NEW WARSHIPS FOR JAPAN. Glasgow, Sept. 4.—It is reported that the Japanese Government has ordered the construction of five warships in shippards on the Clyde. The war-ships, it is said, will cost $25,000,000. The report has not been confirmed, but it is generally credited.

HUMBERT TAKES A TUMBLE. Rome, Sept. 4.-King Humbert reviewed the troops and witnessed the military maneuvers at Aquila, after which, accompanied by Queen Margherita, he started for Monza, his Malesty being on horseback. The horse on which the King was riding stum-bled and fell, throwing the rider with some violence to the ground. The King, who was fortunately unhurt, remounted his horse and proceeded on his journéy.

GOOD RIDDANCE. London, Sept. 4.—Shahzada Nazrulla Khan, second son of the Ameer of Afghanistan, who came here on the invitation of the Government in the latter part of May last, and who has given no end of worry to those com-missioned to entertain him, has at last terminated his visit to England. He departed for Paris Tuesday afternoon. The leave-taking was an affair of considerable pomp, being attended with a full state ceremonial.

CUSTOM HOUSE HINDRANCES. London, Sept. 4.-In the House of Commons Mr. Robert Hiscroft, Conservative M. P. for Oldham, asked whether the attention of the Government had been called to the difficulties ex-perienced by British shippers of goods in satisfying the customs officials in New York as to the true value of their consignments.

Under Secretary Curzon, of the Foreign Office, replied that this was the case, and that they had been brought to the notice of the Foreign Office, and that inquiries were now in progress concerning the house of Kay & Co., of Lancashire, whose goods, it is alleged, were confiscated.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS. Lively Discussions at the Session at

Cardiff. Cardiff, Wales, Sept. 4.-At yesterday's session of the annual Trades Union Congress, President Jenkins delivered his inaugural address. He de-nounced the independent labor organizations, amid constant interruptions. He declared that the anti-labor and anti-trades union party had been privately subsidized by the opponents of organized labor, and challenged them to produce their accounts showing where they got their funds. J. H. Wilson, M.P., of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, moved a vote of thanks to President Jenkins. but Delegate Potter objected. He therefore moved that it was the sense of the Congress that such expressions were a departure from precedent, and that offensive passages in the address be stricken out. Mr. David Holmes, vice chairman, ruled that Currie's motion was out of order, and the vote of thanks moved by Wilson was carried. Mr. Wilson challenged the action of the parliamentary committee in excluding certain delegates and offered a motion declaring that such action was unconstitutional. Delegate Curran denounced the intrigues which had preceded the meeting of Congress against men who had grown gray in the service of the workingmen and whom the new rules were especially framed to exclude.

Ben Tillet, of the Dock, Wharf and River Side Workers' Union, threw blame upon Mr. John Burns for dictating a policy tending to ruin trades

HAS OVER A SCORE OF WIVES.

A Man Who Makes No Secret That He

Has a Passion for Marrying. Dublin, Ga., Sept 4.-J. E. Barber, who left this city last night, has had 22 wives. Barber, accompanied by a woman and child, arrived at Lothair, in Montgomery county, about a year ago. Barber procured employment with a naval store firm as chief farrier. Recently he came to this city. Today he was married to a widow of this town. Immediately after the performance of the ceremony Barber called the justice outside and said: "Judge, this makes the 22 d woman I have married and in a few days I am going to have another." The official was astonished and at once made known the startling news. The woman at Lothair claims that she was under the influence of a drug when married to Barber. She is left in a destitute condition. In Orange county, Florida, Barber has three living wives. He has several more in dif. ferent parts of the State who would be glad to hear from him.

Bones Found in the Merlin Woods Evidently Deposited There by a Medical Student—Provincial Detective Investigates.

Chatham, Ont., Sept. 4.-During the past fortnight the provincial papers have published several columns with reference to what is known as the Port Alma mystery.

Some weeks ago the skull and thigh bone of a man were found in the woods near Merlin, in Kent county, and the residents at once scented a diabolical murder, and communicated with the Attorney-General's department. Mr. John Murray, chief of the Provincial detective force, was sent up to investigate the facts in connection with the case, and promptly upon his arrival at Chatham, several columns of alleged information were wired to the metropolitan papers, giving the supposed details of one of the most gruesome tragedies ever committed in Western Ontario. LEFT BY A MEDICAL STUDENT. As a matter of fact, the bones found were in all probability deposited there by a medical student, after he had finished with the "subject." An effort was made to prove that the bones were remnants of the body of Joseph Walker, who disappeared from Merlin at about the time the tragedy was supposed to have been enacted. Detective Murray found, however, that Walker was alive in Romney, working for a man named Church in Talbot Then the disappearance of street. #### Expert Swimmer Tries to Show His Wife His Tricks.

Chicago, Sept. 2.-Wm. Kline had his neck broken in a pecular manner. He was an expert swimmer, and had taken his wife to the lake to see him do some fancy swimming and diving. Donning his bathing costume, he ran to the edge of the embankment, where the water was about seven feet below, and jumping into the air, came down head first into the lake. The water was but two feet deep, and his head struck the botto gain his feet, but as he did so his head fell to one side, and a second later he was lying on his face in the water. Mrs. Kline screamed for help, and in a short time the man was brought to the shore. Then it was found that his neck had been broken and that life was extinct.

Splendid Gathering Under the Auspices of Lambeth Masons.

An Inspiring Address by Hon. G. W. Ross.

Supper and Illuminations-A Fine Pro gramme-Interesting Address-A Hospitable Host.

The beautiful orchard lawn which fronts the fine farm of Mr. D. Burleigh Burch, near Lambeth, was last night the rendezvous of the good people of that vicinity for miles around. Chinese lanterns hanging from the trees, the house a blaze of light, the gay dresses of the ladies, and above all the loveliest kind of a harvest moon, made a very charming spectacle. It was a garden party under the auspices of St. Paul's Lodge, No. 107, A., F. and A. M., that brought the brave and the fair of the township under Squire Burch's hospitable roof and umbrageous trees. The weather had all the mildness of a midsummer night, and amid such surroundings it was a pleasure to simply exist, apart from the diversion afforded by local and imported talent. Long, tastefully spread and handsomely decorated tables on the lawn were covered with samples of Westminster cookery, which several hundred people, after a thorough test, pronounced the finest in the land. Additional relish was given the eatables by the presence of attentive lady waiters. Indeed, the large attendance of the fair sex was one of the pleasantest features. The genial host threw wide open his doors and his home was as free to the guests as the spacious grounds. The presence of Hon. G. W.Ross, Minister of Education, aroused expecta-tions which were realized by a brilliant address, replete with humor and sound advice, and delivered with characteristic eloquence and fervor. The audience sat on benches in front of the veranda, which was used as a platform. The chairman, Dr. Routledge, opened the programme shortly after 9 clock by a neat speech. Between vocal and instrumental numbers addresses were delivered by Bro. Robert Boston, M.P.; Bro. W. S. Calvert, of Napier, ex-warden of the county, and by Hon. G. W. Ross. The Routledge Band played splendidly at intervals; Messrs. Alf. Morphy and Ward Sutherland, of London, delighted the crowd by banjo and guitar selections; Mr. Will Skinner, of London, in popular songs, was re-peatedly encored; Messrs. Tappin and Nixon gave a capital violin duet; and olos by Miss Macdonald, Miss Lottle Poole, Mr. Ezra Hunt, Mr. F. Bennett, Capt. Thos. Robson and Mr. H. Poole completed an entertainment of rare merit.

MR. R. BOSTON, M.P. The popular member for South Middlesex was warmly received. He spoke a few cheerful words. He was delighted at the splendid turnout. St. Paul's Lodge had in its membership an M. P., an M. P. P., and, he understood, the whole council of the township of Westminster. It was a good institution. It taught men to be better to their wives, though he did not know whether it taught those who had no wives to get

This reference to the speaker's bachelordom was merrily appreciated. Referring to his brother-in-law, Mr. Ross, he said that he recollected him from his boyhood days as a lover of his country and a great friend of the British Empire. (Applause.) BRO. W. S. CALVERT.

Bro. W. S. Calvert, P.D.D.G.M., who is a polished speaker, made a pleasant address, bristling with humorous points. He saw so many nice young ladies that he was surprised to see Mr. Boston living in single wretchedness. (Laughter.) He was in Lambeth a year ago January on Masonic business, and enjoyed the visit so much that he was delighted when he received an invitation to come again. Mr. Calvert alluded in complimentary terms to the Minister of Education. When some time ago a band of Canadians attended a convention at Lexington, Ky., at which Mr. Ross spoke, he heard Conservatives and Liberals alike say they were proud of the Minister of Education. (Applause.)

HON. G. W. ROSS. The Minister of Education was loudly applauded on rising. His voice had all its old time ring and could be heard at the farthest end of the grove. He told two or three capital stories, which made the audience roar. It was one of the rules, he believed, of the Masonic order, that brethren should dwell together in unity. Not only had they dwelt together on this occasion, but the sisters had, as well, judging by the social manner in which every one had deported himself. He had been accustomed to take a great deal of pleasure out of his political addresses, though he did not know that his op-ponents did-(laughter)-but this was much more pleasant. He was like the old Scotchman who said he never drank whisky except on two occasions -when he ate haggis and when he didn't eat haggis. (Laughter.) So he (the speaker) took pleasure when making a political address and when making a non-political one. Of course every good Mason told his secrets to his wife. For instance, every Mason's wife knew that her husband was the best in the world. (Laughter.) That was the highest degree of the order-a degree to which no bachelor could attain. (Laughter.)

"That is my only objection," said Mr. Ross, "to my hospitable host, Mr. Burch. (Laughter.) He is not up to the highest degree of the order, and I move that we initiate him tonight.'

Voice-We have the material. Mr. Ross-I move that Mr. Burch qualify and forthwith be initiated to that honorable degree to which every sensible Canadian should aspire. (Laughter.) It is the rule of Masonry that the brethren shall be kind to one another, without regard to their politics or religion. It was announced that I should speak tonight on "Canada," but to do justice to such a big theme would keep me here until after midnight. I will merely say that we should endeavor to foster in Canadians a sincere regard not only for this land but for this land in its relation to the mother country. I have always asked Canadians to take the most hopeful view not only of the present of this country but of the future. No Canadian can say that my fellow citizens have less fortitude, less integrity, less force of character than the citizens of any other country. (Applause.) We have room for a population of 30,000,000 of 40,000,000 people, act man,

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1898. Then why should we not rejoice in the great future that lies before us, in the varied resources and in the geographical area of this great land? Where can you find a land where citizenship occuples a higher plane? Is there any freedom within the limits of public safety which you do not possess? Are not law and order administered as honestly and faithfully as in any land under the sun? Are not life and property as safe? Are not your homes as pleasant and your young men as vigorous? Are not your institutions as progressive? What is there in all this that stirs the ambition and rewards the power of the young Canadian that he cannot find under the constitution and within the citizenship of this land? (Applause.) It is our duty to cultivate that strong love of our land which will consecrate its resources to its development and progress. (Applause.)

Mr. Ross alluded briefly to the education advantages of Canada, referring to the triumph of its system over those of the world at the Chicago Fair. Canadian parents might rest assured that their children at school were being taught by methods pronounced second to none on the earth. Speaking of Canadian unity, he said there were two or three duties that must be discharged. They must abolish all distinctions of race and creed. Some wondered that there was not greater harmony between the Provinces of Canada, but the speaker thought that, considering the youth of the nation, the degree of harmony existing was remarkable. In the American Union they were many years before they ratified the principles laid down by the first Congress. It cost many lives and millions of dollars to consolidate the Union into one harmonious nation. In Canada they hoped to unite the various provinces by mutual respect and forbearance. The Canadian was freer than the Englishman under the shadow of Windsor Castle or the Irishman in his

"With the English, Scotch, Irish; French and German elements, we represent the dominant races of the world. They represent all the progress and nearly all the wealth of the world. Are we to admit that with all these races we cannot make a people in Canada that will be as progressive, as powerful, as independent, and as civilized as the roots from which they sprang? (Applause.) Are we to forget the rock from which we have been hewed? Are we to forget the old race whose blood flows in our veins—the blood of the Plantaganets, of those who fought at Waterloo? Are we to merge all these national elements of pride and sit somnolent upon our benches and say that we Canadians will never amount to anything? That is not the spirit of young Canadians today. (Cheers.) Be true to yourselves. Develop within you a most excellent spine-fortitude and firmness of character that will not yield to temptation in any form; that will defend the right under all circumstances. We do not want people here who are waiting for an uncle to die to get a farm. Get the farm for your-selves. The men who made this country came without a shilling, many of them, but at the back of them were industry, perseverance, unflagging energy. Mothers, sisters and brothers worked with a will. A man, who seemed inebriated, was found leaning against a church. "Are you a member of the church?" someone asked him.
"No-no," replied he, 'but I le-lean that way.' (Laughter.) Don't be a leaner; help to bear the burden." Mr. Ross concluded in an eloquent passage in which he besought his hearers to heed the voice of conscience and discharge the highest duty to country by preserving unsullied reputation and loving fellow-men. He was loudly applauded throughout.

The concluding feature of the evening was an enthusiastic vote of thanks to the host, Mr. Burch, for his sump-tuous hospitality. Mr. Burch replied fittingly. The committee in charge of the event were Dr. Routledge, A. Routledge, G. Thornicroft, D. Irvine and H. Poole. It was the most successful the lodge ever held and was supremely enjoyable to all. Among Masonic visitors present were Wor. Bro. A. E. Cooper and Bro. Alex. Findlay, of London; R. W. Bro. Phillip, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Bro. Harris, of Delaware.

The Labor Delegates Take a Trip to Springbank.

Guests of Mayor Little - His Worship Speaks in French.

A Very Pleasant Luncheon at the Water works-London Complimented.

At 3:30 p.m. yesterday the delegates to the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress were sitting on the saloon deck of the Springbank liner Thames, enjoying the beautiful scenery as it was unfolded to their gaze by the turnings and bends in the river. The spot where the Victoria disaster occurred was an object of curious interest to the delegates, all of whom remembered the terrible affair. Among those accompanying the delegates were: Mayor Little, R. K. Cowan (chairman of the water commission), Treasurer Pope, City Auditor Jewell, Ald. John Heaman, Ald. Armstrong, Ald. Skinner, Ald. Weld and Engineer Moore. At Springbank and hour or so was spent in drinking in the scenery and washing it down with water, after which the visitors ranged themselves around a long table at the Springbank Hotel, where an ample spread of good things was waiting.

POSTPRANDIAL. When the table assumed the appearance of having been struck by a small cyclone, the mayor arose, and, while deprecating the idea of formality, proposed the toast of the Queen. (Applause.)

The toast was loyally and enthusiastically received, the gathering joining heartily in singing the National Anthem.

The toast set the ball in motion, and several delightful toasts and graceful little speeches followed.

In a few appropriate and characteristic remarks Mr. R. K. Cowan proposed the toast of "Our Guests." The Londoners present did the honors by rising and singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

President P. J. Jobin made a capital impromptu speech in replying on behalf of the guests. Mr. Jobin is a Quebec French-Canadian, with all the complimentary grace and eloquence of the average French speaker. His short address abounded in well turned phrases calculated to tickle the pride In til proposed in a very happy manner the toast "Our Hosts."

Ald. Armstrong, Ald. Weld, Ald. Heaman and Ald. Skinner replied to the toast and turned the flow of compliment upon the visitors. Ald. Weld mentioned incidentally that those present were indebted to the mayor for the entertainment.

THANKS TO THE MAYOR. Mr. Marks then arose and returned thanks on behalf of the Trades and Labor Council to the mayor. "During the present year, since he has been in the mayoralty chair," said he, "we have received every assistance from him in shoving through the standard wage question and the 60 hour agreement. I have always found him easy to approach and ready to listen to all that is placed before him." (Applause.) The mayor expressed himself as very much obliged to Mr. Marks for his kind words. He had simply done his duty. In conclusion, he proposed the toast "Success to the Legislative Congress." Such institutions as labor unions would not be necessary, said he, if everybody -employer and employed-observed the golden rule. (Applause.) He stated that he was a believer in the Saturday half-holiday for everybody, and that under the conditions of the present age any man ought to be able to earn enough in five and a half days to keep his family for the week. Before closing the mayor expressed his strong disapproval of Sunday labor of any sort and was loudly applauded.

THE MAYOR SPEAKS FRENCH. Alex. McDonald, Ottawa; Felix Marois, Quebec; J. L. Langevin, Quebec, and D. A. Carey, Toronto, replied.

"I had no idea that I was coming to such a beautiful city as the city of London is," said Mr. McDonald. Felix Marois and J. Laforce Lange-vin spoke in French, and were applauded just as freely as though everybody understood what they said. Mr. Marois said among other things before he visited London he had an idea that French-Canadians were looked down upon in the western country. He was pleased and gratified to learn that he was mistaken.

Mr. Langevin said that he was afraid that the labor organizations here were not Knights of Labor, and urged them to combine together and become bro-Mr. Carey, who is a reporter on the Toronto Telegram, made a clever speech and provoked liberal applause. The mayor said that the French speeches awoke tender memories of boyhood days. He said he was born in Quebec Province, and he surprised the Londoners present by speaking French and thanking sincerely the French-Canadians present for their kind words in French. The gathering then adjourned to the ### boat and arrived home at 7:45 p.m.

The Salary Question

Causes a Breeze in the School Board Meeting.

Recommendations of the Audit Committee Voted Down.

Chairman Blackwell's Rulings Set Aside Crowded Condition of the High School-Large Kindergarten Attendance.

The closing scenes of the regular meeting of the Board of Education last night were of a most unusual character, and were more than a surprise to the majority of the trustees, who crowded themselves into the committee room, while the aldermen enjoyed the big easy chairs and the airy council chamber. Chairman Blackwell is. as a rule, master of the situation, but last night he was unable to control the turbulent spirits of the trustees. The cause of the excitement was the report of the audit committee, presented by Mr. Greenlees, the chairman. It read: "Your committee objects to all resolutions whereby the total amount of salaries paid to the staff on April 13 last is increased on the ground that the appropriations in the estimates for salaries would be exceeded.

"We recommend that all increases deemed proper should only be made to apply from Jan. 1, as the apparent surplus will be fully required for absolutely necessary expenditures, not sufficiently provided for in other sections of the estimates.

"A comparison of the expenditures for the six months ending June 30 in 1894 and 1895 is presented: 1894. Collegiate Insti -

Public schools .. .. 34,030 37 35,155 57 Mr. Greenlees' motion to adopt the first clause started the ball rolling. Trustee Logan was up in an instant, and moved an amendment that it be erased from the report. "Mayor Little told me that if there were any over-drafts he would not honor the checks," said Mr. Green-"But he does not own the city," quickly replied Mr. Logan. Mr. Jeffery—But the mayor does, in the way of signing checks. The amendment was subsequently put to a vote, and received ten supporters, while seven opposed it. Chairman Blackwell declared it lost, holding that it required a twothirds vote to carry.

"I appeal against your ruling, then," said Trustee Logan. The appeal was backed by nine members, while six went with the chairman. A scene of confusion ensued, and the chairman was almost powerless to restore order. Trustees got up and had as many "says" as they wanted. Speakers were interrupted, and there were grumblings galore at the chairman's ruling. Finally Trustee Anderson moved an adjournment. Trustee Griffin seconded, and the board broke up with the audit report unfinished.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE CROWD-

Principal Merchant reported that in the first four forms in the Collegiate Institute there was an overcrowding of pupils. The first contained 77, the second 54, the third 51, and the fourth 54. All the other forms were filled, but it was necessary that another form should be established in the lower school. The four over-crowded forms contained pupils who had passed the entrance examinations. Forty was enough in one form; 77 was out of the question, and could not be handled. The pupils in the first form were going to take the English course and the commercial work, instead of languages. Mr. Merchant said the increase was far greater than last year.

"Does that mean a new teacher?" asked Mr. Anderson. "Yes," replied Mr. Merchant. "W can do nothing else, as the forms no number more than the teachers, and we cannot stand two." The report was referred to No. 1 committee. Inspector Carson reported that Miss Millar, who was granted one year's absence on account of ill-health, had returned, and taken charge of her old class at Talbot street school. Miss Cannell, who was acting for Miss Millar, was placed in her former class in Simcoe street. Miss Macklin, Miss Winnett and Miss Thacker had not returned from their holidays, but their places were being filled by Mr. Reynolds. Miss Bapty, and Miss Graham. Mr. Carson called attention to the unusually large attendance at these kindergartens: St. George's, 77; Queen's avenue, morning 36, afternoon 36; Aberdeen, 50; Victoria, morning 49, afternoon 32. If night schools were to be opened as usual it would be necessary to deal with the question and to appoint teachers at the regular October meeting. The model school was opened with 48 students present. The report was referred to No 1 committee. Trustee Martin presented the report of No. 2 committee recommending the payment of numerous accounts. Some objection was taken to the way in which the committee transacted its business, but the accounts passed and the report carried.

The members present were: Trustee Blackwell (chairman), Campbell, Logan, Greenlees, Anderson, Keenleyside, Craig, Turner, Jeffery, Wilson, Griffin, Wilkins, Murphy, Hunt, Stephenson, Martin, Sanders, Inspector Carson, Pringipal Merchant and Scoretary McElher

The cyclone which did so much damage at D. Graham's, 10th con., Caradoc, recently, unroofed Arch Sin-clair's barn in Lobo, broke the pump and did other minor damages. A limb. from one of the apple trees blown down, broke a pane in the kitchen window opposite where Mrs.

A false report was circulated, stating that malaria and typhoid prevailed extensively at Belmont. This is utterly untrue. The population of the neighborhood is 1,300, and there is only one case of malaria and two of typhoid in the whole place, none of them serious—a pretty good showing.

Boys Break Open a Vault in an Albany Cemetery-Coffin Opened and the Remains Scattered. Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Some time Monday night, in old St. John's Catholic cemetery, Delaware avenue, in this city, a vault, said to contain the remains of a young girl named Shea, who died about fifteen years ago, was broken into by a gang of young vandals. The vault consisted of a double thickness of brick laid, and was covered with a stone slab weighing many hundred pounds. To remove the slab was beyond the boys' power, so they dug under the slab until they reached the bricks. These they quickly demolished, and an opening large enough for a boy to enter was made. The coffin which contained the remains is a metallic one with glass face, in a good state of preservation. The glass was broken and the bones taken out by the boys and scattered about the tomb. A prayer book, rosary, and trinkets which had been inclosed in the coffin were pulled out and also scattered about. A new coffin was provided this afternoon, and the ramains inclosed and removed to Calvary The west wall of this vault, was torn down destroyed. by the young vandals and work commenced on a smaller vault in another part of the cemetery. This cannot properly be termed an opening, as the tugs passed through for the purpose of making captains acquainted with the channel. Officers of the American and Canadian canals were aboard the tugs. Superintendent Boyd has announced that the public opening of the new canal lock and approaches are now ready, the delay of a week having been caused by the Canadian Pacific not having a crew of men on hand to operate the swinging bridge across the in St. Thomas yesterday there were no cases for trial, either civil or criminal. As usual, in the event of there being no criminal cases to be tried, the sheriff presented Chief Justice Armour with a pair of white gloves. The dwelling house of D. F. Mc-Intyre, Ravenswood, Lambton, was totally destroyed by fire on the morn-Ing of Sept. 1. There was $800 insurance on the building and $400 on the contents. Considerable of the contents was saved; loss, about $800. The cause of the fire is unknown.

A young man named Halford, residing near Maidstone Cross. is reported to have been dangerously injured at the recent Catholic picnic at that place. His horse was frightened at the upsetting of the rig, by which seven girls were injured, and bolted, dashing the buggy against a post and throwing him out. In the recent tug-of-war at Hamilton there were three pulls of five minutes' duration each. The first pull went to Barton township and the second to Zorra. The third was a pull for life or death, as it were, for both were determined to win. But neither of them did win. It resulted in a dead heat, leaving the number of pulls equal to each team. The Zorras were short of a good man. About 8 o'clock Monday evening Shirley Marris, of Hamilton, the lit-tle 9-year-old niece of Mrs. Charles lighted lamp, fell when near the landing on the first floor and was severely burned. Ed Pollard, Petrolea, happened to be near, heard the child's screams and rushed to her aid with some bedclothes, or the little one would have suffered probably fatal injuries. At Thamesville station as the C.P.R express was pulling in on Monday, a prisoner named Peter McDonald, whom Sheriff Carpenter was taking from Rat Portage to Toronto to serve a term in the Central for supplying liquor unlawfully in the district, jump ed from the platform of a passenger coach, and, though handcuffed, lit on his feet and got away. Five men joined in pursuit of the fugitive, who was finally captured in J. W. Lang-ford's barn, five miles distant. At Port Stanley yesterday, while Capt. Wm. Berry and a number of men were unloading a steam barge the plank across the gangway broke. The captain and Alonzo Taylor were on the plank at the time, and they fell a distance of 25 feet, alighting on the coal in the bottom of the boat Both men were badly injured. Capt. Berry had three ribs broken and one toe was badly smashed. Mr. Taylor was cut about the face and head, and sustained a number of very painful wounds.

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealization than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers that have, figuratively speaking, bent knees and kissed the big toe of the foot when reason once more comes to their rescue will feel as if the production of the genus Ass were perennial. By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. Trilby's foot would not be worthy of homage if marred by corns; neither would yours. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

An amusing story is told in Harper's Round Table of a gentleman living in London. As the anecdote goes, it seems that he had a passion for the purchase of second-hand furniture at auctions, and that in making "good | pargains" he had filled the house with antiquated and almost useless articles. Upon one occasion his wife took the useful of the pieces removed to an auction room to be sold. Great was her dismay when, on the evening of the day of the sale, the majority of the a better bargain than at first.

There is much truth in the saying that honesty has no business to be nelpless and draggle-tailed; and the man whose only recommendation is his honesty is very apt to go hungry. Honesty is a good propeller, but it requires the steam of hearty, earnest work. We owe our associates somewhile he may "serve who only stands and waits," he is very apt to go threadbare.

I think Rudyard Kipling summed it up pretty well in his answer to an interviewer who asked him what he thought of the "new woman." He laughingly replied: "Every woman is going to become just what her body and soul will admit of her becoming, and that's about all there is to it."

"My boy has discovered who Santa Claus is," said Hicks. "Well, is he delighted?" asked Dawson. "No, he is mad. He says if his own daddy is Santa Claus, he thinks it is pretty poor business for Santa Claus to give toys to all the children in the world them. Now you can buy them in few and talk economy to him."

It is a rare thing to find a woman | Parisians are growing tired of the imthe puff away and yet leave the same

More Trouble Over the Fire Limits Bylaw.

Street Railway Company Reject the Springbank Entrance Offer.

Attempt to Settle the Electric Railway Rate of Speed.

The Discussion Became Warm at Certain Places.

Grist of Applications for Tax Remissions -Amalgamation With London West-Proposed Change in License Fees.

Refreshed after their recess of a month the aldermen met last night for the consideration of regular business. While no very important matters came up for discussion, the remarks passed around the board were at times very lively and much to the point. City Clerk Kingston was in his place again and all the board were present, excepting Ald. Armstrong. The school board, in view of the council's refusal to make the grant, gracefully withdraw by letter their requisition for debentures for new buildings. The communication was received and filed Annie Warren, Mrs. Hawkins, and Z. Bullock applied for admission to the Aged People's Home. Referred to the mayor and inspector. OVER A $20 FINE

Alex. Harvey asked the council to remit a fine of $20 inflicted by the police magistrate for infraction of the fire limits bylaw in erecting a small addition to the Mechanics' Institute. Mr. Harvey said that he had obtained sanction from No. 3 committee to build the structure

Ald. O'Meara moved that the engineer be instructed to withdraw the charge. Ald. Wm. Heaman strenuously objected to this procedure, and wanted to know what the city had an engineer There are two short waists made to for if the council refused to stand by > Ald. Powell claimed that the bylaw in the case under discussion was not contravened.

> Ald. O'Meara held that if the bylaw was violated in the Mechanics' Institute case it was violated in the case of nearly every building erected in the city, and that under a strict interpretation of the letter of the law no building could be put up that was not exclusively composed of stone or iron. He moved that the fine be remitted. Mayor Little ruled that the council could not remit the fine, but it could grant Mr. Harvey enough money to pay the fine.

Ald. O'Meara then changed his motion to grant $20 to Mr. Harvey. Ald. Parnell seconded. Ald. Carrothers moved in amendment that the matter be referred back to the committee to bring in a report. Ald. Jones also held that there was no infraction. Ald. O'Meara withdrew his motion, and Ald. Carrothers' amendment carried. STREET RAILWAY AND SPRING-BANK.

The street railway company wrote stating that it was impossible for the company to entertain the proposition made by the city as a basis of agreement by which the electric line could be extended into Springbank Park. The letter outlined the fact that the city insisted on the company building to Springbank and pointed out that after building there the city then refused them entrance. The communication then wound up with a covert threat to make a resort of their own if a satisfactory arrangement was not soon made, as the road in its present shape was of very little use to the company or to the general public. If the city wished to dispose of the catering privileges they were at liberty to do so to whom they saw fit. The letter was referred to the water commissioners. AFTER FAKE JEWELERS. With the coming of fair time, the city jewelers sent in a petition objecting to the presence on such occasions and at Christmas time of transient jewelers "selling truck jewelry and de-ceiving the public," to the detriment of the regular merchants who paid taxes all the year round. The mayor said that he had instructed the inspector to collect the highest fee possible from such traders. That was all that could be done. Ald. Marshall (sotto voce)-You can inflict a fine on them and then remit it. (Laughter.) Fifteen applications for remission and refund of taxes were received and referred to No. 1. Residents of Central avenue, opposite Victoria Park, petitioned to have the street car track laid on the south side of the street, instead of in the center of the roadway. No. 1.

James Davis, London township, asked for the remission of a $2 police court fine. Filed. Several ratepayers on the corner of Dundas street and English asked that the street grade at that point be lowered while the car tracks are being laid.

Engineer Graydon said that street railway company had already laid their rails and would not now alter the grade. Ald. Garratt moved, and Ald. Dreaney seconded, that the work be done, providing the street railway company could be induced to change their grade. SOME LIVELY CROSS-FIRING. On the suggestion to build an addition to a stall in the Market Bazar, as contained in No. 3 committee's report, a small storm of discussion arose. Ald. Carrothers and Ald. Parnell both spoke against the proposition, and it was moved by the former and seconded by the latter that the clause be struck

Ald. Dreaney gave No. 3 committee a rap for allowing frame buildings to be erected on the market in direct small one even for a man."-New York violation to the fire limits bylaw. He said there were too many cheap buildings crowded into the market space (which was small enough already) to the detriment of tax-paying merchants. The clause was struck out. "And I hope No. 3 committee in the face of this will not go and give this man permission to build," said Ald. Mar-shall, in playful sarcasm. "I beg your pardon," said Ald. Powell, who refused to see a joke in the remark. The next clause recommended that $1,310 worth of repairs be made at No.

1 Fire Station to accommodate the aerial truck. "When is this aerial truck to be here?" asked Ald. O'Meara. "It has been ordered," answered the mayor.

Several aldermen objected to the expenditure and showed a disposition to strike the clause out. "Surely the members of the council don't know what they are doing?" said Ald. Powell, as the vote was about to "Order, order," called the mayor.

"Excuse me, I will take that back," said Ald. Powell. be recorded.

The clause was ultimately adopted by a vote of 10 to 7.
TROUBLE OVER A LAUNDRY RATE.

No. 1 committee recommended that a special rate of 5 cents net per 100 feet be allowed the Parisian Laundry for term of five years. This brought hot opposition from Ald. O'Meara.
Ald. Garratt—We are only discussing one case now. Let the other laundries petition on their own behalf.

Mayor Little—They have already. Ald. Jones-Any other laundry using over 100,000 feet of water can have the same privilege. Ald. Dreaney—And if the Parisian Laundry use less than 100,000 feet it has to pay a higher rate. "That is coming down upon the poor man," added Ald. O'Meara warmly. "It is a monopoly and an injustice." The clause was adopted. Dr. Wild and Wm. Kirkpatrick will have to pay their income tax, the aldermen having on power to remit it. A clause granting remission of taxes on the Salvation Army Hotel was struck out. No. 2 committee's report contained one small clause, which was, that T. P. Webb be allowed, "without prejudice," $3 for damages done to his wagon by reason of "an alleged de-fective street." The report was adopted. WELCOMING THE G. T. R.'s

PRESIDENT. "Has anything been done to receive the new president of the Grand Trunk Railway?" asked Ald. Nutkins.
"I might say," answered the mayor, "that in conjunction with the president of the Board of Trade, I tele-graphed an invitation to the directors and the general managers to meet the council and some of the leading merchants at a time to be fixed by them. They have accepted that invitation, and will make the date known as soon as their plans are sufficiently matured to enable them to do so."
COUNCIL FUN.

"I would like to speak upon the question of amalgamation of London West. Is this question debatable?" said Ald. Powell.

"I will refer that matter to Ald. O'Meara," said the mayor, with a twinkle. Ald. O'Meara's peculiar antipathy to London West is well known. "I have not got my jack-screws ready," said Ald. O'Meara, "so I will have to answer it next meeting." (Laughter.)

"I would like to ask Ald. O'Meara." said Ald. Garratt, "what the rate of taxation is going to be in London Ald.O'Meara referred Ald. Garratt to ne mayor, but the answer was no forthcoming.

The tax deadlock in London West continues in the meantime. STREET RAILWAY SPEED. Ald. O'Meara moved that the rate of speed on the electric system be six miles an hour. No seconder. Ald.Carrothers-I will move that the rate of speed do not exceed twenty miles an hour. Twenty miles an hour is slow enough. Ald. Weld (jokingly) - Make it 30 and I will support you.

Ald. Garratt proposed that the rate be ten miles. Ald. Jones advocated the reference to a committee, where the rate could be adjusted to meet the crowded condition of parts of the main streets.

This idea prevailed, and No. 1 committee will deal with the matter. OTHER BUSINESS. Ald. Pritchard moved for a return of a list of all moneys expended in connection with the steam roller up to Sept. 1. Ald. Powell gave notice of motion to change the circus license from $100 to $400, and the fee for translent traders from $10 to $25. Ald. Wm. Heaman moved, and Ald. Carrothers seconded, that a light be placed at the corner of South and Colborne streets. Lost. No funds.

Pres't and Managing Director. London, Wednesday, September 4.

A PRISONER AT EIGHT. The following appears in a recent issue of the Cobourg World: "The Baby Prisoner.-Gov. Snelgrove has in his safe keeping a prisoner of 8 years of age. This youthful culprit, Archie McVinney, hails from Port Hope and was convicted of breaking glass and destroying property, and sentenced to two months in jail. The governor says that the boy is bright and sturdy and full of sharp tricks. He already has a brother in the reformatory. Poor little Archie's mother is dead and street education has not proved conducive to good morals.' It is sad to find an 8-year-old boy so incorrigible that a magistrate is moved to sentence him to a term of imprisonment in a place so utterly unsuited to his years as a county jail. We do not know the condition of the Northumberland county prison, but if it resembles the average county house of detention in this Dominion, it is no place to send a child of tender years for punishment.

In ordinary jails, it is well to know, the child prisoner when taking exercise Is compelled to mix with old and hardened vagrants, and it has been no uncommon thing for a youth to enter prison comparatively inexperienced in vice, and to have influences so bad extended towards him as to give him a big start for a felon's cell. If it is possible we believe that Gov. Snelgrove will keep his boy prisoner isolated from evil influences, and will make such humane provision for him as will help his reform rather than his further degradation. The trouble in the past has been with the means placed at the disposal of the jailors for the isolation of juvenile offenders.

It is high time that county and city councils, who have the jails under their control, awoke to the fact that prevention is better than cure, and that what this country needs is not more waifs and strays, imported by professional philanthrepists, but the most effective remedy for juvenile depravity in our own land, While our Government at Ottawa has been bonusing old world people to send pauper, neglected, and crime-stained chidren to Canada, we have in this Province alone some 1,800 children in homes or industrial schools, dependent for support upon the taxpayers and private benevolence, to say nothing of juvenile criminals.

Let us set our own house straight before we play Sir Bountifuls to the rich men of Britain.

THE WESTERN FAIR. The Hamilton Spectator says that "London's agricultural show has always been a good agricultural exhibition; but it hasn't drawn as the directors would like to have it." and so this year there are to be many new attractions. This fact seems to be discomforting to our contemporary, which scarcely approves of the providing of special amusements for the While it is true that the Western Fair-the pioneer successful agricultural exhibition of the Province -has always been "good," it is equally true that the shrewd men who are its directors have never been quite satisfied with its drawing powers They are men of sense, and they but 200,000 of the bone and sinew, youth and beauty of the country in attendance at the exhibition which they have been able to provide. It is in this sense alone that the Western Fair directors have held that the attendance in past years, enormous though it has been, has not been so large as was desirable. The attractions this year, however, are such as to compel the belief that the holidaymakers will come in increasing crowds, from the uttermost points of the earth-even from Hamilton. Outside of the special attractions altogether-the "circus," our contemporary calls them-the show of animals and of farm products at the Western Fair will not be excelled at any show in the country.

London has always provided a magnificent exhibition and a lively programme of sports, and the public has always patronized the show, whether held under the auspices of the Western Fair Board or the Agricultural and Arts Association. As long as the last-named association was in existence, it invariably depended on its receipts in this city to recoup it for ts losses in Hamilton and less favorably situated places. And while Ham-Iton and other chies gave up their shows the Western Fair has steadily progressed from the day of its inception until now. If its enterprising directors had rested on their oars, and been satisfied with making it a mere big pumpkin exhibition, a record so uniformily satisfactory would not

THE OUTLOOK FOR IRELAND. Earl of Crewe, who recently held the position of Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in Lord Rosebery's Government, says it is folly to dogmatize upon the future course of events in that island. Neither English party, he remarks in a contribution to the North American Review, is in a position to govern the country according to its desire. The Conservatives may at any moment be moved to return to coercion, whereas the Liberals now frankly admit that Ireland cannot be permanently ruled by Englishmen of any party according to Irish ideas. The noble earl more than hints that the new Government may try to keep down the sentiment in favor of local self-government by a profuse expenditure of money, and he admits that much may depend on climatic changes and upon whether or not a strong leader is soon raised up to keep Irish M. P.s as united in their demands as were the electors who voted for them in recent election. The retiring Viceroy says that he believes the Conservative triumph neither involves any abatement of Ireland's claims nor an abandonment of her constitutional position. "Unfinished questions," it has been said, "have no pity for the repose of nations." Not very long ago, the noble earl adds, it seemed! likely that the home rule ship might make the harbor for which she was steered, but she was swept by the gale far out into the open sea. To retrace her course she must beat

In all probability, the question of disestablishment in Scotland will be settled by a plebiscite. It is a matter which the people may well be allowed to settle for themselves. If disestablishment were brought about, a united Presbyterian Church could be made a power in Scotland

Arbitration is becoming a power in the settlement of labor disputes in Great Britain. Recently, in a shipyard at Newcastle, a part of the men went on strike. They and their employers agreed to submit the disputed matters to the arbitration of a working blacksmith in the yard. He decided in favor of the employers and the men went back at once to work.

The Hamburg-American Packet

Company has ordered from the Harlands of Belfast a twin-screw steamer of 20,000 tons, which will be the largest in the world. This big order has been given to a British firm because its tender was much lower than any tender sent in by German shipbuilders, thus falsifying the contention that as a consequence of her trade freedom Britain is losing her hold as a manufacturing nation. The giant of all the merchantmen afloat will be ready for launching in ten months from now. It is noteworthy that the successive new periods in the evolution of steamship dimensions during the past century have been marked by respective launchings of the Britannia and the Hibernia (each 225 feet long), the 250-foot America, the 275-foot Asia, the 375-foot Persia, the 425-foot Bothnia, and the Servia, which in 1881 was the first ship to pass the 500-foot mark. The St. Louis' bigger rivals are the City of Rome, the Paris and New York, the Teutonic and Majestic and the Campania and Lucania. The two Cunarders are 620 feet long. The new Hamburger will be between 650 and 700 feet long. In the past half century steamship dimensions have been almost trebled. Three hundred and ninety-five feet have already been added, and it remains to be seen what the Hamburg-American giant will add

The results of tariff reform are lightened taxes, cheaper necessaries of life, quickened employment and increased wages for labor, widening markets and the promise of adequate revenue. Production of first-class stock pays even in these days of keen competition among agriculturists. At the sale of Shropshire sheep at Harrington Hall, Eng., the other day, a shearling tup sold for $1,150, and an average of $209 for 45 rams was obtained.

When at Winnipeg recently, Lieutenant-Governor Chapleau of Quebec said he often wished that Sir John Macdonald yet led the Conservative party. If he were alive and in Premier Bowell's place, the difficulties with Manitoba would have been settled long ago. This view is that of many thousands of those who were formerly allied with Mr. Chapleau in the Conservative ranks. Blundering and incapacity and lack of courage characterizes the present regime at OtWHEAT IN MANITOBAL

The Winnipeg Commercial says: 'Never in the history of the Manitoba grain trade have we seen the feeling so sluggish at the beginning of the movement of the new crop. New wheat is offering, but there are no buyers. The high price at which old wheat is held locally, together with the declining tendency of the world's markets, is no doubt accountable for this. The big milling concerns have quite a lot of old wheat and they are not hungry for the new crop, while the great weakness in foreign markets seems to have paralyzed exporters for the moment.

Whereupon James B. Campbell writes to the local press:

"Never in the history of the Manitoba grain trade have we seen the big Canadian concerns bid 15 cents above Duluth prices for Manitoba wheat when the farmers had any to sell. Now that the crop is on there are no buyers. That Dr. Montagu and others advertised the favorable position of the Canadian farmer is no doubt accountable for attention being drawn more closely to the price which the Canadian farmer does receive for his wheat,

"Political clap-trap is one thing, but business is business. Farmers must be educated down to Duluth prices and under. If enough of Canadian wheat can be shipped over into the United States, it will be in order to announce in our house a 15 cent advance in wheat-when millers have stocked up-and stimulate Canadian consumers and electors." "The Winnipeg Commercial also informs us that 'these big milling concerns are taking in the wheat on storage' 'without a price being nambecause there are no buyers in face of a declining market. Minnesota and Dakota farmers have no difficulty in obtaining the price of the day for their wheat. It is most gratifying to note the advantageous position of the Canadian miller; he can keep the wheat until it suits him to buv. Let these protected millers stand up like men and back their position; let them pay the 15 cents above United States prices or shut up their talk. It is true that consumers pay more for their flour, but it is not to the gain of the treasury or the Canadian farmer—vide the price of Can-adian and United States wheat to-

AN ALARMING INCREASE. The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 2.-Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years and to remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada, but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys, and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of vicims to this form of complaint.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON. When the afternoon session of the Trade Congress convened at 2 o'clock President Jobin delivered his annual address to the delegates. In part he

"Among the many questions that will be presented, I believe that the most important is the immigration system of our Dominion. I would particularly recommend this congress to adopt measures that will have for effect the entire prohibition of Chinese immigration, which is nothing more than an unmitigated curse. To those who have at heart the present or future welfare of our country what a disheartening prospect lies in the admission to our soil of an admittedly in-ferior people? It is to be regretted that our legislators have not as yet taken this action, and it is still further to be regretted that some of the divines have declared in favor of this class of immigrants. The reason is not far to seek-the same motive: 'Mammon' actuates both; it is the dollar before the man. It is the reduction of the living standard of those who work for wages and their consequent demoral-

THE IMMIGRATION SYSTEM. "I would also draw your attention to another phase of the immigration system as now conducted-it is the large number of agricultural immi-grants who are to be found in all our large cities. Of course, the only emigrants who ought to be encouraged to Lyon, b Brooke ...... 9 make Canada their home are those who intend to settle upon our unoccupied lands and intend to develop the great resources of our country. Still, without throwing any doubt upon this theory of our immigration system does not the fact of the replacing of the Montreal coal-heavers by Italian laborers, and the employment of the same class in the building of one of the subsidized railways in course of construction, tend to point out that a system that permits these little episodes wants reforming.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES. "There are also several other questions of vital import to come before this congress. The one to which most attention must be given is, in my estimation, that portion of the executive committee's report dealing with the constitution of this congress. In dealing with this question of a Canadian Labor Federation, remember, fellow-delegates, that to reach its maximum efficacy organization of labor must be universal. means are devised whereby, with-out antagonizing any of the existing international bodies, it would be possible to consolidate the efforts of the toilers of our Dominion. I believe that the means already exist in and through the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.' PROUD OF LAST YEAR'S RECORD. "In reviewing the events of the past year, I find that organized labor has much to be proud of, and but little to regret. "The different labor bodies of the Dominion may feel justly proud of having so successfully held their membership together during so trying a period as the past year whose winter was characterized by appeals to the municipal governments, in nearly all our large cities, for relief works. It also conveys a lesson that, if properly appreciated by those interested, may have for effect the permanent relief of our congested cities by directing a portion of their population to the still unoccupied public lands, and despite the sneer of the pessimist, the three acres and a cow are preferable to breaking stone at 30 cents a yard. A legitimate effort on the part of our governing authorities to obtain this result would no doubt be much more appreciated by those who pay taxes, and upon whom the burden falls none too lightly--of supporting the unemployed. WELCOMING THE PATRONS. "I cannot allow this occasion to pass without wishing a most hearty and cordial welcome to the representative of the toilers in the fields—the Patrons of Industry. It has been said oftentimes that the rural population of the Dominion was about a quarter of a century behind its urban population in seeking for progressive reform. This congress at its eleventh annual session welcomes the representatives of the farmer, and though some may say that they are still a decade behindhand, I must, in justice to them, affirm that they are so energetically engaged in the movement that they will soon pass, if they have not done so already, their brother toilers of the workshop and factory, not alone in asking for, but in obtaining a needed and progressive re-

"I now declare this, the eleventh annual session of the Trades and Labor Congress duly opened for the transaction of such business as may be brought before it, and I pray that the Almighty may bless our efforts, so that by his guidance they may be crowned with success."

The address was received and referred to a committee, as were a cou-ple of communications and the reports of the executive committee, as printed in last evening's "Advertiser.' COMMITTEES STRUCK.

The following committees were then named by the president: Ways and Means-Charles Marsh, Toronto; Joseph Hawthorne, London; Wm. Darlington, Montreal. Langevin, Quebec. THE OTTAWA LIAR.

Mr. Alex. McDonald, Ottawa, drew attention to a press dispatch from Ottawa, which appeared in the "Advertiser." It was somewhat derogatory to the trades procession on labor day. "Evidently the Ottawa liar is abroad again," said Mr. McDonald. "I wish to say fora the benefit of the delegates here assembled that the labor parade at Ottawa Monday was the most representative parade that we have ever had. The streets were torn up and the parade did not make as great a show as it would otherwise, but it was an unqualified success, so far as being representative of labor is concerned. TREASURER'S STATEMENT. George W. Dower, Toronto, presented the treasurer's report for the year. The receipts were $326 87, and the balance on hand, $46 07. The amount of money received since last congress was $270 54. The balance on hand last year was $102 40, but the expenses had exceeded the receipts of the year by $56 33. The expenditures this year show a decrease of $66 29 as compared with last year, owing chiefly to the fact that the body was not represented during the year at Ottawa. The report was received and refer-red to the audit committee. The delegates then adjourned for a trip down the Thames. WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The evils of the sweating system and the encroachments upon Canadian labor by Chinese immigrants were the causes of debate at this morning's session of the Trade Congress. The discussion was at all times interesting, and at several points very breezy. A number of citizens were present in the hall and listened to the remarks of the delegates with a great degree of interest. As a result of several members exhibiting a tendency to prolong the discussion by speaking too long and too often, a time limit of five minutes was placed on the speakers just before adjournment, and each delegate will only be allowed to speak twice upon one subject. The delegates will treated to a carriage drive around the city at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

George Dower, Toronto, took a stand against the immigration, and George T.Beales, Toronto, defended the conduct of previous congresses in the matter, and said that they had persistently fought the matter. Mr. Powell, London, spoke again on the relation of the Chinese question and the servant girl problem. R. G. Hay, Ottawa, in speaking to the question, alleged that deputations to Ottawa were merely wined and dined and sent home happy. Messrs. Dower, President Jobin and George T. Beales vied with one another in strenuously denying that they ever wined and dined at Ottawa. "But this congress is not the world," said Mr. Hay.

"It represents a very large portion of it," added Mr. Carey.

Mr. Hay advocated a petition by, say, 3,000 persons, in each place affect-It might have some influence with the Ottawa authorities.

BALLOTS, NOT SIGNATURES. "A better way to settle the ques-tion would be to register 3,000 ballots instead of signatures," said Mr. J. T. Marks, London, and the congress applauded the remark.

Delegate Darlington, Montreal, said that he had heard it advocated that Chinamen should be shot. "But," said Mr. Darlington, "if there is any shooting to be done at all, shoot the men who bring them over and allow their entrance into the country." Mr. Darlington caused a laugh by admitting that he had been wined and dined at Ottawa, but it had not affected his vote or deterred him from his pur-

C. C. Steuart, Winnipeg, moved in amendment that the Federal Government be asked to further restrict the Chinese immigration by raising the poll tax from $50 to $500. Mr. Powell seconded.

Messrs. Ryan, Montreal; Marsh. Toronto; Carey, Toronto; Langevin, Quebec, St. Pierre, all took part in the discussion. The discussion drifted away from the Chinese question to a criticism of the action of previous executives in relation to the question. The chairman eventually called the members to order and the question was put.

The amendment became the motion, Mr. Carey, with the consent of his committee, withdrawing the original resolution.

The phraseology of the amendment contained the word "heathen" as a preface to the word Chinese. Several members took exception to this, Mr. O'Donoghue sarcastically suggesting that the heathens might be found among those who had criticised the executive of former congresses. Mr. Steuart finally agreed to withdraw the expression, "although," said he, "if you lived in British Columbia you would call them heathen.'

The amendment then carried. THE SCHOOL QUESTION. Under the head of new motions Joseph Hawthorn introduced the same resolution he had moved during the previous discussion. It was moved by Delegate, St. Pierre, Ottawa, seconded by Delegate Darlington, Montreal: "That inas-Darlington, Montreal: "That inas-much as the present school system is costly and unsatisfactory to the toilers of the land, and, further, that it is a channel from which emanates a large amount of the disagreements among the different nationalities and creeds of this country, and further, that under the present system a workingman's child has no chance of obtaining a fit and proper education so necessary to their future life. Therefore, be it resolved that this congress desire to express itself as being in favor of a free compulsory and nonsectarian school for all classes, and that the different provincial governments be petitioned accordingly." The committee on standing orders re-

1. That permanent officers had been selected as follows: D. A. Carey, chairman; C. C. Stewart, secretary. 2. In consideration of the petition of the Toronto garment workers in reference to the sweating system in Toronto and Montreal, we deem it of urgent necessity that a commission be appointed to investigate to what extent the system is practiced in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal, as a test of the whole Dominion.

3. In the opinion of this congress the existing system of Dominion immigration has failed in its intention, is unnecessary, and should be abolished. That no grants should be made to any secular corporation, and public lands should be allotted only to actual settlers, and that active opposition be offered to the influx of Chinese into Canada, as well as not interfering with the existing laws respecting these people.

THE SWEATING SYSTEM. D. J. O'Donoghue, Toronto, said that it was a well-known fact that sweating existed in Toronto, and it was gaining a foothold in Montreal.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," said Mr. O'Donoghue. "It is easier to kill the system in the bud and nip it in its inception." Then Mr. O'Donoghue attacked royal commissions generally and Canadian royal commissions in particular. "They are not worth the paper their report is written on," said he.

Wm. Darlington, Montreal, said that another system was downing the sweaters in Montreal. It was farmers' wives and daughters making garments at as low or lower a rate than that which was paid to sweaters. He moved in amendment that an addition be made to the clause of the report making it obligatory for the commission to inquire into this branch of the work." Mr. O'Donoghue held that if that point was followed up it would mean a similar inquiry into work done by printers' wives, carpenters' wives, and the wives of other mechanics. D. A. Carey, Toronto, did not favor royal commissions, but had acquiesced to the wish of the majority. He pointed out, however, that it was in the scope of the commission to investigate into work done by all classes of people, including foreigners, farmers' wives or mechanics' wives. The resolution was broad enough to cover them all. He said that trousers were being made in Toronto at 10 cents a pair. Alex. McDonald, Ottawa, said the same garments were made in Ottawa and Hull at 8 cents each. He asked that Ottawa be included in the investigation, and Mr. Carey replied that that was the original intention. H. B. Ashplant, London,

Mr. Darlington's amendment. Mr. Joseph Hawthorn, London, took part in the discussion. R. G. Hays, Ottawa, objected to the amendment as introducing class questions. P. J. Ryan, Montreal, also opposed the amendment, holding the original resolution to be strong enough.

In view of the explanations offered Mr. Darlington withdrew his amendment, and the resolution was adopted. CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

The clause respecting Chinese immigrationed was championed by Mr. Michael Powell, jun., London, the author of it in committee. He went so far as to urge the complete debarring of Chinamen from the country. He had lived in the west and knew and described how the Chinamen lived out there. Mr. Powell said that the time to agitate the question had arrived, as a Dominion election was pending. Geo. Dower, Toronto, said that the executive committee had long tried to procure legislation on the matter, but failed. The Dominion Government could not be induced to make any promises with reference to the question. R. H. Hessel, London, said that Chinese labor meant too many dollars to the wealthy class of British Columbia for them to permit the Government to discriminate against the Chinamen. In this city alone they worked in direct opposition to needy widows, and union men patronized them. "We of the west," said Mr. Stewart, Winnipeg, "rely upon the members of the Congress of Canada to help us in the matter. The total prohibition of the Chinese must come. If it does not, the Chinese will be down here in such numbers that you yourselves will not be able to work. WILL OPPOSE THE PRESBYTER-IANS. D. J. O'Donoghue directed the congress to oppose the resolution adopted at the late Presbyterian General Assembly held in this city asking the Wharncliffe at a lively rate of speed.

Dominion Government to repeal the existing Chinese regulations. The Presbyterian body was very influential, and Mr. O'Donoghue urged that the efforts of the congress be devoted to opposing the proposed repeal. The regulations were not very rigid now, but they were better than they used to be, and if the congress aimed too high—at total prohibition—they might lose all.

Joseph Hawthern, London, moved as an amendment that union men and members of trades congresses be pledged not to deal in any way with Chinese that interfere with white labor. There was no seconder, and Mr. Hawthorn withdrew his resolution.

Alex. McDonald, Ottawa, pointed out that to prohibit the Chinese would mean the changing of the British North America Act, which could not be done very easily. It also would mean the total loss to Canada of Asiatic trade. A poll tax could be made high enough to act as well as a prohibitory law.

THE REASON OF IT. H. B. Ashplant, London, said that the reason the Presbyterian Church passed such a resolution as it did was that the Chinese wife of Dr. McKay, Presbyterian missionary, was stopped at Vancouver and poll tax collected. He urged the combination of labor in America upon the same economic basis as European labor.

They Were Poisoned

Minnie and Alice Boug Ate of Lendon West Canned Salmon

Which Had Been Left in an Open Tin Overnight.

Taken Seriously Ill-Minds Deranged-One Recovers for a Time and Then Relapses-Other London

West News.

Miss Minnie L. Boug, aged 17, and her sister, Miss Alice, aged 15, who live with their parents at No. 11 Leslie street, London West, were removed to the City Hospital this afternoon. They were suffering from temporary mental lasts there is no turning rusty or derangement, brought about by eating canned salmon, in which poison is supposed to have become lodged. The circumstances are somewhat peculiar and are creating a sensation and a drop in the price of salmon in the village. Last Friday evening the two girls prepared Saturday's lunches for their brothers, canned salmon being on the bill of fare. The remaining portion of the tin was placed away over night, and on Saturday morning the sisters partook of it for breakfast. They ex-perienced no sickness throughout the day, but as the evening advanced they became very ill and showed symptoms of polsoning. Dr. Geo. Wilson was summoned, and when he arrived the patients had become worse and were acting strangely. They screamed and moaned, and but for restraint would have torn their clothing. The case was pronounced one of poisoning, similar come under Dr. Wilson's notice, where the patient becomes temporarily ranged, and remains in that condition for two weeks. The Misses Boug remained in a procarlous condition over Sunday, the younger one being especially affected and both being mentally unbalanced and confined to bed. Monday afternoon Minnie recovered her senses, and the ill effects of the poison seemed to have left her entirely, but during Tuesday she was again suddenly attacked, and has raved almost continuously since. Happily the victims have strong constitutions, which are likely to pull them through.

The Misses Boug are the daughters of Mr. Albert Boug, gardener, and their numerous friends will regret to learn of their misfortune. They were the only members of the family, outside of the brothers, who partook of the salmon.

NOT YET. The London West councilors have not managed to agree on the tax question, and while they are holding back from striking the rate villagers are saving up their coppers awaiting a settlement. But a "kiss and make up" does not seem any nearer at hand than it did a month ago. The council met last night, when Finance Minister Moore reported that the village had a balance on hand of 37 cents and stated that coupons had arrived for the payment of interest on debentures to the amount of $300. He obtained three or four days' grace, and the matter will be considered at the council meeting Thursday evening. When the question of striking the rate was brought up Reeve Macdonald had a letter read stating that the council must provide for a sinking fund, or be subject to the penalties, which included unseating and disqualification. The debentures, of course, could be consolidated, doing away with the necessity of a sinking fund. This letter only bore out the reeve's contention, he said, and he most positively refused to strike an insufficient rate. Messrs. Murdock and Hamilton said they were willing to abide the consequences of their act, and the reeve warned them, should they force the matter, that he would take action to have them unseated and disqualified. The council will meet again Thursday night, when the deputy reeve will probably be asked to sign the bylaw providing for 26 mills.

IT CAME BACK. The London West electric car has been returned to the village after an absence of several weeks, during which the residents had to be satisfied with a bob-tail service. The car returned Tuesday, and at the council meeting in the evening the street railway company was denounced for the treatment of the burg by taking away its only treasure. Just as one of the councilors was having his say Assistant Superintendent Reycraft entered the chamber and invited the council to go for a ride on the

The journal of the Royal Agricultural Society of England contains an article of much worth, dealing with the condition of dairy produce imported into the United Kingdom, and also offers some suggestions as to how improvements can be made in the preparation and shipping of butter and cheese. It concludes as follows:

"It is not, however, simply Danish versus Colonial competition that is at present awaiting solution. The contest is between the man who can make a profit by laying his butter down in the British market at 9d or 10d per pound, be he Dane or Swede or Colonial, and the man who cannot do so except at a loss. In the contest for supremacy in the British market, the man who can supply the best butter at the least cost will come out triumphant, no matter in what country he resides. The colonial dairyman, therefore, should turn his attention to the improvement of his butter, and endeavor to discover the most economical conditions for its manufacture, transit and sale. It is very interesting to study at what price one's opponent can sell his goods, but it is far more useful to employ one's energy in ascertaining how you can make the best article at the least possible cost.

The Secret Out.

"And what is that?" suggested the inspector. "Why that the clothing found upon the corpse was the same which she had worn in life. That the girls made no interchange of garments and that consequently the woman you married was the same you saw in her bridal garments when you first came to the house, viz., Mildred Farley. It is not the conclusion you drew, but is it not the only sensible one?"

Dr. Cameron could not say so. "For," pursued the doctor, "if there was not time for one pair of hands to do all the dressing and undressing required if death came before the change of garments had been effected, neither was there time for it had it been attempted when both pair of hands could have been employed. A bride cannot be arrayed in a moment, and, as you say, both women were dressed with the utmost nicety and care, But there is another fact I ask you to consider. I again quote your

"She-that is the woman now bearing your name—is disappointed in Miss Foote (Miss Gretorex's most intimate friend, you remember) and will not receive her nor talk about her. A strange freak, doctor, if your wife was Miss Gretorex, but a most natural precaution if she was Mildred Farley. For parents such as Mr. and Mrs. Gretorex —adopted parents, remember, and of a most formal type-could be more easily hoodwinked than an intimate school friend, versed in every secret of the other's heart.' The doctor could not deny this,

"There was a time in Washington when she seemed more alive and eager in her enjoyments than ever before in my experience of her. Your experience had been with Miss Gretorex, you will not forget. She glowed with pride and joy as she could not have done if she had-been, let me add, the woman called Genevieve Gretorex, baffled in her love and wearied by a lifetime of social excitements and foi-

The inspector spoke again, "Forgive me for advancing one last and final argument which seems to me still more convincing than others. It is in reference to Dr. Moles-

"If she worried about him, it was only such worry as any woman would experience who felt she had fled an innocent man into a dangerous trap from which her own safety forbed to release him. A condition of mind arguing a peculiar coldness if she were the woman who had once loved him, but not so peculiar if she simply his friend and acquaintance, Mildred Farley."

"Wait; Dear one quotation more." "From the hour Miss Gretorex became my wife I saw nothing to arouse ny jealousy: nor can I in looking back 10w, remember a look or word which would add fuel to the fire you seem inxious to kindle."

"Those are your words. Dr. Cameron, and they best explain why I pressed you so hard at that time for some confession which would refute the susion which your conversation had inoluntarily caused in the minds of Mr. Cryce and myself. For if you had married the woman you supposed, some tokens of her late passion must have en observable in her, and from the fact that you detected none, we were forced and are forced still, notwith-standing her success, and the merely vague doubts which some subtle differin her has aroused in the breasts of her friends, to believe that what I stated to you in the beginning of this interview is true: That the woman who perished, and upon whose body the inquest was held, was she whom you were engaged to be married, while she who bears your name, and holds with such confidence and power that other's position before the world, is simply her sister Milwhose willingness to assume that position and her astonishing aptitude for it, we have Miss Gretorex's own to show. Is the discovery too humiliating, Dr. Cameron, or have you any such evidence as her possession of Miss Gretorex's accomplishments, to prove that we have made a mistake, and that our conclusions are false?"

On the contrary, at that word accomplishments, Dr. Cameron recalled w Genevieve (he had no other name for her) had always found some excuse for not exercising her supposed talents as a singer and player. He had not wondered at the time, but now—And her plea of rheumatism! how false it how false he had known it to be time! And the wedding-ring would not fit, and her attitude towards her parents and their evident alienation from her; all these details rose before his mind's eye, to be lost swamped in the one great fact, made, as he could now see, most of by the inspector, that this woman loved him with the fervor, freshness and abng quality of a first love, which if she were Genevieve, argued a lightness of character certainly not borne out by her general conversation and manner!. And yet how believe a fact that reversed all his ideas, and gave him for wife a woman he had never known, never courted, never asked to marry him; a woman-But here his thoughts became confused, and he turned almost helplessly towards the

"You think so? Well, that might do if it were yourself only who must be satisfied; but unhappily there is the police, and I do not think we should feel the question fully settled by this Not it she acknowledged she was

Mildred Farley?"

"Not if she acknowledged she was Mildred Farley. It might be a ruse on the part of Genevieve Gretorex to escape from what she must consider Gretorex's appropriate Gretorex's appropriate Content of the content of t Genevieve Gretorex's anomalous position. A woman who could do what this woman did, be she Genevieve or Mildred, has passed beyond the bounds upon.' The doctor knew it.

"Then what would you do?" asked The inspector looked at him gravely, saw that his anxiety was not to be tampered with, and remarked: "You have forgotten that Dr. Molesworth must know whose body he carried off in his phaeton."

Dr. Cameron had been sitting; he immediately bounded to his feet.

"Yes," he cried, "Molesworth! Let us go to him, He will tell me—" But at this point his enthusiasm paled. A thought had struck him, "Molesworth did great things for the woman worth did great things for the woman who married me," he declared. "Would he have done so much for Mildred Farley? Must it not have been Genevieve Gretorex whose helplessness he pitied, and for whose safety and content he was willing to incur the risk and endure the not too agreeable sensations of carrying a dead body out of a house, in his arms?" But the inspector shook his nead, "I am not so sure of that," he rejoined. "Some men will do more for friendship than for love. Besides, a woman who had deceived his hopes and fled from a marriage with him to unite herself to another, would not awaken the same sympathy in him as Mildred Farley

"You have seen him; you have talk-ed with him; he has confessed to you." "No; Dr. Molesworth would not answer any questions last night. He was sick, or appeared so, very sick I should

Dr. Cameron thought of the look he had last seen upon his new friend's face, and wondered if out of consideration for himself Dr. Molesworth had been suppressing emotions, whiche he knew were tending towards serious illness:

"He was in the water, Q informed me, on that coldest of cold days; and this, with the privations you have suffered, may have occasioned disease. But he may also be attempting some trick upon us, and to make sure this is not so, I think it better for you to accompany me in my next visit? Are you ready to go?" Was he not? Upon Molesworth now depended all his hope. He alone could satisfy him concerning a fact which meant everything to him. He followed the inspector with alacrity, and they proceeded at once to Mrs. Olney's

Why was it that the doctor's heart sank as he approached, and the very house-front looked repellant and uncommunicative? Was not Molesworth his friend, and would he not see that a doubt like this must be settled, no matter what the consequences? He hurried forward as he reached the steps, but faltered when it came to ringing the bell. The inspector, however, did this for him, and when the door was opened, put the question which elicited the reply: "Oh, he is much worse this morning, sir. The doctor we called in says he is afraid he will not last through the day." Struck to his very heart or hearts, Dr. Cameron reeled where he stood, but only for a moment; the next he was on the threshold of Molesworth's

Bell-Smith Paints the Queen and Her Surroundings.

Bell-Smith, the Canadian artist, who spent years of his professional career in this city, recently was empowered to paint a historic picture representing the scene at Windsor Castle, when Queen Victoria placed a wreath upon the coffin of Sir John Thompson. The Queen was particularly pleased to give a sitting to a Canadian artist, and was most anxious that he should have every facility, as she desired to show a further mark of her esteem for the Canadians. And so the Toronto artist succeeded in gaining that which every eminent European painter had been striving for a lifetime to obtain, a personal sitting of Her Majesty. Only three times has she given this honor, and this very latest up-to-date opportunity results in a common little wooden panel a few inches long.

Mr. Bell-Smith tells his experience where her mere word may be relied to a cable correspondent in the modest and quaint way. While he and the photographers were waiting for the Queen to come, the Princess Louise came to say that the Queen wanted to know 'shall I wear my bonnet."

"Yes," was the reply. Directly afterwards the Queen walked in supporting herself with a heavy cane, and with her left hand resting lightly on the arm of her Indian secretary. Mr. Bell-Smith will never forget the scene. The magnificent East Indian, tall, dignified with embroidered robe, turban, jewels, and high caste to the tips of his fingers, led in his Queen. When she was seated the attendant walked over to the far end of the room, folded his arms across his breast, and did not move an eyelash for one hour, but he held his head well up, just the same. The second surprise that almost took the artist off his feet was when the Queen turned towards him, immediately after she was seated, and apologized in these words: "I'm sorry to have kept you waiting." Her Majesty observed the artist standing and bade him be seated. No chair was close at hand, and Her Majesty asked her daughter, the Princess Louise, to hand one, which the Princess did with the best grace imaginable. The Canadian was faithful, although it was extremely embarrassing to work close to the wrinkles, when his good angel, the Princess Louise, was watching the work over the artist's shoulder. But, then, every few minutes the Princess would bring the artist back to earth again by addressing Her Majesty: "It's very like mamma, dear." At the end of an hour Her Majesty arose, bowed to the painter and left the room leaning on the arm of the Hindoo, and that was

Coroner Ferguson's Inquiry Brings New Developments.

John Warwick Tells Where He and His Cousin Cot Liquor in the City-The Jury's Long Deliberation and Verdict.

Coroner Dr. Ferguson's inquiry into the cause of the Warwick double drowning at Springbank on Sunday evening, Aug. 18, was continued at the Court House last night before a large number of listeners. many of whom were friends and relatives of the de-

The happenings on the fatal trip vere not repeated, but John Warwick, the cousin who accompanied Robert and Richard on the trip, was recalled. His examination was merely in rebuttal of Mike Ward's statements that no whisky was obtained at the resort on the Sunday night, and Warwick was most positive that stronger drinks than beer and cream soda were furnished. He was cross-questioned by Juryman James Wilkins, and readily stated that with the deceased he had secured drinks at the City Hotel, Morkin's (King street), and Deary's (London West), before starting in the rowboat for Springbank.

Since the inquest was opened a rumor had gone the rounds that the men were refused a boat at Lancaster's on the fatal Sunday. Mr. Lancaster, how-ever, denied this. Fred McMillan, manager of the sulphur bath house, testified merely that the trio were sober when they got the boat at Milne's. The jury was locked up at 8:20, and after a review of the facts by Coroner

Ferguson, began their deliberations. Two hours and a half were occupied before the following verdict was returned: "That the said Robert Warwick came to his death by drowning, and that the said Richard Warwick jumped from the rowboat to rescue him and was also drowned. "The jurors are of the opinion that the deceased were drowned while in a state of intoxication, and that they became intoxicated with liquor obtained in the city and at Ward's Hotel, at Springbank. "This jury recommends that the license inspectors having jurisdiction prosecute the proprietors of the City, Morkin's and the Riverside hotels for supplying liquor to John Warwick and his cousins on the Sunday in question. "And further, the jurors deem it their duty in the interests of public morals and safety, to recommend that the license commissioners for East Middlesex cancel forthwith the hotel license of Ward, and that hereafter no license for the sale of intoxicating liquors granted at or in the neighborhood of the Springbank pleasure resort."

OTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric,
Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed? Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle? Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitches. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold that of all other remedies for children combined? Do You Knew that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the work

Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection we because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose? Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest ! Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.
