BRITAIN'S QUEEN

Was Duly Remembered on the 81st Anniversary of Her Birth By

LOYAL SUBJECTS IN THE YUKON

Able Assisted By Their Yankee Cousins,

IN A GRAND CELEBRATION

That Reflected Credit to the Soil on Which It Took Place—Notes of the Day.

The sun never rose on a more beautiful or more perfect day than yesterday, the occasion of the queen's 81st birthday anniversary. The preceding afternoon and evening had witnessed the arrival in the city of hundreds of people from the creeks, and at an early hour yesterday forenoon the streets were crowded with a happy throng; and while the majority of those who turned out to honor the gala day were not subjects of her who was so graciously and kindly remembered, yet all were for the day at least Britains in that they joined heart and soul in celebrating the natal day of Britain's sovereign queen. The day was probably much more pleasant here than at many other points on the "queen's own land" where the happy and memorable day was celebrated, as here it was just sufficiently warm to cause the merry throng to appear comfortably in the lightest of attire and enjoy at intervals the product of the effervescent sodawater and milkshake man. By 10:30 o'clock in the morning, the hour at which the long list of sports began, it is estimated that fully 6000 people, one-third of the population of the entire Yukon district, was on the streets to see and be seen.

It was an ideal day for field sports. The weather was exceptionally fine, and the ground, which had been sprinkled well the night previous by direction of Sergeant Wilson, was in excellent condition. The large crowd was good natured; no trouble was experienced in maintaining perfect order, and the pleasures of the day were not marred by a single accident. The satisfactory dispositions of the numerous events reflects credit on the committee, and its earnest efforts are worthy of great praise.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, the appearance of the Yukon Field Force band in the grand stand signalized the commencement of the athletic contests. The events on the program and the successful competitors are as follows:

Putting the shot—Webster won; distance 39 feet., prize $25; McLeod second, 38 feet, prize $15.

Tossing the caber—McLeod won, distance 36 feet, prize $30; no second prize was awarded.

Running high jump—Atwood won, height 5 feet 2 inches, prize $25; Brimstone and Wakefield each jumped 5 feet and tied for the second, prize, $15, which was divided.

Vaulting with pole—Wakefield won, height 9 feet 4 inches, prize $25; Preston second, 9 feet. After the event, Wakefield gave an exhibition in which he vaulted the height of 10 feet.

Running hop, step and jump—Wakefield won, distance 37 feet 11 1/2 inches, prize $20; Farrell second, 37 feet 3 inches, prize $10.

Running broad jump—Farrell won, distance 17 feet 9 1/2 inches, prize $25; Wakefield second, 17 feet 5 1/2 inches, prize $15.

One-half mile horse, flat, race—Blossom, owned by Whitehorse stables, won, prize $100; Club, owned by Alex McDonald, second, prize $50.

One-fourth mile horse race, three heats. First heat—Queen first, Wilson's horse second. Second heat, Blossom first, Queen second, Wilson's horse third. As Blossom did not enter the first heat, she was disqualified for the second heat. Therefore, the judges declared Queen to be the winner of the race, prize $100, and Wilson's horse second, prize $50.

One-half mile mule race—Marshall's mule won, prize $50; Nipper second, prize $20.

Miners' packing race, 50 pounds, one-fourth mile—Coleman won, prize $25; McIntosh second, prize $10.

Obstacle race, 50 yards—Wakefield won, prize $20; Preston second, prize $10.

Three-legged race, 75 yards—Wakefield and Farrell won, prize $30; Watson and Sewall second, prize $15.

One hundred yard race, three heats—First heat, Ford first; Browning second. Second heat, Duncan first, Watson second. Final heat of contestants who secured places in the first and second heats, Ford won, time 11 seconds, prize $30; Duncan second, prize $20; Watson third, prize $10.

Two hundred and twenty yard race—Ford won, prize $30; Atwood second, prize $15.

prize $20; Farrell third, prize $10.

One hundred and twenty yard hurdle race—Browning won, prize $30; Duncan second, prize $10.

Boys' race, aged under 15 years—Delphel won, prize $10; Cummings second, prize $5.

One-fourth mile walking race—Ford won, prize $30; Martin second, prize $15.

One mile walking race—Martin won, prize $40; Thoerner second, prize $20.

Ford, at the finish, was ahead of his competitors at least 15 feet; but the judges declared that he did not confine himself to heel and toe walking, and he was accordingly disqualified.

Veteran's race, aged 50 years or over—Meek won, prize $25.

One-fourth mile dash, bicycle race—Peterson won, prize, $30; Smith second, prize $15.

One-half mile dash, bicycle race—Bell won, prize $30; Williams second, prize $15.

Peterson would probably have won this race had he not been fouled by other contestants; the judges, however, failed to see the misdeed, and no one was disqualified. Peterson, after being thrown from his wheel, remounted and finished third.

Tug of war (turf pulling)—A. C. team won, prize $125; Brimstone's team second, prize $50. The winning team was comprised of R. J. Elviage, A. Gunn, R. Reeves, A. C. McDonald, Ben Trenneman and G. P. Russell, coach.

Throwing the hammer—McLeod won, distance 87 feet 4 1/2 inches, prize $30; Ross second, 85 feet one-half inch, prize $20. After the event, McLeod made an exhibition throw of 90 feet 7 inches.

Canoe race, single—Norton won, prize $25.

Canoe race, double—Norton and Anance won, prize $50; Lucas and Gardner second, prize $25.

Canoe race, four—Anance, Norton, Boulder and McComber, won, prize $75; Lucas, Gardner, Bruce and West second, prize $30.

The long distance foot-race for a purse of $2000 between L. Ue Cardinell, the half-breed Indian, and George Taylor, occurred in the vacant lot at the corner of Third avenue and Third street last evening, and the event was witnessed by a large number of spectators. The track was soft and very slow. The contestants started the match, which had been advertised to be for a distance of 20 miles, at 8:30 o'clock. Taylor took the lead and Cardinell followed a few feet behind. Each man fell into a fast trot, and nothing eventful occurred until the seventh mile was reached, when Cardinell spurred and gained two laps on his adversary. In the first half of the twelfth mile, the Indian gained another lap, and then Taylor abandoned the contest. Cardinell continued to run around the track until he had completed 13 1/2 miles, and he was declared to be the winner of the race without being required to make the remainder of the distance. The 20 mile race ended the field sports of the day.

All day and until the approach of another day the streets were packed with the living throng. At 9 o'clock there was a general movement towards the Palace Grand theater to witness the third and last production of the greatest success ever billed in Dawson—living whist and Kirmiss. In a short time nearly every seat in the spacious building was occupied, and the entire presentation from start to finish was played with as much zeal, spirit and gusto as on the first night; in fact, on the principle that practice makes perfect, the game progressed more smoothly than on previous occasions.

At the conclusion of the whist the score for the three evenings was announced as follows: Chas. J. K. Nourse, 13 tricks; W. H. P. Clement, 10 tricks; Comptroller Lithgow, 10 tricks; Hon. Justice Dugas, 6 tricks.

Mr. Nourse was introduced as the successful player, and presented with the fine $150 prize previously described in this paper as an artistic charm or breast-pin. Mr. Nourse blushed like a school girl and made a few happy and appropriate remarks and was most unmercifully gayed by his many friends in the boxes.

The portions of the program preceding and following the whist game as on the previous presentations, were really completely capturing the audience and receiving storms of applause. The features of the juvenile portion of the program which elicited the greatest applause were the dancing of little Miss Cassie Carter, who was fairly showered with silver; the cake walk of the five year olds, Miss Goodwin Anderson and Louie Conchita Shaw, and the negro song and dance by Miss Josephine Pickel, dressed as a boy in which she presented the appearance of a typical page.

Immediately after the close of the program the floor of the theater was cleared and to melodious strains from Quigley's orchestra the grand charity ball began a few minutes past the midnight hour. Fully 100 couples participated in the worship at the terpsichorean shrine, and until 4 o'clock this morning when Old Sol was well started on his journey "cross country" the merry dance continued and joy was unconfined.

As the net proceeds of the tournament which was brought to such a happy and successful termination this morning will all be turned over to St. Mary's hospital, that deservingly popular institution will receive a handsome sum.

To Prof. H. T. Whitley and the various ladies who had the matter in charge, as well as the many ladies and gentlemen who devoted their time and talent to making the tournament the eminent success it was are due the thanks of all whose pleasure it was to witness the presentation.

Last night's events were a most happy and fitting finale to the great annual holiday, the anniversary of the Queen of old England.

Snap Shots.

White dresses and sailor hats were out in full force.

George Noble makes a first-class marshall of the day.

Sergeant Wilson sat the calico horse with the grace of a Chesterfield.

The wind embraced the opportunity to blow through Capt. Jack's hair.

Tom Chisholm did not enter the caber putting contest lest he rip his new suit.

The "fizz" stands enjoyed a heavy trade during the afternoon, when everybody was warm and thirsty.

The "100" was well represented at the ball last night; likewise a sprinkling from the ranks of the "111."

During the entire day there was a noticeable absence of drunkenness and rowdiness, and even at night the very best of order reigned throughout the city.

Alex McDonald would have tossed the caber, but understood the contest was to have taken place later in the day. Hundreds of others say the same thing.

Fred Webster, who came out first in the shot putting contest, handed over the prize check, amounting to $25, to Col. MacGregor to be donated to Ottawa fire relief fund.

After winning several contests, Fred Atwood sprained one of his feet in the hurdle race and will, perforce, have to invest all his prize money in poultices, arnica, bandages and crutches.

Abashed at the thought of his ancestry and with a blush for the future of his race, a mule bolted the track and took to the sidewalk during that race, but fortunately doing no damage.

The fact that Taylor weakened in the foot race so early caused a material reduction in the gate receipts, as had the race continued to a finish hundreds would have dropped in to witness the finish who were not there at all.

Probably due to a scarcity of flags, the absence of general decoration throughout the city was very apparent, but in many places waved the flag of the country, and usually in close proximity could be seen the stars and stripes.

The hammer throwing contest took place at the V. F. F. barracks between 9 and 10 o'clock p. m. After the announcement of the result the judges and all others in the field formed in procession and headed by the piper playing, marched into town.

Joseph A. Clark, secretary of the citizens committee, was easily distinguished from the common herd. In lieu of a vest, Joseph had his bust encased in a copy of the British flag, but it failed to impart to his legs sufficient patriotism to enable them to make him a winner in sprinting events.

In no part of the Queen's empire could the 81st anniversary of her birth be more happily and good humoredly celebrated than here in the far away Klondike, where, although the residents were all lured by love of gold, they are still deeply imbued with all that is characteristic of human nature in the way of patriotism and love of enjoyment. The events of yesterday and last night were a monument to the memory of the Klondike and a credit to the soil of Britain.

CLIMAX AT LAST

Transvaal Government Decides to Ask for Cessation of War.

THREATEN TO RESORT TO POWDER

And Blow Up Johannesburg and Pretoria.

UNLESS THEY GET PEACE.

Kruger Opposed Sending Messages and Urged That the Fight Be Continued.

Lorenzo Marquez, May 19, via Skagway, May 25.—The Transvaal government today decided to ask Roberts for a cessation of hostilities. Accompanying the request is a plea for a guarantee of lives of the colonials and foreigners fighting in the Boer army. Unless this guarantee is given the petition states that the Johannesburg mines will be blown up and Pretoria destroyed by fire.

Kruger opposed the sending of the request and left the council, declaring that he would fight to the last man and the last cartridge.

Great Rejoicing.

London, May 20, via Skagway, May 25.—Reports that the Transvaal government is suing for peace is generally accredited, and, added to the great rejoicing at the relief of Mafeking, has caused a wave of general good feeling and happiness seldom experienced to sweep over all England.

On the evening of the 18th, after hearing the news from Mafeking, Queen Victoria spoke at length, expressing the greatest gratification and thankfulness that after a most heroic defense of seven months, the besieged city had been relieved.

Boer Delegation.

Washington, D. C., May 20, via Skagway, May 25.—The Boer delegation has not yet been officially received. Whether or not the representatives will be accredited depends upon the delegates themselves and the nature of their credentials.

To Blow Up Esquimault.

Vancouver, B. C., May 20, via Skagway, May 25.—Fenian sympathizers with the Boer cause made an attempt to blow up the fortifications at Esquimault just after midnight on Wednesday, May 16th. The sentries discovered four men to be within the lines of the outposts; but the latter escaped without being apprehended.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Dawson's celebration of the Queen's birthday, yesterday, was an occasion which will linger long in the memories of all who participated in its pleasures. In respect to weather, the day was all that could be desired. There was an apparent well laid system in the arrangements, which was sustained during the entire day. The various athletic events were announced and carried out with promptness, and the large crowds in attendance were skillfully and satisfactorily handled by Sergeant Wilson and his assistants, to whom is due much praise for so conducting affairs as to prevent any accidents occurring.

There was a total absence of rowdyism and similar disagreeable adjuncts of a day of celebration, which gave added pleasure to the day's festivities. There was a strong representation down from the creeks, all of which contributed their share of merrymakers. The good nature which seemed to pervade the crowd was infectious, and kept everyone in a good humor, despite the warmth of the afternoon sun. Altogether, Dawson quite sustained her reputation as a loyal town, and one which is always to do proper and fitting honor to such occasions as yesterday.

We doubt if many towns of the same size as Dawson observed her majesty's birthday with a more elaborate celebration than was held here.

COMMISSION REQUIRED.

The investigation now being conducted in the gold commissioner's office should be made the starting point for a most searching examination of the records of that department of the public service. The people of the Yukon territory, and, in fact, the people of Canada in general, will never be satisfied that the gold commissioner's office has been properly conducted, during the three years of its existence, until some properly constituted authority has gone into the history of the office and delivered an unbiased and unprejudiced judgment upon the methods which have prevailed in conducting its business. Beyond the peradventure of a doubt, there has been an amount of crookedness within the office which would prove startling if the facts were known. This has become so firmly established in the public mind, by reason of matters which are of common knowledge, that demonstration of its truth is not required, although that might be easily accomplished.

In view of these circumstances, it appears strange that no effort should be made by those high in authority to sift the matter to the bottom and determine where to place the responsibility. The so-called commission of investigation, held in Dawson more than a year ago, did not fulfill the objects for which it was ostensibly called into existence. Had it done so, there are cases now pending before the criminal court which, in all probability, would never have arisen. A thoroughly good cleansing was what the commissioner's office then required, and what it still requires, in order that the administration of its business may be re-established in the confidence of the people. As long as guilt is shielded, and crime allowed to flourish without check, the invitation will remain open for constant repetition of just such offenses as are now being tried before the courts.

A thorough overhauling of the office, an expert examination into its books and records, and access given the public and press to all the latter, are all needed to place the office in the confidence of the people. The odium of the Fawcett regime has been handed down to the present day, and never will be removed until no further occasion remains for its existence. It will never be removed by suppression of facts from the public, nor by efforts at shielding wrong-doers from the results of their offenses.

A commission, with unlimited powers of investigation, is as much required today as ever.

The Yukon council should make a strong effort to induce the Ottawa government to divert a portion of the consolidated federal revenues for local uses in Dawson and on the neighboring creeks. Canada has had a prosperous year throughout the entire country, and a handsome surplus is now in the treasury. The Yukon territory's contribution to the Dominion coffers is far over and above what it costs to maintain it, and the difference, at the very least, should be sent back here for the purpose of improving roads and otherwise adding to the desirability of the country as a place of residence. A strong plea should go down to Ottawa this summer, with the above object in view.

Our contemporary, the News, which prides itself, above all things, upon the up-to-dateness of its news, published a long article, in a recent issue, concerning William Sylvester Taylor, of Kentucky, who, the News gravely assures us, has been nominated by the Republicans of that state for the office of governor. For the benefit of our contemporary's "extensive news-gathering service," we will say that Mr. Taylor was nominated in Kentucky, but that happened some six months ago, and he is now under indictment, charged with murdering his rival, Goebel. The News would do well to investigate its "exclusive telegraph franchises" a little. They seem to be somewhat out of order.

Tom Corwin's Ready Wit.

Gov. John Brough was once matched against Corwin and in his speech said: "Gentlemen, my honored opponent himself, while he preaches advocacy of home industry, has a carriage at home which he got in England; had it shipped across the water to him. How is that for supporting home industry and labor?"

When Corwin came to the stand, he made a great show of embarrassment. He stammered and began slowly:

"Well, gentlemen, you have heard what my friend Mr. Brough has to say about my carriage. I plead guilty to the charge, and I have only two things to say in my defense. The first is that the carriage came to me from an English ancestor as an heirloom, and I had to take it. Again, I have not used it for seven years, and it has been standing in my back yard all that time, and the chickens have converted it into a roost. Now, gentlemen," with a steady look at Brough. "I have nothing further to say in my defense, but I would like to know how Brough knows anything about my carriage if he has not been visiting my henroost!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Newspaper Advertising.

Frank Daniels made an experiment recently at Wallack's theater, New York city. Speaking of it, the comedian said:

"Between the acts ushers distributed among the audience slips with a brief printed statement politely asking the recipient to indicate by a check mark in the list of various advertising forms employed which one had attracted him to the performance—newspapers, billboards, window lithographs, or something else. The people seemed to take kindly to the idea, and the response was most liberal. Eleven hundred slips were handed to the ushers, and of that number 991 had been attracted by the newspapers, solely."

TESTS OF STRONG MEN.

Remarkable Record Made By a Divinity Student.

Who Sets a New Mark for Those Ambitious as to Their Strength and Powers.

Appropos of the exhibitions of strength of yesterday, the following from a Chicago exchange is reproduced:

During the past few years tests in physical strength have been regularly made at some of the larger universities. Various methods were at first employed to determine the muscular power of the candidates, but recently the system invented by Prof. Sargent of Harvard university has been universally used.

Tests of strength have recently been made on this principle at the University of Chicago. Walter S. Kennedy, of football fame, became champion strong man of the university after a remarkable series of tests in the college gymnasium. But he held the title only two days.

A young divinity student named Alfred W. Place, hearing that the tests had been conducted, expressed a desire to compete. He broke the record created by Kennedy. Kennedy tried again and bettered the figures put up by the young theologian. Place was not disheartened, but went to work and, putting his shoulders to the effort, threw one of the machines out of gear and then earned a total of 4238 pounds, smashing all previous efforts.

Place is a new man in athletics among the larger colleges. He graduated from Butler university in Indiana and entered the University of Chicago last October as a divinity student, where he is at present taking work in the graduate school. During his college life he has been engaged in athletics more or less and is equally proficient in football and baseball. He is also a sprinter of more than usual ability and is credited with having made the record for the 100 yard dash in even time.

His strength was practically unknown until last fall, when at the close of the football season he tried the strength tests, as given by Dr. Raycroft, and succeeded in making a new mark of 3886 pounds, much to the astonishment of the athletic officials of the university.

When it was announced that Kennedy had broken the record, Place asked for another chance, saying that he took the test last year under difficulties and was unfamiliar with the appliances. His request was granted.

In weight Place is 160 pounds, 40 pounds lighter than Kennedy, and in stature he lacks over four inches of Kennedy's height, standing 5 feet 7 inches. His first test, after the regular measurements to ascertain any development since the last test, was that of his grip. Grasping the machine in his right hand, he exerted a pressure of 158 pounds and with his left 130 pounds, which is five pounds less than Kennedy's, while his right is seven pounds better. On the test for his chest muscles he brought a powerful set of muscles into play and exerted a pressure of 270 pounds. Kennedy's mark was 215.

With his chest braced against a support he exerted a pull on the dynamometer to the extent of 585 pounds, 25 better than Kennedy, while on the push his triceps realized only 530 pounds, which lacked 130 pounds of equalling Kennedy, who made a record for that test of 660 pounds.

Up to this point the test had been an interesting one, but when "Sketters" Place stepped on the platform, bent his knees and suddenly began to exert his strength to show what he was capable of with his leg muscles the crowd watched carefully. Slowly but surely the dial on the dynamometer registered higher and higher. The cords stood out on the man's neck like ropes, and he pushed until he grew red in the face.

He stepped down as briskly as ever and watched Dr. Raycroft as he unhooked the dynamometer. The machine had been pulled out of gear and had registered beyond the 1,500 pound mark. In order to ascertain the exact pull Dr. Raycroft procured a pair of dividers and figured out that the total pull had been 1555 pounds in all.

This mark is 90 pounds better than Kennedy's and 110 better than the record he made last fall in his first attempt. In the back lift he also made a new mark and raised the machine until it registered a total of 1,010 pounds in all, which exceeds Kennedy's record by 90 pounds. His total, when figured up by the system used at the university, aggregated 4238 pounds, while Kennedy's equaled 4101.

Not Done by Boers.

Toronto, Ont., April 24.—John Murray, chief of the Ontario government detective force, has returned from a three days' investigation into the dynamite outrage on the Welland canal, and gives as his opinion that neither Boers nor Fenians had anything to do with the clumsy attempt, but that it will turn out to be a case of an attempt by capitalists or union labor men to frighten shippers into using another route for grain traffic.

This opinion was formed after an interview with United States officers who have "shadowed" the men accused, and also with the three prisoners, as well as with hotel men and others who are to be important witnesses.

Murray also has in his possession letters, etc., found on the men arrested. The fact that the canal was not dynamited at the aqueduct part, where a year would have been required to repair the damage indicates that no Boers or Fenians had a hand in the job. That it was almost in the daylight when the attempt was made shows that the guilty parties were not well trained in the work, and the almost unanimous opinion is there was a good deal of "fake" about it.

Only Heart Wounds Fatal.

A well known surgeon, discussing the character of the wounds received on the battlefields in South Africa, has pointed out that experience of the present campaign would seem to show that the only absolutely fatal region is the heart. Bullet wounds of the brain are now not necessary fatal, judging from the records of the last few weeks, and this is presumably due to the small size of the projectile, the velocity with which it travels and the modern practice of scientific surgery, by which dangerous symptoms likely to arise from injuries may be warded off. It has therefore been suggested that the heart being the only really vital part in the body, a steel covering should be provided, to be worn so as to protect that part from bullets. A steel plate might be attached to the soldiers' tunics, and doubtless the small shield could be so fixed as neither to impede movement nor cause inconvenience.—London Globe.

Misunderstood Patriotism.

Prof. Alfred B. Adams, of New York, was a soldier in the civil war and took part in the Red river campaign under Major General Nathaniel T. Banks.

"At one place," he said recently to one of his classes, "we surprised a southern garrison and took many prisoners. They were guarding a mountain of cotton bales which were intended for shipment to Europe on account of the southern government. Gen. Banks promptly confiscated the cotton and transferred it to his flotilla. Each bale was stenciled 'C. S. A.' and over this the northern soldiers with marking brushes wrote in huge characters 'U. S. A.' I was on guard at the time, and one of my prisoners, a handsome, bright-eyed young southern officer, said, 'Wank, what's that writing there?'

"I looked proudly at him as I replied. 'The United States of America over the Confederate States of America. Can't you read—U. S. A. over C. S. A.'"

"He looked at me quizzically. 'Thank you,' he said. 'Do you know, I thought it was United States of American Cotton Stealing Association.'"

"The next question he put to me I didn't answer."—Saturday Evening Post.

Wyoming's Ice Cave.

Catacombs of marvelous extent and beauty exist in the living ice of Cloud mountain, in Northern Wyoming. They were found by Jacques Moulin, a French trapper. Nothing like them is known elsewhere in the Rocky mountains, and the circumstances of their discovery form a strange story.

Cloud mountain is a lofty peak in a little explored region of the Big Horn range, and near its summit, judging from Moulin's description, is a true glacier. His story in substance is as follows:

"In the snow near the top of the mountain I made a dugout to live in while I was trapping there last December. This hut was in the midst of a great snow and ice drift that clings to the side of the mountain. I was far above timber line, and to make the wood that I brought there go as far as possible I used to build my campfire on the floor of my little cave. One morning I awoke to find that where the fire had been was a yawning well, the bottom of which I could not see. I had been living on the roof of a huge cavern, and the fire had melted its way into the depths.

"Taking a long and stout rope, I fastened one end of it secure near the edge of the hole and lowered myself into the depths. I took with me a pitch pine torch and a ball of twine. The opening rapidly became larger as I went down, and at a depth of about 40 feet I stood upon the floor of a large room. All around me were walls of ice, blue in color and clear as crystal. Through the ice the light filtered dimly, giving the place a shadowy unreality. It was intensely cold, and I returned to the surface for my fur clothing.

"After lowering myself into the cavern again I tied the twine to the end of the rope, lighted my torch and followed the course of the opening, which seemed to lead like a long hallway directly toward the heart of the mountain. The cavern became higher the farther I went, and about 150 yards from my starting place the roof seemed to be at least 75 feet above me. Here I found myself in a room from which galleries like the one I had entered stretched away in every direction. In width the galleries varied from 10 to 15 feet, and at their intersections great transparent columns extended to the roof. The mixture of the dim, white light of the cave and the reflections of the torch's flame from a thousand glittering surfaces was at once bewildering and fascinating. Again and again I returned to feast my eyes on the beauties of this natural ice palace. But the cold was so great that I always had to cut short my visits. I never explored the other galleries, and how far they extend I cannot guess. The ice seems to be honeycombed by the caverns, and yet the walls and floors are as hard and firm apparently as the mountain itself."—Cheyenne Letter in Chicago Record.

AND MADE IT A GRAND GALA DAY

Relief of Making Is Not Yet Confirmed.

IVEY WILL HOLD THE FORT.

Water Very Low on Caribou Crossing—No Boats for Ten Days.

Skagway, May 25.—On the strength of news that Mafeking has been relieved a grand celebration was held at Bennett yesterday when the Queen's birthday was celebrated in grand style.

Ivey Holds On.

Skagway, May 25.—Collector of Customs Ivey has withdrawn his resignation and will continue to fill that office for the district of Alaska.

Caribou Very Low.

Skagway, May 25.—The water in Caribou Crossing is very low and steamers will not be able to cross for possibly ten days.

Will Try Murderers.

Skagway, May 25.—Melville C. Brown, Alaska's new judge, is now holding court at Juneau. Next week he will open a session at this place, when the 12 Indians charged with the murder of Bert Horton and his wife on Lynn canal last fall will be tried.

Martinielli in Portland.

Portland, Or., May 20, via Skagway, May 25.—The citizens of Portland gave a great reception to Monsigneur Martinielli, the pope's delegate to the United States, who came here to confer the pallium on Archbishop Christie.

Territorial Court.

Justice Dugas rendered several judgments today. The application in Hogg vs. Campbell was dismissed. The application in Herbert vs. Day was granted. In Mazzade vs. Delphel, the application for a stay of proceedings was granted. Judgment was rendered against defendant Miller in the case of Palmer vs. Leonard et al. In Stevenson vs. Parks, the order appointing the receiver was enlarged with costs.

son, an application has been submitted to set aside the writ of capias issued in the cause. Taken under advisement. Action has been submitted by Mrs. Purdy against Miss Mulrooney to retain possession of the Fairview hotel.

A. B. Social Tonight.

Tonight being the last meeting in the month, the Arctic Brotherhood will "give vent" to a social session at which ices and other delicacies will be served. As there are a few candidates to be initiated, it has been decided to meet promptly at 8 o'clock instead of at 9, the regular hour for summer meetings, in order to get through the initiation work early in the night.

Game Laws in Force.

No elk or wapiti, moose, caribou, deer, mountain sheep or mountain goat shall be hunted, taken, killed, shot at, wounded, injured or molested in any way between the 1st day of April and the 10th day of July, and between the 1st day of October and the 1st day of December; no grouse, partridge, pheasants, or prairie chickens between the 1st day of January and the 1st day September. Chap. 31, Dom. Stat. 94.

BRIEF MENTION.

John O'Connor is visiting the city. L. J. Lewis is registered at the Regina.

John Jacobson is stopping at the McDonald. Joe Lewis is making a brief visit to the city.

George Lampier is spending a few days in town. W. E. Thomas is a recent arrival in town from the creeks.

Miss McDonald, of American gulch is among the guests at the Regina.

W. E. Delaney is visiting town. He will remain for several days.

F. Flink is shaking hands with his Dawson acquaintances.

T. O. Ringsberry came to Dawson to celebrate the Queen's birthday.

Herbert Simpson is in the city on matters pertaining to business.

J. Hyland, from Hunker creek, is greeting his local acquaintances.

B. Barlow, of Domin on creek, is enjoying a short vacation in Dawson.

M. E. Beatey and wife, from Bonanza creek, are visiting friends in the city.

The Cannon Brothers, Eldorado claim owners, are in town on business. They are at the Regina.

C. George Johanson was an interested spectator at yesterday's sport. He will return to Hunker tomorrow.

David C. Young came to the city Wednesday evening from Lindow creek to participate in the festivities of yesterday.

Rev. J. A. Sinclair, who is establishing Presbyterian mission posts at various points on the creeks, came down to witness the events of yesterday. He was accompanied by Rev. Cock who is resident Presbyterian minister at Grand Forks.

Balloon Ascension.

Balloonist Leonard will give another ascension tomorrow evening at 6 p. m. on First avenue. The last ascension which Mr. Leonard made was such a pronounced success that he has been solicited to repeat it. The big balloon will be inflated at 6 o'clock sharp and will start up into the air as soon thereafter as possible. Leonard says he will go higher this time than he has ever done before in Dawson.

STEAMBOAT NEWS.

The John C. Barr is expected to reach Dawson from Fort Yukon in a few more days. She will bring in a supply of canned goods as well as a large consignment of water pipe.

The steamer Yukoner is almost ready for travel. She will be completed by next Monday.

Tom Davies, of the Canadian line, is in receipt of news from lower Lebarge and reports the ice to be jammed at that point, but well broken up last night.

The Columbia sails Saturday for Whitehorse at 4 p. m. Captains Shafter and Sanborn will have charge of the boat. She pulled over from the shipyards yesterday.

The Australian started across Bennett Wednesday, breaking a channel to Caribou Crossing. The work is being done in the interest of the White Pass R. R. for the shipping of rails across the lake.

The Ora sailed today for Whitehorse with a full list of passengers. This is the second boat to sail for the company, the Flora being the first. She was reported to have reached Lake Lebarge Wednesday night.

The remarkable sobriety of steamboatmen was a noticeable feature of yesterday. Whether this was due to lack of funds, they not having a round trip as yet, or whether they are saving their enthusiasm for the Fourth of July, has been a matter of considerable speculation. Agent Calderhead claims it is due to his influence as an evangelist.

The office of the Klondike Corporation on the L. & C. dock is being made more convenient for the accommodation of passengers.

The steamer Merwin has finally given up the attempt to move the barge Duff from the ways and the management has let the contract to a firm of house movers.

Capt. LeBallister, of the Rock Island, is confined to his cabin with la grippe. He is rapidly recovering, however, and will be around again in a few days.

The boats of the S. Y. T. Co. are almost ready to sail, the repairs which has occupied the attention of the crew for the past week are nearly completed.

VALUABLE MINING GROUND

is in Litigation Before Gold Commissioner Senkler.

The Property is Located in the Vicinity of Monte Cristo Gulch.—Merkle et al. vs. Thompson.

Today Gold Commissioner Senkler is occupied in trying the case of Meikle, Trabold and Shindler, plaintiffs, vs. Dr. William E. Thompson, defendant. The action involves the title to a valuable piece of hillside property located in the vicinity of Monte Cristo.

The plaintiffs are the owners of a claim described as the hillside, left limit, opposite No. 3 Monte Cristo.

The defendant is the owner of the hillside, left limit, opposite the lower half of No. 29 below—discovery on Bonanza; this claim is commonly known as the Dickey hillside.

The rear portions of the plaintiffs' Monte Cristo property and the defendant's Bonanza claim conflict with each other. The plaintiffs contend that their hillside extends 1000 feet in length, and that it includes a part of the hill side claim which the defendant staked off the left limit of Bonanza.

The particular piece of ground in litigation is known to be quite rich, and a suit concerning it was decided some time ago. Nellie Cashman alleged that the property was included in a bench claim, which had been recorded by her; but Dr. Thompson succeeded in securing a judgment adverse to the contention of Miss Cashman.

Now, he is defending his title against the protests of the plaintiffs. The testimony of the several witnesses will not be concluded for several days.

Nugget Producing Claim.

Mike Gollibrich, owner of hillside claim off 79 below on Bonanza found a 17 1/2 ounce nugget on his claim on Monday of this week. The piece of quartz is estimated to contain six ounces of gold. From the dump of Mr. Gollibrich's claim a number of smaller quartz nuggets have been picked up ranging from one to five ounces. These nuggets came from the end of a tunnel 212 feet in length, at which distance Mr. Gollibrich says the ground is entirely free from frost.

A Grand Stand Party.

Agent R. W. Calderhead of the steamers Ora and Flora erected a grand stand over the company's office yesterday which afforded a splendid point of observation of the sports. A number of ladies and gentlemen took advantage of Mr. Calderhead's invitation to witness the sports from his "reserved seats" and during the progress of the sports a merry party crowded the capacity of the improvised grand stand to the limit.

In the party among others were the following:

Mesdames Hill, Calderhead, Lancaster, Whitley, Moore, Merriman; Miss Gandolfo, Miss Comer, Miss Finola Gandolfo, Miss Crowley; Messrs. McDonald, Hemen, Calderhead, Bennett, McFarlane, Calderhead, Fitzpatrick and Allen.

The Lucky Ones.

An intermission was taken last night at the ball, during which time Mrs. Capt. Wood raffled off the three remaining steamboat tickets, one to Nome and two to Whitehorse, that had been contributed in aid of the Ottawa fund. The ticket contributed by the A. C. Co. was won by the firm of Barrett Bros., the Yukoner ticket went to W. A. Schumaker, and the N. A. T. & T. ticket to Nome was won by C. L. Elberton. The persons winning the tickets can secure the same or an order for them by calling at the T. & E. Company store.

Mail for the Outside.

The next mail will leave Dawson for the outside on the C. D. Co.'s steamer Columbian which is scheduled to sail for Whitehorse at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mail intended to go with this shipment should be in the postoffice by noon tomorrow.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

William Graham pleaded guilty to the crime of drunkenness and was assessed to $5 and costs.

Joseph Harley was convicted of stealing the sum of $160 from James E. Wilson, the packer, and the police justice sentenced the culprit to two months' imprisonment.

Tom Webster admitted that he had been drunk at Grand Forks yesterday, and he was fined $5 and costs.

Ludger Daigle claimed to have been assaulted by Eugene Vincent at No. 4 from the mouth of Last Chance, but the accused proved his innocence and he was accordingly discharged.

P. D. Hawley secured judgment for $150 against R. A. Talbot, captain of the steamer W. K. Merwin. The money was due for labor performed on the Merwin between March 19th and May 23d.

Is This a Knock?

The Pioneer is doing a fine business these days. Whether this is owing to the excellent brand of hooch dispensed at that popular resort, or to the fact that the games which have been put in have a tendency to drive men to drink, has not been ascertained. However, George Butler is happy and extends the glad hand to all.
