chopped onion
½ cup chopped cooked meat—any kind except beef
1 cup soft, stale bread crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste
1 teaspoon chopped parsely
Speck of thyme

COOK the onion in the butter, add the meat and cook two or three minutes, then add crumbs and seasonings.

Pare cucumbers and cut in halves lengthwise. Remove seeds.

Divide stuffing in six portions, and stuff each cucumber. Place in a baking dish, add one cup water, and bake until cucumbers are soft.

Radio Radiations

MOTORISTS! Detect the speed cop. By radio.

No less an authority than Marconi suggests the method.

It really can be done. Besides, it is very interesting, for it brings to the general attention a problem with which aviators have been wrestling a long time.

The ignition system of any gasoline engine acts as a radio transmitter.

The length of the wave which a car or motorcycle sends out differs with each make of car, for the wiring and the capacities of the circuits are seldom the same for any two makes of engine.

In connection with his radio work at very short wave lengths—one to fifteen meters — Marconi says that passing motor cars caused great trouble and interference during the experiments. Unfortunately for him the apparatus had been set up at the expense of considerable time and trouble near a main highway. When all the equipment had been put into operation, it was discovered that each time a motor-driven vehicle came within a half mile of the station, all experimenting had to stop.

Individual Signals.

Before long, the operators learned to tell the make of the car long before seeing it.

The "call" of the motorcycle cop was particularly easy to discern.

Even with sensitive receiving outfits built to tune in on much longer waves, the presence of a motor vehicle near the antenna is easily perceptible.

Where radio outfits had been installed on airplanes, great difficulty was found in overcoming the interference caused by the ignition system on the plane. This was finally accomplished by carrying all wires within copper tubes which were grounded to the frame of the machine wherever possible.

If radio equipment is to be installed on autos, motorboats, gas-driven vessels, and the set used while the engine is running, the same expedient will have to be resorted to.

Tip to Cops.

In most cases, the "armored" cable which is on the market will serve the purpose.

And therein lies a way out—for the motorcycle cops.

By shielding the wiring of their machines they could prevent detection.

But the odds are still on the motorist.

If he's a good radio fan and has a keen ear, he'll be able to sense his Nemisis half a mile away!

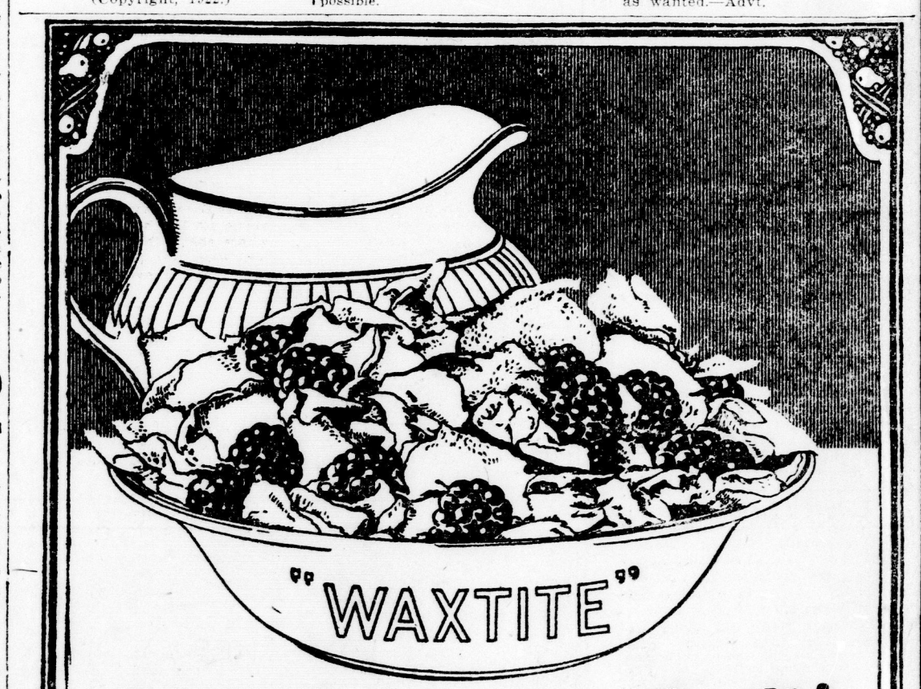

RADIO PRIMER.

Coefficient of Coupling—The ratio of the mutual inductance of two circuits to the square ro of the product of their self-inductances. The coupling is thus spoken of as a 5 or 10 per cent coupling or more. It is generally called weak when below 5 per cent, and strong or closed when more than 10 per cent.

For New Styles and Pretty Arms

(Beauty Notes).

Women are fast learning the value of the use of delatone for removing hair or fuzz from face, neck or arms. A paste is made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on the hairy surface. In 2 or 3 minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every bit of hair has disappeared. No failure will result if you are careful to buy genuine delatone and mix fresh as wanted.—Advt.

BASEBALL and LATE SPORTING NEWS

LONDON OUSTS FLINTERS FROM OFF SECOND RUNG

Coogans Hero of Series As He Iron-Man's Out Double-Barrelled Win Over Vehics.

BILL COOGAN iron-manned out two victories over Flint yesterday afternoon over the river, winning the first, 6—3, and the last, 3—2, and making a clean sweep of the four-game series with the Powell clansmen. This double-barrelled win gives London a grip on the second rung of the Mint League ladder, Bay City having lost as well.

Coogan gave nimself a real boost in the fans' good opinions, and there must have been many of the customers doing mental somersaults as they watched the placid Bill turn in one of the best exhibitions of the season. He allowed the Flinters but one hit during the abbreviated affair, Young's double in the second, which scored a run for the visitors. This was one of the snappiest actions seen here this season, and the seventh frame was so full of thrills that the patrons practically saw three games for the one price of admission.

Nearly Booted Away.

With the score tied 1—1, the Londoners nearly booted their chances away in the last inning of the short-ened-up pastime. Butler dropped Brown's liner, Luce sacrificed and Bodecker whiffed. Wotell claimed he was hit and went to first, and this to upset Will that he walked Young, filling the runways. In this delicate situation Richardson saw fit to fumble Monty's hard smash down at second, and Flint was ahead one run.

The Londoners went into their half with hunch to their shoulders. Buck Boyle disgustedly lifted a high pop as his starting contribution. Richardson, full of a desire to make amends, biffed a hard one down, which went as a hit, Morehart making a wild throw over first, and the London shortstopper continuing to second. Schelberg was all ready to ascend except for warm leather flying clothes when he walked Coogan. He was immediately routed to the showers by Skipper Powell, and Jackson, who hurled a fine game on the holiday morning, stepped into the breach. The gap widened when he walked Stimpson. Butler laid down a perfect bunt, Richardson scoring, and Butler himself was over first base, but he was called out. Malmquest furnished the final punch, a two-bagger to left field, Coogan ambling in with the winning tally.

Lost Bid.

The Londoners had made a big bid for the game in the sixth, Butler walking and stealing second, and Mackey being purposely passed with two gone. The dope happened to be right this time, as Lefty Carmen grounded out.

After Wotell was safe on a choice in the second and had stolen second, Young's double scored him to start the tallying of the last fixture. Malmquest's single, Blake's sacrifice and Mackey's hit to left tied it up in the fourth.

Opportune hitting tells the story of the opening contest, though two runs the Tecs achieved in the sixth were the result of Bodecker's wild throw to first, which permitted Malmquest, who had walked, to score, and put Blake on third, in position to score on Carmen's sacrifice fly to centre field.

Prior to this the Tecs had jumped into the lead in the second frame, Mackey and Richardson being on and two gone. Coogan's double to centre scored both runners, Coogan getting caught at third.

Stimpson's double, Butler's sacrifice and Malmquest's sacrifice fly clicked off another London tally in the third, and then the Flinters came through with one, Brown's double and Luce's single turning the trick.

The Londoners added another on top of their two gathered in the sixth, Stimpson singling through the box, and being tallied in by Butler's single to left.

A walk, fielder's choice and single arranged for a Flint rally. Bodecker came through with another single to left, scoring Wotell. Morehart lifted a high pop behind third which Richardson dropped, Young scoring, but Richardson pegged to third in time to cut off Bodecker for the third out.

IS IT PRIZE FIGHT.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 9. — Whether holding of the proposed heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan at Michigan City, Ind., will be permitted, probably will be determined after an interpretation is placed on the Indiana boxing law, by the attorney-general of Indiana, it was learned today. If the attorney-general finds the contest constitutes a prize fight it will be prohibited, Governor McCray announced, stating that the Indiana law permits boxing contests but prohibits prize fights.

LEE WORTHY WINS $11,000 STAKE

Forced To Step Supposed Fastest Quarter by Peter Earl.

NORTH RANDALL, Cleveland, O., Aug. 9.—Setting his own pace, Lee Worthy, the unbeaten son of Lee Axworthy, won the $11,000 champion stallion stage, one of the richest 3-year-old GrandCircuit features of the season, in straight heats, at North Randall today, and in doing so broke three records, one of which is said to be a world's record.

Lee Worthy was driven by Ben White of Cleveland, who teamed him to victory in the matron stakes at Toledo last week in the fastest heat trotted by a three-year old this year. This time, 2:05½, was lowered by half a second in the first heat today. In trotting that mile in 2:05, Lee Worthy also clipped a second off the stake record. He trotted the last half in 1:00¾, and the last quarter in :29¾.

In the second heat Peter Earl challenged Lee Worthy in the stretch and forced him to step the last quarter in 28½ seconds, said to be the fastest last quarter ever trotted by a 3-year-old. In this mile Peter Earl was just nosed out. Lee Worthy was coupled with Lee Wynolot, and faced the starter a heavy favorite.

Playground "Dads" Meet in Game Tonight.

SOME time ago the fathers in the vicinity of Tecumseh playgrounds issued a defi to any of the other playgrounds "dads," and it brought a response from the Bottrill area.

The game will be played at the Tecumseh grounds tonight, and it promises to be the biggest playground event of the season. Jim McCormick and many other veterans will be found on the Bottrill lineup, and there is a rumor of a revival of the famous West London Greys in the team which will represent the West Londoners.

Everything's ready but moving the fences back for the game, and both teams will have a loyal following to cheer them on.

Bowlers played later last season than they had for a good many years, but it looks as if most of the competitions will be cleaned up early this season. There are still a good many games of the "Big Three" League to be played and a play-off for the championship between the Big Three and the league comprising Lambeth and Thamesford, etc., will probably be arranged.

The civic holiday draw of the St. Matthews club, which was postponed, will be held Saturday afternoon, with the draw (open) to be held at 2:15.

The Mintee Trophy competition entries will number more on Monday than they did on the holiday, according to the prospects at the present time. Entries close Saturday night.

Behan allowed the visitors only two hits in the second game, Tomlin, late of Buffalo, pitched the second game while hit hard, was given perfect support. MEET POSTPONED.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 9.—The Oxford athletic games which were to have been staged here on Monday and which had to be postponed on account of the opposition of the weatherman, will be held at Agriculture Park on Wednesday, Aug. 23.

SALADNA IRON MAN.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 9.—Big John Saladna "iron-manned" successfully today, the Brants winning both ends of a double-header with Saginaw. The first game was won by a fluke homer by Dawson, a hit which bounced over the short left field fence, after Reilly had hit successfully in the first inning, the Brants winning 2 to 1.

In the second game Saladna fielded his position badly, and would have lost the game had it not been for Schreiber's wildness and Lalonge's timely hit to the outfield with two down, the homesters winning 5 to 4.

Aussies Confident of Winning Their Semi-Final Davis Cup Games

J. O. ANDERSON.

GERALD PATTERSON.

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The Australasian and French Davis Cup lawn tennis teams practiced on the Chestnut Hill courts of the Longwood Cricket Club today in preparation for their semi-final contest there on the last three days of this week. Of the Australasians Pat O'Hara Wood was still suffering from neuritis, but his condition was improved, and he said he would be able to play in the doubles on Friday if he should be selected for the team. James O. Anderson was slowed up by a heavy cold, and Gerald L. Patterson said he was not yet at top form, but that he was satisfied with his condition. Patterson displayed some hard stroking, while Anderson was exchanging shots with Wood.

The French players arrived late, but in time for some good warming-up play with each other, and with Longwood Club players and Sam Hardy, captain of last year's United States Davis Cup team. There was still some doubt whether Jean Borotra would play, with indications that Andre R. Gobert and Henri Cochet would carry the burden for the French in both singles and doubles.

WILLS READY FOR DEMPSEY AT ANY TIME

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—"My visit here brings me back to familiar scenes," said Harry Wills, the most serious contender for Dempsey's heavyweight world championship crown today.

"I used to be an exercise boy there," pointing to a big picture of Bluebonnets racetrack on the wall of the sporting department.

"I used to work for McLaughlin and for Lucky Baldwin's daughter."

When told that the New York papers were speaking of an open air match between himself and Dempsey in October next, and when he was asked if he could be ready by that time, Wills said: "Sure, I am always ready. I keep in trim constantly, if it is not with one thing it is with another.

"What about 'Tut' Jackson's claim that he will beat you when he meets you?"

"Oh, they all say that," he answered smilingly, "but I do not think he will."

L. and D. F. A. Denies Transfers To Maple Leafs ● London O. B. A. Winner Will Draw St. Thoma

THREATEN APPEAL TO O. F. A. COUNCIL

Injured Players' Cup Draw Is Still in Abeyance.

Denied the right to approach players of the St. Andrew's club by the London and District Council last night, the Maple Leaf officials intend carrying their case to the O. F. A.

St. Andrews had protested against the transfer of their players, and the council upheld them, in view of the fact that the L. and D. constitution distinctly states that no transfers shall be made after Aug. 1. While the players asked for from St. Andrews were the only ones dealt with, the same rule will, of course, apply to all registered players in the L. and D. F. A.

The matter caused a long discussion, during which it was brought out that some of the players must have been approached before their transfer was formally applied for, as they were named as officials of the new club.

The resignation of Mr. Hodkinson from the council was accepted, and an appointment to the vacancy will probably be made at the next council meeting.

The meeting was so long drawn out that the draw for the Injured Players' Cup was again laid over.

OTTAWA RIFLEMEN LEAD O. R. A. SHOOT

MINT Patter

The Tecs entertain the Port Huron-Sarnia Saints commencing today and continuing for the rest of the week.

* * *

The Flinters ought to be peeved enough by this time to go into Hamilton with deep burning desire for wins. They might just be the team to turn the trick and keep the Hams stationary long enough for the Tecs to catch up.

* * *

It was rumored yesterday that Bill Moore had been benched for a couple of days, but later it was discovered he was down at the lakeside judging a baby show.

* * *

The chances of Jack Schaefer getting back into the game before the season ends are very slight, according to the latest reports. Schaefer, in the ordinary course of events, couldn't have been overlooked this year by higher company, and there is general sympathy around the circuit for the London outfielder, except amongst the hurlers.

* * *

One exceptionally strong hitter on a club has as much moral effect on his own clubmates as he has a demoralizing effect on the opposition, and Schaefer's absence is making the Tecs hitting rather light. Mackey, of course, is still here, but one of them isn't enough.

* * *

Now the Hams are home, the home-run average of the league is going up every day.

* * *

The Hams are likely to lose Tomlin and probably Weinike. The Bison prexy wants to call them back and the club officials are trying to fight it off.

* * *

The fact that Bodecker wasn't in right field to start the third innings wasn't bravado on the part of the Flinters that they could beat London with eight men. Nobody noticed the outfielder's absence except a small fan in the right bleachers.

* * *

Mackey had a chance to stop the threatened debacle in the seventh of the second game yesterday when a caught foul would have retired the side with the damage done. The foul was a high one and about as vertical as they go into a deep blue sky, always deceptive to the players.

* * *

Besides the stirring rally of the Londoners in the seventh of the second game, the bleachers in right field took fire and the Flint water pail had to be brought into action.

GRIMES OF DODGERS OUT FOR INSUBORDINATION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. — Burleigh Grimes, Brooklyn National League pitcher, today was fined $200 and indefinitely suspended by the club for insubordination to Manager Wilbert Robinson during the game with Cincinnati at Brooklyn last Sunday.

When Grimes was taken from the game because of the Reds' heavy hitting, he slammed the ball against the wire screen back of home plate and then argued vehemently with Robinson in the players' dugout.

WINGHAM EXTENDED TO WIN

New Hamburg Loses, 8 to 6, and Play Return Friday.

NEW HAMBURG, Aug. 9. — A scheduled game in the North Wellington Baseball League was played here today between New Hamburg and Wingham, both winners of their respective groups.

The game resulted in a victory for Wingham by a score of 8 to 6. Wingham, who were expected to be rather hard for the locals, had to extend themselves to the very limit, and the exhibition was splendid. Garner pitched for Wingham, while Arnott did the twirling for New Hamburg. Wingham hit hard in the pinches and deserved to win. The return game will be played in Wingham Friday, Aug. 11, and should be a real battle.

ST. ANDREWS BEAT W. O. R.

St. Andrews beat W. O. R. in a St. Thomas League fixture at Springbank last night by the score of 2—1.

Game started at 6:30 prompt. Saints won the toss and W. O. R. kicked off. Saints early started in and pressed the W. O. R. defense, but nothing happened. Play was equal for a while, but the Scots, although crippled, were having quite the best of the play, and D. Smith scored with a grand shot.

From the kickoff the W. O. R. forced play, and tried hard to equalize, which they eventually did, Ridley scoring a beauty, and giving Adamson no chance.

The second half started with a rush, and the Saints, through superior combination, kept the W. O. R. defense busy. From a scrimmage around the W. O. R. goal Macfarlan of Saints was fouled by Herring of W. O. R. inside the penalty area. Croll took the kick and scored for the Saints. After this W. O. R. tested the Saints defense hard, but Adamson and co. refused to be beaten. At this period of the game W. O. R. were awarded a penalty. Taylor took the kick, but Adamson saved well, and on a scrimmage W. O. R. were again awarded another penalty, which Adamson again saved.

The lineups:

St. Andrews.	W. O. R.
Adamson	Goal	Nudds
Wilson	R. back	Ashton
Croll	L. back	Dennis
H. Johnston	R. half	Herring
J. Whitelaw	C. half	Croots
D. Smith	L. half	Short
Mackintosh	O. right	Taylor
Morgan	I. right	Turner
Robertson	Center	Ridley
Macfarlan	I. left	Perkins

REJECT FRENCH PROPOSALS AT ALLIES' PARLEY

Economic Experts Brand Ruhr Mines Control As Useless and Undesirable.

PREMIERS MEET FRIDAY

May Discuss New Plans If Lloyd George Makes Further Suggestions.

LONDON, England, Aug. 9.—The allied premiers will not meet tomorrow to discuss German reparations. They will gather again on Friday, but whether only for the purpose of adjourning and arranging for a further meeting later, or to discuss a new plan will probably depend on the meeting of the British cabinet council tomorrow, and whatever new proposals Mr. Lloyd George may have to offer.

The plan of M. Poincare, the French premier, submitted on Monday, which was referred to the experts to determine whether it would result in "productive guarantees" has been rejected by the finance ministers, who agreed, with the exception of the French minister, that it would not be "productive of hard cash."

Oppose French Proposals.

The report of the experts committee opposed all the French proposals by a majority of four to one. The Belgians, however, supported the French plan of allied control of state-owned mines in the Rhur region. A majority of the experts branded this proposal as "useless, except as a sanction." The suggested establishment of customs lines between the occupied area and the rest of Germany and around the Ruhr region was rejected as undesirable. As recounted by the British spokesman the majority of the experts held that no real moratorium would be afforded by remitting the present forms of payment if equally onerous obligations were placed upon Germany.

The view of all, except the French delegate, was that if any guarantees of this nature were to be taken it would be simpler to take over the present customs arrangement at the German frontier, than to divide Germany by fresh customs barriers.

Decline Factory Plan.

The proposal to seize 60 per cent interest in factories, especially the dye works on the left bank of the Rhine, also was declined on the ground that this could be done only by compelling the German government to buy out the present proprietors, which would involve an issue of more paper money, and a further aggravation of the German monetary situation.

On this, the third day, the conference seemed to be on the shoals. The prevalent belief was that it was not likely to survive the present week. The apparently irreconcilable views on the proposals which have been made, mainly by the French, for consideration by the expert committee, have led most of those connected with the conference to admit that a situation of extreme gravity has arisen.

So serious is this situation that Mr. Lloyd George was impelled to convene a meeting of his cabinet for tomorrow afternoon, although the bringing together of the ministers will prove of considerable inconvenience, as owing to the parliamentary vacation, they are widely dispersed. M. Poincare also was busy today consulting by telephone and telegraph his ministers in Paris and President Millerand.

Neither in the work of the conference itself, nor in the informal conversations among the principal delegates outside, has there been any approach to an agreement.

Although the Belgian delegates have been tireless in trying to reconcile the conflicting views between the British and French statesmen, there appears to be a fundamental difference between the British and French conceptions of the principle of "control" to be applied to German finances.

While the British government by no means insists on an unconditional moratorium to Germany, it is pointed out on the part of the British delegates that the plan of stopping payments here that payments may be started if Germany fails to fulfill the British definition of a moratorium.

The feeling in the French delegation late tonight was that the strain between themselves and the British government had been somewhat relaxed, and that a common formula might yet be found for an agreement. M. Poincare and Mr. Lloyd George have an appointment for a meeting immediately after the British cabinet council tomorrow.

Premiers Differ.

The two prime ministers are apart both in principle and in their convictions of what they believe to be the real facts of Germany's economic strength. The British position, as explained by Mr. Lloyd George to M. Poincare today, is said to be something like this:

Germany is unable to pay; she is ruined, and an effort to squeeze large sums from her would merely add to her difficulties, without profiting the Allies, and besides, would delay the economic reconstruction of Europe. Germany, it was contended, must have leave to suspend payments without having hampering conditions imposed upon her. The French viewpoint succinctly is that Germany still is able to pay a great deal, but that, partly by design and partly by circumstances, she has assumed an appearance of weakness, which, in fact, does not exist. The French propose to give Germany a brief moratorium to see if she is willing to promote reform in her official finance and currency, and apply productive measures which would yield the means to pay the reparations.

Mr. Lloyd George first suggested a moratorium until the end of 1923, but later modified this to the end of 1922. The belief of M. Poincare is that a moratorium to the end of September would suffice.

LONDON KI-Y BOYS END CAMP OUTING

Kiwanian Spirit Exemplified by Good Time Given to Youngsters.

The Ki-Y camp held at Sage's Farm during the last three weeks came to a close Tuesday night. During the period from July 17 to August 8, there were 140 registrations; the largest number in camp at one time was 125.

TThTe expense of the camp for The expense of the camp for all the boys, save twelve from St. Thomas and eight London boys, was borne by the London Kiwanis Club. The Y. M. C. A. supplied the camp leadership nad part of the equipment. The 27 tents, blankets and ground sheets were generously loaned by the military through its headquarters in London.

Approximately 625 different visitors were in camp, the majority of whom were the Kiwanians and their families.

The camp spirit was excellent, considering the variety of boy life and the fact that 44 of the campers came from S. Thomas and Shawbridge, Quebec.

The program was of a high moral, physical and devotional character — the boys were kept busy from 7 in the morning until 9:30 at night with a varied program, consisting of such things as marksmanship, under the leadership of E. E. Murtagh and Henry Nichols. There was also an early morning devotional period and excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. Wilfrid Gaetz of St. Thomas, Rev. Roy Henderson, Dr. Wallace Crawford and Rev. F. Reycraft.

General King loaned Sergt.-Major J. Kay and Pte. Dorie for Red Cross and first aid classes, Sergt. Hammon for drill work, Corp. Battle for signalling and Corp. Bryson in charge of the dining hall. These men all assisted greatly with the camp discipline.

Practical lectures were given to the boys by General King, Hugh Murray, Fred Lawrason, Owen Dawson, Dr. Wallace Crawford, W. E. Saunders, Tom Faust, Prof. Dearness, and others. Ronald Foote had the Y. M. C. A. radio set working daily.

During the last week the Shawbridge Farm Boys' Band played daily. Their discipline was a wonderful example for the younger boys. Sports were enjoyed daily under the leadership of Arthur Horwood. Major Lawless assisted in the running off of the aquatic meet, and gave practical demonstrations of his skill in the water.

Stanley Howard of the London Y. M. C. A. gave his nights and weekends to the boys acting as assistant camp director. He was beloved by all the campers for his painstaking efforts to keep everyone happy and contented.

The results of the camp activities could be further summed up by the following prize lists:

The daily efficiency competition for the best tents and tables, on time at parades, etc., was won by tent No. 2, under the leadership of Ronald Foote, with 379 points out of a possible 500. Tent No. 6 came second, with 362. Mr. Fred Lawrason presented a $5 bank account to the winners, Paddy Haines, Walter Jacobs, John Smith, Ernest and Arthur Cronkwright and Harold Horner, and half that amount to Harry Whitworth and Ronald Foote. The third prize went to tent No. 5—Vern Sullivan, Willie Brackstone, Walter Whitlock, Ira Minor and Walter Howarth.

The best boy camper, admitted by all, was George (Curly) Kinsman, of St. Thomas, who received a Kiwanis shield.

The camp checker tournament championships were won by Louis Darnell, senior, and Ernest Shores, junior.

Rifle marksmanship, Winchester competition — Gold Medal—1 Bob Frith, 2 Vern Sullivan, 3 Norman Haines.

The child was rushed to the General Hospital here, but died on the operating table from loss of blood.

CROWN COUNSEL RAPS MACAROW

Justifies Panic of "Captain" Because "Pilot" Brought "Ship On Rocks."

Prosecutor Wilson Sharply Answers Interruptions by Defense Lawyer.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—"If the captain was panic-stricken I cannot entirely blame him, because the pilot had brought the ship upon the reef and rocks."

In this sentence Crown Prosecutor Wilson replied to the criticism of heads of the Merchants Bank uttered by N. K. Laflamme, senior counsel for the defense, in his summing up of the evidence in the case against D. C. Macarow, charged with making false statements in the October, 1921, return to the government of the Merchants Bank of Canada, of which he was then general manager.

Mr. Wilson's argument was repeatedly interrupted this afternoon by criticism of his points made by Mr. Laflamme.

He endeavored to prove that D. C. Macarow had, in fact, made false statements in the return. He claimed this was demonstrated by the fact that there was a hidden reserve, of which the general manager was cognizant, and of which no mention was made in the return to the minister of finance.

This hidden reserve was emptied by appropriations for bad debts amounting to $6,846,000, said Mr. Wilson. He added that the general manager approved these figures of six million dollars in April, and agreed to draw from the hidden reserve to make them good.

Alleges Deception.

The crown prosecutor advanced the argument that if the reports of George Edwards, the Toronto expert, and H. B. MacKenzie, the expert called in by Sir Montagu Allan, practically agreed that the reserve was impaired by $8,000,000, their conclusions having been drawn from examination of the books of the bank and not contradicted by the defense, therefore Mr. Wilson urged that the court must come to the conclusion that "the return for October was false and deceptive, whether the accused knew it or not. If he knew it he made the report wilfully; if he did not know it he signed it negligently."

Mr. Wilson then touched on the subject of bank premises, and claimed that the transaction of selling the bank premises was for the purpose of covering up the Thornton, Davidson and the Ladies' Exclusive Wear losses, and that the October return of the bank was further false in this respect.

Charges Carelessness.

In connection with loans to officers of the bank, Mr. Wilson declared that amounts aggregating $2,000,000 "had been advanced so carelessly and with so little guarantee that when Mr. MacKenzie examined this he made a report, and suggested an appropriation on loans to officers of at least $120,000 a year for several years to come." For this he claimed that Mr. Macarow was responsible.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wilson's argument Mr. Creelman rose to address the court, which then adjourned until tomorrow.

BELIEVE C. N. R.'S OFFICIALS CHOSEN

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—(By the Canadian Press) — When the cabinet council meets tomorrow it is expected that one of the matters coming up will be the final decision in the matter of choosing the chairman and members of the board of management of the Canadian National Railways. Anouncements as to the personal of the board are expected by the end of this week or early next week.

Political observers here see in Premier King's speech at Leamington support of the view that a railway man from the United States would be chosen. The names of the men likely to form the board are understood to have been decided upon.

EXONERATES RAILWAY IN DEATH OF SIMCOE MAN

Jury Finds "Abraham Sherman Did Not Employ Proper Precautions Approaching Tracks."

SIMCOE, Aug. 9.—At the inquest held at Tyrell last night to investigate the cause of death of Abraham Sherman at the Renton Wabash crossing on August 4, the coroner's jury returned the following verdict: "That Abraham Sherman came to his death on August 4, at 10:30 a.m., being struck by Wabash passenger train No. 3, at the Wabash level crossing, Renton, through no fault of railway employees, but due to the fact that the crossing is a very dangerous one, and that deceased did not employ proper precautions in approaching the tracks."

CHICKEN THIEVES ACTIVE IN BRANTFORD DISTRICT

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 9.—High County Constable Fred Kerr announced this morning that he was going to confine his efforts in bringing to justice of chicken thieves who have been operating on a large scale just outside the city limits.

Constable Kerr stated that he had had a number of complaints of the thieving, and that great loss had been sustained by farmers in the immediate vicinity of the city on account of the activities of the thieves.

TWENTY DAYS HAVE elapsed since a case of scarlet fever or diphtheria has been reported in London, according to Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health. Aside from a few cases of whooping cough and measles, the city is practically free of communicable diseases, according to Dr. Downham.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

CORN PRICES DROP ON CITY MARKET

Commodity Sells at 22 Cents Dozen On Local Square.

Many lines of vegetables were lower in price on the local market on Thursday morning, and abundance of nearly every kind being offered.

Tomatoes were in good demand at 60@70c for a 15-lb basket. There is a good crop of tomatoes this year, and the quality has been good.

Corn is being offered in large quantities, and some dealers are having difficulty in selling it. It is selling wholesale at 15@20c per dozen, and retails at 20@22c, although some are asking 25c.

The demand for cauliflowers at 10@25c each and $1@2 per dozen was fair.

Cabbages are finding a slow market at 50@60c per dozen.

Potatoes were more plentiful, with prices steady at 80c@$1 per bushel.

A small quantity of raspberries were offered, but the demand was slow. They brought 20c wholesale and 22c retail.

Plums are plentiful and the competition is keen. The average price for the 11-quart basket is 40c.

Peaches are fairly steady at 60c for the 6-quart basket and 90c for the 11-quart size.

Only three loads of hay were brought to the city, and the price advanced to as high as $13.50 per ton.

A shipment of live hogs dropped a little, selling at $12 per ct.

Dressed hogs were down to $17 per cwt.

DELAY MINERS' PARLEY AGAIN

Negotiators Grant More Time For Illinois Operators To Take Stand.

Union Leaders Virtually Decide To Proceed With Conference.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 9.—For a second time the joint interstate conference of coal miners and operators delayed action today to permit the hold-out Illinois operators to decide whether they would participate in negotiations that may end the soft coal strike.

Adjournment was taken until tomorrow, though virtual decision had been made by union leaders to negotiate a contract with the operators already enrolled in the conference, and who control only part of the production of the central competitive field.

HOPE PEACE NEAR.

MARION, Ill., Aug. 9.—Hopeful that the conference of operators and miners at Cleveland would quickly effect a settlement of the coal strike, a number of coal operators in Southern Illinois today began setting their collieries in order to begin resumption of coal production.

Preparations were being made by virtually all operators in Southern Illinois and several hundred company men have begun work clearing the entries of the mines, inspecting the air courses, and attempting to detect gas pockets.

WILL NOT ACCEPT OFFER.

CALGARY, Aug. 9.—That the last offer of the coal operators would not be accepted by the miners' officials was the statement today of Robert Peacock, secretary of the United Mine Workers in district 18. This official stated that they were not prepared to depart from their offer of a reduction of 15 per cent on old agreement rates. They also objected to the elimination of the closed shop principle.

ALL WELSH COAL BOOKED.

Cardiff, Aug. 9.—The American demand for coal, in consequence of the miners' strike in the United States and Canada continues unabated. Orders for an additional 500,000 tons have been received in the last few days, making a total of 1,500,000 tons for delivery in August and September. There is a keen demand for anthracite, but aside from the supply being limited, all the available hard coal is already booked, and the American orders cannot be filled, although some of the applicants have expressed their willingness to pay seventy shillings a ton.

WOULD SIMPLIFY DRESS OF PUPILS

Stratford Council of Women To Discuss Varied List of Reforms.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, Aug. 9.—At the next meeting of the Local Council of Women several important suggestions, which have already received the attention of the executive of the council, will be brought before the members.

Among them are: The advisability of arousing public sentiment to the need of greater simplicity of dress among the high school girls, the ringing of the curfew bell, the establishment of a day nursery for the care of children whose mothers are forced to work out during the day, and the establishment of a down town restroom.

Asked for an expression of opinion on the first question, that of dress for high school girls, Mrs. Irwin, president of the Local Council of Women, replied that this might be viewed from several angles.

"When the question was first brought before the executive, the idea in mind was to see if some steps could be taken to have a more uniform dress for high school girls," said Mrs. Irwin, who suggested a middy and skirt by way of illustration.

The "keeping up with the Jonses" idea among school children as regards dress, was one important reason in favor of such a move. Parents are thus forced to meet the views of the children or the latter are discontented.

Asked if this question would be put to the board of education as a recommendation, Mrs. Irwin stated that it would depend upon the action of the whole council. She expressed the opinion that the board of education could not enforce any such ordinance in the schools, but might use its influence to have the style of dress in vogue simplified.

INSTALL POLICE SWITCHBOARD AT BRANTFORD

Officers On Beats Now Have Direct Connection With Station.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 9.—The new telephone system was put in operation at the police station yesterday afternoon and is reported to be very satisfactory. A switchboard has been installed at the station, and under the new system the officers of the beats phone directly to the station and not through the general exchange as formerly.

With the installation of the new system the number of the police station has been changed. From now on the station will be phoned by calling 123 instead of 279. The number 123 for the police station is in compliance with the universal system.

More and more the numbers of the stations have been changed to this number all over the country so that strangers in the various cities can call the police station with the number of their home police department.

Will Raze Only Shrine of Moslem Faith Located in Western World

DETROIT, Aug. 9.—Highland Park is to lose its Moslem mosque, the only shrine of the Islamic faith in North America. Constructed a year ago at 204 Victor avenue, by Muhahhad Karoub, a wealthy and devout Moslem real estate man, the mosque has stood as the only outward symbol of Islam in the western world.

Dissension in the ranks of the followers of the prophet here, and lack of interest on the part of most of them in the mosque services, are the reasons assigned for the failure to draw gatherings of the faithful. Mr. Karoub proposes to raze the edifice and dispose of the real estate.

His decision is based on the fact that he spent approximately $55,000 in its construction; and since its dedication it seldom has been used for religious worship.

Mr. Karoub came to Detroit several years ago, a penniless immigrant from Arabia, and by labor in an automobile factory, and judicious investments in real estate, acquired sufficient property to render him independent.

His next ambition was to further the cause of Islam in North and South America. He had an architect draw plans for the mosque, which was completed and dedicated June 7, 1921, with elaborate ceremonies conducted by Mufti Muhammad Sadiq, Moslem missionary from India, and two Detroit Moslem sheiks, Khaleel Bizzy and Hassan Karoub, a brother of the builder of the mosque.

At his own expense, Mr. Karoub brought to Detroit Mufti Sadiq, missionary of the Ahmadia movement, who came from India to win converts to what he professed to be an advanced and reformed movement in Islam.

JERSEY OWNERS ORGANIZE CLUB

Elgin County Farmers Display Keen Interest in New Association.

Will Hold First Annual Picnic At St. Thomas On Friday.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 9.—The largest Jersey cattle breeding association in Canada has been formed in Elgin, and will be known as the Elgin County Purebred Jersey Heifer Club.

Its formation is largely due to the efforts of W. E. Ashton of Waterloo, Quebec, field representative of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, and F. B. Holtby of this city, who is the founder of the Junior Boys' and Girls' Calf Club.

The new club will exert a strong influence in the improvement of the breed in the county and surrounding territory.

Interest has been very keen in the county for an association of this nature, and Mr. Ashton is gratified at the enthusiasm displayed. A careful examination of the herds has been made and selections have been chosen for distribution.

In order to promote the club and discuss plans vital to the successful culmination of the newly-formed organization the first annual picnic will be staged at Pinafore Park Friday afternoon of this week. Over 40 heifers will be distributed, the distribution to be made by drawing numbers. In this way the various purebred cattle will be spread among the farmers of the county, thus increasing the standard of these animals for breeding and marketing purposes.
