CHAPTER XVII.
BAD NEWS.

"Father!"
The doctor shook his head. "He is unconscious," he said.

Darrel looked up at him beseechingly. "Is he—is he very much hurt?" he asked hoarsely.

The doctor, deeply moved, for he had brought Darrel into the world, laid his hand on the young man's shoulder.

"He is very badly hurt, Darrel," he said. "My poor boy, there is no hope."

Darrel dropped his face on his father's arm. The minutes—were they hours?—dragged along slowly. Occasionally the doctor and the nurse ministered to the dying man.

The intense silence, the darkness of the room held Darrel in a terrible spell, from which it seemed to him he would never awake. They tried to persuade him to go downstairs to get some food; but he mutely refused to leave his father.

Presently the nurse whispered something to the doctor, and they bent over the still form with renewed anxiety.

"He is coming to," said the doctor. "You will not excite him, Darrel?"

The dying man opened his eyes, a gleam of intelligence cleared their dullness; he saw and recognized his beloved son.

"Darrel!" he said faintly, with a last effort. "Darrel! You have come. It's all up, dear boy. I've got my call. It was the young mare—not her fault—don't—don't—shoot her. A good horse."

There was silence for a moment, as he fought for breath, then he breathed painfully. "Oh, Darrel, my boy—I'm afraid—I'm afraid—Forgive me, Darrel! Oh, my poor boy!"

His eyes were full of the anguish of self-reproach, of dread, not of death, but of life. Darrel's future life.

"Oh, don't, father!" pleaded Darrel hoarsely and brokenly. "What have I got to forgive? You have been the best, the dearest father—"

Sir Anson shook his head and drew a sigh.

"Not—not the best, Darrel," he gasped, with laboring breath. "I have been—a fool. But forgive me, Darrel, and—don't—forget me!"

They were poor, reckless, careless Sir Anson's last words. His hands closed tightly on Darrel's; then the grasp relaxed, and Darrel felt Death's chill.

They got him out of the room, at last, and he sat in the library, his eyes fixed on vacancy, his hands gripping each other, as if he were vainly trying to contend with the grief that threatened to deprive him of his senses. He thought of all the happy days that had passed in the close companionship of the father who had loved, well-nigh worshipped him.

He could not realize that he was dead, that the stalwart, breezy, light-hearted man was still forever.

He had not realized it when, after the funeral, at which nearly all the district was present, Darrel sat in the library, still going over the old days, still fancying that he could hear his father's voice, his step, as he crossed the hall, followed by his dogs.

All the funeral guests had gone. Darrel had stolen into the library to indulge grief in solitude for a short time. He looked up, but was scarcely roused from his reverie, as Mr. Burridge entered.

Half an hour ago he had read Sir Anson's will, a will made when Darrel was an infant. Darrel had scarcely listened to Burridge's droning voice, with its almost childish, squeaking treble.

He had thought Burridge had left him there before him in the room. "Is there anything else to be done?" he asked listlessly.

"No, Sir Darrel," replied Burridge;

"but I thought I should like to see you, to have a talk with you." He stood just within the room, his head thrust forward in its usual attitude, his long arms hanging at his sides, his big hands opening and shutting. Somehow or other, the man's huge bulk, his attitude, the small eyes protruding from their lids, jarred on Darrel; he craved to be alone.

"Please sit down," he said. "What is it you want to say to me?"

"About the estate," replied Burridge, sinking into the chair and folding his hands across his stomach, his eyes fixed on Darrel in an absolutely expressionless stare. "I thought perhaps you would like to tell me what you intended to do, Mr. Darrel?"

Darrel gazed at him vaguely.

"What I intend to do? I don't know exactly what you mean, Mr. Burridge. I suppose I shall have to send in my papers, retire from the service."

He sighed; for he had taken kindly to his profession, as we know, and he was fond of it. It would be painful to leave the regiment; but, of course, his duty lay here, at Summerleigh. He was—as!—Sir Darrel now, and master of the Court. Well, he would try to follow in the footsteps of the father he admired and loved. He would try to do his duty.

"Do you think you will?" asked Mr. Burridge doubtfully. "You know best, of course; but I should have thought that under the circumstances it would be as well for you to stick to the army. You know best, of course, but I don't see what else you could do."

"I should not have time," said Darrel, absently. "I shall have to live here, take my father's place—"

Burridge emitted a dry cough, scratched his head, and pursed out his lips.

"I'm afraid you don't quite understand, Mr.—Sir—Darrel," he said. "I thought perhaps you might have got an idea of how things stood. Perhaps I'd better look in to-morrow, he broke off, beginning to raise his bulk from the chair; but Darrel, by a gesture, motioned him to remain seated.

"What do you mean?" he asked wearily. "What circumstances? You want to talk business with me; please do so. I would like to know at once anything you think I ought to be told. I want to do my duty. My father's death was so sudden, I was so unprepared that I feel rather bewildered and confused; but I shall understand, if you tell me plainly."

"Yes; that's far the best," said Burridge, projecting his underlip. "You ought to know how you stand and I am sorry to say that you stand very badly. The fact is, Mr. Darrel, Sir Anson left his affairs in a very bad state. When he came into the property it was heavily mortgaged, and Sir Anson made bad worse. I did my best, but I never could get him to understand the condition of affairs. He seemed to think that while he could raise money on this bit of land or the other that everything was all right. I don't blame him—"

"Blame him!" said Darrel haughtily, with a flash of the eyes. How dared this man speak in this patronizing, apologetic way of Darrel's father!

"I say, I don't blame him," continued Burridge stolidly; "it was his nature, his temperament. Some men are born to squander money, some to take care of it and save it. I make every allowance for Sir Anson."

"You make every allowance," said Darrel, scarcely believing his ears. Was the man mad to talk in this tone of disrespect of his dead employer?

"It was the Irish blood in him, I suppose," went on Mr. Burridge, apparently unmoved by Darrel's indignation. "Anyway, I did my best to put the dog on, but I didn't succeed; no one could have succeeded. Sir Anson was resolved upon rushing downhill, though I told him what the end would be. And, of course, it's come now, and equally, of course, you've got to bear the brunt of it, I'm afraid, Sir Darrel."

Darrel began to have a faint glimmer of the meaning of the man's words. He drew himself up, set his face, and said quietly:

"You are trying to tell me something, some bad news, Mr. Burridge? Will you speak straight out, please?"

"Yes, it's better," said Burridge, with a nod of his heavy head. "The

FACTORY GIRL GIVES UP

Too Sick to Work—Doctor Advised Operation. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—"I run a sewing machine in a large factory and got all run down. I had to give up work for I could not stand the pains in my back. The doctor said I needed an operation for female trouble but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me more than the doctors did. I hope that every one who is suffering will get the Compound. My pains, nervousness and backache are gone and I have gained five pounds. I owe my thanks to your medicine for it is the working girls friend, and all women who suffer should write to you for special advice."—Miss TILLIE PLENZIG, 3 Jay St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

When a remedy has lived for over thirty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their very lives to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

We challenge anyone to show any other one remedy for a special class of disease which has attained such an enormous demand and maintained it for so many years as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

fact is, Sir Darrel, that Sir Anson was ruined. The will I read just now isn't worth the parchment it was ingrossed on, for the simple reason that there was nothing to leave. Sir Anson had mortgaged everything, every stick and stone, every acre; there's even a bill of sale on the furniture."

He looked round the room with the appraising air of a broker's man.

Two hectic spots appeared on Darrel's white cheeks, his hands gripped each other tightly, but he met steadily the gaze, the covertly triumphant gaze, of Mr. Burridge's childlike eyes.

"You mean that I am ruined?" he said, in a low voice, but a voice as steady as his eyes; for a Frayne should not quail before a Burridge.

"I'm afraid that's so," said Burridge, in exactly the tone he was wont to use when he was selling up a small farmer. "I'm afraid when we've settled up that there won't be a penny for you. Quite the reverse, in fact."

"But I don't understand," said Darrel slowly. "The house and the land, the estate, are mine. They are—entailed, don't you call it?"

Mr. Burridge shook his head. "Entail was cut off by Sir Anson's father. He was the same kind of man as Sir Anson."

There was silence for a moment or two. Darrel was perfectly still. He uttered no cry, no exclamation. Men are tried by fire; Darrel was passing through an exceedingly fiery furnace now.

Boyhood was passing from him shorn from him by the flames; would he emerge into full manhood, hardened, purified, steeled by the ordeal? It looked as if he would.

As Burridge gloatingly watched him, he saw that instead of collapsing, as he expected to do, Darrel was bracing himself.

The young fellow's face was white, his brows were drawn, as if by physical pain; but his lips were tightly set, his eyes were fixed steadily, unflinchingly on the man who had been his end his father's secret foe, the man who had been undermining them for years; and there was no weakness in the gaze, no appeal, no sign of surrender.

"This is bad news—for me, Mr. Burridge," Darrel said at last. "You say that I am penniless, that the estate, everything, is mortgaged? Who holds the mortgages, to whom do we owe all this money, the money you say I cannot pay?"

A reddish flush stained Burridge's heavy face, his glance shifted from side to side; he moistened his thick lip.

"It doesn't matter," he said hesitatingly.

"I wish to know," said Darrel quietly.

"Well, if you must," replied Burridge, with a shake of his shoulders and a twist of his pendulous underlip, "it's I."

Remarkable Escape from Starvation off Cape Horn.
 Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Master) of the late "Columbia," of Glasgow.
 "Having lost our ship on Saturday, on the 5th of July, and having saved as many effects as possible, we were left on a small island for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shell fish and seaweed. On the 15th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seventeen, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship "Dunsmuir," of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 20th of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of EPP'S COCOA, was washed ashore out of the wreck. There was nothing saved except the COCOA, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were kept alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer "Mercurio," of Buenos Aires.
 "Too much praise cannot be given to this COCOA. We had a good stock of it here, and used it in a liquid state for drink, we also baked it on the fire, which kept us alive and warm for 6 weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow."

 GRATEFUL COMFORTING

Cullage Cashin.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir,—In the Herald of the 11th inst., in an article signed "Water," who is trying to boost up M. P. Cashin, who, we believe, said in the House of Assembly that we Trepassey and Placentia Bay men who worked on the Trepassey branch railway were cullage. The same would include the Southern Shore men and the men from the northern districts. I can assure Cashin that he will find very little cullage that worked on that branch line last year. He may have meant that they were all cullage from a Morris standpoint and that they were all Liberals. If that is what he meant he was not far out, but I can assure Cashin that he will find them about all merchantable, large and medium for Sir R. Bond when they mark their ballots in November. Sir Robert does not forget the splendid reception that we gave him here in the days of old, and the old love for Sir Robert is still here, and we intend to invite Sir Robert if he can spare the time to again visit us this fall, and we will show to the fishermen of the island that Morris's day is done and Bond's day is come. We are sorry that Mr. E. M. Jackman could not lead the ticket, but another good man will be forthcoming and will join with him in driving the grafts, strike-breakers, &c., out of political power in this country, and repeat the done that we gave them in 1900—32 Liberals (Bond) and 4 Tories. But as Bonavista and Port de Grave have gone from Morris, it will not surprise us if we make it 36 for Bond—as the gambler would say, a royal flush, and that cannot be beaten. Frank Morris, and Willie Howley are afraid to come and poor Dick will have to start farming out of his agricultural policy, as he is on the wrong side and must go too. We do not forget Cashin, how he and Larder treated us about the wrecks, and should he attempt to come here, as it is reported, on the Morris ticket, he will find that we will send him, along with Frank Morris. It is said that Cashin's day is done, and we have reason to believe it.
 Yours truly,
 YOUNG VOTER,
 Trepassey, April 24th, 1913.

Poor Unfortunate Man.

Man once wore a feather in his hat. Woman took it away from him.
 Man once wore a tunic skirt. Woman stole it and left him almost bare.
 Man once wore ruffles on his sleeves. Woman swiped them, for both neck and sleeves.
 Man was once a bold, had, controlling, male-pursuing pleasure-seeking king of the animal world. To-day he is a meek, black-coated, completely tamed domestic, who is not even allowed to run around nights without an excuse. The feather is gone from his hat, the ruffles from his shirt front, his legs are encased in trousers and his heart is lead.
 Once a year however man revolts. Once a year when the spring comes, when the days are balmy and the nights are soft, he gets a sort of atavistic sniff of the olden times. He stiffens his shoulders, looks out with a bolder eye, and almost makes himself believe that he is once more master of his cave.
 And when this spirit comes over him he begins to adorn himself. He begins to look on clothes as he used to do. He begins to take pride in the pattern of a shirt or the color of a tie. He begins to put color in his cheeks and in his socks. And all the color he dares he puts into his clothes.
 Indeed he has even been known to put a little feather back into his hat.
 How many thousands of you men have this annual Spring feeling of revolt-to-day? How many thousands of you feel an overwhelming desire for new clothes, for new shirts, for new hats, for new shoes?
 Why this feeling of Spring is as widespread as the earth. The very Zulus carve themselves new beads. So don't deny the impulse in yourself. Every other part of the year man only dresses because the police make him, but when Spring comes he buys new clothes because he has an overwhelming desire to have new clothes.
 Just turn to all the advertising in this paper, you men, and see what is being offered in this city to-day. See where you can get the handsomest suits, and the best shirts and the nicest ties and the finest-looking shoes. See what each store is offering you.
 Then go out and shop with pride. Put on all the color and all the finery that you dare, and enjoy once more the privileges of the male.

 Political developments in China have made it improbable that the United States should immediately recognize the new Republic as originally intended. ## Crow and Pap.

Yesterday we remarked that it was election year and work was to be offered in profusion; and instanced the dredging of the basin on the South-side, the building of a new pier and the replacing of the present bridge by a draw-bridge. This morning the Daily News in an editorial, attacking us, asserts that the matter is purely municipal, and tries to make the impression that the Government has nothing to do with these projects.

We venture on the surmise that the editorial was inspired because it is contrary in substance to the information published by the Daily News itself. For, it is a fact that yesterday we obtained our information of the Government's connection with the projects from the columns of the Daily News.

Here is the article to which we refer, which was published in the Daily News yesterday:—

"Saturday forenoon, Sir Edward Morris, the West End Representative, Mayor Ellis and Councillors, visited the water site above the bridge, with a view of having the place dredged and a new draw bridge constructed, the report of the engineer proprietary one, Government Engineer Hall and City Engineer Ryan were also present, and made plans of the surroundings. It is the intention when the place is dredged to have the Calypso moored in the basin west of the bridge, and to have a pier built on the South Side, almost opposite the railway station. Work will begin at an early date."

We have printed a part of the statement in black-type to make our points clear. These we proceed to set forth seriatim: (1) Although the City Council and City Engineer are mentioned, it will be observed that Sir Edward Morris and his West End colleagues and the Government Engineer are given prominence of place, and the Government Engineer is re-

Allan Liner in Port.

The R. M. S. Sardinian, Captain Hatherley, reached port at six o'clock this morning, after a ten days' passage from Liverpool. The ship experienced strong head winds at the outset, but after that the weather was moderate.
When about one hundred and fifty miles to the eastward of St. John's twenty icebergs were sighted and of large size. These floating menaces were in a radius of ten miles and dangerous to shipping. The Sardinian brought about 50 packages of mail matter, 900 tons of cargo and the following saloon passengers:— Miss

Allies May Fight Austria.

Special to Evening Telegram.
VIENNA, To-day.

A despatch to the Chronicle says:
News has reached here that Crown Prince Daniel is marching northward with the Montenegrin army, in connection with preparations which are being made to resist the Austrian attack on Cetinje. All heights dominating the road from Cattaro to Cetinje are being hastily equipped with heavy artillery, and strong Montenegrin forces supported by Serbian troops are taking up positions in the mountains. Montenegro has been furnished by Serbia with sufficient provisions for Montenegrin army to last three months. A despatch to the Mail from Trieste says 8,000 troops are assembled near the Montenegrin frontier. The Mail's correspondent at Trieste says: Austria is stated that Austria is planning for a military advance which will not be confined to Montenegro. Troops will be sent in transports to Scutari, Albania.
Meanwhile troop trains are crowded with riflemen from the Austrian Alps, proceeding south. The Mail's Belgrade correspondent says an alliance among members of the Balkan League clearly provides concentrated military action in the event of an attack by Austria. Even if such an attack is sanctioned by the great Powers, there is no cause for pessimism. This was the only official utterance that could be obtained regarding the result of the momentous conference of the Ambassadors of the Powers on the Balkan situation. The conference lasted more than three hours. Another arranged for May 1st indicates that the diplomats still expect to find a peaceful solution of the problem created by Montenegro's defiance of the Powers.

Cashin's Day is Done

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—As the Herald has taken up the gauntlet and, save the mark, is trying to defend M. P. Cash-in as to my article in the Fishermen's paper the other day, I care not, why has he not attempted to deny the fact that the Daltons are now staunch liberals, and for what reason? Second, as he does not deny that he (Cashin), acted as a strike breaker in the never-to-be-forgotten Sealing Strike, and was he (Cashin) not a representative of the fishermen, and was it not his place to stand shoulder to shoulder with the 5,000 sealers and fishermen that were on strike at St.
John's, and who were justly fighting for better conditions on board of the sealing steamers, and not to be hoarded like cattle? Did not the poor people of St. John's contribute towards their support and open their houses for them? How did Cashin contribute, by trying to break it and get a few impulsive fishermen to join the Terra Nova; and why did not the Dalton's give those men berths afterwards? Had not the strike been settled with risk to these Southern Shore men, strike-breakers run?

In my next I will reply to the balance of "Voter's" remarks and Cash-in will wish that "Voter" had never taken the trouble to resent my just remarks in the Advocate. If the public carefully read my remarks on Cashin now and in the future, they will find some interesting items to prove that Cashin's Day is Done. Come Mr. Condon, tell the public just a little of what you know and the reason why Cashin is afraid to make a joint meeting with you. You are the hero of many fights on this shore, and were defeated as an independent, but, not conquered.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper, that is fighting the cause of Sir Robert Bond and Liberalism; Sir Robert Bond for the ballot freedom and emancipation.

Yours truly,
BEAVER MARSH,
Cape Broyle, April 26th, 1913.

McMurdo's Store News.

TUESDAY, April 29, 1913.
Sutton's Magnum Bonum Swede stands highest because it is at once the heaviest cropper, gives the largest and most perfectly shaped roots, keeps well, and has been proved by analysis to contain the greatest amount of nutritious matter of any turnips grown. For these reasons, we always recommend "Magnum Bonum" as the best all-round Swede, and have disappointed with it. Price 40c.
a pound.

We are glad to be able to say that Nervine has been sold. Pills have arrived and are now on sale. Price (each) 25 cents.

An Agreeable Ceremony.

After the lecture delivered by Rev.
Mr. Thomas last night, Mrs. M. Taylor was presented with a purse and address printed on satin. This was from the officers and members of Atlantic Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F., in recognition of her 13 years services as caretaker of the Hall. Brother J.
Adrian made the presentation and the recipient was visibly affected by this generous recognition of work faithfull-ly performed. Mrs. Taylor leaves here Saturday to reside with her son in Boston.

Nascope Chartered.

The S. S. Nascope has been chartered by the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company of Wabana. She leaves port to-night for Bell Island where she will load ore for Sydney. It is unknown definitely how many trips she will make, but it is likely she will likely be absent about a month.
On her return the Nascope will get ready for her mission in Hudson Bay waters.

WILL BE DOCKED. — We understand that before again proceeding north the S. S. Sagona will be docked for attention. The ship owing to forcing through the ice, it is thought has some rivets loosened as she is making some, though not much, water.

A TYPICAL FISHERMAN.

(By H. F. SHORTIS.)

Such innovations have crept into the prosecution of the fisheries within the past forty years that a reference to the prowess and determination of the bygone fishermen is, to say the least, refreshing. The day was when the hook and line were paramount. This, in time, gave way to a large extent to seine, which was for many years considered to be the acme of perfection for the capturing of the festive cod. The cod-seine held its own for years with wonderful tenacity. In fact, this mode of fishing was looked upon as never to be superseded, and the possession of a cod-seine was the highest ambition for a planter in days gone by. Gradually the present mode—that of trap fishing—came into vogue, and like all innovations, it was looked upon with suspicion by many men who to-day would not be without one. Whether the trap-fishing is a benefit or otherwise is not the purpose of the present article. For good or for evil, no one can deny that it is a much more expensive mode of fishing, and accompanied with terrible risks to the venturesome fishermen. However, the trap has evidently come to stay for time, and there is no great indication that other and better means will be substituted in the near future. It is not my intention to dilate upon the advantages of this or that mode of prosecuting the fishery. My present purpose is to show up one instance of countless numbers that could be recited of the pluck, energy and perseverance of the old-time fishermen who have long since departed, and whose exploits in connection with their avocation will scarcely ever be repeated by a future generation. This is said not by way of disparagement to the present or coming generation of fishermen, but in praise of the men who pioneered against all odds, and whose endurance of physical suffering and contempt of danger have long since passed into history. The present or coming generation can never be expected to encounter the same dangers as did their forefathers. Modern science has rendered the prosecution of the Labrador fishery a comparatively easy task. Whilst the fishermen are now enjoying their natural rest, the traps are doing the work for which their fathers toiled both day and night, and in those days every quintal of fish the fish, and I feel convinced that I shall yet succeed in procuring a voyage. What do ye say?"

As the eight men were shipped on the shares, they quickly accepted the terms and signed the agreement—all but two of the men, who considered that such an act would be an imposition upon the generosity and risk of their skipper. However, the six signed, and the other two decided to take their chance of making what they could, little or much.

Away sped the good ship Pet and in due course arrived at Ragged Islands, where fish was found in abundance and only one craft there which did not interfere with them, as she had already secured a full fare. The crew went to work with a will, and in a very short period they secured one of the best voyages on record, using up all their sail, and preparing to return home highly delighted with their unexpected success. The sharemen who declined to sign the agreement, after the conclusion of the voyage, were paid off with thirty-six pounds ten shillings (one hundred and forty-six dollars), whilst the six other fishermen received their twenty-five pounds according to their agreement. One of these fishermen is living in St. John's to-day, and I think two or three others are still living in Carbonar, or at least they were alive a few years ago. I know them very well.

This goes to show what pluck and perseverance our old fishery planters possessed, as well as the faith in their own judgment. There was a man offering to risk eight hundred dollars upon the bare possibility of getting a voyage of fish; but the keen judgment was sharpened by the continual observation of many years in studying all matters connected with the fishery along the coast of Labrador. I should say that few men would take such a risk to-day. This is only one of the many examples of the indomitable pluck and perseverance of our old planters in the years gone by, and in my younger days, there were scores of the same stock who never knew what it was to know the meaning of the words—fail or impossibility. During his long and eventful career Capt. Pumphrey always managed to secure good voyages, whether at the cod or seal fishery. It was the same hardy experienced mariner who, in the year 1858, while in the command of the brigantine Glide, returned from the icefields after an absence of nineteen days with six thousand five hundred prime seals—arriving on the 23rd March, and the crew sharing two hundred and fourteen dollars and sixty cents per man. Upon this occasion Capt. Pumphrey was presented with a silk flag and one hundred pounds (four hundred dollars) in money by the great firm of Ridley & Sons.

The names of such Vikings and heroes should be written in the history of our country, but, unfortunately, in the days of yore, newspapers, like Labrador houses, were few and far between, and up to the present, at any rate, few, if any, of our historians devoted much of their time and talents in procuring the necessary particulars to record these events, which, in the years I speak of, were the means of making Newfoundland what it is to-day, and I hope and trust will continue to be—the first fishing country in the world. And yet I cannot close my eyes to the fact, that the same energy, the same perseverance, the same care are not manifested in the prosecution of the fishery as, say, forty years ago. Then the sons were actuated by the one object—that of emulating the spirit and pluck of their fathers and following in their footsteps. Their whole ambition was centred on the sea, whether as masters in our mercantile marine, or, as skippers of their own schooners. To-day the minds of the sons of our fishermen and planters run more in the direction of a profession—a government job or the Church. Let us look back about us, and we find that very many of the large and important fishing stations along the coast of Labrador, which were hives of industry and accumulated wealth in years gone by, have been permitted to fall in ruins by the succeeding generations, whether through neglect or ill luck, and they have been forced to emigrate to British Columbia or the United States to earn a living for the support of themselves and their families. It is not for me to say the cause, as to why such occurred; but the fact stands out clear and incontrovertible, that the sons of our fishermen have not manifested of later years, at any rate, that determination, pluck and perseverance, as their fathers did before them.

"Princes and lords may flourish or may fade, A breath can make them as a breath hath made; But the bold Fisherman, our Country's pride, When once destroyed, can never be supplied."

Records in the office of a New York newspaper show that since 1890 ten cases of quadruplets, 17 cases of quintuplets, two cases of sextuplets and three of septuplets have been reported. In Great Britain quadruplets occur eight times in every 1,000,000 births, according to a recent estimate.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The work at the railway dock is now going ahead rapidly and a large number of applications are in for dockage of schooners. The season promises to be a very profitable one for the company.

Miss Blanche Noseworthy returned to her home by Tuesday afternoon's train from St. John's, where she spent the winter with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Coffin, of Colonial Street.

Our old friend, Mr. John White-way, passed the 79th milestone along life's journey yesterday. Mr. W. is still very active for one of his years, and all his friends wish him many and pleasant returns of the day. His little granddaughter, Miss Flora Parsons, celebrated her 3th birthday on the same day.

The exhibition of drawing takes place this afternoon and evening in Coughlan Hall. The school children were given a half holiday so as to take in this very interesting exhibition.

The s.s. Bloodhound finished discharging on Saturday evening. She turned out 8,599 seals, and the crew shared $26.88.

We are glad to see our old friend John Brunlees, Secretary of the Agricultural Society, out again after his recent attack of bronchitis.

Mr. Thomas Peddle, of Bristol's Hope, lost several fine lambs lately, and on opening one to try and find out the cause, he discovered several small balls of wool, that had no doubt been chewed and swallowed by the lamb. This caused death by clogging the intestines.

The members of the Knights of Columbus, accompanied by the band, attended Divine service at the Cathedral last evening.

Master Frank Ward, who is interesting himself in poultry raising this season, found a fine brood of nine chicks out yesterday. Other broods are expected soon. Well done, Frank! There is money and much pleasure in poultry raising.

What About Your Cough?

Is it gradually growing from bad to worse? A person contracts a cold some way or another. Very often you do not know how you contracted it. The symptoms do not begin until 1 or 2 days after.

1st—It affects the head, causing a nasty, uncomfortable feeling for about 36 hours, leaving the head and affecting the throat and gradually settling on the chest, which causes out of 19 cases neglected. This is the time when the danger is at hand.

If there is nothing to relieve the spasms of coughing and to take effect on the bronchial organs of the throat and chest, the chances of the cough leaving the system of its own accord is not very great.

As a rule in the night your cough is worse than any other time. Phorone Cough Mixture quickly gets at the seat of all kinds of coughs and colds, and in a few hours great relief is obtained. If you mix equal parts of Stafford's Liniment and Sweet Oil in a saucer, warm slightly and apply on a piece of thick flannel, placing same over chest and allowing it to remain three or four hours, this will also relieve you a great deal.

Hundreds of people have coughs and colds gradually growing from bad to worse just because they do not take the proper treatment. If you are one of these don't delay any longer. Phorone Cough and Cold Cure is prepared only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld. Price 25c. a bottle; postage 5c. extra. apr25,11f

Death of a Well-known Newfoundlander.

A lady widely known in educational circles of Great Britain and its Dominions has passed away in the person of Mrs. Grieve, widow of Mr. Walter Grieve of Silwood, Renfrew, and daughter of the late Mr. John Stuart, of St. John's, Newfoundland, for some time clerk of the House of Assembly. Mrs. Grieve in earlier years was closely associated with the neighbourhood of the Clyde, and during the past twenty years with the city of Dresden, Saxony. In her home there, "Avalon," she maintained a constant connection with friends in all parts of the world, and was everywhere known and honoured for her living interest in the best type of education for girls, and for her broad spirit of benevolence.—Glasgow Herald, April 12.

A man who is noted for his laziness was lounging along a country road the other day, feeling very tired, when a stranger drove up in a dog-cart and said: "Aren't you tired of walking?" "Yes, I am," replied the man. "Much obliged to you!"—and he started towards the cart, hoping for a lift. "Well, why don't you run for a bit?" said the stranger, driving off.

Earthquakes In Canada.

OTTAWA, To-Day.
A well defined earthquake of 15 seconds' duration was felt here last night, but so far as is known no damage resulted. The tremors were exceedingly well defined and distinct. It is stated by Dr. King, Dominion Astronomer, that we will have a splendid record when the seismograph film is developed in the morning.

MONTREAL, To-Day.
Montreal was shaken by an earthquake at half past seven last evening. The shock was particularly violent in the northern and western sections of the city, and at Westmount, where the houses swayed and furniture rattled for several seconds, though no damage thus far is reported other than cracking of ceiling in the residence of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

The mystery surrounding events in the Balkans is becoming deepened. No further news was received of Essad Pasha's exploit in Albania, and the situation at Saloniki is difficult to understand. A despatch from Saloniki of current date confirms the report of orders given for Bulgarians to evacuate places occupied by Greeks, but later these orders were countermanded. Official attempts were made to pretend that no fighting had occurred, but later these orders were countermanded. ## Governor's Visit to Bell Island.

Yesterday their Excellencies Governor and Mrs. Davidson visited Bell Island where His Excellency cut the first sod for the new Tramway. The weather being all that could be desired the trip to the Iron Island must have been exceptionally pleasant to the Vice-Regal party. They left the city yesterday morning accompanied by Capt. Beech, A.D.C., and Premier and Lady Morris in Parsons' automobile and proceeded to Portugal Cove where they boarded the s.s. Baleine, which was placed at their disposal and on board of which were Rev. Father McGrath, Rev. John Stead, Rev. W. J. Arms, Ensign Tilley, President C. F. Taylor and members of the Bell Island council. Magistrate Power, Mr. Burroughs and Mr. Hard, representing the Companies, Messrs. F. Berteau, Jackson, Costigan, Quigley, Hees, G. Stewart, Frederick Angel and J. B. Martin, also Mrs. Stead and Mrs. J. K. Bennett. On arrival at the Island the piers were crowded with onlookers and the vice-regal party were given a right royal and hearty reception. The Island was gaily decorated in honor of the Governor and Premier. The first place taken at the public wharf where the party were escorted to the proposed site of the new tramway. There His Excellency performed the ceremony of turning the sod in the presence of a large and enthusiastic gathering. The next part of the programme was an address presented to the Governor by Mr. Fred Angel and which elicited a cordial response. The party then proceeded to Davidson Avenue which was formally opened by His Excellency, after which lunch was partaken of at the residence of Mr. J. B. Martin. The next place visited was the Hospital then the mines. Returning to St. Joseph's Hall an address was presented to His Excellency by Mr. C. F. Taylor, on behalf of the citizens of the Iron Island; whilst Mrs. Davidson was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the school children. Following this a reception was held by the Governor and Mrs. Davidson. Later all the miners of both companies were addressed on the football field by the Governor and Premier. After tea the vice-regal returned to Portugal Cove in the s.s. Baleine, then motoring back to town, having greatly enjoyed his initial visit outside the city since he came to our shores.

Market Inactive.

The Board of Trade is in receipt of the accompanying letter from Oporto:—
"Our market has lately been very inactive, perhaps owing to the weather being unfavorable for agricultural operations, and the improvement which we expected has not yet taken place. Stocks are very limited and prices consequently have been maintained, and for good qualities have been raised. We hope shortly to be able to report an improvement in the demand."

"At Home."

Last night the Legion of Frontiersmen held an "At Home" in the British Hall, which was prettily decorated for the occasion. The event was highly successful and thoroughly enjoyed by all who took part. The music was discontinued by the C. E. band and needless to say was of an exceptionally high order. Dancing commenced at 8.30 and was discontinued at 2 o'clock this morning when the crowd dispersed. The promoters of the affair were well pleased with the success that attended their efforts.

Money For Nothing.

A horse which had been matched against another, met with an unlucky accident and broke its leg. The owner sought out his opponent, and, telling him that his horse had fallen sick and might not be able to run, proposed to forfeit half the stakes to be off the race.

The other agreed with unexpected readiness, and the money was paid over. When this had been done, the first owner remarked: "I got out of that business pretty well, for my horse has broken his leg."

"I got out of it better!" retorted the other, "for my horse is dead!"

Germany is Preparing.

Special to Evening Telegram.
JERELIN, To-day.
An international situation, growing out of the fall of Scutari, Montenegro's defiance of Powers and the threat to oust the victors from that place, is regarded as so grave that the Budget Committee, the Reichstag at a secret session decided to begin the consideration of military increase and emergency war tax bills immediately. These measures will be taken up for discussion to-day, instead of two weeks hence, as originally proposed. The Foreign Office gave out the usual statement that the Government was optimistic over outlook, did not look serious complications because of the unanimity among the Powers. In other diplomatic circles stress laid on the unpopularity of the task of coercing Montenegro, which is placed on England whose Admiral, being senior officer, is in command of the international fleet on the Montenegrin coast.

While storekeeper W. J. Maher, of P. Templeton's was away at dinner yesterday, the boy left the key in the door instead of locking the place and removing the key as usual, and some person entered and stole two coats hanging up there. One was owned by Mr. Maher and the other by the firm's truckman, Earle. In the pocket of Mr. Maher's coat was a $10 bill and both coats were worth about $10, and contained several things which the owners required. The matter will likely be reported to the police.

Casino Players Score

"IN A ROMAN TRAGEDY."
The Casino players scored another distinct success last night in the production of "A Roman Tragedy." It is one of the funniest comedies the company has yet presented, and the audiences were kept in roars of laughter. The story tells of an actor who prevails on a meek college professor to permit him to produce his play. The professor's wife does not favor play acting but she being away he consents. Then the wife returns unexpectedly and the fun begins. The daughter and son-in-law assist the professor in deceiving his wife. It is a comedy which must be seen to be appreciated. Mr. Barr as the manager, did some exceptionally clever acting which has seldom been equalled here. Mr. Denton as the professor, was simply immense and gave a faithful portrayal of a very difficult part. Messrs. Reed and Wright contributed much to the success of the show by their faultless acting. Mrs. Barr, as the professor's wife, was limitable, and again sustained the reputation she has gained as the best character lady to visit our shores for many years. Miss Barleon was charming in a light comedy role, again displayed a wonderful ability. It was a splendid performance and should draw another large audience to-night. The next bill will be "The Lighthouse by the Sea."

Sunlight Soap.

Mr. T. G. Henning, representing Messrs. Lever Bros., Ltd., has arrived from the West Indies and is once more, in his accustomed energetic manner, booming the interests of his firm.

Since he left St. John's in October he has been to Bermuda, Barbadoes, Trinidad, the Westward and Leeward Islands, and as far South as the British, Dutch and French Guianas. The natives of all these delightful spots are now sporting themselves with the luxuries of Sunlight Soap, and although in most cases down south a minimum of clothing does not warrant the use of 'Lux', what little the natives do wear is guaranteed not to shrink after Mr. Henning has visited the place.

One of the warmest spots on earth, according to Mr. Henning, is Cayenne. In fact, it is so hot there that the inhabitants have absolutely no fear of the world to come, it being impossible to improve upon Cayenne's climate. Cayenne is also famous for its pepper, and its cigars (Flora de Unconchos), which are very abundant. A stranger's first inclination on landing is to sneeze. Having just come from Bermuda Mr. Henning naturally had an onion with him when he arrived in Cayenne. What with the onion and the pepper our friend's arrival was a sad one, and those on the wharf thought he was lamenting (at least) the loss of an Aunt.

We are glad to have Mr. Henning with us again. He has a cheery personality, a ready wit, an endless fund of anecdote, and 'experiences' considerable, and represents one of the greatest commercial institutions in Great Britain.

Great Irish Film at the Nickel.

Hundreds of Irishmen and their descendants attended St. Patrick's Hall last night to witness the great Irish drama Arrah-na-Pogue, which Mr. Kiely specially arranged for at much cost. There are three full reels containing over four thousand feet. The photographs were all taken in Ireland and are true to life. It is the finest Irish 'movie' since the "Colleen Bawn" was shown last year. "Arrah-na-Pogue" is a story with which all Irishmen are familiar, and everyone present last night was charmed with it, and Mr. Kiely was highly complimented. There was a Gaumont Graphic as well, and also a comedy subject. Miss Guerin sang that pretty Irish ballad "For Killarney and You," while Miss Gardner gave an appropriate ragtime. "I'll be welcomed in my Home Town." The audience was highly pleased with the whole performance. It will be repeated this evening.

Still Frozen Over.

The Sagona reports that notwithstanding the mild weather which has prevailed for several days past several harbours north are yet solidly frozen over. The ship had to butt her way in through the ice at Exploits and Little Bay Islands and the mails and passengers with their luggage had to be hauled out to the ship on slides over the ice.

HERRING PLENTIFUL.—We learn by the S. S. Sagona that immense schools of herring struck in at Twillingate, Saturday last. The fish are of very large size and fine quality and big hauls are being made with nets and seines.

MAGISTRATE SPEAKS FOR ZAM-BUK

Magistrate Perry, of Goldfields, B.C., believes in making a good thing known. Writing of Zam-Buk, the great household balm, he says:—"After a very fair trial I have proved Zam-Buk eminently satisfactory. In my case it cured a skin rash of five years' standing which no doctor had been able to do any good for. I would certainly encourage any person to keep Zam-Buk in his home." The magistrate is quite right. Every home needs Zam-Buk! Unequalled for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, blood poisoning and all skin diseases. All stores and druggists sell it at 50 cents a box. Sure cure for piles.

DON'T NEGLECT THAT SORE!

A Chicago man has just died from blood poisoning arising from neglect of a small sore. Don't neglect a cut, a patch of eczema, or an open sore of any kind. The air is full of poison germs, waiting to start up their evil results in neglected sores, wounds, etc. In Zam-Buk is safety. Zam-Buk is so highly antiseptic that applied to any skin disease or injury it makes blood poisoning impossible. In using Zam-Buk you have three processes going on at once for Zam-Buk is healing, soothing and antiseptic. Try it without delay.

A GENUINE OFFER.

TEST ZAM-BUK AT OUR EXPENSE!

We appreciate the position taken by the man or woman who says:—"If your preparation is what you claim, you should have no objection to letting us try it before spending our money on it." To every person taking this view we say, send one cent stamp (to pay return postage) and name and date of this paper to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, and we will mail you a free trial box of Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is purely herbal, suitable for the delicate skin of little children, yet powerful enough to heal chronic sores of long years' standing. All druggists and stores, 50c. per box, 3 for $1.25.

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, April 28.

The demand of the Powers is couched in the following terms: "We have the honor to declare collectively to the Royal Government of Montenegro, that taking the fortress of Scutari does not in any way modify the decision of the European Powers relative to the delimitation of the frontiers of northern and north-eastern Albania. Consequently the city of Scutari must be evacuated with the briefest possible delay; and must be handed over to the European Powers, represented by the Commandant of the International Naval forces lying before the Montenegrin coast. The Royal Government of Montenegro is invited to give a prompt reply to this communication." The Montenegrin representative in London to whom this demand was cabled back from Cetinje, said to-day: "I have been ordered by my government to protest formally against this unjust and cruel demand, and to, once more, ask the European Powers to examine in an equitable manner the vital question of Montenegro's future, and to place that nation on an equal footing with the other Balkan allies."

LONDON, April 28.

Winston Churchill appeared before the Marconi Commission to-day. Ellis T. Powell, editor of a London financial paper, had stated in the Committee that he had heard rumors, which he did not believe, that Churchill had had a flatter in Marconi shares. "It is a most insulting charge, and implies that I have been skulking in the background, while my colleagues have come forward and explained their position," said Churchill. "It is grave beyond words that a committee of my fellow-members in the House of Commons should have thought it right to lend their sanction by putting such questions to me." Having thus reproved the Committee, Churchill added: "I have had no dealings directly or indirectly, nor any investments or interests of any kind in Marconi shares in any country. If anybody said so, that person is a liar and a slanderer. If anybody repeated such a statement, and stated that he believed it to be false, the only difference between him and a liar, is that he is a coward as well." The Committee tried to mollify Churchill but he rejected their excuses and indignantly left the room.

Soon Started.

A young waiter and his wife had been married only a few months, but it was quite apparent to the wife that her husband's affection for her was waning. Laurence developed a tendency to stay out late at night, and now it was early morning when his wife heard a violent knocking at the door. "Who is there?" she shouted from the bedroom window.

"It's me," replied Laurence, nervously. "I've just come from the meeting. We have been considering the present strike."

"Oh, have you? Well, you can sit on the doorstep and consider the present lock-out!" was the wife's sharp retort.

The Little Gentleman.

I knew him for a gentleman
By signs that never fail;
His coat was rough and rather worn,
His cheeks were thin and pale;
A lad who had his way to make
With little time to play;
I knew him for a gentleman
By certain signs to-day.

He met his mother on the street,
Off came his little cap;
My door was shut, he waited there Until I heard his rap.
He took the bundle from my hand,
And when I dropped the pen,
He sprang to pick it up for me,
This gentleman of ten.

He does not push or crowd along,
His voice is gently pitched,
He does not fling his books about,
As if he were bewitched.
He stands aside to let you pass,
He always shuts the door,
He runs on errands willingly
To forge or mill or store.

He thinks of you before himself;
He serves you if he can,
For in whatever company
The manners maketh man.
At ten or forty, 'tis the same,
And I discern the gentleman
By signs that never fail.
—Martha E. Sangster, in Michigan Catholic.

When milk soup or other foods boil over on the stove, cover the spot quickly with salt. It will do away with any unpleasant odor.

Don't Put Off.

A gentleman who had been in the city only three days, but who had been paying attention to a prominent belle, wanted to propose, but was afraid he would be thought too hasty. He delicately approached the subject as follows:

"If I were to speak to you of marriage, after having only made your acquaintance three days ago, what would you say to it?"

"Well I should say never put off till to-morrow that which you should have done the day before yesterday."

Burned To Death.

Kingston, N.S., April 28.—A very sad and fatal accident occurred at North Kingston on Monday afternoon when Gladys, the seven-year-old daughter of Watson Smith was burned so fearfully that she succumbed to her injuries about three hours afterwards. Mr. Smith had been burning brush along the road side, and had stayed to watch it until he thought all danger was passed. His little girl coming home from school went too close to the burning embers, her clothes caught fire and she became enveloped in a sheet of flame. Mrs. Clark Warren who lives across the road rushed to her assistance and managed to put the fire out but the child had all her clothes burned off her, and she was dreadfully scorched. She was taken into the house, a nurse was summoned and everything possible was done for her, but to no avail, and she passed away. Mrs. Warren was very severely burned about the hands and arms and it will be several weeks before she will recover.

A Real Hero.

A little Chinese boy, only ten years of age, says the Catholic News, went to the Bishop and begged for Confirmation, for which he had been considered too young. The Bishop hesitated. The eagerness of the child touched him, but he was so young! "But after you are confirmed, if the mandarin puts you in prison and questions you about your faith," said the prelate, "what will you answer him?"

"Monsignor, I will tell him that I am a Christian by the grace of God."

"And if he commands you to deny your faith, what will you do?"

"I shall answer, 'Never!'"

"And if he should say that you must not go to church, or keep holy the Sundays and festivals of obligation?"

"I shall tell him that I must first of all obey the commandments."

"And suppose that in the end he will call the executioner and will say to you: 'Unless you apostatize these men shall cut off your head! What will you say then?'"

"I will say 'cut it off.'"

The little hero was confirmed.

Earn Distinction.

A recent issue of the Herald, of Halifax, gives a lengthy reference to the result of exams at Dalhousie College. Master Jack Barron, son of Mr. T. J. Barron, dry goods man, our 1912 Jubilee Scholar is noted for 3 firsts and has high marks in several subjects. Master E. W. Crawford, son of Mr. Crawford, purchasing agent of the Reid Mfd. Co., is also doing excellently in the arts course.

China's First Parliament.

"At eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning I witnessed from the densely crowded galleries the epoch-making event in the history of modern China, for at that hour her first Parliament was declared open," says the Telegraph Peking correspondent.

"Within the House," says Reuter, "were assembled 500 representatives, out of a total membership of 596, and also 177 Senators out of 274."

"Nearly all wore frock coats. They were men of maturer years than the members of the Provisional Assembly."

"The public galleries were crowded almost to suffocation with Chinese and foreign visitors. At 11 o'clock the assembled bands played the National Anthem, and the members stood up in their places as the senior member of the House of Representatives on behalf of both Houses, formally declared Parliament open."

Wanted to Make a Film.

The justice of the peace leaned over towards the defendant. "You are accused," he thundered, "of wilfully striking and causing serious bodily harm to Mr. Tomkins, cinematograph operator, of this town. What have you to say in your defence?"

"Your honour," remarked the accused, "the man insulted me."

"Insulted you? In what way?" demanded the magistrate.

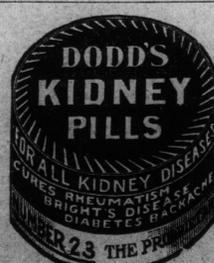

"If you please, your honour, the man came into my shop and asked if he could take a moving picture of the cheese!"

The Reason Why

A man was sued for a certain amount of money. The debtor repeatedly offered to work off the debt, but this offer did not seem at all to suit the taste of the creditor.

At last the judge asked the plaintiff the reason for his unwillingness to accept the debtor's offer to "work off the debt."

His reply was: "Well, you see, your honour, the man's an undertaker!"

Anniversary and Lecture.

The anniversary of Oddfellows of Atlantic Lodge, No. 1, I.O.O.F., was celebrated last night by a lecture from Rev. W. H. Thomas, Pastor of the Queen's Road Congregational Church. The attendance was large and the meeting opened with a hymn of Thanksgiving. Then the Chairman, Bro. J. Adrain, N.G., told of the Oddfellows work from its inception down to the present time. This Society was founded in Baltimore in 1819, with a membership of five persons. Since that time two million have been enrolled, and has an income of $88,000,000. During that time it has paid out in relief over $15,000,000, and has homes for aged Oddfellows and orphans in the United States and Canada. The motto of the Order is "to attend the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead and educate the orphan." The Chairman then introduced the lecturer, who gave a brilliant and most instructive discourse on the history of "Edgar Allan Poe," who was born in Boston in the year 1809. Continuing the lecturer gave a graphic account of Poe's life. At three years of age Poe was left an orphan, later adopted by a well to do family by the name of Allan. He was sent to England to be educated and after finishing his studies went back to America. Shortly after his return his foster mother died. He was then sent to West Point Academy where he achieved some successes. Subsequently Poe and his foster father quarrelled and both separated. Poe settled down in Baltimore at the age of 22. He began a literary career and ultimately became editor of a periodical in South America where he made fame as a writer. At the close of the lecture, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the learned lecturer, proposed by Mr. R. A. Squires and seconded by Mr. G. G. Gimes. The Lodge afterwards presented Mrs. Taylor, the janitress, with a purse of gold accompanied by an address for her services in connection with the hall. Mrs. Taylor is soon to go abroad and we wish her success in the hand of her adoption. The recipient fittingly replied.

Sagona Arrives.

The S. S. Sagona, Capt. Kennedy, arrived here at 5:30 p.m. yesterday from the northward with 70 first class and 50 second class passengers. The ship had splendid weather coming and going and the officers say that summer weather prevails north. The ship left here Saturday week and reached Tilt Cove Thursday but could not get further. It had been intended to send her to Conche and St. Anthony but she met a heavy body of Arctic ice a few miles north of Cape John and after passing through it a short distance gave it up, the ice being too heavy for her penetration. The ship brought a small freight and will be made ready to make one more trip north when it is expected the Prospero will be ready for her work.

Brace Up.

The man who mopes as though his hopes were ruined all, and bustled, who goes his way from day to day, a being sad, disgusted, is left alone to mourn and weep over brighter scenes departed, for men don't like to walk the pike with fellows broken-hearted. We like the guy with beaming eye and limps we follow after as forth he stalks; he'll fill the air with laughter. The men who leads in useful deeds, whom we delight to follow, is not the guy who's prone to say the world is false and hollow. He's not the camp, who'll always pump from redened eyes the briny, wisecracking word and groan are heard from here to Cochin China. He's not the gink who finds a kink in every scheme invented, he's not the freak who's sad and weak and glum and discontented. That sort of man pursues a plan that never helped or benefited us, he's always ready to find fault whenever he's faced with it. And so we praise the man who wears give courage to each mortal, who walks ahead with kingly tread and shows us how to cloutie.

No Politics for a Change.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—While thanking the Committee most sincerely, the members of the Newfoundland Catholic Association, Whitney Pier, wish to say that their prospective Old Home Week excursion of this summer has no electioneering motive in its plans. In fact the Newfoundland excursionists hope to hear from prominent Newfoundland statesmen of all parties at their big meeting of 20,000 in Bannerman Park.

Change in Captains.

There will be considerable changes in the captains of the Reid Co.'s ships, we hear, this season. Capt. Goobie late of the Ethie, will command the Magie, Capt. Jacob Kean formerly of the Solway will take the bridge of the Invermore; Capt. W. Parsons will go in the new S. S. Kyle on the Labrador service; Capt. S. Parsons will take charge of the Duchess of Marlborough, and Capt. Day will be skipper of the Ethie.

BY H. L. RANN.

The moving picture theatre is a place of entertainment where people pay a nickel to see love made and murder committed. They are also able to witness the murder of the English language and the popular song by a petrified voice. It is a place where stands in the spotlight and forces vowels and consonants through an office called the throat. As a rule, no extra charge is made for this privilege, and if there were there would be a grand rush for the box office.

The acting in moving picture shows is always perpetrated by deaf and dumb people, who have a very emphatic form of lip expansion and look as if they were about to say something. Some of the acting is so plain that the audience can tell at once when they are witnessing a love scene. As fully nine-tenths of the acting in a moving picture show consists either in making love in a feverish manner or in reading an anonymous letter, it is easily understood by all.

The most popular reels shown in moving picture theatres are those which depict the American Indian in the act of being slaughtered by the regular army. The picture show which fails to kill several robust Indians at every performance is a losing proposition. Then there is the sparkling comedy reel which causes a fat man to leap a barbed wire fence, followed in a rapid succession by a company of hard-rubber acrobats, several of whom are in petticoats.

When moving pictures were first introduced they met with considerable opposition from the clergy, but now a great many churches use moving pictures of their own, thereby increasing the evening collection and keeping their young people out of the nickelodeon. If more churches would follow this plan their pews would be filled with something besides a chilly vacuum.

The moving picture show is a great deal better than it was on the start, and it will improve just as fast as the public taste will allow it to. It could be improved in the way of ventilation at once, however, without dragging out a protest from anybody.

MAN CAUGHT IN MACHINERY—LEG TERRIBLY MUTILATED—FEMORAL ARTERY SEVERED.

Shortly after 3 p.m. yesterday a man named Westcott, who had only come to work there a short while, and who is a boilermaker's assistant at the R. N. Co.'s shops on the Dry Dock, met with an accident which might have cost him his life but for the prompt manner in which aid was afforded him by Dr. Carberry of the Calypso, Dr. Paterson and Dr. Pritchard. The man was working at the roller which rolls the plates of iron or steel when his loose overalls caught in the cogs of the gear wheel and instantly his right leg at the thigh was drawn in. The screams of the man drew attention to the predicament he was in, and the compressed air, which is the motive power of the machinery, was shut off instantly, but not before the unfortunate worker was terribly wounded. The flesh was torn from the leg in places and the femoral artery was severed, so that he lost much blood before Dr. Carberry of the Calypso reached him. A tourniquet was applied, and when the hemorrhage was checked the man was removed to Mr. Brown's office, where everything possible was done for him and the ambulance called. He was then taken to Hospital. Some of the organs of the body were also seriously affected, and though the doctors believe the man will pull through, he will be many weeks in Hospital.

Rossley Scores Again.

The finest show ever presented at the Rossley Theatre was last night. Standing room could not be had and those who were there were delighted beyond measure. Never was such applause heard within the walls of any theatre as when the St. John's comic comedian showed his patrons the elog dance for which he won the championship medal in London, and during all the performance the audience was kept in a state of rapture. One step of his wonderful elog dance has he ever shown. The minstrel act was a grand show the ladies' costumes were beautiful, the songs good, the stories, jokes and novelty numbers new and up to date. But the grand finale Alexandra's Rag Time Band were splendid, while the Song Bird proved her right to the title. Joe and Percy our old favorites, were good; Harry Ingram excelled himself last night; Little Rossley is a real little comic. The pictures and orchestra were beyond reproach. It is a grand show and all should see it.

The Best of the Berry

You remove all the skin and core of an apple, when you want the most delicious sauce.

We remove all the skin and fibre of the wheat berry so that you may have the finest flour.

Wheat has five skins. It has fibre which corresponds to the core of the apple. It has an embryo germ, where sprouting begins. It has a small crease in which a tiny quantity of dirt hides.

Every one of these things is removed from Rainbow Flour. Then we refine and refine until only the most vital elements of the wheat berry remain.

We carry this process so far that Rainbow Flour positively has no equal in quality. One baking will prove this to you.

Pleasing Presentation.

Members of the congregation having learned that Sunday last was the birthday of Rev. F. R. Matthews, Pastor of Wesley Church, some of the men subscribed $30 and handed it to the rev. gentleman through Mr. J. C. Puddister, who referred to the team the people held for their pastor and his efforts in the interest of the people. He expressed the pleasure all felt in his return to the Church for a third year. Mr. Matthews, who was taken by surprise, heartily thanked the donors and expressed the pleasure it afforded him to labor amongst them for another year.

HAND CAUGHT IN ROLLER.

While at work in the Reid N.G. ### One Way to Rise.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

There are some things which one can take from one's neighbor without robbing him, and yet thereby make one's self richer. Outspoken advice is one of these things; another vastly more important is that silent advice which a good man's character or a successful man's act always give to him who is alert to receive it.

All successful men now-a-days are asked by eager interviewers to tell exactly how they made their successes. None of them can do that. But few manage to give some useful suggestions. A certain well-known newspaper man who has climbed to dizzy heights in his profession in a very few years said that he thought what small success he had attained (how hard these big men try to be modest) was won by doing just what the interviewer was doing—that is, finding out how other men had succeeded.

"Only I didn't say anything to them about it," he explained. "I studied it out for myself. From the time I was a eub I made it my business to study the man ahead of me until I found out the qualities that boosted him along, and then to do what I could to copy these qualities. My first city editor wasn't an all-round newspaper man, but he was a wizard at managing men. He didn't know it, but I elected him my professor of psychology and studied under him for six months. "Another editor that I worked under later was no good at handling men, but he had that sixth sense that all good newspaper men must have. I made him my professor in the art of recognizing news, and his job was eventually offered to me because I had his good quality plus the other man's ability to handle men.

"Every successful man has one or more qualities that have put him where he is. Any young man who will study his employer to find out how he got to the top, instead of envying him, has a good chance of getting to the top himself if he has any brains."

I think I would make this man's statement even broader. Not only every successful man, but every man or woman has some admirable quality, some peculiar ability. As we pass through life, each of us in the different relations existence—home, business, society, school, etc.—comes into close contact with a great many people. Let's remember that each of these is capable of teaching us something if we will only be humble and wise enough to learn it.

HAPPY THO' MARRIED?

There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, hollow and circled eyes, result most often from those disorders peculiar to women. For the woman to be happy and good-looking the most naturally have good health. Dragging-down feelings, hysteria, hot-flashes or constantly returning pains and aches—are too great a drain upon a woman's vitality and strength. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health by regulating and correcting the local disorders which are generally responsible for the above distressing symptoms.

"I suffered greatly for a number of years and for the past three years was so bad that life was a misery to me," writes Mrs. E. F. Dickover, of Utica, Ohio, Route 4. "The doctors told me I would have to go to a hospital before I would ever be better. A year ago this winter and spring I was worse than ever before. At each period I suffered like one in torment. I am the mother of six children. I was so bad for five months that I knew something must be done, so I wrote to Dr. V. Pierce, telling him as nearly as I could how I suffered. He outlined a course of treatment which I followed to the letter. I took two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and a 25-cent bottle of 'Smart-Weed,' and have never suffered such a stroke. I wish I could tell every suffering woman the world over what a boon Dr. Pierce's medicine is. There is no use wasting time and money doctoring with anything else or any one else."

The Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y., answers hosts of delicate questions about which every woman, single or married ought to know. Sent free on receipt of 50 stamps to pay for wrapping and mailing only.

Amazing feats of Airmen

Sablating Saved His Life by Climbing Out of His Machine and Operating the Planes with His Hands.

If an airman once loses control of his machine his fate is as good as sealed. Yet there are some men so plucky, so wonderfully full of resource, that even in the most awful

Exhausted Nerves Sleepless Nights

Continually Grow Worse Until Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Restored Vigor and Strength.

Mrs. Campbell. What misery to lie awake nights and think of all sorts of things without being able to get the rest and sleep which is necessary to restore the nervous energy wasted in the tasks of the day.

This symptom of sleeplessness is one of the surest indications of an exhausted nervous system. You must have sleep or a breakdown is certain. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food feeds the feeble, wasted nerves back to health and strength. In a few days you obtain the natural, restful sleep which helps so materially in restoring vitality to the nerves and strength to the whole body.

Mrs. Sarah Campbell, 108 Alma street, St. Thomas, Ont., writes: "For months I was so bothered with nervousness that I could not sleep nights. There were other symptoms of exhausted nerves, but none caused so much misery, and I found myself continually getting worse. "I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it was not long before I noticed great improvement in my health. It built up the nervous system wonderfully, strengthened the nerves and enabled me to rest and sleep well."

dilemmas they never lose their heads, but will snatch at any desperate chance and somehow manage to come out unhurt.

Sablating is such a man. In July last he was flying with a passenger and had reached a height of fully a thousand feet when a gust caught his plane. There was a sharp snap. One of the levers controlling the planes had broken.

Such an accident usually spells death. The moment control of the planes is lost the machine is at the mercy of every puff. It may plunge downwards or lift upwards. It is bound to fall.

Sablating acted on the instant. Scrambling swiftly out of his seat, he crept forward and operated the planes directly by hand. The machine veered swiftly earthwards, but though it was smacked on landing neither of the men was hurt.

Captain Matland, one of our own army flying men, owed his life on one occasion to his own presence of mind. Two summers ago he made a first flight in a new Farman biplane across Salisbury Plain. When about fifty feet from the ground his foot slipped and struck the rudder lever. Instantly the machine turned and dropped like a stone.

Stood up to Avoid Death.

Captain Matland made one frantic effort to right the machine, realized that it was too late, then sprang to his feet, and standing up like the captain of a sinking ship, struck the ground, feet first. Had it not been for his promptitude, he would have been buried under the wreck of his machine and most certainly killed. As it was, it was his ankles only that suffered. One was broken, the other dislocated. Otherwise he was unhurt.

One of the Egbert brothers, acrobats, was on the top of a coach near Liverpool when a wheel came off and the vehicle upset. It came quite natural to him to wait till the coach was half over, then jump wide, landing safely on his feet. It was exactly in this fashion that the well-known airwoman, Madame de Laroche, saved her life at Rheims. Her machine was brought down by the "wash" of another aeroplane passing too close, and she managed to keep her head and jump clear.

Monsieur Le Blon, by his quickness and cleverness, on one occasion, saved not only his own life, but those of a number of other people.

Jumped His Machine Like a Hurdler. This was at the Doncaster flying week three years ago. It may be remembered that the weather was very bad. Le Blon was flying in a gale when a heavy gust of wind surging behind the monoplane swung it broad side on, heading off to the right.

He tried to regain his line of flight, but the machine refused to come round. Then he descended quickly. But by this time he was almost on the rails bordering the course. He touched earth at forty miles an hour. Immediately in front were the white posts and rails fronted by a ditch. Le Blon was equal to the occasion. He jerked forward his elevating lever, and like a horse rising at a fence the plane jerked forward and over the obstacle. But now a worse peril confronted him. He found himself charging at the speed of an express train straight for the packed ranks of spectators.

Again he threw himself on his steering column, and swung it over, leaning his body forward. With a great swoop the plane again leaped into the air. So close was it to the crowd that the wind of its passage sent hats flying this way and that. But it rose—rose to fifty feet and then came hurtling down. The wheels crumpled, the propeller flew to fragments. But no one was hurt.

I Don't Think.

Yolite Doctor: "Your husband, madam, is suffering either from overwork or excessive indulgence in alcoholic stimulants; it is difficult to say which."

Anxious Wife: "Oh, I'm sure it's overwork! Why, he can't even go to the theatre without hurrying out half a dozen times to see one of his partners."

Quickly Cures the Worst Backache.

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, and Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs, clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used; the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back, and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

BUTTER!

This week we talk Butter. All the way from Old Ireland, ONE THOUSAND POUNDS of the genuine article. Its equal not to be had.

DUCKWORTH STREET.

DEAR SIR.—Photography is now being recognized as a method in Education too valuable to overlook. More and more are we turning to Nature, because we recognize for the first time in the history of the world that we are a part of Nature. We are Nature. And the more we love Nature, the more we understand her, the stronger, the healthier, the happier, the saner we are. The Camera brings us very close to Nature. It makes us feel our kinship with the Infinite. The Camera habit isn't a passing fad. More and more it is becoming fixed in the heart of the race. Yours faithfully,
