J. E. COLLINS.....EDITOR
 AN ALBANIAN REVIEW.

A PICTURESQUE SCENE OF STRIKING SOLEMNITY.

A writer in Blackwood's Magazine thus describes a review of Albanian troops in Southern Epirus: The levee ended, we mounted our horses and rode over the plain, rounding the spur which is projected into it from the western ridge of hills, toward Mazaraki, where a great gathering of the Tchamis had been convoked. The careful cultivation of the soil, and the number of villages clustering on the slopes of the mountains, showed how populous this district is. Most of the notables of Margariti accompanied the Pasha mounted on every variety of horse and mule; even the modest donkey was not unrepresented in the cavalcade, which glittered in the sunshine with the rainbow tints of oriental dress. Some hundred bold mountaineers on foot careered merrily in front of us, uttering wild war whoops, and discharging in the air their bell mounted pistols and ancient matchlocks with interminable barrels.

After a couple of hours smart riding we reached the meadow where the demonstration was to take place. It was, indeed, a striking spectacle. Not less than 2,000 Albanians had responded to the call. As we took up our places on the carpets which had been spread for the Pasha's party under the shadowing branches of an olive grove, which fringed two sides of the meadow, the whole assemblage rose to their feet and saluted their leader with a long, low shout.
 The scene was one of passing solemnity. The picturesque groups of mountaineers, their red caps and white fustanelles contrasting with the green meadows, their strange uncouth weapons gleaming in the sunshine, the gray houses of Maza-raki nestling among trees on the slopes of the western hills, the wooded heights behind them, and in the background distant ranges of blue mountains rising tier above tier against the brilliant sky.

Our host rose in response to the acclamations of the meeting, no longer the stolid Turkish Pasha, but as the enthusiastic patriot, and as the winged words flew from his lips, he seemed to breathe his very soul into the assembled multitude, until when the closing sentence fell upon them, every man took it up and repeated it with the full power of 2,000 healthy lungs. "Long live the autonomy of Albania!"
 Then came a striking incident.
 Among the mountaineers gathered on the meadow there were many who belonged to villages and families between whom there existed ancient feuds. Solemnly these bitter foes walked up toward the Pasha and bound themselves over, with the kiss of peace, to abide their quarrels for evermore, in view of the national peril. Such a thing has never been seen, the Pasha to me, within the memory of man.

 "And look there," he added, pointing to a small knot of mountaineers, "those are Christians. Hitherto they have always held aloof from their Mussulman neighbors, but to day they have come unsolicited to join in the common demonstration. There are not many Christians in the Tchamouri, but when arms are distributed I shall give them with the same confidence to Boutro (Peter) as to Ahmed. For mind you, it is not with those old matchlocks that they can fight the Greeks, however brave and fearless they may be. The gist of my speech was that the nation was in danger, and that I had come to supply them with arms and organize their resistance, that they might defend the liberties of a united and independent Albania."

VOLUME III. CHATHAM, N. B., MAY 18, 1881. NO. 86.

A WORKMAN'S AWFUL FATE.
 A truly horrible incident is reported in the Viennese papers as having taken place a few days ago in the great paper mill of Messrs Gellerth & Fuerth, at Pilsau. It having been reported to the manager of that establishment that the great steam boiler was foul and the furnaces required cleaning, he caused the fires to be extinguished, and employed a gang of workmen to execute the necessary cleansing operations. One of the laborers, a powerful young fellow of nineteen, named Anthony Kaczander, after toiling hard at his share of the job for several consecutive hours, lay down in the huge air pipe, running under the main furnace, intending to snatch a few minutes rest. He must have fallen into a deep sleep; for, when the masons instructed to brick up the end of the pipe later on in the day carried out their orders, he made no sign. As soon as the furnace was pronounced to be again in working order the stokers were instructed to light the fires, and did so. Presently Kaczander was missed in the mill. Search for him was instituted, but in vain. Next morning it appears to have occurred to one of his fellow workmen that he might have crept into the air pipe.
 Upon this suggestion being communicated to the manager, steps were at once taken to break into the closed mouth of the tube; and, sure enough, the charred skeleton of Anthony Kaczander was discovered lying close to the issue, bricked up during his heavy slumber of the previous afternoon. What the poor fellow must have undergone while being slowly baked alive is almost too terrible to think of.

REVENUE AND TAXATION.

(“MAIL.”)
 Our Opposition friends are not easy to satisfy. Their role in politics makes that impossible.
 They are not “comfortable” when in power; they can hardly be expected to be satisfied when in Opposition. What troubles them at present is the increase of the revenue. The returns, so far, show a monthly increase over last year as follows:

July	$ 509,541
August	837,799
September	683,165
October	448,945
November	480,607
December	467,392
January	600,393
February	374,218
March	320,157
April	315,451
Total	$5,048,878

Unable to deny the fact, they say the result is due to excessive “taxation,” and then of course they demand the reduction of the rate of taxation in the name of suffering people. Now, as Mr Mackenzie himself contended, the weight of taxation must be judged in reference to the wealth of the people in years past.

But supposing that the Opposition have some ground for exclaiming against the taxation, there are other replies to give.
 In the first place, Sir Richard Cartwright pledged his reputation to the statement that the new tariff could not raise a revenue; that the combining of protection and revenue was a perfectly “impossible problem.” Yet the problem has been solved. In the next place, would the people have escaped from taxation if the Grits had been returned? We doubt it. What did Sir Richard Cartwright mean when he said he was going to raise $31,000,000 before 1881?
 Did he expect to get it for nothing?
 What did he mean when he asked the people to “make sacrifices” to build the Pacific railway, and when he told them it was a great moral gain for them to be able to make “sacrif-ces” in the public interests?
 Did he not mean taxation, and nothing else? Of course he did.
 We have the confession of all the leaders that if they had come into power they would have been compelled to raise the rate of taxation. We have the statement of Mr Charlton that under the next Grit Government the taxes may be “even higher.”
 We know that they raised the taxes in 1874. We know that they proposed to raise them in 1876. And we have the fullest assurances from them all that when they have the chance they will, while keeping up the rate of taxation, which cannot be diminished, so arrange the tariff that industry shall have no fostering, capital no security, enterprise no field, and labour no employment. If the public like the prospect they will keep yearning after the rule of Sir Richard Cartwright, who will certainly guide the fiscal policy of his party.

TWO PICTURES.

This is what the great Edmund Burke says of the duty of a Representative. We want Mr. Snowball and his friends to read it:—

"It is the duty of your parliamentary representatives to sacrifice his repose and his pleasures to yours, and above all, to prefer in all cases YOUR INTEREST TO HIS OWN."

THE UNIVERSITY.

Prof. Fletcher has resigned his position as Professor of Classics in our New Brunswick University, and we suppose the President is already deluged with applications for the vacancy. It might be as well for us to say, that those who have not already applied may consider their chance weak enough, unless they can prove they were born in England or in Scotland, and educated at Oxford or at Edinburgh. When the vacancy was created by Professor Foster's retirement, we know that the fitness of the candidate in physique, intellect, in morals or in classical knowledge, was of small importance indeed compared to the other qualifications, to wit, where he was born, and where he studied; and that the President and his advisers seemed to regard the applications of graduates from the Fredericton University as huge jokes.

But our New Brunswick youths are not a whit behind the old country student in intellectual parts, and if out of the many that have graduated from our university, not one is fit to fill a chair when it becomes vacant, it is the university and its faculty that ought to be blamed, not the graduates. If, therefore, Dr. Jack and his senate declare of the graduates they sent out were not up to the standard of the Oxford or the Edinburgh student, they only administered a severe rebuke to themselves—and perhaps a rebuke not any too severe.

It is possible out of all the A's and A's our New Brunswick university has turned out, not one can be found to fill the chair which Mr. Fletcher has vacated? If this be so, is it not time the Government of the Province looked into that institution and endeavored to learn what is rotten in Denmark?

It is with reluctance we offer a word against the management of our university. We believe the first tribute the high institutions ought to be paid is that of respect—but then cases arise where silence would be antagonistic to duty. While it has been claimed that in latter years, the lower educational institutions have been making rapid strides onward—in whatever direction—the university has for a considerable period been at a stand still, if not actually retrogressing. A simple instance in proof is that a few years ago that institution had a professor of German; but of late years, while the desire to study German has been very strong, as it is yet strong, the university did not supply the want.

In general terms the spirit of our university is antiquated, and there seems to be none of the leaven of modern life or activity in it at all. It seems to be hopelessly in a rut, and whatever activity there is in education outside, it maintains its time honored stolidity. Yet with all this no one doubts but Dr. Jack's intentions are good, and that the highest aim of his life is to make the institution a credit to himself and to the Province.

THE MILL STRIKES.

The employes in the mill of Mr. Snowball, feeling they had not been treated well, at noon on Monday, refused to work any longer, unless their pay was raised to last year's figures. This was refused, and then the men left the mill, and their next offer was a slight increase on last year's figures. This being a personal concern of Mr. Snowball's, we naturally feel some diffidence in referring to it, and but that a correspondent, who is a workman in Mr. Snowball's mill, has twice already asked permission to state his case, and the case of his fellow employes through our columns, we should make no reference to the matter.

The point upon which our correspondent lays most stress is the system of employing men without saying what wages they are to receive, and at the end of a fortnight arbitrarily fixing the amount. This is to us seems wrong, inasmuch as there ought to be two voluntary parties to every contract or bargain. Where there is only one party voluntary, the contract must needs be oppressive, and therefore wrong. We do not think either that custom, however time honored, could justify such a practice.

As to the reduction of the men's wages, though our correspondent asks our opinion upon it, we must decline to say further than we said before; though we have our own private, and strong opinion upon the matter: no other will, so far as we can learn, has made a reduction of wages, compared with last year's rates, and we are unable to understand why Mr. Snowball has.

RUSSIA.

The Czar of Russia is sore beset. Every mail brings him threatening messages, every breeze that passes by, bears ominous mutterings. Nihilism seems to have taken root all over the land. It crops out among the serfs and the nobles and has made its appearance in the highest ranks of the army and the navy. The Czar wears dagger and bullet proof shirts and while he sleeps he is guarded by Cossacks, armed to the eyes. The people cry out for self government, but he answers that the freedom his father granted to the serfs, called down only a thousand dangers upon the crown and the country. So did the emancipation of millions of men who had long forgotten God, and believed in no state beyond the tomb, men steeped in ignorance and filled with hate of all authority by ages of grovelling servility and oppression, was like letting loose a menagerie of wild beasts over the land.

But Alexander III. cannot stop. As the tiger, having had the taste of blood, must have more, so the masses of Russia will not be satisfied with the small measure of liberty awarded them by Alexander II. But moral influences and education should be at once employed, and as the people progress in both of these, they will be fit to be entrusted proportionately with their own liberties.

We believe Russia is now in the first throes of a most direful upheaval. We believe if the Czar and his successors continue to resist the fast growing spirit of the nation—which includes legitimate aspirations, and moral doctrines, as well as the most fiendish instincts of Nihilism—the day is not far when that wretched dynasty will be shattered, till not the slightest germ of it remains in all the Russias.

MEETING OF THE AGRICULTURAL BOARD.

About a week from now the Provincial Board of Agriculture will meet at Fredericton, to report what they have done since their last meeting, and to devise steps for the future. We do not know what they have done towards the Model Farm project—we suppose the full extent of their authority in this silly matter was to enquire the cost of such an institution. Mr. Symes the dead meat agent will lecture, very probably, before the Board, though it is not likely the Board or the Province will be much the better for that.

The Board would give instant evidence of the wisdom of its existence, and the foresight of its members, if it would set to work to draw out and discuss a plan for the establishment of an Agricultural College in connection with a Model School comprising farm and stock; and we have no small hopes, that it is the aim of Hon. W. Wedderburn who is President of the Board, to have established in the near future such a college and schools as we have endeavored to outline. We shall watch the approaching meeting of the Board with much interest.

OYSTER CULTURE.

We are glad to be able to say that the articles we have published from time to time on the above subject, have not gone to the winds. In a few days a survey of our down-river oyster beds will be made; and later on in the season we may expect an expenditure there of some of the money granted last summer for oyster culture. We may say however our county does not deserve this grant, but the fishery in question needs it which in the eyes of the present Government overrides all party considerations. We may also say, that as Mr. Snowball has never asked for any expenditure on our oyster beds, he does not deserve any thanks for the grant. Indeed he has only been a hindrance to the grant, as he has been a stumbling block, ever since his election, to the commonest justice to our county.

WHAT THINK THE GRITS?

A very large portion of our worthy Grit brethren hic et ubique almost swear by the Montreal Witness. It has been a true, and tried supporter of the party, and the religious air there has been about its party articles has made it simply priceless in their eyes. But it has just got disgusted and now says:— "The Liberal party might just as well acknowledge they have no principles, and only want place."

A meeting of the Provincial Government will take place about the 25th of the month. The Board of Agriculture will also meet about that time, and Mr. Symes, the dead meat agent, and lecturer, will meet the government members and the Board of Agriculture.

EDITORIAL CLEANING

THE ARMS ACT WITH A VENGEANCE.

The Irish Executive appears to be carrying out the provisions of the Arms Act with a vengeance. Among recent seizures is a rusty old cannon kept at the Gap of Dunloe for awakening the echoes for the edification of American and other tourists. The question will be put regarding this subject to the Irish Chief Secretary.

ARCHBISHOP CROKE, TO MR. PARNELL.

Archbishop Croke, writing to Mr. Parnell, says: "You are chosen the trusted leader, not alone of the Irish Parliamentary party, but of the Irish people. and I recognize you fully and faithfully as such. You state that your abstention from voting cannot influence the second reading of the Land Bill. Its final acceptance or rejection cannot, therefore, arise until after it has been discussed in Committee. Why take a step which, while it can do no good, may split the party, and create the division you deplore?"

THE PEOPLE OF THE NORTHWEST.

We find the following in the Thunder Bay Sentinel—it shows the temper of the people in that region, and their condition as well:—

"Since the Dominion won't recognize us and Manitoba don't wish us and Ontario will take no steps to secure us, the people here intend to form a Government of their own and for the purpose of electing a Governor and other officers a meeting will soon be held."

HOW COERCION WORKS IN IRELAND.

Mr. Gladstone took office, "pledged to the eyes" to do justice to the Irish tenant; but his idea of justice in a few months, was in the words of a petty speaker, "a grain of buckshot and good intention." When it had become manifest that the doings of the Land League were within the law, and the crown having failed to secure the conviction of Mr. Parnell and others, under the laws of the United Kingdom, such laws as we have here, the Government conceived the idea of suspending the Habeas Corpus act, because then they could seize any person on the merest suspicion, throw him into prison, and give him trial when they pleased, perhaps never give him trial. Mr. Gladstone and his Government foolishly hoped such a measure would terrorize the people into submission, though if they were judges of human nature at all they must have known such an act would only provoke fiercer recrimination, and turn many an otherwise honest man into a wayside assassin. They should too have known that all the soldiers and police they could send across the Irish Sea, could not prevent the midnight shooting, but on the contrary increase it. The trial has been made, and this is what the leading English papers say the fruits have been.

"The rod of coercion has broken in the hand of authority, and the disaffection shows it has no fear. What is the actual result? The answer lies in the ugly word 'anarchy.' The rod is at work, and every day brings its batch of defiant outrages." Says the [Pall Mall Gazette.]

"Coercion has always failed. It had no real effect on the outrages in former times. As now in some parts of Ireland they actually increased. What put an end to them was only the legislation dealing with the grievances in which the disorder had root. This moral is written in capital letters in the history of the title war of the last generation. Yet the cry is now being raised for an increased dose of the very drug whose want of efficacy is patent and unmisgivable. Coercion has failed; let us have never deemed that Ireland could be kept in order of any sort by military repression."

The London Times has likewise admitted that "coercion has failed."

THE TUNIS AFFAIR ENDED.

It would really seem as if the spirit of Napoleon the Great had left its tomb and entered the French Republic for a time. While all the world looked on, wondering what the end would be, France through General Bressat, concluded a treaty with the Bey of Tunis. The London Times strongly censures the action of the French Government, and declares she has alienated Italy and chilled England towards the Republic. France is to have a resident Minister in Tunis, and the Bey cannot make treaties with any power without the concurrence of France. He is bound likewise in various other respects; is not permitted to import arms in the South for example. France claims she took this action in the interest of her subjects, and her soldiers. Bismark is morose.

THE LAND BILL.

It is thought the Land Bill will get a second reading to-morrow. Mr. Parnell will probably speak to-morrow upon it. It more than likely will pass as it stands; and the greater the opposition the Irish members give it, the greater probably will be its chance to pass the House of Lords.

A Sense of Weariness is often felt by persons who cannot locate any particular disease. If they work, it becomes labor; if they walk they soon tire; mental efforts become a burden, and even joys are dimmed by the shadow of this weakness which is cast over their lives. Recourse is had sometimes to stimulants of a dangerous character. The advice of physicians to refrain from active labor produces no happy results. Why? The system is debilitated and needs to be built up properly. PREVIAN STUUR will do this very thing. Like the electric current it permeates the entire system, and harmonizing brings the color to the cheek again, and hope to the despondent. It does its work promptly and well.

Sold by all druggists. Bretherton in one of his charming sketches tells of a school-mistress who was accustomed to take long walks in the pine woods of California for the benefit of the Balmisano air. There is more in this treatment than most people will be inclined to credit. We see the pines and spruces have been brought into requisition in the cause of medical progress. Gray's Syrup or Bro. Francis Glass—a thoroughly scientific preparation—provides this treatment in a concentrated form, and has, after twenty years test, proved itself the most satisfactory cure—extant for Coughs, Colds, Lung and Throat affections. Price 25 and 50 cts. per bottle.

We may say to our correspondent, whenever we have a pen, we shall advocate this matter, till we see it accomplished.

Fatal Accident at Sea.

The Norwegian ship "Helga," Capt. Schilstock of Tonsberg, Norway, arrived in port on Monday, having on board the Captain and crew of the British barque "Gannaque," Capt. McMoran of Belfast, which vessel was abandoned at sea off the Bird Rocks, being stove in by the ice and in a sinking condition. The Captain reports that one of his crew Jens Emil Auli, a native of Norway, was killed on Monday the 8th of May, by falling from the main yard to the deck while engaged loosening the mainmast. The deceased was a young man 15 years of age and this was his first trip to sea. An inquest was held by Coroner McCurdy, and a verdict of accidental death was given.

Barque "Gannaque" of Belfast, official No. 33377, 766 tons. This vessel left Belfast for Miramichi on the 9th of April, and the Captain reports that he had a fine passage until the 9th inst., when at about 11 p. m. he sighted Bird Rock light bearing N. W. 3/4 N. distant about 7 miles. The vessel was then clear, and he changed course from N. W. to N. by W. The weather commenced to get thick, and at 1.39 a. m. being about 1/2 way across the straits, the vessel struck some field ice, and began to fill. Found that starboard bow port was broken, and water being above ballast, got out boats and landed on Bird Rock, then distant 4 miles; were taken care of by the Light keeper, and on the 12th boarded with their own boats the ship "Helga," and were brought to Chatham where they arrived on Monday last. The "Gannaque" was built in Quebec in 1857, and was owned by James Colahan, Belfast. The crew were sent to St. John, and the Captain goes home via Halifax on Saturday.

Boat Wrecking at Lower Napan.

We have made enquiry into the above matter, and learn that the very large majority of the people living at Lower Napan, denounce the act of the three or four lawless persons who wrecked the Wardens boats, just as strongly as we do. The parties committing the outrage are now pretty well known—they have no substantial interest in the community, they are not even fishermen, but lawless persons who do not represent the sentiments of the fishermen, but on the contrary they keep the people in the state of terror by their rabidly conduct. Not many nights ago, when they saw the two wardens going down to the river to launch their boats, they ran into the woods with firelocks and horns, and began firing blank shots, sounding on their horns, and swearing in the most brutal manner, and threatening the life of the Wardens. Perhaps it would be as well to say again to these lawless, and rash fellows, that they are already pretty well known, and that the penalty for their folly may be much greater than they fear. While the people living in Lower Napan repudiate any sympathy with the lawless, where they have lately taken place, we believe they cry out bitterly against the regulation preventing them from fishing bass with certain nets; nor as we said before, can we wonder that they do complain. The privilege they enjoyed so long, was ruthlessly taken away,—and that at a time when the gentleman who called himself the "fisherman's friend," boasted that he had the patronage of the county. Let the fishermen bear in mind. It was the party to which Mr. Snowball belongs that took away the privilege they now lament so sorely, and that the Conservative party had granted them that privilege. Some of the Napan people we believe, shouted very loud for Mr. Snowball at the last election—and with their votes they helped to get him in. Have they asked him since his election to help them? If so has he tried? And if he had tried, could he have helped them? Perhaps they will answer these questions and at the next election have their eyes open—Of this they may be assured—Mr. Snowball cares very little what they suffer by "regulations,"—the whole interests of this county, Napan and its west thrown in, were of less importance to him not many months ago, than his own personal concerns.

STAR BRIEFS.

A Social Dance will be held in the Masonic Hall tomorrow evening. Invitations will be served tomorrow.

Mr. James Desmond sold his house and property Saturday, for $1,400. The purchaser was his brother Mr. Daniel Desmond.

Five vessels arrived from sea today: One of these was the Swedish barque "Equator" with a cargo of brick and salt for J. B. Snowball.

The Schrs. "Norwood" and "Mary Ann," arrived here from Tignish, P. E. Island, Sunday, laden with farm produce. Their cargoes were quickly bought up.

The steam tug "St. George," made a trial trip to Newcastle, Monday afternoon. The alterations made last winter in her, improves her appearance and her speed.

The seaman killed on board the ship "Helga," was interred in the Freshwater cemetery Tuesday. His remains were followed to the grave by several of his countrymen, from the ships in port.

Mr. James Desmond has moved into his new residence on upper water street, as he intends carrying on a general grocery and provision business. That Mr. Desmond may have good luck, is the wish of the general community.

Mr. John McDonnell, lately employed on the Star, leaves here this evening for Boston, where he has a prospect of immediate employment. Mr. McDonnell while employed on the Star, always evinced a hearty zeal in his work, and we are sure, in Boston, he will do no less. Mr. McDonnell says he means "to be somebody." That is a laudable aim and if he but keeps it ever in mind, and shape his actions to that end, doubtless he will succeed. We wish him the best of fortune.

OUR PATRONS.

JOHNSTON & CO.—NEWCASTLE.
The agent for this firm at Newcastle, is Mr. George Hildebrand. He is established in a new and roomy building, and since coming to Newcastle has had a success far transcending his expectations. He has already sold 157 ploughs, 50 harrows, and a dozen broad cast seeders. He has just received 76 horse rakes, 36 mowers, and 22 reapers. Some of these he has sold in advance. Perhaps that which is equally of as much interest to the farmer, as anything else could possibly be, is the duplicate department which Mr. Hildebrand has in his warehouse. By duplicates is meant exact copies of the fittings which go with the various agricultural implements. In former years if a farmer broke some important portion of his mow, or rake, to get this, he had to wait several weeks till he got a duplicate of the broken portion from the factory, unless indeed the blacksmith could help him, which did not happen often. Mr. Hildebrand has a number of pigeon holes in the department of his warehouse referred to, and each will be filled with the parts of machinery which are known from experience, to break or wear out. The time of laborious sowing is almost passed, and we are sure after Mr. Hildebrand has spent this summer among our northern farmers, they will have become converted to the easy and profitable way of sowing and reaping the fields. Mr. Hildebrand is assisted by his brother Otto, a young man of a good attainments, and excellent character. We wish Mr. Hildebrand much success, and this we think is already assured him, and the business he represents.

MESSRS. A. J. LOGGIE & CO.

There is not in the dry goods trade on the Miramichi a more tasteful, well arranged, and orderly establishment than the above. And better acquainted than this, it is well stocked with goods, just bought, of the first quality, and best approved styles and patterns. Mr. Loggie has just had the store trimmed new, and dressed out according to the faultless tastes of Mr. Gemmel, it looks exceeding well. It is hard for the ladies to pass an establishment with the attractions displayed in Mr. Loggie's store, and not be tempted to buy. Mr. Loggie personally selected much of the stock, and having a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the trale, offers exactly what the people want. Besides some excellent clothes, tweeds &c., of various patterns, he displays some suits, well made, and of good stock, at marvellously low prices. Details may be read in his advertisement elsewhere. Those who come to town, for the purpose of "shopping" should not pass by the door of Messrs. A. J. Loggie & Co.

A TOUR THROUGH IRELAND.

GNAWING AWAY THE TENANT'S RIGHTS.

THE ULSTER CUSTOM.

NO FREEDOM OF CONTRACT.

(From Cor. Montreal "Witness.")

After staying awhile in Derry, and writing a lot about its historic past, which is of no great consequence, Mrs. McDougall ran down to

to have an interview with the Rev. Mr. Brown and the purchases made by tenants and how they were getting along afterward. Went down in the evening and were gathering fast as I turned back to the town, and Irish skies were weeping persistently, whether in pity or derisively, who knows.

THE ULSTER CUSTOM

It had been the custom from the plantation times to let the tenants build, fence, improve, drain, on lands let low because they were bare of improvement. The difference between what the land was worth when the tenant got it, and what generations of thrifty outlay of time and means made it was the tenant's property, and the Ulster custom allowed him to sell his right to his improvements to the highest bidder. On some lands the tenant right was much more than the rent, as it should be when it was made valuable by years of outlay; but tenants ploughed for money, or greedy for money, naturally grudged that this should be, and set themselves by office rules to nip and pick the tenant right all away.

One great difference between the men of the lowland farms and the Donegal Celt of the hills is that they have felt and treasured up the remembrance of injustice since the settlement. Their lowland neighbors never began to sympathize with them until they knew how it felt themselves. In speaking of injustice and cruelty toward the hill tenants, I was often told, "Oh, these things are of the past," they occurred thirty years ago. How philosophically people can endure the miseries they do not feel. The sponge has not been created that wipe off the Donegal mountains the record of deeds that are given there. To come back to the tenant who now a stone was made, giving the outgoing tenant three years' rent in some cases five years' rent for his claim on the farm, and "out you go," Mr. McCausland, whose estate joins Limavady, gave three years' rent since the Land Act of 1870, and since the eyes of the world are turned on the doings of Ireland, he has allowed some things more for unexhausted mauling. He has also advanced money to some extent for improvements, adding five per cent, not to the loan, but to the rent, thus making the interest a perpetual charge on the property. Landlords in Donegal did the same with the money they got from Government to lend to the people. Got it at one a half percent from Government, re-lent it at five percent, making the interest a perpetual rent charge.

The tenants, I think, are naturally averse to borrowing money which brings interest in perpetuity over them, and enables the landlord to say, "I made the improvement myself. Into these improvements enters the tenant's labor, as well as the perpetual interest. A good man, a minister, not Mr. Brown, reasoned with me that the landlord was sleeping partner with the tenant, that he gave the land, the tenant the labor, and both should share the profit of improvement. If the land was rent free I could see that partnership just, but as long as a man paid the rent value of the land as he got it, the improvement made by his labor and means through the slow years should be his own. I might think differently. I had an estate with daughters to portion, some to establish in life, a castle to build, a fine demesne to create, or even a gambling village or horse-racing town tagging at my purse strings. Whatever good and sufficient reasons may be found for nothing will ever reconcile the seals to it.

LANDLORDS CONTRACTS.

The great complaint is the landlords power to raise the rents as often as he pleases. When a landlord appoints a valuator, the latter understands what he is to do and why he was appointed. The tenant has no say in this matter. Where is freedom of contract of which so much is said? The arbitrary power of raising the rent at will irresponsibly, and thus confiscating the tenant's rights the people who are affected by the wrong with one voice declare must cease to exist. Instances were given me by Mr. Brown, who, by the way, had just come home from giving his testimony before the Bessborough Commission: A man named Hamilton Stewart was put out of his place, receiving three years' rent as compensation. His predecessors had bought the tenant's right of the place, he had improved it after it fell into his hands. All his rights, including the purchase money paid, except the three years' rent, were confiscated. Another case he mentioned as happening on the estate of one Major Scott: A tenant, one John Loughrey, was lost in the river. His widow died a few months afterward, leaving two little boys absolutely orphans. Their uncle, who lived near, offered to manage the place for the boys and pay the rent till one of them came of age. Answer—"No, we cannot allow minors to hold on our estate." Very much against the wishes of the uncle he was obliged to fall in with this landlord's arrangement, and five years' rent were laid down as a settlement of the case by Mr. King, the agent. The boys' uncle thought it a great hardship to have to give up the place the boys' father had improved, for he was a thrifty man, had some money; and was able to improve. When the five years' rent was counted out on the table, Mr. King said to the boys' uncle, "That is the money coming to the boys, count it." He counted it and said, "This is five years' rent certainly." "Now," said Mr. King, "there is a bad house upon the farm; it is not as good repair as I would like, and I would like a good house upon it. I will take £100 of this money and with it I will build a house upon the place." He took £100 of the five years' rent and built a house that was never inhabited. The children never got this money back. This case has been referred to again and again in public meetings and other places till Mr. King was obliged to make an effort to explain it away. The children's uncle was rich, and they thought that, therefore, the orphans need not get all the money. Mr. Brown knew this case intimately, as the drowned man, his widow and orphans were members of his congregation. This is liberty of contract.

Now, what person who was touched with a trial like this would consider this freedom of contract absolute robbery. In the case of the Loughrey children there had been no agreement or shadow of an agreement with the drowned man to keep up the house, and the house was as good as any of the neighboring houses—a good substantial farm-house. This case was brought before the Bessborough Commission.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A VOICE FROM THE MILLS.

DEAR SIR:—

I was not very far astray in my last letter, when I said the hands in this mill might expect to have their wages docked. The fortnight was on Saturday evening, and when the deal carriers came to get their wages, they found they were paid five cents a day less than last year. Last year they got $1.40 a day. This was nothing too little, when we take into account the margin the employer has on his deals, and the short season the carrier gets employment. When the milling season ends he may get work, and he may not. Now a stone was made, plasterer who, like the mill men gets work only during a part of the year, will not take less than from $2.50 to $5 a day, while the carpenter who works the year round is willing to take from $1.25 to $2.50 a day.

However, this is not so much to my purpose. On Saturday evening the carriers were paid $1.35 or 5 cents less than last year, and other reductions were made among the other workmen. Then all hands saw through the dodge of Mr. Snowball in having the statement published that deal sawing would not pay this year, and a lot of other untruthful stuff. They also saw that my letter was correct. They therefore demanded $1.40 a day, and this being refused, $1.50 on Monday they struck, demanding $1.50, not any too much. The men in this mill were too good to think they should be cut down, when the hands in the other mills got their usual pay. No man idles in this mill. Every man is on the jump all day, and every earwig has his eyes on it, so that he can see when they attempt to cut them down.

It is expected Mr. Snowball will take revenge. He will, many think, keep his feelings to himself, till the men on the drives get into town. Then he will, it is surmised, discharge the hands who struck, in small instalments. If he does this, we must be content for the time, but a day of reckoning will probably come. I believe the next thing will be the labourers will form unions, and I think, sir, the time has come when they should take some steps to protect themselves. Labor unions are in existence now in almost every town in Canada where there is much business done, and I do not think when they are properly conducted they are at all unfair to the employer. If our men are firm here, and meet move with move, there is no fear but they will get their rights. It is their duty to stand up against oppressors, and let Mr. Snowball see, they ought to have something to say about what they will take, as well as Mr. Snowball has about what he will give. Old times are gone by now, and workmen must not be treated as slaves; and Mr. Snowball will only bring dangers on his head if he try to act like the oppressors of the past century.

Yours, etc.,

A WORKER IN SNOWBALL'S MILL.

THE TUG ST. GEORGE

DEAR SIR,—A trial trip of the almost new tug Steamer "St. George," owned by J. B. Snowball, Esq., and commanded by Captain John Bell, lately of the river boat "Andover," took place on Monday afternoon last. The tug left Chatham at 2 p. m. with quite a number of invited gentlemen on board, and on her way to Newcastle I noticed our gentlemanly friend W. S. Loggie, Esq., pointing out to the strangers the different intricate pieces of machinery and the improvements lately made in the works of the engine room. The boat made good speed and arrived at Newcastle in very short time. Half an hour was given to the visitors to see the sights,—a gothing much was noticeable except the public square which had only a few cows grazing on it—less far than the Chatham pasture.

The "Waverly's" appearance is a credit to the town. The sound of the steamers whistle warned all those that were thirsty to be on board. On leaving our many friends in Newcastle, I noticed the harbor master, looking well and hearty, and growing to the saw dust coming down "from Fredericton" and destroying the tide marks on the wharves. The fastenings were cast off, and the "St. George" steamed up opposite Sargent's mill where she turned coming down in grand style. When opposite the intended Branch of Nova Scotia Bank, I timed the steamer and in 26 minutes landed at the owners wharf at Chatham—a distance of 5 miles. Taking into account the stiff east wind and new working machinery, some of our crack tugs may take warning.

VISITOR.

Labor Difficulties.

On Monday at noon, the workmen in Mr. Snowball's mill informed Mr. Snowball they wanted the sums wages as they struck; and their next demand was a slight increase on last years wages. The mill has been since idle, neither party yielding. A Star reporter interviewed two or three of the hands who have struck and they said, "We don't want to be served worse than other men; we work hard, and ought to get honest wages. He is trying to grind us in every way. In Canada's time it took two men to carry a deal coming through the mill. These got a dollar apiece. One man does it in our mill, and they think $1.40 a day too much. We will not submit to tyranny."

The Advocate says the Nova Scotia Bank people are putting a three-and-a-half cent safe into their office in Major Call's building.

The Advocate calls upon the town policeman to disperse the cent-pitchers that throng the streets of Newcastle.

Wells pilot schooner is ashore on Fox Island.

A PICTURESQUE SCENE OF SOLEMNITY.

A writer in Black Magazine thus describes his view of Albanian troops in Southern Epirus: The ended, we mounted our horse and rode over the plain, and the spur which is prominent from the western of hills, toward Mazaraki, a great gathering of the had been convoked. The cultivation of the soil the number of villages clustered on the slopes of the mountain showed how populous the tract is. Most of the notes Margariti accompanied the mounted on every variety horse and mule; even the donkey was not unrepresented in the cavalcade, which in the sunshine with the bow tints of oriental dress, hundred bold mountaineer foot careered merrily in us, uttering wild war and discharging in the air bell mounted pistols and matchlocks with interminable barrels.

After a couple of hours riding we reached the place where the demonstration take place. It was, indeed, a striking spectacle. Not less than 2,000 Albanians had responded to the call. As we took our places on the carpets which had been spread for the party under the shade of branches of an olive grove, fringed two sides of the meadow the whole assemblage of their feet and saluted their leader with a long, low wail. The scene was one of profound solemnity. The picture of mountaineers, red caps and white trousers, contrasting with the green of the olive grove, their strange weapons gleaming in the sunshine, the gray houses of raki nesting among trees, the slopes of the western hill wooded heights behind, and in the background of ranges of blue mountains tier above tier against the sky.

Our host rose in response to the acclamations of the men no longer the stolid Pasha, but the enthusiastic patriot, and as the winged flow from his lips, he seemed to breathe his very soul into the assembled multitude, until the closing sentence fell, every man took it up and repeated it with the full force of 2,000 healthy lungs. "Live the autonomy of Albania!" Then came a striking incident. Among the mountaineers gathered on the meadow were many who belonged to villages and families of whom there existed legends. Solemnly these foes walked up toward the kiss of peace, to abdure quarrels for evermore, in the national peril. Such has never been seen, the
