JUDGE PARKER AND DAVIS

Democratic Ticket Nominated at St. Louis on Saturday.

Parker's Dynamic Despatch—Hearst Sends Telegram of Congratulation.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—Chief Judge Alton B. Parker, of the New York state court of appeals, was nominated at about 15 minutes to 6 o'clock this morning for president of the United States by the democratic national convention. But one roll call ensued, and so decisive was the result of that one that contrary states began to call for recognition, and the ballot finally resulted in a unanimous vote for the New York state man. The scene was dramatic in the extreme. Darkness had witnessed the gathering of the democratic hosts, while broad daylight, the sun paling the electric light, witnessed the close. The convention was in session from 8 o'clock last night until nearly 6 o'clock this morning. In that time eight names were presented to the convention. Nominating and seconding speeches innumerable were made, and as dawn approached it became necessary to limit the seconding speeches to four minutes each. An exception was made in the case of William Jennings Bryan, who, in one of the most dramatic situations ever witnessed in a political gathering, addressed the convention and concluded by seconding the nomination of Senator Francis M. Cockrell, "the favorite son" candidate from Missouri. After the nomination of Parker, adjournment was taken until 2 p. m. St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—When the convention re-assembled this afternoon, the startling announcement was whispered around in different circles, that a sensation was to be sprung upon the convention at the eleventh hour. It developed that Judge Parker had telegraphed his views upon finance, in which he declared for the gold standard, and suggesting that the convention should know this fact that it might be given an opportunity to secure someone else for the party nominee, should his view not be in accordance with those of delegates. When this surprising information circulated around Convention Hall, Wm. J. Bryan was absent, being at his hotel sick.

JUDGE PARKER'S TELEGRAM.

The following is the text of the telegram from Judge Parker to Hon. W. F. Sheahan, Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis:—"I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established, and shall act accordingly. If the action of the convention to-day shall be ratified by the people. As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention, and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority, I request you to decline the nomination for me at once, so that another may be nominated before adjournment."
"Signed"—A. B. PARKER.

DAVIS FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia, was nominated on the first ballot. He received 652 votes. The various states which supported other candidates changed their votes, and the nomination was made by acclamation. This convention then adjourned sine die.

WHAT HEARST SAYS.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—A. M. Lawrence, of Illinois, this afternoon read from the platform in the convention hall a telegram from Wm. R. Hearst, as follows:—

"I wish to thank my friends for their unflinching support. I think I can best express my appreciation of their loyalty by continued devotion to the principle of true Democracy, for which we have fought, and by loyal support of the man chosen by the convention to lead the Democratic party." (Signed)—William Randolph Hearst.

It was warmly applauded.

OBSERVED THE ANNIVERSARY

Delightful Services by Canon Farthing at Christ Church Yesterday.

Special Music by the Choir was Much Enjoyed—Children's Flower Festival.

The anniversary services of Christ Church were held yesterday and were very successful and well attended. The church was very beautifully decorated with palms and flowers and both services were greatly enjoyed by the large congregations.

Rev. Canon Farthing, of the new St. Paul's church, Woodstock, preached both morning and evening and his sermons were forcibly and impressively given and well received.

Farthing is one of the ablest preachers in the English church, and he gave two of the most eloquent sermons heard in Chatham for some time.

The music rendered by the choir was of a special nature, fitting to the occasion. In the morning, besides the usual hymns and anthems, Mrs. Milton Bogart, one of Chatham's sweetest singers, sang a solo. Mrs. Bogart's magnificent voice is especially adapted to sacred song, and her solo yesterday was well rendered and greatly enjoyed. In the evening Chas. W. Rogers, basso, sang a solo and Miss Lucie McKellar and R. W. Angus sang a duet. Mr. Dolman, organist, gave excellent opening and closing voluntaries at each service.

In the afternoon the children of the Sunday school held a flower festival and an address on flowers. He chose as his subject the verse "I am come into my garden."

He illustrated that each of the children were gardeners in God's garden and He was watching them to see what kinds of flowers they would cultivate. He spoke against the weeds of impurity, disobedience, swearing, stealing, lying, etc. God wants flowers in his garden, and if we keep our thoughts, words and deeds pure we are cultivating flowers for God. He spoke of the lily of purity, the pansy of humbleness and thoughtfulness, the rose of love, and the violet of modesty.

All of the children brought flowers with them and these were collected and afterwards sent to the two hospitals.

The choir was also present at this service and led in the singing of the hymns.

HONOR HER

Tribute of Appreciation and Esteem to Accomplished Young Organist by Congregation of Holy Trinity Church.

On Saturday evening, after the choral rehearsal, the rector, Rev. T. Beverley Smith, on behalf of the congregation of Holy Trinity Church, quietly presented Miss Rose Morrison, the accomplished young lady organist of the church, with a purse of gold as a tribute of the affection and esteem in which she is universally held.

Accompanying the purse was the following brief greeting:—"In wishing Miss Rose Morrison a pleasant vacation her friends of Holy Trinity Congregation, of which church she is organist, take this opportunity of presenting her with a purse as a slight token of their appreciation."

Miss Morrison has presided at the Holy Trinity organ for over a year and is held in highest regard by the congregation, both for her exceptional musical talents and her generous and hearty co-operation in all the services of the church.

W. J. Ferguson, of Thamesville, spent Sunday in town.

JAP ATTACK ON RUSSIANS

Fierce Onslaught by Daring Troops—Russian Loss Over 300.

Port Arthur and Vladivostok Squadrons Sailed Again—The Eastern Situation.

Liao-Yang, July 9. — A column of Russians, after proceeding to a point about seven miles north-west of Fen-Chui Pass, on the Liao-Yang-Peng-Wang-Cheng high road, halted at night, worn out with heavy marching and fighting. The Japanese hurried up fresh troops and attacked them at dawn with a superior force. The Russians retired, fighting. Their losses numbered 300. The Japanese also suffered severely.

Another forward movement of the Russian rifle brigade began during the night of July 6. The Russians attacked the Japanese position in the darkness. No particulars of the engagement are yet obtainable, but it is believed that a severe fight occurred.

The Japanese force of 25,000 which was advancing toward Mukden, has now fallen back. Similar backward movements are reported from other points.

Chinese report that Gen. Kuroki's headquarters have been established at Fen-Chui Pass.

RUSSIANS AND KAI-CHAU.

St. Petersburg, July 10, 2.12 a. m.—The War Office is still without information regarding the report of the capture of Kai-Chau, but the general inclination is to believe that most severe fighting took place there, and that it reflected great credit upon Gen. Samsonoff's few hundred Cossacks, who constituted the garrison.

SAKHAROFF'S STORY.

Gen. Sakharoff, in a report received from the general staff, gives further details of the advance of the Japanese forces, and says that on July 7 several minor engagements occurred, but that the casualties were not of any consequence. It is evident, the reports say, that the Japanese are advancing along a wide front, though as yet there has been no serious engagement.

SQUADRONS SAIL AGAIN.

The Associated Press is informed that there is reason to believe that the Vladivostok and Port Arthur squadrons have sailed again, as there has been ample time for the former to re-coal and prepare for another cruise since its return to Vladivostok on July 5, and as it is considered unlikely that the Port Arthur squadron would remain at that port more than a fortnight for the slight repairs necessary to be made to the battleship Sevastopol. It is regarded as significant that the Admiralty has not received a report from Rear Admiral Witholt, although the War Office has a despatch from Port Arthur, partly dealing with naval matters. The Admiralty does not deny that both squadrons have gone out.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE FIFTY SCOUTS.

The war minister to-day received a despatch from Gen. Seilinsky, General Kuropatkin's chief of staff, reporting a couple of unimportant affairs between frontier guards and small parties of Chinese bandits near Port Arthur, and adding that the troops forming the garrison are in excellent spirits. Skirmishes occurred daily. The Russians captured fifty Japanese scouts on July 1, and the chief of police recently captured 240 head of cattle. There is an abundance of ammunition at Port Arthur, the despatch adds.

WHAT RUSSIA FIGHTS FOR.

M. Souherin, manager of the Novoe Vremya, in a leading article in that paper, which is attracting much attention, declares that it is not Manchuria nor Korea for which Russia is fighting, but it is for her future position in the far East, where covetous hands are stretched out not only by Japanese, but by the United States and Great Britain, which is the cause of American and English sympathy for Japan.

NO COMPLAINT FROM JAPAN.

Paris, July 9.—The Foreign Office discredits the reports that Japan has complained of the attitude of Germany and France. No such complaint or protest has been received. The only possible ground for a protest is the prospective coaling of the Russian Baltic fleet at French ports going on the way to the far East, but no protest would be warranted before the action occurs. Moreover France's course will be carefully kept within international rights.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

"I saw in The Planet," said a member of the High School Board this morning, "an article advocating the formation of a Board of Education elected by the citizens and a single Board to govern the Public and High schools. I think this is a very desirable thing to have all of the school trustees elected by the people and responsible to the people for their actions, and a single Board would prevent confusion and over-stepping and would forward continuity and uniformity of work."

OFFENCES THAT ARE HUSHED.

A bank clerk from Ingersoll was arrested and put in the county jail at Woodstock, charged by his employers with stealing seven hundred dollars. Bail was produced, he was liberated, and when the case came up for trial nobody appeared against him, he pleaded not guilty, and was acquitted.

The Sentinel-Review considers this a case that ought to be investigated by the Attorney-General. Of this case we have only the bare facts as here given, and it is possible that the whole thing may have been a misunderstanding, as the result would indicate. But in this or in some other case resembling it, there should be a full enquiry by the authorities, for the opinion is very general that embezzlements and thefts go unpunished very frequently—sometimes even after arrests have been made—when the relatives of the offender are willing to pay up, and protect the employers and the guarantee company from loss. When a man is arrested on a criminal charge the affair should not be capable of settlement by a payment of money. It means that a man may commit a theft, knowing that he is not making himself liable to the law, but merely imposing on the indulgence of his family. In most cases there is no noise, no arrest, but a settlement in private. In such cases the authorities, knowing nothing about it, can take no action, but where criminal proceedings are begun, the authorities should investigate, so that the idea will not prevail that the law is polite and particular in this respect for persons.

That excellent publication, The Year Book of Canada for 1903, gives the following list of survivors of the fathers of confederation:—

Hon. William McDougall, C. B., born January 25, 1822.
Hon. Sir Hector Langevin, K. C. M. G., C. B., born August 25, 1826.
Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., G. C. M. G., C. B., born July 2, 1821.
Hon. Sir Ambrose Shea, K. C. M. G., Nfld., born 1818.
Hon. A. A. McDonald, senator, born February 14, 1829.

The most recent deaths were those of Sir Oliver Mowatt, April 18, 1903, and Hon. R. B. Dickey, K. C., on July 14, 1903. Of Canadian representatives the oldest, but by no means the least vigorous, is Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. William McDougall is a veritable link with the past in this part of Canada. He was publishing the North American some 54 years ago, with a platform so boldly radical that it was denounced by "The Globe as revolutionary." Brown and McDougall afterwards joined forces; The North American was merged into the Globe, and Mr. McDougall joined the Globe staff. But both men had too much individuality and force of will to dwell together in amity, and even old-time reformers remember them as antagonists. McDougall was an admirable writer and speaker, with a kind of French neatness of style that contrasted strongly with the rush and volume of the stream poured out by Brown.

RESULTS OF ONE MAN'S WORK.

One of the most religious gatherings of the year is the international congress of the Salvation Army now in progress in London. At the demonstration in the Crystal Palace a hundred thousand Salvationists from almost every part of the civilized world, and some parts that are not civilized, were present. We don't know how many persons were represented by these delegates, but it is certain that the number who have come under the army's good influences and have received either spiritual or material benefit from it can be computed in millions.

Rarely has the originator of a religious movement lived to see his work bear such fruit as General Booth sees as the results of his labors. He started the army movement in 1865 while working as a Methodist preacher in the east end of London; but it was not until thirteen years later that he gave the organization which he had formed the name of Salvation Army. Since it got that name its growth has been wonderful. Its work extends to 49 countries, embracing 7,565 posts, and is in charge of 16,020 officers and employees, with 45,000 local officers and about 50,000 musicians. Originally intended as an organization for religious evangelization only, the army has in later years branched out into sociological work, and in this it has been eminently successful. It has 668 social relief institutions under the charge of nearly 3,000 officers. It has 413 rescue homes through which about 7,000 unfortunate women pass annually, 132 "settlements" in the slums of great cities, besides numerous industrial homes, workmen's hotels and lodging houses, labor bureaus, food depots, and several farm colonies.

All this vast and complex machinery for the good of humanity originated in the busy brain and big heart of one man—"the general," and is kept working and being constantly extended by means of his organizing genius and untiring energy. The Salvation Army is militant in organization as well as in spirit and method. It is a one-man organization. All its vast energies center in General Booth and receive their impetus from him. He is more than a dictator; he is the soul, the motive power of the whole. But the general is an old man now. He cannot live much longer. What will become of the army when he goes? Personal loyalty to him is a powerful cohesive force to hold the units of the great organization together. It is hardly to be expected that that loyalty can be transferred to another. When he goes, it is more than likely that the army will rapidly disintegrate.

But even if it should be disbanded to-morrow, the army has done an incalculable amount of good in the world. Among the lowest classes of the population of large cities its beneficial work has been especially great. What the churches should do but have failed to do, it has done. It has gone into the highways and byways seeking out the fallen and friendless and unfortunate in order to help them. And indirectly by its example as well as directly by its own efforts it has been a most potent influence for good in its time. The churches have caught the contagion of its enthusiasm and are doing better work because of the spiritual stimulus they have received from the army.

How much can be done by one man or woman who is profoundly in earnest!

This great home journal is really too much concerned in fulfilling its mission of supplying the people of this fine western peninsula with a wide-awake and vigorous daily newspaper, to mingle in a snarl with an unfortunate midget who has already been sufficiently chastised, and for whom it has only the most profound pity and sympathy.

SEEN' THE SIGHTS

"Say Bill, how did you like the percession," said a farmer on King St., on Saturday. "Wasn't it real fine though. Me and Cynthia and the kids have been in town ever since five o'clock this morning and we have our wagon loaded with vittals. We got excited when we heard the percession coming and Cynthia, she nearly had hysterics. You see we all had our eyes peeled for different things. The kids was looking out for the monkey cage and the animals. Cynthia she was waitin' for the steam plany and the clowns, and I was just crazy to have a look at those beautiful gals ridin' on horseback. One of them threw me a kiss, but Cynthia caught it, and would not pass it on, but gave the gal such a fierce look that her horse shied from fright. Say, do you think, Bill, a fellow could keep a lot of them circus cattle on a farm. Just think of your camel and having an elephant and camel for a house pet. The thoughts of it makes me awful thirsty, Bill. Well, I don't mind if I do."

REPORTING THE IROQUOIS THEATRE FIRE INQUEST A RECORD.

4,900,000 Words, or 3,300 Newspaper Columns, Taken by Three Shorthand Writers in Fifteen Days—With the Aid of Four Typewriters, the Report Was Ready for the Signature of the Witness As He Stepped Down.

The work of the shorthand writers in reporting the Iroquois Theatre fire inquest, held in Chicago a few weeks ago, was an event of more than ordinary importance to the shorthand world. It established a record in fast shorthand writing and the quick delivery of copy which will probably stand for a long time to come.

The inquest was held in the Common Council chamber in Chicago, and the reporters were Messrs. Walton, James and Ford of that city.
The proceedings began Jan. 7 and lasted for 15 days, during which time 176 witnesses were examined concerning that awful calamity. In that time 3,117 pages of testimony, or more than 700,000 words, were taken and transcribed by the reporters.
Seven copies of this were made, which would make a total of 4,900-000 words. Set in ordinary newspaper type, this matter would have made 3,300 columns, and if printed in column form would have reached more than one mile.

As each witness left the stand he was escorted to a committee room by a deputy coroner, where the typewriters and shorthand men were engaged in getting out the testimony.
As soon as the witness arrived in the room he was handed the first part of his testimony, which he read, signing each page thereof. Before he had concluded the reading of the first portion of his testimony the remainder of it was typewritten and ready for his examination and signature, with the result that every witness' testimony was in typewritten within three minutes after he left the witness stand. Five minutes after the inquest was concluded Coroner Traeger asked Mr. James, who was in direct charge of the work, how many days it would be before the official copy would be ready for delivery.

"If you will step to the typewriting room," we will give it to you now, with each page signed by the witness," answered Mr. James. "I have already sent copies of the testimony to the State's attorney, to the mayor, the corporation counsel, the city attorney, the fire marshal, and to the Iroquois Memorial Association."

Three expert shorthand reporters and four typewriter operators were used to accomplish this work. The first shorthand man had a "take" of five minutes, and was then relieved by the second. Going to the typewriter room, the first man would seat himself between two expert typewriter operators, split his take in the middle, and dictate his first portion to the typewriter on the left and the last portion to the typewriter on the right, dictating to two typewriters at the same time.
The second man would be relieved after taking five minutes, and he would use the other two operators in the same manner. By the time the third operator had concluded his five minutes' report the one who took the first portion of the testimony would have the first take transcribed and would relieve the third. In this way the shorthand men kept within five minutes of the actual proceedings in the delivery of copy.

The pay received by the operators for this 15 days' work was more than that earned by a man in the ordinary walks of life in three years.
Walton, James and Ford were retained by seven different people to report the inquest, and each of these people paid an attendance fee of $1 per hour, and the inquest ran, on an average, more than eight hours each day, making a total of $840 received for attendance alone. For the original official copy they received 50 cents a page, and for each of the carbon copies 15 cents a page, making a total of $1,400 a page, aside from the attendance fee. There were 3,117 pages in the inquest, and the readers are good enough mathematicians to figure out the profits.

A Clock Which Strikes 13.

The Bridgewater Trust, England, has a unique possession in a clock at Worsley which strikes thirteen. The Duke of Bridgewater, who built the canals and founded the Trust, maintained a personal oversight over the works and his employees. He was much irritated by the unpunctuality with which the men came back to work after the mid-day dinner hour.
The men pleaded in excuse that they did not hear the clock strike, one the signal for their return. Thereupon the Duke had a clock constructed to strike thirteen at one o'clock, thus cutting away the possibility of excuse. The clock was set up in 1789 and still strikes its baker's dozen at one p.m., though a bell has long been used to summon the men back to work.

Advertising Her Attractions.

Many of the Japanese ladies, as we know, are very charming, and this is how one of them advertised her attractions:

"I am a beautiful woman. My abundant, undulating hair envelops me as a cloud. Supple as a willow is my waist. Soft and brilliant is my visage as the satin of the flowers.
I am endowed with wealth sufficient to saunter through life hand in hand with my beloved. Were I to meet a gracious lord, kindly, intelligent, well educated, and of good title, I would unite myself with him for life, and later share with him the pleasure of being laid to rest eternal in a tomb of pink marble."

Compared with that, matrimonial advertisements in this grey land of ours are prosaic indeed.

A lump of sugar saturated with lemon juice and eaten slowly will cure hiccup.

Matthew Arnold as School Inspector.

It is said that Matthew Arnold in the character of school inspector never assumed the stereotyped manner and coldly critical air usually associated with such an official. Mr. G. W. E.
Russell says of him that he was "sympathetic without being condescending, and he reconciled the humblest drudge in a London school to his or her drudgery for the next twelve months."

See the tall figure, at once graceful and stately; the benign air, as of an affable archangel; the critical brow and inquiring eyeglass bent on some very immature performance in penmanship or needlework, and the frightened children and the anxious teacher, gradually lapsing into smiles and peace, as the great man tested the proficiency in some such humble art as spelling.
"Well, my little man, and how do you spell dog?" "Please, sir, d-o-g." "Capital! Very good, indeed! I couldn't do it better myself. And now let us go a little further and see if we can spell cat?" Chorus (excitedly)—Cat. "Now, this is really excellent!" To the teacher: "You have brought them on wonderfully in spelling since I was here last. You shall have a capital report.
Goodby."

How Roots Penetrate Hard Ground.

The extreme tips of a delicate root are protected by a sheath set with minute scales, which, as it is worn away by friction against the soil, is as constantly replaced, so that it acts as a wedge and the root thread is carried down unharmed. Another aid to penetration lies in the provision whereby the root, as it pushes downward in search of nourishment, exercises a slightly spiral, screwlike motion, which worms its tip into the ground. Another important agent is the acid cell sap, which exudes on and dissolves, to some extent, the rock or hard soil.
This may be tested by placing a small piece of polished marble in a pot in which a plant is set and covering it with earth. After some weeks the marble will be found to have been corroded by the continuous action of this acid.

THIS MUSICIAN IS DELIGHTED

His Kidney Disease and Gravel Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Tried Many Medicines But Got No Relief Till He Used The Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Rosedene, Ont., July 11.—(Special) —Mr. Samuel J. Crow, the well-known musician of this place, relates an experience that adds to the already great popularity of Dodd's Kidney Pills in this locality.

"I suffered for years with Kidney Trouble," says Mr. Crow, "which became aggravated with every attack of cold and caused me much agony.
The disease developed into Gravel, when it was totally unfit for anything."

"I tried different remedies without the desired result and was in much misery when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills when to my astonishment and delight I immediately began to recover."

"After using five boxes the ailment had entirely ceased and I was again enjoying perfect vigor, all of which I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills." The fact that Gravel yields so readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills is good news indeed, as it does away with those terrible operations that were supposed to be the only relief from this trouble.

The strokes of the pen need deliberation as much as those of the sword need swiftness.

MISTAKES IN LIFE.

Usually the Result of Some Flaw in the Man's Nature.

One of the most unprofitable ways of spending time is the practice, to which many persons are addicted, of brooding over the mistakes one has made in life, and thinking what he might have been or achieved if he had not done at certain times, just what he did do, writes William Matthews in Success. Almost every unsuccessful man, in looking over his past career, is inclined to think that it would have been wholly different but for certain slips and blunders—certain hasty, ill-considered acts into which he has betrayed almost unconsciously and without a suspicion of their consequences.

As he thinks of all the good things of this world—honor, position, power and influence—of which he has been deprived in some mysterious inexplicable way, he has no patience with himself, and, as it is painful and humiliating to dwell long upon one's own follies, it is fortunate if he does not implicate others—friends and relatives—in his disappointments. Perhaps, as education has never been free from mistakes—mistakes, indeed, of every kind—he implants the blame to his early training, in which habits of thoroughness and accuracy, or, again, of self-reliance and independence of thought, may not have been implanted. Perhaps a calling was chosen for him by his parents, without regard to his peculiar talents or tastes and preferences; or, if he was allowed to choose for himself, it was when his judgment was immature and unfit for the responsibility. The result was that the square man got into the round hole, or the triangular man into the square hole, or the round man squeezed himself into the triangular hole.

Now the fact is that, in all these mishaps, there is nothing exceptional. They are just what befall—all, or in part—every man who is born in a civilized country. No circumstances under which any man has been born and fitted for a career have been entirely happy. In view of these considerations, it has been justly said that to see a man, poker in hand, on a wet day, dashing at the coals, and moodily counting the world's mistakes against him, is neither a dignified nor engaging spectacle; and our sympathy flags with the growing conviction that people are constantly apt to attribute a state of things to one particular condition or mischance, which sooner or later, must have happened from some inherent weakness and openness to attack. It may be noted that, when men themselves attribute ill-success or mischance to separate distinct mistakes—as, for instance, to the choice of a certain adviser, or the engaging in some special speculation—those who have to observe them trace all to character. They see that, if failure had not come at such a juncture, it must have come at some other time, from certain flaws in the man's nature—that mistakes simply mark occasions when he was tested.
We see in a career a hundred chances thrown away and wasted, not at all from accident, though the actor, looking back, does not know why he chose the wrong—being the last to remember that a crisis is the occasion for hidden faults and predominating influences to declare themselves, so that his mistakes were, in a manner, inevitable.

Pessimists on Man.

In his first novel, "Vivian Gray," written almost in boyhood, Disraeli writes: "The disappearance of youthhood succeeds to the delusion of youth. Let us hope that the heritage of old age is not despair." While he writes thus in youth, with all the world before him, in his maturity he says in his finest novel, "Coningsby": "Youth is a blunder, manhood a struggle, old age a regret."

What has been called the most exquisite expression of pessimism is that of Sir William Temple: "When all is done, human life is at the greatest and the best but like a froward child, that must be played with and humored a little to keep it quiet till it falls asleep, and then the care is over."

Leopardi, the Italian essayist, says: "Our liveliest pleasures spring from illusions; hence it is that, while children find everything in nothing, men find nothing in everything."

A Gladstone Anecdote.

The sarcastic cheer is very common, and I recall one fatal example of its use. Mr. Gladstone was once drawing very remarkable conclusions
children find everything in nothing,
men find nothing in everything."

Awarded Rhodes' Scholarship.
Mr. Wm. E. Cameron has been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship for Prince Edward Island. He is a graduate of St. Dunstan's College, Charlottetown, and Laval University. The other competitors were Cyrus J. McMillan and Louis Brehant. The latter is the most brilliant student who has graduated from Dalhousie in ten years, but he lacked the athletic qualifications.

Japanese Farming.

The ingenuity of the farming in Japan may be inferred from the fact that the 45,000,000 inhabitants live almost entirely on the productions of a cultivated area about one-third the size of Ontario.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

All the rooms of the school are represented in the exhibition. The work exhibited is very creditable indeed to the efficient staff of teachers of the school as well as the pupils themselves.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOL-ERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

The uniform success of this remedy has made it the most popular preparation in use for bowel complaints.
It is everywhere recognized as the one remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant to take.
It is especially valuable for summer diarrhoea in children and is undoubtedly the means of saving the lives of a great many children each year.
For sale by All Druggists.

Forthought.

He—If I were thought to lose all my money would you marry me just the same? She—Not quite the same, dear. We should have to invite a few hundred more to bring us presents.

All Druggists will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

Conflicting Considerations.

"Don't you sometimes think you ought to give more heed to what posterity will think of you?"

"My dear sir," answered Senator Sorghum, "it's risky. You are in danger of letting it absorb your attention and forgetting what the assessor and the voters and the political bosses may think of you."

IT'S WHAT IT LEADS TO

That makes Catarrh such a dreaded disease. If you have Catarrh taint; drooping in the throat, if you hawk and spit and have a stuffed up feeling in your nostrils, you should use fragrant, healing Catarrh Remedy at once and get cured. Thousands have been saved from Consumption and completely cured by Catarrh Remedy, so there is no reason why you shouldn't stamp out your Catarrh also. Catarrh Remedy will really cure you and prevent the disease from returning.
It's very pleasant, just balsamic medicated vapor, no nauseous drugs. Absolute cure guaranteed to users of Catarrh Remedy; it can't fail, try it.
Complete outfit $1.00; sample size 25c.

Wives of Russian Priests.

A White Russian priest must be married, but he cannot marry a second time. If his wife dies he must enter a monastery. Hence the Russians tell many stories of the extraordinary means to which the priests resort in guarding the health of their wives. If the priest's consort sneezes, a mild panic ensues in the household.

Truth is the foundation of all knowledge and the cement of all societies.

Turkish Conspirators.

Midhat Pasha, formerly a power in Turkey as leader of a reform party, brought about the deposition of Sultan Abdul Aziz. Prince Murad then was proclaimed sultan. Five days later the ex-sultan committed suicide, a fact which was proved by nineteen doctors.
Ten days after the tragedy Sultan Murad became insane and was deposed and Abdul Hamid ascended the throne.
Midhat was banished, but was received with so much favor in Europe that the sultan became nervous and recalled him and appointed him governor of Syria. Here he did much good, but found himself called upon to resign in 1880. He next became governor general of Smyrna, but shortly afterward he was arrested with Mehmet Rushdi Pasha and others on a charge of being concerned in the murder of Abdul Aziz.
The trial dragged on for months, and Midhat, with others, was condemned to death, but on the intervention of the English government his sentence was changed to imprisonment for life. Mid-hat was sent to Taif, in Arabia, where many attempts were made to poison him, which were frustrated by his servant. One night, however, he was dragged from his room by some of the sultan's officials and strangled.

Strategy of the Cuckoo.

The Indian fruit cuckoo, which, like all members of the cuckoo family, lays its eggs in the nests of other birds and thus avoids the trouble of hatching them, is said to exhibit most interesting strategy in dealing with crows, which are its enemies. Whereas the hen, an inconspicuous speckled, gray bird, conceals herself in the foliage, the cock, remarkable for his brilliant black plumage and crimson eyes, places himself on a perch near a crow's nest and makes a great noise. The crows immediately rush out to attack him, and he takes to flight with them in pursuit. The hen meanwhile slips into the nest and deposits an egg. Sometimes the crows get back before the egg is laid, and then the intruding hen cuckoo gets a trouncing.—Youth's Companion.

Origin of the Picture Postal Cards.

The originator of pictorial post cards was a Frenchman, M. Besnardeau of Sille-le-Guillaume. In the department of La Sarthe. To this gentleman occurred the happy thought at the time of the war with Germany that, as there were 40,000 conscripts, most of them somewhat illiterate, in the camp of Conlie, he might as well sell them cards instead of paper and envelopes. He did so, illustrating his cards with pictures of cannons and shells, quickly cleared out his stock and responded to the continuing demand by issuing a second series, with spaces on which soldiers were invited to write the names of any battles in which they might have taken part.—Westminster Gazette.

The Leopard and the Kid.

To illustrate how perfectly he had the animal under control Professor Bach of Berlin once put a live kid in the cage with a leopard. Then the professor fixed his glittering eye on the savage beast and yelled that he should remain quiescent. Then he something wrong with the thought transference, for the leopard immediately changed his spots, and so did the kid. A blast, a growl and a crunch, and the illustration was ruined.

Milk and Bright's Disease.

A physician suffering with Bright's disease and weighing 155 pounds began to restrict himself exclusively to a milk diet, taking one quart at each meal, or three quarts daily. Soon no traces of his former ailment was perceptible. He gained thirty pounds in flesh, and this notwithstanding constant attention to professional duties both day and night.

A magazine writer tells "How to spend a million dollars." The article is all right and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my friends who have a million or two to spend.

Chas. F. Hicklin says that the Board of Works needn't drive around Chatham to detect things. If they would only walk south from King Street on Queen Street, when the wind is from the East, they would smell sufficient.

E. B. Northwood noticed A. B. out trolling with his best girl last night. This morning on the Erieau train, A. B. was telling what a good time he had been trolling. "Were you trolling?" queried E. B. "I thought you were spooning. I saw you had a spoon."

The Satellite feels bad this morning and all because a ticket butcher at the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. side shows thought The Planet's special looked green enough to short change. The Satellite being curious likes curious things, therefore, he went to the ticket man, the latter handed back 65 cents. He had about $20 worth of quarters lying in front of him. He picked up one quarter and began reaching for the small change. That put me wise. I knew what he was up to and when he passed down 65 cents I only smiled. The fellow didn't like the smile for before I could ask him he forked over another quarter and says sudden like that I had forgotten it. I didn't give a darn for the quarter but the fact that I looked green enough to short change was a heart breaker.

SHORT CHANGE.

"Better in that. His wife asked him to take her to the seaside."

"Did he?" "Well, he told her he couldn't afford the expense, but he would give her something just as good."

"And what did he do?" "Filled her shoes with sand, took all her money away from her, and blistered her nose with a sun glass."

BADLY BURNED

Chatham Township Man has Narrow Escape From Death—House Destroyed.

James Everitt, bachelor, who lives or rather did live, a mile or so up the river in Chatham township, now has no home, and but a stitch or two of clothing. Luckily—very luckily—he is still alive.

No one is certain, but rumor has it, that Jim came home at not too sober condition and in navigating around house upset a lamp. The house in which he lived alone might almost be called a shack and it was not long before it burst out in flames.

A couple of young fellows who happened that way, saw the place ablaze and ran in to see if there were any inmates of the burning house. They found Jim Everitt stupefied with the dense smoke and his clothes aflame. He was rescued, however, and is not badly burned. The place is a total loss without thing rescued. There was no insurance on the building at all.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICALS.

The residence of Miss Pearl Maggs was, on Friday evening, the scene of an exquisite musicale by the students of that accomplished young lady. The program—which was limited to the contributions of the pupils themselves, owing to the largeness of Miss Maggs's class—was a delightful and varied one, paying tribute alike to the ability and aptitude of the young musicians and the excellence of their teaching.

After the conclusion of the numbers an adjournment was made to Northwood's restaurant, where a splendid luncheon was served.

The program in full was as follows:

THORNTON & DOUGLAS Limited.

Lawn Sup- plies

are a specialty with us:

Do you need a grass catcher, or a pair of large shears to clip the corners, or a sprinkler of any pattern, maybe some new rubber hose? We have hose from 9c to 13c per foot with up-to-date attachments. We keep bug finish, par-green, blue stone, copperas, hedge pruners, lawn rakes, everything for the lawn and garden.

GEO. STEPHENS & CO.

Pale. Thin Pale cheeks, white lips, and languid step tell the story of thin blood, impure blood. Doctors call it "anemia." They recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. They know why it cures.

W. Riddell, James Riddell, Bert Riddell and Fred Guttridge spent Sunday at the Brigands' Castle, their stronghold.

Miss Mary McKeough is the only canoeist at the Eau. Miss McKeough has a beautiful new canoe. It is one of the prettiest that has ever been at Erieau.

E. B. Jones and T. J. Rutley went out fishing Saturday night and up-held the honor of the west-enders for catching big fish. Mr. Rutley got a 3-pound black bass and Mr. Jones got a 6-pounder and an 8-pound pike.

The residents of the west end are a little shy of sail boats just now. The Bonnie Belle, the Louise and the Awa are still on land. They have not yet been launched. Doc Arnold kindly came up in the Outlaw and took the west-enders for a splendid sail.

E. B. Northwood was worried Saturday on the Eau train. They sent his groceries all down to the Lake Erie station on Colborne street and he didn't know what to do. Hunger stared him in the face. However, he managed to pull through all right.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

Young or inexperienced housewives should always use

Cleveland's Baking Powder

It admits of no failures,—no soggy cake,—no biscuit to be thrown away; but digestible and nourishing food at every baking,—food that causes a look of satisfaction to go all around the table.
