ISLAND IS IN DANGER
QUICK WORK NECESSARY

Board of Control Will Meet This Morning to Try and Arrange for Protection.

The board of control will hold a special meeting this morning to consider taking steps to protect the island
shores from the inroads of the waves.
The situation, so one controller declares, is about as bad as it could be,
and unless speedy measures are adopted great damage to property will result.
At a meeting of island residents,
held at the R.C.Y.C. rooms last evening, it was decided to have a committee wait on the board of control to-day. Property to the value of $300, 000 was represented, and it was stated that a million dollars in property was threatened, that the lake level was practically even with the island, and that unless some action was done a repetition of the storms of the past week would probably drive a channel thru from lake to bay, thus threatening the harbor.
Among those present at the meeting were: James Robertson, L. Cosgrave, A. L. Massey, Chas. Reid, A. L. East-
mure, A. L. Malone, John Muldrew, Mrs. Dyas, W. B. Evans, Elliot W.
Langley, Dr. W. R. Patton, G. R.
Copping, Secretary Porter and Percy Robertson. Mr. Massey presided.
The discussion made it plain that the new cribwork opposite 1100-avenue was almost all wrecked. The piles had been left to rot, and the onslaught of the waves.
The island was formed originally by sand driven from Scarborough, and the pier
of the eastern gap prevented the drifting to continue to replace the sand
being washed away.
As Done Elsewhere.
Methods adopted in England were suggested, whereby, in addition to a seawall, strong groynes of timber or concrete were driven out a considerable distance at convenient distances, creating pockets, into which the shingle might be driven or withdrawn by the sea without damage to the shore. It was thus possible for the people there to enjoy all the pleasures of the beach
without the walks or shrubbery being exposed to the waves.
Reference was made to a contract
let by the Dominion Government three years ago for the breakwater by cost $50,000, of which nothing had since been heard. What is wanted is a slopping concrete breakwater, with groynes
at intervals into the lake, to assist in forming new beach.

CONDITIONS ON GOVERNMENT
ACCEPTS

Will Not Take Special
Salary for Investigating Department
of Marine and Fisheries.

OTTAWA, April 3.—(Special.)—R. L.
Borden precipitated a discussion this afternoon on the appointment of a new commission to continue the probe into the marine department. He advanced three main arguments, namely:
That the civic service commission
should be asked to continue its work.
That the scope of the new commission should not be restricted to the charges specified in the order-in-council against the marine department.
That the government must accept the doctrine of ministerial responsibility individually and collectively for the delinquencies of its officials.
The prime minister, in reply, met these contentions thus: The civic service commission considers it had exhausted its powers when it made its report, and has not come back for attention to go on; and that, while admitting the principle of ministerial responsibility, such responsibility ended
when the conditions complained of were remedied.
Also, the first minister indicated
the conditions upon which Justice
Cassels will accept the commission.
Judge Cassels, it seems, will accept no remuneration beyond his salary as judge, and he insists that a temporary commissioner must be appointed while he is away on other duties.
Justice Cassels' Letter.
On orders of the day being called,
R. L. Borden asked the prime minister
if he had had any opportunity of reading the letter of Justice Cassels.
The prime minister replied that he had received a letter declaring in substance that he would only assume the duties for which he was appointed on two conditions:
First, that there should be no extra remuneration, and that the work should not be considered as a special assignment. Sir Wilfrid would bring the correspondence down on Monday.
Then Mr. Borden moved an adjournment to discuss the matter of ministerial public import. He complained first of the delay in laying the printed report of the civic service commission before the house, since the document
could not possibly be half as voluminous as Hansard, which was delivered to members of the house.
It had been assumed by gentlemen
opposite that the report of the commission concerned only one of the departments. He declared that it concerned the whole of the government.
That was an axiom so plain that it was surprising that it had escaped the notice of the government.
Todd laid down the principle that the political head of the department was responsible for every official act of the department, and that he should not permit the members of the board to any employee, except for personal conduct.
This was a matter that concerned,
not only the political head of the department, but the government as a whole. Indeed the theory of responsibility, he declared, was that the members of any responsible body should be held to honor the responsibility that he had undertaken. He declared that he would not permit the members of the board to be held responsible for the actions of the minister, while the minister was not held responsible for the actions of the board.
Under these authorities it was absolutely unquestioned that abuses disclosed by the report should be made
by men who had just reported, not
only the parliament or minister in charge,
but the government as a whole, and
that the government should be held responsible for the actions of the board.
So far as the appointment of Justice Cassels was concerned, Mr.
Borden would say that if the government had to go outside the gentlemen who had already made the investigation
there was not one but would conclude that the government had made a wise selection. Admitting that, what was the reason that the government should go beyond the gentlemen appointed by themselves to appoint another gentleman?
Reading the order-in-council, Mr.
Borden would leave it to the judgment of anyone if that part of the report included therein would not logically lead to the conclusion that some further inquiry should be made by men who had just reported. They had spent six or seven months in making the investigation, declaring that certain abuses had been committed, without mentioning any names. What was the reason for passing over these gentlemen? If a further inquiry should be made, why should they not be consulted?
Mr. Borden further asked why the limits of the investigation should be restricted to so very narrow a compound.
In this matter they were taking the same course minister moved for an enquiry as to whether the capacity of the Arctic was sufficient to enable a wargo to be placed on board.
Mr. Borden said he moved an amendment.

How a Small Committee
Can Treat a Big City

Toronto is Still Denied the Right to Control Direction of Street Railway
Extensions—Hon. S. H. Blake Derides Agreement
Which He Constructed.

"It is hereby declared that,
notwithstanding any judicial decision to the contrary, the meaning and intention of the act of the legislature passed in the 56th year of the reign of her late Majesty Queen Victoria, and chapter 99, and the agreement thereby validated, is that the railway tracks or lines of the street railway, as extended or laid upon any street of the City of Toronto without the consent of the city council of the City of Toronto, or of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board."
This is the modification accorded to the city by the private bills committee of the result of the privy council's decision giving the Street Railway Company complete control of the city streets.
The bill wished to go back to the status quo ante as the agreement was understood when signed in 1882. At that time the control of the streets
was in the hands of the city council,
and it was the duty of the city council
to separate the minister from his colleagues who were unconstitutional,
while John Morley enunciated the doctrine of collective responsibility.
Under these authorities it was absolutely unquestioned that abuses dis-
closed by the report should be made
by men who had just reported, not
only the parliament or minister in charge,
but the government as a whole, and
that the government should be held

GENSURE HOSPITAL
FOR A DELAY IN ACCIDENT CASE

Coroner's Jury Told That Car Victim Was Unattended for Forty-Five Minutes.

The jury empaneled by Coroner Cotton
last night to enquire into the death of James Semple, a carpenter in the employ of the Toronto Railway Company, who fell or jumped from a moving car near the corner of Jones-avenue and Queen-street, returned the following verdict after an hour's deliberation:
"We find that deceased, James Semple,
came to his death at Toronto General Hospital on March 2, 1908, from injuries received by jumping off a street car while it was in motion.
"We, the jury, would like to call the attention of the hospital authorities to the length of time allowed before the patient was attended to by the hospital doctor, or those who have been in charge.
"The accident happened on Saturday, March 7, between 8.30 and 9 o'clock in the evening. Motorman Perkins was driving the car, which was in charge of Conductor Walter Purse. A stop had been made at or between Brooklin and Caroline-avenues, and Semple had intended to get off at Caroline. He did not notice
the stop, and he called to the conductor
just past when he got up and pulled the bell to stop the car. He then jumped from the front door and got outside on the steps, but whether he lost his balance or jumped off will never be known.
"The motorman remembered the man going out on the steps, but owing to the fact that he was an amateur of the game, he thought nothing of the fact that he had got off before the car came to a full stop. He called to the conductor to enquire if he had fallen, and that worthy was told that the man was all right, so the car went on.
"JAC. ROGERS (58) secured a rig and took the injured man to Dr. East, who dressed the wounds and ordered the man removed to the General Hospital, where, according to the constable's evidence, the man lay on the ambulance stretchers for fully three-quarters of an hour before he was put to bed and his injuries attended to.
The man lingered till Monday last, when he died.
The post-mortem statement was read by Dr. Silverthorne, who ascribed death to be due, not to the fracture of his skull caused by the fall, but to the fact that in the fall the man's spinal column had been injured to such an extent as to induce paralysis.
Dr. Cotton censured the hospital authorities for leaving the man so long without receiving proper attention, and also for holding the ambulance when it might have been in need in other parts of the city. Dr. Mackay, who attended the injured man, was taken in the ambulance there was not a vacant bed in the whole hospital on that night.

W. J. Gage's Inducement Toward Wychwood Annexation.

It is intimated in real estate circles that W. J. Gage has offered, or intends offering, to the city a six-acre block of beautifully wooded land situated on the brow of the hill known as Wychwood Park, as a gift for park purposes, providing the city decides
this year to annex the Wychwood
district.
The site is on the left of Bathurststreet, just north of the present city
line and directly opposite Hillcrest Sanitarium. It adjoins the property recently acquired by the Wychwood corporation which is being built up on unique lines as an exclusive residential community.
SENT BACK TO SENATE.
Ottawa, Brockville and St. Lawrence
Railway Bill.
OTTAWA, April 3.—(Special.)—The bill of the Ottawa, Brockville and St.
Lawrence Railway Co., which was amended by the senate by striking out the clause preventing the railway selling electric power without the consent of the municipalities, was again before the house to-night.
Mr. Graham said the clause stricken out projected the municipalities, and he moved a resolution expressing the disagreement of the commons. The bill, therefore, will go back to the senate.
Mr. Henderson remarked that the same clause was in the Hamilton railway bill. Possibly the senate had two policies.

General Manager Tells
Why Lord Rothschild
Retired from the Grand Trunk Pacific Board.

MONTREAL, April 3.—(Special.)—
The manager of the Grand Trunk returned to-day from England.
Mr. Hays was asked if there was any special significance in the resignation of Lord Charles Rothschild from the directorate of the Grand Trunk Pacific.
"None at all," he replied. "He resigned three months ago.
His uncle, Leopold Rothschild,
died last July, and his nephew, Lord Charles, was the only one left of the original firm. His resignation from the G. T. P. directorate was simply that he might devote his attention to the work that fell on him owing to his uncle's death. His place on the G.T.P. directorate was taken by Mr. Glynn of Glynn, Mills & Co., the banking firm."
"This is rather interesting, because it was that firm who were the first backers of the Grand Trunk. It was they who brought out the Grand Trunk prospects."
Mr. Hays was asked as to the recent issue of G.T.P. bonds to the extent of ten millions, being reminded that according to cable reports, that issue
fell rather flat.
He replied that it was a mistake to think that the issue was a failure in any way. "We don't issue the bonds ourselves," he added. "We sell them at a certain price, and the banker, or whoever buys them, brings them out and makes what he can on them.
"It makes no difference to us how he sells them, because we have already been paid the money on them. But, as a matter of fact, I may tell you that on the day these bonds were issued twelve millions of other bonds were issued. Yet by the second or third day all the G.T.P. issues had been grabbed up."
"Then you have all the money you want now to carry on the G. T. P.
project."
"Yes, we are in good shape. We have all the money we want for two years,
so that you see the prospect is all that we could wish."

ALIVE DAY AFTER STATE
SAYS SHE WAS KILLED

Remarkable Defence of Bowin, the Woodville, Ont., Boy on Trial
for His Life.

DETROIT, Mich., April 3.—(Special.)
—Mrs. Cornelia Welch was alive on Saturday, Jan. 4, the day after Percy Bowin confessed to having murdered
her.
That is Bowin's defence to the charge of murder upon which he is now being tried. In support of the theory, four witnesses swore positively
this afternoon that they saw Mrs.
Welch on Saturday, when, according to the theory of the prosecution, she was dead at that time.
Martin V. Brown, who conducts an engraving and stationery establishment at 92 East Congress-street, two doors from Mrs. Welch's place, declared unequivocally that he saw Mrs.
Welch walking past shortly after 11
o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, Jan. 4. His wife and daughter, Mattie, also testified that they saw Mrs.
Welch in the afternoon of that day.
John L. Elliott, driver of a beer waggon, said that he talked to Mrs. Welch at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, fifteen hours after Percy Bowin confessed to having killed her. His daughter, Mattie, said that between 1 and 2 o'clock
of the same afternoon she saw Mrs.
Welch walk past going east with her
two dogs following her.
ORDERED TO GIVE IT UP.
Formula for Making Diamonds in London Bank.
LONDON, April 3.—The magistrate
of the Bow-street police court to-day issued an order to the bank in this city which holds the envelope alleged to contain James Lennox's formula for the manufacture of diamonds, to surrender this document to the French authorities demanding it.
Lennox is under arrest in Paris charged with obtaining money under false pretences from Sir Julius Charles Wermer of the De Beers Mining Co.
The original demand for the envelope in question was made March 23, since which time the Bow-street magistrate has consulted with the home office and as a result issued the order to-day.
Counsel for the bank brusquely declined to obey the order. The magistrate admitted that he had not the power to compel obedience, but he intimated that the matter would be taken before a higher authority.

A Colored Comic Section For the Children

The Sunday World of this week will add another popular feature to the many already contained in its columns, viz.: that of a colored comic section.

The fine half-tone illustrated section has a seasonable series of views on the front page, depicting various scenes representative of spring.

Natives of Wales in Canada will be interested in the many fine views from that picturesque country. Portraits of people famous in various walks of life, including one of the Princess Viroqua, one of the foremost women of the Indian race in Canada and a sister of the late Dr. Oronhyatekha.

The Sunday World has resumed the publication of the feature entitled "Prospective Builder," which illustrates and describes the cost, etc., of various styles of houses.

The sermon by the Rev. Byron H. Stauffer of Bond-street Congregational Church on a non-controversial theme, will be read by everyone of a pious turn of mind, as well as the various articles on the Sunday page.

The editorial columns deal with current events and happenings. There is an article illustrating the various failures of many of our university men, entitled "The Tragedy of Education," which should be read by every man who is fitting his son for a university course.

There are many other special features, which, together with the fact that The Sunday World is an up-to-date newspaper, will make it almost a necessity in every home.

It is for sale by newsboys, newsdealers and on all railway trains.

BAD WEATHER PURSUES TORONTO AT NORFOLK

The Toronto seem to run into bad weather and worse grounds with a vengeance. However, they surely have more luck when the baseball championship season begins, and that's what all the fans will want in guessing for the World's season tickets. Look for the conditions in the Sunday World.

A rumor was going the rounds in baseball circles last night that the ladies would be politely requested to remove their Merry Widow bonnets at Hanlan's Point the coming season.

The performance of the Rev. Mr. Millman in winning five of the six bouts in the fencing championship constitutes a record heretofore. Still his team lost the championship by one point. Mr. Millman fences to-night in the singles.

Every bluster like yesterday's puts the training possibilities at Woodbine back so much. With the O.C. opening just seven weeks away, the trainers heretofore are getting a little anxious.

With the expectation of racing in New York State comes the natural rumor of a string of race tracks along the southern Canadian boundary.

The Duke of Portland's great St. Simon indeed. Tho he was bought for $200, he never was beaten. St. Simon was a brown horse, foaled in 1881. He was by Galopin out of St. Angelo by King Tom.

Goldie's good work and Longboat's inability to negotiate the corners of the dirt track were the chief features of that night's R.C.B.C. meet. Goldie brought a wonderful walker, as his new record shows. Skeene was no match for him. The Indian's stride was too long for the indoor track.

The indoor athletic meet of the Royal Canadian Bicycle Club, held last evening at the Riverdale Roller Rink, was a huge success in every respect. The rink was packed to its limit. The events, with one or two exceptions, furnished the closest of finishes. The night was noted for the defeat of the great Indian, Longboat, by Selby on a quarter of a lap, and that of Charles Skine, W.E.Y.M.C.A., in the event of 100 yards, by H. G. Goulding, Central Y.M.C.A. Mr. Goulding broke the indoor record for 100 yards, with a time of 1:10. The officials were: Referee, Wm. Stark; clerk of the course, J. B. Hargis; starter, W. E. Y. M. C. A.; timekeeper, J. B. Hargis; and judges, J. W. Curry, M. Macdonald, Controller, J. Ward; timers, S. P. Grant, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

Event 1—100 yards, novice—First heat—W. D. White, Y.M.C.A., Hamilton, made a run-away of it, winning easily, with a time of 1:10. Second heat—W. Ward, Central, & also ran: E. G. Galt, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, W.E.Y.M.C.A.; W. Ward, Central, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

Event 2—200 yards, novice—First heat—W. D. White, Y.M.C.A., Hamilton, made a run-away of it, winning easily, with a time of 2:20. Second heat—W. Ward, Central, & also ran: E. G. Galt, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, W.E.Y.M.C.A.; W. Ward, Central, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

Event 3—400 yards, novice—First heat—W. D. White, Y.M.C.A., Hamilton, made a run-away of it, winning easily, with a time of 4:40. Second heat—W. Ward, Central, & also ran: E. G. Galt, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, W.E.Y.M.C.A.; W. Ward, Central, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

Event 4—800 yards, novice—First heat—W. D. White, Y.M.C.A., Hamilton, made a run-away of it, winning easily, with a time of 9:40. Second heat—W. Ward, Central, & also ran: E. G. Galt, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, W.E.Y.M.C.A.; W. Ward, Central, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

Event 5—1600 yards, novice—First heat—W. D. White, Y.M.C.A., Hamilton, made a run-away of it, winning easily, with a time of 19:40. Second heat—W. Ward, Central, & also ran: E. G. Galt, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, W.E.Y.M.C.A.; W. Ward, Central, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

Event 6—3200 yards, novice—First heat—W. D. White, Y.M.C.A., Hamilton, made a run-away of it, winning easily, with a time of 39:40. Second heat—W. Ward, Central, & also ran: E. G. Galt, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, W.E.Y.M.C.A.; W. Ward, Central, J. M. Sammie, S. J. Jewell.

CHICAGO, April 3.—At a meeting of newspaper men yesterday Edward Selby, sporting editor of a Chicago newspaper, was chosen to act as referee of the Gotch and Hackenschmidt world's championship wrestling match to-night. After an old out under Hackenschmidt's left eye was opened and it bled profusely.

Brookville Harrier Club. BROOKVILLE, April 3.—(Special)—Long distance running promises to boom in Brookville this season. The year just past was the first for the local harrier club, which achieved several notable victories, notably the Ottawa Marathon. The sport is again being tackled with enthusiasm, and at the annual meeting of the club announcement was made that all of last season's men, with many newcomers, would start active training at once. There is strong talk of the club being represented at the Olympic trials.

St. Anne's Athletic Ass'n. Members of St. Anne's A.A. will meet for baseball and football practice at the corner of Dufferin and College to-day at 2:30.

Four Canadians Guests of British Association. LONDON, April 3.—(C.A.P. Cable).—The Canadian Travelers' Association, in connection with its annual meeting, has invited four Canadian delegates to dine at the Hotel Cecil.

St. George's Society. At a meeting of St. George's Society last night in their hall on Elm-street, one life and three arms were presented and elected. It was decided to hold the annual banquet on April 23. G. Tate Blackman church service will be held at St. James' Cathedral on April 5, when their chaplain, Rev. D. T. Owen, will preach.

DEFENDS THE TEACHERS. Inspector Hughes Has Found No Causes for Complaint. "In justice to the teachers of the public schools I request permission to state that I do not believe there is any real foundation for the statement published in the papers to-day to the effect that some of the teachers are addicted to drinking and the use of bad language. No charge has ever been made against any of our teachers that they used improper language.

At a meeting of the board of education yesterday, it was decided that any teacher who uses profane language, or fails to conduct devotional exercises at the opening of school, the proper course would be to report the matter to the management committee, so that the case might be investigated, instead of publishing a statement on the characters of all the teachers as a body."

OLYMPIC FENCING BOUTS. The Olympic fencing bouts at Central Y.M.C.A. last night, while only attracting a fair crowd, furnished sport of the highest order. Six teams were entered, no less than 64 bouts being completed, the winners score the first two points. At the completion of the bouts it was found that three teams were tied, with 17 points a piece, these being Varsity, Montreal first team and Varsity graduates. They agreed to have three men on each team battle it out for the championship. Montreal were lucky enough to draw the bye. Varsity Graduates beat Varsity 7 to 4, while in the finals Montreal won from Varsity Graduates by the one to score the first three points proved the winner.

The feature of the night was the work of Rev. R. Millman of Varsity Graduates, he winning five out of the six bouts, leaving the one to Williamson of Montreal. Millman in the last bout of the finals, scored the first three points over Brown of Montreal, who by the way was the man he beat for the championship two years ago. Millman also won from Goulding, last year's champion, in the team match.

One of the most unique contests ever arranged in bowling circles was successfully carried out last evening, when the much-heralded "brotherly love" contest was fought out alone friendly lines, Orr brothers winning.

St. Simon's Lacrosse Club held their annual meeting at Prospect Park rink on Wednesday evening and elected the following officers: Patron, J. E. Robinson; hon. president, W. A. Ackland; president, N. L. Patterson; vice-president, W. A. Irwin, Jas. Drury, J. Kirk; secretary-treasurer, R. M. Walton; business manager, Jas. Labett; manager of senior team, W. Ackland; manager of intermediate team, W. Cloakley; manager of junior team, G. Moran.

CITY AND COMPANY.

Toronto was asking nothing more than bare justice when it asked the legislature to restore the city to the position it was intended to occupy and should have occupied under its contract with the Street Railway Company.

In these circumstances the city is entitled to look to the government and the legislature for relief. The city did ask the contract to be changed—it asked it to be restored to full force and effect. What the legislature did inadvertently, the legislature has not only the right, but is bound as matter of common fairness to undo.

By agreeing to the clause leaving it to the railway board to sanction new lines the railway company practically conceded the strength of the city's case for an amendment of the act and reduced to a mere technicality the whole history of this transaction cannot but be a convincing educational force for the citizens of the city.

The Grand Easter Millinery Exposition

Every hat in the Millinery Salon Monday—and there will be many hundreds of them—will be shown for the first time. The exposition will be most important, for while its predecessors marked the period of information, examination and criticism, Monday's display ushers in what unquestionably will be an exceptional pre-Easter rush for hats.

Each hat shown bears the character of creation resulting from the study of many master models from foremost Paris designers, and while much that is quite new will be in evidence the information were better obtained by personal inspection than attempts at description here.

We anticipate that every one of the eleven days until Easter will be BUSY days. Your judgment undoubtedly is at its best in the morning—and because of afternoon crowds—our service is certainly at its best in the forenoon.

We extend you a cordial invitation to come Monday to this grand display of all the favored Millinery styles for the season.

TWO MEMBERS

will vote in this way in two separate constituencies at the same time.

It is probable that the sitting member will be nominated for the "A" constituencies in each case.

When an independent candidate is nominated he must state whether he is in the "A" or "B" constituency he intends to run.

He may in this way elect to contest a weaker opponent in "B" than the stronger one in "A."

The Liberals are rather pleased with this view of the case, as by concentrating against a weak "B" constituency they might carry a seat or two.

At the same time it will rob the official Conservative candidates of certain independent competitors of their own constituency.

It is safe to say that all calculations up to date will be upset by the new arrangement, and the voters are by no means disposed to quarrel with it.

Representation by Population. Premier Whitney, who affects superlatively language, said that to put it mildly the population of Toronto was much beyond 300,000.

The government had given the representation was therefore very great, and far and away beyond that of any other constituency in the province.

The government had given the representation was therefore very great, and far and away beyond that of any other constituency in the province.

In opening the question Mr. Whitney referred to the action of the committee. The government had no more power in the committee, he declared, than anyone else.

Those who remembered how much latitude of expression the members of the committee were allowed thought this somewhat disingenuous.

The opposition members had been asked to state whether they intended to contest the seat, but he did not mention the fact that he himself would do so.

MacKay's Amendment. Hon. Mr. MacKay thanked him for supporting so ably the amendment he (Mr. MacKay) was about to move.

HOW CAN WE COMMITTEE

Jameson and Lennox are regarded as corporation men and friends of the street railway.

On party lines therefore 12 Liberals defeated 9 Conservatives on a vote where a matter of vital concern to the city was up for settlement.

Mayor Oliver and the Liberal board of control might make a note of this.

Representing Toronto there were present Mayor Oliver, Controllers Spencer Harrison and Hocken, Corporation Counsel Fullerton, City Solicitor Chisholm, Ald. Church, Mayor Crerar and his assistants.

For the Toronto Railway Company: President Wm. Mackenzie, Manager R. J. Fleming, Hon. S. H. Blake, K.C., Wm. Laidlaw, K.C., and I. H. McArthur, K.C., appeared, and Wm. A. Moore was in attendance.

The City's Case. Mr. Fullerton presented the city's case, pointing out how the right to control the city streets by the committee under the present act was not intended that the act should over-ride the agreement, but the courts had so held, and the city now sought to have it annulled.

If the company had believed they had the rights now recognized would they have tried to get the act annulled at midnight? asked the city counsel.

"If it had not been for the decision of the privy council I would say they had not a right," observed Mr. Fullerton.

"My learned friend has asked you not to take our medicine after going to the privy council. If we had come to you the year after that act was passed, told you that it was not just, and asked you to amend it, I think there would have been no question of refusing."

Mr. Ganey declared that clauses 12 to 16 of the act were clear in giving the city control, and Mr. Fullerton agreed with him.

Mr. O'H. Upton Judge. Sam. Blake preferred the opinion of the privy council to his own or that of Mr. Fullerton, even though he was a Canadian Judge.

Hon. Mr. Foy suggested that twelve Canadian Judges agreed with Mr. Fullerton against five in England.

Mr. Blake's counsel declared that even apart from the act the agreement was interpreted by the privy council to give the company the use of all the streets.

"And I say Mr. Chairman that it would be a great wrong for this committee to set aside the judgment of the privy council, to set aside the agreement and to deprive the railway company of the powers for which they have paid so large a price," he added.

In reply to Major Craig, Mr. Mackenzie said that the company had never asked for the return of the power, and might never exercise the power gained.

Mr. Mackenzie declared that always thought he had the right, and had never abused it.

Mr. Mackenzie's Fear. "What I am afraid of is that when I go to England for money, the legislation will interfere with the province's interest." Capitalist answered Mr. Mackenzie to his own question.

The people in England, he said, were warning over these things, and the country would suffer.

Mr. Ganey was not satisfied with Mr. Fullerton's presentation of the argument, and feared the government would not declare that the privy council ruled on the act and not on the agreement.

Mr. Ganey left the committee, and the meeting was taken.

Hon. Mr. Foy, as a member of the city, and a member of the committee, made a strong argument for the city's case.

He urged the committee to amend the act to amend it for its unreasonable or unjust.

The act said cars were not to operate on Sundays, yet was amended, and they do run on Sundays.

Chief Justice Armour said the Rosedale ravine sewerage works, which were not laid out, had not to be paid for, yet it was changed so they did have to.

Mr. Fullerton did not claim the agreement should be altered, but that it should be made to operate on the city streets.

That is an argument in favor of our putting right any ambiguity in the act, said Mr. Foy. "This act can be amended so that it will give the city the streets it should have."

Worth Scrutinizing. "That is an argument in favor of our putting right any ambiguity in the act, said Mr. Foy. "This act can be amended so that it will give the city the streets it should have."

Jameson and Lennox are regarded as corporation men and friends of the street railway.

On party lines therefore 12 Liberals defeated 9 Conservatives on a vote where a matter of vital concern to the city was up for settlement.

Mayor Oliver and the Liberal board of control might make a note of this.

Representing Toronto there were present Mayor Oliver, Controllers Spencer Harrison and Hocken, Corporation Counsel Fullerton, City Solicitor Chisholm, Ald. Church, Mayor Crerar and his assistants.

For the Toronto Railway Company: President Wm. Mackenzie, Manager R. J. Fleming, Hon. S. H. Blake, K.C., Wm. Laidlaw, K.C., and I. H. McArthur, K.C., appeared, and Wm. A. Moore was in attendance.

The City's Case. Mr. Fullerton presented the city's case, pointing out how the right to control the city streets by the committee under the present act was not intended that the act should over-ride the agreement, but the courts had so held, and the city now sought to have it annulled.

If the company had believed they had the rights now recognized would they have tried to get the act annulled at midnight? asked the city counsel.

"If it had not been for the decision of the privy council I would say they had not a right," observed Mr. Fullerton.

"My learned friend has asked you not to take our medicine after going to the privy council. If we had come to you the year after that act was passed, told you that it was not just, and asked you to amend it, I think there would have been no question of refusing."

Mr. Ganey declared that clauses 12 to 16 of the act were clear in giving the city control, and Mr. Fullerton agreed with him.

Mr. O'H. Upton Judge. Sam. Blake preferred the opinion of the privy council to his own or that of Mr. Fullerton, even though he was a Canadian Judge.

Hon. Mr. Foy suggested that twelve Canadian Judges agreed with Mr. Fullerton against five in England.

Mr. Blake's counsel declared that even apart from the act the agreement was interpreted by the privy council to give the company the use of all the streets.

"And I say Mr. Chairman that it would be a great wrong for this committee to set aside the judgment of the privy council, to set aside the agreement and to deprive the railway company of the powers for which they have paid so large a price," he added.

In reply to Major Craig, Mr. Mackenzie said that the company had never asked for the return of the power, and might never exercise the power gained.

Mr. Mackenzie declared that always thought he had the right, and had never abused it.

Mr. Mackenzie's Fear. "What I am afraid of is that when I go to England for money, the legislation will interfere with the province's interest." Capitalist answered Mr. Mackenzie to his own question.

The people in England, he said, were warning over these things, and the country would suffer.

Mr. Ganey was not satisfied with Mr. Fullerton's presentation of the argument, and feared the government would not declare that the privy council ruled on the act and not on the agreement.

Mr. Ganey left the committee, and the meeting was taken.

Hon. Mr. Foy, as a member of the city, and a member of the committee, made a strong argument for the city's case.

He urged the committee to amend the act to amend it for its unreasonable or unjust.

The act said cars were not to operate on Sundays, yet was amended, and they do run on Sundays.

Chief Justice Armour said the Rosedale ravine sewerage works, which were not laid out, had not to be paid for, yet it was changed so they did have to.

Mr. Fullerton did not claim the agreement should be altered, but that it should be made to operate on the city streets.

That is an argument in favor of our putting right any ambiguity in the act, said Mr. Foy. "This act can be amended so that it will give the city the streets it should have."

Industrial Commissioner Joseph Thompson is a nephew of R. J. Fleming, but he takes violent exception to R. J.'s remarks regarding the Orange parade of last July, as delivered before the private bills committee yesterday, when he asked for control of the streets so as to avoid a repetition of last year's accidents.

Mr. Thompson, seen by The World yesterday, said: "On April 20, 1907, R. J. Fleming wrote to William Lee asking for a conference on the 12th of July parade. Mr. Lee received that letter on April 22. He spoke to me about it. I suggested that as the executive of the order met that night to decide on the route, Mr. Fleming should be invited to confer. This was done, and

LIFE OF LORD STRATHCONA.

Inspector Wetherell's Address at Parkdale Collegiate.

Having completed his annual tour of inspection of the Toronto collegiate institutes, J. E. Wetherell, provincial inspector of high schools, delivered an address yesterday afternoon to the students of Parkdale Collegiate Institute, the last of the city schools visited by him.

With an evident knowledge of student nature, Mr. Wetherell substituted for the usual homily considered suitable for such occasions a practical and refreshing sketch worth a hundred homilies. His concrete force and rich suggestiveness. His subject, "Lord Strathcona," was treated with the clearness and sympathy of one who knows both books and men. The wonderful career of Donald Smith was graphically sketched with a running commentary on the great events of Canadian history with which he was connected. The long years of tedious clerkship in the Hudson Bay Company, the work entrusted to him at the time of the Red River Rebellion, the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and finally, the equipment of the soon famous, and ever-to-be famous Strathcona Horse were dwelt upon briefly but most effectively, and the recital of the honors and titles conferred upon the great Scottish-Canadian seemed a fitting close to a recital of the story of a great life and work.

The students of the school, who listened with deep interest, can scarcely fail to lay to heart the obvious lesson of such a life, presented to them in such a manner, at once so simple and so scholarly, so unpretentious and so noble. Dr. Ogden, chairman of the board of education, was present and made a brief speech at the close of Mr. Wetherell's lecture. G. A. Smith, principal of the institute, presided.

Why Obed Smith Protested.
 LONDON, April 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The correspondence between the Church Army and Obed Smith is published, wherein the former protests against Smith refusing to pass emigrant agents to Toronto as a distributing centre for Ontario, rejecting forty-five to fifty immigrants.

Rebelling, Smith upholds his action, pointing out that there are now one hundred employment agents in Ontario for the purpose of obtaining the influx to large cities of people who claim they are going on the land.

Gilbert Parker's Advice.
 LONDON, April 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir Gilbert Parker, presiding at the British Women's Emigration Society, urged the necessity of some organization to regulate and supervise emigration. Rev. J. B. Clarke, Ontario, also spoke.

CAPTURED A WILD CAT.

Is in a Cage and Toronto People Are to See It.

ORANGEVILLE, April 3.—(Special.)—An enormous wild cat captured at Riverview, Mulmur Township, Dufferin County, this week, and was purchased by E. M. Burt of Toronto, who, it is said, will present the animal, specimen of its species to the city for the Riverdale Zoo.

The animal was caught in a trap by its claw and is in no way disgraced.

At Dundalk it was placed in a temporary cage, which was so insecure that the baggageman on the train kept a gun handy for quick use. At Orangeville it was put in a new steel cage and will be exhibited in Toronto in a few days.

More Room for Buffaloes.
 LONDON, April 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Mr. Trotter told Glasgow Trades Council there was more room in Canada for buffaloes than bricklayers. Work is available for experienced agriculturists, but artisans only swell the surplus population.

Struck by a Train.
 COBOURG, April 3.—Benjamin Emmerson of Belleville, a G.T.R. section hand, was accidentally struck here by train No. 7, and died of his injuries.

EXHIBITS FROM FAR AWAY.

The presence of exhibits from New York and other far-away places at the "salon" of its merely local quality, but it must be confessed that the "exhibitors" are in the same stage as the home exhibitors. Their points of view are identical, their mediums are the same, and it is quite evident that their ideals are as opposed to merely "selective" as advanced amateur photographers in the two countries.

If the "salon" had been an exhibition line, the public would have had an opportunity to see the entire two hundred pictures submitted and possibly have an opportunity to exhibit their own work in the same way. The club's most notable and best workers are conspicuous by their absence. They did not submit photographs at all for various reasons, two of which stand prominently, namely, the class who believe that every member of the club should have an opportunity to exhibit his best work in his own opinion, and those who feel that their best work is not of "salon" quality.

For instance, the standard set by the club's executive for the jury of selection was that the pictures to be "hung," or selected for exhibition, "must show some artistic or mechanical quality, or both." This means, if it is to be of any "salon" value at all, that the productions of the camera artists must show "selective" as opposed to merely "selective" effort. It would be hard work indeed to pick out over a dozen "creatives" in the hundreds of pictures that are submitted in an exhibition in nearly every print hung upon the walls. A few of the advanced workers have attempted, and have succeeded, in stamping their individuality upon their productions, but for the most part the photographs to be seen at No. 2 Gould-street could have been made by any of the exhibitors had the scene been present for his own.

The "pictorial" quality, however, is much to the fore, but as has been indicated, it is generally selective and not creative.

Some of the Exhibits.
 To instance only a few examples among the many, the most interesting is "A November Evening." It is full of life and feeling and is an excellent piece of work.

With the exception of "Twilight" (4), A. S. Bowers' exhibits are exceptionally excellent records of much pictorial quality.

Fred Baird's "Outward Bound" and "A Path to the House" are evidences of the great advance most workers have made during the past year, but the creation is not in the making of the negative but in the medium of expression.

"Autumn Autumn" is a print of technically uneven quality, but A. R. Blackburn has apparently a negative in which he has got a most excellent record of a mood of nature.

On the other hand (11) "The Bathers" does not appeal to me as either a "re-creation" or "recreation."

In 12, 13 and 14 Chas. G. Boggs shows a grand advance upon his exhibits of former years, and furnishes a good example of persistence well placed.

A. Boulbee's three exhibits, 15, 16 and 17, are very pleasing indeed, and his "A Fisherman" stands out as a photograph of distinct "salon" quality. The texture of the old salt's skin and the pose are especially excellent.

"Flora" (Coleman) (New York) "Spring Mist" is a very good rendering of a very commonplace scene. The same would have won for her much distinction.

New York Examples.
 Very satisfactory Frank G. Grandale's (New York) "Where the Water Ends" and "A Chestnut Tree," full of excellent artistic perception.

"Hunting Frogs" by H. J. Carter, is a promising attempt at "salon" excellence, but the scene overshadows entirely the merit of the picture. His other two exhibits are merely records open to any camerist who chanced by.

D. A. Coulson's "The Willows" is the best of the three studies, but one cannot help comparing its sad brown tone unfavorably with the luminous grey of the late President Stovel's rendering of apparently the same scene.

"Martin," a portrait study of a boy, by E. S. Dean, is of excellent quality, the last expression being so caught as to give one a glimpse beyond the mere features. It does him infinite credit.

"The N.W. Devitt," "Daisies" by A. Doerflinger (New York) and "The Bush Rangers" by A. G. Fraser are fine records of interesting subjects artistically well treated.

"Thunder Bird," a Cheyenne Indian chieftain, is a very fine portrait, showing not only fine lines and fine photographic ability, but likewise some insight into the character of the red man.

Excellent composition and fine workmanship characterize "The Brook" by Frederick Fischer (New York). It is one of the few landscapes which are a little more than a mere photograph.

George Lovell Gay's four exhibits, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26—contain two very satisfactory studies of surf, but Nos. 23 and 25 are not at all of the same quality.

M. O. Hammond's portraits are excellent attempts for a young amateur, but might I suggest that he try making his own prints from the negatives. His paper prints do not look to me to be the proper medium for their best expression.

E. Hoch's "A Mountain Stream" is a picture unpretentious at first glance but reveals much beauty on closer study.

Among the best snow-scenes I have ever had the pleasure of looking upon is J. P. Hodgins' "Snowdrifts," while his other exhibits, five in number, such as create very considerable discussion. Personally I like these misty effects, especially from the hands of so unambitious a worker, but opinions are much divided. There is no question, however, about their individuality.

"In Nature's Garden," William Holbrook has achieved what is desired by many photographers, an artistic, pictorial rendering of flowers. The workmanship is photographically excellent, and as a record of a rare avian in flowers, a "double trillium," there is nothing finer in the collection.

"In Port Tampa," by W. T. Knox (New York) is the best of his four exhibits and an exceptionally fine rendering of a very difficult piece of photographic work.

Newton MacTavish in 31 and 32, has records most artistically photographed, but 33 and 34, portrait studies by Mrs. McKeggie, are hardly up to the standard of the other exhibits.

Scenes of Country.
 Completely satisfying are W.H. Moss' three exhibits of country life near the city. His "October Landscapes" is one of the best things to be seen on the walls.

R. W. Magee makes a most excellent exhibit of three portraits, and there are some technical points which, if carried out, would improve his work very much. His results, however, are very pleasing, and must be very encouraging to the maker.

"The Lumbermen's Home," by Alfred Robinson, is one of the outstanding pictures on the walls, because of its absolute fidelity to nature. His other are hardly so successful, though they are fine photographic records.

Nos. 64, 65 and 66 are merely records more or less excellent in photographic workmanship, and I am quite sure that each of the gentlemen could make better exhibition pictures.

Edith H. Tracey (New York) has a very fine trio of pictures, each of them being worth more than a moment's study.

"Galilee," by W. V. Watson, is a fine portrait, and his "Indian Summer" is a good winter record.

The "salon" is open to the public free from 2 to 6 this afternoon and from 8 to 10 this evening, when it closes. The address is No. 2 Gould-street.

CAMERA CLUB'S SHOW
 PICTURES WORTH SEEING

And This is the Last Day—"Pathfinder" Picks Out the Good Ones.

The fifth "salon" of the Toronto Camera Club, which closes after a most successful week to-night at 10 o'clock, is really an exhibition of photographic prints in various mediums. There is little, if any, "salon" quality about it, but it is an exhibition in a photograph club and to the thirty-three exhibitors. Most of the pictures hang have good "exhibition" quality, but it is doubtful if many of them may be considered to have reached "salon" distinction.

The untitled it may be explained that a "salon," borrowed from the French, as distinguished from a photographic exhibition, consists of pictures made with a camera which have been selected from a greater number submitted. The rejected photographs are not seen by the public, but many of the exhibitors are correct their best photographs were not the ones chosen for hanging on the walls of the club. If not understood, however, that they are disgruntled and call in question the judgment of the jury of selection. They are, however, very aware of this, and have done justly with the exhibits, and not only that but they readily recognize the fitness of these "selectors" for the work assigned them.

Indeed, after a comprehensive glance over the artistic or mechanical quality, possibly in some cases the print medium of expression.

Exhibits From Far Away.
 The presence of exhibits from New York and other far-away places at the "salon" of its merely local quality, but it must be confessed that the "exhibitors" are in the same stage as the home exhibitors. Their points of view are identical, their mediums are the same, and it is quite evident that their ideals are as opposed to merely "selective" as advanced amateur photographers in the two countries.

If the "salon" had been an exhibition line, the public would have had an opportunity to see the entire two hundred pictures submitted and possibly have an opportunity to exhibit their own work in the same way. The club's most notable and best workers are conspicuous by their absence. They did not submit photographs at all for various reasons, two of which stand prominently, namely, the class who believe that every member of the club should have an opportunity to exhibit his best work in his own opinion, and those who feel that their best work is not of "salon" quality.

For instance, the standard set by the club's executive for the jury of selection was that the pictures to be "hung," or selected for exhibition, "must show some artistic or mechanical quality, or both." This means, if it is to be of any "salon" value at all, that the productions of the camera artists must show "selective" as opposed to merely "selective" effort. It would be hard work indeed to pick out over a dozen "creatives" in the hundreds of pictures that are submitted in an exhibition in nearly every print hung upon the walls. A few of the advanced workers have attempted, and have succeeded, in stamping their individuality upon their productions, but for the most part the photographs to be seen at No. 2 Gould-street could have been made by any of the exhibitors had the scene been present for his own.

The "pictorial" quality, however, is much to the fore, but as has been indicated, it is generally selective and not creative.

Some of the Exhibits.
 To instance only a few examples among the many, the most interesting is "A November Evening." It is full of life and feeling and is an excellent piece of work.

With the exception of "Twilight" (4), A. S. Bowers' exhibits are exceptionally excellent records of much pictorial quality.

Fred Baird's "Outward Bound" and "A Path to the House" are evidences of the great advance most workers have made during the past year, but the creation is not in the making of the negative but in the medium of expression.

"Autumn Autumn" is a print of technically uneven quality, but A. R. Blackburn has apparently a negative in which he has got a most excellent record of a mood of nature.

On the other hand (11) "The Bathers" does not appeal to me as either a "re-creation" or "recreation."

In 12, 13 and 14 Chas. G. Boggs shows a grand advance upon his exhibits of former years, and furnishes a good example of persistence well placed.

A. Boulbee's three exhibits, 15, 16 and 17, are very pleasing indeed, and his "A Fisherman" stands out as a photograph of distinct "salon" quality. The texture of the old salt's skin and the pose are especially excellent.

"Flora" (Coleman) (New York) "Spring Mist" is a very good rendering of a very commonplace scene. The same would have won for her much distinction.

New York Examples.
 Very satisfactory Frank G. Grandale's (New York) "Where the Water Ends" and "A Chestnut Tree," full of excellent artistic perception.

"Hunting Frogs" by H. J. Carter, is a promising attempt at "salon" excellence, but the scene overshadows entirely the merit of the picture. His other two exhibits are merely records open to any camerist who chanced by.

D. A. Coulson's "The Willows" is the best of the three studies, but one cannot help comparing its sad brown tone unfavorably with the luminous grey of the late President Stovel's rendering of apparently the same scene.

"Martin," a portrait study of a boy, by E. S. Dean, is of excellent quality, the last expression being so caught as to give one a glimpse beyond the mere features. It does him infinite credit.

"The N.W. Devitt," "Daisies" by A. Doerflinger (New York) and "The Bush Rangers" by A. G. Fraser are fine records of interesting subjects artistically well treated.

"Thunder Bird," a Cheyenne Indian chieftain, is a very fine portrait, showing not only fine lines and fine photographic ability, but likewise some insight into the character of the red man.

Excellent composition and fine workmanship characterize "The Brook" by Frederick Fischer (New York). It is one of the few landscapes which are a little more than a mere photograph.

George Lovell Gay's four exhibits, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26—contain two very satisfactory studies of surf, but Nos. 23 and 25 are not at all of the same quality.

M. O. Hammond's portraits are excellent attempts for a young amateur, but might I suggest that he try making his own prints from the negatives. His paper prints do not look to me to be the proper medium for their best expression.

E. Hoch's "A Mountain Stream" is a picture unpretentious at first glance but reveals much beauty on closer study.

Among the best snow-scenes I have ever had the pleasure of looking upon is J. P. Hodgins' "Snowdrifts," while his other exhibits, five in number, such as create very considerable discussion. Personally I like these misty effects, especially from the hands of so unambitious a worker, but opinions are much divided. There is no question, however, about their individuality.

"In Nature's Garden," William Holbrook has achieved what is desired by many photographers, an artistic, pictorial rendering of flowers. The workmanship is photographically excellent, and as a record of a rare avian in flowers, a "double trillium," there is nothing finer in the collection.

"In Port Tampa," by W. T. Knox (New York) is the best of his four exhibits and an exceptionally fine rendering of a very difficult piece of photographic work.

Newton MacTavish in 31 and 32, has records most artistically photographed, but 33 and 34, portrait studies by Mrs. McKeggie, are hardly up to the standard of the other exhibits.

Scenes of Country.
 Completely satisfying are W.H. Moss' three exhibits of country life near the city. His "October Landscapes" is one of the best things to be seen on the walls.

R. W. Magee makes a most excellent exhibit of three portraits, and there are some technical points which, if carried out, would improve his work very much. His results, however, are very pleasing, and must be very encouraging to the maker.

"The Lumbermen's Home," by Alfred Robinson, is one of the outstanding pictures on the walls, because of its absolute fidelity to nature. His other are hardly so successful, though they are fine photographic records.

Nos. 64, 65 and 66 are merely records more or less excellent in photographic workmanship, and I am quite sure that each of the gentlemen could make better exhibition pictures.

Edith H. Tracey (New York) has a very fine trio of pictures, each of them being worth more than a moment's study.

"Galilee," by W. V. Watson, is a fine portrait, and his "Indian Summer" is a good winter record.

The "salon" is open to the public free from 2 to 6 this afternoon and from 8 to 10 this evening, when it closes. The address is No. 2 Gould-street.

COBALTS ARE HAMMERED BY THE PROFESSIONALS

But the Markets Withstand the Pressure With Equanimity and Close Firm.

World Office, Friday Evening, April 3. Transactions in Silver Queen dominated the market for Cobalt securities today. There was heavy buying of this stock, both at Toronto and New York and the prices advanced from below par to 100 at the close. This company is understood to have a large amount of cash in its treasury and to have uncovered a big supply of valuable ore in recent developments. The operations in to-day's market were partly those of trading speculators who sold the stock short, but it was also stated that substantial buying was in evidence from investors who were imbued with the possibilities of this mine. Outside of this the dealing in mining shares was quite dull. Traders on the whole are taking the short side of the market on general principles, but the offerings are absorbed and it is interesting that the floating supply of stocks are not increasing. Attempts are being made every day to hammer prices by professionals, but the range of prices does not show that these attacks are successful.

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter the blood becomes impure on account of the hearty food eaten. This causes that tired, weary, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

That Tired Feeling. Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood purifier and think it an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of the year."

Uses it Every Spring. Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic, and I find the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and I use it every spring. It is excellent for the blood."

"SPRING MEDICINE"

OUTPUT FROM COBALT MEANS GOOD DIVIDENDS

Ore From the Camp is Now Being Distributed to Widely Separated Smelters.

COBALT, April 2.—(From the Man on the Spot)—Cobalt's output for 1908 means increased dividends, and, at present prices, Cobalt stocks should commend themselves to investors. By increased dividends something better than 10 or 12 per cent. is expected. The O'Brien Mine shipments of last year show a Cobalt property output of 1832.79 tons of ore, of which 1322.59 tons of ore in March, 1908. Twenty-two Cobalt mines shipped 1832.79 tons of ore in March, 1908. Twelve Cobalt mines shipped, 1027.59 tons of ore in March, 1907. The Nipissing was the heaviest shipper in March, 1907, having sent out 304.83 tons in that month. The La Rose this year sent out 360.95 tons in the month of March. Twenty-five Cobalt mines have shipped 4322.48 tons in the first quarter of 1908. Nineteen Cobalt mines shipped 2911.41 tons in the first quarter of 1907. The shipments for March, 1908, were as follows: Tons. REMARKABLE CAREER OF HENRI ROCHETTE Started Life as an Errand Boy and Ended Up as Colossal Swindler.

The London (Eng.) Morning Post just to hand, says: The royal commission on shipping...

PARIS, April 4.—Everybody here and indeed through France is talking of the "smash of Henri Rochette."

He has been called the "French Whitaker Wright," but the odds are a thousand to one that he will not follow the English promoter's example and kill himself, now that his bubble has burst and he is under arrest.

His history and personality are equally interesting. He is of middle height, good-looking, with a silky black beard. He has polished manners and is quite until he begins to talk finance.

Rochette is only thirty-two years old. His history and personality are equally interesting. He is of middle height, good-looking, with a silky black beard.

When a boy he had a pocket full of money. He was first known publicly as an errand boy at the railway station at LeLun.

Coming to Paris, he entered the banking house of one Berger, who went into bankruptcy soon afterward.

His "credit" minister at industrial being thus founded, Rochette immediately showed marvelous activity. He got control of the resources of many agents to show to persons in all conditions of life, even to serving maids.

Only two years have passed since Rochette launched forth on this scale. But in that time he floated twenty great "enterprises."

It is characteristic of Rochette that he went to the Geographical Society, one of the most learned and distinguished bodies in France, and urged the members to put Nerva on the map of Spain.

Nothing daunted, Rochette engaged a government expert to report on his coal fields at Laviana. As Rochette was taken to transportation for an enormous quantity of coal to his "fields," the expert, who was permitted to see only "the coal that had been mined," made a report which sent the shares sky high.

The manipulations of this emperor of the market necessarily laid him open to all sorts of attacks. Some enemies he bought, others he frightened off; he bribed the lawyers of still others; he boasted he had the most powerful politicians behind him.

An inventor named Gadot took to Rochette his patent for a water meter. The juggler of millions formed a company, Mr. Sander, in regard to the meter, capitalized it at $500,000 and made Gadot a director at a large salary.

There were no instances in which a few shillings extra freight would mean the loss of an order to a British trader. Combination of the great and the small, Tariffs and classifications were not issued, generally speaking, to shippers, and there was no doubt that cut rates were quoted as that commission was given to agents.

Confederates illegal. By Mr. Henderson. If there were no confederates the shippers would certainly be better off.

Do you think that confederates should be made illegal?—Yes. The cutting of rates, said it was found that the rebate system was becoming a perverted one, and was dropped, but there were instances of contracts which had not expired, and no doubt there was an advantage obtained by some for a while.

Evidence having been given by J. Archibald Roxburgh of Glasgow, president of the Sailing Shipowners' Institute, that the commission on lack of freight on the home...

after this denunciation, especially after Rochette had vainly tried to buy off Gadot's counsel.

Some Rochette's friends still have faith in him. When police officers took him to his central bank here to examine his safes, his clerks, carrying bouquets, dragged him from the police for a few minutes and raised him to their shoulders, crying "Long live Rochette!"

It is suggested that a similar course be followed in relation to the navy. In support of its prohibition it is put forward that many men have been suffering from a mysterious disease, which has been proved to be cutaneous tuberculosis, contracted from tattooing, and that others have suffered from other ailments contracted in the same way.

It is pointed out, has so long been associated with travel and sea life that nothing short of absolute prohibition will put a stop to it among the lower deck ratings and the rank and file of the navy.

The naval authorities in Germany have decided to issue a strong prohibition against tattooing, as it has been ascertained that the process affords a vehicle for transmitting diseases of the most virulent type.

HAVE you heard the melody that is so captivating London? The new song "WHEN WE'RE TOGETHER" by Emmerston James, the composer of this, the most popular song of the year, studied by the late and great Gounod, and he has in "When We're Together" given out a song which is being sung throughout the English-speaking world. At a recent concert at Wellington Barracks, London, Eng. many songs had been sung, but the one which was most popular was the Irish Guards' song "When We're Together," the audience signified their approval in no uncertain manner—the melody had captivated them. It is a captivating melody for a copy (mention voice).

WHO THEN SHALL BE SAVED?

The Rewards of the Righteous and the Punishments of the Wicked--Pastor Russell's Sermon.

NORTH PITTSBURGH, April 3.—Pastor Russell preached at Allegheny Carnegie Hall to-day in his home congregation, and at the close of the address had them an affectionate good-by until May 10. In the meantime he will make a tour of England, Ireland and Scotland, speaking in thirteen of the principal cities in accordance with arrangements already effected by his friends. In the interim the Bible House congregation will meet regularly at the Arch-street Chapel, and be served by various brethren of ability. Pastor Russell's text was from I. Peter IV, 13: "If the righteous be saved where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?" He said: "The words of our text are solemn viewed. But for our friends of various denominations who hold that death marks the end of hope these words should be not only solemn but terrifying in the extreme. They note the death of friends and neighbors and we know from statistics that 50,000 fellow creatures die every 24 hours, and they will know and would not dispute that a very small number of these could be saved by any stretching of language or any allowance for 'considered' righteous; or even to have had righteous intentions. If these dear friends would take seriously their teaching that all but the righteous, all but the saintly go to a never-ending hell of torment from which there is no hope of alleviation or entering, it would be sufficient to unbalance their minds. It is fortunate for them that they do not take too seriously their own unreasonable and unscriptural views on this subject. Apparently a great many people would be willing scarcely to be saved, just as they are willing earnestly to forsake sin. We have heard people tell how they would be glad to creep into some little obscure corner of heaven and enjoy its glories and blessings if only they could escape the miseries of which they have been mistreated. We are sorry for such poor creatures; they can neither enjoy the present life nor the future prospect. Instead of hoping for glory, honor and immortality, as the apostle suggests we should do, these merely hope to escape torture by the skin of their teeth—a poor, unsatisfaclife only to the righteous. If we should take 100 as representing the standard of righteousness, it would be impossible for anyone to have 101 points, for he could not be more than righteous, and if he lacked anything of being up to the hundred mark he would not be righteous. With 100 as the standard, the man possessing the 99 points of righteous character would still be an upright man, and, according to the divine law, he could not have everlasting life. So, then, God's law makes no allowance for sin, but condemns it and declares that "all unrighteousness is sin." This is the basis of the apostle's statement, that a righteous person could be no more than saved under the divine law. He could not say, as some teach, Lord, I have done more than was required of me; I have been more than righteous; on the score of my righteousness I claim your promise of eternal life but having been more than merely righteous I have a reserve of merit which I can apply for myself. This, to some extent, is the theory of our Catholic friends. On the strength of this they pray to Mary and the apostles and certain other of the saints whom they believe to have laid up for them a surplus of merit. The apostle's words are in contradiction to this thought.

Coming now to a still fuller examination of the subject, we enquire who are the righteous among men? The Scripture answers: "There is none righteous, no, not one." (Rom. III, 10). They again declare that our Lord Jesus was the only righteous one, and that He died the just for the unjust for our reconciliation to the Father. Where is the hope under God's law for either the best or the worst of our race? Ah, we answer, right here lies the key to the Gospel of Christ which assures us that we all inherit our imperfections from our parents and they from theirs and thus originally all from Adam. So Christ Jesus having given Himself as a ransom or corresponding price for Father Adam, having paid the offset of the influence of Adam's sin and corresponding merit represented in the value of His death as a sin-offering. This, from the divine standpoint, is the full offset to Father Adam's transgression, and hence is sufficient in value to cancel not only his debt and condemnation but sufficient in value also to offset the influence of Adam's sin and condemnation, as it has contained within the twenty thousand millions of our human race. Here behold the wisdom and love and justice of God in combination. His wisdom permitted the arrangement of the plan by which His Justice would be fully visited upon Adam, the sinner, and indirectly upon every one, quite contrary to the one set before us in the Gospel. It is the same apostle who urges the church to pursue a course that would be pleasing to God, and who assures us that "so an entrance shall be administered unto you abundantly into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ." (II Peter I, 11). It is proper that we enquire why in these words an abundant salvation is suggested, while in our text it is declared that the righteous shall scarcely be saved. We enquire first who are the righteous referred to in our text? We reply that the apostle is not referring to any class of people but merely in a general way referring to a principle of the divine law which declares that he who doeth these things shall live, and that any failure to do the perfect will of God would be sin, and that the "wages of sin is death." (Rom. VI, 23). In other words, the apostle is speaking of God's arrangement. God has promised eternal

His race thru Him and yet leave abundant room that in due time Jesus, by His sacrifice for all, could make satisfaction for the sins of the whole world. Because if all were condemned in one would be equally just on God's part that all should be justified or forgiven thru the merit of the one Redeemer, so that the cancellation of sin thru the merit of the precious blood of Jesus affects not only Father Adam but all of his children who shared with him his condemnation.

Whoever sees clearly the foregoing argument will only see that there are none righteous, not one member of the race, but also sees that Jesus, by the virtue of His sacrifice, is prepared to justify or cover over an excuse and set aside all the unrighteousness of the world. But since it is not God's intention to favor unrighteousness, ignorance, etc., He has arranged that only those who intelligently accept Jesus and renounce sin and turn away to righteousness to the extent of their ability—only these shall have the full benefit of His arrangement, which in the present time is called justification by faith, or making righteous by faith.

The believer in Christ who has devoted himself to the Lord and the service of righteousness and who has been begotten of the Holy Spirit, is counted a new creature, as separate and distinct from his flesh, in which the motions of sin still prevail to a certain extent contrary to his new mind, new will, righteous intention of heart. With that he has one hundred per cent out perfectly; in this respect he must not come short one jot or tittle; from the heart he must love righteousness and hate iniquity. But even so, his flesh is gradually brought into subjection, he cannot hope to have the full victory over sin, until he is a new creature, begotten of the spirit, shall be born of the spirit in the first resurrection.

Not only the Christian nation is the only one which presents God as living and merciful to the sinner, but it is the only one which presents the thought of a merciful God who judges sinners without in any degree breaking or bending the divine law, the standard of righteousness and God's law. He says to the sinner, "You have but 20 per cent of character, I will blot out the requirement of the other 80 per cent, as a punishment for your sin. Does He make a similar proposition to the one possessing 50 points of character? God's law still requires of each one the full one hundred per cent, but makes it possible for all to attain that full perfection. How? By a double process. First, to the man of but 20 per cent of character, the lacking 80 per cent is imputed or reckoned as his share of the merit of Christ's sacrifice for Adam's sin. To the man possessing the 50 per cent, of character, the lacking 50 per cent, is reckoned or imputed in like manner, but it is required of both that they shall not only maintain what they have, but that their hearts shall be at the full 100 standard, that they will not attempt to do anything less than perfection. They will be reckoned and dealt with according to the standards of their hearts, and will not be dealt with according to imperfections of their flesh.

Meantime it will be expected of those that they shall stand trials and difficulties which will be allowed to come upon them to prove the genuineness of their faith and to establish their rightness and their opposition to iniquity, and to harden and strengthen their objections, and their hearts shall be at the full 100 standard in the class that is now being called the "Little Flock" to whom it is the Father's good pleasure to give the Kingdom. (Luke XII, 32). Thus, their hearts are to be made righteous, and dependent upon their degree of heart-loyalty to the Lord and not dependent upon their actual qualifications, where as in the past, where such is required, where little is possessed less is required as respects the flesh, provided the heart is at the standard of 100 per cent loyalty to God and to righteousness.

What then? Is there any hope for the ungodly and the sinner? Yes, there is a hope. God's word clearly portrays this hope, telling us that in due time "all the families of the earth shall be blessed," that in due time "every knee shall bow and every tongue confess to the glory of you," that in due time, when "his righteous deeds are made manifest," all things that God has made shall come and worship before him, that in due time, Christ, who taster death for every man, shall take to himself His great power and shall reign and shall bring to every member of the race the blessing of knowledge with the opening of the eyes of their understanding, now closed by Satan, the god of this world, thru ignorance, superstition, etc.

Our dear Redeemer assures us that these children of wrath, with God and without hope in the world, blinded by Satan, led captive by Him thru their fallen parents, have not been dropped down into place of eternal torment, but are merely asleep in death, in their graves, waiting for the time when they shall be established in the Kingdom of righteousness under the whole heavens, the time when His millennial kingdom will control the world, and when Satan shall be bound and be no longer permitted to deceive the nations, and that then not merely will the living of that time receive the blessing of His Kingdom, but that all that are in their graves shall come forth—come from their graves, not come down from heaven, nor come up from hell, nor from purgatory, but from their graves.

How strange that we were so long deluded, that we heard the voice of man instead of the voice of the Son of Man! What peace comes from His message—that the wicked have ceased from troubling and they who are at rest, asleep in the tomb, in shell, in hades, in the grave! How glad we are that not only the Little Flock of His faithful ones, partakers of the first resurrection, shall come forth, but also that the great mass of mankind and the millions of the dead shall come to the grave children of wrath, shall come forth also!

And he tells us for what purpose. His words are somewhat mystifying because of the poor translations of our common version, the revised version making them more clear, say, "they shall come forth unto a resurrection (a raising up out of sin and death conditions) by judgments—measurements of their works with reward for every good endeavor." Thus, during the millennial age the ungodly and wicked of this present time shall have a multiple opportunity than they now have of coming to know God and Jesus Christ, whom He sent, and by obedience to them they will be granted to them they may, if they will, attain to life everlasting and full restitution, perfection on the human plane with the earth of their Paradise restored.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHING.

Instructors Nowadays Must Be Progressive to Be Useful.

The convention of Methodist Sunday school workers was concluded yesterday in the Metropolitan Church. Miss Nellie Boynes read a paper on "The Relation Between the Junior League and the Primary and Junior Departments of the Sunday School." The Sunday school was for the purpose of teaching the young of the Epworth League was for training and the finding of work for the young people to do. The league was turning out a better body of workers than was being done in any other way. The leaguers were practical Christians, not theoretical. Never before in the history of the church had so much material for teaching been available, and a great deal of this material was being made and developed by the Junior League. One of the fruits of the work was the subscribing by young leaguers of $30,000 for the carrying on of church work and for missions.

Rev. A. T. Ingraham, speaking on "The Relation of the Literary Department to the Supreme end of the Sunday School and Epworth League," contended that the work of teaching was in no wise as simple a matter as many believed. The desire for higher education and broader culture evidenced by the young people of the present day rendered good work very imperative on the part of the teachers. It was where a good library came in useful, and all teachers should band themselves into classes for study and to educate themselves in anything that will make an appeal to the children.

"Why are so many classes and churches empty?" he asked. "Simply because they come to get something and don't get it, and preachers and teachers have to resort to all sorts of advertising to fill the chairs and pews."

He objected to lesson helps as having a tendency toward lessening the study that is really essential to the work.

Longest Dog Sled Trip Ever Taken, It is Said.

NEW YORK, April 3.—When seven Alaskan dogs, drawing an Alaskan sledge on wheels, trotted into city hall park late yesterday their driver, Ell A. Smith, completed probably the longest dog sledge trip on record and won a wager, said to be for $10,000 of nearly three years' standing.

Smith is a minister and formerly government mail driver in Alaska. When he stepped in to visit Mayor McClellan he had completed, he said, a trip entirely by land, from Nome, finishing it in a month less than two years and a half.

Smith's regularity is making his mail trips thru the wild and snowy mountains of Alaska with dogs as a motive power resulted finally in a wager being made that he could make a trip with his outfit to New York from Nome in two and one-half years.

Chicago Gossip.

Marshall, Spender & Co. wired to J. G. Beatty at the close: "The small local and professional market leaves little to be said in the new regarding conditions. The early spasm of strength stimulated by a better one to English cables, was succeeded later by a downward tendency, accelerated by generally favorable crop news and some indication of a break in the drought conditions in Kansas and Nebraska. Everything seems to hinge upon this latter possibility, and the market is very sensitive indeed on this point.

If you prefer to pay cash, you get a liberal discount.

WEST TORONTO PERMITS SHOW GREAT INCREASE

Mayor Baird Well Pleased With Legislature—Vegetable Growers to Meet.

WEST TORONTO, April 3.—The bill to strike the Town of Toronto Junction off the map, and replace it by the City of West Toronto, received its third reading in the legislature to-day, and requires only the assent of the lieutenant-governor to make it law. Mayor Baird is congratulating several of his associates in having the bill passed exactly as it was presented, while some nearby cities and towns have had similar bills carved until they are almost unrecognizable.

Lawyers Were Crowded.

About 33 cases were disposed of in the eighth division court, held to-day under Judge Morgan. The stuffy little police court, where the proceedings were held, proved altogether too small to accommodate the crowd, and the ventilation was quite inadequate. A feature quite noticeable to-day was the poor provision that is made for the lawyers, there being scarcely enough space on which they could put their papers. Judge Morgan, the he did not express himself on the subject, is evidently dissatisfied with the accommodation in general, and the council may find that even the new coat of paper with which the court room has been recently decorated will not cover all its defects. Every lawyer in town and several from the city were present at the proceedings to-day.

Messrs. Hinson and Marsh had some little trouble with an insurance policy. Hinson sued Marsh for a rebate in the premium of his own insurance policy, and sued further for a commission on a premium of insurance which had been secured for Marsh. The court allowed Hinson $36.

Building Permits to the Value of $110,000 Have Been Issued During the Past Three Months.

This is nearly double the value of the permits issued during the first three months of 1907, and Building Inspector Leigh states moreover that none of the permits are for factories, etc., nearly all being for private houses of the average value of $2000.

H. Breathwaite, the retiring superintendent of the North-west factory was yesterday presented with a Masonic fob and pipe as a token of the esteem in which he was held. His leaving is a matter of sincere regret to all.

The property committee of the Collegiate Institute board to-night, and made arrangements to have the school grounds and walks improved during the coming season.

The funeral of Mrs. Edith Isabella Walker, wife of E. J. Walker of 30 Lakeview-avenue, took place this afternoon at Prospect Cemetery, and was largely attended. A carriage completely filled with flowers preceded the hearse to the cemetery.

frey, M.L.A.; Dr. and Mrs. Macnamara, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rowntree, Mr. and Mrs. T. Padgett, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hain; Hon. hon. president, J. G. The vital statistics for the town for the month of March are: Births 13, marriages 10, deaths 8.

Mayor McMillan will erect two stores immediately adjoining the De la Plante hardware store. Indications are that the building season, while probably not a record one along building lines in East Toronto, will nevertheless show a good healthy state of affairs. In Ward 1 especially local real estate agents report the demand for good building sites and residences as unexampled for this season of the year.

The public school board will meet on Monday night in the Kimberley-st. school board room.

Prof. Graham's lecture to those interested in the poultry industry in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night was full of information and is said to have aroused a great deal of latent enthusiasm along this line.

Mr. Wilson presided and the different reports were presented, which showed reports from every department, with a total of 128 scholars and teachers on the roll, while the cradle roll, in charge of Mrs. Heather, numbered 85, and the home department, with Mrs. Joseph Ruch, sr., leader, has 18 members. The funds on hand are spent in adding new books to the library, which at present contains 174 volumes. A. H. Parker, for 12 years superintendent, was re-elected, while Mr. Frost is undertaking the organization of an adult Bible class, to meet at 9:30 a.m.

WOODBRIDGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Are Very Kindly Remembered.

WOODBRIDGE, April 3.—A pleasing function took place during the week at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. William Watson of this village, when the bachelor friends of the "Gravel-road" gathered at their home and presented Mr. and Mrs. Watson with a handsome secretary, as a slight token of the high esteem in which they are held, and also a little wedding present. V. Humphrey made the speech of the evening, while Miss Laura Humphrey read the address. J. Maulclack and John Humphrey made the presentation, to which Mr. Watson replied. A delightful social evening was spent by all and a sumptuous repast was prepared by the hostess.

Miss Laura Wallace, daughter of George Wallace, who has been ill for some time, does not seem to improve. Her sister, Mrs. F. Orr of Chicago, was sent for and arrived here Wednesday, and Dr. Orr this morning.

Gordon Patterson of Toronto Junction, who was visiting here Saturday, was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday, and is in very critical condition and little hope is entertained for her recovery.

Reuben Robertson has started plowing soil on the Humber flats, opposite Wallace's mill.

NORTH TORONTO, April 3.—The half-yearly report of Inspector Potheringham outlines a number of suggested improvements, chief among which is the necessity for greater regularity in attendance. OXFORDS

A prominent American shoe manufacturer made a forecast a few weeks ago in these words: "THE CALL FOR COLORED SHOES THIS SPRING AND SUMMER WILL EXCEED THE SUPPLY"—We had guessed it ourselves before we saw his words and placed immense orders with our factories for all the popular shades of tan—the light, the medium, and the darker shades—including the rich golden calf and the to-be very popular shade for the ladies, the "Merry Widow" tan—and we're showing them in all the new spring and summer footwear. To-day we're emphasizing the new Oxfords for ladies and gentlemen—all leathers—blacks, patent, and tans—all the new lasts—shapes—styles—cuts and novelties—laced—buttoned—tied—bows—and buckled—ultra fashionable New York fashions and fancies—all prices as high as $8.00 for men, and $7.00 for the ladies—but calling your special notice to to-day's special Easter month display of all the newest styles at the popular price..... 3.50
