OUR BOOK LIST

We purpose giving, from week to week, during the remainder of the year, a brief but concise notice of books which are on sale in the Book Room. Students and general readers, disposed to prepare for themselves good winter reading, will do well to follow the information thus to be afforded. It will be remembered that a discount is allowed to Teachers, Students, Ministers and Sabbath-schools.

The History of the French Revolution, by M. A. Thiers. Translated from the last Paris edition, with Notes. Price $1.80. This book, of 1000 pages, with full index, is one of the marvels of cheap literature. Thiers ranks high as an historian. His work covers the ground of that extraordinary Revolution in which Benaparte was the chief agent. Allison has written with rare genius on the same theme; but Thiers treats the Revolution from a Frenchman's brother, and the other the companion point of view. To the student of History in sin of the oldest brother. This unthis is an invaluable work.

The Spectator, complete in 1 volume. Price $1.80. This book contains 900 pages, ed with the parties; and she died within ITEMS FROM THE NEW YORK double columns. It is a reprint of a miscellany which appeared in 1711, the most popular and elegant work of the kind in English literature. Addison, the principal writer of the miscellany, had the reputation of being the most finished in style, the most delicate in English sentiment, and modest in wit, of any who had appeared up to that time. "Whoever wishes" says Dr. Johnson "to attain an English style, familiar but not coarse, and elegant but not ostentations, must give his days and nights to the volumes of Addison.

Selections from Macaulay. Price $1.75. This work has 500 pages, good type and paper, containing the principal historical scenes, portraits and sketches, with the best literary criticism, poetry and miscellaneous articles, which the great Macaulay has given to the world. Admirers of Macaulay frequently refer to his works for choice pieces of word-painting, or the most powerful of his articles. This work has left the selection complete, dispensing with all need for search. For public speakers, or writers, Macaulay's style is worth a great deal, apart from the immense stores of information conveyed by his writings.

J. Green, A. M. Price $1.75. With maps and tables. Most of condensed English history is occupied with proceedings and characters of English Kings and English conquests. This is emphatically a history of the English People. In 800 pages it covers the periods from 607 to 1873. Critics have given great credit to the audifficult for really guilty ones to escape. thor for the truthfulness and readableness of his book. It is destined to take a high place in literature.

Life of a Scotck Naturalist, by Samuel Smiles. Price $1.50. We scarcely know how to write of this work. Smiles throws amazing interest always into his writings; but here he had a subject of a most remarkable kind. Thomas Edward, from an infant, was one of Nature's own most ardent and enthusiastic admirers. How he be fought out to the bitter end. made the acquaintance of reptiles, birds, insects, animals, fishes,-carrying them to school, to his home, everywhere, till he was expelled and shunned by all schoolteachers and companions; Low he denied himself all comfort in his darling pursuit -sickened, all but died again and again; how he at length was recogzized by the great naturalists, as a benefactor of science-all this Smiles tells, moving the reader to laughter and tears. It is a curious and a most instructive book.

A SAD CASE.

A engthened investigation has been held before a magistrate which resulted in a committal for trial of four distinguished police inspectors and detectives and an attorney, all of whom are accused of defeating the ends of justice and receiving in some cases bribes in reward for their unfaithfulness. JOSEPH COOK'S LECTURES.

This great lecturer has opened his winter's course of Monday lectures in Boston. The course is to contain thirty lectures. If his themes are as well chosen and "as ably handled this year as they were last they will prove of great value to the general thinking public. Mr. Cook is in the prime of manhood, has a stout frame, a large brain, well trained powers, and great confidence. He handles the great questions in a way to interest the average audience as well as the most profound thinkers. Mr. F. DEATH OF "GOOD BULU."

Rev. Joel Bulu, senior native Wesleyan minister at Fiji, and successfully engaged for forty years in mission. ary labors as preacher in that country died May 7. He was universally esteemed, and among those who extended to him the most fraternal sympathy in his sickness was the Governor General of Fiji. His end was grandly triumphant. Among his last words were "All is peace;" "What glorious words are these of the Apostle Paul, 'Who shall separate us from the love of Christ?' etc." "No, No," said he : "nothing shall separate us from the love of Christ! Blessed are they who are Christ's!" "I am Christ's" At the very last he whispered, "I have peace."

It was a novel sight tending to inspire laughter rather than tears, to see seventeen widows fellowing the dead man to the grave, many of them evidently trying hard to look sorry. And it is safe to say that half the Mormons are glad he is dead, he was such an unmitigated tyrant and plunderer of the Church. Doubtless a great many sympathize with the remark made by one of them, who said, on hearing the news of his death: 'Well there will be one less to eat tithing, anyhow. It seems to be a common opinion among the Mormons that not a few of their Church officials get a fat living out of the tithing wrung from the hard earnings of the poor."

His first demonstration of his method in London was at University College Hospital, by invitation of the surgical staff, before an immense audience, Tuesday, July 17, he delivered a clinical lecture at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, at the invitation of Mr. Callender, and the same week he also appeared at the London Hospital, by invitation of Mr. Durham, and "put up" two cases of Pott's disease and one of lateral curvature, before a large number of the profession. The first of the cases of Pott's disease was the daughter of Dr. Goodling, of Cheltenham, and the second a child of eleven, who had never stood, and the worst case, Dr. Savre said, which he had ever seen. In less than half an hour he had the satisfaction of making her walk, which, of course, created much enthusiasm among the audience. On the day following, he "put" up four cases at the Royal Orthopædic Hospital, of which he had previously had photographs takeh.

Dr. Sayre then made a visit to Birmingham, at the request of the branch of the British Medical Association located there, and, by invitation of Mr. West, senior surgeon, gave a demonstration in the amphitheatre of the Queen's Hospital, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. He lectured for one bour, during the course of which the plaster jacket was applied to two cases of Pott's disease, and one of lateral curvature, and at its conclusion Mr. West made a fine address, and d moved a "hearty welcome and thanks to the great American surgeon." The sequel is thus described by an eve witness: "Mr. Furnieux Jordan seconded the motion with such a glowing tribute, and in such fervid eloquence, that Dr. Sayre became completely overcome. He spoke of the millions of human sufferers, heretofore tortured by rack and screw, and even then left miserable and mis-shapen, which would be made easy and comfortable, and restored to perfect health and perfect form. He thanked God that the days of hunchback had passed away, and that the instruments of torture would never again be resorted to. At the conclusion of his remarks there was not a dry eve in the house, and there probably never was such a scene in any medical meeting before. Tears of gratitude got the better of Dr. Sayre's ability to speak. and he broke down completely in his first attempt to respond. In a few min. utes, however, he sufficiently recovered himself to express his appreciation of the sentiments just uttered, and shortly afterward so electrified the audience with his enthusiasm that one would have thought the roof would go off the amphitheatre."

INFANT BAPTISM.

EXTRACTS FROM REV. N. DOANES' BOOK ON THIS SUBJECT. OBJECTIONS MET.

1. It is objected, "There is no Scripture precept-no express command-for baptizing infants; therefore the authority upon which they are baptized is not that of the Scriptures."

In answering the objection, it is admitted that there is in the Scriptures no plain, positive command, in so many words, to give the ordinance to infants; but the inference of "no Scripture authority," which the objector has drawn from the premises, does not follow.

It would be gratifying to be furnished and fortified with a thus saith the Lord," for all that we believe, teach and practice; but in the absence of "express command," legitimate inference, founded upon obvious warrant of Scripture, may indicate the will of God as unmistakably as it is possible for express precept to do it.

No Church waits for express command in all matters of faith or practice; but all classes of Christians proceed upon evidence merely inferential, in matters as important as the administration of the sacraments. We have, for example, nothing like express command for giving either Christian baptism or the Lord's supper to females, and yet no Church withholds these ordinances from this class of its membership. The Church, therefore, that would withhold baptism from infants for want of "express command," would for the same reason, to be consistent, withhold both the sacraments from its female

II. "It can do no good; what good can it do to sprinkle a little water upon the head or in the face of an unconscious babe ?"

It might as properly be asked "what good will it do" to baptize any person in any manner? It is not our business to ask "what good," or how much or how "little good," it will do to administer baptism to any. We are not required to baptize on the ground that we can estimate the good that may come of it, either directly or indirectly. It is sufficient to believe it to be the will of God; and upon this ground, and no other, can we be justified in giving the ordinance either to infants or adults, or in withholding it from either. There can be no doubt as to the benefit or usefulness of the divine institutions, but our opinion of their utility is not the ground on which we are either to receive or administer them. Abraham might not have been able to pronounce upon the good of circumcising his sons, but he did well in complying with what he believed to be the Divine will in placing the sign of the covenant upon them.

III. "Infant baptism takes away the liberty of the child."

Mr. Woolsey, Baptist, author of a treatise on baptism, Bays: "Infant baptism deprives the subject of the rights of private judgment." He descants like a patriot upon the "noble and evangelical sentiments of the framers of the Declaration of American Independence, 'That men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty," etc. He talks of "our parents" having not the right to take "advantage of our infancy," etc.

The whole thing looks like making a man of straw to shoot at. The "liberty of the child," the "right of private judgment," and the "inalienable rights of liberty," are phrases which in their proper connection, indicate an endowment of which none may deprive us without injustice; but in the connection in which Mr. Woolsey has placed them they must mean either, first, "The liberty" of choosing between baptism and no baptism, which is really choosing between religion and no religion, in which case the objection would be equally against all religious teaching of the youthful mind, as the tendency of such teaching is to bias and preposses it in favour of religion, to which no Christian could object; or, second, it must mean "The liberty" of choosing between different modes of baptism.

Now, it is a significant fact, that no class of Christians ob-Tect to infant baptism (unless it be the Quakers) but those who baptize exclusively by immersion; and they, of all people, should be the very last to declaim about the injustice of "depriving the subject of the rights of private judgment" in the matter of baptism. Do they allow the subject or candidate the right of private judgment in choosing a mode of baptism? Far from it! The objection comes with ill grace from such a quarter. The truth is, we may as well object to a parent proposing to instruct, or in any way endeavoring to pre-engage, the faith and affection of the child in favour of any particular system of religious teaching or doctrine, as to object to its baptism. But that it is the duty of all Christian parents to instruct their children, and to train them up, in accordance with their own views of religion, no one will deny, and none are more tenacious of the right than those who urge the objection under consideration.

IV. "Many persons baptized in infancy are dissatisfied with their infant baptism; it should therefore be dispensed

No; few persons, comparatively, are disratisfied with their infant baptism. That the great majority are entirely satisfied with it, it is evident from the fact, in the great majority of the most populous Churches, that the number of infants annually baptised is constantly increasing. The Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1865, baptized 32,891 infants. There was a uniform increase up to 1871, when the number baptized was 54,517, an aggreyate increase in six years of 21,626. Since 1869 the number baptized each year is considerably in excess of 50,000. This is probably a fair sample of the increase in American Pedobaptist Churches. These facts do not indicate much dissatisfaction" with the practice. It is presumed that none would be dissatisfied if they were properly instructed, unless their minds were perplexed and perverted by the selfish intermeddling of proselyters. Efforts have not been wanting in some communities to disturb the mind of some by the suggestion: "In case you are not satisfied with your infant baptism, you can be baptized again."

No practice of the Church has, in these modern days, met with fiercer opposition from certain classes of professed Christians than that of infant baptism, and the reason is obvious. Unless the baptized in infancy can be disturbed in their belief of the evangelical character of the ordinance thus administered, they can never be proselyted.

V. "Faith is required in order to baptism, (Mark xvi. 16,) · He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but infants not exercise faith; they should not, therefore, be baptized."

Faith, in order to baptism, is required of adults only. The impropriety and injustice of applying the rule (requiring faith in order to baptism) to infants, is seen in the fact that if it be thus applied it would as surely debar them from salvation as from baptism; because it is said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned."

We do not believe that infants should not be saved because they cannot believe: why should we believe that infants should not be baptized because they cannot believe? Can a Baptist give an answer to this objection, on the ground of the above question? If (in the light of Mark xvi, 16) not believing be no barrier to an infant's being baptized? "It's a poor rule that won't work both ways." "That which proves too much, proves nothing."

SCRIPTURE WA'RRANT.

Household Baptisms.

- (1.) Acts xvi, 15. " She was bapi'ized, and her houshold." Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, hearing the apostle preach, was converted and baptized. We can find no other believer in that family, and yet "her household was bap-
- (2.) Acts xvi, 33. "And was baptized, he and all his straightway" The jail keeper at Philippi and his family were baptized immediately upon his conversion. Though "all his" were baptized, there is no record of the faith of any other person but that of the jailer.
- (3.) 1 Corinthians i, 16. "I baptized also the household of Stephanas." Neither Paul nor Luke, his historiam, tells how many infants there were in these families; but,
- (a.) Of the nine recorded cases of Christian baptism by the apostles, three-a third of them-were household baptisms.
- (b.) There were probably as many infants in these three families as there would be in three others, selected at random in these communities.
- (c.) During the more than sixty years of the apostles' ministry, we have no account of the baptism of an adult person, who had been brought up by Christian parents, or in a Christian family. A fact rather remarkable, if, in the apostolic age, Christians did not have their infant children baptized. But it would be easily accounted for, and inevitable, on the hypothesis that their infants received the ordinance. In an anti-Pedobaptist community such a thing could never occur, where persons were converted to the Christian religion.

HISTORIC EVIDENCE.

The following is an epitomized statement of the leading facts in the history of infant baptism, embodying conclusions founded upon long and thorough examination of the subject by Dr. Wall, than whom there is no higher authority. And they are hereby commended to the careful attention of the

"Lastly, as these evidences are for the first four hundred years, in which there appears one man, Tertullian, that advised the delay of infant baptism in some cases; and one Gregory, that did, perhaps, practice such delay in the case of his children, but no society of men so thinking or so practicing; and no man saying it was unlawful to baptize infants: so, in the next seven hundred years there is not so much as one man to be found that either spoke for, or practiced, any such delay. But all on the contrary. And when, about the year 1130, one sect among the Albigenses declared against the baptizing of infants, as being incapable of salvation, the main body of that people rejected their opinions, and they of them that held that opinion quickly dwindled away and disappeared. there being no more heard of holding that tenet till the rising of the German anti-Pedobaptists, A. D. 1522."-Wall, vol. ii.

The foregoing presentation of the case, it is believed, will amply justify the following conclusions:

- 1. It is certain that infant baptism was not a debated subject in the apostolic or primitive times. No man appears to have questioned its divine authorization until the twelfth century after Christ. There was not a word of controversy upon the subject, so far as history shows, until the time of Peter Bruis, A. D., 1128.
- 2. This state of things could not possibly have existed, unless it had been either universally PRACTICED or universally IGNORED, from the time of Christ down to the time in which the early fathers made undoubted reference to it.
- 3. It could not possibly have been universally IGNORED from the time of Christ, to the time these Fathers thus referred to it; being observed by them without objection, and then have found its way into recognition and practice by all classes of professed Christians, by the time of Origen, A. D. 230: unless the ever vigilant and faithful pen of history had taken cognizance of it as an unwarranted INNOVATION.
- 4. But history has NOT thus recognized it. Not less than six of the Christian Fathers, namely, Irenœus, A. D. 178: Hippolytus, 222; Epiphanius, 370; Philastrtus, 380; who, according to Mosheim, "travelled nearly all over the Roman Empire, combating and endeavoring to convert, errorists of every sort;" Augustine, 428, and Theodoret, 430, (besides Tertullian and others who wrote less extensively upon the subject,) wrote each the history of all the sects, schisms, and heresies that were known to have existed from the days of Simon Magus down to their times; describing minutely, and with a careful hand, the rise, progress, and final issue, so far as known, of every erratic theological opinion and anti-Chris-

But they have nowhere mentioned Infant Baptism except as DIVINFLY INSTITUTED and UNIVERSALLY RECEIVED.

It therefore comes down to us indorsed with an amount and quality of historical evidence that places its apostolic sanction completely beyond all reasonable dispute. And, though we find in the Scriptures its most substantial and decisive support, so that were every syllable of testimony outside of the Bible destroyed, it would still rest on a firm foundation; yet it is gratifying to trace the clear current of historical testimony from its inspired source down to recent ages and mark the sweep of its flow, as it bears to us the hallowed assurance that Infant Baptism is of God.

OBITUARY.

SAREPTA T. CROWELL.

Sarepta T., daughter of Judah and Sarah Crowell of Bear Point, was called to her eternal home at the age of twenty years. In the month of March, 1876 she publicly professed Christ and was baptized by the Rev. Jos. Coffin in the following May, and received into the Methodist Church. From that time she was very attentive to the means of grace, especially the class-meeting, always being found in her place if at all possible.

In the autumn of that year while engaged in teaching, she was taken sick and compelled to return home. For four months she glorified God in affliction, and was then in His wise providence restored to a sufficient degree of health to resume the work of teaching. It was but for a little. At the end of nine weeks she was again seized with affliction, and so severely that she could not return to her father's house. Medical skill was at once obtained. Her fond mother hastened to the spot, but neither could stay the progress of disease. In a very few days the Divine Father said, "it is enough," "Come up higher," and her glad spirit " winged its she gave her heart to God, and united flight to the realms of eternal day."

During her sickness she frequently referred to her trust in Christ and the prospect before her. When her mother reached her bederde, she said, "mother, you must not weep for me, I am willing to die, I have a desire to depart and be with Christ. Not long before her departure, while lying in an apparently unconscious state, her host said, "what is your prospect?" when to the surprise of those about her, she roused from her stupor, and replied, " bright glory, bright glory, bright glory." So completely had she won the affection of the people at Woods Harbor, where she was teaching, that they insist. ed on sharing the expenses of the funeral, and a large number followed her remains to Bear Point where she was interred. Her life and death at Woods Harbor will we believe bear fruit to the glory of God. Rev. W. Kechan, pastor of the Baptist Church in that place, improved the event by preaching a sermon particularly to the

After the return of her pastor from Conference, a sermon was preached at Bear Point to an immense concourse of friends. Her Christian life was one of unfaltering trust in Christ, and was thus of inestimable value to the Church of her choice. While mourning her departure, they rejoice in the great grace vouchsafed, and pray that her holy life and triumphant death may lead many to the like precious faith F. H W. P.

MRS. HARRIET A. WEST

Beloved wife of Eben West, of White Point, exchanged mortality for life, June the 28th. Sister West was born in Liverpool, N. S. in 1810. At the early age of sixteen she was drawn by the cords of love to give her heart to Christ and her hands to his people. At once she became a very happy and useful Christian, in connection with the people called Methodists. with whom she ever remained strongly attached. In maturer years she sustained the offices of class-leader and Sabbath school teacher, with acceptance and fidelity. As sister West was unostentateious in other matters, so was she in religion. With a heart overflowing with the "milk of human kindness," and full of tender compassion for the distressed. She was unwearied in her efforts to succor the afflicted. If it be a privilege to live in the affections of the poor, then she was largely privileged.

As a wife and mother, loving and devoted, and ever prepared to welcome the minister and his family. For years previous to the close of life, she was the subject of much bodily affliction, but bore it cheerfully. Her last sickness, "bowel consumption," was endured with great patience and resignation to the Master's will. The hour of her departure at last came; surrounded with sorrowing relatives and friends, she quietly passed away to the rest that remaineth to the people of God. J. Johnson. Port Mouton, Oct. 4, 1877.

HON, CHARLES PERLEY.

Died at Woodstock, N. B., on Sunday, Sept. 23, 1877, Hon. C. Perley. The deceased was born at Maugerville, Sunbury County, January 8th, 1797. When 29 years of age, however, he removed to Woodstock, where he resided till the time of his death. He was actively identified during the greater part of his life, with the agricultural and commercial pursuits of Carleton County which he represented in the House of Assembly for about 20 years, till 1863, when he was elevated to a seat in the Legislative Council. The deceased was one of the first to seek to introduce Methodism into Woodstock. Having borne a chief part in erecting a Methodist church, which was not accomplished without much opposition, he was the means of securing, from what is now the i rising.

Richmond circuit, the services of a local preacher, who preached regularly till a stationed minister was appointed. From that time he became a firm and intelligent adherent of the Methodist Church. The step he then took he frequently mentioned to the writer as one for which he ever felt thankful. Though several times during the past year he was prostrated. by what seemed to be his last illness, he survived till Septr. 23rd, when, amidst much suffering, he passed away calmly trusting in the merits of his Redeemer.

C. H. PAISLEY. Woodstock, Oct. 4, 1877.

ELVIRA JANE ARMSTRONG

was born in Avondale in 1846, and died at her widowed mother's residence on Sept. 22nd, 1877. From her childhood she was surrounded by religious influences, and. these together with the prayers and the diligent training of a pious mother resulted in the formation of a character full of love and sweetness. It was not however. until the spring of 1866, when in connection with special religious services, conducted by the Rev. H. McKeown, that with the church.

Though she loved the means of grace, she was not long permitted to meet with the people of God in the conctuary, as she became the subject of severe personal affliction. It seemed as if the Lord had said of her, "I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction," for for the space of nine years His chastening hand was on her. At times during these years she enjoyed a brief respite from suffering, yet her health was never such as to permit her to attend church except on one or two occasions, In the midst of all her afflictions she could generally confide in the wisdom and love of God, and even rejoice in the blessed assurance of Divine favor. Only once did she seem to falter in her trust, and then it was evident that the adversary had taken advantage of her state of physical weakness, to harass her, and to "sift her as wheat;" but though he gained a temporary triumph, she vanquished him by the power of faith, and from that time to the day of her death she never again doubted the love of Christ or lost her assurance of his presence.

As the time of her departure drew near her safferings, which before were great, became even more intense, yet she manifested no impatience. Ne word of complaint fell from her trusted in God, and waited the hour of deliverance. The writer visited her four days before her death, and found her calm and peaceful. She said she felt that she "was going home." He saw her again the night before she died. She believed herself-dying and talked of it with the utmost composure. She had "no fear she said, nay, she rather exulted in the prospect of rest. With much feeling she repeated those beautiful words of St. Paul, (Romans viii, 38-39), "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life," &c. Having given her heart to God in health, and having lived by faith, she feared not to enter the "dark valley," knowing she was "Safe in the arms of Jesus." On leaving her for the night, I remarked, " I hope to find you better in the morning," and she replied, "I hope so," and I did, for before I visited her next morning the messenger came. For some hours before the end came her sufferings were indescribable yet she was sustained. During a paroxysm of pain she said to her medical attendant "Doctor do you think this is death?" and when he said she could not endure it much longer she smiled and seemed pleased that deliverance was so near. As the world resumed its toil on the morning of the 22nd ult., her weary spirit freed from all the trammels of the flesh entered into that blessed rest which remains to the the people of God. On the following Wednesday we committed her body to the silent tomb in "sure and certain hope J. S. of a joyful resurrection."

WHEN THE LIRDS WAKE UP.

A French ornithologist has lately been investigating the question of at what hour in summer the commonest small birds wake up and sing. He states that the greenfinch is the earlist riser, as it pipes as early as half-past one in the morning. At about halfpast two the blackcap begins, and the quail apparently wakes up half an hour later. It is nearly four o'clock, and the sun is well above the horizon, before the first real songster appears in the person of the blackbird. He is heard half an hour before the thrush; and the chirp of the rcbin begins at about the same length of time before that of the wren. Finally, the house sparrow and the tomtit occupy the last place on the list. This investigation has altogether ruined the lark's reputation for early

QUARTER: STUDIES IN EARLY CHURCH HISTORY.

A. D. 60. LESSON IV. PAUL BEFORE THE COUNCIL; or, Sustained in Suffering. Acts 23, 1-11. October 28.

EXPLANATORY.

THE COUNCIL. The Sanhedrin, which Lysias had called together to make their accusation against Paul. He probably sees many familiar faces, for doubtless twenty-five years before he was one of them. See chap. 7, 58; 8, 1; 9, 1. Men and brethren. Words showing both dignified equality and a forgiving heart. I have lived. This seems to be a continuation of his speech the previous day, to which they doubtless listened. It refers mainly to his life since conversion, of which they found fault, but also to his whole life. See chap. 26, 9.

ANANIAS. Son of Nahedacus. Appointed high-priest by Herod, A. D. 48; sent to Rome under charges of oppression A. D. 52; was acquitted, and probably resumed his office. Them that stood by. Officers in charge. Smite on the mouth. Still practiced in Oriental courts to command silence. A gratuitous indignity, doubtless instantly done. God shall smite thee. Not a curse, or imprecation, but a prophecy, which was literally fulfilled ten years later in the assassination of Ananias. Whited wall. The walls of sepulchers were annually whitewashed. Our Saviour uses the same figure for the hypocritical Pharisees. Matt. 23, 27. Sittest thou to judge. The whole counsel were sitting in judgment, professedly under Mosaic law, but this command was contrary to the very spirit of justice on which the law was based. This indignant outburst was very human, but not Christlike. Christ's example, and not Paul's was given us to follow.

God's HIGH-PRIEST. In reviling the office of high-priest, one reviled God. So now God looks upon indignities offered to his children as if they were offered to him. I wist not. Did not know. This answer has been distorted into a denial of the official character of Ananias, but it simply means that Paul was not aware that he held the office. Many changes had occurred since Paul had met the informal meeting the high-priest either cases of pain or lameness, nothing like it had on his distinctive robes, or presided. has ever been known. One bottle will R. WOODBURN. Probably Lysias presided, as they were before him at his command. It is written. | Contraction of the Muscles it is un-An apology, but not a retraction. A lit- equaled. SADDUCEES. The Sadducees were the materialists and infidels among the Jews. They did not believe in the immortality of the soul, nor the existence of spirits. They had been the chief persecutors of the apostles, because they taught the resurrection of the dead. See Acts 4, 1; 5, 17; etc. Pharisees. The "orthodox" Jews. Their traditions and "creeds" were considered as binding as the written word. Paul, in claiming to be a Pharisee, the "son of a Pharisee," used no quibble, because, in the great distinguishing features of their belief, he was still a Pharisee, as he always had been. Hope. "The hope of Israel," (chap. 28, 20,) the looked-for fulfillment of the promised Messiah, and the resurrection of Christ, as the foundation of Christianity, are the fundamental themes of all Paul's preaching.

A DISSENSION. The intensely bitter contention of years between these sects was awakened in an instant, showing Paul's tact and wisdom. Matt. 10, 16. So sometimes in the dissension between the sects of Christendom, the truth of God finds opportunity for triumph. Scribes. The doctors of the Jewish No evil in this man. They espoused his cause because they saw that his statements, if true, would be proof of their doctrines. But God caused them thus to testify to Paul's innocence, that the cause might not suffer. Spoken to him. Referring to Paul's account of his conversion. Chap. 27, 7-10. Let us not fight against God. A very sensible conclusion, but wanting in the most important manuscripts. The sentence ends abruptly, as if broken off by the confusion.

PULLED IN PIECES. The Pharisees defending and the Sadducees seizing him in wrath, the deputy might well fear for Paul's safety. How must some of the violent disputes among Christians in these times put the very Gospel in jeopardy, in sight of unbelievers! Go down. Literally true, the castle being above the place of assembly. See chap. 22, 30.

THE LORD STOOD BY HIM. How kindly the Lord cares for his children. Paul might well question in a moment of reaction, if he had not been too headstrong in coming to Jerusalem contrary to advice; (chap. 21, 10-14,) but just then as once before (chap. 18, 9, 10,) and once afterward, (chap. 27, 24,) the Lord himself came to bid him be of good cheer. His testimony in Jerusalem is acceptable, why need he worry over the result? But more—there is a promise—and a promise that his intense desire to see Rome and witness there shall be gratified. See Rom. 1, 10, 11; 15, 28-25; Acts 19, 21. These words not only held him up now, but in subsequent events this promise must have afforded him much comfort. Have we no promise to cling to for comfort in trial and danger?

GOLDEN TEXT:-And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spake. Acts 6, 10.

DOCTRINE:—The resurrection from the dead. Matt. 22, 31, 32; John 5, 28, 29. The next lesson is Acts 24, 10.25.

BODILY RECOIL.

The curious fact has recently been pointed out by Mr. J. W. Gordon, in the Journal of Anatomy and Physiology, that at every beat of the heart, the whole body is projected a small but perfectly observable distance in a direction from foot to head—that is, so that any pressure exercised by the feet would undergo a diminution, while a pressure exercised by the head would be increased. When the heart contracts, a quanty of blood is propelled down the aorta, while at the same time, the whole body is caused to recoil with a velocity which bears the same ratio to the velocity of the blood as the weight of blood driven out bears to the weight of the

CURE OF EPILEPSY OR FALLING FITS BY HANGE'S EPILEPTIC PILLS.

Persons suffering from this distressing malady will find Hance's Epileptic Pills to be the only remedy ever discovered for curing it. The following certificate should be read by all the afflicted; it is in every respect true.

A MOST REMAR KABLE CURE.

Tongaioxie, Leavenworth Co., Kan., April 2, 1876.

SETH'S, HANCE,—Dear Sir:—The Epileptic Pills that I received from you last September have accomplished all that you recommended them to do. My son is hearty, stout, and robust; he is as hearty as any child in Kansas—indeed he is in the manner a new boy, being red and rosy. Before he commenced taking your Pills he was a very pale and delicate looking child and had Epileptic Fits for about four years, and seeing your Pills advertised in the Christian Instructor, I sent to you and got two boxes of them, and he has not had a fit since he commenced taking them; he has been exposed to all changes of weather in going to school and on the farm, and he has not had a Fit nor a sympton of one since he commenced taking your Pills. He learns well at school, and his mind is clear and quick. I feel that you are not sufficiently paid for the service and benefit you have been to us in restoring our child to health. I will cheerfully recommend your Pills to every one I hear of that is afflicted with Epilepsy. Please send me some of your circulars, so that I can send them to any that, I hear of that is afflicted in that way.

THE WESLEYAN

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1877.

Special offer of the Wesleyan! The WESLEYAN will be sent from the 1st of October, till the 31st Dec., 1878 for one subscription-Two Dollars. This takes in the General Conference Year, during which much connexional interest is sure to be awakened. We ask our Ministers to give us their cheerful oo-operation toward bringing the subscription list, within the next three months, up to 4000. They will be surprised by counting up the number of families in their charges, who do not take the Church paper. What can these know of Methodism, in its modern spirit or operations-excepting as they may hear from the pulpit or see in their neighborhood? What can their children learn of the genius and history of the Church of their fathers? The Church organ may be presumed to preach loyalty and impart connexional intelligence to every member of the household every day in the week, thus taking the minister's place, and doing his work during his absence Think of it, brethren, and act!

N. B. AND P. E. I. CONFERENCE.

MISSIONARY COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the members of the Missionary Committee of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Conference, will be held in the new Methodist Church, Moncton, on Tuesday, the sixth day of November, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m.

JOHN PRINCE, President

THE GENERAL MISSIONARY REPORT.

This interesting document was given to the Methodist public at the anniversary meeting, during the meeting of the Central Board at Brockville. Our readers will find it on an inside page of the present issue. The expenditure for the year, it will be seen, exceeds the income by $28.257. In every department of income there has been a falling off. The principal decrease, however, is in the item of legacies. We wish this could be regarded as a hopeful sign. If rich men begin to execute their own wills, instead of leaving amounts to benevolent purposes till after their deaths, those good institutions will thrive accordingly, and the givers will be blessed according to the promise-" It is more blessed to give," &c. But we cannot find evidence that this is any cause of the decline. On the contrary, there is a decided falling off in subscriptions as there is in dona-Treasurer McDonald's opinion that "we ought to have an income this year of $250,000," may startle some readers; we could heartily desire that it would lead all readers to weigh the possibilities and the justice of the suggestion. With very few exceptions, we fear the matter of giving to God's cause is one of impulse and not of principle.

There are items of expenditure which ordinary readers in the East will not be capable of fully understanding. They will feel positively assured, however, that no single dollar is unnecessarily paid out. The direct cost of working the secretariat seems to us exceedingly economical. Five thousand dollars for managing an annual fund of $175.000, is but about three per cent. We question if any other society in existence costs so little for that particular item. The matter of interest is becoming a very serious affair. There is but one way to help it. Let the debt be removed: let direct and prompt remittances be made to the mission house annually, and much of the interest will take to itself wings.

We have entered upon recent missionary years with liberal resolutions and promises. Our enthusiasm this year should take a better shape. Let us have the enthusiasm of giving. Try what each can do in lifting this burden. The work has been expanding greatly through God's providence ;-will the Methodist Church of Canada take the responsibility of saying that it must now be contracted?

LOOKING TO GENERAL CON-FERENCE.

There seems to be a mutual desire on the part of many in the Nova Scoences to seek a reunion of these two at Mr. Record's foundry.

the next General Conference. It must be confessed, after a very fair trial, that there are strong reasons in favour of such a change. It may seem frivolous on the part of men who set out to frame a great ecclesiastical constitution, that they should reverse one important conclusion within a period of four years. But the alterations of past decisions is as essential a part of legislation as the adoption of new ones. And there is no sound argument which can be adduced against promptly reconsidering a vote, and even reversing it, excepting that of conversatism, which surely does not mean that injury should be endured, or the work of God be hindered, for the sake of appearances. Our division of Conference territory was an experiment. It was not in every instance, as if Annual Conferences, found be too unwieldy, were divided to ensure greater freedom and room for growth. It was not so in the East, at all events. Newfoundland was naturally waiting to be set apart; but many think that, geographically and commercially, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island were linked together, and could be more readily worked in a single Conference. If this be true, we see no reason why the boundary might not be changed. The difficulties of transfer are particularly detrimental to our success in the territory alluded to. Most of our ministers have strong objections to being confined to the Province in which their lot happened to be cast at the time of union, especially in instances where they are cut off from home associations.

We do not, however, accept the suggestion too confidently. Arguments will doubtless be found against the project. It would be objected that union now would lead to necessary separation at no very distant day, as men and circuits multiply. But there is force in the position taken by many who seem quite disposed to discuss the question in favour of speedy union.

THE LOCAL MISSIONARY COM-MITTEES

the notices of the respective Presidents | come amongst us. are to meet, that for Nova Scotia in Halifax, next week, and that for N. B. and P.E. Island in Moncton, in November. Representatives naturally look forward with no little anxiety to the financial question. But may we suggest that experience has warned us of the possibility of exhausting time and study upon secular matters, while a greater question, and one to which the financial is always subordinate, may be left without due consideration. The momentous enquiry with the church is always-How may our great work be most readily accomplished? If God's Spirit shall be poured out upon the Conference boundaries—if 1877-8 is to be an ecclesiastical year of hallowed memories, the deficiency in grants will be more than supplemented by the generosity of a grateful people. An hour or two set apart sacredly toward sketching a revival campaign, in dependence on the power of God, will not be lost to the church.

MISSIONARY ANNIVERSARIES.

During the sessions of the Missionary Committee in Halifax next week the Annual Missionary Meeeting will be held in the Kaye and Charles Street Churches, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings-commencing at 7.30. Addresses will be delivered by Ministers and Laymen from different parts of the Province.—Collections on behalf of the Society will be taken up in these Churches next Sabbath—and also at the Annual Meetings.

Moncton, N. B.—The fine new church, to be opened next Sabbath, we find thus noticed in the Moncton Times:

The new Methodist church and Mission house on Church Street, are well forward towards completion. The latter, in fact, is finished and the pastor and family are now in comfortable possession of mission premises not second in point of accommodation and convenience to any in the Province. The new church will be ready for opening next Sabbath, and will rank among the finest in the Maritime Provinces. We notice that it is proposed to warm the church by heating the basement underneath and permitting the hot air to reach the body of the church through the floor of each pew, leaving the occupants of the pews to regulate the heat in their pews, each to suit himself. The ends of the seats, and the divisions between tiers of seats, instead of being of wood are of tia and N. B. and P. E. Island Confericon, the castings have been supplied from

THE WEEK.

Our English correspondent gives us, in his letter this week, some further insight to the awful murder case in England, reported on our first page last week. Justice is sure-footed always; but in our day it is swift-footed too. Miserable indeed must be the retrospect to those guilty wretches.

The Presbyterian Witness complains that Congregationalist ministers have been taking advantage of the suspension of Presbyterians in some locality, to decoy them into their own communion. The Witness says there were four such "ecclesiastical eagles" looking out for the Presbyterian quarry, and wonders whether it is consistent with denominational courtesy to open the doors of one church for the reception of those who are under discipline by another. The question is indeed a serious one. There ought to be suffici ent good sense and christian forbearance to prevent anything very unseemly among Christains. Should not the presbytery interested ask for an explanation?

A more lenient system, as regards educational qualifications for the ministry, has recently been adopted by Presbyterians. We copy from the Witness the report of an interesting case of this nature. Why should they not employ good and useful men, though not quite up to the

The Synod then took up the application of Mr. Ewan Gillies, Catechist, to be certified to the Theological Hall, notwithstanding his not having gone through an arts course. The Presbytery of Wallace transmitted the application simpliciter. Mr. Sedgewick explained that though Mr. Gillies had never been a regular student in any college he had considerable know ledge of Latin and Greek. He had labored with great acceptance in Earltown. Recent action on the part of the Synod encouraged the Presbytery to bring up this case. Similar cases had occurred and should be regarded as precedents. Mr. Gillis gives promise of much usefulness. The Presbytery felt that they had no power but to lay the matter before Synod. The Rev. H. B. McKay made further explanations corroborative of Mr. Sedge wick's statements. Mr. Gillies's English speaking is fair, and his Gælic particularly good. He had some time attended evening classes in the Free Church College, Glasgow. He is one of those on whom the Lord has laid his hand, and I would be ashamed it the church would not be able to admit such even though defective

Mr. Lander, Elder, testified to the same These Boards, as will be observed by effect, a special Providence that he had plication of Mr. Gillies be granted, and that he be instructed to attend such classes in Dalhousie College as the Senate of the Theological Hall may direct, this action to be reported to the Assembly. Seconded by Rev. N. McKay. Rev. Mr. Burrows protested earnestly against unconstitutional steps being taken to cut short the educational course of any young We would bring reproach upon the church by the admission of illiterates. He had always protested against this practice which was not becoming the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Grant's motion pass-

The popular temperance movement is a feature of the times. Rine in Toronto, Dutcher in Yarmouth, and McKenzie in the Eastern Counties, are each doing his own great work in his own sphere. Is it not remarkable that these men should have struck at three different parts of the Dominion at the same moment, and met with so much enthusiasm among the drinking classes. Surely the liquor traffic must feel the consequence of the thousands taking the pledge.

We are delighted to hear that the Missionary Committee of London has dealt very liberally with the widow of the Rev. H. Pope, Senr. Our English committees are noted for benevolence.

Marshall MacMahon, ruler of France has been voted down by the people. He announced his candidates for a general election, urging most firmly their return, as essential to the nation's peace and preservation. But the opposition of the government has won a decisive victory. It now remains to be seen what MacMahon will do. French revolutions have followed causes less irritating than this. The election passed off very quietly, however on the Sabbath too.

Latest reports from England intimate that the murderers of Louis Staunton's wife are confined to await the Queen's pleasure. The capital sentence against them has been remitted. This horrible crime ought itself to lash the guilty criminals without any other punishment. But human nature is a strange compound.

A Review sensation has just happened in England. The Contempory contained a bitterly personal article against some of the leading newspapers, when one of the assailed turned upon his assailant with force and vindictive paragraphs. All (literary) England looked on with astonishment, while the contending journals gained an enormous circulation. This latter fact shows how very rare are gross personalities in the British press. With us no such sensation is possible, simply: because personalities are the rule not the xception. But we shall gain in time, as they have in England.

NEW METHODIST CHUNCH AT CHAR-LOTTETOWN.—A fine building, 80 ft. by 36, two stories, capable of seating 400 persons, was opened in Charlottetown last Lord's day. Revs. R. Brecken J. Lathern and R. MacLennan officiated. We hope to have further intelligence soon.

Gen. Grant is weary of British ovations. The American Government is to send a naval vessel to carry him to the Mediteranean. Position and popularity have their own penalties.

CHESTER ROAD MISSION.

MR. EDITOR,-Some weeks since I reported through your columns the prospects of this mission. I am happy to say that the hope thus expressed as to the erection of a church, in a locality where one is much needed, is likely to be realized. On Saturday last we laid the cornerstone of the building with the ceremonies appropriate to such an occasion. We expect next week to raise the frame, and then to proceed with the work as rapidly as possible. If sufficient means are available we intend to have the church so far in progress, before the severe weather sets in, as to enable us to occupy it for Sabbath services during the winter. I wish to acknowledge with thankfulness the liberal aid towards this enterprise afforded by kind friends in Windsor, Avondale and Burlington. But to carry out our purpose in providing a comfortable house of worship, we have to appeal to friends elsewhere, as the funds necessary, are, by a considerable amount, yet unprovided for. We are hoping that the Lord will dispose some generous hearts to proffer the needed help in good season.

Our Sunday school will probably be discontinued for the winter; but we expect in the spring, by the blessing of God, to have two or three schools in operation. I am making an effort to have the WESLEYAN taken in the different settlements, by several families uniting to raise the amount of the subscription, and shall thereby place religious reading within the reach of some who have not many good books at command. I send the names of some as subscribers to the WESLEYAN.

Yours, &c., J. McMurray.

HANTSPORT CIRCUIT.

On Sabbath evening, 7th inst., the Lockhartville Church (Hantsport Circuit) was crowded to excess to listen to the quarterly review of the Sabbath school.

The examination was conducted partly by the Superintendent and partly by the minister of the circuit. The scholars acquitted themselves most creditably, answering the questions proposed promptly, distinctly and correctly. Bro. Benjamin Shaw has acquired more than a local reputation for efficiency and zeal in the management of Sabbath schools. The pleasing results of his painstaking endeavors, evident as they were to all, must have been to him both gratifying and encouraging. An exercise on the part of three or or four of the oldest female scholars, involving the quotation of many Scripture passages, was to us very pleasing-rendered as it was with such distinctness, such fine modulations of the voice, and such unvarying accuracy of quotation. The singing was particularly good. At the close of the exercises, brief and encouraging addresses were given by Mrs. Morton, J. A. Taylor, and old Father was formed at the Conference of 1876. It comprises four circuits and five missions, formerly included in the "Liverpool Listrict." As there were no reports from it as a separate District in the printed Minutes of 1876, it was overlooked by the Committee who reported on "the religious state" of the Conference, as noted in the written district Minutes of 1877. This unintentional omission occasions the following statement of its religious progress, and also, of its finances. during the first year of its separate District existence.

Its Membership in 1876 was 881 and 22 on trial.

But during the year there were 31 removais, 22 deaths; and 10 ceased to be members. Had these all remained with us the increase would have been 63 moreor in all 171.

In 1876 there were 63 infant baptisms and 30 adults The infant baptisms are not numbered in the roll of membership above. In 1876 the circuits within its bounds raised for Connexional Funds the follow ing amounts:

Miss'y, 8 $1154 73 1877 1411 76 Incr'se 257 03 10 01

By the good hand of God upon us the District reports some improvement; and is no discredit to the name it bears among the tribes of our Israel. It seems to have received with its name an infusion of the Yarmouthian spirit of enterprise and progress. In a year of great business depression it did well in all Conference

Let us hope that though the depresssion still continues, its friends will shows similar spirit of liberality and practical evidence of attachment to the Methodist type of our common Christianity this year. And may the baptism of power so richly descend upon the ministers and congregations in the whole District, that converts may be multiplied, and believers be filled with the fulness of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ.

LETTER FROM MONTREAL

DEAR MR. EDITOR,-This fair city has lately been visited by many thousands of excursionists of both sexes, from Ontario and the United States. They were at one time so numerous that nightly lodging could hardly be procured. The weather was dry and warm, so that Montreal appeared to the strangers in its verdant summer glory. The new park was a great attraction. An easy broad carriage road has been constructed, reaching to the summit of Mount Royal. Thence, as also at several points of the zigzag highway, the views of the city, the river, Victoria Bridge, the cultivated plain in all directions, and the mountains on the horizon, form a scene of beauty and grandeur scarcely to be equalled.

THE CROWDS

of visitors came of course in steamboats and railroad cars. So excellent is the arrangement for travel on these, reaching the station often after dark, that I do not know of a serious accident having occurred to any passenger. And as the employees become more perfect in their duties by continual exercise, equal safety may be expected in the future, and all persons coming to Montreal will be welcomed with cordiality and considerate kindness. In no arrivals did the writer feel as much interest as in the

Some of them did him the honor to call on him in his quiet retirement. They brought tidings of the failing health and declining strength of his former fellow-laborers in the Maritime Provinces. Thereby the joy of the meeting was mixed with sorrow. May the Father of mercies comfort, sustain and restore His servants who are now unable to preach because of affliction. Should any of them never resume the position of superintendents, may their continued decline be as calm, roseate, and full of promise as the clear evening of a summer day. The first of these sermons was preached in the Sherbrocke St. Church, so many of whose people were led off by the Rev. James Roy. The congregation was fair. Mr. Roy's successor is youthful and acceptable, and will, it may be hoped, soon see every pew refilled. The second sermon was preached in St. James Street Church on the first Sabbath evening of this month, and was followed by the Lord's Supper. The most observable fact in these services was the reading of larger portions of the Scripture than is now often heard in churches. At the

Our Fathers impressively read the word of God in the pulpit, and then strenuously preached it. There is a method of presenting the Scripture lessons to our congregations, so as more to endear the Bible to them, and to incite our people to read it privately with growing pleasure and profit. Every wise minister will aim to produce this result. His hearers will be edified in proportion as he may succeed therein.

In deference to the wishes of prominent citizens, who believed the procession would be riotously opposed, it was abandoned for that time. Notwithstanding, an Orangeman was foully murdered with a pistol at mid-day. A man accused of the crime was taken with the weapon on his person. In due process he was brought before the Supreme Court. of the murdered man the volunteers were called out, to assist in keeping the peace which was so violently threatened, and to ensure the safety of persons who were in peril of their life. Their presence was effectual. The obsequies were not interfupted by an armed mob. The volunteers deserve well of the city and the whole country. But the city corporation, a majority being Catholics, have refused payment to the citizen militia, and will still do so, until the opinion of the judges on the question is taken. There, is no doubt but they will decide for paying the volunteers. In one noticable case, not long ago, the judgment of the highest tribunal in the empire had to be enforced by the military. The Catholics were determinelly opposed to the magistrates. Happily the Queen was more powerful than the party of the Pope; so the supremacy of law was demonstrated, to the great discomfort, cost, and merited humiliation of the Catholic faction. The signs of became alarming, and all this as the outcome of the lying dogma of the infallibility of the Pope and its logical sequence. The state of parties became so threatening that the Court of Rome saw that their partisans here had proceeded too fast and too far. The Bishop of Montreal was compelled to resign his See. Thus a check was given to his unpatriotic proceedings. The aged prelate became very ill, his death was daily expected. He has survived his rebuff, but has been consigned to utter obscurity. Subsequently Dr. Conroy arrived in this Province, a special delegate from Rome. It is believed that his mission is to stay the too rapid developments of the plans of Romanism as expressed in the too famous syllabus. If he may be improved and prolonged. Care that no encroachment be made on the liberties and privileges secured to every British subject by the laws and constitution of the empire.

THE RINE MOVEMENT.

Mr. D. J. K. Rine is a temperance revivalist and is now earnestly at work in Montreal. He hails from the United States. He was not a total abstainer from his youth. His reform took place some seven years ago. His speeches are often pungent and sarcastic, but he introduces with them precious Gospel truths. He has a genius for his chosen employment. He makes himself felt, and will obtain here, as in many places in the West, a multitude of followers. Mr. Rineholds two meetings daily. Several aid him by their public speaking, and persons belonging to church choirs unite to sing appropriate songs and other excellent lyrics. He avows his belief that any one could stop drinking instantly, without the process of weaning himself from it; yet the pledge which he administers contains sometimes the number that sign is quite large. This movement is intended to be decidedly Christian, hence the meetings are continued on the Lord's day, and after usual public worship in the evening of the Sabbath. These Sunday gatherings receive the name of "Gospel temperance meetings." If Mr. Rine's success here corresponds to the success he has had elsewhere in Canada, thousands will rejoice, scores of families will be made happy, and churches will grow. The day is not, it may be supposed, very near in which total abstinence shall be universal in the country. This thought might occur to any one who saw a first-class steamboat discharging her freight at a wharf here. There were landed more barrels of bottled porter than could be stowed into some coasting vessels. To acquire a correct Montreal has been in a rather excited knowledge of the progress of total abstinence in the country, the numbers who take the pledge should be compared with the amount of duties paid on all kinds of liquor. Yet, surely the temperance revivals in Ontario, Nova Scotia, and in this Province, prove that our people are becoming determined that intemperance shall not be suffered to obstruct their advancement to the foremost place among civilized and Christian nations.

THE METHODIST CHURCHES are planning and preparing for their winters work. Some of them have already entered upon it. St. James Street Church had a "grand tea meeting" and choral entertainment on the 11th inst., which was well attended. This large central church has now again but one minister, the Rev. Leonard Gaetz, who hopes it will be as prosperous in his sole charge as it was when he had the assistance of a colleague. The one thing most needed for all churches is the gift of the Spirit.not of fear, but of power and of love, and of a sound mind. O that that Spirit would descend as the refreshing dew, or as the fertilizing shower on every field in which the word of God, the seed of His kingdom, has been sown. May there be, in the incoming months, the ingathering of an a bundant harvest of saved men, "justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God."

Yours truly, October, 1877.

"To sum up briefly, I would say that a declining business, bad investments, heavy expenses, both business and domestic, and personal extravagance have betrayed me. No, I must be just with myself, and confess that I have deliberately walked in the clearest light and knowledge, in the face of the best instruction, into this pit. Some may call it madness: I call it sin. Those who knew me in business relations alone may not be aware of it, but every one who knows me personally will bear witness that my intimate friends and associates are all with some of the best and purest that have ever lived. They know that I loved better to give away money than spend it for myself; they know that my thoughts and my interests are more with the various charitable works with which it was my happiness to be connected than on money getting, by right means or wrong. They will mourn with me that I should have valued the good opinion of good men more than a good conscience and my own self-respect. WILLIAM C. GILMAN. A TOUCHING APPEAL.

Nearly every eye in court was moistened when the reading of the foregoing document had ended. The prisoner's friends crowded round him but he continued to keep his gaze fixed on the ground, doubtless undergoing a terrible mental struggle. There was a slight pause and Mr. Chittenden, now visibly effected, made a final appeal to the court. He said:-" If the decision in this matter had rested entirely with those who had suffered pecuniarily or otherwise with my client, I am led to believe, after conversing with them and with the gentleman connected with the District Attorney's Office, that there would have been no prosecution at all, but that he would be et go to make such restitution as might now or hereafter be in his power. But he had himself decided the course to pursue, and I can only add that I believe im to deserve better treatment than one who whou donly come out of prison at the expiration of his term of sentence to renew a career of crime. His repentence is beyond all doubt, sincere. We are all husbands, and fathers. He is the husband of a wife who lies at her home trembling on the verge of insanity, if she has not at this moment passed the lines which divides the sane from the insane, and he has three lovely children. THE PROSECUTION MOVED TO TEARS. District Attorney Phelps then arose amid breathless silence. He was deeply affected, and, addressing the Court, said he had nothing to add to what had been said by Mr. Chittenden. Mr. Phelps' voice here faltered and, with tears coursing down his cheeks, continued-"With a knowledge of all the circumstances surrounding this case and with my personal relations to the members of his family I am now obliged to perform the most painful duty of my life in moving that sentence be now passed upon him.

In view of the enormity of the crime the prisoner has committed, while feelings of the utmost sympathy were extended to his wife and family, I feel it my duty to pronounce the sentence of the Court that the prisoner be confined in the State Prison for five years at hard labor" Just as the Recorder finished the sentence he became deeply affected and tears coursed down his cheeks.

The significant fact in this startling revealment is the high moral and business and religious character that has been shattered in an hour. This it is that makes the public pause and ponder. In haste some will say, "The Churches are no better than the world;" "If you want to find great rogues you must go to the Church." Some may say, " All are wolves, only in the Church they are clad in sheeps' clothing.

Before any one strikes the Prophet of Nazareth with this scourge let him answer a few questions: If the Churches are no better than the world, why is every body so especially shocked by this revelation? If the sheep's clothing is the only difference between the fold and the forest, why does the sheep's fleece make better cloak than the wolf's skin?

It is a suitable time to say that the small per cent. of the defalcations among professedly religious business men justifies great confidence in their integrity. The cases of dishonesty among these men hardly exceed the per cent. of deaths by

Is stock gambling very different from other gambling? What is the legitimate fruit of compromises, by which the victimized party recovers a part of its losses and the criminal escapes justice? Can public officers innocently entertain a proposition for compromise Ought great thieves to be treated with more respect and consideration than smaller ones? Can politics justify dishonesty? Is success the standard of virtue? Educate the public conscience to a just answer of these questions, and these quently .- N. York Adv.

The Rev. James Gray, President of the London Conference, moved as fol-

"That the Report, an abstract of which has now been read, be adopted and published."

He thought the Report was one which must commend itself to every Christian heart. It was a wonderful document. There was nothing equal to it in the Dominion. The cost of publishing it was large, but the field was large, and it required an extended report to cover the ground. The Report represented more than appeared upon its face. It represented the toil of the devoted missionaries, the efforts of our self-denying collectors and the liberality of our people. The days of moral hero ism had not passed away. There were men on many parts of our mission field whose names and labors were an honor to the Chriseian Church. Such men in the past as Rundle and Evans! such men in later years as the two Youngs and the martyred George Mc-Dougall. Yes, it had cost much to publish the Report, but it was worth more than it cost. What would our country have been but for the saddlebag brigade of the past. We would not have known as much about our grand Dominion as we do had it not been for the work of our missionaries in Manitoba, and the Saskatchewan, and British Columbia, and elsewhere. Nations had gained much by missionary Individuals, too, had gained much. Large numbers of Indians and of white men had been brought to God, and finally to heaven, as the result of missionary labor. While he rejoiced in the success of the past, he longed for the swifter spread of the gospel; and he longed to see the Society placed in a better financial state. He hoped a roble key-note would be struck to-night.

The Rev. S. F. Huestis, of Halifax, seconded the resolution. It was the first time he had found himself in the hands of the sheriff; but he would get out of his hands as soon as possible. He cordially seconded the resolution. He hoped that, when published, the Report would not lie in the studies of the preachers, but be spread abroad among the people. The debt of the Society was a serious matter; but it need not appall us. He trusted a no. ble effort would be made to pay it during the present year. He had no sym. pathy with croakers, who thought the glory was departed since we ceased to talk about cannibal Fiji. We had a glorious field at home. He had the privilige of spending last winter in Bermuda, one of our mission districts, and he would give a few facts about the work in those islands. It was about the end of the last century that the first Wesleyan missionary landed in Bermuda. He was bitterly opposed; a and because he would not obey, he was cast into prison. We had now four missionaries in Bermuda, congregations amounting to about 2,000, members, 500. He had attended many of their meetings, and could bear testimony to the excellent Christian character of the members. He had examined some of the Sunday-schools, and he never found an equal knowledge of the Scriptures in any Sunday-school in Canada. He attended their missionary anniversaries. The churches were beautifully decorated with a variety flowers, and the liberality of the people was remarkable. They had contributed last year some $800. Besides this they gave liberally for the support of their own ministers. They were now building a new church in the town of Hamilton. He submitted these facts concerning one of the Society's mission

Resolved,--That we gratefully acknowledge the goodness of Almighty God in preserving the lives and blessing the labors of the agents of this society during the past year; and we devoutly regard the numerous conversions which have taken place on many of the mission fields as affording the best ground for the joyful conviction.

was startled not a little by statements made by the Rev. George McDougall missions in various directions. He July, in company with the Sec'y. had extended in various other directions,-in the Saskatchewan, British Columbia, and Japan. The protection erjoyed by our missionaries was something remarkable. Till George Mc. Dougall fell, not one of our missionaries in the North-west had fallen in the field. The work having extended, the expenditure had increased, and the income was not keeping pace with that expenditure. There were three ways of meeting the difficulty:-1. By recalling some of our misssionaries; 2. By reducing their already small allowances; or, 3. By bringing up the inonly proposition the church would think of adopting, and he hoped it would be adopted heartily. As a church, we could easily grapple with the debt. How could it be done? We could all go forth resolved to do all in our power to spread among the people a just conception of the greatness of the work. The speaker then referred at some length to the value of the labors of the late George McDougall in preparing the Indians to make a treaty with the Government. It would be impossible to overestimate the value of these labors in promoting peace. Then the spiritual results were glorious. In a tour which he made, of some 1.200 miles, among the northern missions, he found au earnest desire among the natives for missionaries and teachers. He hoped such efforts would be made to increase the interest of the people in the work, and result in a vastly-

we shall be in a better position a year

The Rev. John Prince, President of the New Brunswick Conference, moved the next resolution :-

Resolved .- "That we rejoice in the encouraging amount of support which. in a year of unusual financial stringency has been cheerfully given to this Society. Nevertheless, we feel that the state of the treasury and the needs of the work are such as call loudly for still increased liberality, and we cherish the confident hope that the goodness of God so strikingly displayed in the abundant harvest of the present year, will call forth such practical acknowledgments as will relieve the Society of its present embarrassment and enable it to spread the gospel more widely through the new settlements of this Dominion and among the heathen in lands beyond.'

We were engaged in a great enterprise; for it was one which had originated not in the mansions of the great, nor in the halls of learning, but in the counsels of the infinitely merciful God. A great enterprise, for many of the noblest human hearts were engaged in it to-day. A great enterprise, if we consider its extent. The sun never set upon the mission work of the churches. True, the wealth of the world was not all with us,-the learning of the world was not all with us,-but "the best of all was God was with us." A great enterprise, if we consider its resources. Millions are daily praying, "Thy kingdom come." God would yet answer that prayer. This enterprise had resources of faith and love and material wealth beyond what we generally realized. There were difficulties in the way, but these difficulties could be overcome. Unbelief said we could not convert the world,—we had better keep our money; but faith said all difficulties could be overcome, because God had promised to give his Son the heathen for his inheritance. There was a mighty power in faith to lift the world up to God.

John MacDonald, Esq., M. P., seconded the resolution. He said we could not separate from the history, the civilization, the education, and the social life of this country, the work of this Society, without distorting the facts of the history. The men who in past years carried on this work, preach sound doctrines and their mantles had fallen upon worthy successors. M. E. Church of the United States spent on their Indian work last year a little over $3,000; we had spent in the same time a little over $31,000. The policy of our neighbors had been one of extermination, ours had been one of peace. The result was, in the United States there was constant strife and bloodshed, while in our country the Indians had cheerfully ceded vast tracts of territory to the Dominion Government. And this result was largely due to the preparatory work of our missionaries, cause were not of God, the expenditure of our money would be foolish; if it were of God, we were not doing enough. We ought to have an income this year of $250,000. The church could well give it; but they would never do so till they imbibed the spirit of the first petition of the Lord's prayer. Until we had men fired with the missionary spirit, our givings would be paltry. He trusted the manifest tokens of the divine goodness would prompt to greatly increased liberality during this year.

The Rev. J. Goodison, President of the Newfoundland Conference, supported the resolution, which was carried

A vote of thanks was then passed to the collectors, ministers, and other friends of the Society, and to Mr. Sheriff Patrick for his services, after which the doxology was sung, the benediction pronounced, and the meeting closed.

LORD DUFFERIN AT WINNIPEG

At a farewell banquet given to Lord Dufferin on the 29th ult. by the citizens of Winnipeg, His excellency, in reply to a toast to his health, responded in anadmirable speech. His introduction abounded in rich humour, of which he seems to have great stores in his constitution. We make a few extracts from his address, to show the wonderful extent of the Dominion, and to indicate some of its resources.

From its geographical position and its peculiar characterists, Manitoba may

THE REYSTONE OF THAT MIGHTY ARCH of sister Provinces which spans the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific. (Great applause.) It was here that Canada, emerging from her woods and forests, first gazed upon her rolling prairies and unexplored North-West, and learnt, as by an unexpected revelation, that her historical territories of the Canadas, her eastern seaboards of New Brunswick, Labrador, and Nova Scotia, Her Laurentian lakes and valleys, cornlands and pastures, though themselves more extensive than half a dozen European kingdoms, (applause) were but the vestibules and antechambers to that till then undreamt of Dominion whose illimitable dimensions alike confound the arithmetic of the surveyor and the verification of the explorer, (Tremendous applause). It. was hence that, counting her past achievements as but the preface and prelude to her future exertions and expanding destinies, she took a fresh departure, received the afflatus of a more imperial inspiration, and felt herself no longer a mere settler along the banks of a single river, but the owner of half a continent, and in the amplitude of her possession, in the wealth of her resources, in the sinews of her material might, the peer of any power in the earth. (Loud applause.) In a recent remarkably witty speech the Marquis of Salisbury alluded to the geographical misconceptions often engendered by the smallness of the maps upon which the figure of the world is depicted. To this cause is probably to be attributed the inadequate idea entertained by the best educated persons of the extent of Her Majesty's North American possessions. Perhaps the best way of correcting such a universal misapprehension would be a summary of the rivers which flow through them. for we know that as a poor man cannot afford to live in a big house, so a small country cannot support a big river. Now, to an Englishman or a Frenchman the Severn or the Thames, the Seine or the Rhone would appear considerable streams, but in the Ottawa, a mere affluent to the St. Lawrence, an affluent, moreover, which reaches the parent stream six hundred miles from hundred and fifty miles long, and three or four times as big as any of them. (Applause.) But even after having ascended the St. Lawrence itself to Lake Ontario, and pursued it across Lake Huron, the Niagara, the St. Clair, and Lake Superior to Thunder Bay, a distance of one thousand five hundred miles, where are we? In the estimation of the person who has made the journey, at the end of all things-(great laughter)-but to us who know better, SCARCELY AT THE COMMENCENT

of the great fluvial systems of the Dominion; for from that spot, that is to say, from Thunder Bay, we are able at once to ship our astonished travellers on to the Kaminstiqua, a river of some hundred miles long. Thence, almost in a straight line, we launch him on to Lake Shebandowan and Rainy Lake and river-whose proper name, by the by, is "René," after the man who discovered it-a magnificent stream three hundred yards broad and a couple of hundred miles long, down whose tranquil bosom he floats into the Lake of the Woods, where he finds himself on & sheet of water which, though diminutive as compared with the inland seas he has left behind him, will probably be found sufficiently extensive to render him fearfully seasick during his passage across it. (Laughter.) For the last eighty miles of his voyage, however, he will be consoled by sailing through a succession of land-locked channels, the beauty of whose scenery, while it resembles, certainly excels the far-famed Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence. (Loud cheering.) From this lacustrine paradise of sylvan beauty we are able at once to transfer our friend to the Winnipeg, a river whose existence in the very heart and centre of the continent is in itself one of nature's most delightful miracles. So beautiful and varied are its rocky banks, its tufted islands, so broad, so deep, so fervid is the volume of its waters, the extent of their lake-like expansions, and the tremendous power of their rapids. (Tremendous applause.) At last let us suppose we have landed our traveller at the I town of Winnipeg, the half-way house

ANNIVERSARY

OF THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The anniversary meeting of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada was held in the Methodist Church in the town of Brockville, on Tuesday evening, Oct 2nd. A good audience assembled, and manifested much interest in the proceedings.

A few minutes after seven o'clock the service was opened by the Rev. Elias Brettle, President of the Nova Scotia Conference, who gave out a hymn, and afterwards led the congregation in

The Rev. Dr. Wood then introduced Mr. Sheriff Patrick, who had been requested by the Committee to occupy the chair.

The Chairman felt much interest in contrasting the past with the present, -the days when Elder Case, with a few converted Indians, used to attend some of our meetings, with the present, when our missions extend all over this great Dominion, and when our missionaries, not content with so large a field, have gone to preach the gospel in far distant Japan. He trusted the meeting would give an impulse to our mission work and develop the spirit of liberality among the people.

The Rev. Enoch Wood, D.D., Senior Missionary Secretary, then read an abstract of the General Report, showing the present encouraging state of the work in the Indian, Foreign and Do mestic Missions. The abstract contained numerous interesting extracts from letters of missionaries, which may be read in full in the published Report of the Society for the present year. The financial statement was present ed by the Rev. A. Sutherland, Secrefields, and seconded the resolution.

Another anthem was sung, after which the Rev. George Young, President of the Toronto Conference, moved the second resolution :-

The best of all is, God is with us." He was reminded of a meeting of the concerning the needs of the North-west, -statements which led afterwards to the strengthening of the mission band in that extensive country. In Manitoba we had at present some 8 churches, and visited that country in the month of Treasurer, and they found the missionaries working faithfully in carrying the gospel to the settlers. Then the work come. He was sure the last was the

Our readers will again notice the large double column advertisement in reference to a Catarrh Cure. Mr. Childs was for many years a great sufferer from this disease, and at times despaired of his life. By study and experiment he discovered a system of cure of this disease, which has baffled the skill of physicians for many years. Suffice it to say, that his method is recommended by every practitioner to whose notice it has been brought. The cure is certain, through and scientific. Mr. Childs is the pastor of a church, and has been drawn into the manufacture of his Catarrh Cure by the calls from numbers of friends who desired to be freed from this loathsome disease, as well by a desire on his part to alleviate, as far as might be in his power, the suffering and Childs' reputation and character secure him the confidence of his patrons, who are not dealing with a man that has a patient to sell, but a simple remedy. The success that has attended the introduction of his "Catarrh Specific" is wonderful. Mr. Childs has nearly six thousands patients scattered over the country and thousands more he has cured permanently. Read the advertisement care-Promise of a successful future than the fully, and examine the certificates.—Advt.

THOMAS MAIN,

Catarrh can be Cured 333

MY EXPERIENCE. EIGHTEEN YEARS of terrible headache, disgusting nasal discharges, dryness of the throat, acute bronchi-tis, coughing, soreness of the lungs, raising bloody mucus, and even night sweats, incipitating me for my professional duties, and bringing me to the verge of the grave—all caused by, and the results of, NASAL Catarrah. After spending hundreds of dollars, and obtaining no relief, I compounded my Catarrh Specific and Cold Air Inhailing Balm, and wrought upon myself a wonderful cure. Now I can speak for hours with no difficulty, and can breath freely in any atmosphere. At the call, of numerous friends, I have given my cure to the public, and have now thousands of patients in all parts of the country and thousands of happy fellow-beings whose sufferings I have relieved. My cure is ertain, thorough, and perfect, and is endorsed by every Physician who has examined it. If I can relieve my llow beings as I have been relieved of this loathsome disease, making the possessor at once disgusting to nimse; f and others, I shall be satisfied, and feel that I ave done my little toward removing the ills of man-

A DANGEROUS DISEASE

CATARRH is a dangerous disease; yet it can be cured by the use of my "Catarrh Specific." Thomsands suffer without knowing the nature of this almost universal complaint. It is an ulceration of the head. Its indications are hawking, spitting, weak inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, dry and heat of the nose, matter running from the head down the threat, often ringing of deafness in the ears, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness and dizziness of the head, often in its first stages, but more commonly in its advanced stages, attended with pains in the chest or left side, and under the shoulder blades. Indigestion usually attends Catarrh; a hacking cough and colds are very common. Some have all these symptoms; others only a part. Very little pain attends Catarrh until the Liver and the Lungs are attacked in consequence of the stream of pollution running from the head into the stemach. It ends in consumption

The Legitimate Child of Catarrh is Eronchitis.

BRONCHITIS is the legitimate child of CATARRH. Troches and all palliatives cannot, by any possibility, reach the ulcerated fountain in the head, whence the polluted, festering, corrosive matter issues. Snuff, or dust of any kind, always aggravates and never cures the Catarrh. All such persons catch cold easily, and have frequently lost all sense of smell. The disease advances cautiously, until pain in the chest, lung or bowels, startles him. He hacks and coughs, has dyspepsia, liver complaint, and is urged by his Doctor to take this or that; perhaps even Cod Liver Oil is prescribed. Perfectly ridicu-The foul ulcers in the head can not be reached by pouring such stuff into the poor jaded stomach. The patient becomes nervous, the voice is harsh and unnatural, he feels disheartened, memory loses her power, judgment her seat, gloomy forbodings hang overhead; hundreds, yes thousands in such circumstances, feel that to die would be relief, and many do even cut the thread of life to end their sorrows There is one other form of Catarrh that I must just refer to. A hard substance forms in the passage, becomes very painful, frequently breaks, and is blown with great pain and difficulty from the nose. In other cases it will cat through and discharge itself by the side of the nose, making a terrible pangrenous sore. One of my patients was in this condition. She is now get-tlng along finely; the sore healed up, and the stench and acrid matter are all gone.

For all afflicted with Catairh, in all its developments—not even excepting cases where the bones of the nose are affected—my Catairah Specific affords a safe, sure and perreanent cure.

Cleanse and Heal-My Motto.

CLEANSE AND HEAL is my motto, while at the same time one of the six remedies I send brings the nasty corruption out through the nostrils, and thus reve nts it running down the throat into the stemach. By thus keeping the ulcers clear of matter, and of applying the proper medicine, they soon heal, and heal permanently. Also for weak nerves , chronic headache and neuralgia my Specific is invaluable.

Thousands are dying in early life with consumption who can look back a few years—perhaps only months—when it was only Catarrh. Neglected v then a cure is possible, very soon it will transform the features of health and youth into the dark, profiled appearance, while the hacking cough, the excess of blood gushing from the lungs or night swear s, all significantly proclaim that it is too late; and thus a neglected Catarrh ends in the consumptive's converse.

100,000 Die from Consumption.

More than 100,000 die annually from Consumration in these United States, and a careful classification has revealed the startling fact that fully 50,000 or those cases were caused by Catarrh in the head, and had no known connection with hered, ary causes. A large share of these cases might have been cured. Many of them were in the more ary causes. A large share of these cases might have been tive's grave—struggling hard against the vile enemy that laid them low.

Physicians Testimony.

This certifies that the undersigned are acquainted with Rev. Rev. T. P. Childs and believe him to be reliable and truthful, and that his mode of treating Catarrh is scientific and effectual in breaking up and curing it; and i deed it seems to be the only mode likely to effect a complete cure.

J. H. GREEN, M.D., Troy, O. JOSIAH REED, M.D., Troy, O. Eith er of the above-named physicians can be consulted by letter or otherwise.

Be Cautious.

Five years ago, when I first announced to the world that "CATARRH could be cured," it was the only only announcement of the kind then to be found. All or nearly all, the physicians in the land said it it could not be cured. A few snuffs could be had at drug stores, labelled "Catarrh Snuff." Now what? More in an twenty who had advertised their "bitters" and "tonics," and nestrums of all sorts, and claimed for them almost miraculous power to cure a long catalogue of disease, slip into that catalogue "Catarrh." Is not this an afterthought? Or nave they really changed their medicines to suit the development of Nasal Catarrh, which has but recently become prevalent? Be not deceived!

Special Remarks.

This Specific is regarded by the lest of judges as being the most complete system for the treatment of Nasal Catairh ever devised. Indeed, there does not appear to be anything lacking in its perfect adaptation to the herrid disease, in all its loathsome, Jainful and dangerous developments. It is really two systems harmoniously combined; but in addition to the regular treatment for Catarrh in the nasal passing the state of the complete system. sages, it includes a fine system for inhaling warm, medicated vapor, and for passing it all along the sir pipes, and even along the custachian tubes, without pain or difficulty.

No one Medcine.

Can by any possibility cure Catarrh, when it spreads, as above described, through the nasal passages threat, and brenchial pipes. Here lies the secret of the unparalled success of my treatment. Some of the six excellent (atarrh a chicines which I send, or all combined, are just sure to follow it into all of its hiding places, search it out and destroy it, no matter where located. If it has taken root where the medicated water cannot reach it, then the medicated vapor surely will.

Conclusion.

Everything known to be good in the treatment of Nasal Catarrh, Throat, or Bronchial Disease, combined in one grand system. Two of the best Inhalments in the world, and Instruments with which to use them, in each full set, so that, with the Catarria Specific, the enemy can be attacked all along the line, morning, noon and night, and the fight kept up all through the day, with but little trouble. One of my inhaling Balms produces a quicker circulation, carries the blood to the surface and it is quite impossible to take coid. This is fully one half of the battle. An ounce of prevention i worth fifty pounds of cure, in this case.

MARITIME SCIDOL SERIES

JUST PUBLISHED

By Wm. COLLINS, SONS & Co., LONDON, GLASGOW AND EDINBURGE.

MARITIME READERS.

The lessons in them have been compiled and written with special reference to the history, topography and commercial enterprise of Nova Scotia and the neighboring provinces. Selections from the writings of Haliburton, Howe, Gesner, Forrester, Maggregor, and many others have been inserted. The illustrations include views of the cities and other interesting Maritime scenery, while the books are printed on superfine paper and bound in extra cloth. In their enterprise the publishers have spired no expense to make the new series the best, cheapest, and most suitable for the schools in the Marjtime Provinces of Canada; and while making arrangements for their introduction in Nova Scotia, they respectfully soloit the co-operation of teachers and all others interested in educational progress.

ELEMENTARY GEOGRAPHY for use in the Maritime Provinces, has been prepared to supply a want long felt in the Schools of this part of the Dominion. It is now an established principle that children should be taught the geography of their own country minutely, and a special effort has been made to bring such information within the reach of each school district at the lowest possible rate. The geography of the Dominion of Canala is given in detail, and a number of lessons on other countries have been added, so as to make the book complete as a geography of the world. THE MARITIME READERS INCLUDE 32 pages, Price 3 cents | Third Maritime Reader, 200 pages, Price 30 cents | Fourth Maritime Reader, 232 pages, Price 33 cents

Second Primer, 150 First Maritime Reader, 104 pages, Price 15 cents | Fifth Maritime Reader, 233 pages, Price 45 cents | Second Maritime Reader, 163 pages, Price 23 cents | Sixtl Maritime Reader, 352 pages, Price 50 cents Price 40 cents Elementary Geography,

The Maritime School Series have been authorized by the Council of Public Instruction. For Sale by all Booksellers throughout the Province.

GATES ACADIAN LINIMENT.

Joyful News for the Afflicted. IS a Vegetable compound, possessing a well concentrated combination soothing and healing virtues for internal and external diseases, Inflammations or pains seated in any part of the body, Chilblains, Toothache, etc. To be mixed with the Nerve Ointment for Diptheria and Sore Throat, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Pleurisy, Spinal Disease or affection of the Spine, Sprains, Felons, &c.

Also excellent for beasts.

MESSES. C. GATES & Co:-GENTLEMEN-Mr. Daniel Alward, of Butternutt Ridge, N.B., appeared before me and made oath that in November, 1877, he was attacked with Diptheria in its worst form. The Doctor pronounced it a very bad case and gave him some medicine which appeared to ease him, but he took cold and his throat was fast filling up, so he could scarcely breathe. He applied Gate's Acadian Liniment internally and externally with immediate relief. He feels confident that unless he had got relief he could not have lived long.

Sworn to before me at Salisbury, this 7th day of July, 1877. J. W. HICKS, J.P.
