Vanderbilt Rents a Deer Forest.

LONDON, May 20. - Mr. Wm. K. Vanderbilt has rented Lord Lovat's deer forest at Brauden, Inverness, and will shortly visit that place with a shooting party.

Sudden Death of Edmund Yates. .LONDON, May 20 .- Edmund Yates, author and journalist, was stricken with apoplexy last evening at the Garrick theater where Lytton's "Money" was playing. He was removed to the Savoy Hotel, where he died this afternoon.

Sunk in Collision.

COPENHAGEN, May 20 .- The British steamship Horton, from Nava, for Zaandam, is here. She collided with the German brig Emma Beug, from Hamburg, for Koka. The Emma Beug sank and four of her crew were drowned.

To Help American Women.

BERLIN, May 20. - The American Women's League, whose object is to help American women in trouble in Germany, has perfected its organization, and will be known hereafter as the Women's Aid Asso- time there will be a grand illumination. ciation of the American Colony of Berlin. Mrs. Theodore Runyon is the president. Will Protect Portuguese Citizens in LISBON, May 20 .- The Government of Great Britain has officially informed the Portuguese Government that Mr. Wyndham, the British Minister to Brazil, has been instructed to protect Portuguese citizens in Rio Janeiro. Most of the European powers have approved the conduct of Portugal in connection with Brazil. A large number of Portuguese and Italian laborers in Brazil are preparing to return to Europe. The Cattle Embargo.

London, May 20 .- The Canadian authorities here have reason to believe that the period of special examination of Canadian cattle ordered by the Board of Trade will terminate in June. With cessation of the regulations concerning Canadian cattle the embargo on cattle from the United States will likely be raised. The Live Stock Journal says the United States Government has already brought pressure upon Great Britain upon the subject.

The Slave Trade Booming.

LONDON, May 20 .- The Anti-Slavery Society has learned that the slave trade between West Africa and the islands of the Sao Thome and Principe continues despite Portugal's pledge at the Brussels conference to end it. No Portuguese steamer leaves Peuguella or Novo Rendondo without a partial cargo of slaves for Loando or Sao Thomo. In most cases the slaves are sold to owners of coffee plantations. The trade in young children is especially large.

Rates of Discount.

London, May 20 .- The rates of discount last week were 1 for 3 months and 3 for 30 days. There was a ceaseless influx of gold, with no sign of withdrawal for export. The silver market was dull, with a downward tendency early in the week. During the last three days the price was somewhat firmer. Business on the Stock Exchange was comparatively limited, owing to the sinking of American and Argentine securities. Consuls rose 4. Prices of American railroad securities were

Praise for Canada.

London, May 20 .- The London Times has another lengthy Canadian letter of much interest. It deals with the labor question, education and politics. Of the found necessary to amputate the thumb labor problem affecting other countries, the | and first finger. writer says, Canada has none of it to speak of, and credits the labor element in the Dominion with temperate action when dealing with difficulty. The standard of education in the country, he points out, is above $100,000. The assets are comof high average, and instances as one of the remarkable results of an excellent man's failure Diehl & Co., of Toronto, who school system the very prominent position which Canada has taken in recent years in matters affecting the empire.

Gladstone on the Status of Ireland. Rome, May 23. - The Voce Della Verita publishes a letter from Mr. Gladstone in reply to a communication from Mgr. Tarabulini, an attache of the Vatican, asking the ex-Premier's cpinion as to the present status of Ireland. Mr. Gladstone sympathizes with the reasons actuating the inquiry and the sentiments expressed by Mgr. Tarabulini, which he believes reflect the opinion of the Pope. The Irish, he says, are undeniably showing a great example of obedience to the law, but they are divided among themselves. He believes the fault lies with the Parnellites, and the result of the schism is deplorable, for discord is the principal obstacle to the progress of their cause. Parliamentary Probabilities.

London, May 20 .- Parliament will resume its sitting on Monday under the shadow of dissolution. Sir William Harcourt, the Government leader in the House, has informed the leaders of the McCarthyite section of the Irish party that the next general election will probably take place in July, and other Liberal authorities have conveyed similar intimations. Mr. Richard Haldane, M.P., in his speech to his constituents yesterday also predicted an early dissolution. The coming anti-Lords conference in Leeds will sound the solved to make the question of the survival programme. A London paper, which has been gleaning the ideas of a number of peers on the coming doom of their body, has elicited the opinion of the Duke of Fife, son-in-law of the Price of Wales, who expresses himself as in favor of infusing popular elements into the Upper House without breaking the historic continuity of that body. The other peers who responded to the newspaper's invitation to express their views on the subject, are all opposed to any concessions on the part of the House of Lords and in favor of a determined fight for the integrity of that body.

The Queen's Visit to Manchester. MANCHESTER, May 20 .- The preparations for the reception of the Queen on the occasion of the formal opening of the Manchester ship canal on May 21, are complete. Several miles of streets are lined with stands, Venetian masts, etc., and profusely decorated with flags, banners other English delegates adhered to their and floral arches. The Queen will arrive at 4:30 in the afternoon. She will be received at the station by the mayor and his staff, and be escorted to the town hall by a was unanimously voted to hold the next detachment of cavalry. At the town hall | congress in Paris in 1895. Benjamin Pickan address will be read, after which her ard, member of the British Parliament for Majesty will be driven to Trafford wharf, Lancashire, the route being guarded by volunteers and yeomanry. At Trafford wharf she will embark on the yacht Enchantress, and after a short trip through the canal will return and declare the great waterway open to commerce. The canal company have prepared an address for the occasion, a large number of copies of which have been printed. It is a beautiful specimen of the printer's art, and contains a number of illuminated pictures representing scenes along the banks of the canal. The text of the address declares that the canal ranks with the greatest engineering achievements of the reign of her Majesty Queen Victoria, and affords direct communication to the great commercial and manufacturing districts of the world. Upon returning to Trafford wharf the Queen will enter a carriage and be driven to Salford, where she will be presented with an address. At 7:30 o'clock in the evening her Majesty will leave for Balmoral,

The principal streets and equares of Manchester, Salford and other places in the vicinity will be closed to vehicles from 8:30 p.m. until midnight, during which

Cexeyites Starving and Suffering from Cold-Others Stealing Trains,

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 20 .- The condition of "Gen." Frye's army is pitiable. The men are suffering from cold and scanty meals. MISSOULA, Mont., May 20 .- A band of 450 Coxeyites of the Seattle Spokane detachment captured a freight train yesterday morning on the Northern Pacific at Heron, a few miles from the Idano line and 150 miles west of here. Twenty deputy sheriffs, heavily armed, have left here to intercept them. A report comes from the Cour d'Alene county that the situation at that point is most critical. Commonwealers are gathering in large numbers and are being assisted by hundreds of unemployed miners. Serious trouble will probably tollow.

Close of the International Miners' Con. North Waterloo Patrons Select a Cangress at Berlin-Labor No.es.

BERLIN, May 20 .- The International Congress of Miners has closed. At the final sitting yesterday Delegates Bailey and Johnson, of England, were present, but the resolution of Friday to absent themselves, The two delegates were present, however, with the approval of their colleagues. It Normanton division of Yorkshire, was elected permanent secretary of the congress. CHICAGO, May 20. - Many of the Pullman strikers are destitute, and are receiving aid from the police. The distribution of provisions seems to be unofficial, and has dready reached large proportions. Geo. Howard, of the American Railway Union, left to-night for St. Louis, where he will try to organize the St. Louis Pullman employes and try to defeat the company's presumed intention of using those shops for emergency repairs.

POWDERLY EXPELLED. PHILADELPHIA, May 20.-Terence V. Powderly, ex-general master workman of the Knights of Labor, A. W. Wright, of Toronto, Canada, ex-member of the general executive board of the Knights, and H. S. Quinn, master workman of District Assembly 99, an ardent supporter of Powderly, have been unceremoniously expelled from the Knights of Labor. This action on the part of the new general executive board of the Knights has been forecast for several months. The fact that Powderly and the little band who clung to him after his defeat for re-election last November have been pulling wires, talking and otherwise endeavoring to bring about the downfall of the new officials of the Knights and the disruption of the order, has been an open secret. Nearly every step taken by them has been exposed and the rank and file of knighthood all over the country have come to look upon their once loyal leader as a traitor to the order.

The schemes of Powderly and his coterie to break up the order came to a climax at the recent unofficial labor conterence held in this city at their instigation, and for the purpose of handing the order to the Federation of Labor. In his utterances before the conference and elsewhere, before local and district assemblies and to individual Knights, by speech and letter, Powderly was supported by his old friend, A. W. Wright, of Toronto.

Meanwhile P. H. Quinn, of Providence, district master workman of district 99, had been widely circulating through assemblies in his own State and Massachusetts, making the statement that the present general officers of the Knights were only holding their positions for the purpose of gobbling up the property of the Knights, and that, in fact, there was nothing left of the Knights except the brown stone building at 814 North Broad street, this city.

The charges against Powderly and his companions are based on the following aws of the Knights, contained in article 31 of the constitution: Any member of the order advocating its disruption or the withdrawal of any local assembly or other assembly from the order shall by that act be expelled from the order. Any member of the order who shall malign any officer or member, and who shall fail to sustain his assertion by preferring, within fifteen days, charges against said officer or member, and who shall fail to prove the same, upon conviction of the offense, shall be ex-

Whenever a member of the order uses the public press or takes to the public platform to name an officer or member in such a manner as to reflect on the name, character or reputation of that officer or member, upon satisfactory proof of such act to the general executive board, said board shall declare the offending member expelled or fix such other penalty as the magnitude of the offense may warrant, subject to appeal to the General Assembly.

With these sections of the constitution as a basis, Messrs. McGuire, French and Martin, constituting a quorum of the general executive board, met in Boston, and after an investigation of the charges expelled the three members as stated. General Secretary-Treasurer Hayes was at once notified, and the letters notifying the delinquent members of their expulsion were at once mailed from this city.

CONSIDERING THE SCALE. CLEVELAND, O., May 20 .- After three hours' hard work yesterday, Secretary Kilgallen of the miners' convention, reported that the convention had practically concluded the consideration of the scale. There has been practically no change in the puddlers and finishers.

didate-Political Notes.

Special to the ADVERTISER.] A PEACHER'S OPINION.

OTTAWA, May 20.—The Rev. R. E Knowles, paster of the Stewarton Presbyterian Church, preached this evening on "The Greatest Philanthropists," and in the course of his remarks said that the world rewarded those who rendered good service in any department of life, whether science, art or literature, and even in politics the public man who rendered valiant service would be enthroned in the hearts of the people. If the people of Ontario sustained the veteran Premier next month, as he believed they would, it will be because of a conviction that Sir Oliver Mowat had rendered valiant service to his country, and with untiring industry, nothing has ever soiled his escutcheon.

PRINCE EDWARD TEMPERANCE CANDIDATE. Picton, Ont., May 20 .- A mass meeting of temperance workers was held in the Royal Temperance Hall here yesterday to select a candidate to contest the constituency of Prince Edward in the approaching Provincial election in the temperance interest. Mr. John Laird, mayor of Picton, was selected. Mr. Laird is a staunch temperance man, has had considerable experience in municipal matters, having served the town as councilor and reeve and at the present time as mayor. He is a Liberal in politics, but will seek election as an independent supporter of the Mowat Government, pledged to promote and support all legislation looking to the suppression of the liquor traffic.

NORTH WATERLOO PATRONS. BERLIN, May 20 .- At the meeting of the Patrons of Industry, held here to-day, Mr. D. M. Shoemaker received the unanimous nomination for North Waterloo.

POLITICAL NOTES. The Howard Liberals met at Ridgetown on Saturday to elect delegates to Tuesday's convention. Mr. Watson publishes a card in the Ridgetown Standard declining the nomination tendered him by the East Kent Conservatives on the 4th inst.

Ridgetown Plaindealer: East Kent is safe. Mr. Ferguson has not refused to stand. No Reformer but wants him nominated. No man in the world can run him out.

The Hamilton Spectator is hard at work working up religious prejudices against the Mowat Government. In its last issue it says: "The kind of Christian statesmanship that Ontario wants is the kind that acknowledges that there are other Christians besides Roman Catholics." The London Free Press is asking opposition to the Mowat Government because the Government did not erect a normal school in London. If the Mowat Government put all the institutions in Ontario in London the Free Press would not support it .- [Chatham Banner. The Liberals in Lambton are organizing rapidly. The officers for Sarnia township are: President, John McFarlane; first vice-president, Wm. Ingraham; second vice-president, Robt. Morrison; secretary, John Lowrie. Moore township has just elected these: Thomas Hayne, president; D. McKellar, secretary; John A. McBean, first vice-president; Wm. Scott, second vice president.

The Reformers of East Hastings will meet at Campton on Tuesday to choose a candidate for the Commons.

Conflicting Rumors About the Duke of York's Health.

lively controversy over the respective size and beauty of the feet of English and American women. Some editors, in the face of overwhelming evidence, confess that English feet are out of running in such a controversy, and console themselves by asserting that the feet of Englishmen are far more shapely and aristocratic than those of their American brothers. There have been many indignant protests against even this admission. The shoe dealers, when assured that they may speak incog., regretfully admit that they are unable to fit the trim American foot with any shoe ready made for the fat and flat feet of English

York in Bad Health,

It is curious with what persistency rumor declares that the health of the Duke of York is unsatisfactory. Nobody can deny that the Prince looks like a weakling, but those enjoying his personal acquaintance declare that the reports that he is constantly in the hands of doctors is all rubbish. A well-informed writer makes this rather curious statement, which is meant to be reassuring:

"There is no doubt that the Duke has not recovered the strength which marked his younger days, but he is not ill, neither can he be said to be weak. All that has happened is, that being susceptible to colds. he has when affected thought it desirable to take care of himself, and not allow the development of anything like a pulmonary complaint." This apparently is the best that can be said in regard to the Duke of York's health.

It is easy to understand, therefore, the somewhat unusual anxiety with which the birth of his first child is awaited. Miss Rye's Canadian Importations. Miss Rye, a benevolent lady who for years past has supplied Canada with regular consignments of young waifs and stays, who, we are given to understand here, grow up into mothers of great and good citizens, and thus help maintain the glories received the following telegram: "Poor of the Dominion, has been compelled to advertise for material. Thomas Barnes, a young man described as holding a good position in a suburb of London, has been paying court to Miss Frances Mitchell. Love did not agree with him. He got thin, and could not sleep nights. Instead of consulting a doctor, Barnes went to the gypsies, from whom he obtained a prescription. Then he invited Miss Mitchell to take a walk in the gloaming. Arriving at a secluded spot he pricked the astonished young woman several times in the arm, smote her a violent blow in the face, and fled. The prescription, it seemed, was to be used vicariously upon Miss Mitchell, who had

Barnes informed the police magistrate that the gypsies told him that it was necessary to bruise the skin and draw blood from the lady of his choice, both of which he did effectively. The magistrate was inclined to give Barnes a touch of hard labor. but, yielding to the entreaties of Miss Mitchell, whose love was not estranged by the eccentricity of the young idiot, he was merely bound over to keep the peace.

Worse Than Tom Sawyer. Johann Meyer, Il years old, one of the wickedest boys in Vienna, had been spanked many times for running away. Finally, to enable him to gratify his desire to escape, late at night he stole the big door key, sawed the handle through, filed the ends as sharp as a needle point, drew them through the skin of his waist, and then hammered them together, and the key hung from his body like a ring from the nose of a savage. He was thus enabled, by standing on a chair, to open the door and leave the house whenever he liked. This senseless to a hospital, and the doctors were unable to remove the key till they sawed it in two. The boy's life was in danger for several days, but now it is expected that he will live to be spanked many times more. The Times on Canada's Destiny. Within a few months the mother country has shown some reviving interest in Canada, which has long been the most neglected of her colonial children. The Times has been publishing a series of letters from a special correspondent, which was completed to-day. After summing up the Canadian situation the Times savs, editorially:

"Whether these unique conditions, pregnant, it may be, with the fate of the whole world, point to the absorption of Canada in the United States, or to her acting as the flux provided in the laboratory of nature for the ultimate fusion of the whole Anglo-Saxon race, is a question which only the future, and probably the far-distant future, can determine. What is certain is that the influence of Canada on the international relations of Great Britain and the United States has tended, more than anything else, to the peaceful and not inequitable settlement, by arbitration, of questions which in less favorable circumstances might have proved intractable to diplomacy. What may be the future of Canada in relation to the United States on the one hand and to the British Empire on the other no man as yet can say, but no man who looks before and efter and | 282; residence, 952.

Extraordinary Breach of Promise Case.

A Man Who Telegraphed He Was Dea

to Get Rid of a Sweetheart. (From the London, Eng., Daily Chronicle.

Yesterday, at the sheriff's court for the county of London, Red Lion Square, before Mr. Under-Sheriff Burchell and a jury, the case of Mitchell vs. Price, an action for breach of promise of marriage, which had been remitted from the High Court for the assessment of damages, came on for hearing. The plaintiff, Miss Grace Rani Mitchell, is a young lady 19 years of age, living with her aunt, Mrs. Jane Illingworth, who sues as her next friend, at Ritterbods, Canterbury grove, West Norwood, and the defendant, Mr. James Benjamin Garced Price, is described as a solicitor, residing at Neath, in the county of Glamorganshire. Mr. Marshall Hall and Mr. Moore appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. Marshall Hall said that Miss Mitchell was the daughter of Mr. James Mitchell, formerly of West Norwood, Her mother's sister was the wife of the Rajah Rampal Sing, of Oude, India. Both her parents were dead, she being their only child. The Rajah was her Godfather, and had acted as her guardian since she was very young. In the month of June, 1892, the plaintiff went by the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Carthage on a visit to India, and she joined the vessel at the London docks. She and the defendant were first class passengers. The parties became very well acquainted with each other, and conversed frequently and freely. A day or two before the vessel got to Malta, the defendant proposed marrage with her, and she told him that she must have her guardian's consent first, and afterwards told him who her guardian was. Previous to the proposal she had told the defendant she was going out to see her aunt in India. The defendant left the vessel at Suez and promised to write at once. A great deal of correspondence passed between them during the time Miss Mitchell was in India, but when she returned to England on Jan. 11, 1893, the letters from the defendant ceased, although the plaintiff wrote to him several times. She then wrote to Mr. Howel J. J. Price, an uncle of the defendant, and afterwards nephew died very suddenly at Bristol on defendant appeared anxious to purchase had met with an accident, and continued: "In the first place, my darling Grace, I would not have made you the offer had I not been in a position to treat you as you deserve." He went on to say that from landed estates he had an income of £1,000. besides what he earned in his profession. The letter was couched in terms of endearment, and concluded: "All I want is you. and nothing more, and I promise you the happiest home that ever a girl had. Many men marry without the means, but I have the cage, but no bird inside. (Laughter.) I have a song of yours-'It Was a Dream'-set to my music." So far as he (counsel) knew, the cage was still empty, although the bird was in court. In another letter the defendant addressed the plaintiff, "My darling little Grace," and said that she did not know how much he had suffered from not seeing her. In a further letter he said, "I'm in domestic trouble again. I've had to discharge my housekeeper who in my absence, I find, has been driving about in my carriages. I always thought that she was a tile off, but never thought that she would act the goat. (Loud laughter.) Well I said, 'Here's enough of housekeeping, I'm off to Bombay for you know who.'" (Langhter.) Then followed a letter from India, in which plaintiff accepted the defendant, and he wrote: 'My own Grace,-You don't know how

had a spanking tandem team, and finished with the following verse: Tho' now in another country, happy you have made me. . . I dared not open the letter for a long time. If I had not received the joyful news you might have had a black-edged card." (Roars of laughter.) Mr. Price then proceeded to deal with his private affairs, stating that he

And many miles apart, I cannot see my darling; But no other has my heart. (Loud laughter.) Counsel proceeded to read a large number of other letters. The last one was a very short epistle, but its terms were affectionate. It stated that he had sent her a scent bottle and monogram cardcase. Then followed the telegram announcwent on for weeks until he got in a fight | ing the death of the defendant. A more with other bad boys, and was hit a heavy scandalous, disgraceful piece of chicanery blow where the key was. He was taken he (counsel) had never heard of. The man had not the courage to do the breaking off in a manly fashion. Miss Mitchell wrote a very touching letter to the uncle, in which she thanked him for sending the sad news, and concluding, "My poor Jim. My heart is broken. I cannot write more." Some time after that the young lady happened to be at Somerset House on business, and thought that she would like to see the death certificate of her lover, but when it was produced it was found to be the certificate of the death of a relative. Then Miss Mitchell. seeing that she had been duped, placed the matter in the hands of her solicitor, and the present action was commenced. In conclusion, Mr. Marshall Hall said that he did not ask for vindictive damages, but such damages as would compensate plaintiff for the cruel manner in which she had been posed Poisoning of Caleb Hartley. (Toronto World.) The stomach and other organs of Caleb Hartley, the New Durham, Oxford county, store keeper, who is supposed to have died from poisoning, have arrived in the city, and Prof. Ellis is busily engaged in analyzing them. Rumor is busy with the names of Mrs. Hartley, the wife of the dead man, and a former hired man in the employ of Hartley named Louis Ling. Hartley's wife, whose maiden name was Barah Maria Olis, is daughter of Samuel Olis, of Burford township. Hartley's domestic relations, it is said, were not of the most pleasant character. One child was born-a sen, who is now about 20. He has been a few months in Bannon's drug store in Norwich.

When a young man named Ling from the neighborhood of Hawtrey came to New Durham over a year ago the gossips were Boon discussing the intimacy which seemed to have sprung up between Mrs. Hartley and the hired man, who is said to be weak-minded fellow. Ling found employment at Penn Marsh's for about a year, during which time the tongue of scandal was not idle. The stories which were affoat seemed to have reached the ears of the husband, and he upbraided his wife for misconduct. Elsie Cronwright, a servant girl, kept him posted on what took place in his house during his absence. These reports, it is said, opened the husband's eyes and he determined to have revenge At a charivari a few months ago Harrley met Ling and threatened to kill him. The hired man fled for his life and sought a sheltering place in John Hill's house in the West End, followed by the enraged husband. Mr. Hill and his family kept the two men separated and thus averted what might have proved a tragedy. Ling then found employment with Mr. Jas. Doherty, but he only stopped there a few months. His frequent visits to Hartley's house during Mr. Hartley's absence furnished fresh food for the scandal-mongers, and Mr. Doherty dismissed Ling a few weeks ago.

where he has made his home since. Hartley recently insured his life for$3,000 in the Home Circle and $2,000 in the A. O. U. W. Both policies were payable to his wife. It is claimed that a few hours before his death he sent for a lawyer, in-

He was then taken in by Mrs. Hartley, ending to change the policy, but too late. It is reported that during Hartley's Illness, husband and wife quarreled about the medicine the latter was taking. One Soaper, who was in the room, states that Hartley, in a fit of anger, charged his wife with substituting powders for those left by Dr. Haight, which led him to charge her with having poisoned him. After a wrangle on this point it is reported Hartley said to his wife: "- you, you tried to poison me once, now go and get the powder." Mrs. Hartley told her husband that she was following Dr. Haight's direction and refused to give him what he wanted. Hartley acted as though he were suspicious of his wife, and getting out of bed went over to the table and took the power him-

East Middlesex Liberals Nominate a Strong Man,

A Splendid Convention and Some Stirring Addresses.

Mr. John H. Eiliott the New President-Splendid Tributes to the Character of Mr. Jackson.

The Liberal electors of East Middlesex held their third convention on Saturday afternoon, and like the woman who had had three husbands that one of the speakers spoke about, the third was better than the other two put together. The Liberal Club room was crowded and many were standing. Mr. R. W. Jackson, president of the East Middlesex Reform Association, occupied the chair.

Secretary Parnell read Mr. Odell's communication in which that gentleman resigned in favor of Mr. Jackson. Mr. Odell addressed the meeting and explained his position. He had been postmaster at Belmont for 27 years past, but during the last ten years the position had been of no value to him. He would have no hesitation in resigning the postmaster. ship now only the Government would not be bound to accept it and could retain him in office long enough to disqualify him if elected. He therefore thought it best to resign in favor of Mr. Jackson, whom he thought would be a stronger man. Mr. Odell spoke pointedly on the many questions of the day, and expressed himself as a warm supporter of Sir Oliver Mowat, a temperance man and a prohibitionist. "The farmers as a whole," said Mr. Odell, "have no reason to find fault with the Ontario Government. I think that Government has dealt very liberally with them. They are spending money to aid the cheese industry; they are spending money in promoting agricultural colleges and in relieving the municipalities of school and other taxes, and the farmers are receiving a great deal of benefit. (Cheers.) I have no doubt that this convention will choose a good man, and I think the chances are all right for a Liberal to win this election." (Applause.) Messrs. Dale and Hunt were elected auditors of the association. The following nominations were then made: Nomince.

S. Wheaton Mr. Elliott retired in favor of Mr. Jackson. Mr. Burch followed suit in half a dozen words. Mr. Purdom intended, he said, to comply with the chairman's request and not make a speech. However, he could not resist telling the story of the woman who had been married the third time. A friend single tax will not increase the bulk of asked her which she liked best-her first, capital, but simply rob landowners to second or third husband. "To tell the truth," replied the much-married woman, when I married John I thought there was increase its employing capacity, but simply not another man on earth like him. After a year or two he died, and then I married Noah, and I thought he was a little better than John. After a while he, too, took sick and died. I married my third husband, and upon my word I think he is worth the other two together." (Hear, hear, and applause.)

The crowd saw the point and laughed heartily as Mr. Purdom went on to state that if united the constituency belonged to Sir Oliver Mowat. (Hear, hear, and applause.) As it was not in his power to accept the nomination, Mr. Purdom of course declined.

Mr. J. W. Rosser also retired in favor of the other candidates. He did not retire from work, however. Mr. John Coughlin had not the time to attend to the campaign should he receive the nomination, but he intended to work hard for the nominee, whoever he was. Dr. Routledge was not present, and Mr. Wickerson, his mover, declined on his behalf. Mr. Jackson left his name before the convention, and asked for the assistance of every elector to place him at the head of the poles on June 26. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. W. Rosser referred to the conduct of Mr. Jackson during the late conventions. "It has been such," said he, "as to wed every Liberal delegate to him. (Hear, hear and applause). We who have been near neighbors of Mr. Jackson have always known him to be this kind of a man, and you who live further away will begin to know what kind of a candidate you have, and when we leave here we will leave with three times the amount of determination to fight for the candidate than we would if we had never held the third meeting. (Applause.)

Mr. Rosser then moved and Mr. E. S. Hunt seconded a resolution making the nomination unanimous. The resolution was carried unanimously and greeted with cheers. Mr. Jackson thanked the delegates modestly for the responsible position to which he had been nominated. He again urged united action and support. Messrs. Purdom, Clarke and Parnell were called upon and gave the delegates much good advice, at the same time promising to assist the candidate in every way. A stirring speech was made by Mr. Gillson, of Masonville. He referred to the splendid record of the Liberal Government not only in Ontario, but in Great Britain as well. Speaking of Patrons and P. P. A.s, he asked every Liberal to forget that there were any such organizations and remember only that they were Liberals. It was not common sense but prejudice that would have to be met during the coming campaign, and the Liberals of the riding were urged to organize and meet it. Speaking of the candidate, he said: "As a man personally and privately he is a gentleman. And then, he is an agriculturist-(cheera)-and without any reflection upon any other man, or any other line or calling, I think we should have an agriculturist. While other men are all good fellows, the agriculturist rises to the top. He is the very center and the ridge row of the whole institution. (Laughter and ap-

Mr. John Cameron was called on and spoke briefly. He said that he thought it considerable privilege to live in such a Province as Ontario, and particularly under such a Premier as Sir Oliver Mowat. (Applause.) He did not know, when they came to look back upon historical records, where they could find any man who had conducted a Government with more success or more righteousness, or who better deserved the goodwill of those whom he had so long served, than Sir Oliver Mowat. Mr. Cameron assured the delegates that they could win the election if that you can do it, and you will do it," said he. A great many remarks had been made respecting certain new organizations which were coming up. They simply indicated, the speaker said, the great unrest in the public mind. It took its rise first with the Patrons, whom in all controversies they were advised to speak of respectfully and to treat fairly, particularly as they were on the right track. It was in connection with the tariff that has burdened this country that the prevalent discontent had arisen, and that was the reason of the Patron organization. The electors were urged to fight the battle earnestly, honestly and fairly, and they would return Mr. Jackson, who would, Mr. Cameron believed, make a good member.

Mr. John H. Elliott was elected to the president's chair in place of Mr. Jackson, and the gathering broke up with the usual patriotic cheers.

THE OPEN FORUM.

The Single Tax.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: Assuming that your report of the discussion on "Single Tax" by the London West R. E. O. P. A. correctly represents the arguments (in part) of Messrs. W. T. Brown and Deputy-Reeve Scarrow in favor of the so-called reform, I would ask your permission to submit the following notice of their claims. It was stated that New Zealand was booming under single tax. That is not correct, since New Zealand has not adopted single tax, which any student of Henry George should know. Further, New Zealand is only in part prosperous under the new system of government, one section prospering at the cost of the ruin of another section. That is shown by the recent heavy failure of one of its large moneyed institutions, owing to the depreciated value of mortgages on land values, which, so far as employment of labor is concerned, means no gain, for to simply transfer the employing power of capital from one point to another is not an economic advantage.

In this connection I would ask what value it was to the industrial community in this city when the capital of one of its past moneyed institutions melted away into other people's hands owing to depreciated land values in the Northwest? Paul elsewhere gained at Peter's loss in London. Under single tax it will be the same thing so far as labor is concerned. These theorists admit that under their system land would fall in price until, as a commodity for realizing on, it would have no economic value. What would that mean to the Huron and Erie, the Ontario Loan and Debenture, and all kindred institutions whose capital is invested in labor-employing agencies of varied kinds? The ruin of such institutions by the melting away of their economic security for repayment of loans through depreciation of land values would simply mean ruin to the laboremploying agencies depending on these

Henry George's theory regarding the increased labor employing power of capital under single tax is so shallow that none but superficial thinkers can be fooled by it. Rents of land values are employing labor to-day through the agencies of the institutions in which they are invested, and since benefit another set of employers of labor (not wage-earners); it cannot, therefore, transfer it from Peter to Paul, which is no economic gain to the community as a whole, nor to wage-earners as a whole. Now, regarding that much-talked of "vacant lot" which single tax is going to throw into the market for building purposes or cultivation. Supposing single tax to operate in Canada, I ask how long London would remain known as one of the most beautiful and pleasantly laid out cities in Canada? Single taxers would fill all our spaces between residences with bricks and buildings and no matter whether they would find tenants or not we are told buildings would be everlastingly employing labor. That building idea is one of the most stupid frauds in the economy of single tax. How long would people build after rents fell, and there were in London as in Toronto to day, more buildings than tenants? Mr. Scarrow says (as Henry George claims) that single tax would fall equally on all. That statement is a farce. Taxation has no right to fall equally on all. For instance on Dundas street it would be stupidity and an injustice to tax a barber for his store lot as high as the wholesale merchant next door to him. Taxation must always count, as it always has come, from the products of labor, and he who appropriates and monopolizes the biggest share of the products of labor should pay the biggest tax, no matter whether he owns land or not. Again, regarding increased cultivation of land not now in use. What regulates that sort of thing to-day? Have we not already in cultivation land which is producing more than is now being consumed, and is not the cry to-day with farmers that there is too much product in the market? Where, then, is the economic value f any scheme which claims to be able to produce more buildings and bring into the competitive market more products from land than we get now, while t leaves untouched the question of providing tenants for the new buildings and makng consumers equal in purchasing power to the consumption of the increased produce brought to market? Time will demonstrate single tax to be an economic farce. So far as employing labor permanently is concerned it is a fraud, for to build on a vacant lot will only take a short time and that will only be a "sop" to labor, while single tax takes away on the other hand the present employing power of rent capital. The fact is that single tax cannot touch the commercial problem since it does not at any point show where it can make consuming power equal in full to producing power. Trusting you will submit this to the notice of the single taxers in the London West R. E. O. P. A., I am yours, sincerely, HENRY B. ASHPLANT. London, May 14, 1894.

Death of Ven. Archdeacon McMurray. NIAGARA, Ont., May 20.-At 11 o'clock this morning the Ven. Archdeacon Wm. McMurray, D.D., D.C.L., rector of St. Mark's Church, Niagara, passed quietly away in the 84th year of his age, after an illness of several months. The deceased was a native of Ireland, and was born in the parish of Seagol, near Portadown, Sept. 19, 1810. He was brought to Canada by his parents in the following year. The family settled in York, now Toronto. When 8 years of age he entered the school of Dr. Strachan. He was ordained in 1833. In 1840 he succeeded the Rev. John Millar as rector of Ancaster, and in 1856 he was appointed rector of St. Mark's Church, Niagara, which position he held until his death. In 1867 he was appointed rural dean of Lincoln and Welland, and on the setting apart of the diocese of Niagara he became archdeacon of the new diocese. The deceased had been in holy orders longer than any clergyman of the Church of England in Canada now living, namely for 61 his second wife and two children survive

PROF. BELL'S LATEST.

Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone now in use, has another wonder in store for us if he carries to a successful issue the series of investigations in which he is now engaged at his summer place in Nova Scotia. His outdoor work is devoted to experiments in "aerial navigation" in connection with Prof. Langley, of the Smithsonian Institution, while in his laboratory he is endeavoring to demonstrate a problem to which he has given a great deal of thought and in which he thoroughly believes. It is to harness electricity to light, as it has been harnessed to sound, so that people may be able to see a great distance, just as the telegraph enables them to write and the telephone enables them to speak at a grea distance. Prof. Bell firmly believes that it will be possible some day to see from this city to Toronto as easily as one can convey the sound of the voice that distance. He insists that the fact has already been demonstrated, and that it only remains to construct the necessary apparatus to bring the discovery into actual and practical use. This is exceedingly difficult, much more difficult than the construction of the telegraph instrument or the telephone, for the reason that the vibrations of light are so much more rapid than the vibrations of sound. But Prof. Bell is confident that he will soon be able to discover a diaphragm sufficiently sensitive to receive the vibrations of light and produce the effect necessary to convey the impressions to the human vision. In these days of scientific advancement no project seems to be too difficult for some men to undertake. At its early stages the telephone was just as wonderful an invention as this long distance sightseeing.

EAST MIDDLESEX.

Mr. Robt. W. Jackson, who has been nominated as the Liberal candidate for East Middlesex, is a candidate with a clean personal and municipal record. He is a representative farmer, and in London township, where he has his home, he is respected by all classes of the community. He enters the field in East Middlesex with the best prospects of carrying the riding for the Administration of Sir Oliver Mowat, which, it is generally conceded, will again be returned to power. Mr. Jackson is a candidate that will reflect credit on his constituents, and he will properly represent them in the Legislature. He knows their wants, and as a supporter of the Government he will be in a position to intelligently work for them. What he requires and ought to command is the aid of every friend of good and progressive government in the riding. He comes before the people with no sectional or creed cry, but with the promise to work for the advancement of the people as a whole through the maintenance of honest, economical and efficient government. United effort will secure his triumphant return.

THE COMBINES AND WHAT IT IMPLIES.

A correspondent of the Montreal Star voices the common outcry against the capitulation of the Dominion Government to the rings and combines, which have besieged it at Ottawa within the last month, and have compelled it to replace the most obnoxious taxes that, under Mr. Foster's original "tariff reform" revision, were removed. This intelligent writer says:

"We are now beginning to appreciate the efforts of our apostles of tariff reform. Ministers, the upholders of the so-called N. P., men who for months past have been going through the country, presumably to look into, and find out the weak places in the fiscal policy of this country, and who have made assurances right and left of their intention to lighten the burden of the masses. I say, we now have before us the results of their labors; the benefits of their specious promises, and they stand revealed as political jugglers and tricksters of the highest order. What have they done for the middle and lower classes? How have they helped that great majority of the population who for the last few years have been crying out under an unjust taxation? Aye, cried out with so loud a voice that even the deaf ears at Ottawa were compelled to listen, and finally to go through the miserable farce, the absurd pantomime, which has now been laid before the public under the title of Tariff Reform. We are now having a nineteenth century repetition of the Jewish King's answer to his people when they appealed to him for an amelioration of the hard burdens under which they labored; and a very slight alteration of his verbal answer will describe the practical reply of our Government to the appeal for help made to them by the people who put them in power, viz., "Whereas we scourged you with taxes in the past, that were unto you as a whip, we will now scourge you with taxation that shall bite as a scorpion, and if you found the old yoke too heavy to bear, we will now crush you by a heavier

This is certainly practically the answer Sir John Thompson and his associates have made to the universal outcry for the lightening of the burdens of the people. How the taxes have been piled on in the latest "revision" is exemplified by the Star C. P. R., who has just returned from the correspondent, who writes as an expert in

"In the first place, dress goods, which are used by all, rich and poor alike, and which under the old regime came in at 221 per cent for goods under 10 cents, 25 per cent under 14 cents, and 27½ per cent on all above, are now placed at 30 per cent all round; a clear injustice of from 6 per cent to 7 per cent against the poor. Secondly, velveteens (the poor man's substitute for velvets) of which there is not one inch manufactured in this country, which came in formerly at 20 per cent, have been raised by this Government (who would be credited with having the interest of the poor at heart), to 30 per cent, a clear advance against the poor of 10 per cent. Thirdly, umbrellas, which are matters of necessity to all, they still maintain at the exorbitant duty of 35 per cent. Fourthly, gloves, which are equal matters of necessity, are likewise under penalty of 35 per cent. Fifthly, men and women's underwear, which under the old tariff came in at 20 per cent and 10 cents, have now been put at an ad valorem of 35 per cent; a very decided loss to the consumer. Sixth, hosiery, which was 30 per cent and 10 cents prior to the discovery of clerical errors, was put at 35 per cent, which was a slight advantage to the poor, but by the revision in this morning's papers, these universally used articles of wearing apparel now stand at 35 per cent and ten cents per pair! How does this stand for the poor? Let us take an example: Say a hose costing 7s sterling, which is $170 currency, the duty alone will amount to $1 79."

The writer from whom this tell-tale arraignment of the Ottawa agents of the combines is quoted; boldly asserts that not only in regard to the clothing of the people, but in regard to other necessaries of life, the "tariff reform" has been worse than a sham-it has been an acted lie. No wonder that the farmers are up in arms against the system. The agriculturists of Ontario can best secure a change, not by fighting against the return of Sir Oliver Mowat, confessedly the most economical administrator that Canada has ever known, but by saving their powder for the greater and more necessary battle that shall overthrow the combines and their agents. Let them not forget that the men who are leagued against Sir Oliver and would delight to squander Ontario's resources as they have squandered those of the Dominion, for the benefit of the worst of boodle elements, are ready and anxious to join hands with Sir John Thompson for the perpetuation of the high tax regime at Ottawa. The defeat of Sir Oliver, were it decreed, as it is not likely to be, would but rivet the chain of the monopolist to the producers of

The annual church service of the London branches of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows, Manchester Unity, was held on Sunday afternoon. At 3 o'clock about 150 members of London, Star of the West and Perseverance Lodges assembled at their meeting place. Headed by the band of the First Hussars, who made a fine appearance and played well, they marched east on Dundas street to Rectory, and thence south to the Hamilton Road Methodist Church, The sermon to the brethren was preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. Joseph Ward, and was very suitable to the occasion. His remarks were based upon Proverbs, xviii., 24: "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Mr. Ward extended to the brethren a most cordial welcome, and impressed upon them the necessity of being true to the objects of the order if success was desired. Though having a distinct charter but a few years, the Manchester Unity has made a rapid growth, until now the membership had grown to over 5,000 THE LATEST CAPITULATION TO and the benefits were constantly increasing. About 200 members of the Sons of England and St. George's Society of this city went to Woodstock Sunday and attended divine service at old St. Paul's. St. George's Society was represented by the president, Mr. H. T. Smith, and the Sons of England by the district deputy, Bro. Wray. Rev. F. M. Baldwin preached a loyal and patriotic sermon from Hebrews, xiv., 13. About 50 members from Ingersoll and a number from St. Thomas and Aylmer were in attendance. The Sons of England Band, 25 strong, under the leadership of Mr. Charles Channer, accompanied the turnout. The members left the city shortly after noon by the G. T. R. train, and returned at a convenient hour. It rained in Woodstock upon arrival, but cleared up nicely afterwards.

Next Sunday morning the ordinance of baptism will be administered in Durdas Street Methodist Church. It is expected that several adults will be baptized.

A large congregation witnessed the ordination services at St. Paul's on Sunday morning. The candidates for priesthood and deacon's orders were presented by Ven. Archdeacon Marsh, after which the bishop read the beautiful ordination service and received the candidates into their respective orders by the laying on of hands. The clergy took Holy Communion together. Rev. Mr. Corbett, of Thorndale, preached. Rev. J. W. Bishop O'Connor, of London, officiated, assisted by the Very Rev. Fr. Marijon, of Michael's College, Toronto, and Rev. Fr. Cushing, superior of Assumption College, Sandwich. Rev. Fr. Semand, of Sandwich, was master of ceremonies, and Rev. Fr. Beaudoin, of Walkerville, assisted the candidates, Profs. Sullivan and Clancy, of Assumption College, were crozier and miter bearers. During the admonition by the bishop the candidates lay prone upon the floor, after which the bishop and priests imposed hands in silence on the head of the candidate for priesthood. The newly-ordained Father Valentine is 24 years old. He was born in Saginaw, came with his parents to Detroit when 3 years old, and to Windsor five years later. He graduated from St. Alphonsus' school with highest honors and entered Assumption College, where he is now professor of German, which duties he will discharge until the ecclesiastical retreat in July, when the bishop will confer an appointment.

Rev. Dr. Antliff, in Dundas Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning, said he refused to subscribe to the view entertained by some that the world is growing worse. Toronto's City Solicitor Welcomed Here by His Friends.

A Procession Under General Coo and Short Speeches.

Not a Howling Success-Along the Route -The Mayor at It Again-More Prophecies.

In making preparations the other evening to receive the city solicitor of Toronto, a speaker advised the friends of Mr. Meredith to avoid some features of "Grit" pro

Two great features of "Grit" processions in London are size and enthusiasm. These two features the friends of Mr. Meredith carefully avoided on Saturday night. In other words the welcome to Mr. Meredith wasn't a howling success. To be sure there was some cheering, but the success would be as hard to find as the honorable gentleman's political policy. The city didn't by any means kill the fatted calf to celebrate the temporary return (for the purpose of this election) of its non-resident son. In fact the much heralded and elaborately planned affair, with all the eloquence of a Hellmuth, the generalship of a Coo and the attraction of free torches, was a fiery fizzle. It lacked numbers and it lacked spontaneity. Compared with some of the magnificent demonstrations in Mr. Hyman's honor it was even ridiculous. It was not nearly up to the standard of the procession organized when Mr. Meredith was selected as successor to Mr. M. C. Cameron. It seemed too bad to drag the visitor away from his mansion in Toronto under the hallucination of being welcomed by his former townsmen with open arms-and then barely to give him the cold tips of the fingers! The friends of Mr. Meredith in the city in late years haven't had much chance in the way of political rejoicing and are out of practice. They ought to learn a few lessons from the other side.

But to the "reception." The train from the visitor's home was due to arrive at the East End station at 9:15 p.m., and a couple of bands were sent out early to hold the crowd. The managers had specially ordered a stock of torches which were distributed among the boys from the committee-rooms. There were about 200 or 300 people at the depot when the train pulled in. The others waited further up. Mr. Meredith was greeted with cheers and was hustled in a hack along with Mr. F. W. Scandrett (president of the Young Conservatives), Mr. Flock remarked in committee, the At St. Louis-(First Game)- R. H. bicycle races on May 24. The end. Slowly up the thoroughfare the procession dragged along. Ten or twelve illuminated houses were the only unusual signs, until Wellington street was reached, though at William street, at the suggestion of Jos. Percival, assistant marshal, the torchmen gave a cheer. In the business portion of the city the route was lined with hardly more than the Saturday night crowd. There was not the slightest token of enthusiasm. The people gazed at the Toronto gentleman with the same | Con.). interest they would bestow on the drum major of a minstrel troupe. He must have felt like a stranger in a strange land for all the tokens of recognition shown. The only genuine outburst occurred in the windows of the Young Liberal rooms. Someone, to break the monotony, called for three cheers for Hobbs, which were given with such vigor that Mr. Meredith looked up surprised. Perhaps he mistook them as a tribute to himself; at any rate, he lifted his shining silk tile politely. Across the road the bicycle boys in their room gave another cheer-for their advertisement. The rest of the journey was made with a silence relieved at intervals by the band and by a ripple of applause at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, where quite a few had clustered. Here Coo's army turned north on Richmond street. A solitary admirer here and there emitted an individual cheer. The army turned eastward on Central evenue and then north a short distance on Wellington street, where the Toronto city solicitor alighted at the residence of his brother, London's city solicitor, over whose fine lawn the crowd followed. Mr. Meredith and friends reappeared on the balcony above and speeches were called for.

MR. MEREDITH'S SPEECH.

Mr. Meredith was cheered heartily as he "Mr. Mayor and ladies and gentlemen,-I almost feel as if I were not a stranger in the city of London from the warm and magnificent reception which I have to-night received from those whom I think I may yet call my fellow-citizens of London. I don't intend to do more to-night than to thank you most heartily for the magnificent manner in which you have received me. If it had been other than the Conservatives of the city of London I don't think they would have ventured upon the demonstration with the elements so unpropitious as they appeared during the day. My feeling was that your convenience would better have been served by dispensing with this demonstration, but I am glad to see that you have not acted on that view, and I think what you have done to-day is an earnest of what you are going to do when an opportunity presents itself. I don't intend to-night, because I shall have another opportunity of doing so, of speaking to you upon the public questions of the day. I shall on Monday night have an opportunity of speaking to the citizens of London and the people of the Province of Ontario, and to give some reasons why I think the Government which for so many years has served the Province of Ontario should no longer continue in charge of those affairs. I do hope that the good temper which has been exhibited Crawford (P. of I.), S. A. Mettler (P. to-night will be exhibited throughout this | P. A.).

and I trust that in this city and throughout the whole Province of Ontario we may discuss all the questions and deal with fair and legitimate arguments, bearing in mind that we are fellow citizens of this country, and that when the elections are over we will have to live together and work out the not earn we shall endeavor to deserve victory, not only here but throughout the Province of Ontario. I again thank you most heartily for this magnificent reception. I am delighted to meet not only the old men here that I have met in many campaigns past, but the young men here to-night. I am especially proud to see men who have for years and years worked in the ranks of the party, trudging through mud in the streets to-night for the purpose of assisting in this demonstration. You have all my hearty thanks. I bid you good night."

MAYOR ESSERY'S SPEECH. Mayor Essery jumped forward as soon as Mr. Meredith had concluded his address, and announced that they had met to "bring back to the city of London in an honorable manner the member that represents us to-day." He boasted, as he did four years ago, that six weeks after that night Mr. Meredith would be leader of the Government of Ontario. Mr. Essery proceeded to make a characteristic personal attack on the manager of the ADVERTISER and upon the editor of the ADVERTISER because this journal has joined the Industrial Banner, the official organ of organized labor in London, in voicing the public sentiment that Mr. Meredith, being city solicitor of Toronto, is not an acceptable candidate for the representation of this city in the Legislature. At one time Mr. John Cameron had gone to Toronto to start a great Liberal newspaper, he said, but he had come back to London because his job was gone, and the editor of the ADVERTISER had come here from Hamilton to edit the ADVERTISER, and would pack up his trunk and go to some other city just as he came to London. Under those circumstances, Mr. Essery argued, no one had a right to object to Mr. Meredith as an outsider, who after being born in London, had gone to Toronto, and he explained "had brains enough to stay there." Mr Essery said that "we are going into this fight to win," and he added, amid audible laughter, that no one could say that any Meredith lived on public money. He finally expressed his intention to go in for one Bible, one flag, one set of laws, and one Government, and that Gov-

DESERTED AT THE ALTAR.

A Pennsylvania Bride Accepts $10,000

A romance in which Robert Beale's wife, Lillie, is reported to have received $10,000 to relinquish her marriage certificate and give up all claims upon him as her husband, has just reached a most interesting climax at Cain, Chester county, Pa., says the Philadelphia Record. If the report proves to be correct Beale will doubtless cease to be a wanderer in the west and return to the life of luxury and ease which he formerly enjoyed as a member of one of Chester county's wealthiest families. Robert Beale, who is a man of 50, developed his fascinating romance in the summer and autumn fof 1892. He and his equally wealthy brother resided in the mansion on the hill, above Cain station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. They were the chief landed proprietors of the neighborhood. Near their mansion, down in the little village that clustered about the station, was the modest little cottage of Robert, a section boss on the railroad. In Walker's humble home dwelt the prettiest girl in all the neighborhood-Lillie, his daughter-who was sent on frequent errands from the cottage to the mansion. On one of these running visits to the hill the charms of the section boss' daughter attracted Robert Beale. Subsequently he sought and found many an occasion to meet his charmer, and, finally, one day in October, 1892, the two took a train to Philadelphia, and when, two days later, they returned, the one to the mansion and the other to the cottage, Lillie told with pride that she was Robert's bride, and showed to her nearest friends the marriage certificate in evidence of the happy union, for to all who heard of it the match seemed as improbable as that wedding of poetic fancy in which Maud Muller and the judge were wed. Beale had no sooner claimed Lillie as his bride than he sought to relinquish her. Again and again she called at the mansion on the hill, but its doors were closed against her. Mr. Robert had given word that she was not to be admitted, the servants said. Two weeks after the wedding Beale went to Philadelphia, whither he was followed and traced by a detective whom the girl bride had employed. Then he went to Denver, Col., and has since been a wanderer in the various cities of the west. After Robert's mother had died a few weeks ago Lillie attended the obsequies, hoping there to find and claim her husband. But he was not there. Since then she has received and spurned an offer of $5,000 to give up her marriage certificate and renounce her bridal claims. Finally, as the impossibility of an intimate renewal of marriage relations dawned upon her she was persuaded to give up her husband, and thus, it is freported, the settlement for $10,000 came about and Robert Beale is expected home again.

Easily Arranged. Young wife (in tears)-"Oh, Gerald! What do you think! The canary has gone

Unfeeling husband-"Well, you can call it Ben Hur now."

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, carache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Don't call a man a liar unless you can prove it, and don't do it then unless it be done mildly. About two months ago I was nearly wild with headaches. I started taking Burdock Blood Bitters, took two bottles and my headaches have now altogether disappeared. I think it is a grand medicine. EVA FINN, Massey Station, Ont.

HORRIBLE DISASTER.

Collision in a Turnel-Seven Men Crushed to Death.

PRINCETON, Ky., May 20.-A collision yesterday in the Standing Rock Tunnel, on he Newport News and Mississippi Valley Railroad, twelve miles east of this place, killed the following six men outright: J. Crisp, Covington, Ky.; Boss Butler, West Point, Ky.; R. L. Bowden, Paducah, Ky.; J. Condrey, Mayfield, Ky.; John B. Duncan, Dulaney, Ky.; Geo. Whitehead,

The wreck was between extra freight No. 602, west bound, and the bridge train in charge of Conductor Hill. Hill was out with his train and expected to take the siding just east of the tunnel. He sent a flagman ahead and was backing up with a boarding car in front. He had followed the flagman too closely, and just as he entered the tunnel Engineer Jones with the extra freight reached the other end, his train going at the rate of 30 miles an hour. He and his fireman saw the danger in time to jump. The engine crashed into the boarding car in which were the six doomed men. The car was smashed into splinters and the engine plowed almost through it, choking up the tunnel with the debris. Eleven flat and box cars were piled together in the rear making access to the wreck almost impossible.

John Condrey was heard calling in the most pitiful manner for help. None could reach him and a short time afterward his cries were still, and it was known that he was dead.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and -permanently curing constipation. • It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

For sale by W. S. Barkwell, city.

A Lively Chase. London Westers will remember the night last summer when Charles Cox, an East End resident, was robbed of about $30 on Blackfriars street in the village. They will also remember that Jas. Cavanagh was wanted on the charge of having committed the offense. Since that time Cavanagh has mostly been out of the city and eluded the police. Last week he ventured back, and was supposed to be staying with a relative on Mill street. A watch was kept and the suspicions grew stronger. Yesterday morning about 3 o'clock Constables R. and J. Ward, of London West, went to the house and demanded admission. It was some time before the demand was complied with, and day at his home in Orange, N. . "Turn to the Right.

I started impetuously from my stool under the influence of the emotion which this thought naturally aroused, and seized M, d'Agen by the arm. "What has happened?" I exclaimed. "Is it Bruhi? Didhe break into my lodgings last night? What!" I continued, staggering back as I read the confirmation of my fears in his face. "He did?"

face. "He did?"
M. d'Agen, who had risen also, pressed my hand with convulsive energy. Gazing into my face, he held me a moment thus embraced, his manner a strange mixture of fierceness and emotion. "Alas, yes," he answered, "he did, and took away those whom he found there! Those whom he should overtake them some time this evenfound there, you understand! But M. de Rambouillet is on his way here, and in a few minutes you will be free. We will follow together. If we overtake them

-well. If not, it will be time to talk.

He broke off, and I stood looking at him, stunned by the blow, yet in the midst of my own horror and surprise retaining sense enough to wonder at the gloom on his brow the passion which trembled in his words. What had this to do with him?
"But Bruhl?" I said at last, recovering myself with an effort-"how did he gain access to the room? I left it guarded."

By a ruse, while Maignan and his men were away," was the answer. "Only this lad of yours was there. Bruhl's men over-"Which way has Bruhl gone?" I muttered, my throat dry, my heart beating wildly. He shook his head: "All we know is that he passed through the south gate with eleven horsemen, two women, and six led horses, at daybreak this morning," he an-"Maignan came to my uncle with the news, and M. de Rambouillet went at onee, early as it was, to the king to procure your release. He should be here now.'

I looked at the barred window, the most horrible fears at my heart; from it to Simon Fleix, who stood beside it, his attitude expressing the utmost dejection. I went towards him. "You hound!" I said in a low voice, "how did it happen?"

To my surprise he fell in a moment on his knees, and raised his arm as though to ward off a blow. "They imitated Maignan's voice," he muttered hoarsely. We opened." "And you dare to come here and tell me!" I cried, scarcely retaining my passion. "You, to whom I have intrusted ner. You, whom I thought devoted to her. You have destroyed her, man!"

He rose as suddenly as he had cowered down. His thin, nervous face underwent a startling change; growing on a sudden hard and rigid, while his eyes began to glitter with excitement. "I have destroyed her? Ay, mon Dieu! I have," he cried, speaking to my face, and no longer flinching or avoiding my eye. "You may kill me, if you like. You do not know all. It was I who stole the favor she gave you from your doublet, and then said M. de Rosny had taken it! It was I who told her you had given it away! It was I who brought her to the Little Sisters', that she might see you with Madame de Bruhl! It was I who did all, and destroyed her! Now you know! Do with me what you like!"

He opened his arms as though to receive a blow, while I stood before him astounded beyond measure by a disclosure so unexpected: full of righteous wrath and indignation, and yet uncertain what I ought to do. Did you also let Bruhl into the room on purpose?" I cried at last.

"I?" he exclaimed, with a sudden flash of rage in his eyes. "I would have died I do not know how I might have "taken was a trampling of horses outside, and before I could answer him I heard M. de Rambouillet speaking in haughty tones, at the below. The Provost-Marshal was with him, but his lower notes were lost in wing of bridles and the stamping of impatient hoofs. I looked towards the door of my room, which stood ajar, and presently the two entered, the marquis listening with an air of extreme indifference to the apologies which the other, who attended at his elbow, was pouring forth. M. de Rambouillet's face reflected none of the gloom and despondency which M. d'Agen's exhibited in so marked a degree, He seemed, on the contrary, full of gaiety and good-humor, and, coming forward and seeing me, embraced me with the utmost kindness and condescension.

'Ha! my friend," he said cheerfully, "so I find you here after all! But never fear. I am this moment from the king with an order for your release. His Majesty has told me all, making me thereby your lasting friend and debter. As for this gentle-man," he continued, turning with a cold smile to the Provost-Marshal who seemed to be trembling in his boots, "he may expect an immediate order also. M. de Villequier has wisely gone a-hunting, and will not be back for a day or two."

Racked as I was by suspense and anxiety, I could not assail him with immediate petitions. It behooved me first to thank him for his prompt intervention, and this in terms as warm as I could invent. Nor could I in justice fail to commend the Provost to him, representing the officer's conduct to me, and lauding his ability. All this, though my heart was sick with thought and fear and disappointment, and every minute seemed an age. "Well, well," the Marquis said with stately good-nature, "we will lay the blame on Villequier then. He is an old fox, however, and ten to one he will go scot-free. It is not the first time he has played this trick. But I have not yet come to the end of my commission," he continued pleasantly. "His Majesty sends you this, M. de Marsac, and bade me say that he had loaded it for you."

He drew from under his cloak as he spoke the pistol which I had left with the king, and which happened to be the same M. de losny had given me. I took it, marveling patiently at the careful manner in which he handled it; but in a moment I under-stood, for I found it loaded to the muzzle with gold-pieces, of which two or three fell and rolled upon the floor. Much moved by this substantial mark of the king's gratitude, I was nevertheless for pocketing them in haste; but the Marquis, to satisfy a little curiosity on his part, would have me count them, and brought the tale to a little over 2,000 livres, without counting a ring set with recious stones which I found among them. This handsome present diverted my thoughts from Simon Fleix, but could not relieve the anxiety I felt on mademoiselle's account. The thought of her position so tertured me that M. de Rambouillet began to perceive my state of mind, and hastened to assure me that before going to the Court he had already issued orders calculated to

"You desire to follow this lady, I understand?" he said. "What with the king, who is enraged beyond the ordinary by this outrage, and Francois there, who seemed beside himself when he heard the news, I have not got any very clear idea; of the well known to you," I answered hoarsely. "My honor is engaged to him and to her. If I follow on my feet and alone, I must follow. If I cannot save her I can at least punish the villains who have wronged her.' "But the man's wife is with them," he said in some wonder,

"She was intrusted to me by-by one, sir,

"That goes for nothing," I answered. He saw the strong emotion under which I labored, and which scarcely suffered me to answer him with patience; and he looked at me curiously but not unkindly. "The sooner you are off, the better then," he said, nodding. "I gathered as much. The man Maignan will have his fellows at the south gate an hour before noon, I understand. Francois has two lackeys, and he is wild to go.

With yourself and the lad there you will muster nine swords. I will lend you two. I can spare no more, for we may have ing if your horses are in condition.

I thanked him warmly, without regarding his kindly statement that my conduct on the previous day had laid him under lasting obligations to me. We went down together, and he transferred to of his fellows to me there and then, bidding them change their horses for fresh ones and meet me at the south gate. He sent also a man to my stable—Simon Fleix having dis-appeared in the confusion—for the Cid, and was in the act of inquiring whether I needed anything else, when a woman slipped through the knot of horsemen who surrounded us as we stood in the doorway of the house, and, throwing herself upon me. grasped me by the arm. It was Fanchette Her harsh features were distorted with grief, her cheeks were mottled with the violent weeping in which such persons vent their sorrow. Her hair hung in long wisps on her neck. Her dress was torn and draggled, and there was a great bruise over her eye. She had the air of one frantic with despair and misery.

She caught me by the cloak, add shook me so that I staggered. "I have found you at last!" she cried joyfully. "You will take me with you! You will take me to her!" Though her words tried my composure, and my heart went out to her, I strove to answer her according to the sense of the matter. "It is impossible," I said sternly. "This is a man's errand. "We shall have to ride day and night, my good woman," (To be Continued.)

PLAYING INDIAN TORTURES.

A Ten-Year-Old Boy Burned at the Stake by His Companions.

Washington, May 20 .- Bertiam Curtin, a 10-year-old lad, has just died from the effects of burns received while tied to a stake playing "Wild West" Indian tortures with a number of other children who had been affected by the recent visit of a circus. Among the realistic features provided for their games was a paper house, after the Midway Plaisance idea, and a lot of sawdust. One of the children had a box of matches. A sack which encased the victim of the stake accidentally took fire. All the children ran away, but little Curtin could not free himself until literally roasted.

in several theological subjects. On Friday Colin McIntyre filed with City Clerk Ellis, of St. Thomas, 80 appeals on behalf of the Liberals, and Thomas Barr twenty on behalf of the Conservatives. The funeral of the late D. M. Cromrie, Port Stanley, took place Friday from his late residence to Union cemetery, and was attended by a large number of his friends and neighbors. The pall-bearers were Messrs. H. Demming, M. Frost in the county at the present time means the loss of thousands of dollars, as the grape crop is now at a stage when it would take but a slight attack to kill it. The weather has been so propitious for fruit that it was thought next to impossible that cold weather would again make its appearance this spring. Alex. McNeil, one of the largest grape growers in the Province, said that an attack of frost would be fatal to all fruits, the digestive organs. The residence of Widow Oliver, con. 3, North Dorchester, was struck by lightning early Thursday morning during the heavy storm. The lightning entered at the cast end of the house, passed through three partitions, knocked the plaster off the ceiling on the inmates, especially over the two Misses Oliver, who were awakened from slumbers, but luckily escaped uninjured. There were seven persons in the house at the time.

NORFOLK.

Four insurance companies are directly interested in an argument heard by Mr. Justice Rose in single court at Toronto on Saturday. W. R. Meredith, Q.C., on the one side, is seeking to secure an additional $1,500 for Wm. Nightingale, the Alliston merchant whose store in Brussels went up in smoke in February, 1893. The owner claimed his stock to be worth $9,000, but the Western, Norwich Union, Mercantile and Royal Insurance Companies very materially differ. Moreover, they allege that the fire was not altogether as accidental as he had been endeavoring to lead them to believe. The county judge of Huron, how ever, allowed Mr. Nightingale $4,000. Against this the companies are appealing.

Attacks on Washing-Powders don't affect Pearline. Pearline is a WASHING washing compound in powder form, to be sure, but quite a different thing.

It's made so that it acts upon dirt as nothing else will, but can't possibly do any harm to substance, hands or fabric. Soap-makers are advertising against washing-powders, claiming that they ruin the clothes. They're more than half right. But chemical analysis and the experience of millions of women prove that Pearline hasn't the power to harm clothes that soap has. Beware of imitations. 396 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

OTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed? Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle? Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined? De You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word

"Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

-Mrs. Mary J. Caines, who was arrested sometime ago on a warrant issued on the complaint of Rodney Parker, a farmer, residing near Unton, charging her with bigamy, was tried before Judge Hughes at St. Thomas on Friday. The woman, who is about 40 years old, was married in Torente twenty years age to Geo. Hughes, of London, who married her under the name of Geo. Caines. On Jan. 23, 1893, she was married to Rodney Parker. In the meantime she had procured a divorce in Detroit. She and Mr. Parker did not get on well together and soon separated. The judge held that although guilty of bigamy there was no criminal intent, and acquitted her.

Mr. Frank Love defended her. -Mary Wilson, apparently about 50 years of age, was arrested on Saturday in London West on a charge of vagrancy. Mary wandered over to the village on Thursday last and called on the village constable. She is somewhat simple-minded and the official could learn nothing from her as to where she came from. Inquiry was made at all the charitable institutions, but Mary did not belong to any one of them. Constable Ward kept her at his house until Saturday, when she remembered that the last place she boarded was in a large brick mansion, with iron doors situated near the sulphur springs. The woman was then taken to jail, where it was learned she had spent a large portion of her time of late. She will be tried on May 26. Death of William Mountjoy. William Mountjoy, better known at one time in this city as "Billie" Mountjoy, died on Saturday of consumption at the residence of his uncle, A. Mountjoy, 132 Mount Pleasant avenue, London West. For the past two months he had been gradually sinking. Not many in London knew of his illness, and the notice of his death will be a great surprise. His early life was spent in this city, and his prominence was gained through his becoming a baseball pitcher. Very few could equal him as an amateur pitcher. He left here to join the professional ranks, and after a time spent in that way settled in Port Huron, Mich., where he lived for years. He was 37 years old. The funeral will be held to-day, privately. Mr. Mountjoy made a record for himself with the Cincinnati team, the Metropolitans of New York and the Denver team. In the early 80's he pitched excellent amateur ball for the old Mutuals and the game. Pierced Eighteen Inches of Metal. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2C .- Of the three principal factors in the armor plate test at Indian Head proving grounds yes-terday, the plate, the projectile and the gun, the gun alone came out with flying colors. The plate, the heaviest ever forged, eighteen inches in thickness, was riven from edge to edge by the first attack and the second projectile which completed the work of destruction was itself shattered beyond description.

TERRESTRIAL CONVULSIONS.

Results of the Venezuelan Earthquake-Laguillous and All Its Inhabitants Disappear.

WASHINGTON, May 20. - Advices received at the State Department from Consul Plumacher at Maracaibo, dated May 5, -Mrs. (Ald.) J. W. Jones is visiting show that the greatest damage of the Venezuelan earthquake was done on the famous San Carlos and Merida Railway nearly completed in the Andes. The axis of the disturbance (which lasted at some points three days) was along this line. Several splendid bridges were totally destroyed and others were considerably injured. Several stations were thrown afternoon. The only bid was $2,000, and down, the rails were twisted and bent and in some places broken apart, and a number of lives were lost.

Laguillos, with all its inhabitants, disappeared entirely, a lake now occupying its site. In some places black water having a fetid oror, was expelled from crevasses in the earth. This earthquake is said to have been much worse chan those of 1849 and

SHOULD BURGLARS BE SHOT?

The Saturday Review discusses the theory as to the right or otherwise of householders to shoot persons whom they find occupying their premises, after a felonious breaking and entry, especially at night. Commenting on the decision of a recent case at Manchester, the Saturday Review says: "Mr. Justice Grantham must clearly be enrolled among the followers of the late Mr. Justice Willes; and who room and see a burglar packing up the clock, and he cannot see me, what ought I to do? He replied, as nearly as may be, 'My advice to you, which I give as a man, as a lawyer, and as an English judge, is as follows: In the supposed circumstance of its own friends are on the griddle to have | this is what you have a right to do, and I the fire stirred up. Besides it calls to am by no means sure that it is not your duty to do it. Take a double-barreled gun, carefully load both barrels, and then, without attracting the burglar's attention, aim steadily at his heart and shoot him dead. Mr. Justice Grantham had no occasion to commit himself so far, or so picturesquely, as this because in the case before him the tells the following story, illustrating his burglar did not die; but it is clear that if he had died it would have made no difference business success: "A man said to me, I to the lawfulness of the householder's shooting. It may be said that, in a general way, the existence of the circumstances which justify the killing of a felon by a person who is not a constable must be a 'I put a card in a weekly newspaper three question of fact for the jury. Nobody sugtimes only, and paid $1 50 for it.' I regests that if a burglar was safely incustedy, with his hands bound and his weapons and the implements of his vocation removed, it would be a lawful act to put a gun to his head and blow his brains out. Such an act would undoubtedly be murder. Killing burglars in a struggle might conceivably be manslaughter; and sometimes it may, without any question, be excusable homicide. According to Sir James Stephen, a burglar, or other felon, may be killed either if he is in the act of committing, or about immediately to commit, his crime by open force, and cannot otherwise be prevented from doing it, or if it is impossible otherwise to arrest him or keep him in custody. Aiso any person assaulted in his own house may kill his assailant, if the force he employs is 'proportioned to the violence of the assault.' The event is valuable, as it shows at least that, in the opinion of one judge of the High Court, it is not neces sarily criminal to take the offensive against, or nearly kill, a burglar, doing his office."

Carter Harrison's Murderer. CHICAGO, May 20 .- Patrick Eugene Prendergast, murderer of Carter Harrison, will get another continuance probably for ten days or two weeks when he appears in court Monday for trial as to his insanity, on the ground that his counsel are employed in other cases.
