The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exempiaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier piat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'iliustration, soit par le second piat, seion le cas. Tous les autres exempiaires originaux sont filmes en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'iliustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, saion le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc.. peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. WORKING MEN! Regular Price, $6 35 and $5.00

Prices Wm. Street, MERCHANT TAILARS

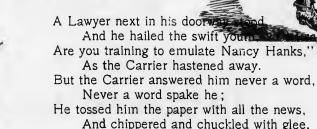

It was New Year's Day, and, away away,
On his gladsome rounds sped he;
He hurried along with whistle and song,
For he was a Carrier free,

"Whither away, O, Carrier gay,
Oh! whither away so tast?"
Asked a Maiden sweet, of the youth so fleet.
As he sped like a meteor past.
But the Carrier answered her never a word,
Never a word spake he,
He gave her the paper with all the news

And winked prodigiously.

"Why will he not tell? asked the Maiden fair,
'Tis a weird dark mystery;
But I'll go and read of the weddings and balls,
And no thought of the boy with his whoops and his

Shall come in my dreams to me."

I'd like to have him on the witness-stand,"
Said this sinister man of guile;
Then he turned to the colum of law reports,
And looked up the docket and cases in court,
And smiled a peculiar smile.

A fine Old Lady the Carrier saw,
She was kindly and sweet to see.
"You'd better come in and warm yourself,
My poor little lad," said she.
But the taciturn Carrier said not a word,
Never a word spake he;
e her the paper with all the news
hastily turned to flee.

"I'm sorry the Carrier wouldn't come in.
He'll surely catch cold." she said,
"But I'll read of the funerals first, and then
I'll find him out and I'll ask him again;
Perhaps he wont be afraid."

A Merchant stood waiting before his front door For the Carrier blithesome and free;

"Oh! where have you been so long, my lad, And where do you go?" said he.

But the Carrier answered him never a word, Never a word spake he;

But flung him the paper with all the new And scampered immediately.

"That youth sticks closely to biz 1 know.
That's a style 1 like," said he;
But 1 must read up the market reports
And the foreign news for our Winter Port,
That my paper brings to me.

The Parson grave, in slippers and gown,
Came out in the frosty air,
And "whither away with your bundle big,
O, Carrier free from care?"
But the Carrier answered him never a word,
Never a word spake he;
He shied him the paper with all the news,
And skipped immediately.

"I ought to know," said the Parson good
"It's my duty to know," said he,
But I'll read the news of the devil's deeds,
And of foreign missions e'er I speed
On the track of the Carrier free.

The Carrier met a Workingman bold;
"Ho! ho! my brave lad," cried he;
"I want the news of the latest strikes
Against grinding monopoly."
But the Carrier answered him never a word,
Never a word spake he;

He gave him the paper with all the news And hurried away in glee.

"That boy works hard," said the workman bold,
That's a lad l should know," said he;
But l'll read of the toiling and turbulent world,
Of labor in vain against tyranny hurled,
And of grinding monopoly."

The Maiden fair has read the news Of weddings and balls and routs;

The Lawyer keen knows all that's told Of criminals, courts and suits;

The Old Lady kind, with motherly face, Has sorrowed with those in grief;

And the Merchant is posted on market reports
Of gunnybags, sugar and beef;

The Spinster pores over the gossippy news Of elopements and breaches of trust,

While the honest Mechanic earnestly reads
Of monopoly hard and unjust.

The Parson has found the devil's track
And striven with faith and prayer

To remedy evils that grieve him sore And fill his good heart with care.

But the happy lad, his day's work done.

His mind from business free,
Laughs the roguish laugh of harmless fun

And cheerily outspake he:

O, who would not be a Carrier bold?

Tis better than riches of silver and gold
To know that for him waits every one
For news from everywhere under the sun.

That his coming is greeted by Young Maids fair And Old Maids prim with frosty hair, By Merchants important and Lawyers bright, By the Workman toiling from morn till night.

The Parson good and Grandmother kind, You may search the world over and never find

A happier life than mine.

For everyone wants me, high and low,

And they chip in the HALVES and QUARTERS you know,

When New Years come and Old Years go,

And such favors I never decline.
