Intimates That He Had a Rum for His Money and Enjoyed the Fun Immensely.

Chicago, June 1. - A dispatch from Washington to the Chicago Record-

Herald says: The financial and political collapse of the Hearst presidential boom is the talk of the hour. Little surprise expressed here when news came from St. Louis that Mr. Hearst had canceled his contract for 150 hotel rooms during the convention week in that city, and that he had informed his lieutenants that no more funds would be furnished for political operations. It had been understood here for some time that Hearst was nearly at the end of his string, so far as spending money for delegates was concerned, and that the hour was near at hand when he would find it necessary to cut off his campaign expenses and husband his resources in taking care of his newspaper enterprises. According to the version given by the Washigton Post, a paper which from the first has been friendly to Hearst, in letter to A. M. Lucas at St. Louis, M.

"If the people want me they can Report of Canadian Northern Railhave me; if they don't want me I don't want the place." In other words, Mr. learst has discovered at last that the

But the political organization which Hearst had built up almost entirely by the use of money was nis such enormous demands that some thing had to be done to avert a general smash, and Mr. Hearst wisely conluded to drop politics and attend to his legitimate business interests. About three weeks ago Ex-Congressan Lentz, of Ohio, and other friends of Hearst came back from New York nd reported that the self-made candilion, or at least a large sum of money, Emperor William and the system of and that the chase of the presidency would continue as before. This was personal government.

Thus comes the inglorious end of the most extraordinary and picturesque novement known to the history of American politics. Hearst's candidac for the presidency was born in the brain of Hearst himself. He fed it with his money. That was about all there was to it-his newspapers and his bank-book. If the full history of this wonderful effort could be written it would make a startling tale-a story of how one nervy man set out to put himself into the White House, and by sheer force of cheek and intrepidity managed to make himself the most talked-of man in America, and to plunge the Democratic party in more than a score of states and in a thousand counties into a Kilkenny sort of fight, in which his followers wielded their sticks as lustily as their oppon-ents. A Sudden Conversion.

A measure of sympathy is due number of Conservative M. P.'s and newspaper organs compelled to suddenly change their tune on the transportation question. The case of our A day or two before Mr. Borden struck the new keypote, our neighbor was sounding a dirge over the fate of the country if the Grand Trunk Pacific contract went through. It told us that "all disinterested men of knowledge," including our neighbor of course, believed the road would fail to pay. In any event it would lay an annual interest charge of $8,000,000 cn the country, which might rise to $5,000,000 more by the demand for maintenance in consequence of the failure of the line striking example. to pay its way. The result would be a sorry day of reckoning for Canada.

This counsel of despair has suddenly given away to a glowing faith in the prospects of a railroad 200 miles longer from Winnipeg to Halifax-the lean half of the line. We are now told that the profits of a transcontinental line should go to the country and not to add to the wealth and influence of the gentlemen who are promoting the Grand Trunk Pacific. It is something fraud. The numbered ballot is a great to have this confession that the G. T. deal better than its reputation. P. will add to the wealth of its promoters. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished because it will mean that the road is footing its bills and that the country will have no interest charges to meet seven years after the line is completed. If Mr. Borden is the magician who has dispelled this fog of doubt and gloom that weighed on the spirits of his followers and converted Jim Dumps into Sunny Jim, he is entitled to some credit. The suddenness of the change a change for the better.

He likened the encounters of Christianity along. There was the temperance conflict upon them, which, he thought, was greater than it ever was before. And then there was the Sabbath conflictmen were saying that things should be free. An instance of the bursting energy was the attempt to run an electric line between Brantford and Paris. where the men who were fighting against morality had organized a pleasure-ground between the towns, where the worldlings could have their delights on God's holy day. The church was finding greater difficulties every day, but they would not be driven out. It was God's world. Dr. Carman took up the matter Westminster-R. Just to know what to do was a matter of consideration with him, but as to revivals, if he felt anyone could point to a grander view of heaven, he would welcome him to his church. But what was being felt more now was the personal element in the church work. The Methodist Church, too, was doing great work in teaching. The study of the Word was not only being carried on among the people, but in the Sunday schools there was a system that was a credit to the Methodist Church. WHAT the brand,—"Joseph Rodgers, Sheffield,"—signifies on a knife blade, the slate frame brand of—"The Slater Shoe "-signifies on a shoe sole.

But don't confuse mere personal names with registered brands! The advantage of a brand, depends entirely upon its record for merit, established by the years certain goods have been publicly tested under that brand. And, when such a brand has become a passport to people's confidence, there creeps in a species of piracy, which trades upon that confidence, by the selling of unknown goods, at a long profit, under some name which sounds like that of the brand. This is how heedless Consumers are snared, and sold, and

No purchaser should accept a blind excuse from a Retailer for the absence of the advertised trade mark, and the presence of something which resembles it superficially, but is not it legally.

There are thousands of men named "Rodgers," but there is only one standard brand of "Rodger's Cutlery," as there is only one standard brand of "The Slater Shoe."

If these words-"The Slater Shoe," are not stamped on the sole in a slate frame, it is not a genuine "Slater Shoe." and you buy it at your own risk.

The Slater Shoe Co. do not stand behind any but their own make—the shoe with a five year record of fixed value and uniform quality.

When you get the slate frame brand of "The Slater Shoe," stamped on the soles with the Makers price, you get the responsible, Goodyear Welted article.

Mondays, and was justified by the advanced state of private business. The report that large numbers of European immigrants wno have recently arrived in Canada are penniless was brought to the attention of the House by Mr. E. F. Clarke, and the subject of pauper immigration was thrashed out. The debate disclosed the fact that the rigid, and that the class of immigrants arriving are desirable, Mr. R. L. Borden taking advantage of the oppor tunity to speak of the excellence of the Galician settlers. Mr. Sifton, in response to suggestions from both sides of the House, promised to see what could be done in the way of distributing immigrants now seeking employment among the different provinces. The advisability of making Port Arthur and Fort William free ports was suggested during the debate upon mission for those ports. Sir Richard measure respecting the payments of bounties upon lead-bearing ores smelted in Canada, informed the House that the measure of last session had

The bill providing for the establishof a protracted discussion, members of the Opposition objecting to the Government undertaking to appoint a commisison. Mr. Prefontaine and Sir Wilfrid Laurier pionted out that this bil and a similar measure relating to the harbor at Fort William had been intro those thriving and rapidly growing centers of commerce. The Premier argued that the people of these towns might safely be intrusted with the management of their harbor, with confidence that they would so shape their policy as to attract all the trade pos-

Mr. R. L. Borden said it was a ques tion whether these ports of Fort Wil-liam and Port Arthur should not be as the west was interested in building up and developing the Canadian route. He suggested that the bill be not push ed at present, but that the Government ake time to consider the question. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the question of assuming the burden of providing free harbors at these ports was vorthy of serious consideration. That phase of the question had not been considered by the Government, the bill having been introduced at the request of the local authorities, and it involved an important and wide-reaching question of policy. All were agreed, however, that these harbors must be developed, and he thought the Government could not do better at bresent than develop them on the lines suggested by the residents and on a similar plan to that upon which all other Canadian ports had been developed. Eighty Musicians Gather to Hear a Recital by Miss Cawthorpe.

About 80 musicians were the guest of Mr. W. H. Hewlett last night, at the Nordheimer piano warerooms, the occasion being a recital by Miss Nellie Cawthorpe, of Thamesford. This young lady is completing her work, so auspiciously carried on so far, in Berlin Germany, and leaves next August to take up her studies there. Her Thamesford friends may well share the pride that Mr. Hewlett naturally takes in his talented pupil. She is a young girl, but of splendid physique, displaying in her interpretations that virility so often wanting in even maturer players, but combining with a soft and pure resonant tone. The Tschaikowski concerto was, of course, the principal work of the evening, and the bold rugged climaxes, as well as the delicate bravoura and dainty rythms that form a large part of the movement given, received adepower. Again, the movement was calculated to tax, especially a young planist, to the utmost in the matter of rythm, but Miss Cawthorp satisfied each occasion.

The D flat etude of Liszt, and the 'Revolutionary" etude of Chopin, were numbers which of themselves would have entitled Miss Cawthorpe attention by reason of her unerring technic and mature interpretation. Her ver-satility in the latter line, was favor-ably brought out in the "Vogel als Prophet" of Schumann, and the "Reverie" of Strauss. In fact, everything from the brilliant left hand work in Donezetti-Lesche-tizky "Finale," to the melody work in a brilliant future to her, and the sincerest good wishes are extended to her. Miss Margaret B. McCoy contributed an original little song by Mr. Hewlett, and very dramatic number by Arthur Foote. This young artist was equally well received, and equally fortunate in the striking variety of style exemplified in her three numbers. The programme was admirably rounded out by her numbers.

Mr. Hewlett, though suffering
