Good Work Continues.

Boers Driven Helter Skelter to the Hills and Ravines by British Lead.

London, April 26.—A despatch to the Times from Pretoria says that General French will take a sea voyage to recuperate his health.

The War Office received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

PRETORIA, April 25.—The following captures have been made since my last telegram: Prisoners taken 113; surrendered, 19; Boers killed, 61 horses, 98; Krupp guns, 14; rounds of small ammunition, 15,000; and 1 coast-er; number of wagons, 4. A 4.7 inch gun taken at Helvetia and a machine gun were found destroyed. Casualties, one killed and eight wounded.

CARLETON, April 26.—A despatch from Durban, Cape Colony, says the Yeomanry under Col. Walden and the British dragoon volunteer guard were engaged all day Wednesday with the Boers in the vicinity of Durban. When the British commenced firing at a distance of 200 yards the Boers fled in confusion, abandoning a number of horses and a quantity of rifles and ammunition.

Later advices from Durban are to the effect that the Boer command was thoroughly dispersed, the burghers fleeing precipitately in the direction of Ladygrey under a heavy fire. It is believed they suffered severely. The British had no casualties.

CARLETON, April 26.—The Pro-Boer South African newspaper editor, Cartwright, sentenced a few days ago to one year's imprisonment for libelling General Kitchener had a professed contempt for the Australian troops, once describing them as the scum of the earth. As the Australians were on the eve of embarking for home the other night they blocked the News Office, smashed the windows, unrolled the door, which they used as battering ram to smash the tables and other furniture. They scattered the files and destroyed typewriters. The editor escaped through a window. The next day the military authorities sent an official party for the damage done.

DARTMOUTH, April 26.—Mr. Saver, brother of the ex-minister of that name convicted of being a ring leader of the rebels in Cape Colony, was today sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

BERLIN, April 26.—The editor of the Deutsche Revue, having written Earl Roberts, Commander-in-chief of the British army, suggesting that an official contradiction was desirable of the charges of British barbarity in South Africa, received in reply an official history of the campaign, which Earl Roberts said had been entrusted to one of the ablest military writers, "which I feel sure will make clear to the civilized world how earnestly the British Government has endeavored to promote humanity during the operations of this terrible war."

CARLETON, April 25.—A Standerton despatch says:—Important developments of the great movement eastward are resulting from the recent defeat of Commandant Grobelaar and the commandments in the east subordinate to him.

Grobelaar's own special command of 1,000 men bore the brunt of the fighting on the enemy's side. It was known to General French that Grobelaar had started upon the desperate enterprise of breaking back, and General Darnell was sent specially to checkmate him.

Our main force took up a commanding position, holding a neck in the Vryheid range of mountains right across Grobelaar's probable route. Grobelaar was practically taken by surprise, and the unfavorable weather alone prevented his force from being entirely cut up. As it was, it was very badly defeated, and headed off South again. In addition to the considerable number killed and wounded, 200 of Grobelaar's men surrendered to Darnell. They were in a pitiable plight, ragged and hungry.

More Boer Loses.

LORENBURG, April 26.—Lord Kitchener reports to the War Office from Pretoria under date of April 25 as follows: Kitchener's fighting scouts under Grenfell have surprised and captured Van Bensch's laager at Klipdam, north of Pietersburg. Several Boers were killed and 37 taken prisoners. Eight thousand rounds of ammunition and all wagons, carts, oxen, horses and mules were captured. Our only casualty was one wounded. The other columns report three killed, 58 taken prisoners, 57 surrendered and one quick-fire captured.

CARLETON, April 26.—A party of Boers blew up the railroad between Graspan and Belmont, Cape Colony in three places, April 27, apparently with the intention of intercepting a train carrying Mr. Cecil Rhodes. The damage done was slight and was quickly repaired.

A PERMANENT HOLIDAY.

Parliament Will so Proclaim May 24 Ottawa, April 29.—The government have decided to make the 24th of May a permanent holiday and the Premier will announce this in the House this afternoon.

IMPREGNABLE HALIFAX

British Government to Build a New Fortress at Halifax.

Halifax, April 25.—I was summoned at headquarters here this morning that the British army authorities have decided on important work here this summer, but the details have not yet been made public.

Sergeant Major Westwood, Royal Engineers an expert fortress builder who was ordered here to superintend the work, has already arrived. The plans call for a new barracks for married soldiers, quarters for the officers of the Royal Engineers and Royal Artillery, quarters for the ward master and a gymnasium. The construction of a fort is also contemplated which will exceed in proportions the York Redoubt, which is second only to that of Gibraltar. The fort, which will be located near Scudamore is to be armed with twelve inch disappearing guns of the latest type. It is the avowed purpose to make its armament superior to any in America and second to none in the world.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

A Portland Man Shoots Promiscuously Without Provocation a Number of Friends

PORTLAND, Me., April 25.—One of the bloodiest and most appalling tragedies in the history of Portland in recent years occurred shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon on the fourth floor of the building located on the corner of Exchange and Milk streets, and occupied by the New England Telephone Co.

The principal actor in the affair was Geo. H. Brainerd, a foreman electrician, who has been employed by the company for almost 20 years. For some unknown reason, and without the slightest provocation, while quietly chatting with a number of workmen he suddenly "shipped out a big 38 calibre revolver and opened fire on the party around him. He was evidently an expert marksman, for although the fusillade lasted only a few moments in that brief space of time he killed one man outright, another died a few hours later, and probably fatally wounded others. Not satisfied with this, he made a desperate attempt to kill Deputy Marshal W. A. Firth, when the officer tried to place him under arrest. It required the free use of a billy to bring the frenzied man into submission, and he was taken to the station bleeding profusely from a scalp wound some two inches in length.

One of the dead men is L. H. Farnham of Boston, the electrical engineer of the New England Telephone Co. The other is Earl Baxton of Springfield, Mass., and the fatally injured are Elmer Z. Lane of Mechanic Falls and James Wadsworth of Lewiston. At first it was thought that the injuries of Wadsworth and Baxton would not prove particularly serious, but to-night it was reported from the Maine General Hospital that Baxton was dead and Wadsworth was suffering from internal hemorrhages and his chances for recovery were very slight.

THE ORANGEMEN.

CAMPBELLTON, April 24.—The Orange Grand Lodge today passed a resolution of regret at the death of the late Queen Victoria, and another pledging unwavering loyalty to King Edward VII.

A considerable general business was transacted.

The election of officers resulted as follows, Bros. Alward, Wallace and Palmer, acting as scrutineers: Philip Palmer, grand master; Wm. Wyse, junior deputy grand master; Rev. A. F. Brown, grand chaplain; Neil J. Morrison, grand secretary; Philip Heise, grand treasurer.

G. A. Blair, grand lecturer; Jas. W. Clark, grand director of ceremonies; D. H. Charters, grand deputy grand secretary.

Revs. G. C. Blakeney, and J. E. Flewelling, deputy grand chaplains. After the installing ceremonies and the passing of a number of formal resolutions grand lodge closed its session about midnight.

Klondyke Gold Discovery.

TACOMA, April 27.—Passengers just in from Dawson give details of the discovery of a rich second bed rock on the famous Eldorado creek of the Klondyke. In the gravel now being hoisted, it is said, not a bucket of dirt comes to the surface in which nuggets cannot be seen, running all the way from a quarter of an ounce to an ounce in weight. Pans taken from the new pay streak have yielded as high as fifty dollars in many instances, and on one day two men took out dirt that contained $5,000. The discovery has created intense excitement all along Eldorado.

The Ashanti Floating

MONTREAL, April 29.—Word has just been received from Matane that the Ashanti has been successfully floated and is now in tow of steamer Lord Stanley on the way to Quebec. The last attempt to float the vessel was made on the 25th of April.

THE SOO TO ECLIPSE SYDNEY.

Mr. Clergue Says Daily Output Will be 2,600 Tons.

Toronto, April 29.—E. V. Clergue of Saint Sae, Marie, was interviewed to-day in regard to the despatch from Detroit stating that Mr. Arthur Harvey, an Englishman, representing English, American and Canadian capitalists, had made an agreement for the erection of a huge steel plant at the Soo.

"Mr. Harvey," said Mr. Clergue, "has been in negotiation with our company for a supply of axes for his projected works at the Soo, but so far no contract has been made. He has no other connection with the Clergue enterprises."

"We ourselves are pushing to completion a steel plant with a daily capacity of 600 tons and it will be ready by August or September to begin work on the steel rails we have contracted to supply to the Dominion Government. Plans are being made now for a second iron and steel plant with a capacity of 2,000 tons a day, which will be completed within eighteen months from the present time.

As to the number of men who will be employed when this plant is in operation, I can as yet give no estimate, but there are at the present moment between 7,000 and 8,000 at work for our syndicate at the Soo, on the railways and in the woods."

Mr. Clergue's statement as to the new steel plant is the first intimation that the industry is to be of such magnitude. If 2,000 tons of iron or steel are produced daily at the Soo, the plant will be one of the largest on the continent, and will be almost double the size of the Sydney N. S. plant.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

OTTAWA, April 26.—On the vote for census, in supply, E. L. Borden asked when it was expected the census would be completed.

Mr. Fisher said that in the central portion of Canada the enumeration had practically been completed. Already eight times as many returns had been received at headquarters as during the whole of April in the census of 1891. He expected it would be about a month before all reports were received from out-lying districts. It would take further time to make calculations as to population. Of returns already received, 229 were from Ontario, 142 from Quebec, three from New Brunswick, eight from Manitoba, one from Nova Scotia.

Mr. Wallace complained that his mill, which turned out $30,000 or $40,000 worth of material per year, was not put down in the enumeration, the enumeration stating that only manufacturers employing five men could be put down, and the mill in question only employed four men.

Mr. Fisher said that he did not propose to do as the old government had done in 1891, put down, for instance, every old woman who did knitting as the proprietor of a knitting factory.

Considerable discussion of the race and religion cries took place on the census estimates. Mr. Tarte, replying to N. Clarke Wallace, said he had had reports in his possession which the Conservatives had used in North Bruce, on which was the following: "Be careful to vote for Halliday, so the French will not dominate any longer."

The bill to incorporate the Crow's Nest Southern Railway Company stood, on the suggestion of Mr. Fielding, who said that the arrangement on which the bill was based had not yet been completed.

There was further talk of the "Vote circular and race and religion, which made Jabel Robinson rise and say that he would like to say that he would like to introduce a bill to fine any man $100 and confine him to the tower for each time he brought up the race and sectional cries in the House.

The House sat until 1:20 discussing the estimate for taking census. It was passed. On motion to adjourn, Dr. Sprond read a paragraph from a newspaper in regard to the proposition of the Newfoundland government for the ratification of the Bond-Blaime treaty, and asked what the Premier had to say on the subject. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that Mr. Bond was to sail some time next week and was expected to come direct to Ottawa. More than this he was not prepared to say.

Dr. Sprond wanted to know if the government would not oppose the handing over of fisheries to the United States.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—I cannot answer my friend, because the negotiations are confidential, and if I do not so it is not because my mind is not made up on the subject, but because I am precluded from speaking on account of the negotiations being confidential.

Sir Richard Cartwright has given notice in the House of Commons of a resolution for a subsidy of $100,000 per annum for a steamship service between a port in Canada and a port in France.

DICK HUYL.

The Story of an Apache Boy.

The writer does not know Dick Huyl, but he does not doubt that the story will be true, as the story will be true, as the story will be true...

In 1872, if I remember rightly, General Crook had succeeded, after years of bloody war and the loss of hundreds of good men, in subduing most of the bands composing the Apache nation of New Mexico and Arizona.

At the reservation, although they were well fed and quite decently treated, it was necessary to watch them constantly, and large bodies of troops were detailed for that purpose.

There seemed to be something particularly fascinating to the Apache temperament in this form of torture. Death being long in coming, it gave the squaws and papooses plenty of chance to invent small torments on the side, as it were.

range of their rifles. Halting on a shelf of rock, he saw the child down and proceeded to indulge in every exhibition of contempt and derision that his imagination could invent.

This wonderful gun was guaranteed to carry—I forget—1,100 yards without accuracy, and the lieutenant, who was one of the best fellows in the world in garrison, but quite cold-hearted and blood-thirsty where Apaches were concerned, announced that while he was doubtful of his gun carrying near the Indian, yet he was going to try.

The attention of the soldiers was now directed to the papoose, the subject of this sketch. That interesting infant still calmly occupied the ledge and was evidently turning the situation over in his mind.

Two nights afterward a squad of the Twenty-third infantry, Crook's own regiment, under Lieutenant Huyl, a splendid young fellow, who has since left the service, was sent out on a scout with the usual orders.

The little squad silently deployed out so as to avoid missing a single shot and at the word of command fired, killing nearly every one of the Indians.

The little squad silently deployed out so as to avoid missing a single shot and at the word of command fired, killing nearly every one of the Indians.

When the lieutenant in making his report had reached the point where Wahmemo was killed, the general interrupted him with: "By the way, I think you had better not let me know officially any more of this scout than you have already told."

The young Indian was confined in the armory until his first fright was overcome. The soldiers of Company A named him Dick Huyl, and fitting him out in uniform fashioned from the lieutenant's old clothes, regularly adopted him into the service.

In less than a month the small recruit learned to express himself tolerably in English and in a very short time had accumulated all the accomplishments of tobacco chewing and prettiness possessed by the soldiers.

When I first knew him, he had been under the refining influence of the United States service two years. If that Indian had improved in that time, I am very glad I did not know him before.

The Apaches flatten the heads of their babies between boards, and this, as much as anything else, served to sicken Dick unattractively to us children.

When he shot the mules in an ambulance filled with women and children, causing a runaway and a smash up, one soldier thrashed him with a barrel stave and a dozen more gave him 5 cent pieces to comfort him.

I said he never cried. I will note an exception. Every Saturday afternoon the men took him out behind the quarters and gave him a bath. This process was very simple. They stripped off his clothing and turned the hose on him.

I have not seen Dick since I was 9 years old, but I like to think that he grew up and regularly enlisted in the old regiment and is now an honor to the service.

LOWER BLISSFIELD. The weather for the past month has been very cold and windy.

Our roads this season are nice and dry and in good condition for wheeling.

Miss Nora Hurley spent Sunday of last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Mathew Bower.

Miss Nora Arbo of Upper Blackville, spent a few days of last week visiting friends of this place.

Misses Ella, Annie and Mary Weaver, are visiting friends in Doaktown.

Mr. E. A. Hurley has been in Fredericton and St. John for the past week on business.

A new R. T. of T. Lodge was organized here on Wednesday night last. There was quite a number present, and all seemed to take hold of the work with earnestness and determination towards driving the liquor curse from our land, God helping us to accomplish our desire.

BATHURST. The ice all along the shore of the bay moved on some time ago, but the harbor ice has not all run out, though the channels are all open, and it may go any day, or as soon as the wind, which is yet the prevailing easterly winds of the spring up here, change.

On Saturday the wreck of the Norwegian bark which hung on a point of the main channel, outside the points, moved in shore and broke up. Some parts of it are now stranded among the ice on the easterly point, but it is said the bottom of the vessel, with the ballast, yet remains in the outer channel, and if so it will prove a serious menace to navigation, and must be removed at any cost.

The weather, on the whole, is not too favorably for stream driving, although reports say that when the recent heavy rains were prevailing on the coast, snow instead of rain fell in the interior, consequently a warm sun and westerly winds will probably bring along the drives all right. At the same time the cold nights and easterly wind, which we might expect until the ice moves away from the shores, give us weather which the lumbermen detest.

Owing to the scarcity of good stream drivers some of the lumber firms brought a large number of Indians from Miramichi and Richibucto last week, who kept the local constables busy while they remained in town, which fortunately was not very long.

Work has about re-commenced on the new county building, and it is expected that a large crew will be employed in a short time. The new building will be a great acquisition to the town, and will present a splendid appearance.

Messes, Leahy and Melanson, who are taking the census in this vicinity, are hard at work, and expect to be finished in season etc., and was warmly welcomed at all homes. The church has progressed under his ministry both in numbers, and in that broad christian spirit that manifests itself in the helping of others. The heroic spirit shown by Mr. Robb in giving up so many of the things that go to make life pleasant, for the sake of our besighted fellowmen in far off Corea, ought to and will stir up an answering spirit of appreciation in this his pastoral district where he is beloved, and throughout the whole of New Brunswick.

While we part with him in the deepest sorrow; and regret his going away, still we have a strong feeling of pride that we have lived with and worshipped with a man who has added to his religion that noble disinterestedness that enables him to lay aside self and work for the good of others whose lot is not cast in such pleasant locations. May his action beget in us a like spirit of heroism, and may we then

A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY.

The story of a Trained Nurse and the Way she Overcame a Terrible Temptation.

Harold Western had been ill for four weeks with typhoid fever and was now only a weak shadow of his real self, subject to nervous starts and chills and with just strength enough to turn in bed.

It was in the chill hours of early dawn that he awoke with a start and missed the familiar figure that had haunted his bedside for so long, a blue and white figure with kind, quiet face above it and cool, helpful hands that always did just the right thing.

"Nurse" he called faintly, and a moment more brought the day nurse from the next room. Her blue and white uniform was gone and her stiff white cap. In their place she wore a soft wrapper, and her hair was plaited in a heavy braid that hung below her waist.

"The night nurse has gone," she began quietly. "You are so much better we thought I could manage alone. You have slept nearly all night, Mr. Western, and now I shall get you your milk, and you will go to sleep again."

He followed her lazily with his eyes while she lighted the alcohol lamp and put the porringer of milk over it. Then she sat down on a chair, her head dropped on her breast, and she slept soundly for five minutes, waking when the milk was hot as easily as though she were some sort of a machine adjusted to rest just so long.

"So there were two of you," he said as she came toward him with the milk. She sat down on the stool by the bedside, holding the drinking tube to his mouth. This action brought her quite close, and he noticed, as he drank, the soft sheen of her hair, the delicate curve of her cheek, the long lashes shielding her eyes, the firm, sweet mouth, and the strong white hands that were ministering to his needs.

"You see Nurse Dimple," he said as he finished. "I don't remember the other one." She showed two dimples as she answered, "yes that is what you have called me ever since I came. My name is Wade, Emily Wade."

"I like my name best," he answered. "Very well, but now you are to sleep." But the patient was not so easily disposed of.

"Nurse Dimple," he began as she turned away, "do patients ever remember what they said and did when they were delirious?" "I don't know," she answered. "If they do, they never spoke to me of it."

BRUTAL BENDER FAMILY.

Most Horrible Gang of Murderers in the Country's History.

Twenty-eight years ago, Kansas, indeed the whole country, was shocked by the discovery of the Bender murders. The Bender murderers have few if any parallels in history.

The series of monstrous crimes was committed in the midst of a peaceful, happy and prosperous country neighborhood. Human blood was spilled like water for a few paltry dollars or even for so small a price as the poor clothing worn by the murdered travellers.

The Benders drifted into LaCrosse county, from whither no one ever knew, early in the spring of 1872 and at once sought and entered a government homestead a few miles out from the town of Cherryvale. They chose a level bit of prairie land in a narrow valley, along which ran the main travelled road leading from Fort Scott, Osage Mission and other points to Independence, the seat of the United States land office.

This house was divided by a thin board partition, and underneath the rear part was dug a cellar about four feet deep, which had no stairway, but which could be entered by a trapdoor in the floor of the rear room. The front room was fitted with rough shelves and contained a small stock of supplies, while across the front of the outside a straggling sign announced that groceries were for sale within and that entertainment could be had for man and beast.

Harold was asleep when she came into the room, and he looked boyish, even with a six weeks' growth of silky beard on his chin. "What a fool I was to think the boy could be happy with me, or wouldn't hate me in a year," she thought and laughed grimly.

There were four persons in the family of murderers, two men and two women. Old man Bender was German and could not speak a word of English. He was a morose and savage visaged man, who seldom spoke, even in his own tongue. His wife was also German, but she had mastered enough of English to tend store. Next came Kate Bender, the only daughter of the old couple. She spoke fairly good English which indicated that the family had been residents of America a spiteful majority of the parents to talk English.

On April, 1873, Dr. York, a prominent physician of Fort Scott, started to visit his brother, Hon. A. M. York, at Independence. Dr. York reached Osage late on in the afternoon, called on some acquaintances and then rode out three miles and spent the night with a former friend. The next morning he was met on the road not a great way from the Bender farm, and that was the last seen of him alive. When his brother was reported missing, Senator York commenced to move heaven and earth to find him. Day after day he searched for a clew, but learned no more of him than the fact that his brother had been seen at a certain spot on the road and that he had then disappeared as completely as though the earth had opened and swallowed him.

"About this time four people, two men and two women, drove into Thayer, Neosho county, with a two horse wagon. They unhitched the team, tied the horses to the back of the wagon, in which there was some hay, and then went to the depot and took a north bound train, buying tickets for Humboldt. No further notice was taken of the event until the team was nearly starved, when it was taken care of.

"A week or more after this occurrence a neighbor noticed the deserted appearance of the Bender farm. He made an examination of the premises and found a dead calf in the barn tied with a rope, and it was evident that the animal had perished from hunger.

"The dead calf aroused curiosity, then suspicion, and finally Senator York was notified. He came at once, and a crowd of more than 200 people quickly assembled about the Bender house. A farmer happened to be walking about the small plot of plowed ground at the rear of the house with the rod from the end gate of a wagon in his hand, which he was using as a walking stick. It struck a soft spot and sank easily. Spades were at once procured, and a short time spent in rapid digging opened a deep grave and revealed the body of Dr. York. A thorough search of the plowed and barrowed ground revealed other soft spots, and before the work ceased nine bodies were taken from the wet and sticky clay. The surface soil was black loam, and it was evident that the murderers had removed this before digging in the clay and then carefully replaced the soil upon the grave. There was er sweet face. At the close of the story Miss Wade went in to make an egg, and Violet rose to go.

"I shall be 21 next week," said Harold, "and then I shall have something to tell you. Violet, my Violet," he whispered as she gave him her hand. "I promised father I wouldn't engage myself till I was 21, but I didn't promise not to love anyone. Do you love me, Violet?"

"I'll tell you next week," she answered with a laugh and ran away blushing.

BRUTAL BENDER FAMILY.

nothing upon Dr York but an under shirt."

John R Brunt, then a deputy sheriff in LaBette county, was an eyewitness of the scene, and he thus described it:

"A great stench arose from the collar, so the house was pried up and rolled from over it, but no bodies were found. The stench arose from the blood that had accumulated during the winter. With but two exceptions the description of the wounds on the bodies was the same. All were naked except an undershirt. A hole about an inch in diameter was crushed through into the brain on the right temple, and the throat was cut two-thirds around and to the neck bone. In the back room was found a small hammer with an octagon face and a long, tough hickory handle. This had been the instrument of death. Everything indicated that the manner of killing had been about as follows:

"When a victim entered the front room he was invited to take a seat and warm. A chair was placed for him back of the stove. Thus he was facing north with the back of his head against the thin partition and flush with the west side of the door in the partition. Then the murderer would step to the back door and look up and down the road a mile either way. Finding the coast clear, he would step back take the hammer and from behind the partition administer through the doorway a terrible blow on the victim's temple a little above and in front of the right ear. As the victim sank in a heap the body was pulled back until the head came over the aperture; then the throat was cut, the blood flowing into the cellar hole."

Many of the immediate neighbors and residents of adjacent towns had almost miraculous escapes from death at the hands of this fiendish family but perhaps the most remarkable escape was that of a young man named Reed, or more familiar, "Happy Jack," who lived in Cherryvale. Passing the Bender place one day, he caught a vision of the handsome Kate in dishabits, and after a moment's pause, he turned back and entered the house and engaged him in conversation and enticed him to a seat on the fatal bench. A few moments later he heard a shrill, peculiar cough from the door step, and two travellers rose up and dismounted. Simultaneously he felt a peculiar undulous motion as of something lightly and swiftly brushing past behind the curtain. This was the fatal hammer already started on its murderous mission when arrested by the old woman's signal.

Reed accompanied the two men on their way, promising to stop and spend the night on his return. He arrived at Bender place the following evening, and soon after two of his friends en route to Independence drew up to the door. He announced that he wished to send a message home by them, which Kate by every means in her power endeavored to prevent him from doing. He insisted, however, and thus again his life was saved. Soon after Kate became strangely cold and distant, and he retired to sleep in the rear room. About midnight a wagon drove up to the door. The old man went out and conducted the owner and his team to the barn, and soon after Reed heard a heavy blow followed by a scream, then a rain of blows in rapid succession. Kate arose and came to his bedside, but he feigned sleep. At breakfast next morning she asked him if he had slept well and he replied in the affirmative, saying he had not wakened once during the night. A moment later he heard the noise of some heavy furniture being struck the floor, and old man Bender came from behind the screen and joined him at the table. Thus a third time his life was saved by his prudent replies.

What became of the Benders was never discovered, but it is probably that they returned to Germany or went to some South American country.

Gates' Acadian Liniment
The world's Greatest Pain Exterminator.

Hall's Harbour, May 21st, 1900.
C. GATES, SON & CO.,
Middleton, N. B.

Gentlemen—About two years ago I was taken sick with La Grippe. My head pained excruciatingly, so terrible was the pain that when my wife wrung clothes from hot water and held them on my head, I could not feel the heat, I obtained a bottle of your

Acadian Liniment, used it on my head, and took some in hot water internally, accordingly to directions. As soon as I drank it I felt better and made a cure in a few days. I afterwards advised a neighbour to use it and it cured him also. Mr. James McLeod, of Gay Corner, spent $25.00 before I saw him and persuaded me to try your Liniment. He, too, was cured and says that he will never be without Gates' Acadian Liniment in his house. For a sore and heat, external or internal, I regard it as the best.

Yours truly,
A. J. ASHBY THOMPSON.

The WHIRL of the TOWN

This is May day. Town Council meets to-night. Lynch's mill, Nelson is running night and day. May devotions in St. Mary's R. C. church during this month. The Steamer Miramichi commenced her trips down river on Monday. Men are busily engaged preparing the lightship for her summer's work. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cooke, of Moncton are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter. Mrs. Christina Dunnett, a respected resident of Whitteville died suddenly of heart failure on Monday, April 22nd. We carry a small stock of paper bags in all sizes from 1 1/2 to 20 1/2. Also hat bags, twine, and paper in rolls. Our prices are right. A small percentage of our subscribers have remitted the amount due us. There is still a large percentage from whom we have not heard. G. A. Lonsbury & Co. are preparing their lot on the old Waverly corner and they will shortly commence the erection of a fine building thereon. Rev. P. G. Snow will deliver a gospel temperance lecture in the Mission Hall on Thursday evening, May 2nd. The Miramichi drivers are coming along favorably and it is expected that they will all reach the booms safely. Rev. A. F. Brown will deliver a May morning service in the Baptist Church, Newcastle, next Sabbath. In the evening "Believer's Baptism" will be his subject. Mr. J. J. Clarke wheeled down from Millerton on Monday and reports the roads airy good. This is unusually early for wheeling. The roads are drying up rapidly. Don't forget our offer to print 1000 extra fine quality envelopes for $1.90 cash with order. These are an extra good envelope and are usually sold for $2.30 per M. We have only a limited number at this price so order early. Cheaper ones if you want them. STEAMSHIP FOR LONDON.—The first ship of the new monthly line from Miramichi to London and Liverpool will leave here about May 16, and shippers will thus have an opportunity of sending their goods direct.—World. The steamer Northumberland arrived at Point du Chene from Summerside Sunday morning about ten o'clock and is expected to make regular trips in future. The ice was carried out of Point du Chene harbor by the slight west wind of Saturday. As the census returns will not be in and published before June 1st, we have decided, by request of a number who wish to participate therein, to extend the time of closing guessing competition of Canada Census until May 15th. Send in your subscription and guess at once. Subscription must be one year in advance. It is pretty well understood that the brigade camp at Sussex this year will open on Tuesday, June 23rd. The 67th Engineers and 10th Field Battery will go from here. The Woodstock band will go with the 67th, says the Woodstock Press. The Record, on the contrary, hears it persistently rumored in military circles that there will be a fall camp this year.—Sussex Record. Mr. C. E. Fish, of the French Fort stone Quarry has received a silver medal and diploma from the Paris Exhibition for Wood Pulp Stone exhibited at that fair. This stone was a part of an exhibit embracing stones from nearly all sections of America and Europe and speaks well for Mr. Fish's product. We are glad to learn that orders for these stones are being constantly received from the largest pulp mills in Canada.

Hobson's mill commenced sawing on Thursday. The seats have been placed in the park and the grass walks cleaned. Major Maltby has moved the 12th Field Battery equipment to the New Armory. Among the first year students who have passed successfully at McGill college, we notice the name of F. W. McClosky of Boiestown, N. B. In the Methodist church Sunday evening instead of the regular service there was a service of song. Miss Agnes Fenton of Chatham died at Wakefield, Mass., on April 27th. The body was brought to Chatham for interment. Sunday was very warm with a gentle southerly wind. Shirtwaists and straw hats were all the rage. The new Champion roller presented to the town by the local government, arrived last week and is a fine looking piece of machinery and will be of great service in making good roads this summer. Large quantities of sleepers are being hauled out at the deep water terminus. Sleepers are in great demand and the prices good. The Canadian members of Baden Powell's constabulary arrived at Cape Town from Halifax last Thursday. An alarm of fire was rung at Monday noon. It was for a slight blaze in the house occupied by Chas. McGowan and was extinguished without the aid of the town apparatus. G. A. Lonsbury & Co. are placing new silos under the barn lately occupied by R. H. Gremley as a livery stable and it will be otherwise fixed up as a first class warehouse for the company's business. One of Mr. Fred Howe's little boys strayed away from home to Miller's tank and while playing there fell into the trough but was rescued by a number of Commercial travelers who were staying at the Waverly. The Steamer Rusler will make her trip to Redbank today. She left Newcastle Tuesday afternoon and was to leave Redbank this morning. There will be a Juniors' Jubilee at the Salvation Army on Thursday evening, when the children will go through Dumb bell, Barbell, Hoop, Drills, etc. The admission to the same will be 10c. On Monday evening we had a call from J. J. Clarke who is enjoying a rest after teaching at Millerton for over fourteen years. He is taking the good ship holiday and feels very thankful to the Board of Trustees for their considerate offer of six months off duty. He says that he was considerably "rattled" on the 29th March last and wishes us especially to thank his pupils for their kind remembrance of him on that date. Though he has the highest praise for the beauty and convenience of the handsome oak office desk, yet we gravely repeat, may we feel sure, that much of its value in his eyes lies in the pleasant associations which it serves to recall. Persons travelling on the Maritime express going north seem to have a mania for jumping or falling off the train while it is running at full speed. A few weeks ago a red coat mysteriously disappeared from the train and only escaped death by a miracle. On Tuesday night last while the maritime express was running at the rate of about forty miles an hour one of the men on Mr. Tibb's private car suddenly disappeared, and upon the matter being investigated, it was found that the man had fallen off the rapidly moving train, but in some miraculous manner he had escaped serious injury. The train was held at Kent Junction for an hour or two while section men searched the track and found the missing man. He was returned to the waiting train slightly shaken up but very little the worse for his experience.—Times. Railway men who traverse the north shore especially, are familiar with the phantom ship story, which is told with all the gusto of a superstitious mind, but it falls to the lot of very few of the trainmen to actually see this weird and spectral illumination which the imagination of the inhabitants along the Bay Chaleur transform into a phantom ship. On Thursday night last, however, so report says, some of the men on the fast freight were privileged to see what is supposed to have been the phantom. This ship, which has no existence in fact, but only in name, is seen on the Bay Chaleur and on the night in question, while the fast

6 PENCE, 1 SHILLING, 2 SHILLING PIECES For sale or mounted to order in brooches, charms stick pins, cuff links, etc. H. WILLISTON & Co. JEWELERS. A SUDDEN DEATH. Fredericton Stirred by Suspicion.

FREDERICTON, April 28.—Colonel Hewitson, of Doak Settlement, a well known character about town, died last evening, and the suspicious circumstances which surround his demise have created a sensation about town today. It appears that last night a man named John Johnson, better known as "English Jack," and an inmate of a den on Westmorland street, kept by Newton Lee, went to MacPherson's livery stable and told the stable manager that Newton Lee wanted to hire a horse and man to take Hewitson, who had been drinking, home to Doak Settlement. Mr. Gerow, the manager, accompanied by a colored driver, went to Lee's, where he found Hewitson in an apparently drunken stupor. He spoke to the colonel but received no reply. Lee then paid the stableman $2 to take Hewitson home, and as the latter was unable to move, helped to lift him into the wagon. During the drive to Doak Settlement the driver spoke to deceased's home at Doak Settlement this afternoon to view the body. There are no marks of violence discovered on the body, and whether there are any grounds for the suggestions of foul play can be determined only by an autopsy, which it is probable will be made this afternoon. Freight was ploughing her way through the murky darkness.

Freight was ploughing her way through the murky darkness, along where the ship generally makes its appearance, a bright light was seen on the water, and, while no one is prepared to make oath that it did, yet it appeared to keep pace with the train for some distance. Owing to the speed and unsteadiness of the train, however, those who saw what was intended for the phantom ship, were not able to make out the exact lines of a vessel, but no one doubts but this is what it was. Old inhabitants along the Bay Chaleur, who declare they have seen the phantom ship, say it appears in the form of an illumination and has been revealed to them so clearly that they could see the perfect outlines of a vessel with men in the rigging. It's an old story, but a mysterious illumination on the Bay such as was seen on Thursday night last, easily revives it.

Three Canadians Died En Route to Cape Town.

MONTREAL, April 29.—The first news received from the Baden-Powell police since the sailing of the steamer Montreal was contained in a letter which reached Mr. J. W. Low, of St. Catherine street, Westmont, this morning, from his son, Trooper J. W. Low. The letter is dated from the steamer April 8, just one hour before the Cape Verde Islands were sighted, and contains news of the death of three members of the force, or staff captain and two troopers. Trooper Low writes as follows: "We expect to sight Cape Verde Islands in about an hour, and if I can send this I will. You will have to excuse the shortness of the letter, as I only heard this afternoon that it would be possible to mail it or that the ship would call at all. After leaving Halifax the weather was fine, but most of the men were troubled with seasickness. Three men have died since sailing, Staff Sergeant Purden and Troopers Mann and Patton. All died within three days of each other." Sergt. Purden was an Englishman, who came to Montreal and joined the Duke of York Hussars, of Montreal, and went through the South African campaign with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, with whom he returned to Canada and joined the constabulary. Trooper Guffinus Oltter Mann was twenty-nine years old, son of Guffinus Mann, agent, of Ottawa. He died of inflammation of the brain. E. Paton was a native of Toronto. The Patton who died is a son of Thomas Patton of St. John. Dr. Walker, who examined him, says he had one of the best physiques among the lot. Previous to enlisting he had been living in Sussex.

Conscience Money.

OTTAWA, April 29.—The minister of Customs received a letter today from the High Commissioner in London, England, stating that a lady called at his office and left in an envelope, without name and address £30 conscience money for the customs department of Canada. This was on account of jewelry and other articles sent into Canada on which there was no duty, or insufficient, paid. Lord Strathcona sent the cheque to the department here.
