Mass Meeting of Employes to Meet and Choose a Conference Committee.

Toronto, June 17 .- This morning at 4 clock President Ames, of the Board of Trade, gave out the following statement in regard to the street railway situation: "After a conference with the committee of the Board of Trade, it was resolved to tations, spoke in a very optimistic way of the successes the orderhas met with in the United States. ences with them. "In the meantime the company agrees to take off during the negotiations all the spare men they put on since a week ago.

WHAT THE MEN DESIRE. The demands made by the men upon the company are these:

1. That the Toronto Railway Company shall recognize the union.

2. That Bro. James McDonald shall be reinstated by the company.

3. That the working days shall consist of nine hours as nearly as the runs shall permit. out on strike this morning because

4. That each conductor and motorman shall receive 25 cents an hour and time and a quarter for Sunday.

6. That the cars be cleaned and put in order for the conductor and motorman in the morning, and the conductor and motorman shall keep the inside and platforms of the cars clean while on duty.

7. Whenever the union shall require the temporary services of any of its members, such member or members shall get leave of absence from the company until such services are performed.

THE DAY'S CORRESPONDENCE.

THE DAY'S CORRESPONDENCE. THE DAY'S CORRESPONDENCE.

At midnight last night, just previous to the holding of the two meetings, the position of affairs was this. The negotiations between the men and the company had apparently ended in failure. The company had refused to recognize the committee that waited upon Mr. Keating as representing the men, and had told them to go and call a mass meeting of all employes, union and non-union alike, at the same time offering to place Victoria Hall at their disposal to hold the meeting.

The committee that waited upon Mr. Keating consisted of W. H. Pickles, P. Langley and W. P. Thomson, but they were unable to come to any understanding.

Shortly after the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Keating sent the following ng. Shortly letter to the committee:
"Messrs. Pickles, Thomson and Langley,

Toronto: 'Gentlemen,-Referring to our inter-ew this morning, at which you preview this morning, at which you presented your credentials as a committee MEN'S REPLY TO MANAGER KEATrepresentative of the employes of this company, I beg to say that, as I view the matter, your credentials coupled with your own statements, show that in reality you were appointed merely to represent the members of the Toronto Railway Employes' Union and Benefit Society, at a meeting held on May 31 last.

THEY DID NOT ATTEND. "I have no doubt the meeting referred to spoke for a large number of men. But I desire to call your serious attention to the fact that I have quite recently been informed by themselves that a considerable number of our motormen and conductive are not members of the organiductors are not members of the organiductors are not members of the organization just named, and consequently did not attend the meeting at which you were appointed. Further, these men are of opinion that, in the light of the president's statement, that he had been engaged in investigating the wage question prior to May 31, and was prepared to act where the result of his inquiry, the whole upon the result of his inquiry, the whole situation has changed since then. These men, therefore, among them some of the oldest and most trusted employes, consider it not only advisable, but neces-sary, that a mass meeting of all the con-ductors and motormen should be held at the earliest possible moment, in order that a truly representative committee may be appointed to present the views of all to the management.

GIVE THEM A HALL. "In my judgment this proposal is a fair and reasonable one to all concerned. I have therefore much pleasure in placing Victoria Hall at the disposal of all our men for a mass meeting at midnight tonight, and cars will be supplied to carry men to the meeting and thence to situation is a project in case of their homes.

"I trust that you, gentlemen, and those whom you immediately represent, will avail yourselves of the opportunity of eliciting the views of the entire body of our motormen and conductors, and have strike to establish a line of busses and vans in opposition to the company's conveyances. It is not thought that towards evening, and the proposition is to have them run on the principal already informed you that I shall be glad to meet a committee appointed as here suggested at any time, and that such representations as it may make will rethoroughfares at the usual five-cent fare. The proceeds would be turned in to the employes' union.

ceive careful consideration. Yours truly, "E. H. KEATING, Manager."
The general committee held a meeting immediately on receipt of this, and it was at once decided to negotiate no further with the street railway company. "This is the last meeting we will hold with them," said one of the members of the committee, "except an invitation comes from the management. We have o'clock this morning. issued circulars to the men calling a neeting at the Star Theater for all who wish to attend. SIFTON REQUEST WAS NOT GRANTED

Council Would Not Let Them Compete for Business.

SENT PETITION TO COMMITTEE

Band Concerts for Summer-New Market Clerk Appointed-Other Matters.

The question of permitting the Sifton Electric Company to enter into competition with the London Electric Company in supplying light and power throughout the city was the most important matter before the city council last night. The street railway extension question was laid over to be discussed in detail at a special meeting to be called by the mayor. The Sifton company petitioned that they be allowed to enter into the business of supplying light and power under the same conditions as the London Electric Company, and it was upon the question of granting this petition outright or of sending it first to No. 2 committee, that the council split.

THE SIFTON REQUEST. Mr. E. J. Sifton petitioned as follows: "That your petitioners, being the own-ers of engines and dynamos for the supply of electricity for lighting and power, desire to be authorized to string insulated copper wires across the public streets and lanes of the city of London at, or nearly at, right angles thereto, for the purpose if distributing electricity to consumers throughout the city, such wires to be strung from the tops of buildings or to be carried by other suitable supports, erected entirely on private property, permission for which your petitioners undertake to secure.

"Your petitioners agree to do all work in strict accord with the rules and regulations laid down by the Canadian Board of Fire Underwriters and under the supervision and direction of your city engineer.

"Your petitioners do not desire to place or use any poles on the public streets, preferring to adopt the improved method of supplying buildings from the center of each block, thus dispensing with unsightly poles in the city streets.

"Your petitioners are willing to enter into an agreement with the city C. Sutherland, T. J. Taylor, R. Wigto extend their lines to and supply consumers on the same conditions as are laid down in the city's agreement Miller, Wm. Russell, with the London Eelectric Comany." Ald. Jolly moved, seconded by Ald. Cooper, that this petition be referred to No. 2 committee

Ald. Greenlees said that he had heard much from champions of the London Electric Company about a bylaw which forced them to string wires anywhere in the city, but, though he had searched diligently, he had not found in writing or print any such thing. All that he had discovered was a clause by which it says that they shall not be forced to extend their system beyond 1,400 feet past any wire now strung, and it was only necessary to do this upon the requisition of one half the ratepayers. The district that they had to cover was clearly defined by bylaw. He wanted to know from some of those who had made use of this argument whether he was not

"I am strongly in favor of competition," said Ald. Winnett, "but we should not rush into this too hastily. I for one would vote strongly for the Sifton Company, if they are to compete for business under the same conditions as the London Electric Committee?" Ald. Greenless asked, "except so that it may be burked. It was to ballot boxes, voters lists, ballots, cept so that it may be burked. It was sent to committee once before, and we know how it was treated. This time it will probably meet the same fate. At the last meeting they had crowed because they heard that a new industry was coming to this city. The men who were bringing it were wealthy men. They had small factories here now that could be helped if they would let this Sifton Company do the business it wants to do, but they would not do this. These men got the cold shoulder. His sympathies were with the struggling manufactur-er. The rich one could dictate his own terms, but the poorer man could not, and stood the chance of getting the worst of it. He should get fair treatment as well as the wealthy manufacturer. The London Electric Company believed that it ruled the roost. It thought that it had the votes of this council in its breeches pocket. He denied that they had. They had no exclusive contract. They had made their contract with the city as stiff a one as they could, and were satisfied with it. Then why should they get any privileges from the coun-cil at the expense of the Sifton Company and the citizens at large? Ald. Cooper denied that the London Electric Company had No. 2 committee in its breeches pocket. He had told Mr. Sifton that when he had made a proper application he (Ald. Cooper) would vote for it. The application that had been received then was the only one that had come in in a proper way. They were not trying to shut them out as a company, but as a supplier of power to an individual. The vote was then taken upon Ald. Campbell's amendment, which was

Ald. Jolly thereupon decided not to press his motion to force the Sifton Company to disconnect their wire at McClary's. It will come up at the next MARKET CLERKSHIP.

There were 34 applications for the position of market clerk, which was finally given to Mr. W. C. Maker, an employe at the car shops, who won in competition at the last vote with Mr. George Webb. The third man was Mr. F. G. Westlake. The applicants were: F. G. Westlake. The applicants were:

The proper elements needed to promote good digestion, regularity of the bowels, correct action of the kidneys and liver, must be supplied when a bilious condition of the system is once

Ferrozone can't help but do this. It gives the stomach perfect rest, and allows you to partake of and enjoy the variety of food that is necessary for maintaining health. One Ferrozone tablet taken after each meal will sep-arate the nutritious portions of the food from the waste, which is carried off, thus preventing and curing constipation and its attendant evil, piles.

Being a potent blood purifier, Ferrozone cleanses the crimson flood of all bile and impurities, and as a result the complexion is restored to a rosy, healthy hue, and the dark circles under the eyes and the deathly pallor of the eeks go away, never to return.

Taken for disorders of the stomach ommencing with biliousness, and ending with derangements of the liver and kidneys, Ferrozone achieves marvelous results. It is at the same time a tonic and stimulant, and a regulator of all bodily functions, and chronic sufferers should not fail to give it a fair trial. It will do them good without doubt, and if the malady is curable it will yield to Ferrozone.

With the use of Ferrozone appetite will be better, the blood made rich and pure, sleep will be dreamless and sound. Your muddy complexion will be cleared and beautified, your eyes will acquire a new brightness, and as your spirits rise and good health re-turns you will bless the day you learned the secret of Ferrozone's power. NEAR PITTSBURG

Menagerie. Pittsburg, Pa., June 17. - There was fierce fight at the edge of Aspinwall, just outside of the city limits, between three wolves, a cat, three dogs, a woman and a baby. One wolf was killed and the two others are at large. The wolf killed is 5 feet 4 inches long, and gray. It is presumed to be a menagerie wolf, as its fangs were filed and the feet were worn. The three animals were seen in the afternoon by Mrs. Margaret Jeffries, who lives with her family in a boathouse on the Allegheny River. The animals tried to enter the cabin by the gangplank, and Mrs. Jeffries set her dogs against them. The dogs circled around and backed away, followed by

The wolves jumped into the cabin with the dogs after them and ran towards Mrs. Jeffries' baby, which was playing on the floor with the cat. In an instant, dogs, wolves and cat were in a snarl on the floor, while Mrs. Jeffries picked up her baby and ran. Dogs worried the wolves so they fled back to the gangplank. GETTING READY FOR A BIG STRIKE

Toronto Street Car Company Expects One.

COLLECTING MANY NEW MEN

Employes Were in Secret Session at an Early Hour This Morning.

Toronto, June 17-1:30 a.m.-The employes of the Toronto Street Railway held two meetings last nightone called by the union in the Star Theater at midnight, to determine whether or not a strike should be ordered; the other at Victoria Hall, where the non-union men met to discuss the situation, and decide whether to stand by the company. Half an hour after midnight only twenty men had been admitted to the non-union meeting, and a union leader har-rangued a crowd of the men who hung outside, and told union men to go to the other meeting.

COMPANY REFUSE TO ARBI-TRATE

At the union meeting this morning there was a big crowd, probably 900 men, and great excitement prevailed. President A. E. Ames, of the board of trade; J. D. Allan, W. J. Gage and Paul Jarvis, secretary of the board of trade, were admitted shortly after the meeting opened, and addressing the men urged that recourse be had to arbitration, and that the general business of the city be not paralyzed by a strike. The men replied that they had offered to arbitrate, and the company replied that there was nothing to arbitrate. When the last of the late men got off their cars at 1 o'clock, leaving them bunched, by arrangement with the company, in the adjoining streets, the union went into secret session to vote on the strike question. The meeting is still in session at this hour.

ANTICIPATE A STRIKE. The company, in anticipation of a strike, is shipping in men from Buffalo, Montreal, London and other points where motormen especially can be found. Officials express confidence that at least 250 men will stay with the company, and that with this force the main routes can be ope-

The union meeting is still in secret session, and not likely to reach a de-cision as to a strike for some hours. MEN SECURED IN KINGSTON.

Laurier and the Conference.

The Premier of Canada in four or five days will touch the shores of England, where he will be a conspicuous figure even in the great assemblage of notables at the coronation. In Great Britain he is rightly regarded as the most distinguished of colonial statesmen, and Canadians felt a pride in the distinct impression he made on the British people five years ago. Sir Wilfrid's present mission is far more important than his last, when he went merely as a guest at the Queen's jubilee. He now goes to represent Canada not only at the coronation, but at the Imperial conference, which may mark a turning-point in the Empire's affairs. It is not likely that any colonial premier has a formulated plan to offer on either of the two leading questions, imperial trade and imperial defense, but the interchange of views may result In the delegates finding some points of agreement, and outlining a policy to be referred to the several parliaments of the Empire. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not going as a plenipotentiary, and We think of long-past moments, Will pledge Canada to nothing, certainly not to any scheme of preferential trade, as every interest in the country will have to be consulted. The question is, How far would the manufacturers of Canada be willing to open the door of the Canadian market to Brit-1sh competition, in return for preferential treatment of Canadian products In the British market? The Premier, the other day, put this query to Mr. Robert Munro, the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Munro suggested that Canada might raise her general tariff, and then give British manufacturers a preference of 50 per cent instead of 331/4 per cent, as at present. In other words, he would not reduce the present mar- A gin of protection enjoyed by Canadian manufacturers, as against British goods. If Canada takes such a position the idea of preferential trade within the Empire may as well be dismissed without further ado. Mr. Chamberlain declared five years ago, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach expressed the same view a few days since, that free trade within the Empire was the condition precedent to a colonial preference in Great Britain. We can conceive it possible the British Government might | tion." modify this condition by agreeing that the colonies might impose a light tariff on British goods for revenue purposes, while maintaining high duties on foreign imports; but it is not common sense to suppose for one moment the mother country would give the boon of a preference to the colonies, while they confront her with protective and therefore hostile tariffs. The colonies must consent to eliminate the principle of protection from their tariffs, as against how far the mother country is dispos-

of practical politics.

The Sifton Company made application to the City Council last night for permission to distribute electrical energy under the same conditions as the London Electric Company. An amendment by Ald. Campbell to grant the aldermen will not invent a new pretext for shutting off the competition electrical business.

The London Electric Company claim business lies, unless the firm is prepared, like the London Company, to give a service to the outlying portions, where rates are less remunerative. Of course, this would crowd out any small concern. Under the agreepany is only obliged to extend its line when the service is petitioned for by half the ratepayers in any block within 1,400 feet of the lines on the following streets: Ridout, from Horton to Colborne, north on Colborne to be afraid to put his pen to paper. York, east on York to Adelaide, north on Adelaide to Princess avenue, west on Princess avenue to Ridout, and north on Ridout to Horton; also on Dundas street between Colborne and Ontario streets, and in South London within half a mile of not run any great risk under these the dramatic splendor of the Gordon conditions, especially as they have the contract for street lighting, and can candescent wires. There are very his work. ratepayers ask for electrical conneccompany say, that they have not ex-lighting into a neighborhood so as to develop new business. For this enterprise the company deserve credit, although they were not obliged to do it. The Sifton firm is now willing to branch out on the same terms as the London Company; but we still hold that as no electrical company has an exclusive franchise on the city streets, the utmost freedom of competition should not only be allowed but encouraged. Cheap power is becoming more and more the basis of a city's industrial success, and the interest London has in securing it is far greater than the interest of any one company. We should like to see a score of small electrical companies spring up if the result would be cheaper electrical energy for manu-

At the session this morning, Mr. Madden, of Forest, gave an address that was exceedingly interesting, upon that was exceedingly interesting, upon the purpose and benefits of conventions of the deaf, and Mr. Wm. Kay, of Shetland, signed the story of Christ stilling the tempest. Messrs. Hender-son, of Talbotville, and Pettiford, of Guelph, were appointed auditors, and found the treasurer's books correct, with a balance on hand of $17 27.

Mr. Nurse then gave an affectionate memorial address, referring to their late teacher at the Belleville Institute, Mr. D. J. McKillop, and a similar address was given by Mr. Mason for the late John Gates, of Toronto. Mr. Nurse signed a brief speech be-

LOCAL market

It was a quiet day for strawberries at the market this forenoon. By actual count there were nearly 79 vehicles with strawberries on sale. The owners of the berries were discouraged in the early part of the morning. They seemed to disappear, however, all at once and by 11 o'clock there were only a few loads unsold.

THE ASSEMBLY LET DR. WILKIE GO

Action of the Presbyteries Is Indorsed.

SAD NEWS COMES BY CABLE

Death of Prof. Halliday Douglas, Late of Knox College John Charlton's Resolution.

Toronto, June 16.-The Presbyterian General Assembly this morning confirmed the action of the presbyteries, a majority of which had voted disapproval to appoint elders for a term of years, instead of for life, as at pres-

The assembly finally sanctioned the proposal to reduce the members of future assemblies from one-fourth of the ministers and elders to one-sixth. The principal plea of raising a fund for traveling expenses of the assembly commissioners was approved. SAD NEWS.

Sad news came to the general as sembly this afternoon in the form of a cable announcing the death in the old country yesterday of Prof. Halliday Douglas, the brilliant Scotch scholar, and former Cambridge pastor, who joined the staff of Knox College last October as professor of apologetics and homiletics. Prof. Douglas, it was understood, had undergone an operation for appendicitis, and the news came in the form of a cable from Mrs. Douglas to W. A. Lang-ton. Prof. Douglas was regarded as a coming man at Knox, and only this morning, in presenting the report of Knox College, Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Sarnia, paid a very high tribute to

EFFECT OF GOOD TRAINING. The alumni of Knox College are being encouraged by liberal subscriptions to the $30,000 required for the new library and museum building. The late principal, John M. King, at one time a Toronto minister, and afterwards the head of Manitoba College, is to be commemorated by the establishment of a chair in Old Testament literature in the college in Winnipeg. TOO MANY THEOLOGICAL SCHOOLS (?)

At the opening of the afternoon sederunt, John Charlton, M. P., submitted the following notice of motion: "That this general assembly recog-nizes the fact that the number of theological schools in connection with the Presbyterian Church in Canada is in excess of its requirements, and believes that the endowment and equipment of these schools is insufficient for the purpose of maintaining a high state of efficiency; that their unneces-sary number scatters and impairs the educational forces of the church; that the superior equipment and great resources of American theological schools tends to draw Canadian students from our own theological colas soon as practicable to merge these colleges into an eastern and a west. ern university and divinity school each with endowment equipment and resources sufficient to meet the educational needs of the Presbyterian Church in Canada."

OVERSEERS OF MISSION WORK. The committee appointed to nominate men for the oversight of the mission work of the church in the west tonight decided to make the following recommendations to the assembly

LATO reproved a man for daily playing dice. "You reprove me for a little thing," said the culprit. "Habit," replied Plato, "is no little thing." At first sight the choice of breakfast coffee seems trifling. Any coffee will do. But the question of daily habit is important. To gain a little extra strength one day is a trifle; but to gain daily strength continuously is to acquire a new vigor of health. That is why Chase & Sanborn's Coffee for breakfast is so important.

Injured Man Is an ex-Street Railway Employe.

James Paterson, a farmer, living east of the city, received serious and possibly fatal injuries in a runaway accident on Queen's avenue at 2 p.m. oday. He was driving a horse attached to a light wagon containing a number of empty packing cases. Midway between Park avenue and Richmond street the horse took fright and started to run away. Mr. Paterson either fell or jumped from the vehicle, alighting on his head, and being knocked unconscious. The horse continued to run, and jumped over a boulevard railing at the corner of Park avenue, the wagon catching on the railing and separating from the harness. The horse was then caught. Meanwhile, the injured man had been picked up, the ambulance summoned, and Dr. Mc Laren called. The latter at once ordered Mr. Paterson taken to the hospital, where his injuries could be properly attended to. Mr. Paterson is an elderly man. He was employed as a motorman on the street railway before the strike. His son, James G. Paterson,

James Paterson Fell or Jumped | Reached River Bank as Lad Was Going Under.

> "Will I Get My Candy If I Go Home?" Was Boy's Query.

Police Officer Roland Johnston performed a very commendable deed at Springbank yesterday. He was on duty there, and while patrolling the grounds just north of the pavilion, on his wheel, heard screams coming from the direction of the river. He quickly dismounted, and ran to the bank, where he found a ten-year-old boy struggling tune a time, would surely have been drowned, as he could not swim, and was excited. When the lad had been pulled out and set on his feet, he ran to one of the officials and anxiously inquired: "If I go home now, will I get my candy? With the exception of Police Officer

"If an individual or a firm chooses to locate a power house in the center of a block and supply electricity to those within the block, we have no business to interfere, as the power is transmitted over private property; but it is different, when anyone undertakes to cross the street and carry wires from block to block. In that case we merely ask They Fall Over a Precipice Three that he be subjected to the same conditions as ourselves, by being obliged to grant competition to people on the outskirts of the city, as well as those in the center. We have often extended our lines into residential streets at a considerable loss, in the hope of popularizing electric lighting. In asking that competitors be put on the same footing, our position is only reasonable and fair.' Mr. Hunt pointed out that the Lon-don Electric Company's plant represented a large outlay, and that scores of people had their savings invested in the business. The first two years it paid no dividends; the third year it paid per cent; the following year no divcent. The earnings in any year had never been more than 71/2 per cent. The company paid out $18,000 per year in wages, and $2,500 per year to the city in taxes. In addition the city had the right to use the company's poles for its Double Suicide in the Vicinity of Ottawa.

Two Mon Plunge to Death in the Chaudiere Rapids.

Ottawa, Ont., June 17 .- Two unknown men jumped off the C. P. R. bridge, above the Chaudiere Falls yesterday and were drowned. They jumped into the surging, boiling cauldron known as the "Big Kettle" and went down in sight of a number of J. R. Booth's millmen, who were powerless to interfere. The act seemed to be most deliberate and carefully planned. Neither the Ottawa nor Hull police have received reports of men being missing, and the identity of the suicides is a complete mystery.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, June 17 .- The Canadian Pacific Railway crosses the Ottawa River some distance above the Chaudiere Falls. There is a small island about the center of the river at this point. Yesterday afternoon two men were seen crossing from the Ottawa end over the bridge. They stood for a short time in water up to his mouth. AGRICULTURAL SEED TRADE. London, June 2.—Messrs. John Shaw & Sons, seed merchants, write that the seed lodges, held a very pleasant banquet last night at the rooms of Prospect Lodge, Duffield block. The occasion was the official visit of Grand Chancellor E. K. Barnsdale, of Stratford. Places at the tables were occupied by about 75 persons, who heartily enjoyed the event, and who did all in their power to make their guests' visit a pleasant one. In this they succeeded, the latter being loud in their praises of their entertainment.

The usual lodge toasts were honor-driving to the cabinet today the four additional commissioners for the Ottawa improvement. Bons, seed merchants, write that the seed market, as might be expected at this dull time of the year, is now thinly attended, and presents no feature of interest. Some few transactions are reported in Chilian red clover seed, but the high prices now asked do not encourage business. For mustard and rapeseed former prices are asked. Meantime, notwithstanding the advanced season, a few orders continue to drop in for tares. Both canary and hempseed must be quoted dearer, the latter substantially so, and there are indications of the advance continuing. Other kinds of bird seeds, however, show ment alteration in value. For blue peas and harloot beans the market remains firm. haricot beans the market remains firm.

CHAPTER IV.

How little does one-half the world know how the other half lives. The streams of life, like the waters of the Rhine and the Moselle, though they down the same channel, fatten the same pastures, turn the same mill and eddy over the same shoals, meet, but mingle not; and what interests are there in common between No. 1 and No. 2 of any firest, square or row in the great city? Your next-door neighbor, the man who by a party-wall of one brick and a halfan in thickness, may be a colner, an Italian refugee, or an alchemist in scarced his, and while the rosy drasms, do not the contrary. You lay your head on your pilow within eighteen inches and while the rosy drasms, did it is such a mockery to awake, are gilding your morning sleep, he may be lying ing your morning sleep, he may be lying in your morning sleep, he may be a colner of the same water rate, and every the same water rate, and consume an equal number of cubic restyllable, probably never set eyes on sach other from year's and the same water rate, and one of your removes to another and a narrower house "over the way."

I suppose, with the variety of a little more bloodshed and a little more fliration, things went on in Babylon the Great much as they do in the London of today. The wine cup bubbled again and again usque ad nauseam for the high and the low gasped in vain for a mouthful of pure cold water. The Assyrian in purple wallowed in profusion until he longed for a sensation, even though it were the sting of pain; while the Assyrian in rags starved and drooped at his gates, faint and hungry and weary of his life. It was the bees whose sweltering labor constructed those hangweary of his life. It was the bees whose sweltering labor constructed those hanging gardens, the fame of which reached the uttermost ends of the known earth, but it was the drones who walked delicately along their terraces, and languished in their perfumed bowers, and caught the diamond drops from their splashing fountains, gushing, and glittering, and hurling themselves upward against the scorching sky.

So the bees and the drones jostle each other today in the crowded thoroughfares of London, and some take the rough and some take the rough and some take the smooth, and they have nothing in common, and know each other

A section of the bees are clustering very busily in a musical portion of the hive. There is a morning concert this afternoon, and the professionals are all in tune and time, preparing for the grand effects and combinations which delight the dilettante, and of which less-instructed listeners deem it incumbent on structed listeners deem it incumbent on them to say: "Magnificent! very fine!" They are assembling even now in a little room off the grand hall, which is already half filled with an impatient audience, reduced to the sad necessity of criticising each other's dresses, and dirtying their gloves with the programme as they read it over and over again. The drones are always employed in doing nothing, and always very tired of that laborious occupation. The bees seem to enjoy their half-hour's respite, and to have a good deal of fun and cordiality among them-

The male portion are chiefly remarkable for the extreme accuracy of their toilets, and the purity of their close-fitting white kid gloves, which, with black evening coats and continuations, seem somewhat out of place at 3 a'clock in the day. They are either men of extremely martial appearance, running considerably to whisker, and in some cases close-cut beard, or else they affect an open simplicity of countenance amounting to vacuity, enhanced by bare throats and long hair trained studiously off the temples, and flowing down the nape of The male portion are chiefly remarktemples, and flowing down the nape of the neck, than which, in my humble opinion, no fashion is more unbecoming to the face of a male adult.

to the face of a male adult.

You would make some strange mistakes, though, if you judged of their tones by their appearance. The large, well-built fellow, with the legs and chest of a Hercules, is the tenor, and if you only heard that soft, silvery voice of his quivering and thrilling on the sands by moonlight, you would fancy such seductive notes could proceed from nothing less feminine than a mermaid, instead of a stout, soldier-like convivalist, who would incontinently offer you a cigar and take you home with him to a Perigord pie and a cool bottle of claret.

The bass, again, whose diapason shall

The bass, again, whose diapason shall make the very window-glasses shake before sunset, is a pale, weary-tooking man, whom at first sight you would call weakly, if not an invalid. His tailor alone knows that he requires a larger girth round the chest than most Life Guardsmen, and indeed the organ that c.c. evolve such music as that deep thunderroll must be endowed with valves and material of no ordinary strength—and dimensions. He has a wife and large family to be provided for out of the low notes of that instrument, and already an unpleasant suspicion dawns upon him that it will not last forever. Great was fore sunset, is a pale, weary-looking man

The lady singers are in low evening dresses, and most of them wear their hair a l'Imperatrice. They are whispering and talking to each other with that busy, good-humored cordiality which the sex is prone to affect in public places, and those who have not brought bouquets with them are vehemently admiring the Faint Spells, Dizziness, or any and those who have not brought boudgets with them are vehemently admiring the flowers of those who have. One sits a little apart from the rest; she is attired very simply in mourning, and carries a half-blown rose in her bosom. As she drops her head over the score in her hand, the tenor, who has something of a painter's taste, thinks she would make a pretty picture with her white shoulders relieved by her black dress, and the nut-brown hair shading and hiding her face, while a sunbeam, slanting through the window, brings out a gold tinge on the glossy head. He is a softhearted, good-humored man, this tenor, and cherishes a romantic and self-denying adoration for many ladies, both in and out of the profession, and for this one especially, the more so that there is a quiet reserve in her manner, by which he is abashed not a little, and that after he has said "Good morning!" he generally falters, puts his hands in his pockets, and becomes mute.

make him happy ever afterward. I sometimes think this strange predilection originates in the instinctive jealousy and love of appropriation so remarkable in the sex. Beauty thinks nobody else will care to interfere with Bruin, and it increases the baye aven a beast all to will care to interfere with Bruin, and it is pleasant to have even a beast all to herself; but old Flippant, for whose lengthened experience in such matters I have the profoundest respect, takes a wider view of the subject, and refers all such incongruities to the general principle such incongruities to the general principle of contradiction, and the impossibility of arguing from probability, expediency or any other national data, as to what a woman, under any given circumstances, will or will not do, or let alone, or otherwise.

It is at such times that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prove themselves prompt to give relief and certain to

Besides the pain and inconvenience caused by these troubles, I became dropsical, and my legs would swell up so that I could scarcely go around at all. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, now I can say for a certainty that I am entirely cured. DATES FOR CANADA CUP RACES FIXED.

Toronto, Ont., June 17 .- Members of the Rochester yacht club and the Royal Canadian yacht club of Toronto met here yesterday and fixed the dates for the Canada cup races for Aug. 15, 17 and 19, 1903. There was discussion over the class of boat for the race, which will be settled later. The conditions are three races in five to de-

THE TURE.

WONDERLY'S ACHIEVEMENT. Toronto Star: Three years ago at Woodbine the London contingent believed they had a sure winner of the Queen's Plate in Miss Dart. Rather than trust in any of the regular jockeys, the Londoners brought down a boy to exercise the filly and also to The boy in question was Otto Won-

In private Miss Dart made the fastest trial of any candidate for the Guineas, but in the race she was nowhere, and the London contingent blamed the rider.

"Go back to the bush, and cut wood for a living," they cried at Wonderly, and for a time the boy's aspirations to become a jockey were badly dimmde. Saturday at Sheepshead Bay, before 50,000 people, the same Otto Wonderly, despised and rejected at Woodbine three short years before, was the hero of the hour, he having just ridden Gold Heels, the 4-year-old son of The Bard -Heel and Toe, the winner of the Suburban handicap. According to the New York critics, Gold Heels' victory was due in a large measure to Wonderly's perfect jockeyship. In three years, therefore, Wonderly has worked himself up from an obscure stable boy to be the leading 3 to 5, won by a length; On the Quiet, jockey in the land. His perseverance and pluck have had their reward.

MATCH RACE FOR $20,000. New York, June 17.-It has been definitely settled that the match race between Thos. Lawson's Boralma and E. E. Smathers' Lord Derby or a side stake of $20,000, shall take place at Hartford on Saturday, Aug. 2. The horses have been matched, and forfeits of $5,000 have been posted for

THE COMING AMERICAN DERBY. Chicago, June 16 .- With fifteen starters, and that is a conservative esti-mate of the number that will go to the ington Park next Saturday, the stake will have a gross value of $25,825, and will be worth net to the miles of the stake to the miles of the stake to the stake t will be worth, net, to the winner $20,ine!" Following is the probable field in the with owners, jockeys and estimated prices:

At last advices Green B. Morris had not decided whether he would send Old England, Homestead or both. His intention is to delay shipment until a days before the race, so as to avoid the possible effects of change of climate. As Mr. Morris puts it, he wants the race to be over before his horses realize the change. If Morris starts only one, Sam Doggett will have the mount. If two go on the service of Bullman will be enlisted. Bullman seems to exercise a strange influence over the American Derby. At the last moment in 1900 he secured the mount on Sidney Lucas, and Sidney Lucas won. Again in 1901 he was mountless up to 49 minutes before post time. Then a few heavy speculators who had backed Robert Waddell persueded "Pa" Bradley to allow Bullman I procured a box and continued the to manage his gelding. The old Viruse of this valuable medicine until ginian demurred for awhile, as he wanted to put up his colored jockey, Seaton, but at the last moment he was persuaded and Bullman was tossed into the saddle. Robert Waddell won, If Bullman is on the grounds on the day of the race he will not have to go begging for a mount. It will not require much persuasion on the part of outsile speculators to secure him a mount. He knows the turns of the Washington Park track, and is quite familiar with he Derby distance. If he rides Old England, that entry of Mr. Morris will be a well-backed horse.

Heno arrived here fit to go to the post, and his exercise between now and the race will be according to schedule laid down before he left New York. He was given a useful gallop Thursday morning, and has had another since.

Tuesday morning he will be set down for a stiff breeze over the Derby route. Hermis traveled at a more leisurely pace from New York, and is now stabled at Hawthorne, where Trainer Charles Hughes is giving him his final preparation. Hughes does not stand in awe of the western contingent, and figures that the only one he has to beat is Heno. Arthur Featherstone, owner of Arsenal, agrees with Mr. Morris in the matter of late shipment. Arsenal, accompanied by Trainer Julius Bauer, will not arrive at Washington Park until three days before the race, barely time enough to get the kinks out of his legs before the race. The stable jockey, Winnie O'Connor, will accom-

Jacob Worth, the owner of Oom Paul, has not relinquished his claim on the Derby, but that good colt has chang-ed handlers so often recently that his programme is a matter of doubt. Mr. Worth may decide at the last moment to send him out. It depends largely on a canvass of the company he will have to meet in eastern stakes that are run about the time of the Derby, Dixieline is another subject of a guess. At pre-sent he is marked doubtful. If Pentecost comes out of the Suburban safe and sound, John E. Madden will likely send him to Chicago.

A Mount Vernon, Ohio, correspondent of the Buffalo Horse World writes on a subject that has created much interest among horsemen, as follows: "Reading the interesting story in your paper written by "A Man from Texas," in regard to pacers among wild horses, would say that in 1882 on the staked plains in North and Western Texas, about 120 miles northwest of Fort Worth, there were wild horses Big Race Tracks. of Fort Worth, the by the hundreds, and as the "Man from Texas" said there we almost always some fast pacers in every bunch. I would vouch for the story he told, and I will recall two instances in which remarkably fast pacers were caught by myself and a half dozen other men. One was a dun, or, what we called in Texas at that time, a buckskin color, with black mane and tail, 15.1 in height and weigh ed about 900 pounds, that was caught gelded and broken and used for a sad dle horse. He could pace a half mile faster than any pony in those parts

"We followed the bunch for ten days, and finally lassoed him in a little canon at the western edge of the plains, in what was called the Guadaloupe canon in those days.

"The other one was a red bay horse with black points, a really fine looker, but he was only 14½ hands high and weighed about 750 pounds. The same crowd cut him off from the bunch he was running with, and as he came down the fence the boys that were stationed there waiting, lassoed him. He was also gelded and broken as a saddle horse, and he, like the other, never did anything but pace; it was what we call single footing, but either one could go at that gait as fast as the average pony could run. These two were caught out of bunches of about 60 head, and, as the "Man from Texas" has said, there are plenty of fast pacers among every band of wild ponies roaming the prairies of the southwest.

"There were about 400 head of wild horses at the head of Running Waters, at the north edge of the staked plains in 1882, in one bunch, and as nearly as we could judge there were between 25 and 30 of them that could pace or, in reality, single foot, as fast as the other part of the bunch could run; for I there was almost level for 150 miles Batteries—Yerkes, Dunham and O'Neil; square it was hardly any use to try W. Longevity of Dogs.

The age to which a dog lives in the ordinary course is always a somewhat interesting subject, especially at the present time, when so much is done in the way of breeding for early maturity. For instance, we have both Batteries-Yeager and Buelow; Orth and champions before they are well out of their puppyhood, but it is sad to say that in a majority of such cases the over-shown dog afterward rapidly degenerates or dies an early death. A correspondent writes to the Field of the death of his fox terrier at the advanced age of 18 years, having been born in 1884. He was either a son of a grandson of Brokenhurst Joe, his late owner does not know which. This is, no doubt, a case of unusual longevity; but instances of dogs living to 14 and 15 years are common. rD. Leeney recorded the death of a dog of Lord Ogilvie's at 23 years old, it arising from an accident; while Mr. W. L. Littleton-Geach about the same time mentioned two of his own dogs, one of which was then living hard on to 20 years old; the other had just died when over that age. The well-known fox terrier Belgrave Joe was born July 31, 1868, and died Jan. 13, 1888, while another aged terrier was one of a working stamp which came from George Carter, of the Bedale, born in January, 1880, and died Feb. 13, 1900. In several of the above well-authenticated cases of longevity death either arose from accident or was brought about by the owner owing to the growing feebleness of the poor creature. No mean can be struck as to the average age of the ordinary dog, but this might be taken at 10 years as he is now .-Pall Mall Gazette.

Permanent Muscular Strength There is this to be borne in mind in these days, when so many young men are giving so much attention to physical de-velopment in gymnastic and athletic ex-ercises, that there cannot be permanent muscular strength where there is not blood strength. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives blood strength, promotes digestion and assimilation, and builds up the whole system.
