CONFEDERATION OF CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND ISLAND

Discussed at a Dinner in London, the Question Being One of Terms—Premier Bond is Willing to Exert Himself.

London, July 16.—The Canada Club dinner to-night was attended by the colonial premiers now in London, and many other distinguished guests. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Canadian High Commissioner in London, presided.

The Right Hon. Edmund Barton, Prime Minister of the Commonwealth of Australia, in the course of an address, made the first public reference to the plan for the Confederation of Newfoundland and Canada mentioned in these despatches. The Australian premier said he hoped that all obstacles in the way of Newfoundland joining the Dominion would be removed.

Sir Robert Bond, Prime Minister of Newfoundland, replying, dwelt upon the great strategic value of Newfoundland, which, he said, stood as a sentinel at the gateway to the internal waters of Canada. He traced the phenomenal recuperative powers of the island, and referred to its present prosperity, declaring the question of Confederation to be one of terms. "If," said Sir Robert, "the terms are advantageous to the people of Newfoundland I shall feel it my duty to lay the proposal before my people, and, if necessary, exert myself to bring the Confederation about. We are not jealous of Canada."

The Associated Press, however, is in a position to state that there is little likelihood of Canada's offering terms which Prime Minister Bond should present to the Newfoundland Legislature.

Curious features of the affair were that neither Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Prime Minister; the Canadian Government, nor the Imperial Government has yet mentioned the matter to Premier Bond or his ministers, and that the ball should have been started rolling by Premier Barton.

AWFUL UTAH MINE HORROR

Exploding Powder Magazines Cause Great Loss of Life in the Daly-West.

Grief-Stricken Women and Children Throng the Shaft in Search of Lost Ones.

Park City, Utah, July 16.—Two powder magazines at the 1,200 foot level of the Daly-West mine, one of the largest silver producers in Utah, exploded about 1 o'clock this morning, causing a loss of life that at present cannot be estimated nor even guessed at.

At 4 o'clock 27 men had been taken out of the mine dead, and several others had been discovered in a half-dazed condition.

These were all brought out through the Ontario mine shaft, which is a mile distant from the Daly-West, in which the explosion occurred. The 1,200 level of the Daly-West corresponds to and is connected by tunnel with the 600 level of the Ontario.

In the Daly-West mine between 100 and 150 men were at work. In the Ontario were nearly 100, it is believed.

It is not known how many of these are dead, but the disaster extends to the Ontario, as the noxious gases that have been freed are known to be the cause of several of the deaths.

The presence of these gases leads many miners to believe that the powder was burned and that the explosion was not the chief cause of the disaster.

There are two powder magazines at the 1,200 foot level of the Daly-West, one at each side of the shaft, with a capacity of from one to two cars of powder each. A car of powder was added to the supply within the past few days.

The explosion which occurred at 1 o'clock was so tremendous that it awakened everyone within a radius of miles. As an example of its awful force, it is said that two horses in the mine tunnel, one and a half miles away, were killed by it.

Women and children are thronging to the Ontario shaft house, which is midway between Park City and the Daly-West. Nearly all of them have husbands or fathers in the mines and their grief is pitiable.

All the doctors in town are at the mines. They are doing what they can to resuscitate the unconscious men as they are taken out, but it is difficult to obtain information down town, as the telephone to the mine has failed.

Members of the relief party who went into the Ontario mine shortly after the explosion occurred have not yet returned and fears are entertained for their safety.

MARRIED IN HOWARD

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Scarlett, 12th concession, Howard, last evening, Miss Bella Wells was united in marriage to D. C. Blackburn an employe of C. Aussen & Co. The happy couple will reside in the Maple City.

SAD DEMISE

Miss Gertrude Wanless, aged 27 years, died this morning at the residence of her father, James Wanless, King street. Deceased has been ill for some time. The funeral will take place on Sunday.

TO BE EXTRADITED

Detective Murray was in the city to-day. He has just returned from Indiana, where he secured the arrest of Wm. Ackert and Benjamin Riley. These men have been wanted for several years on the charge of stealing ing seed from David Hastings, near Rondeau.

They will have to be extradited. The extradition proceedings have been adjourned until July 22nd.

PITCHER SHOT BY UMPIRE

Started a Wrangle, but the Umpire Pulled a Gun and Cut Loose.

Pitcher Whallen is Dying and the Mob Wanted to Lynch Umpire Derrett.

Camerton, Indiana, July 16.—During a ball game here, Arthur Derrett, umpire, shot and fatally wounded William Whallen, the pitcher.

The game was played between the Owensboro and Camerton teams. In the last inning Whallen was at the bat and took exception to a ruling made by Derrett. After several words had passed the quarrel ceased.

Whallen hit a fly and started to first base when, it is alleged, Derrett pulled his pistol and shot him twice in the back. The wounded man fell and the crowd gathered about Derrett and there were cries of "lynch him."

The town marshal swore in several deputies and soon Derrett was locked up in the Camerton jail. He is about 26 years old. There is a strong feeling against Derrett, but the sheriff says he does not fear mob violence.

BRITISH CABINET CHANGE

The retirement of the marquis of Salisbury from the premiership and the resignation of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach from the Finance department of Great Britain are momentous events in a sense, and yet there is no reason to suppose any friction has arisen in the imperial cabinet, points out the St. Thomas Times. Lord Salisbury has served his country for many years, and has doubtless been one of the foremost of British statesmen. Schooled under the Earl of Derby and Mr. Disraeli, it need not be wondered at that he became one of the ablest of statesmen. Three times he has been premier of Great Britain his latest term having begun in 1895. It is worthy of remark that while the Conservatives have been in power in Great Britain, there has been less carping on the part of the continental nations than when Radicals held sway, whether Gladstone or Rosebery was at the head of affairs. With Salisbury in charge of the Foreign Office, Great Britain has always been respected by the foreign nations and by the recalcitrant Irish Nationalists. They all hated him, but they feared him. Russia alone understood that it was not safe to encroach upon India when a Tory government was in power. France knew that there would be no weak-kneed policy in regard to Egypt when Salisbury was at the British helm.

The ex-premier was always moderate in his utterances, and yet there was no mistaking his attitude. His speeches at the Lord Mayor's annual banquet were always awaited with the utmost eagerness by the whole world; and many a vexed question, about which the nation had worked itself into a frenzy, has been settled by a decisive pronouncement by Lord Salisbury at Guildhall. All Canada will remember with what a sigh of relief his declaration at the banquet of 1901 was received, when, after the correspondence of New York had been predicting a modified policy in regard to the Boers, his Lordship, who had been ill for some time, set the question at rest by stating plainly that the war would be pursued to a conclusion on the lines at first laid down—that meant that Britain would conquer the Boers, no matter what the cost.

All having been said and done, and all the honor that can come to any statesman having come to Lord Salisbury, he can safely lay down the reins and spend his remaining days with his books and his memories, and in pursuing his hobby of chemistry.

Still, it may be said that the end of activity has not yet come for this remarkable son of the House of Cecil, nor need his career be reviewed now, though he has never shown greater than at present. He will rank as one of Britain's greatest premiers; and while the glamour of Gladstone has faded, Salisbury can be appreciated at his true worth. He knows continental Europe and its politics perhaps better than those of his own country. He has always been industrious, resourceful and courageous, and will be honored in his retirement by the nation at large.

There may be something behind the resignation of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. He is inclined to be pessimistic, and made many a very false statement to finance the war; yet as to his capability there can be only one opinion. He is one of the greatest financiers of this or any other age. It has been hinted that he and the War Office and Mr. Chamberlain have not got along harmoniously. That may be true, but British statesmen have a quiet way of covering up their differences, and the business of the nation moves along without any outward sign of friction.

SPOILED AND RESTORED.

The Canadian Gazette, published in London, England, gives the following poor version of a good story:—"Sir Wilfrid Laurier's visit to England recalls a story showing the influence wielded by the Canadian premier. An old French habitant, in a remote part of Canada, was told that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would probably meet the Prince of Wales. 'He's a lucky man,' said the habitant, referring, as appeared later, to the Prince of Wales. He was asked why. 'Why,' said the girl peasant, in the common phrase of the country, 'what a pull he will get on Laurier.' He could imagine no greater fortune than political influence with the most powerful man in Canada—therefore in the world."

And the Hamilton Spectator thus restores the yarn to its original setting:—"The original story illustrates, not the influence wielded by the Canadian premier, but the influence used by office seekers upon the premier, and runs this way: The old habitant, learning that Queen Victoria was dead, asked who had taken 'de job' thus left vacant. Being told that it was the Prince of Wales, he exclaimed: 'My! Wat a pool (pull) he moost haf on Loryay!'"

DR. HOLLAND'S PLAGIARISM.

Sarnia Canadian.
"Canada wants men," was what Hon. Mr. Ross remarked in the justly celebrated poem which the late Dr. J. G. Holland copied from Mr. Ross several years before Mr. Ross wrote it. Canada never wanted men so badly as Mr. Ross wants one or two just now on the Reform side of the house.

BUILD UP MICHIGAN.

Toronto Telegram.
Michigan changes its executive government every two, or at most every four years.

Michigan never gave Mr. Clergue as much land as a ten cent piece would cover, or as much money as would cover ten cents' worth of land.

Yet the latest despatches credit the Clergue syndicate with a willingness to spend $2,500,000 in the erection of the largest paper mill in the world. Of course this miracle of a paper mill is to be erected at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in a province and a country which have given a kingdom in lands and minerals and money to its benefactors.

Alas, no. The great Clergue paper mill is to adorn Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—a state which has given nothing to the Clergue syndicate, and Ontario is to be built up by the withdrawal of her raw material to feed a Yankee paper mill.

Michigan gets everything from the Clergue syndicate and gives nothing to its benefactors. Ontario gives everything to Mr. Clergue, and according to the latest announcements, is to be utilized as a beaver of wood and a drawer of water for Mr. Clergue's Michigan industries.

When the benefits Ontario has conferred upon Mr. Clergue are contrasted with the benefits Michigan has received without conferring anything upon Mr. Clergue, Ontario would seem to have been represented by a lot of prattling babes and Michigan by a race of able-bodied statesmen.

HE GOT THE GOODS.

A Business Deal Between Potter Palmer and A. T. Stewart.

"At the time of the civil war," said an old merchant, "Potter Palmer was in the dry goods business in Chicago, and Levi Z. Leiter and Marshall Field were working for him. Palmer wasn't so well known, but he had a good reputation in the trade, and he didn't have to introduce himself when he called on old A. T. Stewart to buy some goods. After some dickering they agreed upon the price, and Palmer finally said that he would take about $100,000 worth. It was a little larger bill than Stewart exactly cared to sell young Palmer on credit, but he concluded to make the deal and told him to come in the next morning and arrange some final details. That night some big war news came, and it didn't require any declaration by the government to inform every dry goods man in the country that the price of goods would take a big spurt up. Stewart recognized it as soon as he had the news, and he immediately thought of Palmer. He also thought of the big bill of goods Palmer had bought of him. It didn't particularly tickle Stewart, that thought didn't. But it required only a few scratches of his red head to fix things to his satisfaction. He would simply tell Palmer that he was sorry, but that he didn't feel that he could sell such a big bill on credit, and as he knew that Palmer couldn't raise the cash immediately, why, that would end it, and the sale would be off. Well, young Palmer called early, and Stewart greeted him in his very abruptest manner, telling him how sorry he was, etc., but really he didn't think it wise business to extend credit for such an amount.

"Just how much does the bill come to?" said young Palmer, seemingly sorrowful-like.

"Just $110,000," Stewart replied, and then he straightway gulped for breath as young Palmer drew an immense pocketbook from his inside vest pocket and, opening it, counted out 110 thousand dollar bills and, laying them quietly on Stewart's desk, said: "If you will kindly count them and give me a receipt, I'll be obliged, as I must take the next train home. Ship the goods soon as you can, and when you're out our way drop in. Always glad to see our friends."

AROUND THE HOUSE.

If marks and stains are on papered walls, try French chalk on a piece of dry bread gently rubbed in.

To keep hardwood floors smooth and clean rub them with waste and warm paraffin oil and polish with dry waste. Muslin curtains may be rendered less inflammable by rinsing them in alum water—two ounces of alum to one gallon of water.

To clean mirrors dip a cloth in methylated spirits and rub on the mirror. Allow it to dry on before polishing with a soft duster.

Galvanized iron pails for drinking water should not be used. The zinc coating is rapidly acted upon by the water, forming a poisonous oxide of zinc.

Make a splendid furniture polish by taking a wineglassful of olive oil, one of vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of alcohol; apply with a soft cloth and polish with flannel or carpets can be cleaned thoroughly by generously sprinkling on them yellow cornmeal that has been well dampened in clean soapsuds or weak ammonia water. Sweep off in a few minutes.

Sensory Transmission.

It has been found that sensation is not absolutely instantaneous, but that a very minute time elapses as it travels along the nerves. Therefore, if a person put his finger to a heated iron in the blaze of a candle there is a certain almost inconceivably small space of time, say the one-thousandth part of a second, before the brain knows of the burn. Now, suppose a man with an arm long enough to reach the sun. From the known rate of sensory transmission that man would have to live more than 100 years after touching the great luminary before he would be scorched!

Showed It Clearly.

A man who was called on to address a Sunday school in a Pennsylvania town took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the poor old prophet, and how they were punished when the two she bears came out of the wood and ate forty-two of them. "And now, children," said the speaker, wishing to learn if his talk had produced any moral effect, "what does this story show?"

"Please, sir," came from a little girl well down in front, "it shows how many children two she bears can hold!"

PEACE ON PICCADILLY.

Hello, Peace! Glad to see you! Get out of that back! But what are you doing With your hair down your back And your white robe all dirty And your left eye all black?

Shake hands, my old sweetheart! What you doing in town? You came to see Edward! Get into his crowd? Quite right, to be sure. But, oh, what a gown!

Oh, yes, I catch on. You've been down on your luck. And it's pretty good guessing You've been in the muck; But you'll be all right. If you keep up your pluck.

Three years you've been missing. And your clothing was rumpled. A little, I fear! But we're all very glad To have you back here.

So do up your tresses And get some new things And paint your ruined optic Queen St., Dr. Sivewright's late residence.

Forget and forgive, dear! Come back to your own. Perhaps you feel sore. But don't make it known. You'll be all right and comfy When the King's on his throne.

ONE DAY AT A TIME.

We carry too often the burden that we're Was meant for this day, not the next day, to bear. How often we borrow the ills we deplore, And shrink from the woes that we're darkening our door. Such worry's a sin; let's be quit of it at a time. By living one day, just one day, at a time.

A day at a time—that's enough, if we know. To spend all our strength on, and anxious thought, too! Its tasks and its trials, its varied demands Are all we can handle with one pair of hands.

Each day duly lived makes the record sublime; God perfects us slowly—one day at a time. Then let to-morrow stand waiting, I say, And deal with each one when its name is today.

The best preparation the future can ask Is doing one's best with to-day and its task. Life's highest and best, that's the peak we climb. By faithfullest footsteps—one day at a time.

—James Buchanan.

LORD DUNDONALD SAILS.

London, July 15.—Major-General Lord Dundonald, who commanded the second cavalry brigade at the relief of Ladysmith, Natal, sailed to-day from Liverpool for Montreal on board the steamer Lake Champlain, in order to take over the command of the Canadian militia.

SOUTHERN TRAGEDIES.

Stockbridge, Ga., July 15.—Four negro women engaged in a duel with razors at the door of a church here. Dollie Miller was cut to death and Rachel Roberts was seriously wounded. Jealousy was the cause of the fight.

Columbia, S. C., July 15.—In a riot between whites and blacks at Orangeburg, in which knives and pistols were freely used, Isaac Smith (colored) was killed and several others were wounded. It is said the negro was non-combatant. The exact cause of the trouble is not known.

IRISH DOMESTICS TO EMIGRATE.

Toronto, July 15.—Advises have been received from Peter Byrne, Ontario immigration agent in Great Britain that a large number of domestic servants in Belfast and at other points in the north of Ireland, are desirous of coming to Ontario. The girls are in many cases unable to pay their passage money to this country, and it is thought that the family needing domestics would make a good investment by advancing half the passage money, leaving the girls themselves to raise the other half.

SUCCESSFUL STORE

"I have never known a time when business was better in Chatham than it is at the present time," said G. J. Peace, the popular shoe merchant to The Planet yesterday morning. "I would say that from a business standpoint that Chatham is booming—going ahead every day. Everyone seems to have money to spend, and they evidently spend it in Chatham, realizing that they can get as good bargains at home as they can elsewhere. I have never had a more successful year since I have been here. My store is at present filled up with up-to-date summer footwear, and they are going fast."

"One encouraging feature from year to year, is that the people want the very best to be had in any line of goods. This enables a merchant to carry a far better line of stock than formerly. I never have better line of goods than I have this year, so that I am able to guarantee every pair of shoes I sell."

Mr. Peace is well deserving of the large patronage he receives. Besides a full line of the latest styles in Slippers "Invictus" shoes and all the up-to-date makes, he carries an extensive stock of trunks, etc. He has just received a large consignment of ladies and children's slippers, which are well worth inspecting. Also a fine lot of men's white summer shoes. Prices always satisfactory. A clothing department is also maintained in connection with the establishment.

MEAT ONCE A DAY.

Theory That Average Family's Food Is Too Heavy For Health.

Our mistakes in eating begin with our breakfast. In many families, perhaps in most, this meal commences with fruit and cereal, goes on to chops and potatoes, hot breads and coffee and concludes with griddlecakes and sirup. At noon, when a man's stomach is only beginning to rest from all this, he has a steak, more potato, bread and butter, coffee and pie, while at home his wife has a slice of cold meat, a cup of tea and a piece of cake. At night the two sit down to dinner, with roast beef, potatoes and bread and butter as the staples of the meal.

Now, no one but a woodchopper or a hunter can possibly eat meat—above all, red meat, such as beef and mutton—three times a day without inviting some acid to come and take up its dwelling in his system. Nor can he eat white bread, potatoes and pastry day after day without inviting dyspepsia. One has only to let a doctor trace back these diseases to their source to be quite certain of these points.

But if we decide to give up these things, determine to have meat and potatoes only once a day and red meat only once a week; if we taboo pastry, the starchy vegetables, the white bread and heavy sweets, what have we left

IT MUST COME.

As inevitable as the changing seasons of the year is the change which comes to every woman. And just as one anticipates the changes of other seasons it is wise to anticipate this change of season and prepare for it. In this way the discomforts and disasters suffered by many women at the period of change can be avoided or overcome.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine for every season of woman's life, will entirely meet the needs of women at this period of change. It cures the physical ills and relieves the mental anxiety and depression usually associated with this critical period. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

J. S. Carlisle, Esq. of Manchester, Coffee Co., Tenn., writes: "I have been using your medicine for the last sixteen or eighteen years in my poor house. I am superintendent of the Coffee County Poor-house and Asylum combined. Your 'Favorite Prescription,' Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pessimal Pellet' are the best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended, that I ever used. They saved my wife's life at the time of 'change of life.' I have been recommending your medicine to many afflicted women and have also guaranteed that if it did not cure I would pay back the money spent for it. I have cured many of your diseases. I have said Doctor Pierce's medicines did not give satisfaction to give them back their money and charge if I do. I have not once been called upon to refund. I have never found anything to equal the 'Favorite Prescription' for diseases of women."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

for the family meals? "Sofisticated" and distracted housewife will exclaim despairingly at first thought, but really the matter is not as difficult as it seems.

In planning the meals on this basis there is, first of all, chicken, which is invaluable, for it may be cooked in a dozen different ways and seem a new dish each time, and turkey, duck and goose as well. Then there are the white meats, lamb and veal; fish in its multitudinous forms; there are game in numerous varieties of soups, and the simple evils, which are made principally from milk and cream, and all forms of breads.

A PLEASING FRENCH TRAIT.

Love Between Brothers a Strongly Marked Characteristic.

One of the ways in which the close union of French family life shows itself is the great affection of brothers for each other. There is an intimacy between them in good and evil fortune which one does not find in other countries. A brother who takes a high position by his talents loses no opportunity to forward the interests of one of lesser ability or of no ability. He never treats the latter as a drag on him, and perhaps scarcely feels that he is one. Married brothers often like to live in the same house, on different floors, and to hire summer villas in close proximity.

Most of the famous Frenchmen whom I knew had each a brother to whom he was devoted. Louis and Charles Blanc, though so dissimilar in appearance, tastes, disposition, and married to women who disliked each other, were morally speaking, Siamese twins until death severed the bond.

The same might be said of the Garnier-Pages, of Jules Favre and his brother Leon, of Ernest and Arthur Picard, of Puuch, the sculptor, and his brother, the deputy. Paul and Hippolyte Flaudin, the painters, were known in their student days as the Siamese twins. It is not infrequently happens that brothers go into literary partnership. Instances that occur to me are the Goncourt, the Rosny, the Marguerites.

It would be impossible to discern the work of one of any of these brothers from that of another. What is very curious, each brother, as in the case of Charles and Louis Blanc, Ernest and Arthur Picard, Jules and Leon Favre, differed strikingly in every characteristic from the other. The dissimilarity of the Marguerites is so great that one would wonder how brothers could be so unlike. Alphonse Daudet was not a bit like his brother Ernest, an accomplished novelist.

DON'T READ IN BED.

It is a Dangerous Practice While Lying Down, Says an Authority.

Reading in bed is seriously advised, so the newspapers say, by a physician as conducive to "repair and resting," "relieving congestion," "emptying the veins overfilled by prolonged eyework," etc.

It is plain that placing the head back in a horizontal position so absolutely meets the whole problem of a relief of congestion by gravity—and it is such a very important problem—that it seems strange that people with weak eyes do not habitually practice reading in a recumbent position perfectly comfortable. Such advice, carried out with absolute care as to light and the position of the book, would in the case of a thousand busy people add largely to the number of hours which reading could be indulged in without detriment to the eyes or general health.

Certainly the one who gives this strange and pernicious advice could never have tried the plan. Some years ago there was described a patented device for suspending the book over the horizontally placed head of a sick person whereby reading would be possible without holding the book in the hands. Even then one wonders how the light could be made to fall properly on the page. Without a method of the kind not even a well person could hold a book five minutes above the eyes. Reading in bed has ruined thousands of good eyes. Unless one sits up in bed as if in a chair it is impossible to hold the book in such a position that the arms are not quickly tired and so that the light falls on it properly. When reading lying down, there is a tension upon the inferior recti muscles which is highly injurious. Every patient should be warned never to read in bed except when sitting up as vertically as in a chair.

STRONG PULSE BEATS.

Cases in Which They Are Perceptible to the Eye.

"It is not such an uncommon thing," said a physician, "to find a person whose pulse beats can be plainly seen, and yet I suppose there are but few outside of the profession who realize the fact. In most persons the beat of the pulse cannot be perceived, but the mere fact that the beating is perceptible does not mean that the pulse is other than normal. I have come across a number of cases where the throbbing of the wrist could be plainly seen, and yet the persons rarely gave evidence of abnormality in temperature. They were rarely feverish and were in good physical condition generally. Pulses of this kind, from this view, which is based upon actual observations of cases, do not indicate anything more than an abnormal physical condition in the formation of the wrist."

"I have met with one case which was possibly a little extraordinary in that it was plainer and much more distinct than any I had ever seen before. It could almost be heard. The artery would rise to a point almost as large as the ball of the little finger of a child and would change from the white of the skin to a blood purple with each beat of the pulse. I found it easy to count the pulse beats without touching the patient's wrist. I could see plainly enough to keep the record, and in order not to err in my calculation I tested it in several ways and found it was correct and that there was no mistake in my counting with the naked eye."

At John Knox's Grave.

The guidebooks unite in telling the visitor in Edinburgh to see the grave of John Knox. It is situated in Parliament square and is marked by a small rectangular slab of stone sunk in the cobblestone paving of the street, with the chiseled inscription, "J. K. 1579." But it is odds against even the largest tourist that he finds the great reformer at once, for only five feet away from the holy ground there is a similar sunken slab, and many times a day parties of tourists may be seen approaching on tiptoe the second stone and bending over it with keen interest only to read, "Evelyn Patent Hydrant." And themselves face to face with the water supply system of a modern town instead of the bones of the eminent clergyman.

Speaking of Royalty.

Damocles had been invited to dine with the king of Syracuse. Upon taking his seat he instantly saw the sword hanging by a hair above his head.

"I suppose," he said to the king, "you call that the hair apparent." Dionysius, pretending to see no humor in the remark, replied, "I don't know about that, my boy, but if it falls upon your head it will make some crown prints."

This shows that the ancients were not averse to joking even under trying circumstances.

The Laugh.

Chumpley—That hypnotist is a fraud. He couldn't control my mind at all last night.

Pokely—Of course he had some excuse? Chumpley—Yes. He said there was no material worth anything. You ought to have heard the audience give him the laugh!—Tit-Bits.

A Secondary Consideration. "She's allus so 'traid of somebody swiping dat dog."

"Am it wuff anyting?" "Wah, in dis here neighborhood a 'fine dog' have to be wuff nuffin to git swiped."—Puck.

Wall, Cleveland, O.; E. Winters, Montgomery, Ala.; F. W. Winters, Cleveland, W. S. Ball, Chatham, and Miss Blackwell, Hotel Sanita in connection with the bath house, is well crowded with guests.

Did Her Love.
Charles Dickens, though he married Catherine, one of George Hogarth's three daughters, in 1836, was later devotedly attached to her sister Mary. Why he did not marry Mary is not certainly known unless it be that Mary, a young woman of great loveliness of character, had successfully concealed her own affection for Catherine's betrothed in order to save her sister from disappointment.

Percy Fitzgerald, a friend of Dickens, expressed this idea in an article in Harper's Magazine entitled "Dickens in His Books."

Charming Summer Resort

Two interesting little books of the illustrated folder type have been issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System, one being entitled "Songs of the Nipissing," and the other "The Eastern Coast of Lake Huron."

The Nipissing, and the other, "The Eastern Coast of Lake Huron," are of all sizes, and are scattered through the pages to elucidate the text and appear to the eye just as the story told in the letter press does to the mind. The prevailing note in these little works, upon which a profitable half hour may be spent by the reader, is the craving for change, and there can be no doubt that men and women who live in the stress and strain of today, and feel the throbs of ad- vanced and advancing civilization, do require change—complete change for mind and body. The haunts described here minister to the intellectual as well as the physical health of the tired dweller in cities. The physical exercises that can be obtained among the woods and waters create and promote a perfectly sound bodily condition, while the multifarious life that is to be found, stimulates the intellectual faculties and prompt inquiry and investigation into nature's ways as they are revealed in her flora and fauna.

The maps which are in these pamphlets enable the visitor to the wilds, to realize his bearings at whatever part he may be, and the general information given enables him to economize his time and spend it to the best advantage.

Copies may be had on application to W. E. Rispen, 115 King street, Chatham.

FASCINATING DANGER.

The Perils That Beget the Builders of Big Bridges.

The design of a long bridge span is one of the most elaborate mathematical problems that arise in constructive work. The stresses produced by its own weight, by the weight of traffic, by locomotive drivers, by the hammering of flattened wheels, by the action of brakes on an express train, by the high speed on a curved track, by the wind and by the expansion and contraction of the steel in summer and winter are all accurately calculated. The deflection of the loaded and unloaded bridge is determined, and complete drawings are made of every member of it. The bars of steel are tested in machines which will pull in two a horseshair or a steel bar strong enough to lift half a score of the heaviest locomotives at once, and which will crush an eggshell or a steel column, and accurately measure the stress in each case.

The bars are forged, riveted, bored, or planed in perhaps half a dozen remote shops, and although usually not fitted together there, are examined and measured by specialists to see that they are correct, and are then shipped by scores of carloads to the site of the proposed structure, where steam derricks unload them and pile them many feet high in stacks covering acres of ground.

The bridge piers may rise above the water hundreds of feet apart. It remains to place them on a thousand ton structure, high above a savage chasm, under a hostile current or roaring tide, where the water is deep, the bottom of jagged rocks or treacherous quicksand, or where an old bridge must be removed and the new one built in its place without interrupting traffic on the bridge.

To accomplish this the engineer has timber, bolts and ropes, derricks, engines, derricks and a band of intrepid builders, who have perhaps followed him for years through more hardship and danger than fall to the lot of almost any other calling.

The complicated framework of a great span is made of many accurate joints and thousands of steel sinews and bones, each of which must go in exactly the right place in exactly the right order. The builder must weave into the trusses pieces larger, heavier and far more inflexible than whole tree trunks, swiftly hoist and swing them to place hundreds of feet high, fit together the massive girders and huge, forged bars with watchmaker's accuracy, support the unwieldy masses until they are keyed together and self sustaining, and under millions of pounds of stress must adjust them at dizzy heights to mathematical lines.

This he may need to do not only liberally, but in dangerous emergencies, at utmost speed, putting forth his whole strength on narrow, springing planks in a furious tempest, in bitter cold or in blazing heat. He may be in the heart of an African desert, menaced by bloodthirsty fanatics in a land where the action of hundreds of miles from tools or supplies, where there is absolutely no supplement to his own resources. Under such conditions bridge building is one of the most fascinating and difficult of engineering problems and requires a different solution for almost every case.—Frank W. Skinner in Century.

Bells.

It was long a fixed idea that silver mixed with the bell metal improved the tone, but this is now considered incorrect. The action of silver in a bell, two singularly sweet bells at St. John's college, Cambridge, are said to have a mixture of silver, but if true this is not believed by competent authorities to be the cause of their beautiful tone. This idea led to the little works, upon which a profitable half hour may be spent by the reader, is the craving for change, and there can be no doubt that men and women who live in the stress and strain of today, and feel the throbs of ad- vanced and advancing civilization, do require change—complete change for mind and body. The haunts described here minister to the intellectual as well as the physical health of the tired dweller in cities. Silencing the Questioner.

A French gentleman who had been with M. de Talleyrand for twenty years accompanied him to the congress at Vienna after Napoleon's exile to Elba. People naturally concluded that this long intimacy had made him familiar with a number of particulars of the minister's life and bearing also upon the events with which he had been mixed up. Worried with questions, the friend invariably replied that he knew nothing, but the questioner would not be satisfied and returned to the charge.

"Very well," finally said Talleyrand's confidant, "I'll tell you a peculiar and altogether unknown fact in connection with M. de Talleyrand. Since Louis XV. he's the only man who can open a soft boiled egg with one backward stroke of his fork without spilling a drop of the contents of the shell. That's the only peculiarity I know in connection with him."

Discretion had scored a decisive victory. From that moment the questions ceased.

Tennyson's Early Poems.

Tennyson was only eight years old when he covered both sides of his brother's slate with a poem on "Flowers," done in unimpeachable meter. His brother had said to him, "See if you can write poetry," and when he read the verse on the slate he merely said, "You've done it." Between the ages of eleven and twelve the young poet wrote an epic of over 4,000 lines in Scott's octosyllables mingled with heroics. These were the only finished poems of Tennyson's boyhood, but when about fourteen or fifteen years old he commenced a drama in iambic meter which still survives. Thus he practiced himself in three different meters before he began seriously to write or publish.

Forgetting His Own Pictures.

Reynolds once forgot the existence of one of his pictures. Burke once obtained a very early work and called on the great artist, submitting the work as that of a young student who sought advice from the master. Reynolds had a long look and then asked, "Is the painter a friend of yours?"

"Well," replied the great man, "I really don't feel able to give an opinion. It's a cleverish thing, but whether it is of sufficient promise to justify the young man in adopting art as a profession I cannot say."

Sir Joshua had entirely forgotten his own work.

"That is what I call treating a friend in a distant manner," said the doctor, who has prescribed by telephone.

OUR GAME LAWS.

Every Canadian a Committee of One on Game Protection.
In no country are the game laws so well observed as they are in Canada. The sportsmen of the United States are a law-abiding class and as a rule show great respect for the game laws, even though their observance works a personal hardship. But we have in this country a species of the hog. Fortunately for the sportsman, the genus homo commonly known as the gamehog. Fortunately for the sportsman of Canada and their game, this species is rare with them.

Every sportsman in Canada appears to be a committee of one on game protection. Individually and collectively these disciples of the gun urge protection and preservation of game for the common good. Those who never go afield themselves are in sympathy with those who do, and they stand for the strict observance of the law. Men who shoot occasionally are just as earnest about game protection as those who spend much of their time afield during the hunting season.

There is a great deal of good sportsmanship in Canada and it is small wonder that the people generally should uphold the law. The "best" citizens are sportsmen and the sportsman's neighbors know that to be in touch with sportsmanship is good.

As a result of good game laws, well observed, Canada holds an abundance of game of great variety. Large game may be killed in season in comparatively well-settled localities. Even the wary moose walks boldly to a hilltop from which he can view a thriving town.
Chickens are everywhere on the prairie in fair numbers, and in favored localities, they are exceedingly numerous. The open season is short and the number of birds one may kill is restricted. In time, of course, the ploughman will drive the prairie chicken from the country and force the big game back into the hills and waste places, but in the meantime the Canadian sportsmen see to it that good laws shall be observed for their preservation.—American Field.

PERTINENT QUERIES.

To the Editor of the Planet:
Dear Sir:—Will you kindly inform me what are the laws governing trading on Indian reservations? The reason I ask the question is this,—I was at Walpole Island last Tuesday, and saw two Indians from Marine City sell some things and representing them as souvenirs of Walpole Island, and said articles were brought over from the land of the stars and stripes, and the proceeds thereof taken back and spent. My idea was, and is, that when the Indians became wards of the nation they were afforded protection as regards their lands and trading thereon, and if such is the case, how is it that big game laws are allowed to offer their cheap truck in opposition to the poor red man?
And, another question—did the Cheap Johns pay duty on their American truck?
Yours truly, A. SMITH.

WORLD OF SPORT

CRICKET

A good representation of the local cricket club journeyed to Detroit to-day, and it is to be hoped that they have made by this time a victory worthy of the club. Reg. Miller and Richardson are on for the first time this year, having made good showings in the practice games. Those who were, Atkins, Richards, Nichols, Mercer Dowley, Kenny, Perrin, Reg and Roy Miller, Richardson and Fraser.

A good practice game of cricket was held on the park yesterday. No good scores were made, but the fine bowling of Dr. Nichols was a feature. Among those who participated in the game were Nichol, Aitken, Kenny, Richards Dowley, Mercer, Perrin, Richardson, Roy Miller, Reg Miller, Dr. Fraser, Hutchinson, Benkin, Anderson, Reeve, Baxter, Harvey and Reid. It would be a splendid idea to have a half holiday next Wednesday afternoon for all the clerks, business men, law offices, etc., and a local game of cricket participated in.

BASEBALL

The Wolverines were defeated last evening on Tecumseh park by a score of 25-3. The game was full of wild throws and numberless errors and the pitching erratic on both sides.

The Tigers went down to defeat on the Athletic grounds last evening before the Brooklyn, the score being 14 to 2.

Not Even a Hack.

In the early days of his journalistic career Frank R. Stockton was standing with a group of newspaper men, listening to the eloquence of one of their number, who on the strength of some small authority was giving his views on "higher journalism" in a pompous and bombastic manner. At the close of a sonorous period he paused for breath, when Stockton, speaking for the first time, ventured mildly to disagree with the opinion expressed.
"Who are you to dispute me?" blazed the great man. "Why, you are only a literary hack!"
"Not even that," responded Stockton meekly. "I'm only a coupe."

Taking One's Own Pulse.
Being able to "take" one's own pulse is a doubtful accomplishment, because the heart has some peculiarities, the importance of which are sure to be overestimated except by physicians, and much uneasiness occasioned in consequence. Irregularity of the pulse is naturally to no small number of people without other signs of disease. It may also be simply a transient symptom, due to errors of habit or other causes, which, disappearing, leave no trace behind them.

Too Costly.

King George II. once wished to add the Green park, in London, to his palace grounds whether the people liked it or not. He inquired of his minister as to the cost.

His lordship, mindful of the general discontent then prevalent, answered: "The cost, sir? Oh, it would be a matter of three or four wars!"

The king took the hint. The people kept their park and the sovereign his triple throne.

Cinnamon as an Antiseptic.
No living germ of disease can resist the antiseptic power possessed by cinnamon for more than a few hours. In destroying microbes it is not less effective than corrosive sublimate. Even the scent kills them. A decoction of cinnamon should be drunk in localities where typhoid fever or cholera prevails.

Superb.

"What a regal carriage he has! There is surely royal blood in his veins. Do you know him?" whispered the enthusiastic woman.
"Yes," replied the man, "he comes of a low line of janitors."

Much in Her Name.

Church—She is a Russian countess. Gotham—Indeed! Has she much in her own name?
"Yes, she's got nearly the entire alphabet!"

Bad Beginnings.

A bad beginning makes a good ending sometimes, but more often it makes a very quick ending.—Syracuse Herald.

Learning without thought is labor lost; thought without learning is perilous.—Confucius.

When a boy turns his bulging pocket inside out we wonder at the quantity and variety of articles he has stowed away. Odd lengths of string, marbles, a horse-chestnut, a top, brass nails, hickory-nuts, an apple, and many more articles are garnered by this "snapper up of uncon sidered trifles." We think the collection must be hard on a boy's pocket. And it is. But do we ever think of the variety and miscellany of the substances we put into the pocket of our stomach? There's the apple and the nuts, and things quite as indigestible as brass nails and with no more food value than so many marbles. And yet we wonder that the stomach "gives out." When the stomach breaks down under the strain of careless eating and irregular meals it can be perfectly and permanently restored to health and strength by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The action of this medicine on the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition is so marked, that relief from disease is at once experienced, and the headaches, liver "troubles," kidney disorders, skin eruptions and other symptoms of a diseased stomach are quickly cured. Whenever the use of a laxative medicine is indicated, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They act in harmony with the "Discovery" and assist its action by purging the bowels of foul accumulations.

Some people are so unfeeling that they never feel their own insignificance.

PAMPHLETS FOR TOURISTS

Grand Trunk Issues New Summer Resort Publications.

Two new publications have just been issued by the publicity department of the Grand Trunk Railway System. One of them is descriptive of the charming summer resorts on the east coast of Lake Huron, including Southampton, Port Elgin, Kincardine, Goderich and Sarnia Ontario and the beaches that are reached through Port Huron, Mich. The publication is enhanced by direct reproductions in half-tone from photographs and is printed in the luxuriant process. In addition to a description of that part of the country there is information for the lover of rock and gun, lists of hotels, with accommodation and rates, and a great deal of other data that is of interest to those who are looking for a summer play ground.

The other new publication is a description written in a story-like form most interesting, and dealing with that vast wilderness embracing the region around French River. The descriptive matter takes the tourist over the northern division of the Grand Trunk to North Bay and from there across Lake Nipissing to Chaudiere Falls on the French River, which is as far as navigation by steamer can be enjoyed. The rest of the journey is made by canoe, several portages being necessary; but the scenery is so grand and so magnificent that anyone is well repaid for a visit to this charming locality.

The hunting and fishing in this comparatively virgin district is unequalled—black bass, muskellunge and pickerel being the most numerous of the finny tribe found here, the big fellows of the muskellunge species running from 20 to 30 pounds are a frequent catch. The charms of this wonderful country beyond Lake Nipissing are not all confined to the summer season—it is beautiful in August and September, and it is gorgeous in October and November.

During the first two weeks of November the deer-hunting is good, and in duck-hunting season a full bag is obtainable at any time. The Waters of the streams tributary to the French river are literally alive with gamey fish of all varieties and sizes. This interesting booklet just issued by the Grand Trunk includes all information how to reach the locality, and other particulars looked for by the sportsman or tourist. Copies sent free on application to G. T. Bell, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Montreal.

A PET ECONOMY.

Almost Every Man Maintains One, Small Though It May Be.

"Got a match about you?" asked the bookkeeper of the chief buyer.

"Wonder you wouldn't buy matches once in awhile?" growled the buyer.

"I've been supplying you with matches for years."

"I never buy matches—never have and never will," said the bookkeeper.

"It is my pet economy. Most every man has one."

And the bookkeeper was right. Nearly every man has a pet economy and will go to a great length to indulge it. At the Union Club they still tell of a worthy old member who was particular about using a certain kind of soap, but was not willing to buy it. They used the soap at the club, and he appropriated the cakes as fast as he needed them. He needed so many that the steward changed the brand.

The same spirit of economy in small things makes other people stuff themselves with bread in order that no butter may be left on their plate and wasted. Hundreds of men would not dream of buying a head pencil. To save buying stationery others write their letters at hotels which are generous in providing writing materials. Scores of men and women save pennies by picking up discarded newspapers in the elevated trains and ferryboats. And so it goes. It is not so much the actual money saved that moves people in these little schemes; rather an inborn desire to economize in something.

But to return to the bookkeeper, the buyer and the matches. The bookkeeper continued:

"You are stingy with your old matches. I'll just take a lot, and then I'll be independent of you."

Then he emptied out half the box.

SHOES.

Never wear a shoe that pinches the heel.

Never wear a shoe or boot tight anywhere.

Never come from high heels to low heels at one jump.

Never wear a shoe that will not allow the great toe to lie in a straight line.

Never wear leather sole linings to stand upon. White cotton drilling or linen is healthier.

Never wear a shoe with a sole narrower than the outline of the foot traced with a pencil close under the rounding edge.

Never wear a shoe with a sole turning up very much at the toes, as this causes the cords on the upper part of the foot to contract.

Never have the top of the boots tight, as it interferes with the action of the calf muscles, makes one walk badly and spoils the shape of the ankle.

Never think that the feet will grow large from wearing proper shoes. Pinching and distorting make them grow not only large, but unsightly. A proper natural use of all the muscles makes them compact and attractive.

A Sure Thing.

A tattered, forlorn, miser of fifteen summers entered the office of a young real-estate man the other day. Ordinarily he is the politest of individuals, but this day he was so busy that he didn't know "where he was at." So, with a swift glance out of the corner of his eye, he said rather sharply:

"Well, what do you want?"

"P—please, mister, won't you buy a ticket on our cuckoo clock?" replied the girl hesitatingly.

"Buy a ticket on your cuckoo clock? What the deuce would I do with a cuckoo clock even if I should get it?"

"Oh, you won't get it, mister. Please buy a ticket."

He bought.

"Dogwood Winter."

A man from North Carolina who was visiting in Philadelphia in the course of conversation used the expression "dogwood winter."

"What do you mean by dogwood winter?" asked his host.

"Don't you really know what dogwood winter is?" demanded the man from Hickory, N. C. "There is always a spell of it in May when the dogwood tree is in bloom. For several days there is cold, disagreeable, cloudy weather and often a touch of frost. Down our way it never falls, and we call it dogwood winter. I thought the phrase was general."

The Colors in Battle.

Some people may not know that the colors are not now taken into action. Before a corps proceeds on service they are placed in safe custody, as suits such honorable insignia, and "when Johnny comes marching home again" they will be all the fresher for not being carried through dusty lands and trying rivers. The men whose duty it would have been to carry them and stand by them to the last are nowadays employed in less sentimental, if more useful, duties.

One Attraction Missing.

"Say," said the young writer who had been engaged by the circus man to write up a prospectus of the show, "I've about exhausted my vocabulary on this thing. Have you a thesaurus?"

"No, by thunder!" said the circus man. "We've only got a rhinoceros, but I'll cable over and buy one."

The Big Fire.

"Yes," said the conductor. "I remember it very well. That was in 1897, the year of the big fire."

"What big fire?" asked the other man.

"Don't you recollect? Twenty-nine fellows on our line were bounced for knocking down."

Rheumatism.

is Uric Acid in the blood. Unhealthy kidneys are the cause of the acid being there. If the kidneys acted as they should they would strain the Uric Acid out of the system and rheumatism wouldn't occur. Rheumatism is a Kidney Disease. So get at the cause of these fearful shooting pains and stiff, aching joints. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure way—

THE GAME OF GAMES.

Golf, Says This Writer, Involves Art, Science and Inspiration.

It is true that there is a point of view from which golf may be regarded as an extremely simple game—the very simplest of all the games with a ball and a club, says William G. Brown in the June Atlantic. The player's object is simple and single to the point of simple mindedness and singularity, one might say—to put a small ball in a small hole with the fewest possible strokes. But so are the objects of the highest ambitions, the guiding stars of careers the most perplexed and devious. It is true, likewise, that all the countless strokes a golfer makes are resolvable into three kinds of stroke—driving, approaching and putting. But Mr. Everard, in a lecture unsurpassed for truth and brilliancy by any in all the extremely clever literature of golf, has declared that to make those three strokes right one must have "art, science and inspiration."

From the moment the ball leaves the tee, whether it be topped, pulled or sliced or whether, struck in proper fashion a trifle below the medial line and urged forward with an exquisite slight as with wings and seeks its true course as with a mind and purpose of its own until it drops into the cup with a flutinnabulation that no louder clang or pean over surpassed in its suggestion of victory and consummation, there is a forecasting what perplexity or temptation to carelessness or overconfidence it will present.

Not twice off the tee ground and the putting green will the possibilities and probabilities of the stroke be quite the same. In the lie, the wind, the distance to be traversed, the obstacles to be carried, there are variations not to be reckoned by any known mathematics.

Then, as the match approaches its dreadfully quiet climax of defeat or victory, the responsibility may grow positively appalling. The very deliberation which, impossible in most games, is so characteristic of this, so far from lessening the strain on one's nerves, undoubtedly heightens it. One has time to estimate the emergency, to realize the crisis.

Not the fiercest rally at tennis, not the longest and timeliest home run at baseball, not the most heroic rush at football, requires a more rigid concentration of thought and energy or a more dauntless courage than the flick of a putter that sends the ball crawling on its last little journey across the putting green when the put is for the hole and the hole means the match. There is not a quality of mind or body—I will not except or qualify at all—not one, that life itself proves excellent which a circuit of the links will not test.

Religion is like printed music, value less until translated into being.

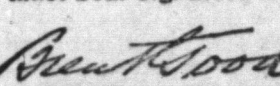

Some people turn the lamp of Christian living down so low that it only smokes and smells badly.

A SERMON TO SUIT.

The Folks Who Paid For the Discourse Got What They Wanted.

Many Maine people who live in a certain part of Cumberland county will well remember one Abner—so he was always called in his town. Abner was the wit of the village, and he was commonly selected to take charge of funerals because he was about the only man in town who had time hanging on his hands. A citizen died, a man who never amounted to much, who was never positively wicked, because that would have required more of an effort than he was willing to make. He was, however, far enough from being a good citizen, and Abner knew it as well as anybody else.

Abner was requested to ask a certain minister to conduct the service, and he hitched up his old horse and drove to his house. The minister said he would attend and then tried to get a little information concerning the late lamented.

"What sort of a man was he?" he asked.

"Well, about the same as no sort of a man at all," replied Abner frankly.

"I suppose his loss will be deeply felt in the community?" said the minister.

"They're all bearing up well under it," said Abner slowly.

"Was he a Christian?" asked the minister.

"If he'd been accused of it, the verdict would have been not guilty, and the jury wouldn't have left their seats," replied Abner cheerfully.

"Did he attend church?" asked the minister a bit anxiously.

"I never heard of his doing it," said Abner.

"How'd he die?" continued the minister.

"Just the same as he lived, sort of naturally," said Abner.

"I don't see how I'm to preach much of a sermon under such circumstances," said the minister.

"The neighbors all said they didn't think they wanted much of a sermon, and so they sent me over to see you," said Abner.

The minister pocketed his wrath and a five dollar bill, and after the funeral he satisfied Abner said, "Well, we got just what we wanted, b'gosh."

POULTRY POINTERS.

Game chickens have more meat in proportion to their height than any other breed of fowls.

When the chickens are growing fast, it is a good plan to mix a little bone-meal in their soft feed.

Smearing whole wheat with kerosene or turpentine and feeding it to the chickens is a good remedy for gapes.

Adding some carbolic acid and putting on hot will secure much better results from the whitewashing of the poultry house.

While it is at no time advisable to keep food of any kind before the fowls all the time, it will be an advantage to keep milk where they can drink all they want.

Fowls do not run together in large numbers. They will always divide into flocks of small size and will select different feeding grounds, always provided they have the opportunity.

A growing chicken, like a growing animal, requires plenty of good, wholesome food supplied liberally and often in order to enable them to grow and mature rapidly and to develop properly.

There Was a Limit.

"I am glad they moved away," remarked the good housewife, speaking of a family of borrowing neighbors who had just left the neighborhood. "I was willing to lend them a loaf of bread occasionally or half a dozen eggs or the washboard or the lemon squeezer, but when they got down to sending the little girl over to borrow pennies to give the organ grinder I began to think it was nearly time to draw the line; and, to cap the climax, one day they actually asked me to come over and take care of the baby while they went out to do the shopping!"

Uncertain About Her Age.

A Boston servant, like many of her class, does not know her age. She has lived with one family eleven years and has always been twenty-eight. But not long ago she read in the newspaper of an old woman who had died at the age of 106. "Maybe I'm as old as that meself," said she. "Indade, I can't remember the time when I wasn't alive."

An Exchange of Courtesies.

"No, sah," said Mr. Ernestus Pinkly. "I neber sold my vote to nobody."

"But that candidate gave you $2."

"Yassir. I doesn't deny dat. He jes' come along an' gimme dat two, an' when a gemman comes along an' gives you $2 foh nuffin' it ain't no mo' dan common reciprocity to vote foh 'im foh nuffin'."

What She Says.

"A man can't tell whether a girl means what she says," he remarked thoughtfully.

"Of course not," she replied. "If he thinks she does, why she just naturally doesn't the moment she finds it out, and, if he thinks she doesn't, why she does."

Crucity.

Bill—I hear a man in town was arrested today for cruelty to animals.

Jill—Is that so?

"Yes; the fellow had a tapeworm, and he refused to feed it."

MOVING IN SCOTLAND

ON MAY 28 OCCURS THE ANNUAL CARNIVAL OF "FLITTING."

One Day in Each Year When Furniture Vans and Chosen Belongings are Moved from Old System, Built Up on the Canton of the Landlords.

In Scotland May 28 is annually given over to a peculiar carnival of "flitting." In England houses of the higher rents are taken by the year at any quarter day and the lower rented ones by the month or even by the week. The flitting is thus spread over the year, and no confusion arises. The Scottish system is to let houses by the year from May 28. Even the smallest, consisting of only one room, are so let. On the great day in any large town the sights afforded range from the laughable to the pathetic.

As soon as it is daylight the vans previously "trysted" begin their work; the goods are loaded up with more haste than care and to the accompaniment of the good housewife's lamentations as some cherished household god is roughly flung into the van.

Arrived at the destination, further troubles are in store. Perhaps the new house is not yet vacated, and, as the van is required for other removals, the goods are dumped down in the street, and there the poor family is left stranded for the time. Occasionally some streets—in Glasgow, for instance—present an appearance of wholesale evictions.

So numerous are the demands that vans cannot always be obtained, and every kind of vehicle, including horseless carriages, popularly known as "burleys," are pressed into the service, supplemented by father, mother and the children, each carrying pictures, mirrors or other cherished articles too precious to trust to the tender mercies of some rascally conveyance.

These processions are moving along all day. The representative of law and order, upon this day at least, is very lenient, his gruff "Move on!" is less in evidence, and his ready notebook gets a rest. There are no "cases" of obstruction reported, although often loaded vans have to remain in a street all night.

It may be that the "policeman" grasps the humor of the situation, or perhaps a fellow feeling influences him. No doubt his own flitting is in progress, and he retires off duty to some strange abode, there to assist in carrying his goods, to sup off a crust of bread and cheese and sleep on the floor, as others have to do.

A stranger naturally inquires the cause of this one day given over to chaos. It is to be found in the custom of the Scottish landlord. It is difficult to obtain a house at any other time than the last removal day, and the canny house owner has prudently secured his rent a fortnight previously, May 15.

"Moonlight" flittings are thus practically unknown, and there is little loss of rent from that cause. The rents being payable half yearly only, the cost of collection is reduced, as is the risk of loss, to a minimum. The system entails great hardship to workingmen compelled to change the scene of their labors. They frequently cannot obtain a house until term day and have consequently to take lodgings and support their family in another town.

If fortunate enough to obtain a house, the landlord steps in and requires his full year's rent to be paid or deposited in bank before he allows the goods to be removed. The unfortunate head of a household is also responsible for the full year's rent of his "new" house, though he may have paid in full at his vacated house.

The only advantage to the tenant is security of tenure for twelve months and the certainty of being accommodated at the expiry in the general scramble. Of course it happens some times, through new houses being erected, that some one is able to start the ball rolling a day or two before term, to the comfort of all involved in the particular circuit; but, generally speaking, May term day in Scotland is not an institution to be admired and copied.

Strange to say, Stanley not only takes this day philosophically, but is much more addicted to "flitting" than people south of the Tweed, some families moving regularly every year without any apparent necessity. One would scarcely expect the worry and discomfort of the tenant to be voluntarily undertaken, but the fact is so.

The continuance of the system itself is a standing monument to the British long suffering and law abiding nature.

A Great Bargain.

Mrs. Winks—A peddler was here to-day, and I got the greatest bargain—a whole pound of insect powder for only 10 cents. It looks just like dirt, but it's awfully effective. I tried it.

Mr. Winks—Worked, eh?

Mrs. Winks—Yes, indeed. The peddler said I should put a little in water and apply it boiling hot, and I did, and it killed every insect it touched.

Leading Up to It.

Bobbie—You know them preserves out in the pantry wot you told me not to eat?

Mother—Yes. Bobbie—You know you said they'd make me sick if I et 'em, didn't you?

Mother—Yes. Bobbie—Well, they didn't.

The Blessing of Poverty.

"What a blessing is poverty!" exclaimed the old man.

"A blessing?"

"Why, yes. When you're real down poor, you have such a good time hopin' for the best!"

DISTRICT DOINGS

TILBURY

July 17.—Mrs. A. R. Nichol and children are visiting relatives in Leamington. A public meeting will be held at the Marchand House next Monday evening, 12th inst., to make arrangements for a celebration in this village on August 12, Coronation day.

Miss Eva Stewart returned yesterday from a few days' visit with her friends in Chatham.

Married—in Petrolia, on Sunday, 13th inst., at the Episcopal church by the rector, Rev. Mr. Craig, J. A. McGregor, of this village, and Miss R. Fee, late of Tilbury.

H. Hobbs, of the Merchants' Bank of Watford arrived this week to spend a few days with friends and relatives here.

BLENHEIM

July 16.—The funeral of the late Sarah Duke took place this morning. The service was conducted by Rev. G. B. Brown at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Alex. Martin, Communication Road North. The remains were conveyed to the Lake Erie station and taken to Leamington for interment. The deceased died of paralysis of which she has been suffering for a time. She was 78 years of age.

Mrs. Connor and daughter Ida have arrived home from Buxton, where they have spent a few days.

Geo. Higley, of St. Uramia, was in town to-day.

Miss Maud Stover, of Onivy, is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Faust.

Mr. Miller, of the Bank of Commerce, has returned after spending his holidays down east.

A very sad thing happened to the little seven-year-old son of George Huffman, of the 10th concession of Harwich, at his uncle's, Cyrus Huffman's, yesterday. As the little boy was playing about with some other little boys near the colliery dog, the dog sprang at the boy, knocked him down and tore his face up terribly. He was at once driven to Blenheim and attended to by Dr. Quackenbush, who had to put in a number of stitches. The little fellow's face will be badly scarred, which will remind him of his terrible experience.

Miss Bounsell, of Erieau, was in town to-day, attending her music class.

The burning gas well at Fargo was an object of interest to a number who viewed it from the town hall tower last evening.

The local lacrosse boys have arranged to run a special to Chatham to-morrow so it is hoped a good crowd will go and cheer the boys on.

G. Crookshank and E. Higley wheeled to Chatham this afternoon.

Percy Slater returned to his home in Rodney this morning.

ERIEAU

July 16.—J. D. Ross, of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. J. D. Ross, of Chatham are guests at "Langlois."

The Shamango, and the Petrel came into the Eau last night.

Miss Minnie Smith of Chatham, is visiting at Happy Days.

The Pirate King, alias Wm. Braekin, is gladdening the hearts of all by his presence here.

The Bonnie Belle took a sailing party up to government park last night. All aboard were delighted, and the "Belle" made the return trip of nine miles in less than forty minutes. "Belle" is in for speed!

The schooner St. Claire, of Chatham, which has been anchored in the bay, left to-night for southern ports.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bogart, are saying "Happy Days."

Charles Riddell and Fred. Bates came out this afternoon to do a night's fishing. At last reports the fish seemed to be wary.

Sgt. Jones caught a fine string of bass, and one of the Cleveland visitors landed a muskallunge of about three feet length.

The band concert last night was particularly enjoyable. The 24th Regt. band excelled themselves, and we realize more than ever what a fine organization it is.

A strange light was noticed last night about half past ten o'clock in the direction of Chatham. It proved to be a burning gas well at Fargo. Those going in on the train witnessed a grand spectacle as the flames were fully fifty feet high.

The Mineral Bath Co. have placed a large sign up near the west pier. This is the first of its kind in this place.

Wanted—By two young ladies, one week's board at the Eau in a private family, from Aug. 2nd. State terms and address M. S., care of Planet.

The Hunglows is doing its usual summer trade. There are quite a number of visitors there, mostly from Cleveland, who are doing considerable fishing and enjoying the many charms of the Eau.

BARBER SHOP AT ERIEAU. George A. Taylor, barber, has opened a first class barber shop and will give his customers the best service.

We are advised by W. E. Rispin, City Passenger Agent Grand Trunk and Western Railways, that he has a number of special excursion trips available for intending tourists to Portland, Maine, to Tacoma, Spokane, Washington, Portland, Oregon, Vancouver, Victoria, and other British Columbia points, also summer tours to Atlantic and River St. Lawrence points, also lakes Huron, Superior and Georgian Bay, and would be pleased to give intending tourists full information and rates.

WALLACEBURG

July 17.—Mrs. T. O'Donnell, Miss Lily and Master Johnny are visiting the former's mother at Kingsville.

C. Lynch, of the Bank of Montreal, has returned after spending his holidays at his home in Cornwall.

The Lorraine City Band, who intended camping at Pt. Lambton for a couple of weeks, favored our citizens yesterday with a few selections. The band concert which was to have been given in the evening, however, was necessarily postponed, the sad message being received by them of the sudden death of their mascot. They left at once for their home.

The grocers and dry goods men played a baseball match on the Agricultural grounds last evening after business hours. The grocers proved to be the better men at baseball. The score was 17-4 in favor of the grocers.

The players were: Grocers—Clancy and Bowes, battery; J. Doyle, 1b; A. O'Flynn, 2b; H. Munroe, 3b; E. McDougall, D. Downes, H. Burgess, W. Cousins.

Dry Goods—Aubin and J. Hinnegon, battery; W. Stonehouse, 1b; Jack, 2b; C. Sauvey, 3b; C. Baughmann, G. Allan, Morse and Sauvey.

They were all old veterans at baseball.
