A MYSTERIOUS QUEST.

CHAPTER XXX.

A GREAT MYSTERY. (Concluded.)

Instantly, the Cleveland gentleman, with rare tact and generosity, declared that he would go for Miss Aspinwall, and taking the lawyer by the arm, drew him out leaving the field to his rival.

The artist at once sprang forward and clasped the new-made heiress by the hand.

'Signorina!' he exclaimed, 'one word before your prosperity is known to the world. I love you; you know that; and I have already laid my heart at your feet. But you were not the mistress of millions then, and knew no more than I of the good fortune which awaited you. So do not feel that I hold you as bound to me in the slightest degree, because of any expression of regard that may have escaped you. Love that might have moved you then may not move you now, and though I prize you always, and ever the same, whether you be rich or whether you be poor, I feel that it is only honorable in me to await a reply to my suit until you have become accustomed to your wealth, and learned the necessities of your new position. If in six months from now you still remember the artist, Hamilton Degraw—'

'Ah!' she interrupted, with a naivete charmingly in keeping with her blushes. 'I cannot wait six months. I have no home, no adviser, no protector. I should make a thousand mistakes. Besides, why not be altogether happy, since Fate has given us the opportunity?'

Was it possible! What man could resist such an appeal! He gazed upon her with rapture, he covered her hands with kisses, he all but took her in his arms, but did not accept the truth she proffered him.

'I cannot,' he cried. 'It would be like taking advantage of your inexperience. Wait three months, darling, and if then—'

There are plenty of substitutes (avoid them), but no real rival for

But was Jenny Rogers a coquette? We, who have partially sounded her nature and circumstance, do not think so, nor do her glances on this important day betoken that she is playing with the artist or even thinking too much of her newly acquired wealth. As she sits in her old place on the window-seat, almost buried under the flowers which have been thrown at her feet by her merry companions, she seems to us the embodiment of womanly sweetness and beauty. She smiles, but who could not smile when suddenly raised to a kingdom? Yes, and she utters mockeries at times, but it is not in scorn of any true expression of feeling, but only in disdain of the nearly fulsome adulation with which she is now and then addressed. She is clad in a soft clinging robe of pure white silk without any other ornament than the lace at her throat; but she never looked more beautiful, nor appeared more brilliant, and to one pair of eyes, at least, never seemed more alive with love and feeling. These eyes were those of Hilary, who, in the joy she thus saw revealed before her read the final words of her own hope.

Another person perceived the signorina's burning beauty, and resisted it as long as he could, but finally submitted to its charms and passed quickly to her side. 'Come,' he entreated, 'I must have a few words with you before we enter upon our three months of separation. Leave this crowd who have worshipped you long enough, and if you must be half covered with flowers, we will walk on the porch where the vines hang thick and I will shake down rose-leaves enough to make a carpet for your feet.'

'I care not for roses,' she said, and stood up at his side, a rose herself. But when they had withdrawn into the porch, it was not of love he spoke, nor was it flowers he offered her. He had a fear to express and made haste to utter it.

'Signorina!' said he—'Pardon me, I will not call you by that name when I can acquire the right to use a dearer—you have never told me why you so suddenly left the house in—street.'

Taken aback, for she had expected different words from these, Miss Rogers looked at him with searching and slightly troubled eyes and murmured:

'Why do you ask me that now? I was not thinking of anything like that.'

'Because you are lost in the pleasures of the present, while I am concerned with the dangers of the past. Why did you fly from home in those days; was it because you feared Montelli more than you trusted me?'

Her head fell, she nodded a quick yes, and then as he still stood waiting exclaimed:

'He was a bad man. I dared not linger another day where he could visit me. One glimpse of his face had been enough to thoroughly alarm me. I fled and buried myself in an obscure place as I could find. The Portuguese accompanied me, but I soon came to fear her also. You had sown the seed of distrust in my heart, and I grew to be afraid of every one. So I ran away again and came here.'

'Alone?'

'Alone. I knew that Hilary Aspinwall had a country-seat in this town and I hoped she would see and take pity on me. You will not tell her that I calculated upon her friendship to such an extent, will you?'

'Oh, no,' he answered smiling, for her look was quite piteous in its shame and entreaty. 'But Miss Aspinwall would understand. She is so truly womanly.'

at the foot of the staircase. Though I had not noticed it before, I thought then that he had an eye like the Italian whom I saw for a minute in your rooms. If that is so, and he is Montelli in disguise, or, what is more probable, Montelli was this man in disguise, then the two rascals are one and the plot against you is of long standing.'

'It may be,' she acknowledged, 'it may be. But it is all over now. Why think of it?'

'Because I do not feel at ease about him; nor do you, for all your seeming gayety. I have caught you more than once placing in visible apprehension toward the door, as if you feared a renewed sight of your murderous persecutor.'

'Did I betray myself like that?' she asked, then stopped and exclaimed with sudden conviction: 'It is because great pleasures never seem real. I cannot believe that I shall be allowed to step into this immense fortune without some disaster to dampen my happiness. It would be like the wonders of a fairy-tale occurring to an ordinary mortal.'

'But you are not a mortal; you are a witch, or one of the fairies themselves; so you should believe in your happiness, only—' he grew more serious here—'I do not want you to trust it so much as to be reckless. This fellow is in custody, but he may manage to escape; and though you certainly have nothing more to fear from his capidity, you may have from his revenge. He will never forget that through you he has lost, as he thinks, the possibility of handling an immense sum of money.'

The Evening Chit-Chat

By MARY CARRISON

Pretty—yes, I suppose she is. But, do you know, I never can bear to look at her long enough to find out. She's always squirming around so.

So a business man commented on a young girl in his office when I asked him if he didn't think she was pretty.

I quote the comment to show how some unpleasant little mannerism can counteract great charm. For the girl really is a very pretty girl.

And the reason I mention the matter at all is that it seems to me a good many of our young girls have unpleasant little mannerisms like this.

I know another girl who has a disagreeable trick of perpetually lifting her hands to her face. Now she rubs her mouth or passes it across her cheek. This girl is a brilliant girl, an unusually interesting conversationalist and yet I know that her hearer's pleasure is often dissipated by this habit.

Just recently I heard of another girl who was discharged by a rather punctilious business man from her position as his stenographer because she was always taking out her combs and combing up her hair. "She's a good stenographer," he said, "but I want a girl who will arrange her toilet in the privacy of her home and not in my office."

Now, if any one of these girls should chance to read this article I have no fear that she would recognize herself, for the habit in each case had become, I am sure, almost unconscious.

But the part that puzzles me, the point I want to bring out is this: The families of those girls could not possibly have been unconscious of these unpleasant little mannerisms, could they?

And what were they thinking of to let them go on?

What were they doing that they hadn't time to attend to such vital matters?

I don't.

Just think. Beauty and brains and efficiency were each nullified by one foolish unnecessary little habit that might have been so easily nipped in the bud by a little plain speaking.

Of course no outsider can criticize a habit like this without risk of being considered rude and intrusive.

But, equally of course, no family can afford not to speak out on such a matter.

One of the most important functions of the family, I think, is to give us when we particularly need it, a chance to "see ourselves as others see us."

Nip the unpleasant little mannerism right in the bud. Nip it as gently as possible, but even if you cause a little temporary bitterness, nip it thoroughly, and in the end you will win lasting gratitude—or would I be safer in saying deserve it?

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the greatest blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medicinal roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

When Limbs and Chest Ache.

ZAM-BUK GIVES EASE QUICKLY.

Have you got a cold in your bones? Have you a bad attack of "general aching"? You know the feeling. Limbs ache, muscles seem to have become tired out, back aches, now and again a twinge of rheumatism strikes you here and there. Your chest feels tight, and there is a pain between your shoulders.

Cold is responsible for this condition, and a vigorous application of Zam-Buk will put you right. Take a hot bath and then rub your chest and the aching limbs well with Zam-Buk.

Mrs. B. Gorie, 76 Berkeley St., Toronto, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies, new and old, and found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On applying this to my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I also rubbed it on my limbs where I felt the rheumatic pains. In three days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk I was free from the cold in throat and chest, and also the rheumatism in my limbs."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, various sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., 10 John's, Nfld., upon receipt of price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

Weight Carrying Aeroplanes

It is understood that a remarkable advance has been made in connection with the employment of aeroplanes or weight-carrying purposes. Experiments have been privately carried out by military officers and civilian pilots with the idea of establishing data for the development of the aeroplane as a man-carrier and as an explosives transporter also.

Although the experiments so far have been more or less crude, sufficient has been accomplished to demonstrate that they are on the right lines. Added weights have in the tests been carried for considerable distances and the sudden displacement of these have been made under new methods, of what little is known, at which are said to be practical both as regards accuracy and balance. It is stated that the experiments have demonstrated the possibility of aeroplanes not only carrying heavy loads, but of picking up loads whilst flying, thus avoiding any loss of time and speed. This would be of special value in warfare, and nearly all the nations have directed attention to the subject, but hitherto without reaching a very satisfactory solution of the problem.

With regard to the progress of air-ship construction at Aldershot, extensive tests have been made with new materials for the gas envelope of future craft. Goldbeater's skin and the skin of the intestines of the ox have hitherto been used with conspicuous success, but the new ventures were more in the direction of rubber as being less costly. The old 'ox' envelope was, however, proved to be the best, and future airships will have their envelopes made from the old material. These tests have delayed the launching of the craft now under construction at South Farnborough, and next year will be well advanced before the new ship is ready. Nearly two years have been taken in perfecting this airship, but so rapid are the changes brought about by progressive knowledge that finality always seems to be far off. This was the case with the naval airship, which came to such an untimely end.

They seem to take for granted that they should be there and doing what they are doing. The first dominant impression one bears away is that they have a great interest in governing and none at all in possessing. Public Opinion.

An Editor's First Sight of India.

Mr. J. A. Spender, the editor of the Westminster Gazette, thus describes his first sight of India:—

"The first sight of India leaves the mind in a whirl. I understand now why Anglo-Indian writers have found it necessary to invent a language of their own, consisting largely of untranslatable and unintelligible heathen words. For Bombay is full of multitude of things for which I am unable to find a name.

Close-Packed Multitude.

"I have some acquaintance with the East End of London and its crowded tenements, but nowhere in London or in any European city that I know, except possibly in one quarter of Naples, have I ever seen anything like this swarming, vivid, various humanity.

"No multitude could live thus close-packed without establishing some rough rule of mutual forbearance.

Neuralgia and Sciatica

"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Moeppeth, Ont. "I had been a sufferer for 25 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried nearly all the remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicines. Before I had finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit in my condition. I have so much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."

In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and satisfactory. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the "action of kidneys," liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto

Yet those who know them will tell you that this immense jumble of humanity sorts itself into hundreds of intensely separate little heaps, each of which is guarded from the other by an unimaginable code of pride or prejudice.

"Bombay must be the despair of the Indian sanitary reformer. The grey and brown slums of an English town are bad enough, but these brilliant, bizarre, sun-smitten slums of Bombay, with the plague in their dark places, give you a shudder such as you could get in no northern country. There is, one feels instinctively something poisonous in their glittering squalor. Nothing would help but a fire which swept them all away.

The Handful of Rulers.

"It does in a measure take you breath away to find the handful of the ruling race asserting themselves so absolutely over these rich and successful men of business, men who veritably possess the place, who have made large fortunes as merchants and cotton spinners, and who are obviously no whit inferior in the managing capacity to the ablest of Europeans. It is as though Manchester or Liverpool were being governed by a handful of Civil Servants sent, not from London, but from Berlin. Yet, if you ask the question, you are told at once that these men have no grievance. British rule, and British alone has provided them with the opportunity of making their fortunes, and like capitalists everywhere, they cry out for security.

"You must be a very forlorn man in Bombay if you have not a friend to take you to the Yacht Club. There towards sunset you will find the English colony assembled on a green lawn fronting the sea, which might be anywhere in England.

"While you are here you forget the great, seething, miasmic city behind you, and wonder at the cheerfulness, smartness, good looks, and good manners of the Bombay English and their womenkind. Civilians or soldiers, they are clearly a strong, self-reliant, well-favoured race, with an indefinable air of being in authority. It is an authority, however, which is never flaunted.

No Big Talk.

"You hear no big talk; it is, indeed, the most difficult thing in the world to induce any of them to talk at all about themselves or their duties.

Entry of Fish
Into the U. S.

On Thursday of last week, the cable news despatch contained the intelligence that some modification had been made in the regulations as to the admission of fish into the United States. His Excellency the Governor, Sir Ralph Williams cabled to the British Ambassador at Washington, Rt. Hon. James Bryce, for information, and in reply received a despatch in these words:—

"With reference to your telegram of 12th January, Treasury Circular to Customs, dated January 10th, and sent by to-day's mail, reissues with some modifications previous regulations admitting to free entry fish caught by local fishermen under American supervision. These regulations were enclosed in my despatch of 23rd January. The modifications now admit to free entry fish stored, as well as caught, etc., under regulation 4, and, by an addition to regulation 6, fish transhipped after landing."

A perusal of the sections to which reference is made seems to show that the boon is conferred on those engaged in the American fishery in British waters who may ship fish which has been stored on British shores.

Under the regulations issued last year such fish landed and stored on our territory was not entitled to free entry into the States. Under the modified regulations it is.

As to the free admission of fish which is transferred to another vessel or to a railway for transportation, that was provided for in regulation 5 of the Circular of last year which is not amended, the only modification relates to the affidavit which is demanded in the matter.

It is evident that the object of these amendments is to facilitate American Companies to carry on operations in Newfoundland.

They in no way improve the position of Newfoundland firms who wish to undertake the export of fish to America, as may be seen by a perusal of the regulations, nor does it improve the position of fishermen who wish to sell their fish to American firms who are engaged in an American fishery carried on in Newfoundland waters. This is clearly set forth in Regulation 2, which is as follows:—
"(2) Fish taken by the citizens of another country, and purchased by the Owner, Master, Agent of an American vessel, whether or not landed on shore prior to being taken aboard such a vessel, are not entitled to free entry as a product of an American fishery."

A Dangerous Proceeding.

Around the caves of the Bank of Montreal Building, there is a heavy coating of ice which is dangerous for pedestrians for if it fell it would kill the unlucky person who might be under it. To-day Supt. Grimes asked the Bank authorities to have it removed.

PARADE RINK open to-night, ice in excellent condition; also to-morrow afternoon from 2.30 to 5 o'clock. Terra Nova Band in attendance.—11.

Rossley Star Theatre.

Last night the Star Theatre was again crowded, packed and jammed, and when we take in consideration the splendid show put on by the Rossleys, it's no wonder, for in all the 12 months the Rossleys have been in St. John's, never has there been anything to equal Tam-o-Shanter and Souther Johnny. It's full of good songs, dances, reels, jigs, and flings, with 7 people in the cast, all in beautiful Scotch costumes. The new team, Orth and Burkhardt, engaged by Mr. Rossley, made a big hit. Mr. Orth's imitations of the Scotch bag pipes on the violin were just splendid. Joe Burkhardt, as Wee McGreggor had to respond to many encores. His funny song was too funny for words. Everybody was delighted to see the Rossleys to the front again. Marie Rossley, in a brand new Scotch costume, had many admirers and looked fine. Billie Brayley and his dainty daughter Lillie, were well received. Bonnie Rossley, St. John's little favorite, also came in for a share of applause. The pictures are good.

A show a man can take his wife, mother, sister or sweetheart to see, and not be afraid of seeing and hearing anything to offend the most particular. The orchestra played some splendid selections, which were greatly applauded.

Wedding Bells.

On December 29th, at Christchurch, Bonavista, Dr. J. Richards, graduate of Toronto University, was united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony, to May, eldest daughter of R. Brown, Esq., H.M.C. of this town. The officiating clergyman being Rev. A. G. Bayly, M. A., R. D. The bride was charmingly attired in a Parisian gown of sequin net, over cream satin, and wore a bridal veil and coronet. She was attended by her sister, Miss Hilda Brown, who looked very pretty in a princess gown of embroidered silk. The groom was supported by Mr. Walter Rendell of St. John's. The numerous and costly presents received from Canadian and Newfoundland friends testify to the great esteem in which the bride is held. The groom's present to the bride was a pendant of amethyst and pearls, and to the bridesmaid a handsome brooch set with rubies, while the best man and ushers received cuff links. A reception to which were invited about sixty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Immediately after the reception, the happy couple took train for Trinity, to join the Prospero for Greenspond, their future home. To Dr. and Mrs. Richards we extend our hearty felicitations.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, Jan. 19, 1912.
Rubber Sponges still hold their place as the only efficient substitute for the natural product over which they can claim the following advantages: they are not liable to become slimy, a troublesome point with ordinary sponges; they wear longer, not tearing easily; the rubber is antiseptic and does not harbor germs; and they are perhaps, size for size, rather cheaper than sponge. We have a fair stock, of different sizes, prices of which range from 40c. to $2.25 each. We invite you to have a look at them. For all kinds of sores, pimples, and eruptions, we recommend Zam-Buk. It is being largely used all over the country for "scurvy," eczema, chaps and the like. Price, 50c. a box.

Complaints
About Freight
For Placentia and Trinity Bays.

We direct the attention of the Reid Nfld. Co. to the message from Placentia we publish this evening complaining of the freight service to Placentia. The message states that provisions are badly wanted. We hear that the same conditions prevail in the South of Trinity Bay and that if something is not done at once, the people will be in a bad way. One lumberman at Whitbourne we are told is at his wit's end as to how he is going to send in provisions to his camps in the woods, as he has not been able to get them to Whitbourne from the city. The local express and mail train which arrived last night at Whitbourne was expected there early in the morning and passengers who made frequent visits to the station were assured that the train would be there at 2 p.m. It did not arrive there till 7 p.m., and then it was stalled there till about 8 p.m., awaiting for an accommodation from Brigus Junction. Fancy a mail train being held up three hours or so to let an accommodation pass, instead of keeping it at the Brigus Junction and passing the mail train through. There is much exasperation felt at present, and the views expressed by the Board are but an indication of what is felt by the travelling public.

The Reid Newfoundland Company would do well to pay prompt attention to these matters. What is the Government doing? and more particularly what attention is being paid to these conditions by the Hon. R. Watson Colonial Secretary, who is concerned not only as the holder of an office which has the supervision of these matters, but he is the representative of constituencies who are the chief sufferers. What is he doing about the opening of the Broad Cove line?

Church Demolished.

Mr. Geo. Kearney, of the K. & A. store, had letters to-day from Col. Roy, which gave particulars of the demolition of the Anglican Church there in the big blizzard of Sunday week, the 9th inst. The wind blew with hurricane force and such terrific weather was never before experienced there. The Anglican Church, which cost $10,000, was thrown over on its side and was completely demolished. Portions of its structure were thrown a great distance and damaged several houses. Twenty-four panes of glass, 12 x 20 inches, were blown out of the residence of Mr. Huestis, the school teacher, 3 pieces of the building striking them, the gable unroofed part of his dwelling being blown down, which formed an annex to his house, was partially demolished. Mr. Huestis and family had a narrow escape from death. Several other houses were partly wrecked and in others the sashes and glass were blown in. Havoc was wrought on all sides.

More Fish Shipments.

The S. S. Galveston which left here for New York fish laden, Saturday, is due to arrive there to-morrow, and on discharging will return here and take a full cargo of fish to Mediterranean ports for the Newfoundland Shipping Co. She should leave here about the 30th inst.

Two Magisterial Enquiries.

In the enquiry into the death of Mr. Matthew Pendergast of Logy Bay, his eldest son, Matthew, was examined before Judge Knight this morning. This concluded the proceedings in the matter. Mr. Pendergast was found dead in bed on Monday morning last. This afternoon there will be a magisterial enquiry into the death of the late James Kennedy of Howe Place. He was discovered dead at his home Sunday morning last. The evidence of Head Const. Sparrow, the wife of the deceased and the man who brought him to his home, will be taken.

Committed To Prison.

Several months ago a man named Mansfield was summoned to court at the instance of Mrs. Ellen Carrigan for an aggravated assault committed on her, did not appear, and has since been out of the country. He was sentenced to 30 days imprisonment and a commitment was executed but he could not be found. Yesterday he came back and was arrested on the street and taken to the Penitentiary to serve out his sentence.

Pilot Brown Returned.

Pilot James Brown who was carried off an unwilling passenger in the Corinthian last week and went to Halifax on her, returned by the Tobasco to-day. He is looking well after his voyage and was treated well both on the ship and in Halifax.

DIED IN BOSTON.—Mr. Peter Byrne, janitor of the Reid Nfld. Co. station, received a telegram from Boston to-day informing him of the death of his brother, James. Deceased was in his 34th year and was married to Miss St. Croix, of Holywood, St. Mary's Bay. He had been settled in Boston for several years and was in a good position and doing well.

Furness Liner On Fire.

The Furness liner Kanawha, Capt. Kellman, arrived in port to-day at 1 p.m. and presented a singular spectacle to hundreds of people assembled along the waterfront, as she had a heavy starboard list, in fact was almost thrown out on her beam ends, and her hull and decks were almost covered with ice. The ship was 16 days out from London to Halifax with a general cargo and has a list to starboard of at least 50 degrees. From the start of the voyage the Kanawha had terribly stormy weather with hurricanes of N. and N. W. winds and gizzards and a terrific sea running. The weather was intensely cold and for the better part of the voyage the thermometer often fell to several degrees below zero. In some instances the crew had to have to the fore and aft and officers had a hard time of it in working the ship along. It was only at great risk that they held the decks, as off-heavy seas boarded her, and to make matters worse the cargo shifted to starboard, while on Sunday last all were appalled to discover fire in the hold. The flames had made some headway when discovered, and the anxiety of all on board might be imagined when we state that stowed in the ship was a considerable quantity of dynamite and other dangerous explosives. To save the ship from destruction by fire and to protect their lives from the additional horror of an explosion, the crew and officers worked with might and main day and night to quench the outbreak of fire in the hold. Since the fire was discovered on Sunday the crew have been hard at work trying to quench it, and succeeded in doing so yesterday, much to their relief. The ship's pumps and lines of hose flooded the hold with water, which I went to starboard and accentuated the list which the vessel had when her cargo shifted. It is thought that a considerable portion of the cargo has been consumed by the fire, but it is not exactly known how it originated. The cargo will be discharged here, we learn, and the vessel placed in an even keel.

Mr. William Fizzle returned from Big Pond and Mobile last night with the mails. He had a hard time owing to the large quantity of snow on the road. He got along by crossing marshes and ponds and kept to the road for only about 2 1/2 miles where the snow is nearly up to the telegraph wires.

A Sure Place.

To get his share of the business that will be done during 1912 the wise shopkeeper will take advantage of every opportunity to let the public know what and where his goods are. To do this successfully he must advertise in the daily paper—and when he is convinced of that fact little more remains to be done. He will, if he is wise, allot a liberal amount to give the necessary publicity to the opportunities which his store offers the public, and then select his medium.—If he desires the best results and will not risk being disappointed, the surest course for him is to take space in the

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

I'm growing old. That fact forlorn brings to my eyes the tears. The music of the dinner horn no longer charms my ears. I'm summoned to the groaning board, and go with dragging feet, and languidly I DREARY take my sword and carve the fragrant meat. I nibble at the OLD AGE stately roast. I care not for the hash; I am not hungry for the toast, the eggs or succotash. And when I've eaten something hot my stomach breaks its thills, and ties itself into a knot and makes demand for pills. Ah me! Ah you! Ah Richard Roe! I full of yearnings am for dear, dead days of long ago, when I could eat a ham! When I was young my appetite was equal to the fray; I ate all day and dreamed all night of grub that got away. And when I heard the brass horn's screams that called to meat and pie, I vaulted over trees and streams, and fences eight feet high. No longer comfort do I find in dinner trumpet's blare; nor do I with contented mind discuss the bill of fare.

Home Rule and Unionists.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. The decision of Ulster Unionists to prevent the Home Rule meeting at Belfast on February 8th has placed the Unionist party in a dilemma. Even in Ulster a large body of loyalists agree that the decision is ill-advised, while several influential Conservative papers condemn the attempt to stifle free speech as calculated to do the Loyalist cause more harm than good. They admit that, thus challenged, it would be cowardice on the part of Winston Churchill to draw back now, and since it can only be supposed that serious rioting would be the outcome of the meeting, they hope that the promoters of the affair will withdraw their invitation to Churchill and thus avert serious danger.

Churchill Will Not be Coerced

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. Threats by Orangemen to break up the Home Rule meeting at Belfast on February 8th have greatly alarmed the London press. Unionist newspapers deny that they have appealed to Chief Secretary Birrell to call off the chief in order to "prevent bloodshed." The Express seriously suggests the arrest and detention of Churchill, on the ground that the speech he is to deliver will provoke a breach of the peace. Churchill replied that he will not be intimidated by any threats, and that he will speak and support Home Rule if the meeting is held. He has promised to outline at the meeting the Home Rule measure, which will be introduced into Parliament when it reassembles next month. Ulster is getting ready for a first class riot on the 8th prox.

Women of Ulster Issue Appeal

Special to Evening Telegram. BELFAST, Jan. 18. Fifty thousand women, members of the Ulster Unionist Association, issued to-day a fiery manifesto to their sisters in Britain to aid them in defeating the Home Rule Bill. The Duchess of Abercorn presided at the meeting of the Council of Associations which adopted the motion for the appeal to the women of Britain, and in the course of her speech said: "We will not have Home Rule, and if we are thrown out of our heritage, we shall stand by our men folk, resisting to the utmost the domination of the 'Rebel Parliament' in Dublin." The manifesto declares the Unionists are determined to hold Ulster for the Empire, and asserts that Home Rule will reduce the whole country to rags and poverty as found in Ireland, only in the districts where the rule of Nationalist leagues is supreme.

Feeling High in Ulster.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. The action of Ulster at the Unionist Council on Tuesday night, in passing resolutions "to take steps to prevent the meeting being held," is accepted as a game of battle by the Nationalists, who now insist that Churchill and Redmond must not be intimidated by threats and lawlessness. The Lord Mayor of Belfast states that in his long experience of Ulster, he does not remember a time when feeling ran so high.

Fiona's Mission.

The cruiser Fiona, Capt. E. English, arrived here at 2 p.m. yesterday. She was several months up West, and while the herring fishery was being prosecuted she was alternately at Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay, and on several occasions freed vessels which were in danger of being frozen in. During the latter part of her itinerary she crossed Fortune and Placentia Bays looking after the herring fishery and Customs work. Inspector O'Reilly came here on the ship.

Firemen's Union Meeting.

A meeting of the Firemen's Union, at the solicitation of a number of the members will be convened for Monday night next by Mr. J. Boland who is Secretary for the time being. The election of officers will take place and matters appertaining to the employment of firemen on the sealing ships will be discussed with other important business.

The hearing of the charge against Mrs. Butler has been set for to-morrow but as Mr. R. A. Squires, her counsel is still out of the city it will likely be further postponed.

Masonic Installations

AT HR. GRACE AND CARBONAR.

The Masonic brethren who went to Harbor Grace and Carbonar Tuesday last to attend the installation ceremonies, returned to town yesterday. On arriving at Harbor Grace they were met by a deputation from the Lodge. The brethren went to the Temple at 8 o'clock where Lodge was opened in due and ancient form. The D. G. M. entered and, taking charge, proceeded with the ceremony. Bro. R. French, as Master of Lodge Hr. Grace, was installed for a second year. He also invested the other officers as follows:—

Makes Hair Grow.

McMurdo & Co. have an invigorator that will grow hair or money back. The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears. The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. A large bottle for 50c. And remember, it destroys the Dandruff germ, the little pest that saps the life that should go to the hair from the roots. SALVIA is sold by McMurdo & Co., under a positive guarantee to cure Dandruff, stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp in ten days or money back. A large bottle costs 50c. The word "SALVIA" (Latin for sage) is on every bottle.

The Skating Race

We understand that Mr. T. Woods, the champion skater of Newfoundland, will accept the challenge of Mr. Fred. Haddon to meet him in a 3 mile skating contest. It is likely that the winner of this race will accompany the hockeyists of St. John's to Boston, where he will, if possible, engage in a skating contest with some of the "flyers" in the "Hub."

Little Bay Copper Mine.

At Little Bay North the Cape Copper Co. are developing the copper mine there which was abandoned several years ago. A number of men are at work underground in the new shafts sunk, and the indications are that good leads of ore will soon be available in which event there will be a boom there. Mr. Jackman is managing the mine with skill and satisfaction to his employers. Large gangs of men are in the woods lumbering, and before the big snow storm came good work was done but latterly there has been too much snow for the men to get about, as they would like to.

The Triple Alliance.

The Triple Alliance, which expires in 1914, is attracting much attention among the European Chancellories, as its repudiation or renewal may take place in 1912. The great question is whether Italy is ready to remain loyal to the Austro-German compact or whether, yielding to pressure, especially from France, she will seek other protection by joining the Triple Entente. The attitude of public opinion in the different countries toward the war in Tripoli is being used as a lever to induce Italy to join France, which has supported her throughout the Tripoli affair with enthusiasm, while the German and Austrian press has done everything to alienate Italian friendship. Those favorable to Italy's abandonment of the Tripoli Alliance contend that if England, Russia, France, and Italy were allied no other combination would be strong enough to face them.

$2,000 Furs vs. 30 Years' Wages.

"A factory hand," writing to the British Weekly about a paragraph in that paper says:—

"As a working man I was surprised at 'Lorna' telling us that she saw a lady with furs upon her person costing a possible £2,000. I have reckoned up, and the wages I have been paid during the past thirty years has scarcely reached that sum.

"Can you wonder at anyone asking, can there not be a missionary sent to these heathen to impress upon them the common gospel of thrift or moderation in things that are necessary? I do not think that anyone with a simple knowledge of the Christ Spirit could spend near that sum, and I presume that was only one of the dresses. May this class of society be led to ask where do these thousands of pounds come from?"

Among Canibals. WHY

Rev. M. Paton, of the New Hebrides Islands, speaking in Almonte recently, described many of the customs of the cannibals among whom he labored. One cruel habit which they had was to bury alive those who had been ill for some time. He told of many such instances which he had come in touch with, and how in a couple of cases he had arrived in time to open the grave and save the victim before being suffocated.

He also described the ceremony at weddings, and explained that young girls only 12 years of age used to be married to old men in many cases, who would soon die, with the result that the girl would be married many times, and each time she was married her rank in society became lower.

Since many of these people have become Christianized their habits have changed very much, and Rev. Mr. Paton said that now the women had equal rights with men.

There was no need of agitation for woman suffrage there, he said. When a girl wants to get married she just decides whom she desires and the man has to marry her.

RINK WILL BE CLOSED.—At a meeting of the members of the Curling Rink held last night it was decided to close the place on Saturday afternoon during the funeral of the late brother member Dr. Chaplin.

Making a Long Voyage

The schooner Reliance, Capt. Brown, is making a very tardy run from Naples, being now 68 days out from that port. It is more than likely that she has been getting some of the weather which has been reported on the Atlantic by steamers and sailing vessels reaching this side and that is detaining her there is no doubt. The vessel is well found in all respects, has plenty of grub on board and nautical men think she will turn up O.K.

The Nfld. Pharmaceutical Society held its second annual meeting in the Board of Trade rooms last night, and it was one of the most enthusiastic held since its inception. The Treasurer's financial statement was read and showed the affairs of the Society to be in good condition. The officers' report of the year's work was read and adopted, and they congratulated the Society on the excellent work accomplished during the year. They urged on the members to take an active interest in the Society during the coming year, and showed them that by this means a great deal of benefit could be conferred on all, both individually and collectively. The business of the year being now finished, the officers vacated their chairs, and Mr. J. P. Curtin was appointed Chairman to conduct the election of a new council and officers. Mr. R. G. McDonald and Mr. Hy. Pedigrew were appointed assistants. The Council which consists of ten members were balloted for, and the following elected: Messrs. A. W. Kennedy, Jas. Channing, P. O'Mara, M. Murphy, T. M. McNeil, D. G. Fraser, (Bay Roberts); J. P. Curtin, T. Kavanagh, P. G. McDonald, A. Stafford. The following officers were then elected from the new council: President, A. W. Kennedy, elected; vice-President, Jas. Channing, elected; Treasurer, P. O'Mara, re-elected; Secretary, M. Murphy, re-elected. Mr. Curtin then installed the new officers and congratulated them, and wished them and the Society a very prosperous New Year. Some new and very important business was now brought before the meeting and after some discussion several committees were appointed, and asked to present reports at the earliest opportunity. The usual votes of thanks were tendered to the outgoing officers, the press, and also to Mr. Curtin and his assistants for conducting the election of officers. This brought to a close one of the most interesting meetings yet held by the Society.

Calling for a Change

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. A London cable says that Sir Edward Grey's successor is being discussed, and according to the London correspondent of the Liverpool Post, it is suggested that James Bryce be brought to Washington and put in charge of Foreign Office. Several London papers have articles, pointing out that Sir Edward's policy is becoming more and more distasteful to the supporters of the Government, and many influential radicals are calling for a change in the Foreign Secretaryship.

I have taken medicine from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did not keep up and do my work until I used these pills when I have recommended them to many. "Dr. Chase's medicines were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory." "Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bladder, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for biliousness, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all druggists or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Important Missionary Meeting.

In the Lecture Room of Cochrane St. Methodist Church to-night there will be an important missionary meeting. It opens at 7.45 and a very interesting and most entertaining programme has been prepared. A collection will be taken up for foreign missions, and as no doubt there will be a large attendance, a goodly sum for such a worthy purpose should be realized.

Schooner in Offing.

Mr. Cantwell, of the Signal Station, yesterday afternoon sighted a two-masted schooner, making for this port, off Petty Harbor about 4 miles. Shortly before dark the sloop ice drove in shore and she ran away south and no doubt tried to make a harbor on the South Coast. The Kuvera, Reliance and Empire are now due, but the ship reported has not the appearance of either of these.

Stricken With Heart Failure.

The schr. Reliance is now overdue from Naples and is out 69 days. She is well supplied and found in sails and gear and no anxiety is felt about her. Mrs. R. Mead, Sr., an Abitibi, Ont. lady, tells this interesting story of how she conquered her ancient enemy, Rheumatism. "I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism for a great many years. I have used different medicines but they have never done me much good. "We picked up a sample bottle of your Liniment at our gate and I used it, and to my surprise it relieved me wonderfully. We secured two bottles from our store-keeper and I must tell you it relieved the pain, and I would not be without it now." "It is hard to understand how Douglas' Egyptian Liniment can so quickly and so surely relieve the most torturing pains of man or beast. But it can and does do it, where other remedies utterly fail."

Hr. Grace Notes.

The anxiety about the safety of the schr. Antionette, Capt. George Webber, was allayed yesterday when the news was received that the schr. had been driven back to Gibraltar. The Antionette was 56 days out to this port from Cadiz, and was no doubt badly buffeted by the unusually severe weather.

Messrs. Gordon and Harris Oke, of John's, also arrived on the same train on Tuesday to spend a few days the guests of Judge and Mrs. Oke.

Mr. W. Lampin, of H. M. C. St. John's, also arrived on the same train. Mr. L. is a Harbor Gracian, and many were the warm hand-shakes he received from his old friends.

The H. G. B. & S. Factory closed down to-day for a few days while stock-taking is going on. The Manager finds it hard to close down even for this absolutely necessary work, as there is great demand for the high-class boots turned out there. We congratulate Mr. James and his staff on their good work.

The Rev. Mr. Smart, of Heart's Content, who came to town to be present at the new High School here last week, finding he was unable to get home by sleigh, and being anxious to get back for Sunday, engaged the services of Mr. Austin Snow, who with a dog-team undertook to bring the gentleman home. Leaving here early on Saturday morning good progress was made over the snow banks and break roads. In due time Heart's Content was reached, and after a very short rest Mr. Snow left on the return journey. The storm increased to such an extent that it was impossible to keep to the road. A badly sprained leg also added to his discomfort, but he arrived at his home weather-beaten and half-chilled at 8 p.m. same evening. We hear that Mr. Snow was very ill for a time, but is gradually improving.

The Road Board has a number of men employed shovelling snow on, or off rather, the principle streets. This will be a great convenience and be a safeguard to citizens in case of fire, as without this it would be impossible to get the fire apparatus through the streets if a fire broke out.

The Managers of the Pleasance U Theatre are making a brave attempt to keep the theatre open, thus supplying cheap and good amusement to the public. It is a pity the shows are not even-better patronized, as the pictures produced are really good and the hall always comfortable. The pretty song "The Old, Old Story," by Mrs. Jones, on Tuesday night, was well worth the admission fee.

Government Neglect.

Dear Sir,—The Grand Falls Publishing is still in abeyance, although the Premier assured the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Bond, almost a year ago, that the Government were going to commence the work immediately.

Why, Mr. Editor, should the taxpayers of this flourishing and independent town be treated thus? Is it because we are a part of a district who showed by their vote last election that they had no faith in Sir Edward Morris' promises? If so, it is only another evidence of their good judgment in not returning his supporters.

At this season, it is pitiable to see women and children standing in all weathers outside the mean little structure, doing service as a Post Office, waiting their turn to reach the delivery window (a 7" x 9" hole in the partition) to inquire for their mail, and I regret to say that when they do reach it, they are not very cordially received.

The people of Grand Falls are suffering from the malicious neglect of the present Government clique. It is not the expenditure of the small sum required for the erection of this building that prevents the work from being started, for wherever you turn, you can see the public monies being lavished upon their impetuous supporters and hangers, who have never given or can ever give any value whatever for the sums of money paid them.

No greater calamity, Mr. Editor, could have befallen this unfortunate colony, than the election of the Morris Party to power; however, there is still hope. Their star is fast declining. They are tottering to their fall. 1913 will tell the story.

Haste on, oh! Ye gods the glad triumph, On a day which will surely come due, May the hills and the valleys re-echo, The plaudits of victory through. May the chain of our bondage be broken.

And peace and prosperity ensue, For Sir Robert will be at the helm, SIR ROBERT, the good, and the true.

WORKMAN.
Grand Falls, Jan. 12th, 1912.

The police last evening were called to a residence on Adelaide Street where a man who had been drinking heavily was making himself obnoxious to his family. Fearing that he would do some damage to those about him the officers took him to the lock up.

The debate of the M. C. L. I. held last night in the Methodist College Hall was largely attended. Mr. Reuben Horwood occupied the chair and the proposition discussed was: "Are the lines now adopted by the Fishermen's Union conducive to the well-being of the fishermen?" Some ingenious and logical arguments were advanced pro and con and excellent speeches resulted. The affirmative was represented by Messrs. Wylie, Grimes and R. Hearder, and the negative by Rev. M. Fenwick and Messrs. Wyatt and Bowden. The negative contention won by a majority of 4 votes. Mr. Cosker, President of the Fishermen's Union, was present, but had no opportunity to speak, the duration of time having been exceeded when the last debater concluded. We hear that the time limit will be extended for these debates in the near future.

Calling for a Change.

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 18. A London cable says that Liberal discontent with Sir Edward Grey has already reached a point where his successor is being discussed, and, according to the London correspondent of the Liverpool Post, it is suggested that James Bryce be brought from Washington and put in charge of the Foreign Office.

Decided to Strike March 1st.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. The result of the ballot taken by the coal miners was declared to-day, and is overwhelmingly in favor of a strike for a fixed minimum wage. Notices to quit work will be handed in by the miners, and will bring about a national stoppage of coal mining on March 1st. Efforts at mediation are being made.

Coal Steamer Foundered.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. The steamer which foundered off Peterhead yesterday during the gale, is supposed to be the Frederick Snowden, belonging to the Aberdeen Coal Company. The owners have no information of her loss.

French Ship Still Held.

I have taken medicines from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I could not keep up and do my work if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."

The Most Severe Gale in a Long Period.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. The gale which still continues in some parts of the United Kingdom has been the most severe in a long period. More than one hundred lives have been sacrificed by shipwrecks and accidents, and it is feared the toll of disaster is not yet complete. On the Aberdeen coast the weather has been particularly wild. A large steamer was seen to disappear to-day. Many others put out to sea, but it is feared they are lost. Two other wrecks are reported along that coast but no details are available. Another vessel was seen to founder yesterday. She is supposed to have been the cable ship Aberdeen, and went down with all hands. Nothing has been heard from the steamship seen in distress off the Yorkshire coast on Monday. A boat has been washed ashore at Ramsay, Isle of Man, which would appear to indicate the wreck of a large trawler. These disasters are in addition to the many small wrecks along the various coasts involving several lives.

German Government Anxious.

Special to Evening Telegram. BERLIN, Jan. 18. Following the failure of the Government's efforts to arrange a coalition of all non-Socialist parties of Germany to unite against Socialist candidates in the second balloting to be held Jan. 20 to Jan. 25, the Zeitung semi-officially fills its columns with a series of fervent appeals to the progressive voters, and calls upon them to disregard any party feelings, and help the Fatherland by voting against the Socialists. The Government's anxiety, as a result of the elections, is extreme and well founded. A complete breach occurred between the Radicals and Conservatives, with their allies, the Centre party. The desire of the latter is to have vengeance on the Radicals at any cost, and will, in all probability, throw in eleven seats to the Socialists, which were formerly possessed by the Radicals.

Two of Crew Drowned.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 18. The British steamer Spilsty, from Baltimore to Rotterdam, was signalled when passing Portland to-day. She reported a rough passage across the Atlantic, and that her mate and one seaman had been drowned during the trip.

On the following day the Scarlet Chapter, "Albany," held their annual meeting. The P. W. C. in C. took the chair, while the following officers were elected for the coming year: K. Oakley, W. C. in C.; Noah Burry, Chaplain; E. J. Wornell, Scriber; Chas. White, 1st Lecturer; N. Granter, 1st Conductor; Job Granter, Inward Herald; Walter Osmond, E. C. in C.; S. W. Hoddnott, Treasurer; Reuben Harding, S. H. K. at A.; Jacob Wright, 2nd Lecture, S. Pond, 2nd Conductor; G. White, Outward Herald.

On Dec. 19th the "Glover" L.O.A. held their annual meeting, when the following were elected to office for next year: K. Oakley, W.M., re-elected; N. Granter, Deputy M., elected; E. Green, Chaplain, elected; D. Blandford, Sec., re-elected; K. Carter, Treasurer, re-elected; T. Harding, D. of C., re-elected; J. Wright, 1st Lecturer, elected; J. White, 2nd Lecturer, elected; G. A few days later the Black Preceptory held its annual meeting, E. Carter, P.W.P., acting as installing master. The officers elected are: S. W. Hoddnott, W.P.; Edward Carter, D.P.; Walter Carter, Chaplain; W. H. White, Registrar; K. Oakley, Treasurer; Chas. White, 1st Lecturer; F. K. Dyke, 2nd Lecturer; Wm. Burton, 1st Cynos; D. On New Year's Day the annual parade of Orangemen and Young Britons took place. These societies appear to be in a flourishing condition. If one is to judge by the number in the procession. It is generally conceded that this was the largest procession ever held here. The societies met in their different halls and marched in a body to the Church of England Church, where the Rev. Mr. Bayley, of Bonavista, preached an eloquent sermon. After service in the church, the procession marched through the settlement and back to their halls. The Young Britons had a dinner served them by the S. Army folks. The "Burnett" L.O.A., had a dinner served in their hall, followed by an impromptu concert. It is a pity that this place does not possess some kind of a band.

The Witty Censor.

A Column Concerning Mr. Charles Brookfield. About Mr. Charles Brookfield, who has been appointed the new Censor of Plays, there are probably more amusing stories told than about anyone else in the dramatic world. He has been called the wittiest clubman in London. Take, for instance, the story of the "Interviewer" whom the distinguished dramatist once went down to his drawing-room to receive. The dramatist detests being interviewed, and this interviewer was a peculiarly unattractive gentleman.

His nose was red, he was badly down at heel, and three days' prickles stuck out upon his chin. Whatever the object of his "interview" was, he seemed very anxious about it. The new censor gave him no help, but stared silently and coldly, twiddling a pen to impress the visitor that he was busy.

Temporarily! At last the silence was broken. "You—you've got a very pretty clock there, Mr. Brookfield," the visitor remarked nervously.

"Yes," came the answer. "I have a very fine clock there—at present!" The new censor, shortly after leaving the stage—for he was an actor for twenty years, till his health gave way—was a guest in a friend's box at the opera. His hostess talked incessantly and shrilly all through the performance. Towards the end she invited Mr. Brookfield to share her box at the next night's performance, one of "Rigoletto."

"I shall be delighted, dear lady," the actor dramatist replied. "I've never heard you in 'Rigoletto,' have I?"

The playright sat one evening in his club, chatting with a couple of friends. Somebody remarked on the way some dogs have, in the water, of tugging ashore anything they find, however big it is—a fish basket, half an oar, a lump of lumber.

A small man—a stranger to all three—had been edging his chair closer, evidently determined to scrape acquaintance. His hair hung down to his narrow shoulders, his face was effeminate.

A Vet's Opportunity. "I can corroborate," he cut in squeakily. "I can assure you my dog-

Started the World.

The bacteriologists connected with the Pasteur Institute and germ specialists throughout France have begun a series of careful experiments to test the justice of the claim of Dr. Siegel, the Berlin bacteriologist, who has just startled the scientific world by the announcement that he had succeeded in discovering and isolating the germ of the hoof and mouth disease, one of the most dreadful scourges of cattle. It had always been the opinion of scientists that the germ of that terrible disease could not be isolated because it was so small that it passed through every kind of filter. Dr. Siegel has named the bacillus Cytorhynchus and is so confident of his discovery that he has staked his reputation as a scientist upon the truth of his statement. French scientists are inclined to be sceptical in the matter and are awaiting corroborating reports.

Complains of Railway Service

Special Evening Telegram. PLACENTIA, Jan. 19. No freight came by train from St. John's the past two weeks. Numbers of people are going to railway station daily for goods, and provisions are badly wanted. What is the matter? There is a clear rail to St. John's the past two days.

France Shows Annoyance.

Special to Evening Telegram. PARIS, To-Day. France is beginning to show considerable annoyance concerning the seizure of the steamer Carthage by Italian war vessels. It is asserted that the arrest of the vessel was entirely unjustified in the first place, because aeroplanes were not mentioned in the list of contraband articles which was furnished France by the Italian Government during the outbreak of war between Italy and Turkey. In the second place the conference in London in 1909 declared that aeroplanes only conditional contraband and they were not liable to seizure when found on board a neutral ship unless it was proved they were intended for the enemy. The aeroplanes found on board the Carthage was purely for exhibition flights. The third point raised is, that the Carthage mail steamer seizure is a violation of the Hague agreement of 1908.

Preparing for Trouble.

Special to Evening Telegram. PEKING, To-Day. The foreign legations are preparing for trouble in Peking to-day. The question of the abdication of the throne will be discussed by the Empress Dowager and the Princes, but it is not thought that Yuan Shi Kai will take part in the conference. A rising in the capital has been looked for many times in the past few months, but precautions have been taken in anticipation, needlessly, however, and the outbreak may not occur. Long expected Manchurian irreconcilables all unite in the measure when all hope for the administration has vanished. A placard posted last night indicates that the Manchurian threats may be fulfilled. It calls upon all loyal Manchurian to resist the abdication of the Emperor to the death.

Another Wreck.

Special to Evening Telegram. ABERDEEN, Jan. 18. The British steamer Wistow Hall was wrecked on the Bullers of Buchan, a group of dangerous rocks off the coast of Aberdeenshire. Capt. Stoddard, who was one of the rescued, says crew numbered 56. Only three lascars and the captain reached the shore; 53 were drowned.

Made Good Run.

The Schr. "Annie E. Larder," Capt. Cairnes, arrived here to-day in ballast for A. S. Rendell & Co., after a run of 34 days from Maceio, Brazil. This is an excellent run for this season of the year. The vessel had a period of stormy weather when making this coast, but came through without damage, and while on this coast had it very frosty and passed through a deal of heavy slob. She is badly ice up and all hands are well.

Tabasco Here.

The S. S. Tabasco from Halifax to the Furness Coy., arrived here at 12-30 p.m. to-day, after a run of 53 hours. She had fairly fine weather on the run but had it frosty and was considerably ice up. The ship brought a fair cargo and will sail tonight for Liverpool.

Put Into Halifax.

Messrs. A. J. Harvey & Coy. had a wire yesterday from Halifax stating that the S. S. Adventure, Capt. Couch, arrived there about 10 o'clock. The ship left here Saturday for Philadelphia and must have met very stormy weather as she was 5 days in making the run to Halifax and her bunkers became depleted owing to the delay. She will coal and leave again as quickly as possible and return to this port from Philadelphia with hard coal.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

Handsome White Silk Blouses.

A Blouse made of Pure Japanese Silk, cut to fit as a blouse should—with handsome, new, full length, tucked sleeve, and four inch tucked cuffs—neat panel-front, artistically and richly embroidered in a Greek and eyelet-hole design, worked with pure washing silk. Finished with a hipper band which prevents slipping from beneath the belt. An ideal occasional blouse, suitable for evenings or social gatherings.

Your choice of a Lace or Silk Stock-Collar or with a wide turned down Silk Collar edged with Lace. Price, each, $1.80.

Sizes 36, 38 and 40 inch bust. Call or Mail your order for one of these dressy Blouses to-day—the style will enrapture you.
