

MURDERER MOIR ESCAPED FROM HAMILTON ASYLUM ASSISTED BY OUTSIDERS

Man Who Killed Color-Sergeant Lloyd in Wolseley Barracks Two Years Ago Got Away Accompanied by a Toronto Murderer.

GETAWAY WAS NOT DISCOVERED UNTIL FIVE O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

Police of the Province Are Hot on the Trail, But Dr. English Says Prisoners May Never Be Captured—Whisked Away in an Automobile.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 15.—Two desperate insane murderers, W. A. Moir, the London soldier who shot and killed Sergt. Lloyd, of Wolseley Barracks, two years ago, and Robert F. Taggart, of Toronto, who slew his wife in 1899, made a sensational escape from the Hamilton Insane Asylum during the night.

Today the fugitives are being sought by the police of the province. The authorities here admit that there is little prospect of capturing them. They had outside assistance, and the escape was so carefully planned that the police are satisfied Moir and Taggart are either safe across the border or now, or are in hiding where there is no danger of their being discovered.

"The men unquestionably had outside assistance," said Dr. English, medical superintendent of the asylum.

"Moir was the first to get out, and released Taggart. Moir was supplied with keys, and he opened several doors and locked them again. An automobile was heard in the grounds in the early hours of the morning, and we are satisfied the men were whisked away in it."

FEAR THEY HAVE MADE GOOD THEIR ESCAPE. When asked what was being done to capture the fugitives, the doctor said: "We are depending entirely on the police. We have sent no men out because we are satisfied it was no use. I believe that the men have made good their escape, and it is doubtful if they will be recaptured."

The asylum authorities are unable to fix the time when the men got away. About 4 o'clock an automobile was heard moving slowly across the grounds.

It was thought that some machine had come into the roads to the asylum ground through a mistake, and the noise created no alarm. The engine was heard to shut down, and a few minutes later the chauffeur cranked up again.

There was a whirring of the engine, and Moir and Taggart were freed. At 5:30 the attendant whose duty it was to visit Moir was alarmed to find his room empty.

An alarm was immediately sounded, and then it was discovered that Taggart was gone, too.

The police kept the telephone wire sizzling. They spread a drag net that extended from Windsor to the Falls. At 10 o'clock this morning no word had reached here of the men having been seen.

HAD INFLUENTIAL FRIENDS. That Moir had influential friends helping him the asylum authorities are satisfied. Since his admittance to the institution on Jan. 29, 1909, he has made fully half a dozen attempts to escape, and once he nearly beat a guard to death to gain his freedom.

A few months ago he saved several bars off a window and was preparing to let himself down three stories to the ground, with a rope made of bed-clothes, when an attendant discovered him. Someone had smuggled a saw through to him. Two men were seen by the attendant driving rapidly away in a buggy. Extra precautions have been taken since then to guard against Moir having outside communication.

That someone on the inside was liberally bribed is the theory the authorities are proceeding on. Moir apparently had duplicate keys of all the doors. With these he opened the door of his own room, climbed through a transom in the corridor, removing a bar, and liberated Taggart. He carefully locked all the doors again, even the front door of the buildings.

NERVE IS AMAZING. The nerve Moir displayed was amazing. He and Taggart were confined in the east building, where a score or more of celebrated insane murderers are locked up. He might easily have opened the doors and given all these criminals a chance for their liberty.

Taggart was the only man he made any effort to assist, though. They had formed a strong friendship several months ago. Moir and Taggart had to pass the doors of the attendants in getting from the second floor to the ground.

Dr. Smith, the provincial inspector, is expected here today, and a searching investigation will be made of the men: Here are descriptions of the men: W. A. Moir, admitted Jan. 29, 1909; height 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 165 pounds; light moustache and hair, brown eyes, dark complexion, dark grey check suit, tan laced boots.

Robert F. Taggart, height 5 feet 10 inches, robust build, grey moustache, grey hair, dark brown suit, does not match trousers, dark laced boots, aged 50. Continued on Page Eight.

CAUGHT IN MACHINERY AND CLOTHES TORN FROM BODY

Mr. Jos. Connor, foreman at the London Foundry Company, had a thrilling escape from death the other day, and his presence of mind alone saved him from a horrible death.

While working about some machinery, his clothes caught in a set screw of the main shaft. In a moment he was whirled about, and thrown on the floor, where he held onto a piece of machinery. His clothes were still caught in the set screw, and it was with great difficulty that he retained his hold.

In a short time the material gave, and he was stripped. The workmen did not realize for a moment what had happened, but when they discovered Mr. Connor's plight they rushed to his assistance.

Mr. Connor escaped with three broken ribs and a badly bruised body. He will recover, but will be laid up for some time.

A FINE PEACH CROP Outlook at Present is Very Promising. The outlook for a fine peach crop is promising. Mr. Jos. Graham, who has returned from a trip through the fruit belt in the Niagara Peninsula, states that there will be any quantity of peaches. "The prospects are immense," he stated. "There will be plenty of peaches." The same reports come from the Leamington belt.

COUNCIL MUST SIGN CONTRACTS

Mayor Beattie Insists and a Special Meeting Will Be Called.

TENDERS FOR CONDUITS

Must Be Acceptable to Mayor and Aldermen as Well as to the Water Commission.

The tenders for the underground work for the downtown street lighting will have to be considered by the council, and to that end a special meeting will be called by Mayor Beattie.

At a meeting of the water commissioners some time ago, the work was awarded to a New York company. The contracts were ready for Mayor Beattie's signature, but he has decided not to sign them until they are passed by the council.

"There is no doubt in my mind that these contracts must be awarded by the council," said his worship. "It will not be necessary to call for new tenders nor make any change. All we will have to do is award them as the commissioners did. However, it is also the duty of the council to see that the work is done to the satisfaction of No. 2 committee and the council, and in order to avoid legal complications I will call a special meeting of the council to award the tenders."

No Hold Up. From what can be learned there will be no disposition on the part of the board of works to hold the matter up, and it is not at all likely that any change whatever will be made in the tenders. It will be necessary to commence work at once, and the tenders will be hurried through with dispatch.

"We have no desire to hold the matter up," said Chairman Tuttle. "We pointed out some time ago that the work should be done by No. 2 committee, but we will not stand in the way now."

"There will be no delay, so far as I am concerned," said Ald. Saunders. "I first pointed out that this work should be done by our committee to be legally done, and I was right. I do not want to hold the work up, but when everybody is holding out to the strict letter of the law, it is just as well to be careful."

London Street Railway Is Going Right Ahead With Its Share.

Work was commenced on the resurfacing of Dundas and Richmond streets this afternoon. The London Street Railway starting their men at the job and are now laying a temporary track along south Dundas street, from Richmond to Lexington. They will put a big staff of men on duty, and the work will be hurried.

The underground work undertaken by the city and the Telephone Company will be done at once also. It is expected that it will take six weeks to complete the job.

LONDON SOLDIER WAS NURSED BY FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Peter Madden, Now in Mount Hope Home, Was Wounded at the Battle of Inkerman and Was One of Those Who Came Under the Influence of the "Angel of the Crimea."

Mr. Peter Madden, an aged veteran of the Crimean War, now living in the Mount Hope Home, has vivid recollections of Florence Nightingale. Wounded severely in the decisive battle of Inkerman, after passing through many skirmishes without serious injury, he was taken to the Scutari Hospital, where he distinctly remembers being waited on by Miss Nightingale herself.

Mr. Madden tells many stories of her love and tenderness for wounded soldiers, and how the eyes of the sleepless men, fevered with pain, brightened when she made her midnight rounds.

Always unsparring in her efforts to have every delicacy and every care provided which the hospital surgeons might allow for the wounded, it is to her credit that the soldiers were well cared for while in the hospital.

SOLDIERS HER DEFENDERS. But even Florence Nightingale, the noblest, the purest and most lovely type of English womanhood, was not without her enemies and unfair critics. Mr. Madden delights to tell how many a time she returned to England, the veterans of the war have meted out heroic punishment to those who dared speak slightly or disrespectfully of the heroine of the Crimea.

Nothing can be more touching or pathetic than the intense love with which the few aged soldiers of the war still living remember Miss Nightingale.

A NEW SYSTEM OF RADIALS MAY BE BROUGHT TO LONDON

Mr. Wm. Gray, of King Street, Is Interested With the Rothschilds in a Contact System Enterprise—A Big Test Will Be Made in Toronto.

London may soon have a new radial line, one of the most up-to-date systems in the world. A demonstration of the system's value will be made shortly in Toronto.

Mr. William Gray, of King street, is interested in the project, and a stretch of track will be laid from Toronto to Brantford, and later extended to London, he stated to The Advertiser.

The system is known as the contact system, and is an European invention. There are no poles nor wires necessary, power being furnished by a simple contact device. The Rothschilds are behind the company, and a mile will be laid at Toronto, and an experiment made of its efficiency. Experts from all over America will be invited when we commence the demonstration we will make work on a line from Toronto to Brantford. Later we will continue it to London."

SMALL BOY IN PARK FOUNTAIN HAD A CLOSE CALL FROM DEATH

The two-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Mable, messenger for the Bank of Montreal, had a narrow escape from drowning on Sunday afternoon in the fountain at Victoria Park.

The timely appearance of Mr. Harry Cox, messenger for the Bank of British North America, alone saved the youngster. While Mr. Mable was talking to some friends the little fellow wandered away and climbed up on the fountain. Lest his father he tumbled into the water, Mr. Cox was passing, and thought he heard a splash and went over to the fountain.

The baby had gone down in the meantime, but he was promptly fished out. He was brought to in a few moments and was apparently little the worse of his ducking.

CANADA'S BUILDING WAS NOT BURNED

Dominion's Exhibit Escaped the Great Conflagration at Brussels.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 15.—Canada's fine building at the Brussels exhibition was apparently not burned in the big fire of Sunday, which destroyed a million dollars' worth of property. The department of agriculture this morning received the following message from Director Hutchinson: It makes no mention of damage to Canadian building.

"Brussels, Kermesse and whole main building, containing Belgian, British and a splendid collection of French sections completely destroyed. One-third of French section saved. Italy, intercolonial machinery hall and the rest of exhibition untouched. Exhibition will not close."

WOMAN'S FURNITURE WAS THROWN OUT

Now She Is in Jail Charged With Being Insane.

A middle-aged woman who has had a great deal of trouble during the past few years, and who has been put on the street and her furniture sold twice within a comparatively short time, is at the county jail charged with insanity by the city police.

Some days ago her furniture was thrown out of her home on Nelson street and sold, and since that time the family has lived in the house without even a stove or a chair. Whatever food they secured was eaten on the floor, and the mother and her family suffered many hardships.

This morning the family was put out of the building entirely, and as the officer who was given charge of the case was afraid to leave the woman alone, the police were notified, and one of the officers sent to the scene. It was feared that she would injure herself, as she made several attempts to reach the river, but as she had done nothing the policeman waited until her actions caused him to lay a charge of insanity. She was remanded by the magistrate, and will be given another hearing in a few days. The case is a very sad one, and although four members of the family are working the mother has had the greatest difficulty in keeping the home together.

Repairing Pavement. The spring breaking holes in the Talbot street pavement, south of Dundas street, are being repaired. A wide strip up the centre of the pavement has been torn up between Dundas and King and a new pavement will be laid.

REV. GEORGE DEWEY FOR ASKIN ST. CHURCH

West London Pastor May Receive a Call Shortly.

It was stated today that Rev. George Dewey, pastor of the Empress Avenue Methodist Church, will shortly receive a call to become pastor of the Askin Street Methodist Church at the close of the term of Rev. A. K. Birks next June.

Mr. Dewey will by that time have completed his third year at the Empress Avenue Church, and while extremely sorry to lose him, it is understood that, if he so desires, the board would not stand in the way of his accepting the call to the Askin Street Church, which would be a big promotion for him.

"He is by far the best man we ever had," said a member of the board of The Advertiser this afternoon, "and we would regret to see him go, but if he wishes to be relieved at the end of his third year we would not wish to prevent him from accepting an important call like that from the Askin Street Church." The matter will come up at a meeting of the board to be held tomorrow evening.

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS TO INSPECT PT. STANLEY HARBOR

Influential Deputation from London, St. Thomas and Elgin Will Wait on Hon. Mr. Pugsley and Impress Upon Him What the Harbor Needs—A New Pier Recommended

Hon. Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works, will visit Port Stanley harbor some day next week, and he will be met by a deputation from London and St. Thomas businessmen, as well as by deputations from London, St. Thomas, Port Stanley and County of Elgin councils, to impress upon him the necessity of building a pier to the east of the present dock, and making other improvements that will make Port Stanley one of the most complete harbors in Canada.

Work was received this morning to the effect that Mr. Pugsley would visit these parts. It is quite possible that he may run into London to spend a few hours looking over the Government works here.

The exact date of the visit of Mr. Pugsley is not known, but it will be some day next week.

On a Tour. It depends largely on the weather. At the present time he is on a tour of inspection of the Government works on Lake Huron. He has been at Goderich, Port Elgin and other places, and is at the present time in the Soo. He will leave there today or tomorrow for Sarnia, going thence to Windsor, and from there to Port Stanley. The party are travelling in a yacht, and their progress may be delayed if rough weather should prevail for any length of time.

As soon as it was announced that the minister of public works would visit the Port, the question of preparing a deputation to meet him was discussed, and a committee will be placed in charge of the arrangements. It is proposed to have a number of some day next week.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE DEAD FAMED AS "ANGEL OF CRIMEA"

Took Staff of Women to the Front To Save British Soldiers—Given Fortune by Government But Used It To Build Hospitals.

London, Aug. 14.—Florence Nightingale, the rich organizer of the nursing corps in the Crimean War, died today at the age of 91.

Miss Nightingale's father was the son of a rich Sheffield banker. His real name was Shore, and he came of an old family which has been possessed of lands in the counties of Derby and York since the fifteenth century, and exists today in the person of Mr. Harrington Shore, of Norton, Leicestershire. He assumed the name of Nightingale on inheriting his maternal uncle's fortune, and a very cultivated man and mingled much in the literary and fashionable society of the day.

He was also a great traveller, and it was in Italy that his daughter was born, receiving her name Florence from the city of her birth. There was but one other child, also a daughter, who bore the remarkable name of Parthenocoe. She married Sir Harry Verney, of Claydon, and died some years ago, leaving Miss Nightingale the only representative of the name.

During the time of the great exhibition in 1851, when all London was keeping high holiday, Miss Nightingale stole away to a remote Rhineland town, where she studied the training of sisters of mercy. From that time she became enthusiastic in the desire to help the suffering and to

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION WILL BE THE BEST EVER HELD

Arrangements for the annual Labor Day demonstration, Monday, Sept. 5, are being rapidly perfected, and it will be one of the best that has ever been held in London.

There will be the old-time parade. For some years this feature has been missing, but this year it will be the greatest ever. All the trades will be represented, and the C. P. R. employees will also march in line. It is expected that every labor organization in the city will be fully represented.

The merchants and manufacturers have been invited to place bears in the parade, and several of them have consented to do so. The Woodmen of the World, Uniform Rank No. 1 will also be in line, and will exhibit at the park.

Excellent Sport. A fine program of sports is being prepared. A number of original features are being released, and they should produce a great deal of interest. Not the least interesting will be the tug-of-war contest. A great deal has been said about the last contest against the Melbourn, C. P. R., Woodmen & Ward, Empire Brass Company and Collins teams, and they have decided to come together and settle the question of supremacy. A prize of $20 has been offered for this event, and it should be a thriller.

There are other features worth mentioning, too.

LONDONER MAY BE MADE DEPUTY CHIEF

Daniel McArthur Mentioned for a Hamilton Police Job.

Daniel McArthur, of 73 Beaufield avenue, and at present a member of the day staff at the London postoffice, is very prominently mentioned for the position of deputy chief of the Hamilton police force, and it is stated that the appointment may be made at any time. Mr. McArthur returned to London a short time ago from the west, where he was an inspector in the Royal North-west Mounted Police, in which he served for six years. He has had a splendid experience, and has a record for excellent service that eminently qualifies him for police work. He figured in many important cases while in the west, and the Hamilton authorities, after looking up his credentials, are said to have been more than satisfied, and consider him the most eligible of a long list of applicants, and will recommend his appointment shortly.

Mr. McArthur when seen today by The Advertiser, said that he had had no definite word from Hamilton as yet.

A FRESH START MADE IN CRIPPEN INQUEST

A New Witness Gives Some Significant Testimony to Jury.

[Associated Press Cable.] London, Aug. 15.—In consequence of the death of Coroner Thomas a week ago, it was necessary to make a fresh start in the Crippen inquest today by the deputy coroner, Dr. Schroeder. The mangled remains supposed to be those of Belle Elmore were again viewed by the jury, and the hearing opened with a brief recital of the known facts in the case by Mr. Schroeder, who intimated that the inquiry was apt to be a protracted one.

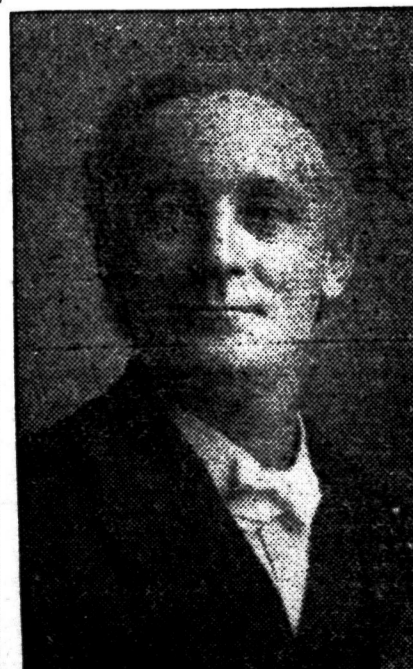

Solicitor Arthur Newton, who was retained by friends of Dr. Crippen, and whose services were accepted by the latter by cable, was in attendance on behalf of Dr. Crippen. Solicitor J. H. Watts represented Miss Leneve.

Some of the more formal evidence given at the first hearing was repeated, and a new witness, Mrs. Belinda May, secretary of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, of which Belle Elmore was treasurer, testified that at Christmas time Mrs. Crippen complained that her sleep was disturbed by a choking sensation, as if she were going to die. On Feb. 20 Miss Leneve brought to her a pass-book, check-book and a letter in Crippen's handwriting, saying that Belle was going away a few months, and asking that the guild elect a new treasurer.

Supt. Frost, of Scotland Yard, informed the court that he expected Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve to arrive in England in about three weeks, after which the proceedings were adjourned until Sept. 12.

MANHOLE BLOWN OUT

The Tug Dispatch Has Trouble on Lake Erie. Amherstburg, Aug. 15.—The tug Dispatch, bound from Georgian Bay to Fort Burwell, was disabled while at the Lime Kiln crossing Sunday and had a hard time reaching this port without the assistance of a tug. One of the manholes in the boiler was blown out and the fireman narrowly escaped being scalded by the steam. No one was hurt and the tug, after being docked, left for her destination last evening.

REV. GEORGE DEWEY, West London Pastor Who May Be Called to Askin Street Church.

A Dog Fine. A London Township man appeared in the county magistrate's court at the court house this morning and was fined for allowing his dog to run at large in Sprangbank Park.

ROOSEVELT NEUTRAL IN COMING CAMPAIGN

The ex-President Has No Intention of Taking Sides.

Washington, Aug. 13.—That former President Roosevelt, if he talk politics on his forthcoming tour of the west, will exert his influence for general Republican success in November and not make any invidious comparisons between insurgents and regulars one way or the other, with a view to affecting the election chances of candidates already named by the party, is now the belief here.

At least one striking speech of a political character, it is expected, will be made on the trip. It may be the one before the Hamilton Club in Chicago.

According to the opinion of persons who absorb their information from the higher sources, those who have been expecting the former president to take sides in any of the factional rows that have divided the party in many states, will be greatly disappointed. It is pointed out that if the western trip had taken place earlier in the summer it might have been difficult for the traveler to avoid giving aid to one faction or the other in anything the might say bearing on the issues of the day.

But now the states that have excited the greatest general interest in the contest between regulars and insurgents have mostly had their preliminary battles, and it is now a question between the Republicans and Democrats, who are pitted for the November struggle.

Kansas and Iowa have had their primaries. Indiana and Ohio have had theirs. In Illinois, although the home of Speaker Cannon, the personal element does not enter into the situation as it does in other states of the middle west whence hail national leaders in the insurgent movement. The conservative congress and the primaries in Minnesota will be in close proximity, but it is taken for granted that care will be observed not to get the two things entangled so far as Col. Roosevelt is concerned.

It is to be noted that matters in Kansas have clarified greatly since the primaries, the regulars evincing a disposition to accept the results satisfactorily. And as to Iowa, a feature attracting attention in the east is the attitude of Sen. Cummins and the other insurgent leaders in urging Republicans to support the whole ticket nominated, state and national, regardless of the factional attributes of the respective candidates.

The question as to how many times has been "Will Roosevelt endorse the insurgents or the regulars? Will he declare in favor of Cummins, et al., or will he speak out for the other fellows?" But at this stage, in view of the developments, it is pointed out that to throw the weight of his favor so strongly for insurgents as to indicate positive opposition to regulars, would be to urge the election of Democrats at the polls in many instances. And if the regulars are endorsed, it would be tantamount to supporting the Democratic candidates against insurgent candidates.

Nothing of this kind is expected from Col. Roosevelt, who, it is believed, expects to see the Republican work out its own salvation—and along progressive lines. And in this connection, students of the situation believe, much of the "regular" opposition to insurgent leaders, like Cummins, La Follette and Beveridge, is not due to lack of progressive ideas among the opponents. There are, of course, Bourbon and stand-patters and some reactionaries, who refuse to be reconstructed. On the other hand, there are regulars who are also progressive; they are stirred and influenced greatly by the personal elements in the situation. So it is in states like Iowa, with some insurgents who are anti-Taft right now—not so much because they do not think the executive has done pretty well, leaving out of consideration the unfortunate tariff episode and the eternal defence thereof, but because they resent what they believe to be the fact that their close, particular champions have not been shown proper White House consideration.

It is the history of successful movements in political reform that during the earlier periods, under the direction of the leaders who are national figures, men of small calibre are elevated temporarily into important positions. Of course, there are many mighty small-bore politicians in office who are not insurgents or reformers, but the insurgent lightweight seems to excite the more irritation. This situation will be found to prevail invariably where there is an aggressive movement led by some such radical and unrelenting fighter as La Follette.

So, in the contests being made in middle west the fight against an insurgent is not always a fight against progressive ideas. Insurgents like Murdock of Wisconsin, and Hayes of California, are recognized as big enough for their jobs. There are others who are in danger of being retired to private life either in the contest for nomination or at the polls, because they are not regarded by their constituents as of congressional size. It is realized, however, that in the states that have concentrated attention thus far, the general average of material the insurgents have landed this year is very good. The additions and the retirements are likely to show a large percentage of improvement in the personnel, which ought to help greatly in the reorganization work to be done in Congress.

QUEEN'S OWN AT MONTREAL

Entertained by French Corps While En Route to England.

Montreal, Aug. 14.—The Queen's Own Rifles, of Toronto, arrived in Montreal today, and were royally entertained by the Sixty-Fifth Carbineers, the leading French-Canadian regiment of the province. On arriving here the Q. O. R. were met by the entire regiment of the Sixty-Fifth, and Col. Sir Henry Bland, greeted by Lt. Col. Labelle, of the Sixty-Fifth, with Col. Gordon, O. C. Q., and other headquarters officers.

The Ontario regiment was escorted to the Sixty-Fifth Arms camp and entertained to lunch, where the French-Canadian and Toronto officers and men fraternized with much speech-making, and the union of the two branches of the militia.

REDMONDITES ROUTED BY O'BRIEN WARRIORS

Heads Galore Cracked at an Irish Election Meeting.

Danry, Ireland, Aug. 15.—David Sheehy and John Roche, Nationalist members of parliament, invaded this town yesterday with a strong party of followers, and as the place is an O'Brien stronghold there was a lively row that lasted most of the day.

The local Redmondites had gathered to hear the visitors speak when they were attacked by the O'Brientes. Savage fighting with sticks and stones followed. An effort was made by the police to separate the rival clans when they in turn were attacked. The inspector and a number of constables were severely hurt. Finally they were compelled to take refuge in a local hotel.

Among the members of the opposing factions there were many broken heads. After a long delay the police were reinforced, and escorted the visiting M. P.'s to the railway station. The O'Brientes claim the victory.

PREDICTOR WIGGINS DEAD AT CAPITAL

Professor Was Far-Famed at a Weather Forum.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—The death occurred tonight at his summer home at Britannia Bay of Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, who for many years was widely known as a predictor of storms and earthquakes.

Prof. Wiggins had a theory that all great storms and earthquakes are caused by planetary attraction, which shift the earth's centre of gravity and gives a variable weight to bodies on the earth's surface.

Deceased, who was 71 years of age, was in his younger days superintendent of education for Prince Edward Island. In 1878 he was an unsuccessful candidate for Parliament, and was subsequently appointed a clerk in the finance department. Owing to failing health he was superannuated a couple of years ago.

KAISER ON WOMAN'S VOTE

Is a Resolute Opponent of the Suffrage for Women.

Berlin, Aug. 13.—The Kaiser has seized an opportunity of ventilating views on the feminist movement, and the general trend of his utterances has been made public, presumably with his majesty's permission.

He views with profound sympathy the general movement proceeding in all the civilized countries of the world for the amelioration of the position of women, including higher education.

His majesty believes in technical education for women and the invasion of different businesses and professions by women, holding that in the present numerical proportion of the sexes this is desirable, and could not be denied to women without grave injustice to them.

Consequently, women lawyers, women doctors, women dentists, and women in many other branches of activity, may count on the Kaiser's approval.

In brief, the Kaiser is a supporter of every phase of the new woman movement, with the single exception of its political aspect. He is a resolute opponent of woman suffrage. He abhors the idea of women in political life.

BOURASSA ON WARPATH

Montreal, Aug. 15.—The Nationalist party, of which Mr. Henri Bourassa is the chief, is planning a vigorous campaign for the French-Canadian settlements against the government's naval policy. As a starter they will hold eight meetings in different places on Aug. 21. The speakers chosen to address these meetings, which are all scheduled to start at the same time, and are in widely scattered parts of the province, include Jean Prevost, Arthur Lavigne, Arthur Plamondon, and numerous other orators. Mr. Bourassa himself is not slated to speak at any of the meetings, though he is being the campaign, and his paper, Le Devoir, today contains the announcement of the opening move.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF COMMERCE

Situation in All Chief Centres of the Dominion.

Montreal reports to Bradstreet's say there has been little change in the trade situation there during the past week. All lines of freight are moving freely and the volume of merchandise going out is seasonably large.

At Quebec City Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say general business is moving satisfactorily. The volume is not heavy, partly as a result of the holiday season and partly because at the moment there are signs of light business in the west, where crops were to some extent damaged. It is expected, however, that there will be an improvement in the latter regard early in the fall when the crops begin to move.

At Winnipeg Winnipeg reports say wholesale business generally is moving. Crop reports are rather more favorable than they have been for some time, and with a continuation of high prices the value should come well up to those of last year.

At Vancouver and Victoria reports say the movement of merchandise continues large. Good orders for general lines continue to arrive from the interior. Fruit crops are looking well.

At London London reports say general business is moving. Crop reports are rather more favorable than they have been for some time, and with a continuation of high prices the value should come well up to those of last year.

At Hamilton Hamilton reports say general business is moving. Crop reports are rather more favorable than they have been for some time, and with a continuation of high prices the value should come well up to those of last year.

At Toronto Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say general business is moving satisfactorily. The volume is not heavy, partly as a result of the holiday season and partly because at the moment there are signs of light business in the west, where crops were to some extent damaged.

At Montreal Montreal reports to Bradstreet's say there has been little change in the trade situation there during the past week. All lines of freight are moving freely and the volume of merchandise going out is seasonably large.

THE AVERAGE CROP NEARLY THIRTY BUSHEL Official Government Figures of Harvesters Throughout the Dominion.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The census bulletin shows that the conditions of field crops in Canada this year have been greatly modified by temperatures and rainfall, and that between the east and west it is hardly possible to make a statement of averages that will not be misleading.

EARL OF AMHERST DEAD. London, Aug. 15.—Wm. Archer Amherst, third Earl of Amherst, died yesterday. He was born in 1838.

FELL OFF BRIDGE. Berlin, Aug. 14.—Gordon Klem, the nine-year-old son of Andrew Klem, fell off the bridge at the mill-race near the Bridgeport mill on Saturday afternoon, and was drowned before his companions could reach him.

THE EASTERN PRODUCT. In comparing the per cent condition of crops for 1909 and 1910 it should be remembered that fall wheat, rye, peas, buckwheat, mixed grains, beans, potatoes, hay and clover and corn are principally produced in the eastern provinces; and spring wheat and flax mostly in the northwestern provinces.

Phoenix, B. C., Hard Hit By Fire

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 15.—The most disastrous fire that has ever visited Phoenix, broke out Saturday in the No. 3 oil house of the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. No. 3 crusher building was also seen in flames, and the sparks set fire to houses in the lower streets of the town, including the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the library, the public school, The Pioneer printing office, several residences, and the new machine shops of Granby, all of which are reported to have been destroyed. For a long time it was feared that the whole town would be in flames, and a train crew with a passenger train was held in readiness to carry the people out of the city. Quite a panic prevailed, and many houses were emptied of their furniture. After a strenuous fight the firemen gained a victory, and the fire is now said to be under control.

Government Help for Port Elgin

Port Elgin, Aug. 15.—Hon. Dr. Pugsley, minister of public works; Mr. Hunter, deputy minister; Mr. John T. McPherson, and party arrived here Saturday at 2 o'clock on the government yacht Speedy. The party were met by Reeve Dizzard and a number of businessmen, and escorted to the town hall, where the wants of the people in connection with the harbor improvements were presented by H. H. Stevens, D. Geddes, A. F. George, J. C. Dalrymple, and others. Dr. Pugsley promised to consider with the minister of trade and commerce a scheme to substitute a line of boats to make regular calls at ports along this side of the lake for a short time in order to give the various port towns a chance to work up trade. This announcement pleased the hearers, and if the scheme can be worked out the towns along the lake will be satisfied. The party after the interview was driven around the town, and a visit paid to the Stevens-Hepler Works, Stevens, D. Geddes, A. F. George, J. C. Dalrymple, and others. They left at 5 o'clock for Southampton.

"Civil war!" he said again. I saw I had set him thinking in a way no amount of argument might have availed.

Before the meal was half over Karl was back with the very news I had expected. Heinrich was out of the city, had been since the evening before.

"What's your errand?" Kurilmurt demanded. "Of her Highness," the fellow answered. "It is of her Highness that the fellow at the window beyond the small library where Count Heinrich has taken up his quarters," Valtor went on as Kurilmurt signed for him to proceed.

"Forty-eight—story" mumbled the fellow stopped and shifted nervously on his feet. Kurilmurt demanded, "She only added she was unmarried and had been treated kindly by the prince."

THE EEL FORCED TO LEAVE CIRCUIT

The Famous Grey Ghost Suffers from Affection of the Eyes.

McEwan Will Dispose of Other Horses and Devote His Time to Great Pacer.

The Eel, 2:02 1/4, owned by F. W. Enrickson, of Tavistock, the sensation of the Grand Circuit last season, will be brought back to the Queen's Park training stables by Trainer Dan A. McEwan within the next few days, the wobbly grey ghost being unable to do anything owing to an attack of "pink eye."

McEwan has put the Eel up against some fast horses on the big circuit this season, but in his couple of starts he has been unable to pull under the wire in front. His most notable defeat was by Giftlines, the Kansas cyclone, at Grand Rapids a few weeks ago.

Disposing of String. McEwan is disposing of the other horses in his string, and the majority of them will be in the care of other trainers before the week is out.

The Eel will now be laid up for the remainder of the season, but will in all probability be in shape for work by winter.

WELLINGTON STREET MAN STRUCK BY LOCOMOTIVE

John T. Hooper Sat Down Near Tracks and Failed to Notice Approach of Train.

John T. Hooper, of 78 Wellington street, had his left arm fractured at the elbow last night as he crossed the bridge over the tracks of the C. & W. R. R. by being struck by the cylinder of a freight engine that was coming to the city.

Hooper had been for a walk out the C. & W. R. tracks, and after crossing the bridge sat down on the sidewalk. He apparently dozed a little and failed to notice the approaching freight, and the cylinder struck him in the side and knocked him partially down the embankment.

Hooper was able to pick himself up and went to a nearby house, and later was taken to Victoria Hospital in the ambulance. He will be around again in the course of a couple of weeks.

CHARGED WITH STEALING SOME MONTHS AGO

Mr. Egbert Johnson Taken Into Custody by the Police.

Egbert Johnson, who gave his age as 20, and said he had been living in St. Paul, Minn., was arrested on Saturday on a charge of stealing $15 and a razor from Fred Jefferies in this city last March. Johnson told the court that he had sent the money back to St. Paul. The case was enlarged for a week.

Isaac Baum, a Jewish peddler, was charged with driving a horse with a red shackle on its head, and that the work the horse was doing was not such as to cause it any pain. This was borne out by Sergeant Birrell, who examined the case and under the circumstances the arrest was dismissed.

MURDERED AND BURIED IN HER OWN YARD

Woman in a Californian Town Victim of Brutal Slayers.

Lancaster, Cal., Aug. 15.—In a shallow grave in the sand of her front yard, the body of Mrs. Frida Schulz, a wealthy ranch owner, was found early this morning.

Murder with robbery as the probable motive, is said to have been the cause. Telegrams have been sent to ports and border cities of Galveston and San Francisco, and a search is being made for the slayers. Mrs. Schulz was last seen Friday when she came here from her ranch, four miles east, to receive a remittance of $6,000 from relatives in San Francisco.

Investigations tend to show that the woman was attacked as she drove into her yard, and was thrown into the shallow hole while yet alive. An autopsy disclosed the presence of sand in the lungs and bronchial tubes, drawn there by the victim's dying struggles.

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS

the leading manufacturers who understand the value to London of the harbor at Port Stanley to join in the deputation, and it is understood that Dr. Harry T. Reason, acting-president of the board of trade, will select a strong delegation from the board to go down.

Mayor Beattie has also been notified by the council of this city, of the visit of Mr. Pugsley, and he will also select some of the members of the council to visit the Port.

His worship was named chairman of the committee selected to interview the Government on this matter, following a conference between the committees from St. Thomas, Port Stanley, County of Elgin and the London council. Nothing was done at the time, but it was an intention of Mayor Beattie to get to work shortly and to pare a delegation to go to Ottawa, if necessary, and impress the needs of Port Stanley on the Government.

The visit of Mr. Pugsley has come at an opportune moment, and with him and his staff on the ground, it is thought that it will be a comparatively easy matter to make him see the needs of the Port.

The other municipalities, it is understood, will act in concert with the local committee, and send a strong deputation to Port Stanley.

It is not known whether there will be a banquet. That question has not been discussed as yet, but it will probably be talked over when the local committee gets to work.

Harbor Bady Needed. "There is not a harbor of refuge on the north shore of Lake Erie," said Mayor Beattie. "I think one is necessary. With that we would be better protected there, and vessels in distress would have no difficulty in finding a proper harbor. Anything that would tend to improve Port Stanley would benefit London. The request is reasonable one, and we should do our best to have the work done."

Mr. H. J. Lamb, engineer in charge of the public works department of this district, will accompany Hon. Mr. Pugsley on his trip. He will join the party at Sarnia, and will go with him to the Port. It is possible to go further up the lake with the minister. This is Mr. Pugsley's first visit to this part of the country.

SANDOW FIGHTS WITH BIG LION

Famous Strong Man Tells of His Bout with the King of Beasts.

This story, which quite rivals the exploits of Samson, or of Richard Coeur de Lion, is told by the strong man, Sandow, in the Strand Magazine.

It was to be a struggle between brute strength and human strength. Merely in order to prevent the lion from tearing me to pieces with his claws, mine was to be placed on his feet and a muzzle over his head. This lion, I must tell you, was a particularly fierce animal, and only a week before he enjoyed a dish that was not on the menu—his keeper.

Well, the engagement was accordingly made and "A Lion Fight With Sandow" widely advertised. The announcement, I am told, sent a thrill through the cities for a hundred miles around, and in order to be equipped for a performance which would be bound to attract hundreds of thousands of people, I decide to rehearse my fight with the lion beforehand.

I had it in my mind that the effect of muzzling the lion would be to frighten him, and realizing how foolish I should appear facing a lion that would not fight, I was desirous of making certain that this should not be the case.

Accordingly the lion was muzzled and muzzled, but only with the aid of six strong men, and I entered the cage unarmed and stripped to the waist. What happened was in direct opposition to my expectations. Bagging his paws and encasing his head in a wire cage only served to enrage the brute, and no sooner had I stepped inside than he crouched, preparing to spring on me.

Raring with rage, the beast rushed fiercely toward me, and raised his huge paw to strike a heavy blow at my head. As his paw cut through space I felt the air whistle and realized not only my lucky escape, but the lion's weak point, and my starting point.

If only he struck me once, I knew it would be my coup de grace; and I took particular care that he never should strike.

As I ducked my head to avoid the blow, I succeeded in getting a good grip round the lion's body, with my chest touching his and his feet over my shoulders, and hugged him with all my might.

Before long he was tamed, however. I was determined to try just one other feat. Moving away from the lion, I stood with my back toward him, thus openly inviting him to jump on me. At once he sprang right on to my back.

Throwing up my arms, I gripped his head, then caught him firmly by the neck, and in one motion shot him clean over my head, assisted by the animal's own impetus, and launched him before me like a sack of sawdust, the action causing him to turn a complete somersault.

While he lay there, dazed, the door was unlocked, and I went out, my legs and neck bleeding, and with scratches all over my body. But for these trifles I cared nothing. I felt that I had conquered that lion, and that I should have little difficulty in mastering it on the next occasion in public.

So thoroughly was he tamed, however, that the great fight lasted but two minutes. When he would fight no more, I lifted him up and walked round the arena with him on my shoulders, he remaining firm as a rock and as quiet as an old sheep.

LIGHTNING LEAST OF DANGERS. Why are so many people, brave under all other circumstances, so deathly afraid of thunder and lightning?

It is not because lightning is so dangerous, for it isn't half as dangerous as going out of the house on an icy morning, walking down the cellar stairs or a hundred other things we do every day without a thought of personal harm. More people are killed each year by falling building material, more die by lightning are killed by lightning. The census bureau shows only 169 people kill by lightning in this entire country during the year 1898, and only 30 of these people were killed in the cities. Heat and the sun killed 763 during the same year. 233 died from cold and freezing, and 4,355 were drowned.

But you will find it quite a waste of time during a thunderstorm to try to ease the fears of a person who is afraid of being killed by lightning, for in a million; they will remain just as frightened for all this mortuary knowledge. And after the storm has passed and nerves are steadied, the woman who was so frightened a few minutes before will start getting supper on the gas.

MURDERER MOIR ESCAPED

The Murder. On the night of Good Friday, April 17, 1908, Private Moir, partly intoxicated, went to Wolsey Barracks. He was accompanied by several other soldiers, and on an Oxford street car appeared to be in very bad humor.

It appears that he had been having trouble at the Barracks, and had been reprimanded on several occasions by his superiors.

The night in question, his appearance was very slowly, and it was stated that one of the officers who happened to be at the barracks entry, again reprimanded him. His clothes were only partially buttoned, and he irritated his superiors.

Moir went to his room and brooded over the incident.

His room mate saw him fill his cartridge belt, place two revolvers in his pockets and then seize his military rifle.

His fellow soldier asked him what he was about to do, and Moir replied that he was going to get even with somebody.

Shot the Officer. A short time afterward a shot was heard, and the whole barracks was aroused.

Captain Snyder ordered Color-Sergeant Lloyd, of Stratford, who was taking a course at the Barracks, to investigate. Lloyd found Moir, rifle in hand, standing in the corner of the room, while his mate was lying half-asleep in his cot.

"Keep back," shouted Moir. "I'll shoot the first man who lays a hand on me."

The captain ordered Sergeant Lloyd to disarm the half-crazed soldier, and Lloyd, obeying the command, advanced.

As he did so, Moir took deliberate aim and fired.

The bullet pierced the sergeant's breast, and he fell, dying a minute later.

Not Surprised. Officials at the county jail who know Private Moir, the London soldier, who escaped from Hamilton Asylum for Criminally Insane, are not surprised at his latest and successful attempt to gain his liberty.

Moir was always at least fairly obliging, and made no trouble while he was awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Col.-Sergt. Lloyd at Wolsey Barracks, but as soon as his trial was completed and he received his sentence his manner greatly changed. He was very disagreeable, and although he never was discovered attempting to break jail a close watch was kept on him at all times, as it was evident that he did not intend to linger around the county jail if he could help himself.

"Moir was all right until sentenced," said Gov. Carter this morning, "but he was certainly very contrary after being consigned to the Hamilton Asylum for the remainder of his life."

VICTORIA WELCOMES METHODIST DELEGATES

Many from Ontario and East Attending the Annual Conference.

Victoria, Aug. 14.—The members of the Methodist General Conference received a most cordial welcome to Victoria on Saturday afternoon. Many citizens were at the wharf with autos and carriages to drive the delegates to their billets. The attendance is larger than at any previous Conference. The visitors from Ontario and the non-members are very numerous.

The Metropolitan Church, in which the Conference is being held, is tastefully decorated with flowers, supplied in British Columbia, of profusion and beauty. On one side of the magnificent new organ, a life-size painting of the late Rev. Dr. Fotts has been placed, and a similar portrait of the late Rev. Dr. Sutherland is on the other side. At the love feast service, which preceded the morning worship, frequent reference was made to the departed members.

The morning sermon was preached by the Rev. Henry Haight, president-elect of the British Wesleyan Conference. His text was Matthew xiii, 1, and his subject, "The Biography of John the Baptist and His Lessons." It was a plain, practical, helpful discourse, without any attempt at eloquence.

The afternoon Sunday school rally was addressed by Rev. Dr. Hincks and the Rev. Dr. Speer. Dr. Hincks emphasized the value of the Sunday school, declaring that it covered almost everything to this institution. He said he had not missed a Sunday attendance for twenty years, and thought if the minister had to omit one service on the Sabbath, he had better preach but once than be absent from the Sunday school.

Dr. Hincks preached an interesting sermon from Ezekiel xlvii, 1, after which the sacrament was administered.

KENSINGTON CHURCH S. S. ANNIVERSARY

Notable Event Was Celebrated on Sunday.

There was a very large attendance yesterday afternoon at the 20th anniversary gathering of members of the Kensington Methodist Sunday School, Mr. A. B. Powell, of Toronto, the first superintendent of the Sunday School, and Mr. James Wilson, who taught the first class, were present and spoke in a reminiscent manner of the old days. Of the original members of the Sunday school class only seven were present—Mrs. Wootton, Mrs. Hodder, Mr. A. B. Powell, Mr. John Stewart, Mrs. R. J. Wade, Mrs. J. Wilson and Mrs. Corbin. A unique feature of the gathering was the presence of four generations of the family Boyd, who was its first pastor.

The members of the congregation at the meetings. In the course of the addresses special reference was made to the late Thomas McCormick, who built the mission, and the late George Boyd, who was its first pastor. The members hoped to break all records for attendance yesterday and succeeded in doing so by quite a large number.

MANX LAWS.

Manx laws, as Mr. Hall Caine has pointed out in the Chronicle, are far more favorable to women than our own. Every woman, widow or spinster, in the Isle of Man, whether she be owner, occupier or even lodger, enjoys the franchise for the house of keys election. A law respecting women, which is probably unique, was repealed early in the last century, after being in force 240 years. "If a man take a woman against her will, if she be a wife, he must suffer death; if she be a maid, the deemster shall give her a rope and a sword, and she shall have her choice—either to hang him with the rope, cut off his head with the sword or marry him with the ring." Popular tradition relates that one woman, who insisted on hanging her aggressor, repented after he had been suspended some time, cut him down and offered him the ring. He took it, but, remarking that one punishment was enough, refused to marry her.—London Chronicle.

CARLING'S PICNIC AT NIAGARA FALLS

Large Crowd of Excursionists Had a Splendid Time on Saturday.

SAW BIG POWER PLANTS

Londoners Were Greatly Interested in the Many and Varied Sights of the Place—No Serious Accidents.

The annual picnic of the employees of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company was held on Saturday at Niagara Falls and was attended by about 500 employees and their friends. It was one of the most successful excursions ever run by the company. All report an excellent time.

The party left shortly after 7 o'clock on the M. C. R. Mr. S. H. Palmer, district passenger agent, and Trainmaster James Hambl, of the company, looked after the excursionists on behalf of the road, and Mr. John A. Carling looked after the employees in his own limited way.

Carling's furnished the ladies of the party with dainty lunches and light refreshments were supplied the men in the baggage car.

The trip down was without incident, and good time was made. They arrived at the Falls at 10:30, and immediately dispersed to the many points of interest.

The larger number went to the big park overlooking the Falls, where they had their lunch.

Some of the excursionists went to Buffalo to remain over Sunday Others spent the Sabbath with friends in the neighborhood.

A Narrow Escape.
There were no serious accidents, although Harry Kenny, of 196 Victoria street, and John Clark, of Waterloo street, had a narrow escape. A young man from the American side was drowned near where the Maid of the Mist docks on the Canadian side. In endeavoring to go down the steep embankment to the scene of the accident, Kenny lost his footing and fell some distance. Other than a few bruises, however, he suffered no serious harm.

The return journey was started at 7:30. The majority of the excursionists came home on that train, although quite a number remained until Sunday evening.

Mr. Jack Carling, Mr. John Footitt, chief accountant, and Mr. Otto P. Rindhardt, brewmaster, looked after the interests of the picnicers most carefully, and the success of the picnic is due largely to their efforts.

Man and Two Women to Help Take Crippen and Girl Home.

NO NEWS FOR DOCTOR

Miss Leneve Attends Worship, but Sits Out of View—Has New Blue Suit for Trip.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 14.—Sergt. Mitchell, of Scotland Yard, and the two wardresses from Holloway jail, arrived here today to help Inspector Dew take Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve back to London to be tried, charged with killing Belle Elmore. The new characters thus introduced into the tale stepped off the steamer Lake Manitoba at 7 o'clock this morning, and after a brief skirmish with the newspapermen, drove to the hotel where quarters had been reserved for them.

Mitchell is a pleasant-faced young man with a fresh English complexion. He is of average size and there is about him nothing to suggest the sleuth. The two wardresses brought to look after Miss Leneve were quietly dressed women under middle age and looked quite capable of taking care of any prisoner that might be entrusted to their guard. Dew joined the party yesterday when the Lake Manitoba took her pilot at Father Point.

Mitchell appeared less taciturn than Dew, but when the reporters approached him he smiled good-naturedly and waved his hand toward his companion.

Letter for Miss Leneve.
"Mr. Mitchell," said Dew sternly, "we are under orders to say nothing whatever about the case."
This afternoon the quartette drove to the provincial jail, but did not see the prisoners. Dew handed Jailor Maurin a letter for Miss Leneve and beyond saying that it came from the girl's family the jailer would reveal nothing of its contents.

The newcomers had no message for Crippen. They inquired about the health of the prisoners and asked the jailer to have them ready to leave. Now that the 15-day limit has expired they may be taken back any day.

Apparently both prisoners are eager to return. Today when Crippen learned that Mitchell and his assistants had arrived he said to his jailer: "I am glad they've come. They can't get me back any too soon to suit me."

Both Crippen and Miss Leneve attended religious services at the jail today. The first heard mass in the Catholic chapel with two armed guards at his elbow.

This was the first time the girl has been willing to go to church. Last Sunday she begged off on the plea that she did not know the mass in the church of England service in a small room behind the altar.

Miss Leneve will wear on the return trip a new blue suit purchased with her money.

GRAND TRUNK SURPLUS

London, Aug. 13.—The Grand Trunk Railway gross receipts for the half year amount to $2,321,690; the working expenses, including a reduction of $120,000 in the engine-car renewal suspense account to $2,456,000, and their net receipts to $865,690. After meeting revenue charges, deducting deficiencies on the working of the Canada Atlantic and the Detroit & Grand Haven, there is a surplus of $247,200, enables the company to pay the full dividends on the four per cent, guaranteed first and second preferred stock for the year with $12,000 carried forward. The Great Western, with the balance carried forward, shows a surplus sufficient to meet the interest on the first mortgage bonds, leaving $1,729 to be carried forward. Of the suspense account there should now remain only $77,000 to be wiped out during the current half year. During the second half of the last year $2,200,000 of revenue absorbed this account, and the difference of $182,000 in favor of the current period should go a long way toward counteracting the strike loss and higher wages.
