

UPRISING IN FIUME THREATENS

Jugo-Slav Rule May Provoke Outbreak of Hostilities

TROOPS CONTROLLING CITY WERE FORMERLY IN AUSTRIAN ARMY

Have Disarmed Italian Population And Formed Armed Civil Guards; Situation Demands Immediate and Effective Action, Says British Workmen's Leader

By Courier Leased Wire.

FIUME, Nov. 14.—Victor Fisher, founder of the British Workers' League, in making a tour of redeemed Italian territories, has visited Fiume, since the Hungarian governor left the city. Speaking on the situation he says it is of extreme delicacy. Danger is arising out of the unexpected occupation of the city by considerable bodies of Jugo-Slav soldiery, most of whom were Croatian troops and until quite recently fighting in the Austrian army. In addition to this the local Jugo-Slav committees, while disarming the Italian population, have formed armed civil guards from Jugo-Slavs living in the outskirts of the town. Mr. Fisher adds:

"The situation demands effective and immediate action, as at any moment an unpremeditated explosion of racial sentiment may lead to the most serious eventualities. Jugo-Slavs to the number of 18,000, all armed, occupied Fiume under the command of a Serbian captain, altering the normal proportion of the different races among the inhabitants.

The main factor in the maintenance of law and order is the presence of a small Italian squadron. The Italian population is in a state of trepidation amounting almost to terror. The Jugo-Slavs have proclaimed that the name Fiume is now changed to the Slav name of Rika.

Formal application has been made to the Italian admiral by four Hungarian delegates from the republican part of Hungary for passports to Berne, as they are unable to secure facilities to reach Switzerland by way of Austria. The delegates are Paul Kerl, Nicolas Vadasz, Dr. Othon Ernst and George Debolom.

"Some of the vessels in the harbor here which formerly belonged to the Austrian mercantile marine, now are flying the Jugo-Slav flag, while others have the Croatian flag. The Italian maritime authorities have refused to recognize these ensigns.

"The situation is extremely perilous. Aside from the final territorial solution there is the utmost urgency for the protection of the lives of about 50,000 Italians. Either an Italian or an allied force should be landed here and the Jugo-Slav bands disarmed and induced to leave the city."

It is reported here that American troops had been ordered to occupy Fiume in the name of the allied, and to restore order.

PITIALE CONDITIONS AMONG BRITISH PRISONERS OF WAR IN GERMANY DESCRIBED

Thousands of Captives, Now Released From Slavery, Are Returning to France Daily—All Are in a State of Hunger, Raggedness and Misery; Treated With Indescribable Brutality

By Courier Leased Wire.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Pitiable conditions among British prisoners of war, who have been liberated by the Germans since the signing of the armistice are described by Reuters correspondent at French headquarters. Thousands of these men, mostly British, are entering France daily. The correspondent writes:

"I have never seen human beings in such a state of raggedness, hunger and misery. When the camps at Forbach, thirty-eight miles east of Metz, as well as those elsewhere were broken up, the prisoners, some of them were captured during the March offensive, were told to clear out and seek help from their allies. They started to walk the 50 or 60 miles to the allied lines, but were given no food and had no money. They were in shameful rags, the soles dropping off their boots. Some wore clogs and no socks.

"They left the prison camps in droves of hundreds, in charge of German officers and soldiers who had deserted. The weather was very cold, and many died by the roadside within a few miles from friends. When the survivors entered the French lines, French soldiers who were hardened war heroes, were horrified to see men in such a plight. It is not doubted that this suffering was intentionally imposed upon the British. Prisoners of other nationalities are agreed that the British were treated worse than the others at all German camps."

A further report of Sir Robert Younger's committee dealing with the treatment of British prisoners in the coal and salt mines of Germany gives harrowing details of brutal treatment by the Germans. This report says:

"From testimony scarcely a month old, it is evident that there is no sign of improvement whatever in the treatment of prisoners in Germany. This disgrace is open and flagrant, and the only possible inference is that Berlin deliberately approves of it. There is no doubt that work in the mines is inflicted as punishment. Here is an extract from a letter dated May 29 last from a British private soldier.

"We have had little to eat since we left Hameln. Two of our number have gone to the hospital with broken arms, and the remainder are suffering from cuts on their heads and bruises as the result of floggings they received at the last place. I fell in a faint unable to work any longer last Saturday, and the man in charge, a civilian, kicked me back into my senses and kept me down in the mine sixteen hours after all my gang had gone up. If you could only see the boys here. They all look like dead men. They are worked to death."

A record of daily promiscuous violence might be much further illustrated. To scores of men who had given evidence concerning the mining camps, kicks, blows and insults became a part of the normal routine. Here is an example from the testimony of a man who had been at one of the Hameln salt mines:

"In January, 1918, I refused to complete my task as it was a physical impossibility. I was taken out of the mine dressed only in shirt and drawers—it is too hot in the mine to wear anything else—and put for the night in a hut which was not weather-proof. In the morning it was half full of snow. The next day I was taken to the mine and again beaten until I had finished my task. I had received nothing to eat from the time I went down into the mine on the first morning until two o'clock the next afternoon."

It is impossible to say how many prisoners' lives were sacrificed, for, until more evidence is given by men who have been set free, the exact conditions must remain in obscurity.

KING MADE ENTRY INTO BRUSSELS

Albert of Belgium Returned in Triumph to His Capital Yesterday

A DRAMATIC SCENE

Monarch's Prophecy Made in 1914 is at Last Fulfilled

By Courier Leased Wire.

Brussels, Friday, Nov. 22.—King Albert entered Brussels this morning at 10 o'clock. He was accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, Princes Leopold and Charles, and Princess Marie Jose.

The royal party entered at the Porte de Flandres, and proceeded to the Place de la Nation, receiving a tremendous ovation along the streets. Entering the parliament house, King Albert and his family listened to an address of welcome. Then followed a review of allied troops which formed a line ten miles long.

Flowers were thrown in the path of King Albert as the procession made its way along the boulevards, lined for miles with dense throngs. As this dispatch is being written the noise of cheering rolls continually like thunder across the city.

King Albert and his two sons were on horseback. The crown prince was on his right, and was dressed in khaki, while his younger brother was dressed in the uniform of a midshipman.

The city is wearing its gala dress and the influx of thousands during recent days has made it impossible for all to obtain lodgings. Many are sleeping in public halls and shelters.

The return of King Albert to his capital recalls the king's prophecy in an interview with the Associated Press only a few months after the Belgians had checked the first rush of the Germans. In the dispatch reporting this interview, given on December 26, 1914, at the king's headquarters in West Flanders, the following passage occurred:

"Your majesty it has been predicted that you will re-enter your capital within three months," the correspondent said.

The king shook his head and, saying:

"Not so soon, but some day I shall ride into Brussels at the head of the Belgian army."

British, French and American troops marched with the Belgian king to Brussels yesterday when King Albert made his entry into his capital, says The Daily Mail's correspondent, who witnessed the entry.

"I have seen many great coronations at many places," the correspondent writes. "It is easy to be impressive, but I have never seen so vast a crowd so carried away by a tumult of fervor. Put a modern artillery battery into terms of delight and you have some idea of the ecstasy of a people, who felt that their release from captivity coincided with the birth of the millennium."

"The royal family stood for the return of peace. The king was at the head of the army which had won that peace by its sacrifice. Two divisions of the Belgian army occupying something like fifteen miles of roads, marched in the procession, accompanied by battalions of French, American and British troops with artillery. This procession was far down the Grand route, while the front was passing down the Rue Royale.

Ex-Minister of War, Mr. K. de Broqueville, promised his wife on last wedding day that he would have their wedding anniversary on their golden wedding anniversary. They are now enjoying it in California.

RELEASE AND NEW TRIAL FOR MOONEY URGED

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 23.—The Federation of Labor is doing all in its power to produce a release and new trial for Thomas J. Mooney, according to President Compeers of that organization, who arrived yesterday from the Mexican border. He declined to discuss the movement for a general strike.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Decision not to call a general strike as a protest against the execution on December 13 of Thomas J. Mooney was reached last night by the San Francisco Labor Councils which as an alternative appointed a committee of ten to call personally on Governor Stephens and urge him to grant Mooney a new trial on one of the remaining murder indictments. Mooney was convicted in connection with the Preparedness Day Bomb explosion here, July 23, 1916. He is in San Quentin prison.

Moses Filasing is reeve of the township of Carriok, which is almost entirely populated by Germans; was fined $800 and costs for dilapidated and wretched utterances made in the village of Midway.

The majority decided on leaving Brantford at 10:17. Others will go earlier, but all will assemble at the Parliamentary Buildings at 1:30, the appointment with the Premier being at 2 o'clock.

The general arrangements and speakers programme are being prepared by the Committee appointed at the Woodstock Meeting, viz. Messrs. V. A. Sinclair, M. P. F., J. C. Elliott, M. P. P., W. S. Brewster, C. C. and Russell T. Kelly. Badges for the Brantford contingent are being provided by the Chairman of its Committee.

Deserters Organizing.

Paris, Nov. 22.—A million deserters from the Austrian armies organized in large and small bodies and calling themselves Green Guards are established in fortified camps in the forests of almost every part of south-eastern Europe, according to William J. Rose, agent of Slovene Government in Laibach, the new capital of Slovakia, and of the Polish provisional government in Austrian Silesia.

Mr. Rose, who is from Winnipeg, Man., is now in Paris. He is an Oxford University man and is secretary of the World's Christian Student Federation in Poland. Throughout the war Mr. Rose has been living quietly in a country house near Cieszyn, in Austrian Silesia. He has now prepared for Col. House a lengthy memorandum on the situation. What Society is doing

TO OUR FLANDERS DEAD
Sleep, Flanders dead, and take your rest.
The cause you died for has been bluest with victory.
Your kinsmen true called not to keep the faith with you they bore the torch from East to West.
They took the quarrel and knew no rest.
Till Freedom every hand possessed.
They sleep in peace the ages through.
In Flanders fields.

While o'er your graves the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
And larks sing gaily overhead,
Glad hearts proclaim you are not dead.
You live in deeds, who sleep below
In Flanders fields.

SUBSTITUTE FOR COAL.
Is Being Utilized in France and Switzerland.

As a substitute for coal on the continent, saw dust and wood are recommended for use in France and Switzerland. In Geneva 10 per cent of sawdust is added to the coal in vertical retorts, and, as an alternative, logs of wood three feet in length are placed on the retorts, which then contain only charges of 600 pounds, instead of 1,240 pounds of coal. Wood and coal are worked alternately on two benches, and the gases not being kept separate, the resulting tars are not acid. At La Chaux de Fonds, Switzerland, the retorts are of France, 375 pounds of coal are mixed with 66 pounds of coal in horizontal retorts, which take 990 pounds of coal. In Neuchâtel the coal is mixed with 28 per cent of wood.
Roughly two pounds of seasoned wood have a fuel value equal to one pound of coal. Different kinds of wood have different fuel values, and in general the greater the dry weight of a non-resinous wood the more heat it will give out when burned.
For such species as hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, locust, long-leaf pine or cherry, which have comparative high fuel values, one cord weighing about 4,000 pounds, or a cord and a half one ton of coal, takes a cord and a half of short-leaf pine, hemlock, red gum, Douglas fir, spruce, or soft maple, which, when about 2,000 pounds each, or a ton and a half, of white cedar, redwood, poplar, catalpa, Norway pine, cypress, basswood, spruce and white pine, two cords, weighing about 2,000 pounds each, or 4,000 pounds are required.

Feminism in the Far East.
Under pressure of the world war, "The Moveless East" has moved. Dr. Patrick, of the American College for Women at Constantinople, writes that education for women has gone steadily forward. Women in Turkey are pursuing all manner of new occupations formerly reserved for men. Armenian girls are beginning to show special talent for scientific work. Many of them are studying to be physicians.
India and Bulgaria comes the same story of girls crowding the classes of the colleges. Even the Hindu widows are rising, pressing forward into education, industry, and industry. Some 2,000 women in Peking are making soldiers' uniforms, thousands are in the factories of Shanghai, carried to and from the mills in wheelbarrows; many others are doing distinguished service in the professions. The Japanese Government employs 12,543 women in one department alone.
Broad and strong is the advance—hundreds, thousands, millions of women doing more than they ever did before, doing different things, new things, bigger things, better things and doing their special work of modern life more and more wisely. The movement is general and swiftly increasing. And here and there, pushing ahead, planting new standards for the others, we see the leaders, the innovators, the women record-breakers of to-day—World Outlook.

Savages Fond of the Banjo.
The banjo, in its primitive form, is found in use today by savage tribes in equatorial Africa. It is a calabash or half a one, with strings of some sort across it, and it perhaps the most important instrument of music at cannibal feasts and on other joyous social occasions.
Coal Flows Like Water.
In a great steel works at Pittsburgh powdered coal flows like water through 1,500 feet of four-inch pipe under a pressure of 40 pounds to the square inch, and flows so rapidly that four tons have been put through a 500-foot line in five minutes.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 24

JACOB AND ESAU RECONCILED.

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 31:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—A soft answer turneth away wrath.—Proverbs 15:1.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Psalm 66.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Genesis 32:1-33:11.
From Bethel, Jacob went to Padanaram to his mother's people. Here he served Laban for twenty years—fourteen years for his wives and six years for certain wages. In his dealings with Laban he finds his match—two schemes get together—diamond cuts diamond.

1. Jacob Departs for Canaan (31:1-21).
The time had come for Jacob to go back to his kindred in the land of Canaan. The Lord instructed him so to do (v. 13). Though going forward under the direction of God, his Jacob nature caused him to take clandestine leave of Laban. Laban realized the situation he went in hot pursuit, but God appeared upon him in a dream and warned him against any act of violence toward Jacob. They formed a compact and Laban returned home.

2. Jacob on the Way (chapter 32).
Laban's return freed Jacob from the enemy who was pursuing him from the west. He faced a more formidable one in the person of Esau.
1. Jacob meeting the angels (v. 1).
Two camps of angels met him to give him the assurance that God would be with him according to his promise. Notwithstanding this, he continued to scheme. He sent a deputation with a message of good cheer to Esau.
2. Jacob praying (vv. 9-12).
Esau made no reply to Jacob's message, but went forward with an army of men, four hundred strong, to meet Jacob. Jacob is in great distress, therefore he casts himself upon God in prayer. This is a fine specimen of effectual prayer. It is short, direct, and earnest. (1) He reminds God of his covenant relationship in Christ. He also of the covenant promise (31:3). Surely God would not issue a command and then leave him in such a strait. (2) Pleads God's promise as to his personal safety (v. 9, cf. Genesis 28:15-16, 31:38). In our praying we should definitely plead God's promises in his word, on the ground of covenant relationship in Christ. (3) Confesses unworthiness (v. 10). In this he shows the proper spirit of humility. (4) Presents definite petitions (v. 11). He lays before the Lord the definite request to be delivered from the wrath of Esau.
3. The night of Jehovah wrestling with Jacob (32:24-32).
In God's school of discipline, Jacob is making some progress, but still he is under the sway of selfish will and self-trust. Though he had laid the matter definitely before the Lord, he thought that his scheming would render God some assistance. Accordingly, he sent presents ahead to appease the anger of Esau. While journeying along, a man met him and wrestled with him, but Jacob knew not who he was. Perhaps he thought that Esau had pounced upon him in the dark. He exerted every ounce of strength in what he thought was the struggle for his very life. The morning was approaching, and still the wrestlers continued. Jacob not knowing the identity of his opponent, but still he is under the sway of selfish will and self-trust. THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

CHAPTER LXXXII
Ruth Plans for Her Aunt's Entertainment.

"Oh, Brian! Aunt Louisa is coming! Coming to-morrow. She will be here on that seven o'clock train. We must both go and meet her. When did you hear?" Brian tried to look interested, tried to put some enthusiasm into his voice. Ruth was so unaffectedly happy that he must not allow her to see he did not share her joy.

The letter came this afternoon. Hurry up, dear, we must get through dinner. I have so much to do.

"Why what are you going to do so different?"

"I must fix the guest room so it will look home-like, then I want to get a list ready for the marketing so Rachel will be sure to have everything we need in the house. I do want Aunt Louisa to have a good time while she is here. I am so glad the house is so pretty, aren't you?"

"Yes, if you are," he replied, not ungraciously. Although he felt a twinge of jealousy—as he always did when Ruth mentioned the beauty of the home which she alone had made possible for them.

"I shall stay at home all day Saturday. I know Mr. Mandell will let me and we must get tickets for the theatre Saturday night. Auntie loves the theatre."

"I'll look up the plays after dinner. This was one thing he could do. Help in the plan for Saturday evening. Monday was his lesson night. So he would not be able to be with them that night.

It never entered his head to forget his lesson, to give up the evening spent with Mollie because Mrs. Clayborne was coming. In fact he experienced a feeling of relief as he thought it would be one less to spend under her sharp eye. He realized perfectly she had not wanted Ruth to marry him because Ruth had gone to work. Then, too, she was apt to question him. He would not endure any prying into his business; nor any questions as to his resources.

All the evening Ruth chattered, flying about the apartment or seated at her desk, making the list for Rachel, and adding to the many such things as were not procurable at her aunt's home.

"We must give her the things she cannot get at home," she said to Brian, her brows knitting over her task. I do so want everything to be perfect for her, Brian. Be sure to get good seats for the play. I would rather not go again all winter if I do not take her as we should—as she is accustomed."

"Don't worry! I'll see to that."

There followed a discussion as to what they should see. Finally a musical comedy which had been very favorably noticed in the papers, was decided upon.

"You better get the seats on your way down in the morning," Ruth said. And looking up because of his failure to answer, she noted the flush on his face.

"He has no money!" she thought. Then "Why is it that, whenever he is out late he has no money the next day?" I wonder—the thought in her mind was so staggering she paused in the thinking.

That Brian might gamble, never had entered her mind. But she had read of men who, wanting money, took chances in that way. They always stayed out late too. Did Brian gamble? To her surprise a feeling, very like relief, rushed over her. Anything—anything—was better than spending his time with Mollie Kin. Opening her purse she quietly laid a ten dollar bill on the table.

"Here, take it and get good seats. Not further back than the 7th or 8th row in the orchestra," she said, then turned back to her list for Rachel, so giving him time to put the money in his pocket.

"I'll get the best I can," he returned. "Tell Rachel to have breakfast a little earlier. That theatre is a bit out of my way, you know."

"Very well, that's finished," Ruth rose, and in a glance, saw he had taken the money she had laid down.

"What a goose he is to be so sensitive," she thought, and then leaned over, as she passed him, to kiss his cheek.

"Where are you going?" he asked, detaining her and returning her caress.

"To the kitchen to give this to Rachel, she waved her list, her face shining because of his caress.

"My what a list we're going to live on the fat of the land, it is evident, while your aunt is with us."

"You bet we are, if we starve afterwards."

A weather-benched shingle and though not wishing to interfere with local officials, made it very plain that on his next visit he will leave the magistrate to do the talking. We thought it best to inform our readers in time in order that the "bread" may not arrive unexpectedly. Wear markers, the proper ones, and keep them clean for the local constable has been warned and is not disposed to let the fines go to Toronto if they have to be levied. That's all.

Big Pickle Order.
 Lea Bros. have received a large order for pickles for overseas. The goods will go to his Majesty's men of war. The company is to be congratulated in that their product enjoys such a wide reputation for excellence. Incidentally it is pertinent to observe that though Simcoe did not profit from the manufacture of munitions, our factories got a fair share of orders for their ordinary output, and the outlook now is that not a single wheel would stop turning were every order cancelled at a moment's notice. Rather is it apparent that all of them will run at capacity. The evaporator opened early for its second season and has been running continuously, Sundays excepted, for some weeks with prospects of a large output during the winter.

Odd Ends of News.
 Adjutant and Mrs. Wiseman of the Salvation Army have been advised that on leaving Simcoe next Thursday they will proceed to Barrie, Ontario. To-morrow will be the last Sunday of a very faithful ministry in Simcoe. Capt. Bird and Lieut. Everhard, two lady officers, will leave the work here.

Misses Gladys and Martha Boughner of Copetown are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Boughner, Colborne street south.

Mrs. Frank McGillivray, who is suffering from influenza, has been taken ill while on a visit with her sister-in-law, was yesterday morning reported as having passed the crisis of a very severe attack.

Mr. Horace Kellum has estimated that with fair weather the corporation wood lot will be cleared of every standing tree by the end of next week. He thinks that less than one-fourth of the wood has been taken to town. And he points out that it is imperative that all the down timber be taken away at once lest it become buried in snow.

Last night brought, possibly the first real frost of the autumn. It is now advisable for auto owners to drain off the radiator before leaving the car for the night.

The Canadian Express, G.N.V. and Ford garage offices are temporarily located in the Norfolk House block.

It is not too late to contribute to the Christmas trolley for the navy. Most anyone will tell you how.

Clean Up Auto Markers.
 Simcoe had a visit from a Provincial officer whose duty it is to see that the traffic rules and the Motor Vehicles Act is enforced. He took in the situation and promised to call again. He has called at all garages and interpreted the meaning of dealers' license, he has indicated that a dirty marker is no better than

Getting Back Three Million Dollars

THE PAPER CONTROLLER for Canada a few weeks ago added $12 a ton to the price of news print paper—the kind used in printing the Courier. This addition, following closely upon several previous increases authorized by the Paper Controller, has meant to Canadian newspaper publishers a total increased publishing cost, in the matter of paper alone, in the past eighteen months, of three million dollars. This very considerable sum Canadian publishers must recover from their customers, their readers and advertisers.

In connection with the earlier increases the readers of many daily newspapers have been required to pay $1 or more per year for their newspapers, while the subscription price of very many weekly newspapers has been increased from 50 to 100 per cent. In many cases still further increases will be necessary.

But all the three million dollars increase in paper costs cannot be loaded on readers; some of this sum must come from the advertisers—this in the form of increased advertising rates. Advertising rates in Canada are, generally speaking, much lower per thousand in circulation than in the United States. Speaking on this point the editor of Marketing, a Canadian advertisers' newspaper published in Toronto, says in his last issue: "In meeting the Canadian publishers' calls for higher rates, advertising buyers should not fail to recognize that for years they have benefited by the publisher's undervaluation of his space, and should be the more willing on that account to recognize the present necessities." To all of which The Courier agrees.

A DIFFICULT VOYAGE.
 Baltimore, Md., Nov. 23.—Captain John S. Fawes has arrived in this city after his trip to the Faroe Islands, where he carried a cargo of food to the starving Danes in the schooner Herbert May. He was at Halifax when the great explosion occurred there. After repairs he started for the Faroes, but bad weather carried him to Spitzbergen, Iceland, where he tried to make harbor, but was unable. With rudder disabled he sought the Shetland Islands, and after a long time made repairs and reached the Faroes. The entire trip occupied eleven months.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING
Christmas Day is only about a month distant and there is of course going to be the usual amount of shopping for who among us would forego the usual tokens which make of this such a blessed period of affection and good will.

All the more should that spirit be manifested in view of the end of the war and such without any doubt will prove to be the case.

It is an excellent plan to make up the list of gifts as early as possible with a view to present buying. Such method not only contributes to better choice, but also gives store attendants more time in which to suit your needs. Rush buying is neither fair to yourself nor to them.

Courier advertisements tell you where to go and the goods offered by firms using these columns can be relied upon.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.
For the first year after the war, business was apprehensive and we all know now without any valid cause.

In like manner there is in some instances a tendency to show timidity now that hostilities have ceased, but there is every reason to believe that this also is a mistake.

In yesterday's Courier there were some very reassuring interviews with manufacturers in this regard. The tone of each one of them was optimistic in the matter of employment prospects. A very little consideration will show such a feeling to be warranted. Countries devastated by the terrible struggle will have to be built up again and the Dominion east and west take a very large part in contributing towards that rehabilitation. The demand for agricultural implements and other necessities will undoubtedly prove enormous and the industrial wheels cannot under such circumstances fail to be kept busily turning.

Moreover, without any question there is going to be a very large increase of immigrants to these shores. Canada, through the heroic deeds of her boys overseas, has achieved a place in the sun such as she never held before and there will be an influx of many thousands, a large number going on the land with all their needs to be supplied.

As far as the farmers are concerned remunerative prices for their produce cannot fail to be of long continuance.

Looked at from every angle therefore this is most decidedly not a time for pessimism, but for boundless hope and enterprise. Those who hang back will see others reap what they might just as easily have achieved if possessed of equal faith. Confidence is one of the greatest assets of a country as well as of an individual, and it is at this time most fully warranted as far as this highly favored portion of the American continent is concerned.

THEY ARE WHINING

The unspeakable Hun has commenced to whine and plead. The claim is advanced that Great Britain has accomplished all the ends for which she entered the war—the protection of Belgium and France and the conversion of Germany into a democratic state—and that "a cruel exploitation" of the Fatherland is neither justified nor fair play. Some of the leading members of the National Council of Women in Germany have also appealed to the wife of President Wilson to use her good offices to help prevent the "unspeakable disaster" of the Allied terms.

"Cruel exploitation" and "unspeakable disaster" eh? Those are nice phrases to come from a nation which wantonly and without the shadow of an excuse, visited such things upon Belgium and Northern France and Roumania and Serbia and all the rest of the peoples of the war devastated area. Not only did they exploit and devastate material things, but also the bodies and the honor of myriads of men, women and children, murdering and innocents by under sea methods and from the air.

Who in the Fatherland then protested? As a matter of fact, they were all in the British business either as perpetrators or approvers. They smacked their lips over the assassinations of Nurse Cavell and Capt. Fry, et al, while a medal was struck and proudly displayed by the populace in commemoration of the sinking of the unarmed passenger ship the Lusitania, with a holiday in addition to impress upon the school children the glory of that deed.

SHIPS IN NEW YORK HARBOR DRESS UP WHEN PEACE NEWS COMES.
When the news of the signing of the armistice reached the ships in the surrounding waters of New York, the crews immediately dressed the ships in varied colored bunting and flags of the allies for the first time since the commencement of the war. The photo, taken the same day, shows a British ship decorated in the Hudson River.

Does any one doubt what would have happened had the Hohenzollern-Hapsburg outfit succeeded? Does any one question what would have been done to King Albert of Belgium, or King George of Great Britain, or that if the soldiers of the ex-All Highest had ever set foot on British soil, that the wholesale massacre of the people there would have made the darkest days of the French Revolution seem like child's play?

The brutes are smelting now, but in reality the Allied program is letting them off a thousandfold more easily than what they have done to others and would have still further wreaked, had they come out on top. Moreover, there will be deep resentment unless the Kaiser and other chief offenders are not in addition brought to trial.

WON'T STAND FOR IT

Indications are not wanting that for any reorganization of the Liberal party as such, Sir Wilfrid Laurier will not be acceptable as leader to a great many of his former adherents. During the course of his recent speech at London, he made the remark with reference to the stand he took against Conscription:—"I would not be worthy of the name of Liberal, if I had taken any other attitude than I did."

The Toronto Globe and other papers of that stripe, resent this implication, and the former asks those of that side who honorably and sincerely endorsed compulsory service if they are going to accept "Sir Wilfrid's dictum that they were unworthy of the name of Liberal" in so doing.

The truth of the matter is that the veteran statesman was out of joint with public feeling when he took the stand he did, and that he is perpetrating another huge mistake in attempting now to question the standing of those who differed from him.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Turkey, it is said, will ask for expert advisers. Probably wants to know how much is left of it.

A correspondent of the London Times, who visited Germany, states that from pauper to millionaire there is nothing but the most bitter hatred of England. They evidently know full well to who they owe their downfall.

King Albert made a triumphant re-entry into his capital, and no man more than he deserved the magnificent enthusiasm which marked the occasion.

Lord Robert Cecil, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs in Great Britain, has resigned, and also Mr. Clynes, Food Controller. The former has always had the resigning habit, and the last named is probably following the decision of Labor to withdraw from office because of the approaching elections.

ENDORSE LYCEUM COURSE.

The programs for the Lyceum Course, under the auspices of the Brant Chapter of I.O.O.F., have first been submitted to Judge Hardy, Mr. R. H. Reville, and Mr. W. G. Raymond, who are fully satisfied the course is on its merits well worthy of public patronage and have given permission to use their names as endorsing the entertainments.

Copenhagen, Nov. 22.—The Soviet authorities of Russia have ordered that a cruiser be ready at the shortest notice, to sail from the mouth of the Neva River in the Gulf of Finland, and it is announced that in case of danger fourteen members of the government will embark for a neutral port, according to Petro-

Your Problems Solved

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Dr. Linscott in this column will help you solve your heart problems, religious, marital, social, financial and every other anxious care that perplexes you. If a personal answer is required, enclose a five cent stamp. No names will be published, if you prefer, sign your initials only, or use a pseudonym.

Business Insolvency—In answer to "One Who Feels Bankruptcy." The commercial agencies record an astonishing number of business men that bankrupt. There are various causes for this, one of the most prolific being a lack of enterprise, which is manifested by not advertising. It is a rare occurrence that a man fails who is a persistent advertiser. Prosperity is at once a cause and an effect of advertising. Advertising in "The Courier" brings prosperity and prosperity increases advertising. The most prosperous houses are the extensive advertisers.

Moral Power—Rev. J. M. J. asks me, "What is the limit to our moral influence?" There is no limit, the possibilities are infinite. The faith of the mother of Moses which saved her babe from death gave to the world the greatest scholar, statesman, warrior, and leader of a great nation that the world has ever known. His influence has moulded the legislation of all civilized nations, has inspired to hundreds of millions and will go on with its ever widening power until time shall be no more. You can supply the balance of my answer.

Pineapples and War.

The pineapple growers and packers of the Hawaiian Islands are also doing their part in producing food for the world's war. The 1918 crop is estimated at about 3,400,000 cases valued at about $11,000,000. The canneries are now working almost night and day to get the delicious fruit into cans in perfect condition.

The rapid growth of this industry is shown by what the Hawaiian Pineapple Co. is doing. Every fifty-four minutes packing now equals the total packed the first year the cannery was operated. Every morning's and every afternoon's packing equal a total for entire second year. A day's packing has equalled the total for the entire third year. In three consecutive days more pineapple was packed than the first complete four years of their operations.

Evading Food Rules.

That there are loopholes in the best laid schemes of the Food Ministry is illustrated by the following stories from London. A few days ago a hostess had a surprise visit from three hungry subalterns. Neither she nor they had any meat coupons. A friendly butcher put one and one-half pounds of rump steak through a sausage machine, instructing the customer how to make what before the war were called "Vienna sausages" out of what his conscience allowed him to call "sausage meat." (Sausage meat containing less than 40 per cent of meat may be sold without coupons.)

No holiday party is complete without an empty jug. It is against the food regulations to serve customers with a glass of milk, but you can buy as much milk as is available in your own jug. A "jug lent" department as an annex to milk shops may come into fashion. (Milk as a beverage is forbidden to all persons over ten years of age.)

CHILDREN'S FOOD FOR FLETCHER'S CASTOR OIL

Vladivostok Has Become One of the Great Centres of the Plans of the Allies

THE great Russian port of Vladivostok is now one of the great centres for the Allied armies. At the end of March commanders of the British and Japanese ships in the port found it necessary to land armed forces to protect the interests of their nationals and to preserve order because the Bolshevik element had made a raid on a Japanese business establishment and attacked other foreign nationals in the streets. The landing force was requested to protect certain thoroughfares and wharves by the consular body, which was afraid that an attempt might be made to blow up or burn the vast quantity of stores which had been sent by the Allied Governments to Russia. Before the downfall of the Czar, however, the Siberian railway was not able to handle the vast quantity of military supplies which ship after ship was dumping on the wharves. The stores were worth many millions of dollars and it was principally to save these from destruction that the British and Japanese landed marines.

Before the landing of these forces robbery and holdups in broad daylight were of common occurrence, and in February of this year the largest hotel in the town was raided by a band of ruffians, who systematically went through the occupant of each room and took from him all his valuables. It is estimated that the amount of money secured in this haul was $25,000. I was in Vladivostok in the revolution in 1905 and for some time after, when robbery, often with violence, was a daily occurrence. The advent of the foreign forces proclaimed the death knell of acts of this kind and other disorders and in the areas where foreign patrols operated safety of life and property were immediately obtained.

Although Vladivostok is young it is a town of wonderful architecture. The shops, clubs, churches, and residential houses are of solid structure, and these in conjunction with the imposing business establishments give Vladivostok a very imposing appearance. Although the streets are broad and mapped out on a broad and comprehensive plan, many of the streets of the main thoroughfare have wooden sidewalks and gutters are full of filth and garbage. Great numbers of beggars are constantly met with.

Like most other Russian far eastern towns Vladivostok what can be termed a "free city" that is to say every one does pretty well as he likes. The town does not appear to wake up until midnight. Then the cafe chatars and the restaurants and business, the houses devoted to this form of entertainment being very numerous, the restaurants, with their string bands, seldom closing before daylight. The safety, freedom and lack of care are typically Russian, even in these hard times. There may be an uprising or a riot at 3 p.m., but at midnight the town will be full of life; champagne will be tossed off with a reckless astounding to the foreigner, who knows the high prices ruling for this beverage.

Despite all this glare and glitter of night life there is much poverty in Vladivostok. A large portion of the male population of the city was called to the colors in 1914. The separation allowance was of the smallest. Most of the Vladivostok contingent were killed in the early stages of the war; those returning being mostly crippled and men unfit for hard manual labor. The pensions which the wounded men were to receive, and the allowances to the wives and families of the men killed have been stopped since the Bolsheviks took over the government, thus throwing a large portion of the population on the charity of their more wealthy brethren.

The cost of commodities in Vladivostok has gone up many times over since the outbreak of war and many things are unobtainable. The value of the rouble is at the present time about 33 cents Mexican (5 1/2 cents) at the outbreak of war it stood at 1.05 Mexican (52 cents). Many imports have to be paid for on a gold basis. As in Russia proper, the Bolsheviks demanded an unheard of wage

TOGETHER WITH MANY MERCHANDISE PRIZES

Herewith will be found the picture of an Aviator who has just dropped a bomb on a pile of shells. At first glance the Aviator and the Bomber appear to be all there is in the picture, but by careful study the faces of several soldiers will be found. There are 7 of them in all. Can you find them? It is an easy task but you must be careful not to miss any of the soldiers' faces. You may win a cash prize by doing so. Many have done this as will be shown by the names and addresses which we will send you. If you find the faces mark each one with an X, cut out the picture and send it to us together with a slip of paper on which you have written the words "I have found the faces of seven soldiers in this picture." Write these words plainly and neatly, in ink on one side, both writing and printing are considered factors in this contest.

This may take up a little of your time but as TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and many merchandise prizes are given away, it is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter. Remember all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces and names of seven soldiers in this picture."

WE DO NOT ASK YOU TO SPEND ONE CENT OF YOUR MONEY IN ORDER TO ENTER THIS CONTEST

Send your answer at once; we will reply by return mail telling you whether your answer is correct or not, and we will send you a complete list of names together with the names and addresses of persons who have recently received over Four Thousand Five Hundred Dollars in Cash. Names from us and full particulars of a simple condition that must be fulfilled. (This condition does not involve the spending of any of your money.) Names of cash prizes in our list complete set in our list. The contest will be held by the winners of cash prizes only. Send your answer to:

Within the past few days several children have been apprehended stealing coal and as a result their parents will face charges of theft in the Police Court shortly. AMEND WAR TIME BAN.
Amendment has been made to the order in Council placing a war-time ban on the I. W. W. and similar organizations in Canada. The general clauses have been so extended as also to include, among others, an association which advises that any class should forcibly take possession of all property "or forcibly abolish all private ownership of property," or "which teaches, advocates, advises or defends the cheating or defrauding of employers of labor by accepting employment with the secret purpose and intention of slackening or retarding production and thereby decreasing the profits of such employers or of otherwise interfering with and injuring their trade and business."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"It is new—and it is wonderful"
"In a moment of curiosity I stepped in to see and hear this new phonograph. I had no idea what a surprise I was due for."
"The young man who volunteered to demonstrate the Vocallion for me chose as his first record an 'Ave Maria' played by Eugene Ysaie."
"The Vocallion sounded the first notes."
"Have you ever been really thrilled by music from a phonograph? I never had until that moment. The tones the Vocallion was bringing from the record were true violin tones—none of the richness, the appealing qualities produced by the master's bow were lost."
"Record after record was played for me. I sat entranced, gripped by the marvelous naturalness."
"Then I tried the Gradus, the Vocallion expression device I had heard so much about. I drew the tone to a fine pianissimo. I pressed it to its fullest volume—I controlled the voice of the record."
"The pleasure of it?—It isn't describable. You must try it yourself."
"So my views on the phonograph have been completely reversed. It is new and wonderful—this phonograph, the Aeolian-Vocallion."

Please—Return All Milk Bottles

ARE you a hoarder of milk bottles?
Do you realize that every milk bottle you keep when empty, helps boost the price of milk.
Glass, and particularly bottle glass, has increased in price by leaps and bounds. Milk bottles today cost twice as much as they did before the war. The price is still rising.

Every breakage, every bottle you use for convenience around the house—in fact every bottle you do not return promptly, means added expense to us.
Please, therefore, return promptly every bottle you use.
Please return all those bottles you have carelessly put aside and forgotten.
Be careful with them, see that none are broken.
If every family in Brantford will do this, a great saving will be made. It will materially help to keep down the price of milk.
Don't be a hoarder of milk bottles—put out all you have. In the morning. Thank you!

TOLD OF MISSION WOULD TRY KAISER AS A MURDERER
Miss Harrison Addressed the Women's Missionary Society Yesterday
Governor of Ohio Made Popular Suggestion in Toronto Last Night

The afternoon session of the Women's Missionary Society was featured by a most interesting address given by Miss Harrison, who has been for a good many years a missionary teacher in West China. She declared that the people of West China highly appreciated the services conducted by the society, and that the Gospel Hall services and mission halls and hospitals were favored by a large attendance. Since the missionaries have been in China the Jordan school has greatly enlarged in attendance. It was said that a few years ago if Chinese men, women or children were on the street or standing at their street doors and happened to see a member of the Women's Missionary Society coming along they would immediately pick up their children if any were there and run into the house afraid, but now since they have learned the work that the Women's Missionary Society are sent there for, and have learnt the religion they do all they can to attract the attention of others to the work. They highly appreciate the work of the Women's Missionary Society and they say that there is no other country so strong and powerful as Great Britain. Miss Harrison said that when she was in West China the streets were crowded with brigands. She pinned a Canadian flag to each of her bundles, however, and this emblem protected her against all molestation.

Miss Harrison remarked on the scarcity of missionary teachers in West China. There are only eighteen Women's Missionary Society workers teaching out there and the shortness of teachers has caused the closing down of a splendid technical school at Lau Jo. Next year there would only be sixteen workers out there. There are a large number of missionaries, but they will not be ready to go for two years until they have learnt the work which they will have to do out there.

Miss Harrison clearly remembers when German sent officers to China to train seven million Chinese soldiers. Mrs. Jones, who, with her husband recently returned from Japan, declared that we have some of the finest Women's Missionary Society women workers in Japan and China. Shultz remarked on the busy year which had passed. She had visited twenty-five missions during that time, giving addresses to each. It was also announced that the yearly offerings were $2,160.12, given by Brantford district, and it was hoped that the next district convention could be held at St. George.

A very entertaining dialogue was given by the Circle girls, Colborne Street Church, and was highly appreciated by the members. A short speech was given out before the members of the Women's Missionary Society by Miss Brooks, formerly of China. She said that when the place where she was teaching was crowded, the wealthier class of Chinese people opened a school of their own and procured a teacher, but they could teach three subjects, but they greatly appreciated the services given by the Women's Missionary Society. Miss Brooks told of the exciting incidents that occurred before the Chinese people learned the work of the missionaries.

It was announced by one of the members that Miss Florence Bothwell yesterday left Brantford on route for Japan to take up missionary teaching. Miss Bowers acted as pianist throughout the meeting, which was highly appreciated by the members of the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. Simpson was again elected president to act for another year. Miss Simpson was also elected by the members to act as secretary-treasurer for the Brant District.

INDIA CELEBRATED PEACE
 By Courier Leased Wire Simla, India, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press, via Reuters).—The signing of the armistice was celebrated by a public holiday, the firing of salutes, holding of parades and scenes of unprecedented rejoicing throughout India. A special parade was held at Simla in which huge crowds took part. The victory in a spirited address, declared that the empire had kept her pledge not to sheathe the sword until liberty had been secured. India had played a great and noble part in the war.  Youth is in every line of this smart little bolero dress, No. 5793. The jacket effect makes it particularly appropriate for street wear with a fur. Serge, tricotine or gabardine, with a glimpse of white satin, or wash materials such as organize or linen with the glimpse of organize may be used. The sleeveless gimp has a box plait at the front and the neck is finished with Peter Pan collar. The sleeves are long and close fitting, but they may be cut shorter if preferred. The straight skirt is in one piece, with straight lower edge, and it is gathered all around to the slightly raised waist line. The final touch is the very wide cranked girde of dress material.
 The miss' or small woman's dress pattern No. 5793 is cut in four sizes—14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Width at lower edge of skirt is 1 1/2 yards. The 16 year size requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch or 2 1/2 yards 44 inch material and 2 yards braid.

PURE RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale—is responsible for more ailments than anything else.
It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles.
It is responsible for run-down conditions, and is the most common cause of disease.
Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles, and building up the whole system. Get it today.

Gradually, 'Fruit-a-lives' overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. Also, I had severe Eczema and Constipation, and 'Fruit-a-lives' relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health." P. H. MCHUGH.

A very pleasant day was spent on Saturday, Nov. 16th, the occasion being a birthday party held at the home of Mrs. Sarah Deagle, who has reached the advanced age of 86 years. About thirty-three of the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Deagle were present. A remarkable feature was all the sisters of Mrs. Deagle were able to attend, and also a brother, Mr. Henry Kew, who is a number of years Mrs. Deagle's senior. The day was spent in visiting, and old-time chat. A number of nice presents were received in remembrance of the day, among them being an upholstered easy chair. We join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Deagle many happy returns of the day.
Another event of some interest which has taken place in our village at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dunston, was the anniversary of their 25th wedding day. A silver wedding was held in honor of that occasion. The family and quite a number of the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Dunston spent a pleasant day able outlook. Brother O. R. Schram, Junior Warden of the lodge, then advised all brethren to remain to participate in the "Fourth Degree," prepared so well by the ladies of the Guild of the Trinity Church in the I.O.O.F. lodge room. After about fifty, among whom were several from Brantford and Scotland, had enjoyed the repast to their hearts' content, all repaired again to the Masonic room, where the following toast list was proceeded with under the direction of Toastmaster R. N. Gibson, who in his introductory remarks stated that since the meeting of Wilson Lodge on Wednesday was its first after the signing of the armistice, it certainly was unique. This year, 1918, one could safely say, was, with probably one exception, the most important, the most momentous, in the history of the whole world.

The first toast, "The King and the Craft," was responded to by all joining in singing the National Anthem. Right Worshipful Brother J. Messecar of Scotland, however, proposed the toast, "The Grand Lodge of Canada," which was very ably responded to by Right Worshipful Brother W. B. Seace, D.D.G.M., and Very Worthy Brother M. Wilbee of Brantford, a member of the Board of General Purposes.
Right Worthy Brother J. Ross was next called upon to propose a toast to Our Guests. This he did in his usual happy style and the toast was ably responded to by Worthy Brothers J. Broadbent and W. E. Day of Brantford, and Dr. Anderson of Scotland.
Worthy Brother Gibson then requested the brethren to drink a silent toast to the "Brethren Overseas," at the conclusion of which Very Worthy Brother Russell of Brantford recited "In Flanders Fields," a most fitting selection for the occasion.
Bro. Capt. L. B. Reynolds was present and narrated graphically some of his experiences in the Great War.
A most delightful and profitable evening was brought to a close by the Junior Warden's toast, followed by "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

Mrs. A. C. Gourlie of Toronto is visiting her mother, Mrs. H. Teeter, in this place.
Mrs. P. McMartin and Miss Hazel McMartin have been visiting with friends in St. Thomas and also visiting Mr. P. McMartin, who is ill at the Amasa Woods Hospital. We are glad to hear that he is improving.

with them; visiting was the principal feature.
Mr. Harry Dunston of Brantford, who has recently returned from overseas, was present and very entertaining, giving some of his experiences while at the front. A lovely collection of presents was received in honor of the occasion. We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dunston every happiness and many happy returns of the day.
Our November meeting of the Middleport Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. Kirk, with a good attendance despite the unfavorable weather. A pleasant time was spent in music and recitation, after which the bazaar was held. A lovely collection of articles were brought and sold quite readily. A quilt made and donated to the bazaar by Mrs. R. Dougherty, president of the Institute, for which 300 tickets were sold, realized $30. The lucky number drawn was No. 8, of which Mr. R. Dougherty was the owner. Mr. Dougherty's wish was that if he drew the quilt it should be presented to the society again, and sold over again. A motion was carried to the effect that tickets be sold to the members and friends present, and a fresh draw made, but owing to some of the number objecting and would not purchase a ticket, and wished a second draw, Mr. David Douglas' ticket for the second draw was No. 13, and Mr. R. Dougherty willingly gave up the quilt to Mr. Douglas.

Mr. R. A. Fringle, K. C., the Paper Controller of Canada, has issued an order, effective January 1, 1919, which says:
"2. Discontinue sending paper within three months after date of expiration of subscription, unless the subscription is renewed and paid for."
There are many other restrictions imposed, but this one is the most important. Therefore, between now and the end of the year The Courier's subscription list must be overlapped and put on a paid-in-advance basis, in order to comply with a governmental order.
Accounts have already been sent out to those in arrears, but subscribers do not need to wait for a "dun" to spur them to action. The date on the label affixed to the paper sent to mail subscribers tells the story. City subscribers can learn how their subscription stands by referring to their last receipt.
The reason for this regulation of the Paper Controller is that it is the practice of some publishers to send their newspaper until ordered stopped, and this practice frequently means a failure to collect anything for subscriptions in arrears, in which case there is a virtual waste of paper. It is to prevent paper waste that the new regulation has been decided on.
The manufacture of paper consumes labor, wood, coal, chemicals and transportation facilities, and every ton of paper saved means just so much labor, raw materials, chemicals, fuel and transportation available for urgent war needs. For these reasons the Government insists that paper shall be saved, and proposes that only those who pay for their publications shall receive them.
Under these regulations The Courier will have no choice in the matter of dealing with subscriptions in arrears for over three months.
Send in your subscription at once. Do not delay, the collectors call regularly on city subscribers. Keep your account up-to-date.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your Particle (P.D) No you hair! Double its Beauty in just a few moments
"Danderine" makes your hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful
Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.
Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong, and beautiful.
A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.
—Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—thats all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Dyspepsia is an advanced stage of indigestion, arising from the stomach refusing to perform its normal functions. Digestion consists in the changing of foods from an insoluble form, so that they may pass through the walls of the alimentary canal and become part of the blood. The stomach keeps the food in almost constant motion for a considerable time to accomplish this purpose, and should this organ not be kept in good condition, indigestion results, to be followed in due course, if not relieved, by dyspepsia. You can keep the stomach performing its functions, and even relieve and cure dyspepsia if you get a Box at 50c from

To Subscribers in Arrears
Paper Controller Orders
Cutting Off of Unpaid Subscriptions!

Mr. R. A. Fringie, K. C., the Paper Controller of Canada, has issued an order, effective January 1, 1919, which says:
"Discontinue sending paper within three months after date of expiration of subscription, unless the subscription is renewed and paid for."
There are many other restrictions imposed, but this one is the most important. Therefore, between now and the end of the year The Courier's subscription list must be overlapped and put on a paid-in-advance basis, in order to comply with a governmental order.
Accounts have already been sent out to those in arrears, but subscribers do not need to wait for a "dun" to spur them to action. The date on the label affixed to the paper sent to mail subscribers tells the story. City subscribers can learn how their subscription stands by referring to their last receipt.
The reason for this regulation of the Paper Controller is that it is the practice of some publishers to send their newspaper until ordered stopped, and this practice frequently means a failure to collect anything for subscriptions in arrears, in which case there is a virtual waste of paper. It is to prevent paper waste that the new regulation has been decided on.
The manufacture of paper consumes labor, wood, coal, chemicals and transportation facilities, and every ton of paper saved means just so much labor, raw materials, chemicals, fuel and transportation available for urgent war needs. For these reasons the Government insists that paper shall be saved, and proposes that only those who pay for their publications shall receive them.
Under these regulations The Courier will have no choice in the matter of dealing with subscriptions in arrears for over three months.
Send in your subscription at once. Do not delay, the collectors call regularly on city subscribers. Keep your account up-to-date.

Mr. R. A. Fringie, K. C., the Paper Controller of Canada, has issued an order, effective January 1, 1919, which says:
"Discontinue sending paper within three months after date of expiration of subscription, unless the subscription is renewed and paid for."
There are many other restrictions imposed, but this one is the most important. Therefore, between now and the end of the year The Courier's subscription list must be overlapped and put on a paid-in-advance basis, in order to comply with a governmental order.
Accounts have already been sent out to those in arrears, but subscribers do not need to wait for a "dun" to spur them to action. The date on the label affixed to the paper sent to mail subscribers tells the story. City subscribers can learn how their subscription stands by referring to their last receipt.
The reason for this regulation of the Paper Controller is that it is the practice of some publishers to send their newspaper until ordered stopped, and this practice frequently means a failure to collect anything for subscriptions in arrears, in which case there is a virtual waste of paper. It is to prevent paper waste that the new regulation has been decided on.
The manufacture of paper consumes labor, wood, coal, chemicals and transportation facilities, and every ton of paper saved means just so much labor, raw materials, chemicals, fuel and transportation available for urgent war needs. For these reasons the Government insists that paper shall be saved, and proposes that only those who pay for their publications shall receive them.
Under these regulations The Courier will have no choice in the matter of dealing with subscriptions in arrears for over three months.
Send in your subscription at once. Do not delay, the collectors call regularly on city subscribers. Keep your account up-to-date.

IN THE WORLD OF LABOR

Municipal firemen in Baltimore, Md., have formed a union and affiliated with the International Association of Fire Fighters.

Trade unionists at St. Alban's, W. Va., have started a co-operative movement. Stock is being sold at $10 a share.

A department of labor representative in Marine Ferry, O., has awarded a basic eight hour day with time and one-half for overtime to organized employees of the Riverside Bridge Co.

The New York Evening Post, one of the oldest newspapers in that city has signed a union shop agreement with Typographical Union No. 6. For 34 years this publication has been non-union.

A commission created by the last California legislature is holding public hearings on the question of health insurance. The commission's verdict is intended to aid the legislature in passing upon this question.

A committee of attorneys is drafting a bill for presentation to the Oregon legislature which will permit propertyless citizens to serve as jurors in circuit courts. Under the present system jury lists are drawn from taxpayers and it is proposed to substitute registration lists for the tax roll.

The U. S. war industries board has devised a plan for stamping shoes that will check profiteering by holding prices to the range agreed upon by the board and manufacturers. Each manufacturer will be given a number which will be placed on shoes made by him and a class letter will indicate the price group to which the shoe belongs.

Mayor Babcock of Pittsburg, Pa., has recommended a war bonus of $180 a year for city employees receiving $3,000 or less a year, except laborers and other employees working under the union wage system. An increase in laborers' wages from 45 to 50 cents an hour and a standardization plan that would advance clerks $60 a year is also urged by the city executive.

The Florida State Food Administrator has warned the orange trade that profiteering in this commodity must cease. Oranges have been sold as high as 10 cents each, and the food administrator declares that "there is no reason why the fanciest oranges of the largest size should be sold by the retailer to the consumer at a price in excess of 5c."

The United States Steel Corporation has applied the basic eight-hour day throughout its properties on the Mesaba ore range. Under this system the employees will continue to work over eight hours but will be paid for overtime.

It is significant to note that the demands made by the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which met in Ottawa in 1917, in regard to rates of increase in pensions and separation allow-ments made not only by organized labor, but by the returned soldiers and their dependents in many widely separated districts in the Dominion.

T. A. Stephenson, secretary of the Toronto District Labor Council, has been asked by the government to act on the civil reconstruction and demobilization commission. Mr. Stephenson has not as yet decided whether to accept. This commission has to deal with some big questions, including reconstruction and return of the overseas soldiers to civilian life.

Labor must open wide the industrial and political doors and invite women to enter as an equal. She is half the human race and mother of the other half. The moral forces lying dormant within her and anxious for expression is tremendous, a force which the world of men must reckon with. The war has let loose this force, and is using it in a short while it will see new worlds to conquer. If harnessed on the side of the masses together men and women will usher in a world fit for the children of man, made in the image of God.—Mrs. Rose Henderson, of Montreal Juvenile Court.

AND LABOR COMES

The New Day breaks in a stormy world,
Jammed with war clouds black and grim.

And on battered battle flags untired
The morning light shines dim.
But the storm is only for an hour,
And soon its wrath is past.
While the better day, like a golden flower,
Blooms o'er the world once more.

Then labor comes with the touch of hands,
To heal the wounds of war,
And rebuilds the ruins of all the lands,
To beauty and peace once more.

The War Album issued by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is one of the best sources of information regarding the Allies. We learn the supply is limited. Any home that fails to secure a copy now will regret it. $1.25 pays a full year's subscription to that great weekly paper and a copy of the War Album. Sample may be seen at this office.

RESTORE PRODUCTION

London, Nov. 23.—The aim of reconstruction in France and Belgium will be to restore the means of production, asserts Dr. Christopher Addison, British Minister of Reconstruction.

"The textile trades in Germany," he said, "may have counted upon the advantage which the destruction of looms of the world. The burden of the restoration of the machinery must fall upon those who destroyed it."

the Allies, said Dr. Addison, to withhold from Germany cotton or other goods until the Germans had made good the machinery they had destroyed. In the economic weapon he pointed out, civilization had a great means for obtaining international justice.

FRANCE'S YELLOW BOOK

CONVINCING REPLY MADE TO GERMAN CHALLENGE.

Proof Given to the World That the Alliance Between the French and the Russians Was Defensive and Not Offensive — Pan-Germanism Always a Menace to Peace of Europe.

THE Prussian of to-day is so confirmed in the policy of aggressive militarism as to imagine the nations around him animated by the same motives toward him and toward one another. It was Shakespeare who said, "There's nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." It was a German Chancellor who recalled the memorable saying of Hamlet when he openly and insolently impeached the Franco-Russian alliance as an aggressive one aimed at Germany.

Now, there is no doubt that the condition of the political atmosphere in Europe in the years 1892-93, the Franco-Russian alliance was formed, was such as to lend color, for a superficial political observer, to the challenge flung out by the German Chancellor. Russia was then pursuing a steady, though covert, policy of military aggressiveness and absorption in the East and Far East. Over France there had swept a wave of chauvinism which threatened to overwhelm her better political judgment and to plunge her into strife, with the recovery of Alsace-Lorraine as the leitmotif. But, as the Tsar Alexander III. pointed out in a conversation at the time with the Marquis de Montebello, there is a great gulf between "the natural hope of some day entering once more into possession of the lost provinces and the idea of revenge. The cry of 'Revanche!' proved to be that of a clique, not of the French nation. The 'gulf' of Alexander III. is now supplemented by the dossier of the Yellow Book, which, to say the least, is decidedly against the German accusation in the Wilhelmstrasse. In this book has been published the documents relating to the Dual Alliance, which were seized by the Bolsheviks and upon which the Chancellor based his accusations. One and all, they not only entirely vindicate and exonerate the French and Russians of the charge, but they virtually force the Chancellor to swallow his own words. At the same time, the frank publication of the correspondence has rendered an inestimable service to the Allies at a time when acute feeling has been aroused in allied countries against those secret methods of diplomacy which in the past have often bound peoples to treaties of which they may not have been warned, and against which they have not been able to guard.

The most superficial perusal of the official correspondence between Russia and France will abundantly prove that the Dual Alliance was not offensive but defensive, and that it was undertaken to insure Russia and France against the very assault upon their liberties which has been made in the present war. The true nature of that treaty could never have been doubted by any one outside the Central Empires; it must have been perfectly familiar to the chancelleries of Europe; and Great Britain, in entering upon a rapprochement with France and Russia, which resulted in the formation of the Triple Entente, must not only have had full assurance of the defensive character of the alliance, but have been familiar with the tenor of the documents which now make up the case for France. They show conclusively that, even at that early date, it was the intention of Germany to attack Russia and France jointly, in conjunction with Austria. "Thanks to the rapidity of his railway transport," so runs one of the incriminating documents, Germany calculates "to throw itself first on France and conquer her, and then to turn against Russia." One cannot rise from a perusal of these state papers without the conviction that the war, so far as Germany was concerned, was inevitable, that behind, and underlying everything, was the menace of German imperialism, and that, even without a Dual Alliance, Germany would have pursued her aggressive policy to its present logical conclusion. It is conceivable that without an alliance her task would have proved the easier. She could have attacked France without fear of intervention by Russia; whilst Russia, isolated and incapable of rapid mobilization of her army, would have fallen a ready victim to her unscrupulous military plans.

The German Chancellor, and his aid and abettor, the Kolischer Zeitung, have, to say the least, been "hoist" by their own petard. "The German press desired the revelations," exclaims Le Temps, in an editorial on the Yellow Book, "and here they are, but it is not for us that they prove embarrassing." Those words admirably sum up the situation. The only regret that one may feel with regard to the documents is that their publication has been so long delayed. It is not at all unlikely, however, that the nature of international relations, after the war, will have undergone such a profound change as to preclude the possibility of a diplomacy which refuses to take the peoples themselves more into its confidence. The letters of the Yellow Book bring it home in most pointed fashion that for years Europe was virtually sitting upon a gun barrel without the knowledge of the circumstances getting much beyond the chancelleries.

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF DREADED LA GRIPPE

Worse Than the Disease Itself—Victims Left Weak, Nervous and Worn Out.

La Grippe or Spanish influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over the Americas is called, is one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. Anyone who has felt its pangs is not likely to forget the trouble. La Grippe or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends with a complication of troubles. It lays the victim on his back, it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself. It is quite possible to avoid La Grippe by keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a tonic medicine which enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves. If however, the disease attacks you, the patient should at once go to bed, and call a doctor before complications set in. That is the only safe thing to do. But to recover your strength after the severity of the attack has passed, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an unsurpassed tonic. Through the use of this medicine all the evil after effects of this trouble will be banished. This has been proved in thousands of cases throughout Canada, where it has been used in grippe epidemics.

Among the many thus restored to full health is Miss Irene Boates, Portsmouth, Ont., who says:—"I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of La Grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved and in a little more than a month I felt all my old time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only cure the disastrous after effects of La Grippe but are also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anemia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments and the generally worn out feeling that affects so many people. You can get the pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

A Cincinnati Barber Tells How to Make a Remedy for Gray Hair.

Mr. Frank Harbaugh of Cincinnati, O., who has been a barber for more than forty years recently made the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce bay rum, a small box of Oriz Compound and quarter ounce glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. This is not a dye, it does not color the most delicate scalp, it rubs off."

SECRETS OF THE EARTH.

NOTICE Increase in Subscription Rates Commencing Dec. 1, 1918. The subscription rates of the Brantford Daily Courier and the Brantford Daily Expositor, commencing December 1st, 1918, will be as follows: Delivered in Brantford and Vicinity, 45c. per month By the Year, Paid in Advance, $5.00 per annum By Mail, " " 4.00 per annum Single Copies, 2c. After publication of this notice, payments in advance on subscriptions will only be accepted to December 1st at the old rate, after that at the new rate. This advance in subscription rates has been made necessary by the tremendous increase in the cost of white paper, the price of which has recently been fixed by the Paper Controller at Ottawa. By this one item alone thousands of dollars are added to our annual cost of production, and in addition, labor, presses, stereotype supplies, type and all other items of expense have enormously advanced in price during the last few years. Even at the new rates the Brantford papers are only now charging prices which have been in force for some time back on almost all the other daily newspapers published in this section of the Dominion. In many cities the subscription rates are very much higher. (Signed) THE EXPOSITOR. THE COURIER. November 1st, 1918.

Starting Serbia. The Dutch "Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant" writes the following in regard to the effects of Austrian rule in Serbia.

"According to statements we have received from former Russian prisoners of war, who while in captivity had been forced to work in Serbia, the Serbian people, whose land had been very rich in food products before the outbreak of the war, are now facing starvation. While before the war Serbia exported ten times as many food commodities as she was able to consume, the people of the valley of the Morava and the districts of Matchava and Chiumadia are not allowed more than fifty grammes (two ounces) of bread daily, and those this quantity is not given to them regularly. Not only all their cereals are being requisitioned by the Austrian authorities, but even everything that serves as food, fruits, poultry, etc. is being requisitioned. Under these circumstances many Serbs have found it more advantageous to carry away all valuable things in their possession and to seek refuge in the mountains, there awaiting the return of their government."

To Foll Bank Robbers. The up-to-date bank robber will have to steal a march on the military geniuses of the age if he has any hope of accomplishing his designs. One of Walter Wilson Arnold, of Lawson, New Mexico, has invented and patented an armor-plate cage for bank tellers.

"Hang up," says the gentlemanly robber, and in obedience with the expected alacrity. But the bank official's foot surreptitiously releases a spring that causes sliding doors of armor-plate to move into place and enclose him.

Adjustable plates fixed over the openings in a teller's cage are connected by a system of cables and pulleys with some stationary member attached beneath the desk. When not in use, a trigger engages sectional weights applied to the pulley. This trigger is connected with the arm of a bell crank lever, the other arm of which is connected with a rod or cable that is again attached to the foot lever—Popular Science Monthly.

A Japanese Stove. The Japanese have invented a little stove that you can carry round in your pocket. It is in the form of a small brazier, shaped rather like a cigar case, and the fuel is a sausage like roll that will burn for three hours without smothering smoke or fumes. One of these little contrivances carried inside the bosom of a kimono prevents a journey in a railway train from being too chilly. Delicate pupils keep one in their clothes while at school in winter.

Foot Sticks. "Do man eat always imitate other people," said Uncle Eben, "simply advises de lack dat he sta' nobody much his own self."

Horatio Nelson and Paul Jones met in that sound-proof section of Paradise reserved for sailors, relates Life. They argued fiercely of old campaigns, and the peace of the blissful regions might have been seriously disturbed, notwithstanding, Nelson's single if a thorn-like ex-captain boy hadn't called their attention to a crack in the floor, through which they could see a squadron of British destroyers sweeping the sea before a fleet of Yankee transports. Then Nelson and Jones exchanged tobacco pouches and thought long in silence, as supremely happy sailors will.
