Your Doctor

Can cure your Cough or Cold, no question about that, but why go to all the trouble and inconvenience of looking him up, and then of having his prescription filled, when you can step into any drug store in Canada and obtain a bottle of SHILOH'S CURE for a quarter.

Why pay two to five dollars when a twenty-five cent bottle of SHILOH will cure you as quickly?

Why not do as hundreds of thousands of Canadians have done for the past thirty-four years: let SHILOH be your doctor whenever a Cough or Cold appears.

SHILOH will cure you, and all druggists back up this statement with a positive guarantee. The next time you have a Cough or Cold cure it with SHILOH.

IMMANUEL CHURCH, TRURO, CELEBRATES LONGFELLOW CENTENARY

Rev. E. E. Daley, pastor, and Dr. J. B. Hall, Participate in the Program.

(Truro News.)

Notwithstanding the unfavorable condition of the weather, a goodly number of people gathered in Immanuel church last evening to listen to a programme prepared to celebrate the centenary of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, one of America's most gifted poets.

Tribute is fittingly given this grand man by Nova Scotia's sons and daughters as he made our Province by the sea the scene of one of his most widely read and best loved works.

The church was most prettily decorated for the occasion, with American and British flags and potted plants. The central figure was a large painting of the poet, with the stars and stripes gracefully arranged above and below.

The programme was a varied one of literature and music, and was interesting throughout.

Rev. E. E. Daley, pastor of the church, made a pleasing chairman, and in a few well chosen words he referred to the honor due poets, as they have given us the flower of literature. "Prose," he said, "is words in their best form, while poetry is the best words in their best form.

The first numbers on the programme were given by Immanuel S. S. Orchestra and included two selections, Overture "Eulphie," and "American Airs" both were rendered in a pleasing manner.

Mr. Daley then called upon Miss L. A. Edwards to take charge of the programme. She had prepared a most comprehensive, instructive and interesting review of the life and works of Longfellow, in the giving of which she was assisted at various points by others, both in song and reading.

Miss Edwards deserves praise for the preparation of so elaborate an address at the cost of much time and study. She began with the immediate ancestors of the poet and followed him along through childhood, youth and manhood. She told how, even in his early years, he was fond of literature of his special aptitude for the acquiring of various languages of his travels in foreign countries, of the varied experiences of joy and sorrow throughout his life, and of the foundation of several of his works.

She interspersed the account of his life with the recital of a few of his short poems.

Throughout the story of the life of the gifted Longfellow was well told and eulogistic of the great man.

The musical part of this portion of the interesting programme was supplied by Miss May Jamieson, Mrs. M. A. MacLean, and Messrs. G. A. Harlow and A. Langille.

The pretty little song "Beware" was sung by Miss Jamieson, who entered into the spirit of the words and sang them very effectively.

Mrs. M. A. MacLean supplied for Miss Blanche Moore, who, on account of sickness, was unable to be present, and feelingly sang "I Shot an Arrow."

Mr. Harlow was in good voice, and in a pleasing and impressive manner rendered "The Village Blacksmith."

"The Bridge," one of Longfellow's best known poems, was given by Mr. Langille, who charmed all by his clear tones and good enunciation.

Mrs. Blair Fulton appeared on the platform twice, giving two selections from Longfellow's works,—"Famine Scenes in Hiawatha," and "Sandalphon." She rendered both well, but was more effective in the first, when she held her audience splendidly. This scene is one of the most romantic of the poet's writings, and was very touchingly given by Mrs. Fulton.

When Miss Edwards, assisted by those mentioned, had closed her part of the programme, the chairman called on Dr. J. B. Hall to give an account of a visit to Longfellow, at his Cambridge home.

Dr. Hall was at his best, and delighted the audience with his interesting address. He told how in his boyhood he had fallen in love with Evangelina, and how he had an intense desire to see Longfellow face to face, which was at last gratified. He referred to the poet's kindly manner during the short interview, and paid a high tribute to the character of the man.

A friend had sent Dr. Hall a letter which he had received from Longfellow's daughter inviting him to visit at what had been the poet's residence.

Dr. Hall had this note on the platform along with some other letters giving information in regard to this man of genius. He also stated that Longfellow has relatives living in Nova Scotia, and that his father once visited in Kings County, and he said it was thought that the poet procured his knowledge of the scenery as shown in "Evangelina," from the account given by his father.

As the last Longfellow number, Mrs. M. A. MacLean very beautifully sang, "The Day is Done."

Mr. Daley made a few closing remarks, thanking those who had assisted in making the evening a success, and then called on the Orchestra for their final selection, "American and English Airs." This, with the singing of the National Anthem, brought to a close an entertainment of interest, merit and instruction.

BELLEISLE.

Mrs. Watson Kent, of Benville, spent a few days of last week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Troop.

Mrs. (Capt.) Norman Roop, of Annapolis Royal, spent last week visiting her relatives here.

Miss Maude Coleman left on Wednesday last for Lawrence, Mass., to be present at the marriage of her cousin, Miss Wood, which takes place in the near future.

Miss Jane Neely has gone to visit her aunt, Mrs. Samuel Reed, at Cambridge, Mass.

Mrs. M. O. Wade and daughter, Olga, are with relatives at Centre Granville for a few days.

On a recent evening a number of the brethren of Crescent Lodge, I. O. F., of Bridgetown, accompanied by their wives—who are members of the Rebecca Lodge—paid a fraternal surprise to Mr. and Mrs. A. Hart Goodwin. They numbered about forty, spent a most delightful evening, and left their afflicted brother many very tangible tokens of fraternal affection.

L. B. Shaffer, Esq., of Bridgetown, was here and purchased all the timber he could find available.

Sylvester Bent, our veteran lumberman, has indeed been a most busy man this winter. A few days ago he finished a large cut, about seven hundred sixty-nine thousand. He finished at five o'clock p. m. on Friday, and on Saturday at three o'clock, p. m., he had his mill at the Withers Lake, on the North Mountain, back of Granville Centre. He started from the mountain back of Stony Beach, hauled a distance of about ten miles. He has about seven hundred thousand at the mill on the Phinney Mountain, where he had a gang of men all winter yarding. No grass is ever found growing in his path.

The article published in the last week's issue of the Monitor, re "a famous Apple Export Section" was doubtless read by its many readers with a most pleased interest. It is, in all verity, one of the very best reports concerning our Valley we have ever had the pleasure to read.

At St. Mary's Church, Friday, being "Good Friday," there will be service at 3 p. m., and on Saturday (Easter-even) at 7.30 p. m.

Immediately after this service the annual business meeting of the congregation will be held.

On Easter Day there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. and the usual service at 3 p. m.

SHADOW APPLIQUE CAN BE QUICKLY DONE.

Not shadow work as we have known it for several seasons past, but shadow applique is the latest thing that is attracting the attention of needlewomen who are always on the lookout for something novel in fancy work. It is nothing more than an applique of a heavier material on a sheer fabric, but instead of the applied figures being on the right side they are underneath, and shine through the transparent stuff on top with a fascinatingly shadowy effect.

While this work is very showy and durable it is extremely simple of execution and can easily be picked up, even by the novice in embroidery who can only do plain buttonholing, satin stitch and outlining.

It is now being used in many ways, both for gowns, blouses and trimmings and for toilet accessories, such as cushion and bureau covers, glove cases, dainty pillow tops and table covers.

Perforated patterns of appropriate designs can be bought in almost every up-to-date needlework shop. It is well, however, in selecting such designs, to choose those of rather bold outline, as the more complicated and smaller patterns are apt to give trouble when the cutting away of the underlying material is to be done.

The materials for this work must be of two kinds, a diaphanous fabric such as Swiss batiste, sheer muslin or Persian lawn for the article to be made, and of heavier goods, as linen or lawn for the applique. The design is stamped on the right side of the heavier goods, and the shearer is then basted on top of it, care being taken that the warp threads run in the same direction. The stamping is plainly seen through the covering and the embroidery is done through both materials.

The working is simplicity itself. Do the edges either in a close buttonhole or a satin stitch, work the stems either in a satin stitch or cord them after the under part has been cut away. Finish the centres in eyelet, French knots or work them solid. If one wishes to get more elaborate effects some of the parts should be seeded and veined, or, indeed, a number of intricate stitches can be used. Work with a mercerized cotton of silk.

The chief design in this shadow applique is in cutting away the heavier linen underneath. Use small, sharp scissors and cut close to the edges of embroidery and around the outside of each figure.

Though as a rule this applique is daintier in all white, it is very attractive when a color is used for the under and heavier part of the work. Care should be taken to have the color set before using, or otherwise it fades long before the article is worn out.

CHANGING THE DOMESTIC SCENERY.

Notwithstanding the labor and confusion incident to spring housecleaning a really ambitious, home-loving housewife reveals in it all to the depths of her soul. It is not that a woman loves scouring and scrubbing, so much. It is not that she revels in dirt and dust and soap suds. Neither does her light in her eyes rest and contentment in a cozy couch and grow rested and young again, contemplating the work of her hands and the thoughtfulness of those dear to her, who have ministered to her comfort and pleasure by having helped her to change the scenery about her.

Dear woman! encourage your own desire for change and development, even carrying it in detail to the limit of your financial and artistic ability, in order to even so commonplace a thing as spring housecleaning is supposed to be.

Change! How her soul longs for it!

A few new pictures; new upholstering of furniture; a few new pieces of hand-made and substantial articles for daily use, and for her heart and eyes to rest upon at the same time. If she may not have them, she will yet make the best of circumstances by so arranging her household belongings that they take on the appearance of being new, at least something akin to newness.

If a woman is so easily satisfied as this, she should be indulged in her mental diversion without even the pain of look or comment, by husband or son, or any other member of the family, who might either rest exactly as she is, or felt it a foolish fancy. Little man dreams of the monotony that creeps into the life of a housewife whose hours are mostly toil and study for the comfort of her family. It is the woman who keeps house on a farm that I am thinking most about, though this same desire for change of scenery and surroundings is to be found everywhere. Duty keeps her house within her own four walls, while husband and sons and her father and brothers are finding constant diversion in their coming and going and in their contact with people and happenings.

Men are given to wanting everything left in its original corner or place. "Mother has turned the bed around," was always one man's way of letting it be known that he had discovered a sort of changed appearance, such as took place occasionally. If "Mother" wants to "turn the bed around" let her do it in peace, father, husband, son, if you would make her happy, and I know you do, do not begrudge her in changing the domestic scenery as often and as thoroughly as she can. Do a little planning on your own responsibility and surprise her with word that the paper-hangers are coming to renovate things a bit. Then bring home a new carpet or a new rug occasionally, and note the proof of a revived life springing to view in cheeks and eyes. Make it a practice to bring home "surprises" quite often. Beautiful pictures and china and glass are all so inexpensive that almost any one can afford them. And do not forget to "afford" just the best that you can. It is all a paying investment, not only in dollars and cents, but in ways a thousand-fold more valuable. Life is short and cares are many. Joys in plenty are lying about, wait-

SEASONABLE MEAT DISHES.

Braised Beef.—Take a slice from the top of the round, weighing about three pounds, and cut an inch and a half thick. Season it with a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter teaspoonful of pepper; cut gashes in the top or upper side, and fill with stuffing. Roll the meat up and skewer it, dredge with flour and brown it in a frying-pan, so some salt pork fat. Put it into the braising pan, with one-third of a cupful of dried carrots, three slices of onion and a small bit of bayleaf. Pour on three cupfuls of boiling water and let simmer three hours.

Stuffing.—One-third of a cupful of dried cracked crumbs, to which has been added a scant tablespoonful of butter, a saltspoonful of salt, a speck of pepper and a half teaspoonful of thyme or sweet marjoram, or such mixed seasoning as is desired. Moisten the whole with four tablespoonfuls of milk and water.

Sauce.—Brown two tablespoonfuls of butter, adding two rounding tablespoonfuls of flour, and stir until the whole becomes brown. Pour onto this slowly the liquor in the meat pan, of which there should be about one pint.

Baked Tongue.—Procure a beef tongue weighing from three to four pounds, either fresh or, better, corned a few days. Put it into a pot of boiling water deep enough to cover it and let boil gently, but continually, until the skin will slip easily from it, or about two hours and a half. Have a ten-kettle of boiling water to replenish it as the water boils away, just keeping the tongue covered. If the

A STATESMAN JUDGE. Dr. Loudon Tells Some Unpublished History of Northwest Rebellion.

A finely appreciative and illuminating review of the life and work of the late Mr. Justice Street is contributed to the current issue of The University of Toronto Monthly by ex-President London, a life-long friend and associate of the deceased jurist.

The mission of the commission was to make lists of persons entitled to land grants in compensation for their dispossession at law by the Dominion when it assumed ownership in 1870.

The Government at the time of the appointment of the commission was not prepared with any definite policy regarding the land allotment.

Mr. Street was told that the commissioners must do the best they could, and if the half-breeds did not come in to enter their claims no blame could attach to him or his associates for their failure.

Bowel Troubles

Liver pills, cathartics, mineral waters, often make Constipation worse. They merely irritate the bowels and force them to move—stop taking purgatives and the bowels become "tight" again.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the one certain cure for Constipation because their action is upon the liver. "Fruit-a-tives" are a liver tonic. They stimulate the secretions of bile by the liver, this bile causes the bowels to move in the natural, regular way and completely cures Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics added. In "Fruit-a-tives" one atom of bitter replaces one atom of sweet in the fruit juices, forming a new compound which is many times more active, medicinally, than the fruit juices could possibly be.

A turkey, or a goose or hen, Behaved me and I nightly seen, Put on my nightgown and cap, Nor do not mutilate me more.

A farmer's boy asked permission of his father to go to the circus. The father replied, "My son, you may go if first you go to the orchard through the three gates and get a number of apples, so that on returning you can give half of what you have and half leave half of what you have and half of what you have left and half an apple more at the third gate, without cutting any, and then have one whole apple left. How many apples would he have to get?"

NOT HIS LEGS. A Russian peasant journeyed to the nearest town to buy himself a pair of new boots, and after profiting by the occasion to imbibe plenty of vodka started homeward, but soon fell asleep on the road where he was relieved of his new boots by a passing thief.

POINT FOR THE NEW ASSESSOR. A Montgomery county man objected to the action of the assessors of his town in assessing a coat he owned at twenty-five dollars.

Jokes

A JOKE ON THE CITY FELLOW.

"Did you ever notice," asked the necktie clerk, "how the average city fellow looks it over the country boy?"

"You see, my old man bought a farm down in Kansas, and I went down there to run affairs. I was pie for the rules. Course I couldn't milk a cow, and that ticked them to death.

"Well, one Saturday the boys held an outdoor entertainment in a pasture. Everything was allowed but biting and scratching. Of course I got the best of the rustic wit, and it wasn't half bad either. But when it was passed around that I couldn't milk a cow I just smiled.

"Anyone want to bet?" I asked, thinking of some easy money.

"I figured for a few minutes and then scratched up ten dollars, and I covered it.

"Tut he out," I says, feeling kind of guilty. They didn't know about my private lessons.

"Well," continued the necktie clerk, arranging his stock on the table, "they trotted her out—the cow, you know—and I settled beside her on a one-legged stool and went after the milk. But nothing came, and everybody guffawed. I couldn't coax any milk out of that critter for love or money. The cow stood my abuses for ten minutes and never said a word.

"I quit. It's all yours, gentlemen," I says.

"On the way home I confided my troubles to an old farmer who had witnessed the struggle. 'No more farming for me,' said I.

"Trouble is with you city chaps you never learn," replied the old man. 'Those boys sicked you on a dead issue.'

"Explain, neighbor," I said.

"Why, the old boy himself couldn't milk that cow. She's been dry for two months."—Kansas City Star.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY IS BOTH AGREEABLE AND EFFECTIVE.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Feltman, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other."

A Dog Habit. Have you ever thought why it is that a dog turns around and around when he jumps up on his cumbler or starts to settle himself anywhere for a nap? Now that you are reminded you can recall that you have seen a dog do it many times, can't you? This habit is about all that is left to our tame little doggies of the days long ago, when they were a race of wild animals and lived in the woods. Their beds then were matted grass and leaves, and it was to trample enough grass and properly arrange the leaves that the dog always trod around a narrow circle before he would lie down.

While the new maid tidied the room the busy woman kept on writing.

"Do you make that all out of your own head?" asked Jane.

"Yes," said the woman dependently. "Oh, Jane, I haven't an ounce of brains."

For a moment Jane regarded her with sincere commiseration.

"Oh, well," she said presently, "don't mind what I say. I ain't very smart myself."

What We Claim for Ferrol

FERROL is an Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and if it were nothing more it would take front rank because of the quality and quantity of the oil used and the scientific method of preparation.

But FERROL has special claims which take it out of the ordinary class of Emulsion altogether. For instance:

FERROL combines Iron and Phosphorus with the oil, and no other emulsion contains these ingredients, although it is well known that they should always be administered together, as each is the complement of the other.

FERROL is so scientifically prepared that the first processes of digestion are actually performed in the process of manufacture, and the emulsion is ready for instant absorption into the blood. This is of the utmost importance to persons with delicate stomachs.

unlike other emulsions, is positively palatable, and not one in a thousand find any difficulty in taking it. FERROL contains the three essentials of life, viz: Fat, Iron, and Phosphorus—they have never been combined before.

FERROL holds the record for increasing the weight. FERROL has received more endorsements from medical men than any other preparation on the market.

FERROL will cure any case of Consumption that is capable of cure. FERROL is an absolute specific for Colds, Croup, Bronchitis and all kindred troubles. FERROL is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration, Chronic Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

Finally, the formula is freely published, and in taking FERROL you "Know what you take."

NO SENSE OF HUMOR.

A Scientist's Criticism of a Comic Book For Children. Charles Monselet, a Frenchman of letters, published a comic "scientific dictionary" for the benefit of children, who found no little amusement in his odd accounts of things in the animal world which were perfectly familiar to them, but which were described in a rather fantastic way in M. Monselet's book.

The editor of a certain scientific journal, however, was much surprised and shocked at M. Monselet's ignorance when he took up the book, and he wrote an article about it in his paper, which ran as follows:

"A certain M. Monselet has published a dictionary for the use of children, which contains definitions showing the most extraordinary ignorance, such as the following:

"Gardine: A little fish without any head which lives in oil."

"Parrot: A bird somewhat resembling the pigeon, generally green when it is not red or yellow or blue. Cockatoos sometimes live to be a hundred years old, except when they are studied, and then there is no limit to the length of their life."

"Now, it happens that the parrot is not a pigeon at all and never has the colors that M. Monselet gives to him, and, in short, this M. Monselet knows no more of natural history than he has grains of common sense."

THE MALE OPERA HAT. Why It Rises Superior to Any Fashion. Men generally protest against the changes of style in hats, and one of the sex has written to the New York Mail this complaint:

Why attack as a "collapsible, many named pretender" the opera hat, or chapeau de claque?

I have such a hat and also a silk hat, in which respect I think I differ from most Gothamites. Whenever I have an opinion I wear the opera rather than the other. It's more convenient.

At the theater or opera you can carry it better on your between the acts moments. If there is no rack for your hat under the seat you can tuck it in your overcoat and put it on the door under you without destroying it, as you would do with a silk hat.

If you put your hat in the rack under your seat and then rise and stand close to it to permit a late comer to pass an opera hat suffers no damage. A silk hat would be either ruffled or crushed.

The opera hat looks as well at all times as the silk hat and requires much less care. Indeed, I think it looks better. The glossy surface of a stiff white shirt, is an uncomfortable survival of the time when men wore polished helmets and breastplates.

There is so much reason in the opera hat that men of discrimination will continue to wear it, the style of the moment regardless.

An inference. Father—Young Upperton is going to propose for your hand soon. Daughter—How do you know? Father—I hear he has been making inquiries as to my financial standing.

ABOUT ADVERTISING.

No better indication of the wide recognition today of the value of advertising is needed than the fact that the older established banks are making use of newspaper space for business publicity. It would appear that no business is too big or too dignified to cater for public patronage through the use of newspaper advertising, which is undoubtedly the greatest modern force for working the business lever.

The Union Bank of Halifax was one of the first to recognize the value of newspaper space in this province and through the columns of the local newspapers, in common with some of the most advanced of the newer institutions, has been emphasizing its progressive policy and practical value, and this year the older and more conservative Bank of Nova Scotia has fallen into the ranks and is thus drawing public attention to its stability and sound business policy.

It is notable too that it is the local newspaper that is becoming more and more the channel of publicity. The city dailies might be regarded as better mediums on account of their larger and more diffuse circulation, but the wise advertiser recognizes the fact that while the big daily is hastily scanned by one or two members of the family, and cast aside, it is the country weekly that is perused at leisure by the family in turn, and each and every advertisement receives its due attention.

In view of this fact it is a matter of regret that so many weeklies have little regard for the nature of the advertising admitted to their columns, revenues, only being taken into consideration. The more discriminating publishers lose hundreds of dollars yearly by rejecting advertising matter of a certain class, but they at least have the approval of their own consciences, and, we cannot doubt, also, the approval of the majority and better class of their readers.

Local Government Appointments

(Halifax Chronicle.)

Consequent upon the elevation of Attorney General Drysdale to the Supreme Court Bench, the reorganization of the Local Government was completed on Saturday when Hon. W. T. Phips, Commissioner of Works and Mines, was appointed Attorney General; Hon. Christopher P. Chisholm, M. P. P., of Antigonish, was promoted to the Works and Mines Department; and Mr. O. T. Daniels, M. P. P., of Annapolis, was appointed a member of the Executive Council and member of the Government without portfolio. The Ministers were sworn in before Lieutenant Governor Fraser on Saturday and will at once enter upon the performance of their new duties.

Mr. Daniels, the new member of the Executive, has been in the House only two sessions, but he has already taken a foremost place as a debater and as one of the most useful and public-spirited members of the Legislature. In the Committee of Law Amendments and other important Committees of the House, he has done excellent work, and in all his public service he has impressed the House and country with his good judgment and sane political wisdom. His promotion to the Government is well-deserved, as it will be popular, not merely in Western Nova Scotia, but throughout the Province.

Home Work of Women which should have The Best Material To insure Success and Profit

The woman who attempts to color any fabric or article of wearing apparel with the weak and adulterated package dyes sold by some merchants for the sake of big profits, is in the position of the portrait painter who uses common and rough brushes in applying the colors to his pictures: both meet with the same result—utter failure.

The DIAMOND DYES are used every day by wise and prudent women and girls when they desire new and fashionable shades, and a new life for the old, faded and dingy looking suit, dress, skirt, blouse, jacket, cape and shawl.

The use of any of the crude dyes for home coloring means complete ruin of good materials. Never be misled by the stories by some merchants about their weak and common dyes being as good as DIAMOND DYES. If your dealer cannot furnish you with DIAMOND DYES, send to us for them the price is ten cents each.

Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, Que., will send free to any address Booklets on Home Dyeing and Card of fifty Dyed Samples.

COFFIN WOOD MINES.

The Chinaman Dig For Wood Pined For Burial Cases.

There exists no object which the average Chinaman exhibits more regard for than the narrow box which is destined to contain all that is mortal of him. He is never happy until it is in his possession. It occupies a conspicuous position in his house, and the richer he is the more he expends on its acquisition and adornment.

The coffins most esteemed by the Celestials are manufactured from a peculiar resinous wood, possessing quite extraordinary preservative properties and found only in one small district in Yunnan, buried in the earth, no living specimens of the tree now being in existence.

The natives search for it quite as eagerly as elsewhere gold and precious stones are run after, and, indeed, the deposits, for such they are, are to all intents and purposes mines of wood.

Local legends have it that in a far distant past vast numbers of these trees existed in the dense forests with which the whole region was covered, and that as a result of some tremendous cataclysm they were uprooted and precipitated into the ravines. Whether this account is true or not, the buried trees are today a source of quite considerable wealth to the lucky person who finds them. For a coffin made of this special wood a Chinaman does not consider 200 or 300 at all too high a price to pay.

TRADES THAT CURE ILLS.

If You Want to Drive Away Disease, Turn Shepherd.

"Old workers are never laid," said a druggist. "Visit our old regions or those of Russia. Examine the workmen's hats. It is soft and thick and glossy, for petroleum cures incipient baldness, and if your hair is thinning rub some in. Never mind the smell. It will do you good."

"Shepherds enjoy remarkable health. The odd odor of a sheep seems to drive away disease. Sheep are especially good for whooping cough. In the sheep country when a child takes the whooping cough it is the custom for the mother to put it to play among the sheep, and the next day it is well."

"The men and women who work among lavender, gathering it or distilling it, never have neuritis or nervous headache. Lavender, moreover, is as good as a sea voyage for giving tone to the system. Run down persons often work for nothing in lavender plants in order to build themselves up."

"Salt miners can wear summer clothes in blizzard weather without fear of catching cold, for colds are unknown among salt workers. Breweries and tanneries and printing ink factories bar out consumption. Turpentine works and ropewalks bar out rheumatism. Copper mines bar out ty-

KENNETH J. DUNSTAN.

Toronto Manager of the Bell Telephone Company in Public Eye.

Kenneth J. Dunstan, the Toronto manager of the Bell Telephone Co., is a man of rather kindly demeanour, with eyes which smile quietly and persistently. Persistence, in fact, is his outstanding characteristic. Ever to the chance acquaintance, who will find him more than polite, the determined few hints that there is resolution behind the smile. His is the face of one set to despise the bludgeon as uncount and the stiletto as patently unadvised to gain his end in an effective though unassuming way. One fancies that if the smile faded it might leave a countenance of almost grim tenacity, writes one who knows him well in The Toronto Star. To men who seek the overthrow of corporations, he appeals chiefly as an opponent still frank. Still open-minded, and still honorable. He is looked upon, indeed, as one of the ablest of those who might be termed "corporation men." He is impatient with municipal ownership; dubs it the outward swing of the pendulum; prophesies that things will swing back again to a happy mean. "Thus it is through the years," he says, "the pendulum swings now in this way, now in that. When the limit is reached in one direction, it halts, swings then in the opposite direction. When people find the faults of over-municipalization, they will be more open to conviction that municipal ownership is something with bounds, whereas it is well to draw the line."

Though shrewd enough to be Scotch, the manager of English parentage. He was born in Hamilton, Ontario, and used to experiment with the phone when the instrument was in its infancy. He has studied telephones ever since telephones were an electrician, and is a past-president of the Electrical Association. About eighteen years ago he came to Toronto, and has resided here since that time. He has made many friends, socially as well as in a business way; was formerly a member of the Canadian Club Executive, and is a past-president of Ionia Lodge, A.F. and A.M., G.E.O.

Feeling Overworked.

It was doubtless Mr. Howe's "sympathetic nature" to which she constantly referred, that made her carry so many burdens which did not belong to her. Her sufferings were many, but the statements of them often roused her family to mirth.

"How's your head this morning, my dear?" inquired Mr. Howe one morning in a properly solicitous tone. "It's no better," came in a hollow voice from behind the "tapet."

"It won't be any better while I can't get Cousin John's lungs and Mary's china and mother's eyes and Harriet's wisdom teeth out of it for one minute."

A Hardship.

Favored Walter—"I'm goin' to leave here when my week is up. Regular Gooat—Ehl! You get good pay, don't you?" "Yes, 'bout the same's everywhere." "And tips besides?" "A good many." "Then what's the matter?" "They don't allow no time for goin' out to meals. I have to eat here."—London Mail.

A PERFECT CAT.

Mrs. W. C. Bell, Secretary of Royal Canadian Cat Club, Gives Rules.

A cat to be of proper proportions should have small ears, rounded at the tips, carried somewhat forward, and not wide open at the base. It is a mark of beauty in the cat to have the ears well apart, writes Mrs. W. C. Bell, secretary of the Royal Canadian Cat Club, giving an appearance of greater width to the head. The eyes should be round, large and full and set straight in the head, not slanting like that of a Chinese. It should have a broad skull, and the face and nose should be short. The neck is also short and the chest full and broad. A cobby body, low on the legs and large broad paws, but not stumpy feet is the correct shape. The tail should be short rather than long.

It is supposed to be a sign of strength if a cat's whiskers attain great length. The short haired or common cat should have short, close fur, not woolly. A white cat must have orange or blue eyes, preferably the latter. I have seen a few specimens with odd eyes.

A black cat should be a pure rich black without a trace of white and have orange eyes. The perfect tortoiseshell and white should be white patched with yellow, orange and black in a mottled pattern. The eyes must be orange. Brown tabby must be a golden brown with rich black stripes or bars. No white and the eyes orange or green.

Then there is the any other color variety, in which are classed the broken orange and white, or a cat with several colors. A tortoiseshell male is a decided rarity.

Many years ago at the Crystal Palace Cat Show one was exhibited and the cage was literally smothered with prize cards. The owner had been given a shilling by a London cook to take the "troublesome" beast away.

A smoke cat is not common by any means. It is a shaded cat without markings, the fur being a pure white underneath and gradually assuming almost a black tone on the outer coat.

The figure and number nine seems to be an important one in connection with cats, as there is a superstition that they have nine lives because of their extraordinary powers of endurance. The expostulating tabby in Gray's Fables says to the old bedlamite:

"'Tis infamy to serve a bag, Cats are thought limps, her broom a because, 'tis said, your cats have nine."

The instinct of maternity is perhaps more largely developed in the cat than in any other animal. No creature shows such anxiety for the safety and welfare of her offspring as she does, and often her natural timidity will give place to bold and fearless courage when her little ones have been in any danger or difficulty.

The human race may be divided into people who love cats and those that hate them. Fortunate for poor pussy the latter are very few in number. The cat is a member of the feline family and more particular about her appearance than any other animal. This is a quotation from a schoolboy's essay and speaks for itself:

Luncheon for Eleven Cents.

A dainty and well-appointed practice luncheon was served recently at the Technical School, to seven guests, at the enormous cost of 75 cents, for the whole meal, which as may be seen averages a little less than 11 cents a head. By "practice" luncheon is meant a luncheon served by one of the students taking the Domestic Science course at the school, who demonstrates in this practical way what she has been learning. The hostess, this time a very young girl in the High school year, prepared the menu, buys the supplies, and with the assistance of two fellow students as cook and waitress, cooks and serves the meal. As the luncheon was an achievement in good cooking, and economical buying combined, The Toronto Star asked permission to publish the menu with a few general pointers as to the making of the dishes.

Tomato soup, with croutons. Fried haddock, stuffed baked potatoes. Salad of celery, cabbage, and walnuts, baking powder biscuit.

Moulded rice. Coffee.

The soup was cream of tomato soup, made with milk, the thickened milk and strained heated tomatoes being mixed at the last moment. The haddock was cut in cross sections, dipped in bread crumbs, then in egg, then in bread crumbs again, and dropped into deep boiling fat. The stuffed potatoes were baked first, the contents scooped out, and thoroughly mashed with milk, butter and seasoning, replaced in the skins, and heated again.

The salad was of equal parts of celery and cabbage, shaved firm, mixed with chopped walnuts, and served with boiled mayonnaise dressing on small cabbage leaves.

The rice was cooked with shavings of lemon rind, then molded with gelatine, and whipped cream.

Grain As Foodstuff.

To most people of the present time, says Dr. A. E. Gibson in the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette, the necessity of bread consumption for the maintenance of bodily existence stands as a central, unquestionable fact. That such a high regard for grain as foodstuff, however, is overdrawn is evident from the circumstance that entire races of men have been and are yet found to sustain a magnificent physical health and strength on a diet wholly exempt from bread.

TALK WITH A PIONEER FRUIT GROWER.

Following is a portion of the article on Nova Scotia Fruit Growing, quoted from The New England Homestead, which was omitted from last week's issue.

TALKS WITH A PIONEER GROWER.

Recently an editorial representative of this journal traversed the chief producing sections of Nova Scotia and interviewed several growers and exporters. Among the pleasurable experiences of the journey was a visit to the handsome orchard of J. W. Bigelow on the outskirts of Wolfville. Mr. Bigelow was for twelve years president of the Nova Scotia fruit growers' association and is still affiliated with that organization in a responsible position. Although above three score and ten, he is vigorous and takes more pride in keeping up his orchard than many a good housekeeper does in maintaining her home. Mr. Bigelow's orchard consists of twenty acres of matured trees and fifty acres of young trees. The owner is a firm believer in giving his orchard the utmost attention and fertilizes heavily with potash, bone meal and nitrate of soda. It is estimated that Nova Scotia apple growers pay out nearly two hundred thousand dollars a year for fertilizers.

"I spend one thousand dollars per annum fertilizing my fifty acre apple orchard," said Mr. Bigelow. "To this I attribute the growth and full bearing of trees. Several varieties of apples are staples here, although Ribston Pippin and Blenheim seem the most popular with London buyers and generally sell well there. The former grows to perfection in this section. While Blenheim is a splendid apple it is comparatively short lived. I have frequently beaten all competitors in western Canada and the states on King, Gravenstein and Ribston, although I have lost on Baldwin.

WHEN VARIETIES RIPEN.

"Our Gravensteins ripen and are picked from September 20 to October 20. Following these come Ribston and King, which run from October 10 to November 10. Ten days or so later Baldwins and Russets are ready and these are picked until cold weather stops operations. We usually have no trouble getting pickers during the fall season. A good man will average fifteen to twenty barrels a day and receive five to ten cents per barrel. Packing is done by experts at a cost of five to ten cents.

"Our apples are largely bunched and delivered f. o. b. A few, however, are taken by the orchard. Many leading growers in the section export on their own hook through London local agents and sometimes do better than by selling to buyers at home. The total cost of exporting apples, including Insurance, commis-

SATISFACTORY TEST FOR SETTING HENS.

For setting hens I prefer a grocery box, open side away from light, and a three inch strip of wood nailed to bottom of opening to keep in nest material. I use orange boxes, quite often, two nests to a box. These nests are cheap and can be replaced easily to keep down the cost.

The most satisfactory nest for setting hens is a box 10 x 16 x 16, one side partly open for old birds to go out and in, soft material to make the nest set this box in building and you will have good place for setting hens for cold, changeable and warm weather. At least this plan would give satisfaction to use.—M. Dommer, Wainje County, Ia.

The nests for setting hens that has given me the best satisfaction is very simple and easily made and gives perfect satisfaction in all kinds of weather. Use a box about fifteen inches square and about twelve inches deep. Fill about half full of fresh dirt making it the shape of a nest, let your hen warm up the nest and then she is ready for the eggs. I have never failed to get a chick for every fertile egg since using this box nest. Fresh dirt being a good disinfectant, the hen is not bothered with lice and thus she is allowed a good chance to attend to business.—A. L. Swearingen, Wood County, W. Va.

A setting hen's nest should be large, but not too deeply curved with straw in dry, hot weather. A sod the size of the nest should be in the bottom with straw over it. The hen should be dusted with insect powder twelve and eighteen days.—W. H. Ettele, Dauphin County, Pa.

SOME ORCHARD ENEMIES.

"Each succeeding season sees great care given orchards here in Nova Scotia. Visitors visiting this section will find in the Cornwallis and Gasperaux valleys some of the best kept orchards in the world. Fortunately we are better off than most sections of the United States in that we are not bothered with San Jose scale. However, our fruit has its own peculiar enemies, chief among which are the canker worm and caterpillars. We also have a pest called codling moth. These insect pests necessitate great vigilance on the part of orchardists who desire to keep their trees in the best of condition.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

"Keep to the right" is the law of the roads, which when obeyed, saves one a lot of trouble. Society is a public highway on a grand scale—a great turbid stream of hurrying, jostling, wrestling crowd of badly assorted humanity is ever thronging. Here is life in all its phases—childhood with its golden hair and wondering eyes, youth with its wide-eyed, thoughtful outlook; manhood with its firm step and earnest purpose; old age with its bowed form and whitened locks here too, are thickly strewn the wrecks of life—misguided child hood, headstrong and wayward erring youth, rioting in frivolity and dissipation, and sewing the seeds of physical decay and moral death; vicious manhood, treading the downward road; and decrepit old age, sinister and senile, with its painful memories and sore, with its painful memories and sore, with its painful memories and sore.

LOWER GRANVILLE.

The sad announcement was made on Sunday morning that Alfred Winchester, Esq., one of our oldest and most highly respected neighbors, had just passed away. For several years he had been a sufferer from heart trouble and during the past winter had kept about the house. A few days ago he had an acute attack of his old trouble and continued to sink until the end came. Mr. Winchester was a man of a kindly, genial nature, very obliging, and possessed remarkable conversational powers that always made him an agreeable companion. For many years he was a coroner of this county and filled the position with satisfaction to all. Besides Mrs. Stanley Farnsworth, with whom he resided, he leaves two more daughters in the States and also a son residing in Lynn, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

DO NOT CROWD THE SEASON.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you soon find where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is much more danger. Cough Remedy, however, and you will be none the wiser. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you will cure and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was cured. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

DEEP BROOK.

Mrs. Augustus Purdy will spend the Easter holidays with friends in St. John. A big dance is planned for Easter Monday at Mr. W. E. Vroom's, and George Dittmar, Sr., who has been very ill for the past five weeks with heart trouble, is slightly on the mend, being able to be around the house a little. Mrs. Moses, of Yarmouth, has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. C. V. Henshaw. Captain J. D. Spurr and C. V. Henshaw are each getting ready to build a new barn. A. Carty is getting out a vessel load of soft wood, and Augustus Purdy a small cargo of hard wood. Clements West Division, No. 349, is now in a very flourishing condition. A few public entertainments, which were advertised by the members for last Wednesday, the 20th., was postponed on account of the storm till Tuesday evening, the 26th. Dr. D. W. Byers, of Annapolis Royal, was here last Friday and organized a branch of the "People's Game and Fish Protective Association." Although a very short notice was given, quite a number were present and a branch was organized with eight charter members. This society started

Warner. Mrs. B. FitzRandolph has returned from a two week's visit at Margaretville. Mrs. H. H. Whitman went to Yarmouth on Saturday last for a few weeks. Sewing circle meets at Mrs. Morgan's tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon. S. B. Hall has purchased the coach stallion, "Fanfare," recently owned by Charles DeWitt, Bridgetown. Large quantities of milk are being received at our creamery three days each week. The high price paid for milk, ninety cents per one hundred pounds, has caused our farmers to wake up to the fact that there is money to be made with cows. John Leck, of St. John, is in town this week, the guest of Mrs. W. E. Palfrey. Miss Perdette Foster is visiting friends at Kingston. Some of our young people were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Schaffer, on Monday evening. As it has been some time since our town has had a celebration, would it not be a good plan to celebrate the 24th of May or July 1st? In the past we have led other towns in the programme of a day's pleasure and we should be able to do so again. The whole roof of one of R. E. Felt's barns was blown off in the gale of last week. Other damages of a minor sort are reported.

CAUSE OF STOMACH TROUBLES.

When a man has trouble with his stomach you may know that he is eating more than he should or of some article of food or drink not suited to his age or occupation, or that his bowels are habitually constipated. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to regulate the bowels and improve the digestion and see if the trouble does not disappear. Ask for a few samples. Sold by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES COLDS, ETC.

For Coughs and Colds There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and hard colds on the chest. Ask your doctor about it. "I have had pneumonia three times, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has brought me safely through each time. I have just recovered from my last attack. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy I ever used."—E. V. Hilditch, Norwich, N. H.
