59TH YEAR. NO. 23379

LONDON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 4, 1922.

Grand Trunk Machinists Vote To Strike In City

CARSHOP MEN APPROVE ACTION BY 52 MAJORITY

Result of Ballot Forwarded to Union Headquarters in Winnipeg.

AWAIT DECISION IN U. S.

Maintenance of Way Workers Defer Action For Time Being.

Machinists employed at the Grand Trunk carshops in East London, by a vote of 55 to 6, have shown preparedness to down tools if necessary in a nation-wide strike at the call of their chiefs.

As the first of the local rail unions affiliated with the Federated Shop Crafters to complete a ballot, the result of the machinist vote was tabulated late Monday night by members of the executive committee and forwarded to Winnipeg, Man., headquarters for District No. 4, which comprises all the Canadian rail workers of this class.

While union officials, acting under strict orders from their executive committee, declined absolutely to discuss the situation from any angle whatever, it was definitely ascertained by the Advertiser that the 64 machinists who participated in the ballot, but six of their number were in any manner accessible to the proposed revision of the working schedule, which tends to eliminate, among other items of importance, time and one-half pay for Sundays and holidays.

Await Final Vote. Boiler-makers, carpenters, blacksmiths and other members of the local shop craft unions are still balloting, and the figures, when completed, will, as in the case of the machinists, be dispatched with haste to headquarters, where all results must be at hand not later than July 3, following which the total vote throughout Canada will be announced.

At Montreal, where a final conference opens Wednesday morning between the Canadian Railways Association and the union chiefs.

Prominent officers of the shop crafters explained Tuesday that the employees of the Canadian railway corporations, should they elect to strike, would be placed in a totally different and even more strategic position than their fellow-workers, who are still reported to be deserting their posts by the thousands on the American roads as the strike spreads hourly, threatening to envelop the entire United States in a general walkout of rail workers.

The American situation has been governed to a large extent, it is pointed out, by the United States labor board, comprising nine members, of whom three are appointed by President Warren G. Harding, representing the public. As the latter has already stated that the board, in the event of a strike, is authorized to force the United States government behind it to take, if necessary, drastic action to halt a strike.

Indian Chief Appeals To Whites For Help

REGINA, Sask., July 4.—Chief F. O. Loft, president of the League of Indians of Canada, addressing the Rotary Club here yesterday, asked white Canada to give him a helping hand.

"It is to you white men that we are going to appeal on behalf of the Indians," said Chief Loft. "Give us a little more of what you call a square deal. Do not think so much of the almighty dollar and of station. I hope you will identify yourself with this work."

Official Free State Bulletin Admit Loss of Glenfarn Barracks.

Government Troops Capture Three More Buildings in Dublin Battle.

BULLETIN
Belfast, July 4.—The Ulster constabulary headquarters this afternoon stated that the Free State report saying Ulster special forces participated with Irish irregulars in the capture of Glenfarn Barracks at Leirtrim from National Army troops was absolutely untrue.

Dublin, July 4.—An official bulletin issued at noon today says the Glenfarn Barracks, near the Ulster border, held by National army troops, was attacked simultaneously by Irish irregulars and Ulster specials from different positions.

"The small garrison stubbornly resisted," says the bulletin, "but eventually was forced to yield to the combined forces."

The official announcement of the capture of Glenfarn Barracks, an Irish Free State position, is the first indication of co-operation between the southern Irish irregulars and the Ulster forces.

Whether there is any likelihood of Ulster's extensive activity with the insurgents against the Free State forces has not been indicated.

Since the Glenfarn Barracks are situated near the Ulster border, it is possible that Ulster may consider their being held by any armed troops an infringement upon the recent agreement between Ulster, the Free State and the British government, providing for a neutral zone five miles wide along the Ulster Free State boundary.

CAPTURE THREE BUILDINGS.

LONDON, July 4.—Three more buildings on Glenfarn street, Dublin, were occupied by the Free State forces this afternoon after the structures had been heavily peppered with machine gun fire.

LAUDS ACTION OF CITY CLERK

Letters Back Refusal to Issue Licenses to Physically Unfit.

Women Correspondents Plead for Compulsory Pre-Marriage Examinations.

As a result of publication in The Advertiser that City Clerk S. Baker has refused to issue marriage licenses to people whom he does not consider physically fit to marry, Mr. Baker has received letters of congratulation on his stand, from all parts of the Dominion.

One woman writing from Montreal declares that "If more doctors, license clerks and ministers were honestly and sincerely interested in the coming generation and dared to take the stand that you have taken, there would be fewer unfortunate women and children in hospitals for incurable and insane asylums."

"You must have had a real and honest reason to suspect the man or you would not dare to risk legal action," the letter concluded.

Referring to the letters of congratulation received by him, the city clerk said: "One woman wrote to me and stated that she had suffered because a medical examination was not required by the law prior to marriage. She gave me her name, too, and stated that her baby is blind."

"It is just by chance that I secured the information that prompted me to refuse a marriage license to certain parties," continued the clerk. "One young man passed me on the street while I was talking to a London doctor, who commented on his condition. Later, when that man came for a marriage license I refused him, but it was only by chance that I learned that he was unfit to marry."

"Compulsory medical examination would eliminate the chance element. I risk legal action in refusing these people licenses because I feel that they have not the courage to take the matter to court. At least that is what I am banking on in taking this stand, and I intend to stick to it in every instance of this nature."

KILLS HORSE, BUT AUTO SPEEDS ON

Police Believe Rum-Runners Cause of Hamilton Road Fatality.

Traveling east on the Hamilton road, near Nilestown, late Monday night, four men in a speeding motor car, believed by police authorities to be rum-runners returning from border points, struck a horse and buggy driven by a Middlesex County resident, whose name is yet unknown, killing the animal instantly and smashing the vehicle beyond hope of repair.

Now the occupant of the conveyance escaped without serious injury and but a few bruises, is considered remarkable by George Tustin, of London, provincial humane officer, who reached the scene shortly after 2 a.m. Upon inquiry from the distracted farmer he learned that the quarry did not falter in their journey east after the collision, and were subsequently noted racing through the village of Nilestown, as though fleeing from close pursuit.

From the description of the machine, a large-sized touring car, police officers later acquainted of the facts, expressed the possibility that the hurried strangers were none other than members of a certain group of men, with associates in Windsor, London and other strategic points, who have been actively engaged for months past in rum-running and other illicit undertakings on a big scale throughout Western Ontario.

When Officer Tustin responded to the call and drove to Nilestown he was unprepared to find the body of the stricken animal. The owner of the same, he states, was in no position to advance any coherent description of the men or their machine, and such information as was gained was only by chance from persons who happened to be astray in Nilestown and district.

However, this fact is eclipsed by the return of the ancient nightshirt.

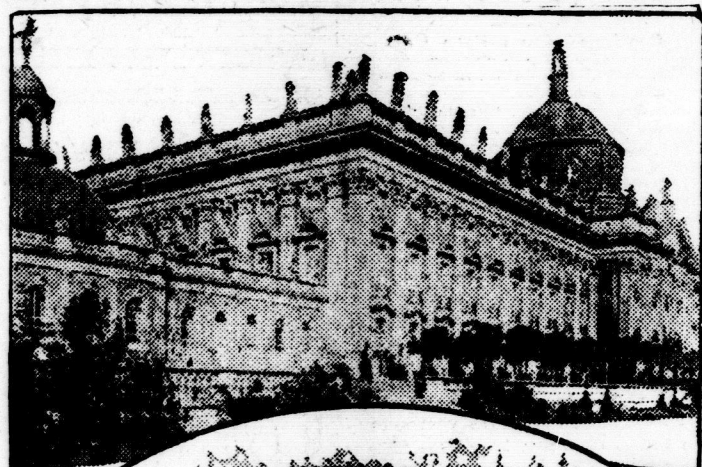

This sign that man is becoming reactionary is the chief topic of discussion in all the "washie-washie" establishments at the present time.

Not everybody wears a nightie. Nor does everybody who doesn't wear one, wear pyjamas. Among weekly and semi-weekly bundles that are tossed at the laundryman every wash day are found many that do not contain one single article of sleeping attire.

Member For Lambton East Joins Happy Benedicts

B. W. FANSHER, M.P., MARRIES.

Right upon the heels of a strenuous session at Ottawa, B. W. Fanshawe, Progressive member for East Lambton, has doubled his responsibilities and his happiness by taking to himself a bride.

The member, who gained considerable parliamentary notoriety by a hard fought battle in the interest of the beet sugar growers of Western Ontario, last escaped being numbered among the June newly-weds, by postponing the all-important ceremony until July 1. No longer will his associates in the House of Commons be able to twist him on his bachelor estate.

Wedding bells rang for the popular M. P. at high noon Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Walker, of Euphemia Township, when he was united in marriage to their eldest daughter, Miss M. A. Rev. W. M. Kiteley, of Lambton, officiating.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white Canton crepe, carrying a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Walker of Detroit, sister of the bride, who wore peach-colored Canton crepe and carried a shower bouquet of ferns.

The groomsmen were Mr. Lavern Whitney of Ann Arbor, Mich. Miss Louise Walker played the wedding march.

The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace of pearls; to the bridesmaid a sterling mesh bag, to the groomsmen a watch guard.

The happy couple left on a trip through the Thousand Islands and to Quebec City.

They will be at home after Sept. 1st, residing on the groom's farm near Florence, Ont.

CHAMPION LIFE SAVER SUCCUMBS

Ottawa, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—Known all over Eastern Canada as a champion life-saver, Louis Beauchamp, aged 53, had to acknowledge defeat at the hands of the grim reaper yesterday.

Beauchamp had saved no fewer than 43 lives, being the possessor of numerous certificates, medals, etc. When 15 years old he saved three young people from a deep hole in the Ottawa River.

Two years ago, at the age of 51, he rescued a man and his wife from the treacherous waters of Lake Deschenes.

Beauchamp was born at Scholastique, Que., and later lived at Hull, Que., and Sudbury, Ont.

SWIFT DENIES $2,000 STORY

Pine Lawn Resident Retracts Stand Taken at Revision Court.

Claims He Was Informed Taxes Would Not Exceed $20.

L. O. Swift, of Pine Lawn, who appeared before the court of revision recently on behalf of himself and neighbors, and criticized his house purchased from the London Housing Commission, does not take kindly to the "comeback" of Commissioners D. J. Tallant and J. W. Cunliffe, who branded his statements as incorrect.

Although he was correctly reported in The Advertiser as having stated to the court of revision that Commissioners Cunliffe and Tallant promised that his assessment would be $2,000 only, Mr. Swift now denies having made this assertion.

"I did not state that Mr. Cunliffe and Mr. Tallant said the assessment on my house would be only $2,000," said Mr. Swift to The Advertiser, which correctly reported his previous statement, "but I did say that they promised me that the taxes on my house would not exceed $20."

"As for me giving my signature to a document accepting my house that is quite true," continued Mr. Swift, "but they refused to guarantee the house for three months. One must live in a house in order to appreciate its merits or defects."

"I invite either Mr. Tallant or Mr. Cunliffe to examine the house, and I will prove any statements I have made regarding it to their satisfaction. The statement that Mr. Cunliffe advised me not to take my house is untrue. He said I would suit us, as it had a furnace."

Was Never Received.

Regarding a letter which Mr. Swift declares he sent to the housing commission asking support of that body in fighting the assessment, and which the commission reports was never received, Mr. Swift said: "That letter was sent May 24, and asked for the support of the commission in appealing the assessment. In the same letter was a request for keys to my house. The keys came up within a few hours."

"It appears to be part of the policy of the housing commission not to answer letters, thereby leaving a loophole for them not taking action, by saying they never received the complaint."

"I was asked to speak for the Pine Lawn citizens at the court of revision," continued Mr. Swift, "and for the visit of Provincial Housing Inspector Williams to inspect my house when I was not home, I had not the slightest idea that this official was at Pine Lawn. I was going out at the time."

"I would have welcomed, and still welcome, the opportunity of meeting the provincial housing inspector, but I was going out at the time."

SIFT VERDICT IN CASE OF DELORME

Criminal Lawyers Interpret Commitment As Being For Life Term, If Insane.

Montreal, July 3.—Criminal lawyers are devoting considerable attention to the Delorme verdict as a result of which Rev. Adelard Delorme, alleged slayer of his half-brother, has been committed to an asylum for the insane.

The formal interpretation of the commitment is that the accused man will be confined until such time as he may be adjudged mentally fit to stand trial, otherwise he is to remain a life prisoner within the asylum walls.

One point, however, being emphasized by lawyers who have followed the case through all stages as it progressed from court to court, that should Delorme remain a prisoner for 10 to 15 years, then he would be found sane, how could the crown build a convincing case against him? All the evidence which was purely circumstantial and its merits have not been determined. While it may be powerful at the moment, will it remain so or will the lapse of long years weaken its fabric? Legal men take the latter view.

"Safe and Sane Fourth" Marked By Noise In U. S.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Echoing the roar of fireworks which marked the celebration of Canada's national holiday last Saturday, the southern portion of the continent today devoted itself to the making of noise, both oratorical and pyrotechnical, in celebration of Independence Day, the major holiday in the United States calendar.

As is customary, strenuous efforts were made by the authorities to assure a "safe and sane Fourth," but the small boy and the big firecracker again appears to be the most noticeable factor in the program of the day.

PRESENTS PLAN FOR DISARMING

Lord Cecil's Suggestions Approved by Delegates to Disarmament Commission.

Stipulates Nations Should Help Defend One Another in Regions.

Paris, July 4.—The plan for general world disarmament, which was laid before the temporary mixed commission on disarmament of the league of nations yesterday afternoon by Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain, was presented in full detail at this morning's session of the commission. The plan is said to have been favorably received by most of the delegates.

All nations, according to Lord Robert's plan, would sign a general disarmament agreement and would agree to go to the defense of nations in their respective regions or continents in case of aggression.

The principal objection of the United States to Article X of the league of nations, it is held, would be met by this regional defensive plan, inasmuch as the United States is already committed to a similar policy on the American continent under the Monroe doctrine.

The plans divide the world into four regions—America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Only the powers in each region would be obligated to defend a nation upon the commission's recommendation, approved by the league council.

All members of the League of Nations and the United States, Germany and Russia are eligible to enter into the proposed agreement, and any of these might adhere to it only partially if the council should approve such action and if specified reductions in armaments are made.

Lord Escher's plan gives the tentative ratios as follows, each unit representing 30,000 men: France, six units; Italy, four; Poland, four; Czechoslovakia, Great Britain, Greece, Yugoslavia, Holland, Rumania and Spain, three each; Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland, two each; Portugal, one unit, and Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Hungary to retain their forces as fixed by the peace treaties.

The ratios would apply only to the home forces. Each nation would be free to determine the number necessary for colonial and overseas purposes.

REPORTS BIG INCREASE IN PICKEREL FRY HATCHINGS

Government Officials at Point Edward Declare Water Warmer Than in Previous Years.

Ottawa, July 4.—By the Canadian Press.—The Dominion Government hatchery, located at Point Edward, reports an increase in the number of pickerel fry hatched out and distributed this spring.

The eggs were obtained from the commercial pound nets. In recent years the water has remained at such a low temperature that the fish did not ripen in the nets. This season a portion of the catch of three nets was transferred to retainers that were located in the warmer water of the bay. The results justified the change, and collection and distribution of fry was larger than at any time during the last five years. Pickerel fry to the number of 44,000,000 were distributed in a vigorous condition in the spawning grounds in the lower end of the lake.

WILSON NAMES COMMISSION TO SIFT PROBLEM

Sir Adam Beck, Philip Pocock, Aldermen Childs and Drake Chosen Members.

AWAIT DECEMBER VERDICT

Data To Be Prepared For Electors On Entire Transportation Issue.

Following the action of the city council, which Monday night authorized formation of a civic commission to investigate the transportation problem of London, and also the advisability of purchasing the London Street Railway, Mayor Cameron Wilson Tuesday morning announced the personnel of the commission.

Members of this body, which was stipulated to comprise the mayor, two aldermen and two citizens ratepayers, will report as soon as possible to the city council so that necessary data may be available for electors voting on the transportation issue at the next municipal election.

The commission named by Mayor Wilson is as follows: Ald. J. C. Childs, Ald. Gordon B. Drake, Sir Adam Beck, president of the London Railway Commission, and Philip Pocock, vice-president of the London Railway Commission.

Advisability of immediate purchase of the London street railway, re-habilitation of its equipment, and the proposal to form a municipal motor bus service will be investigated by the commission.

To Prepare Report. Mayor Wilson states that the commission will get together at once to prepare a report on this important question and upon this report will be based the action of the city council in relation to obtaining a vote of the people on London's future transportation systems.

"This commission will try to arrive at some solution of the transportation problem in London," said the mayor. "It is hoped that sufficient information will be obtained to present to the people at the next election and give them an opportunity to decide the transportation issue for themselves."

"I have selected Sir Adam Beck to act as a citizen ratepayer as he is president of the London Railway Commission and familiar with transportation problems and the method of handling them. The same applies to Mr. Philip Pocock. Sir Adam Beck is a Conservative and a Protestant. Mr. Pocock is a Liberal and a Roman Catholic, so things are even there."

Events Things Up. "Ald. J. C. Childs was selected because he is in favor of purchasing the London Street Railway," while Ald. G. B. Drake sponsors the motor Turn to Page 3, Column 4.

FIND OLD-FASHIONED NIGHTGOWN IS STILL SUPREME IN LONDON

LAUNDRYMEN are thoroughly convinced that time is turning backward in its flight. Once more the old-fashioned one-piece "nightie" is arriving with the family wash. Pyjamas are fighting a losing battle for popularity in London.

Although the laundryman may seem a sort of clock-work machine, who comes out of his establishment every few days, once to get the soiled clothes and once to return them spotless, it will be found that he is an observant fellow who studies human nature in all its departments.

Six collars are soiled to every shirt, he will also tell you.

However, this fact is eclipsed by the return of the ancient nightshirt. This sign that man is becoming reactionary is the chief topic of discussion in all the "washie-washie" establishments at the present time.

Not everybody wears a nightie. Nor does everybody who doesn't wear one, wear pyjamas. Among weekly and semi-weekly bundles that are tossed at the laundryman every wash day are found many that do not contain one single article of sleeping attire.

And from that comes the laundryman's deductions that a number of Londoners are sleeping in their underwear, or even less.

There is a mania for clean collars in London. Men who used to change their neckwear but once each week, change daily now. One shirt is soiled every three days, for vests and coats serve as a protection from the dirt.

Handkerchiefs, the laundry proprietors find, are the dirtiest article brought to the wash. Some of them appear to have been used for shining shoes, cleaning windshields and dusting behind pictures, in addition to being put to their primary use, the washers state.

A talk with the man who operates the mangle will bring out many interesting facts. Among other things, it will be learned:

That during hard times men wear collars longer, and thereby provide a barometer of business.

That before the war the collar would come unscathed through twenty washings, whereas today ten is the limit.

That soft collars and semi-soft collars are gradually gaining the ascendancy over the hard-boiled variety.

But all these are

FEAR ACCIDENT HAS BEFALLEN W. M'AULIFFE

Friends of Well-Known Returned Soldier Are Alarmed by Absence From Home.

DISAPPEARED WEDNESDAY

After Leaving Talbot Street House Said To Have Visited S. C. R. Office.

Alarmed at his continued absence without explanation since Wednesday last and fearful that foul play has overtaken him in some manner, friends of William MacAuliffe, ex-soldier and well-known by scores of returned men in this district, have sought the assistance of the local provincial police.

When the missing man left his boarding house at 264 Talbot street, Wednesday night last and failed to return within a reasonable length of time, members of the household at once conducted inquiries at places where they reasoned he would most likely be located.

Sees No Motive.
Questioned Monday morning, officials connected with the local office of the soldiers' civil re-establishment department, recollected that he had called there during Friday last. As he was well-known to them, there could be no mistake as to his identity they state. He made no mention of leaving the city at that time.

That the veteran left his place of abode because of financial worries is not advanced by his landlady as a possible motive for his disappearance. A victim of a Hun gas attack overseas, MacAuliffe, in addition to whatever money he obtains as a salesman of small wares, receives regularly his pension from Ottawa and since his sudden and inexplicable departure, his check for the month of June has arrived at the Talbot street home and now awaits his presence.

Members of the family explain, however, that MacAuliffe for two or three days prior to his disappearance did not appear to enjoy his customary care-free demeanor and acted more or less as if worrying about something, although he did not complain.

Was Well-Known.
The absent man, "Red," as he was popularly known, was always regarded by those who knew him personally since his discharge from the Bryon Sanatorium, as a sober, industrious person who minded his own business and interfered with no one.

He will be remembered by scores of citizens who have had dealings with him, as for several months past he has been a familiar figure in London, plying his small wares in the downtown district as well as from door-to-door throughout the residential sections of the city.

G. T. R. MACHINISTS VOTE TO STRIKE

the local workers assert means the use of militia and federal troops whenever such action is deemed expedient.

In Canada, however, it is explained, the strikers would be dealing directly with the railroad management themselves, the Canadian Railways Association, and the public would only be indirectly involved as the strike progressed or until such time as the federal administration at Ottawa might interfere.

Await Action in U. S.
While the United States Railway Labor Board is striving to avert the threatened strike of more than 400,000 maintenance-of-way men employed on United States lines between 5,000 and 6,000 maintenance-of-way employees of the various roads in Ontario have adopted an attitude of "watchful waiting" and are postponing any action until a decisive move is made by their comrades across the line.

R. H. Hessel, prominent in local maintenance-of-way circles, stated Tuesday morning that until word had been received from union officials in Montreal he could not say what action would be taken by the Canadian men.

Would Cancel Agreement.
He intimated, however, that to avert a strike of the maintenance-of-way men in Canada the Canadian Railways Association, in all probability, would cancel the tentative agreement drawn up some time ago.

The new agreement drawn up between the Canadian Railways Association and the maintenance-of-way men in Canada eliminated time and a half pay for the ninth and tenth hours and also revised working conditions.

The compact, which was merely a tentative one, had not been received favorably by the men, and a vote was taken last week to determine whether it would be accepted or rejected.

The result of the Dominion-wide vote will be known within the next week, and should it favor rejection, Mr. Hessel is of the opinion that before a strike vote is taken by the Canadian employees, an arbitration board will first be resorted to. In the event of the Canadian Railways Association and the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees failing to reach a satisfactory agreement, a strike was inevitable, he said.

Regarding a sympathetic strike on the Canadian lines as improbable, Mr. Hessel pointed out that the grievance of the United States employees was a reduction in wages of from 1 to 5 cents an hour, while the vote being taken by the Canadian maintenance-of-way men concerned solely the question of overtime pay and working conditions.

Likely to Be Rejected.
The clause in the revised agreement concerning working conditions affects chiefly bridge tenders, tower men, watchmen and signalmen, and if accepted would mean that these employees would change from an eight-hour shift to a 12-hour one. Officials state that this is looked upon with disfavour by the men in Canada, and would likely be rejected.

Mr. Hessel declared that the outcome of the Canadian strike situation hinges on the action to be taken by Edward F. Grebe, international president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, and that if he advocates a strike vote in the United States it will have a direct effect on the action to be taken by the Canadian employees.

Claims Clerks Will Not Quit.
Although the railroad clerks on a few roads in the United States have gone on strike, John Chick, an official of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees in this city, stated that a strike in Canada was highly improbable, as the clerks have no grievances at present, and the chances of a sympathetic strike are slim.

A short time ago the clerks signed an agreement submitted to them by the Canadian Railways Association, which eliminated all the friction between the association and the union.

PREDICTS GOOD CROPS IN WEST

Winnipeg, Man., July 4.—Western Canada's promised more than an average crop, the outlook being certainly brighter than at this time last year, states the third crop report of the Manitoba Free Press, published this morning. Naturally there has been some damage and deterioration from drought, insects and hail since the last report was issued on June 13, but the total damage does not appear large or serious, the report states.

PROTESTS TAX ON HOTEL SITE

George M. Reid Claims People's Money Tied Up in Venture.

Grant Discovers Street Railway Company Escapes Tax On Building.

When the court of revision met Monday afternoon to hear deferred appeals for Wards 3 and 4 Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant started the members by a statement that one of his assessors had forgotten to record business tax assessment of $1,625 against the London Street Railway Company and asked that the omission be corrected by the court.

The business tax referred to was that on the London Street Railway Company storage building, and owing to an error was not marked down by the assessor in 1921. In order that such a tax can be collected the error must be rectified and Mr. Grant asked permission of the court to enter the building on the roll.

The court granted the appeal. J. C. Elliott, on behalf of the promoters of the new Lloyd George Hotel, which is to be erected on Richmond street, appealed for a remission of taxes on the proposed site on the grounds that patriotism is being shown in filling a long sought need in London by planning for a new hotel. The land is assessed for $25,500.

"We would have No. 1 committee after us," said T. Scandrett, a member of the court.

Construct In Fall.
George M. Reid declared that every cent tied up in the venture is the property of London ratepayers and that construction next fall is contemplated. A deal between the Merchant's Bank and the Bank of Montreal held up the construction work and the property is lying idle.

Mr. Reid further stated that many obstacles had been overcome in the hotel plans, but the promoters were going "to stay with it." He emphasized the need of hotel accommodation in London.

"You will get a lot of taxes out of it when it is built," he asserted. In the opinion of the court there is no provision made in the assessment act for such a case, but the members decided to give the appeal every consideration. On suggestion of Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant decision was reserved.

Representing the Tecumseh Baseball and Athletic Association, W. H. Heard asked the court to remit one-half the business tax against the organization which operates the London baseball team, on the grounds that baseball is only played for one-half of the year.

Will Lose Money.

He pointed out that it has been the intention of his colleagues to give the citizens a high-class baseball team, and that no financial returns were available last year. Mr. Heard estimated that the association will lose $2,000 on their sporting venture this season.

"We want some relief," he urged. "We pay a bigger rent for our park by $1,200 than any other club in the league. We pay $1,800 rent for five months in the year, and we are outside the city half the season. The lacrosse team is allowed by us to use Tecumseh Park free of charge. It is an unusual situation."

The court ordered the business tax of this enterprise to be cut in half. Joseph Dean's appeal against income tax brought a laugh to the court. "I was married on the 25th of June, 1921, and my wife is still living," was the smile-producing phrase. The appeal was allowed.

Three travelers for Edward Adams & Co., appealed against income assessment on the ground that a portion of their salaries was used to purchase stock in the firm. As the appellants had received this money as income the court confirmed the assessment.

Lives Out of City.

Mary McLean, clerk of the peace, appealed against income assessment, claiming that she did not reside in London. When it was shown that her home had been in the township for thirty years, the appeal was allowed.

Dr. Weir, on behalf of the board of education, appealed against the substitution of Mrs. J. Henderson on the assessment roll in place of her husband. The husband is a Protestant, while Mrs. Henderson desired that the property occupied by them be assessed in favor of separate schools. Dr. Weir maintained that Mrs. Henderson, who is advanced in years, is the head of the house.

"Whoever gets the rent receipts made out to them is the head of the house," declared Harry Bennett, real estate assessment clerk, who was present in the interests of the city. "This year I got next to the old man and found out he was not a Roman Catholic," said Dr. Weir, "and the assessment was changed over. His wife got wise and she wants to be assessed as head of the house. I don't think she should be, as it is setting a precedent."

"Do whatever you like," advised M. P. McDonagh, who represented the separate school board.

Grants Church Appeal.
Dr. Weir's appeal was allowed, and he reported that this was the only case in London that Mr. McDonagh and himself could not agree upon with reference to school assessment. "You cannot collect taxes from dead people," stated Percy Moore, appealing against taxes against Mrs. Hulda Fowler, deceased. The court agreed with Mr. Moore, and the appeal was allowed.

Egerton Street Baptist Church appealed against assessment of their old church, which has been used as a lodgerhouse. The appeal was based on the fact that this building had been given away for church purposes and is now classed as such an institution. The court granted the appeal no doubt influenced by the fact that the appeal began "Dear Sir and Brothers."

The court convened at 4 p.m. Monday and did not adjourn until 7:30 o'clock. S. A. Glass, of the assessment department, looked after all income tax appeals on behalf of the city.

Commissioner J. W. Cunliffe informed The Advertiser on Tuesday that the letter alleged to have been sent to the commission by Mr. Swift on May 24 was received by that body, and that keys to his house were sent out following a request for them addressed personally to one of the commission employees by Mrs. Swift.

Jobs Depend on the Safety of the Forests

DON'T

DON'T take any chances with fire in Ontario's forests.

DON'T throw away cigarette or cigar butts, pipe "chests" or burnt matches until you are dead sure they are out.

DON'T neglect to drown out your fire with lots of water.

DON'T build your camp fire against a rotten log or stump; nor on wind-swept points; nor near moss patches; nor at the base of a tree.

Build it in a former fireplace, or on a flat rock, or on a spot cleared of brush to the true soil below, or by the edge of the water.

DON'T forget that the upper layer of ground in the forest consists of partially rotting wood which will burn.

RIVER DRIVERS, shanty men, pulp loggers, and all men who work in the lumber woods, on the river or at the mill—get this: Your job depends on keeping forest fires from burning up the bush.

Every time you leave a camp fire or a smudge burning you are taking chances on a forest fire that will do you out of a job. Every time you throw away a burning match or a cigarette, or drop the "heel" of your pipe on the ground, you are taking a chance. In summer time, moss, dead wood, dry leaves or the regular wood-fibre soil of the forest are all ready to burn. Millions of feet of timber and pulp are being burnt up that way every year.

Ontario's forests are not growing fast enough to keep up. Forest fires will do you out of a job if they keep on a few years more. Watch yourself.

VIEW PROPERTY FOR SCHOOL USE

Trustee Bice and Inspector
Greer Make Survey in East London.

Steadfast in Commending Site On Dakin Street.

Obviously willing to meet the city council "half-way" respecting the much-abused Dakin street school site, Trustee Bice and Inspector Greer made a survey of the property on Monday.

At the same time, the officials conducted a careful survey of the district "feeding" the Chesley avenue and Ealing public schools, with a view toward arranging the rental of suitable dwellings that could be converted into temporary class-rooms to relieve for a year or so the congestion at these institutions in question. Two likely buildings were selected, one a two-story house on Egerton street, and the other a Sunday school room on the Hamilton road. Inquiries as to these possibilities were conducted, and a final report will be forthcoming to the chairman by Tuesday morning.

Discussing sites in that district Tuesday morning, three of which were brought to the attention of the chairman and inspector, the latter, acknowledging that one of these would be a "fair" choice, held steadfast to his claim that the Dakin street property, already the property of the trustees, could not be bettered. "The latter," he said, "is the most central site that we could obtain, while the best site that we viewed Monday, is not sufficiently near to Chesley avenue as I would like myself."

Commend Dakin Street.
The school authorities are emphatic also that no other land will be obtained for such a reasonable figure as the Dakin and Price streets location. The object of much bitter criticism from Mayor Cameron Wilson himself as well as several members of the city council.

The latter now claim that in addition to the many complaints already voiced by them within the past nine months, the city would be compelled to expend quite a substantial sum in order to provide adequate sewerage facilities for the new school if constructed.

A complete report of the situation and of their activities will be submitted, however, by Trustee Bice and Inspector Greer, and the same will receive the earnest consideration of the board at the next general session.

HITS TAXI DRIVER IN EYE WHEN CAR GETS BUMPED

Dispute Over Parking Space On Richmond Street Ends In Court.

Because George Cook's car bumped Harry Alford's auto, Alford punched Cook in the eye, according to Alford's admission in police court Tuesday.

Cook remembered distinctly getting the "bat in the eye," as he termed it, but did not know what it was for. He did not expect the blow, and stated he would not have laid the information if he had expected it.

Both men are taxi drivers. Within the past two weeks there has been a little trouble regarding parking on Richmond street, near the Grand Trunk station among the drivers. The men say that the cars must be parked four feet away from each other. It is because of the failure of some of the men to observe this rule that trouble is made, they state.

FINES HORSEMEN FOR TRESPASSING

Court Convicts On Charge
Laid by C. P. R. Constable.

After David Tomlinson, race horse owner; William H. Ryan, Jockey, and Arthur Taylor, of London, had been tried on a charge of trespassing on the C. P. R. Magazine Station, M. Graydon found them guilty and imposed a fine of $10 and costs in each case. Richard Smith, Jockey, who was not present, was also fined $10 and costs, after Tomlinson stated he wished to plead guilty for him and pay his fine.

C. P. R. Constable Albert Weller stated he saw six men near a horse car east of Adelaide street on the C. P. R. West, and questioned them. He stated Taylor gave the name of Bartlett. Later he arrested the four men. He did not arrest a man named Stewart, as he was convinced he owned the horses in the car.

Ryan stated he had come from Windsor to tell Tomlinson, who was traveling from Toronto with the horses, where to have the car shipped to the other Devonshire track.

When asked what he had to say regarding the matter, Tomlinson said: "I guess I'm guilty, but in a way I had a right there. I've been shipping horses from coast to coast for twelve years, and this is the first time I was ever arrested. After this when I have any shipping to do I'll take the Grand Trunk if it is at all possible."

CLAIMS $70,000 AVAILABLE
FOR SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION

City Treasurer Reminds Trustees of Surplus Discovered Two Weeks Ago.

While members of the board of education are still clamoring for certain financial support for construction purposes, James Bell, city treasurer, reminds them Tuesday that there is "discovered" available two weeks ago.

While the treasurer states emphatically that the trustees cannot assume control of this tidy sum in any offhand manner, they could, should they choose, apply to the city for construction purposes. This amount, he explains, can be easily transferred by the aldermen, the passage of a bylaw facilitating the move.

It would appear to the casual observer that this transaction, once approved by the city council, would tend to solve automatically the seeming endless controversy involving the request for $82,000 for a new edifice in southeast London.

Bernard, secretary of the London Motor Club, reports that a large number of American cars visited Canada during the last few days. On account of the holiday the tourists are making a long week-end tour.

THE LOCAL EDUCATIONAL authorities expect that results of the recent entrance examinations to the Central Collegiate Institute will be announced by the department of education, Toronto, by July 15. HAILED BY A VISITOR at the city hall Tuesday morning as "finance commissioner," James Bell, city treasurer, essayed the opinion that as far as he can recollect, he has never been officially elevated to that position by the city's elected representatives, although such a procedure was contemplated early in the year.

PRESIDING in the Middlesex County court Tuesday morning, Police Magistrate A. H. Hawkshaw disposed of several speeding cases, dispensing justice on a 50-50 basis.

Police Magistrate A. H. Hawkshaw disposed of several speeding cases, dispensing justice on a 50-50 basis. One of the offenders was found not guilty, while an equal number were adjudged guilty as charged. The defendants hailed from London, Windsor and intermediate points.

THE MAITLAND Street Baptist Young People's Society held its weekly meeting Monday night. When a goodly number of members were present. Papers were read by Miss D. Dorey and Miss Tosseland, vocal solo by Mr. Burnett; musical number by Miss M. Rowe; a short address by Mr. J. Gibson on "Better Praying"; The meeting was presided over by Miss Maribel Coughtry, captain of the Red Star group.

W. H. T. MOONEY, principal of the Central Collegiate Institute, reports that he has decided, from among several applications, who will be the new science teacher. This teacher is required by reason of the recent changes in the staff of that institution to provide teachers for the proposed South London high school, which is still delayed, however, by lack of approval from the provincial department.

Claims Work of Board of Education Conducted in Businesslike Manner

While expressing the opinion that it will not be necessary to call a special general session of the trustees before July 20, the next scheduled meeting, Chairman Smith valiantly upholds in the face of continued and stern criticism, the new arrangement of board meetings by which the members will gather in monthly caucuses on each third Thursday in lieu of the first Tuesday as has been the practice, so long as Trustee Thomas Rowe states he can recollect.

It is more than probable Trustee Smith opines that the regular August session will be eliminated, and the trustees will rest from their labors of the past six months until September, when they will "gird their loins again for the fray," and tackle anew the Dakin street and other leading problems.

WILL REVIEW CITY HOTEL CONDITIONS

Provincial Parliament Committee To Discuss Accommodation in London.

The committee of the Provincial Parliament on hotels and tourist facilities, now making a tour of the province, will arrive in London via the Canadian Pacific late Tuesday night.

As the guests of the Chamber of Commerce, the members of the committee will meet directors of the Chamber, the executive of the London Motor Club, the executive of the Ontario Travelers' Association, John Couzens, warden of the county; City Clerk Baker, Frank White, M.P., and Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M.P.P., at luncheon at 12:30 Wednesday noon in the Tecumseh House.

Before the luncheon the visitors will be taken through the city in cars provided by the Motor Club and shown the points of interest.

At 2:30 p.m. the committee will hold a round-table discussion with the hotel proprietors of London to glean information concerning hotel accommodations in the city.

After the conference with the hotel proprietors, the members of the committee will leave London at the 4:20 London and Port Stanley car for Port Stanley, where they will continue their investigations along lines similar to the ones on which they are basing their researches throughout the province.

Leaving London at 6:30 Thursday morning, the committee will continue to Chatham.

HOTEL COMMITTEE ARRIVES.
Brantford, July 4.—The legislative committee on hotels and tourist traffic sat today in the Kerby House, meeting with the mayor of Brantford, the local inspector, the president of the chamber of commerce and a large number of the local hotel-keepers. Frank discussion followed regarding the hotel situation.

The general demand of the hotel-keepers was for general exemptions. They complained their trade is limited to practically 4½ days a week, one landlord stating that over the week-end his help cost more to keep than his guests.

The hotelkeepers frankly admitted that the class of men keeping hotels in the past had not been high. Mr. Littlefield, proprietor of the Kerby House, the leading hotel here, complained that hotels were practically places of unrequited public convenience, and thought some advantage should be given them in return. He stated his hotel was paying at present without the bar. Grievous complaints were made as to the difficulty of securing help.

PLANS BYLAW GOVERNING
FEES FOR NEW SURVEYS

City Council Recommends Measure on Proposal of No. 2 Committee.

In keeping with the recommendation of No. 2 committee the city council has ordered that a bylaw be prepared stipulating that before plans of new property surveys are prepared in London are accepted a survey fee must be paid.

To the satisfaction of the city engineer, and sufficiently signed petitions must be presented for sewers, and sidewalks as local improvements, with the ratepayers involved agreeing to accept proper city assessments.

This bylaw is being drafted in an effort to prevent opening of surveys on the city limits or in outlying districts, with no sewer, water or sidewalk facilities, while residential property more central and improved is allowed to remain vacant. The plan of Highbury Park subdivision has been held up for this reason, on the recommendation of the town planning commission.

BLAZE REVEALS
HAMILTON STILL

Hamilton, July 4.—When fire broke out in the attic of 65 Simcoe street west at 11:45 this morning a regular distillery was discovered. As a result of the fire, Mrs. Centena Poletto was placed under arrest by Excise Officer Bensley and License Inspector Bleakley. Her husband, Sam Poletto, was away at the time, and Mrs. Poletto claimed that she did not even know of the existence of the still. The apparatus seized included three huge stills, all in operation and boiling when the fire started.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN VOTERS LISTS

City Clerk S. Baker stated Tuesday that his staff has completed compilation of the voters' list for wards 3 and 4, and that only a slight increase in the number of names has been noted.

The staff is now busy working on the list for wards 1 and 2.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS REMAIN UNSOLVED
As Civic Commission Fails To Meet

While this is Tuesday, July 4, obnoxious by the residents across the international boundary line as their Independence Day, it stands in this city as the 55th day since the London civic commission held a regular session.

While Mayor Cameron Wilson stoutly asserts that the commission is as intact as when it was created at his instigation early in the year, School Trustees Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education; A. E. Silverwood, chairman of the collegiate institute committee of the same body; J. B. Wright, chairman of the technical school committee, and other members of the board as well as the

DELORME PLANS STARTLING BOOK

MONTREAL, July 3.—Rev. J. Adolphe Delorme, it is learned, has already planned what he will do when he gets to the asylum designated by the Quebec authorities.

He is going to write a book explaining in detail his defence against the charge of murdering his half-brother, a book that will startle the world, that will brand him as a man of almost superhuman ability, and which will put to shame, he says, the lawyers who refused to use his arguments in the court.

GEO. HODGE WINS RAIL PROMOTION

Montreal, Que., July 4.—One of the changes brought about by the appointment of John J. Scully, general superintendent for Algoma division of the C. P. R., as general manager eastern lines, in succession to Mr. Price, who has been granted extended leave of absence, is the promotion of Geo. Hodge, at one time superintendent in London, Ont., to the position of assistant general manager eastern lines.

When a boy who is a good baseball or hockey player comes to the city, he continued, "he need never lack friends. Plenty of people are ready to get behind him, and see he gets a good job; but when a boy comes to the city with great thoughts throbbing in his soul, do men get behind him in the same way? Do they see he gets an opportunity to develop the powers which will be of inestimable value to his life?"

Might Be Expected.

Dealing with the need of service in the way of acquainting the youth of Canada with certain things, the department secretary of the social service board mentioned that half of the 100,000 children of Sunday school age in Alberta have no such facilities for training as those of the children of Saskatchewan are similarly placed.

"You say," he said, "that these are pioneer days in the new west country, and such conditions might be expected in the west. But what of the city? A survey was made of the church district, and it was found there were 1,000 children within it not attending Sunday school."

An incident related in connection with the conditions in Saskatchewan was that of a woman who felt she had not the ability to teach, but who offered her services to the social service board. The children looked there, among them a French boy and his two sisters. The boy decided to become a missionary in India, and was preparing himself for the University of Saskatchewan when he responded to the call of the Great War and gave his life overseas. One sister decided to take his place in missionary work abroad, and trained as a nurse in the hospitals of France. The third, following their example, is preparing herself in the University for special work among the Ukrainians in Canada.

Mention was made of the practical application of Christ's teachings in the establishment of a chain of redemptive homes for girls from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Fifty-seven of these girls served in the homes are reclaimed," was his encouraging message.

Meighen and Macdonald.

WHEREIN HAS HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN failed as leader of the official opposition at Ottawa? He faced a peculiar position, and one that was without precedent to some extent, as his was not the only party sitting in opposition. The Progressives were also on the same side of the house as the opposition, and as they were not with the government, to that extent at least they could be said to have been against it.

In the current issue of the Canada Magazine, SIR JOHN WILLSON considers the course followed by Mr. MEIGHEN, contrasting it with the tactics of SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD following his defeat in 1874. At that time two sessions were allowed to pass before the Conservative leader of that day challenged the government to come to a showdown on a division of the house. His reasons for this policy seemed to have been substantial and workable, the main one of which was that to force an early division would be to expose the weakness of the party, and give the country at large the idea that it was still a wreck, with no particular line along which to work for future success.

SIR JOHN WILLSON, reviewing the strategy of SIR JOHN MACDONALD in opposition, claims that he considered the first thing necessary was "to re-establish his party in public confidence," and that the matter of worrying his opponents was of secondary consideration. MACDONALD understood that a new government had a natural claim upon public sympathy, and that the people were certain to be more interested in its measures and methods than in pre-election quarrels or the reasons which led the country to discharge its predecessors.

It is sinful to bet on horse races, and many a man as he counts over his skinny wad, realizes that he has been paying for his sins.

If nations who won wars were always called upon to lend money to those who had lost them there might be no battles in the near future.

Experts report that grasshoppers are moving west from the prairies. Residents of British Columbia are waging two to one that they can't jump over the Rockies.

Some wise man once wrote this, and although it was turned out a couple of hundred years ago, it's good today: "If you take your own place you will not be turned out of it."

After all the real trouble in the railroad situation seems to have been that the McAbow award drove the wages away up, and now they claim it is necessary to bring them away down again. Such a problem has trouble written all over it.

The killing of non-union miners in United States seems to be settling down to a discussion as to whether they had a right to kill these men or not. It is generally considered that murder, murder, and sentences are usually passed on this understanding.

Information now out shows that United States has 1,088,402 stores, with more than 3,000,000 men and women behind counters. That works out at one store for every 106 of population in United States, seemingly too great a covering for the trade to be secured. But still there is nothing to hinder more of them starting into business tomorrow in spite of these figures.

It is very plain that for some years back the people of Ontario have not been getting a square deal in connection with their timber limits. Too much politics explains much. The RIMMEL-LATCHFORD report concludes: "To summarize, it appears that, in many cases, there was no effort in the client check upon the work in the woods; that the verifications required by law were not made; that in some local crown timber offices little attention was paid to the accuracy of the statutory returns; and that in the department itself there was no proper examination and scrutiny of them."

Told and Denied.

HON. P. C. LARKIN has been in London, England, about two months as high commissioner for Canada.

It would take about that long for the holder of such an office to get the work under way and find out what were the possibilities for activities that would be beneficial to this country in England.

Of course, some busybody had to get on the wires with a story that Mr. LARKIN was dissatisfied and all upset, and was going to come back right at once.

He was out of sympathy with the program of the government, and the next boat would see him home, and there would be a position for some other Canadian to tackle in London.

It took about one day for a red-hot, emphatic denial of all this rubbish to come from the Canadian high commissioner in London.

But why is it that such stories are put in circulation in the first place? It must be part and parcel of a fairly well regulated piece of propaganda to embarrass the administration at Ottawa. Mr. LARKIN was at the office in London, England, and was accessible to any reporter who wanted to send out a reliable story. Apparently the last thing considered in this instance.

Investments.

HOW AM I to know whether this is a good investment or not? Such is the trend of a letter written to this office by a merchant in one of the towns west of London.

A new concern is being floated, and he has been approached with the idea of putting money in. Naturally, he does not want to go wrong on the thing and wants advice.

There are several ways that the worth of these ventures can be determined. In the first place, how much money has the man who is trying to sell you the stock put in himself? If it is such a good thing the chances are that he would be anxious to get in on it. If he is backing his views with his own money you can count that as one point in favor of the investment.

Then take it to your banker. Tell him all the facts and let him have all the information you have. He ought to have a pretty fair idea of the chances of the scheme for success.

If not satisfied yet get in touch with a reliable bond house in some of the larger centres. These are not apt to advise you to put money into a doubtful proposition. Neither do they consider the getting of your money as their greatest piece of work. They can be relied upon to give you safe advice. Here again it might be well to get the advice of your banker as to which bond house to consult.

There are a number of ways in which you can sift out the proposed investment. Be sure to do your investigating before rather than after putting in your money.

Raising Hens on a City Lot

By M. W.

IT IS not necessary to own a farm to raise chickens successfully. Any woman that has enough space in the back of the lot can raise chickens for egg-laying purposes on a profitable basis.

Following is an account of what a woman living in one of our Western Ontario cities has done in this work: This woman purchased nine White Leghorn hens and one rooster on October 26 for $10. She kept an accurate account of all the expenses and receipts, and declares the industry a profitable one. The cost of feed from October 26, 1920, to May 31, 1921, was $15.50. This included scratch feed, oats, egg mash and straw. The receipts for eggs during the same period amounted to $24.42.

The chickens began laying January 1, and the number of eggs received during the year was as follows:

January, 28; February, 70; March, 155; April, 184; May, 177; June, 199; July, 165; August, 139; September, 144; October, 90; November, 25; December, 14. Total, 1,560 eggs.

From June to December the feed cost $13.95, and the amount received for eggs during the same period of time was $40.11. On June 2 she purchased a setting hen for $2, and nine Leghorn chickens were hatched. In October two of these chickens, weighing two pounds each, were sold for 35 cents a pound. In November one was sold for $1.05. On January 1, 1922, she had in her flock six chickens, ten hens and one rooster.

When the industry can be carried on so successfully on a city lot there is ample opportunity for its development on a much more extensive scale in rural districts. There is always a demand for fowl at meat markets and by shippers at local centers.

TO THE EDITOR

DEFENDS THE INDIANS.

Editor Advertiser:

Sir,—Believing that The Advertiser would not knowingly permit its columns to be used to the injury of the Indian people within its territory, I wish to draw your attention to an item appearing in your issue of 28th under Charge, "Oneida Faces Liquidation Charge." Said item concludes with the statement that "an arrest is expected without further delay in connection with the wholesale theft and butchery of cattle. . . . Similar cases were reported last year, and the officers fear a general epidemic of lawlessness."

In a previous issue, an article appeared, which seriously reflects upon the conduct of the police and others responsible for maintenance of law and order upon these reservations.

I am just closing my thirteenth year as superintendent of the Indian school at Muncey, and whilst in no school at all, I have been a close observer of the same. During that time I have never heard of any person stealing or butchering animals until about a week ago evidence was found that would prove an animal owned by a white man and pastured on the reserve, had been butchering. But one solitary case in thirteen years is not what you might call a "wholesale business." Besides it is not yet proven that an Indian did it.

Certainly a few Indians, like many white men, have been dealing in liquor, with equally bad results to themselves and others. Just like the white people, a very large majority of the Indians are opposed to the practice and earnestly wish it stopped.

The provincial and other officers responsible for enforcement of the O. T. A. have come on the reserve and, with the assistance of the local Indian constable, who is a first-class officer, have arrested those offenders. I understand, the officers were seriously interfered with in the discharge of their duty by one or two young men who are now in jail awaiting trial. The Indians, as a whole, are a most friendly and law-abiding people, no one is persecuting them. They do not readily tell on each other, but when convicted, especially of "bootlegging," they take their medicine, and either pay their fine or go to jail. One of their greatest weaknesses is that they are fond of law and no doubt pay well for it, but they will become wiser as the years go by.

We expect The Advertiser and every other good paper to refrain from publishing anything detrimental to their progress and happiness or that would make it more difficult to maintain the honor and dignity of the law among these people who are our friends and neighbors, and who certainly deserve fair treatment at our hands.

Yours truly,
S. R. McVITT.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

JULY 3, 1897.

As the result of a meeting of the board of works last night, asphalt walks are to be laid on the east side of Burwell street, between Dundas and King streets, on the north side of Queen's avenue, between Colborne and Maitland streets, and on the north side of King street, between Wellington and Waterloo streets.

A very pleasant event marked the close of the prayer meeting at Center Street Church, St. Thomas, on Wednesday evening. As the pastor was about to close the meeting, D. Broderick rose and said that some things were to be said to the pastor and Mrs. Hartley, and called upon Mr. Harvey to read an address. After this a beautiful and high-grade bicycle was presented to Mr. Hartley and a purse and card case to Mrs. Hartley.

A bold robbery was committed in J. & R. Robson's feed store, Brantford, Thursday night. A man entered the store and ordered a quantity of horse feed. While showing the proprietor where to take the feed, a second man entered and robbed the till of $75. Both thieves escaped.

Another plethora of strawberries was on the market this morning, and thousands of boxes found a ready sale at 2 1/2 to 3 cents a box.

A little girl secured the weekly pay check of a corporation laborer named Marsh, and cashed it yesterday, the city officials supposing that she was Marsh's child. Marsh denies this and claims that he has been robbed by the girl who got the check.

George M. Reid of the New York branch of Reid Bros. & Co., manufacturers, is spending a few days in London and Port Stanley.

Wm. Chittick of 375 Horton street while fishing at Dorchester fell into the river, the raft on which he was standing having sunk. Mr. Chittick could not swim, but clung to the raft until rescued. Mr. Chittick then began to climb a fence near the water. One of the rails broke, again precipitating him into the water. He was assisted to shore.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

YOUR EYESIGHT

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

EVILIZATION has brought us many comforts and advantages. It has brought, among other things, scientific knowledge and ways to get well and ways to keep well.

Our mortality statistics show that disease is losing its grip.

But civilization, we find, is to blame for many ills that never existed before. One of these is excessive and peculiar strain upon the eyes.

We of civilized communities do not use our eyes as they are used by savages. The savage has to look at nearby and far-away, at things large and things small, equally.

People with good eyesight among us have as good vision as the savage possesses. This has been demonstrated repeatedly. But the percentage among us of sufferers from astigmatism, short-sightedness and long-sightedness is indefinitely greater than among savages. The civilized man looks for long periods at things which are at close range. Even when not reading he will not see anything farther removed than the wall of the room—but a few feet away. The savage, living mostly out of doors, usually has a long focus; he uses the short focus only occasionally.

In view of the fact that the most serious results of eye deformity and eye strain are not indicated by eye pains, how may one tell whether or not the eyes need treatment?

There is only one way—whenever there are headaches or backaches, or interference with digestion and nervous exhaustion. If these symptoms are not clearly traceable to and curable by other definite measures, the eyes should be examined. They are peculiarly vulnerable and they must be suspected when there exist symptoms of this kind.

The BOOKSHELF

I WALKED IN ARDEN. By Jack Crawford. The Macmillan Co., Publishers, St. Martin's House, Toronto, 52.

IT is satisfying to find a new author who has courage enough in his first literary attempt to present a simple theme with an unconventional locale and just ordinary human beings to live their lives to a natural conclusion. Here the characters are well delineated, the situations well selected, the thread of the story held firmly, and, unlike so many new authors, Mr. Crawford does not essay to overreach himself.

The theme of "I Walked in Arden" savors of an old philosophy, and in adopting it for this tale Mr. Crawford seems to be telling us the story of his life. And while he has accepted his destiny, it is with a feeling of bitterness.

As a young man he seeks happiness in love and moderate success in business, nothing more. He has no desire for great wealth, glory or distinction. If these come he is ready to grasp them, and there is an undercurrent all through the book of a certain passiveness. There is no dominance of will, no effort to overcome life's obstacles, no dynamic energy to battle his way to the top of the ladder.

Ted Jevons, the hero of the tale, was born in New York city of American parents, who moved to London when he was quite young. He is reared in a London suburb, and his father sends him to an American college, where he holds himself aloof, unable to accustom himself to his surroundings. London pulls him, and he returns home a full-fledged chemical engineer, only to be sent back.

His father has purchased a small manufacturing plant in Deep Harbor, on the Great Lakes. Ted Jevons begins his labors as research chemist. He has no desire for Deep Harbor society, and is amused at the petty gossip and conventions. At last he is introduced to Miss Harbor's Four Hundred and they take him up. He falls in love with the only daughter of the local banker and manufacturer. It might have been any other girl, but propinquity threw them together, and the young British-American seeks no further for his ideal.

It is decidedly an old-fashioned love story, with no triangle or tertium quid to worry the reader. His characteristics are well portrayed and clear-cut, and human, but just ordinarily human. It has the earmarks of something better.

Whiter, More Sanitary Teeth

Millions now enjoy them

If all knew what millions know, all would brush teeth in this new way.

Everybody wants whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. Those who lack them envy those who have them.

The way is easy and delightful. It means just combating film. And this ten-day test will show you how to do that.

That dingy film

Teeth are coated with a film—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Stains cause it to discolor. Then it often forms dingy coats, including tartar.

Old ways of brushing do not effectively combat film. So much remains to night and day threaten serious damage.

Film clouds the teeth's luster.

It often becomes badly stained. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germes breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So much things that wreck teeth and make them unsightly are now traced to that film.

A way to combat it

Dental science, after long research, has found two film combatants. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists the world over urge their daily use.

A new-type tooth paste has been created, based on modern requirements. The name is Pepsodent. These two film combatants are embodied in it. Now

Don't you owe it to yourself? It will bring to your home a new conception of what cleaner teeth means.
Watch for ten days the delightful effects, then decide for yourself.

Careful people of some forty races apply it every day. And the glistening teeth you see everywhere show one of the results.

Other benefits

This new-day tooth paste brings two other much-desired results. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth. If left to ferment they form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

Those are Nature's tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent multiplies their powers.

Watch it act

Learn what it means to you and yours. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using, how refreshing the mouth tastes. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

You will continually combat film-coated teeth when you learn what this method does. Cut out the coupon now.

First

FIRST to discard their old-type razors for the original Gillette Safety Razor and first to adopt the New Improved, were the engineers, draughtsmen and technical men of the country.

They recognized at once the soundness of its principle; saw at once the reality of its improvements

- the cutting angle found and fixed;
- rigidity of blade;
- the channelled guard for greater safety;
- to give the cutting edge free access to the beard
- and keep it clear from soap and hair.

It is these improvements that have eliminated the need for shaving experience and skill; made it impossible to get anything but a perfect shave; doubled the efficiency of the blades and lengthened their lives by many shaves.

If you would know the newest luxury of science—a velvet smooth, clean, soft shave every morning of your life—call at any store catering to the needs of men and buy

INCREASES PAY OF OFFICER OF HEALTH $1,500

City Council Raises Salary of Dr. W. S. Downham To $5,000 Yearly.

PLANS REGISTRY OFFICE

Takes Initial Steps Towards Municipal Railway by Appointing Commission.

What the city council did: Decided to take steps to acquire property on Talbot street, opposite Queen's avenue, to be used as a site for a new registry office.

Authorized appointment of a civic commission to investigate city transportation matters, and to report upon the advisability of purchasing the London Street Railway System.

Passed a bylaw instructing the medical officer of health to take charge of city indigent sick who can be admitted to hospital in future only on his orders.

Increased the salary of the medical officer of health from $3,500 to $5,000 per year, effective at once.

Passed the salary bylaw after clearing up the matter of aldermanic salaries was struck out.

Decided to appoint a commission to investigate and report upon city transportation matters, and the advisability of taking over the London Street Railway System at the expiration of the franchise, or an earlier date, members of the city council in session Monday night.

When the proposal to appoint the above commission was introduced for discussion, Ald. L. S. Holmes registered an objection.

"I object, because it appears to me like the thin edge of the wedge to hoist on the city the London Street Railway," protested Ald. Holmes. "A year ago I suggested a transportation commission. I feel that we should appoint a commission to investigate all systems of transportation. It is possible that the bus system may be the better one."

"In justice to ourselves and the citizens we should investigate any system of transportation, and obtain a complete report. I move that we should appoint a commission to investigate all systems of transportation. It is possible that the bus system may be the better one."

"We have got to bring it to a head," explained Mayor Wilson. "We must get something definite before the voters at the next municipal election."

Urges Early Action. "We have got to take the franchise away or give it back to them," said Ald. O. L. Cunningham, referring to the London Street Railway Company. "It will take a year for the commission to get ready a report. The buses are only an auxiliary. No system can compete with the street car for general transportation. They charge ten cents for the hydro bus at Windsor and five cents on street cars."

Upon inclusion of all transportation matters in the objective of the proposed commission, Ald. Holmes withdrew his objection. The motion was carried.

Ald. Childs then read the report of Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant that 24 1/2 miles of the London Street Railway tracks, together with land and buildings, was assessed at $208,665, which was prepared by request of Ald. L. H. Douglass.

"My query was not answered by this report," complained Ald. Douglass. "I want the method of obtaining this assessment to be given. I move that the city engineer be instructed to measure the London Street Railway tracks and report on the miles next week and that the assessment commissioner report on the method of assessing the road, and the actual percentage of valuation that is assessed." The motion carried.

Again in Limelight. The London Street Railway was once more in the limelight when Ald. J. C. Childs moved that the request of the company to pay for the paving of its track allowance, where pavements are laid on the local improvement plan, be granted, subject to an agreement prepared by the city solicitor, provided that the unpaid portion of costs be credited to the city in the event of purchase of the road.

Ald. Holmes did not take kindly to this idea, holding that it might involve "a lot of litigation." "It will be done on the opinion of the city solicitor," explained the mayor. "I am not arguing on its merits or demerits, but we can't have any more pavements like Stanley street and Adelaide street. The city can't lose on this thing."

"There is no use of us being a lot of fish and swallowing the bait," commented Ald. Holmes. "It is subject to an agreement to be ratified by the city solicitor," said his worship.

"Let's get the solicitor's opinion first," continued Ald. Holmes. "We are starting into a dark forest, and we don't know where we are going to get out."

Request Granted. "We are here to protect the city," asserted Mayor Wilson. "There will be nothing done except on the advice of the solicitor." Under these circumstances the request of the company was granted.

The council then adopted the recommendation that the city engineer be instructed to measure the London Street Railway tracks and report on the miles next week and that the assessment commissioner report on the method of assessing the road, and the actual percentage of valuation that is assessed.

SCARAMOUCHE

by Rafael Sabatini

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

To escape hanging on the charge of sedition, ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU flees from his native town of Gavrilac and conceals his identity by joining a band of strolling players in which he makes a great success in the part of SCARAMOUCHE.

His flight has caused him to delay revenge on the great and powerful MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AZYR, who tricked Andre-Louis' dearest friend, PHILIPPE DE VILMORIN, into a duel and then killed him because he feared the idealist's "dangerous gift of eloquence."

Over the dead body of his friend, Andre-Louis swore to carry on the work of reforming the lot of the down-trodden peasants.

Scaramouche, as he is now called, finds in love with CLIMENE, daughter of MONSIEUR BINET, the owner of the troupe. They become engaged and Andre-Louis has forgotten.

ALINE DE KERCAIDOU, the friend of his childhood, who horrified him by listening to the suit of the Marquis. While waiting with Clime, he unexpectedly meets Aline.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII
"THE door," Aline commanded her footman, and "Mount here beside me," she commanded Andre-Louis, in the same breath.

"A moment, Aline!" He turned to his companion, who was all amazement, and to Harlequin and Columbine, who had that moment come up to share it. "You permit me, Clime?" said he, breathlessly. But it was more a statement than a question. "Harlequin will take care of you. Au revoir, at dinner."

SHE LOOKED SHYLY AT HER LOVER WHEN HE CAME INTO THE ROOM.

With that he sprang into the carriage without waiting for a reply, and the great equipage rolled away, leaving the three comedians staring after it, open-mouthed. Then Harlequin laughed.

"A prince in disguise, our Scaramouche!" said he.

The frown melted from Clime's brow. Resentment changed to bewilderment.

"But who is she?"

"His sister, of course," said Harlequin, quite definitely.

In the carriage Aline was considering Andre-Louis with grave eyes, lips slightly compressed, and a tiny frown between her finely drawn eyebrows.

"You have taken to quering company, Andre," was the first thing she said to him. "Or else I am mistaken in thinking that your companion was Mlle. Binet of the Theatre Feydau."

"You are not mistaken. But I had not imagined Mlle. Binet was so famous already."

"Oh, as to that . . ." mademoiselle shrugged. "It is simply that I was at the play last night."

"You were at the Feydau last night? And I never saw you?"

"Were you there, too?"

"Was I there, too?" he cried. Then he checked, and abruptly changed his tone. "Oh, yes I was there," he said, as commonplace as he could, beset by a sudden reluctance to avow that he had so willingly descended to depths that she must account unworthy.

"I understand," said she, and compressed her lips a little more tightly. "But what do you understand?"

"The rare attractions of Mlle. Binet. Naturally you would be at the theatre. Do you know that you disappoint me, Andre? I was foolish enough to imagine you to be different; rather above such trivial pursuits. I conceived you something of an idealist."

"Sheer flattery."

"So I perceive. But you misled me. With your gift of acting I wonder that you haven't joined Mlle. Binet's troupe."

"I have," said he.

He saw first incredulity, then consternation, and lastly disgust over-weighed her face.

"Of course," said she, after a long pause, "that would have the advantage of bringing you closer to your chamber."

"That was only one of the inducements. There was another. Finding myself forced to choose between the stage and the gallies, I had the incredible weakness to prefer the former. Shall I stop the carriage and remove the contamination of my disgusting person? Or shall I tell you how it happened?"

"Tell me how it happened first. Then we will decide."

He told her how he met the Binet troupe, and how the men of the marquis forced upon him the discovery that in its bosom he could find safety until the hus and cry

Explains Bugbear of Sleeves

SLEEVES always have been a bugbear to the average dressmaker, as every woman's arms seem to hang in a different way. Only experience in fitting can teach one just how to handle a sleeve, but a few simple directions apply to all sleeves.

Most important is the grain of the material. The sleeve must be cut on the true grain, that is, the thread of the cloth on line A-B, as in figure one.

This gives a straight grain on line C-D, which is absolutely necessary to keep your sleeve from twisting. The only exception is a bias sleeve, which is cut with line A-B on the true bias.

The material above line A-B is called the cap of the sleeve. When you have a short shoulder in your dress the cap of the sleeve must be high from C-D.

Shoulder seams are short this spring and often you find a sleeve wrinkling up and down because the cap is not high enough. This may be remedied by drawing the curve higher from A to C to B or cutting out the sleeve under the arm.

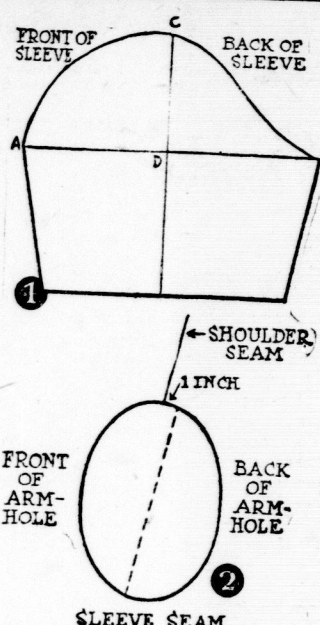

Both accomplish the same end. Always allow two inches around the top of the sleeve for fitting so you can drop it, if necessary, from the shoulder.

A sleeve must be eased into an armhole and must be cut at least one inch larger around the top than the correct armhole line.

It is best to fit a waist with a sleeve basted in, but if your sleeve does not set right, rip it out and correct your armhole, marking a new line with pins, then set in the sleeve, placing it so that the straight grain of the material falls over the top of the arm.

A general rule for setting in a sleeve like the one shown above is to fold your armhole from one inch back of the shoulder seam and set the sleeve seam exactly opposite this fold.

When basting in a sleeve hold the sleeve toward you so you can ease in the fullness. Often you can ease in more than an inch and apparently have no gathers.

Always bend your arm, when fitting a sleeve, so that enough allowance is made for the length from shoulder to elbow. The back of the sleeve must be longer than the front. Sleeves should be fitted until they are comfortable in all positions.

Nowadays many of the handsomest gowns are made with an open armhole and the sleeve fitted into the lining. The lining must be covered all around the armhole with material like the outside of the gown, far enough back that no gleam of white is seen.

The sleeve is stitched into this armhole. The armhole of the dress is finished with a covered cord, a facing, or a binding. This is a helpful way to manage a sleeve for a large figure; you will have no ungainly wrinkles in your back.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"Are you Dr. Snuffles?" asked Nick.

NANCY and Nick stepped up to a little fairy man who was tacking a sign on his house.

"Are you Dr. Snuffles?" asked Nick.

"Yes, sir," answered the tiny gentleman pompously. "I have that honor."

"And are you wanting help?" went on the little boy.

"Yes, indeed!" replied Dr. Snuffles with a sharp glance out of his shrewd eyes. "Why? Do you know of somebody?"

"We were thinking maybe you'd take us," said Nick.

"Oh, sir! Would you?" begged Nancy. "We'd love to help."

"H'm!" coughed Dr. Snuffles. "Just step inside, please, and we can talk the matter over."

So in they all went, leaving Chick Chipmunk, who'd been listening, all eyes and ears, to skip away and chatter the news all over the whole place.

"Well, ma'am," said Dr. Snuffles to Nancy, "what are your recommendations for the place? What can you do? Can you iron lace frills and scrub doorsteps and wash up cups and coddle an egg?"

"Goodness!" gasped Nancy. "Is that what a bandage-roller means?"

SMALL CAKES

1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 1/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Work butter and sugar together until creamy. Add well-beaten eggs, and beat thoroughly. Sift the flour with the baking powder, add to the butter and sugar mixture alternately with the milk—first a little milk, then a little flour, until all are used.

Bake in well-buttered muffin or patty tins 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Will make 18 or 20.

A good rule to follow for baking is this: During the first quarter of the time the mixture should rise but not brown; the second quarter of time the mixture should continue to rise and begin to brown. The remainder of time the cake finishes baking.

This last half of the time allowed is the most critical. Up to that time the cake may be turned or moved without danger of falling.

"WHAT will a loop antenna do for me?"

Innumerable radio fans ask that question. Each could answer it for himself if he would get a little understanding of the structure and operation of the coil or loop antenna.

This type of aerial is comprised of several vertical wires all connected together. These vertical wires act in the same way as vertical antennae. Their being connected makes it possible for the signal energies created in them to be added together and thus feed the receiver.

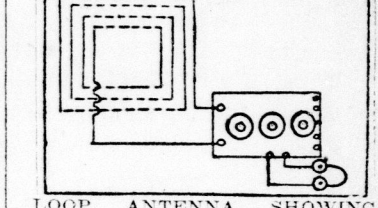

But even though there is a multiplicity of these small vertical antennae, the total energy produced in them is considerably smaller than that which would be produced in a single large one.

Only a limited number of turns upon the loop may be used for a given wave length. If the number of turns is too great, it may be impossible to use the loop for the desired wave length.

Usually the loop constructed for the reception of 350 meter waves has about ten turns of wire wound on a frame measuring three feet on each side. This should give the equivalent of 20 small vertical antennae, each three feet in height—or a single length six feet high.

Energy Effects.
But the energies induced in each of these wires does not add fully. The resultant energy is only slightly greater than that which would be received from one group of ten vertical wires. This would be equal approximately to the energy received in a wire slightly more than 30 feet in height.

Most amateur antenna have a

height considerably greater than 30 feet.

Signals received upon a loop usually will not average more than 1-7/10 part of those received upon the average outdoor antenna.

Thus the loop antenna lends itself for use only with the most sensitive type of amplifying receivers.

In connection with these it will aid considerably in the reduction of interference of all sorts, although it cannot by any means completely eliminate natural electrical disturbances.

It can only reduce them.

Keepsweet Is Delicious

It is very rich and deliciously thick and should be stirred well when used in tea, coffee, cocoa and other beverages.

When you have Keepsweet Cream on your pantry shelves you do not need to worry about souring or spoiling through terrific summer heat or thunderstorms; failure of your ice supply or shortage of your raw cream or milk supply. Keepsweet Cream should be in the pantry of every home.

Picnickers, excursionists, tourists, motorists, summer cottagers and proprietors of summer hotels: Keepsweet is ideal for your needs. Order your whole summer's supply and have the case shipped direct to your summer home.

TRIBE STOP YOUNG WIN STREAK OF HUMP'S CREW

Schaefer Hitting Star of Day With Four Singles and Triple On Five Trips To Plate.

KITCHENER, July 3.—Buzz Wetzel's crew stopped the Kitchener offensive tonight, when they waded into the Beavers and easily defeated them 19 to 3. For quite a while it looked as if the Longhorns were going to shut out the locals, but in the final three innings Doc Bullard eased up, and the locals touched him for seven of the nine hits they got and earned three runs.

The London team played nice ball on the field, Feder contributing the only home run he has ever made. He was the only one to get on base, but the Beavers got some bad base-ball off their chests, and chalked up no less than five misplays.

Schaefer was the hitting star of the day, having four singles and a triple in five trips to the plate. He was rather a lucky one, as Burrell misjudged it, and the ball went over his head to the fence.

London tallied in the second when Schaefer dropped Stimpson's fly back of second. Blake and Schaefer then singled in succession to send Stimpson home. To start the third, Stimpson was hit by a pitched ball, Blake sacrificed, and then Schaefer unhooked his three-base swing, and he scored on Mackey's sacrifice fly.

In the fifth more runs pattered across the plate. With one down, Blake singled and Schaefer beat out a hit to second. Mackey struck out, but Wimble hit for a sack, scoring Blake. Wimble went to second on the throw in, and when Berry tried to get him there he threw a wild one, and Schaefer tallied. Boye singled to right, scoring Wimble, and he tallied when Hindt threw Feder's grounder over Anderson's head.

Two more were added in the sixth on Butters' and Stimpson's singles. Blake's sacrifice and Schaefer's single. The last London tally came in the seventh, when Hindt fumbled Wimble's grounder. He went down in the Beavers' infield out, and tallied on Feder's base knock to left.

Hockey's single gave the Beavers their first in the seventh, while in the eighth singles by Berry, Hindt and Mostade added another. Their final run came in the ninth on Anderson's single. Feder's mess-up of Burrell's grounder and Berry's second single sealed the win.

BRANTS TOY WITH CALBERT'S CREW

At Old Game of Kicking, Hams Play Chances Away.

BRANTFORD, July 3.—The Brants outplayed the Tigers from every angle, even pulling off a squeeze play, and won 8 to 3. There was some talk hitting, Lango, Hunter and Calbert all having a homer each, but the Brants hit timely and were airtight in defense. Hamilton blew up in the eighth, but the game was lost then anyway. The Brants lived up to their tradition of kicking Hamilton pennant comes away. The game was a SAGINAW, July 3.—Saginaw practically silenced Bay City's pennant hopes today by taking a doubleheader 7 to 2, and 4 to 3. Saginaw now leads Bay City by four and a half games.

One big inning decided each game. In the third round of the first Saginaw sent Morton to the showers with six straight hits, two triples, two singles and two doubles, scoring five runs, the fourth inning of the second Matuzak was taken for four hits, which with a sacrifice fly and an error by Guest, gave Saginaw four runs.

Schrieber was steady all the way in the second round, and in the seventh, while Wayneberg finished strong in the second after an uneasy start. Sensational support was provided by A.C. Harris, Elliott, Dodson, Pike and Miller were the stars in the field. The BLENNHEIM GOING GOOD. BLENNHEIM, July 1.—Blenheim ball fans are delighted with the showing made by their team thus far this season. In the County league they have won 1 to 1, and lost 1 to 1, and they attribute much to breaks of the game being with the fellows.

Harry Gray is pitching good ball and on the whole is receiving good support. A twilight meeting with five events will be on the bill for Monday night, including 100 yard dash, one mile run, running high jump, shot put, and three events will not occur in the score. As regular ones, but special ribbons will be given to the winners of the first three places in each competition. A pennant will be awarded to the individual making the highest all-round score in all events. Every reader should attend this meet.

TIES IN 'Y' RUNNING BROAD. Gray and Heddon Tie For First—Walker and Westman For Second.

Evidently the holiday had some effect on the Y. M. C. A. weekly handicapped meet, since the usual attendance was not on hand to compete in the events.

The first and second place for the running broad jump resulted in a tie between Gray and R. Heddon heading the list with 13 ft. 11 in. D. Walker and D. Westman came next, doing 12 ft. 4 in. R. Burridge got third, making a 19 ft. jump.

A 13 yard half-mile event, scoring from the 80 yard mark, R. Heddon scored next to 20 yards, and R. Burridge made the next best time from 80 yards. L. Gray and W. Wind came fourth and fifth respectively.

SEEKS TO AVERT STRIKE 400,000 "WAY" MEN PLAN

United States Railway Labor Board Expresses Hope That Conference Will Overcome Difficulties.

CLAIMS ARE CONFLICTING

CHICAGO, July 3.—With striking shophmen formally branded by the United States Railroad Labor Board as outlaws, the board tonight directed its efforts toward the prevention of an extension of the walkout of some 400,000 maintenance-of-way men.

Following a meeting of the general executive council of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers in Detroit today to canvass a strike vote, it was announced that the threatened walkout would be held up pending a conference with the labor board in Chicago at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Members of the board expressed strong hopes tonight that the conference would avert a walkout. They declared that the only question at issue was one of wages, and that the way already had been opened for a reconsideration of wage reductions, which went into effect on July 1, simultaneously with the shophmen's walkout.

Basis for Appeal.
At that time Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, announced that the government reports indicated an increase in the cost of living since the board rendered its wage reduction decisions, and that this could be made the basis of an immediate appeal to the board by the employees for wage increases.

Meanwhile conflicting claims continued regarding the number of men involved in the walkout of shophmen. Neither the union leaders nor the railway managers would give any figures, but B. M. Jewell reiterated previous statements that the strike was virtually 100 per cent effective. The railway executives, on the other hand, declared that traffic was being continued practically without interruption, and repeated their assertions that the efficiency of the roads would not be seriously impaired by the walkout for several weeks, and perhaps months. New workers are being recruited to take the places of the strikers, and the opinion of the rail heads was unanimous that there would be no interruption of transportation.

STRIKE AVERTED.

DETROIT, July 3.—The United States Railroad Labor Board today averted, temporarily at least, a threatened strike of 400,000 maintenance-of-way employees of the nation's railroads in protest against a wage reduction.

Just as the executive board of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers was mapping plans to send forth a strike call the labor board made a request by long-distance telephone that the union chiefs meet with the labor board in Chicago tomorrow in an attempt to adjust the differences between the railroads and their employees.

The invitation was accepted and the five members of the union board, with E. F. Grable, international president, left tonight for Chicago. The labor board's invitation to the conference brought to an abrupt end the meeting of the brotherhood board that began at 10 o'clock this morning.

In addition to the brief statement announcing acceptance of the labor board's invitation, Mr. Grable declared that in the event the Chicago conference met with failure a reasonable length of time would be allowed before a strike order was issued. This meant at least ten or twelve hours.

SENATOR WILLING TO DEBATE ISSUE

HAMILTON, July 3.—Senator George S. Lynch-Staunton, K.C., today stated that he had written to J. H. Duthie, secretary of the National Waterways Association of Canada, announcing his willingness to discuss the waterways question in a public debate in September. Senator Staunton recently attacked the project in the Senate, and was challenged to debate it in public.

Sits in British House 22 Years Without Once Arising To Speak

LONDON, July 3.—John Hope, M.P., coalition Liberal member for Berwick, claims to have broken all parliamentary records by having sat in the House of Commons for twenty-two years without making his maiden speech.

He is a regular attendant at the sessions of the house, has survived seven hot elections in his district, proving his popularity there, but his voice has never been heard by his colleagues except in conversation.

When asked today why he never spoke in the house, he said "a man can do more in life by not talking about it. When I first entered the house I never had any other idea but that I would make speeches, but as time has gone on the occasion has never arisen when it would not be just as well to leave the speech undelivered."

He has been tempted more than once and friends have urged him to make his maiden speech, but I have not, simply because it wasn't necessary for the good of the country. Now I am afraid my maiden speech will never be delivered.

His prolonged silence is not due to inability to speak, for Mr. Hope gets along very well conversationally outside the house. He is regarded as a successful member and he says that whenever he wants anything he goes directly to the responsible minister. Because he has never attempted to browbeat ministers across the floor of the house, he has always been received with cordiality and he generally obtains satisfaction. That is one of the reasons Mr. Hope maintains what he calls his successful silence.

WESTERN CROPS BENEFIT BY RAINS

C. P. R. Weekly Report States Weather Conditions Good in All Provinces.

WINNIPEG, July 3.—(By Canadian Press).—Another week of good crop weather has been spread over the West with moderate temperatures, according to the weekly crop report issued today by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. There has been an ample supply of rain in three Prairie Provinces, according to the report. Livestock continues to improve with pastures affording ample sustenance. The Dominion government has not yet issued figures as to this year's flax acreage, but northwest grain dealers estimate that there are 540,000 acres seeded to this crop.

Manitoba has experienced cooler weather with frequent showers during the last week. A large percentage of grain, battered by the storm on June 23, is already showing good recovery. In the southern portion of the province wheat is coming into head, and indicates an early harvest. Rye cutting, it is expected, will commence at a number of points this week. Prospects are good for a heavy hay crop.

Crops are growing well in Saskatchewan. There have been good heavy rains over many sections, amounting in some instances to 75 to over an inch of precipitation. Further moisture is required, however, between Lethbridge and Hawarden, on the Outlook sub-division, Milden and Druif, Kerrobert sub-division also in spots in the northwest, including a few points on Macklin, Cutknife and Wilkie sub-divisions. Wheat in this province is, generally speaking, in shot blade, and heading in some districts. Little damage is reported from grasshoppers.

Crop conditions in Alberta have been greatly improved by the recent general rainfall, particularly in the south, where such rainfall has not been experienced for years. There will be a scarcity of hay in some districts where moisture came too late. Rye has been affected in these places, but will be cut for feed. It is expected there will be an average crop of hay and oats over the province. The grasshopper menace in Alberta is practically over.

REPORTS BUILDING ACTIVITY AT GALT

Issue Eight Permits During June For New Dwellings.

GALT, July 3.—While building operations here this year are not up to those of last, being $80,000 less than for the same period of 1921, still there is considerable activity but not many large buildings being erected. During June, 30 permits were issued, eight for new dwellings, and this is the gratifying feature of the returns, since houses are scarce. The Imperial Oil Company is erecting a $15,000 plant on Dundas street, and Newlands & Company are building a $12,000 addition to their plant. June's operations amounted to $59,940, bringing the total to date to $188,468.50.

The Ontario government's hotel and tourist traffic committee is to hold a session here Tuesday afternoon to cover Waterloo County conditions, and in the evening this special parliamentary body will be joined by the board of trade at the Iroquois Hotel.

John Perrin passed away Sunday at his home, 248 East Main street, after two months' illness. He was in his 80th year, was born in Wentworth County, and but for eight years spent in Newmarket, had spent practically all his life in this district farming, until 1905, when he retired to live in Galt. A widow, three sons and one daughter survive.

Galt veterans took part in the memorial and decoration service of the Ayr branch of the G. W. V. A.

During a recent electrical storm the barn of W. Sage, near Blair, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed along with ten fat hogs.

WILL LAY CORNER- STONE IN PRESTON

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, July 3.—An important event in the history of Methodism in Preston is scheduled for Wednesday evening, when the cornerstone of the fine new Sunday school building now in the course of construction will be laid. Rev. F. Langford, B.A., Toronto, general secretary of Sunday schools and young people's societies in Canada, will be the principal speaker.

CATTLE EMBARGO TO BE DISCUSSED

British House of Commons Clears Way For Important Debates.

LONDON, July 3.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The House of Commons today was engaged in clearing off a number of minor bills in order to leave the way clear, as far as possible, for the more important debates, among which is included that on the proposal to remove the embargo on Canadian store cattle.

The teachers' superannuation bill, which occasioned a government defeat earlier in the session, is now assured of passage in view of a compromise which had been virtually reached between the government and the teachers, and as a result of which the second reading of the bill was voted today by 210 to 54.

The indisposition of Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, the government leader, which kept him away from the house last week, seems to be more serious than was at first supposed. He will not be allowed to leave his room this week. In his absence Premier Lloyd George is leading the house, and is in regular attendance each day.

HOSPITAL AT PARIS FORMALLY OPENED

Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt Gives Short Address At Inaugural Ceremonies.

PARIS, July 3.—The formal opening of the new Willett Hospital took place Saturday afternoon before his honor the lieutenant-governor at 2:30 p.m.

The hospital is named after the late Mrs. Willett, and is delightfully situated on the outskirts of the town. The hospital was decorated with flags and bunting, and made a gala appearance.

Mr. C. B. Robinson was chairman, and called upon the lieutenant-governor for a short address. The other speakers were Mr. C. B. Robinson, H. C. Nixon, Dr. Dunton, John Harold, Senator Fisher, Mayor Rehder, Mayor Parker of Brantford.

The cost of this much-needed hospital is approximately $35,000, including furnishings.

The main construction outlay is provided for under the will of the late Mrs. Willett, who donated $15,000 for the building, and an additional $5,000 for its maintenance.

The citizens of Paris, by public vote, have agreed to contribute $18,000 and the maintenance of it.

A gift of the late Dr. Frank Burt of $6,000 will also be devoted to hospital purposes. The Sanderson-Harold Company have furnished the public ward. Miss Hope Dunton has also furnished a ward. Other wards were furnished by the Red Cross, Moyle-Tranquility, Women's Institute, Falkland Women's Institute, Mrs. Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Huson.

The Paris Club of Toronto presented the hospital with an operating table, Mayo rack and instrument cabinet.

No confirmation has been made in the appointment to any one of these half dozen or so jobs since a year ago. A good deal of interference with efficiency has resulted, according to the officials, both in this department and in the postoffice, because the appointments are hanging fire, and through the lack of the official stamp upon the men in office.

POSTOFFICE APPOINTMENTS STILL REMAIN TEMPORARY

Officials in the district postal superintendent's office in London wonder at the permanency of their positions.

This office was reorganized one year ago, and owing to a vacancy at the top, every person in the office shifted to a higher position on the understanding that they were appointed to their offices pro tem.

No confirmation has been made in the appointment to any one of these half dozen or so jobs since a year ago. A good deal of interference with efficiency has resulted, according to the officials, both in this department and in the postoffice, because the appointments are hanging fire, and through the lack of the official stamp upon the men in office.

DONATES FARM TO AID FAMINE FUND

MOOSE JAW, July 3.—The sale of a half-section of land near Limerick, which was donated by a citizen of Moose Jaw, who requests that he remain "anonymous," to the Russian Save-the-Children Fund, has netted the fund $4,800.

The sale of the land was put through the latter part of last week, and a good deal of interference with efficiency has resulted, according to the officials, both in this department and in the postoffice, because the appointments are hanging fire, and through the lack of the official stamp upon the men in office.

TRY TO COLLECT $25,000 POLICY

Delorme Family Considering Steps To Obtain Slain Boy's Insurance.

Council of Beneficiaries Will Be Held To Decide Upon Action.

MONTREAL, July 3.—Just as the trial of Father Adelard Delorme wrote new and strange history in Canadian criminal annals, so, too, will the intended collection of the $25,000 insurance policy which was taken out on the life of the slain boy, Raoul, by Father Delorme, usher in another case celebre, this time in the civil courts.

As yet the application for the $25,000 has not been made by the Delorme heirs or their administrator, but a family council is scheduled to be held this week, when the formal application will be drafted and sent to the L. A. Sauvageard Insurance Company for payment of the entire amount. Part of the amount will be sought from the Sun Life Assurance Company, which divided the policy with the first-mentioned company.

Officials of the Sauvageard Company were reluctant to commit themselves upon their possible course of action when the application would be made, claiming that they were not yet certain whether any attempt would be made by Delorme's sisters or L. G. Gaudreau, Delorme's rent-collector and administrator, to collect the $25,000.

The same officials at Sauvageard headquarters agreed that the case was without precedent. There have been cases, of course, it has been pointed out, where beneficiaries have murdered policyholders in order to collect the benefit, also cases where a beneficiary conspired for the death of an insured party, but Delorme's case comes under neither of these classifications.

It was admitted to the asylum without being tried on the charge of murder, although indicted by the grand jury.

Will Have Wine Cellar.
Judge Monet, who heard the case against Delorme, today sent copies of the insanity verdict to the authorities. A life of ease awaits Delorme after his transfer to an asylum. "He will enjoy a private apartment, have his own private wine and liquor cellar, and everything he enjoyed in his own home," except his liberty.

It will not be possible, moreover, for his family or any representative to secure his liberty should he ever be pronounced as recovered. Delorme has announced that he intends writing the history of his life for the papers as a way of showing he is entirely innocent of the crime with which he was charged.

OMNIBUS DRIVERS FACE TEST CASES

Woodstock Magistrate Reserves Judgment in Action by Street Railwayman.

WOODSTOCK, July 3.—Magistrate Bell reserved judgment for one week in the action taken by James Fallowfield, an employee of the local street railway against S. E. Lawson, a driver for the Canadian Highway Transit Company, operated by R. E. Wagon of this city, between Woodstock and Ingersoll.

Lawson was charged with unlawfully, while in charge of and driving an omnibus No. C-17-317, refusing to take the informant James Fallowfield to a point three miles from the city of Woodstock, as required by the license in pursuance of the bylaws of the police commissioners of the city of Woodstock.

Prefer Other Charges.

Similar charges were also preferred against Bert Adams and Verne Walker, two other drivers for the same company, but these charges were adjourned until September 15. J. M. McEvoy of London, was counsel for the Canadian Highway Transit Company, and W. T. McMullen, K.C., appeared for the city.

At the conclusion of the evidence taken in the first charge, Mr. McMullen pointed out that these cases were in the nature of test cases and he suggested that the other two charges be adjourned until September 15. Mr. McEvoy agreed to this arrangement.

Admitted Test Case.

City Clerk Morrison, Mr. Fallowfield and Mr. Warren gave evidence. The clerk told about issuing bus licenses on April 1, 24 and 29 to Mr. Warren. Mr. Fallowfield admitted that he had asked Lawson to take him to a point off the regular route of the motor bus just to see if he would do so, and Mr. Warren explained that Lawson was in his employ with instructions to drive between Woodstock and Ingersoll only. Considerable interest was manifested in the case and the courtroom was packed.

OTTAWA, July 3.—Rain interfered

Children Escape Unhurt.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs.

Robert Wilson, who were riding in the machine, escaped with nothing more than a bad shaking-up. The car in which they were traveling was badly wrecked, and eye-witnesses of the accident state that it was a miracle that the whole party were not instantly killed.

The crossing where the mishap occurred is about a quarter of a mile from the G. T. R. depot, and as it is customary for trains to go very slowly through the city yards, it is estimated that the locomotive was not traveling more than twelve miles an hour when it struck the car, which was dragged about 20 feet along the tracks before the engine was brought to a standstill.

Failed to See Train.

There is a slight grade on Dublin street leading up to the railway tracks, and it is believed that Robert Wilson, who was driving the machine, either stalled his engine after reaching the tracks, or failed to see the approaching train.

At the hospital tonight the three patients were reported to be resting nicely, although it will probably be a day or two before the full nature of their injuries is ascertained.

Loss of Six Lives.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 3.—

Investigation from four sources was under way tonight to place responsibility for the wreck of a Philadelphia and Reading Railway train shortly after midnight last night at Winslow

Junction, near here, which cost the lives of six persons and injuries to more than 65 others.

The wrecked train was the "Midnight Flyer," which left Camden at 11:40 p.m., and was due in Atlantic

City at 12:55 a.m. The smash occurred on the Cape May-Wildwood branch when the train, running at full speed, crashed into an open switch leading off from the main line to the Cape May line. The engine left the rails on the curve and catapaulted down an embankment, taking with it five of the six cars it drew.

The Cape May switch had been opened by mistake and John Dewalt,

60-year-old towerman at Winslow

Junction, is under surveillance by the state police. He is in bed at his

MAY USE SQUAD OF CYCLE 'COPS'

Will Act As Enforcers of O. T. A. Traffic and Criminal Laws.

States Use of Motor Cars by Bandits Make New Force Essential.

TORONTO, July 3.—The addition to the provincial police force of a squad of thirty motorcycle policemen and the establishment of a central bureau for the filing of criminal records on the Bertillon system are two of the changes at present being considered by police officials at the parliament buildings.

Although plans have not yet been perfected, it is proposed that the motorcycle squad should act in a triple capacity—as enforcers of the traffic laws, the O. T. A. and the ordinary criminal law. At the present time the traffic laws are under the administration of the highways department, which has fifteen men patrolling the provincial highways.

The relation of the proposed force to this feature of their work is to be the subject of discussion between General Victor Williams, provincial police commissioner, and Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of highways, during the week.

Touching on the addition of the motorcycle squad to the police force, the commissioner stated that the increased use of motor cars by criminals made it absolutely essential that the police be equipped with a similar high-powered means of transportation.

Under the proposed plan the province would be divided into districts, who would watch all likely routes of escape. Under such a system, pointed out General Williams, escape, once a crime was known, would be much more difficult than at present.

The motorcycle "cops" would also keep an eye out for supplies via the highways. The commissioner further explained that if the scheme went through the men in each district would have complete responsibility for enforcing the law on the roads within that district. Headquarters would be established in each of the districts, where the patrolmen might be found by the public when not actually on the road.

LEARNING TO DRIVE CAR, AUTOIST RUNS INTO TREE

Patrick Buckley of Mooserville Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury.

Special to London Advertiser.

CLANDEBOYE, July 3.—Two auto accidents occurred near the village over the week-end.

Patrick Buckley of Mooserville, learning to drive his car, lost control of the steering and ran into a tree, smashing the car rather badly. Several children who were enjoying a ride, were badly shaken up and bruised, but fortunately no one was seriously hurt.

On Lewis's side road, north of the village, a collision occurred between the cars of William Gibson, Clandeboye, and Walter Lewis of Mooserville. Mr. Gibson's car had the front wheel, fenders and running board of the one side torn off. Mr. Lewis's car had the front axle twisted so badly that the car made a complete turn around before it could be stopped.

Fortunately no one was injured beyond some bruises and the inevitable bad shock. Both cars need a lot of repairs.

TO HOLD PICNIC JULY 29

St. Andrew's Society Arranges Attractive Program For Annual Outing at Springbank.

St. Andrew's Society of the city has decided to hold its annual picnic at Springbank on July 29. A delightful time can be looked forward to by old and new friends. Extra attractions have been added to the usual long list of sports, a special feature of the day being the football match between the famous St. Andrews team and the St. Johns Rovers of St. Thomas. Both teams are at the top of their form, and a good and fast game can be looked forward to.

It is expected that Miss McIvor of Cleveland, Ohio, will again compete in the Highland dancing for the St. Andrew's Trophy cup, which she has already won two years in succession, and which must be won in three successive years before becoming the property of the winner. The pavilion has been hired for the evening to hold a genuine old Scotch dance, and it is hoped that this day will be a great reunion of all clans and friends.

CAR FALLS OVER EMBANKMENT

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, July 3.—Probably one of the most miraculous escapes from what seemed certain death occurred at Chichester last night, when an unknown motorist and party en route to Detroit struck a rock on the road which turned the car over a 125-foot embankment. The car plunged down the embankment, the motorist sustaining as it fell. One of the occupants only was hurt, receiving a severe gash beside the left ear. The driver was none the worse for his experience, and the car received only slight damage. A local garage was called, and after minor repairs had been made the car was able to proceed under its own power. None of the principals in the accident would divulge their names to the garage man.

A summer day is long in Algonquin Park, inviting to out-door pastimes of all descriptions. The nights are cool and restful, with clear lakes reflecting the great stars that hang low in the Northern skies, and there is silence, except for an occasional futed call, the dip of feeding trout or bass and the subdued song of water and stirring leaves. BREAKS ANKLE AT PT. STANLEY HILL

While walking on the steep hill at Port Stanley late Monday, Mrs. Herbert Henderson, 694 Waterloo street, broke her ankle. She was brought to London and admitted to Victoria Hospital about midnight. She is reported to be progressing favorably.

YOUTH HURT AS HE LEANED FROM CAR

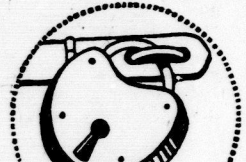

When the last street car from Springbank Park reached the York street bridge Monday night, Clifford Weir, 19 years old, 274 Grey street, leaned out too far and struck his head against the bridge. His face was badly cut, and it is believed that his nose was broken. He is reported to have fallen off the car after it had crossed the bridge. After being given medical attention he was removed to his home.
