

GERMANS MAKE DESPERATE EFFORTS TO RETAKE THE LINE OF PERONNE-BAPAUME

Attacks Endured For 12 Hours, Along Three Mile Front—Fighting Also at Bouchavesnes

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Sept. 21.—The London correspondent of The Tribune, calling last night, says: As if to disprove the statement that their counter assaults had lost their elan, the Germans made a desperate effort to-day to regain their hold on the Peronne-Bapaume road. A series of terrific rushes were hurled against the French and the British lines, but they made no headway. The blows began last night on both sides of the river, but they met with no success. On the French front the Germans penetrated some trenches, but Foch's troops drove them out in short order. This apparently was preliminary work—an attempt to feel out the strength of the new allied positions. With morning a greater effort was begun. This attack was confined to the French front in the sector between Ranocourt and Clercy. It aimed to regain possession of those parts of the Bapaume-Pedonne road won by the French a week ago. Through this gap it is possible for the allied troops to drive a wedge between the two towns. From 9 o'clock in the morning until nightfall, the attack continued with fury along a three-mile front. Moving forward in dense masses—as the Russians assault the Kaiser's troops threw themselves repeatedly at Foch's positions. Wave after wave broke under the intense fire of the French artillery. As each crest receded, it left behind its wreckage of dead and wounded. The ground before the French trenches was covered with corpses. Reports from the front indicate that the determination of the Kaiser's troops seldom was equalled. Around Priez farm, where the French position presents an immediate menace to Combles, the battle reached especial fury. Four separate assaults battered at the French line, but each time a curtain of fire was set up and through this the most desperate charges of the Germans could not crash. Another fierce struggle centred about Bouchavesnes, on the national highway. Here the Germans succeeded in winning a foothold in the village. Foch's infantry, with bayonets fixed, then sprang to the attack and after a hand-to-hand combat, drove the enemy out again. Each charge was preceded by a heavy bombardment, to which the allied guns responded effectively. The French machine guns and heavy artillery did the major work with their cross fire. Where they failed to stem the German attack the infantry succeeded. By nightfall the counter blow had been turned. The German losses were undoubtedly heavy. The ability of the allies to hold their gains is extremely encouraging. It must be remembered that the positions won by the allies have been almost completely unprotected by trench lines. That task was accomplished today.

A REMARKABLE GROUP FROM FRANCE.

BULGAR LOSSES IN MACEDONIA EVEN GREATER THAN BELIEVED

Serbian Fought With Persistence and Bravery in the Moglena Mountains During Early Days of September

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 21.—(New York Times cable)—The London Times special correspondent with the Serbian army, in a despatch dated Dragomanzli, Sept. 12, describes the culminating operation in the Moglena Mountains which, during the last few days, led to the capture of Florina and advance on Monastir. Watching the fighting from Prebisdze, the correspondent writes: "One could see shells from howitzers, mountain guns and 75's bursting on and around the opposite crests. The answering fire of the Bulgarians was most erratic and haphazard, judging by what we saw around the double battery of 75's about a quarter of a mile from our point of observation. "For perhaps an hour all their shells would land with unvarying precision on an area of about half an acre, some 200 yards north of the objective. Then evidently uncertain of what they had been doing, the gunners changed their aim, and for another hour their guns played with equal concentration on a spot 200 yards to the south of our battery, but quite harmlessly. "Our colonel told me that over 5,000 shells had been aimed at this same battery during the last month, with only one successful shot, which caused two casualties and broke three gun carriages. He added that most of the shells were those of a Turkish battery captured by the Bulgarians in the first Balkan war, and that, as was only to be expected from this circumstance, not more than half of them exploded. "The ridiculous inaccuracy of the enemy's fire is easily accounted for by the fact that the Bulgar-German air scouting service has entirely ceased to operate in this sector since the destruction of two of its machines a few weeks ago, while the Franco-Serbian armies, daily continuing to subject the Bulgarian lines to searching inspection, giving the allied artillery exact direction and range for its guns. "The Bulgarians must have had even greater losses among these mountains, than was first supposed, much greater than those the allies have suffered. Several hundreds have been buried by the Serbians, but there is a ravine a little way west of Vetremit at the bottom of which lie 300 dead Bulgarians. "Owing to the awful stench that arose from the ghastly heap the work of disinfection had to be left to the vultures and crows that gathered in thousands, and the purifying rays of the hot sun. "The heavy spears of deserters. Six came in here yesterday and five to-day. This is the first time Bulgarians have deserted to the Serbians. They imagined they were deserting to the French and were terribly frightened when they found themselves among their own injured kinsfolk. But the kind treatment and generous aiding they received soon reassured them and our colonel found no difficulty in inducing them to write a collective letter to their comrades on the other side, describing their present happy lot and advising them to surrender to the Serbians without delay."

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 21.—The German launched heavy counter-attacks last night on British positions south of the Ancre on the Somme front, the war office announced this afternoon. New Zealand troops, defending the attacked positions, beat off the Germans with severe losses to them.

SOCIALISTS ARRESTED

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 21.—The Wireless Press gave out to-day a despatch from Zurich to the effect that 150 Socialists were arrested in Berlin on the ground that they were concerned in agitation against the war. Although over military age, they are said to have been sent to the front.

Von Tirpitz in Trouble at Berlin, Over Sub Affair

Is Accused of Deceiving Authorities Concerning Success of Campaign—Clash Looked for when Reichstag Convenes.

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, Sept. 20, via London, Sept. 21, 12:30 p.m.—Renewed and full discussion in the Reichstag of the submarine issue and the controversy, which led to the retirement of Admiral Von Tirpitz as minister of the navy, appears to be inevitable in consequence of the publication yesterday of the letters exchanged between Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and the admiral. From these letters the public learned that in a private conversation Professor Valentin asserted Admiral Von Tirpitz has misled the Reichstag in regard to the number of available submarines and the possibility of a submarine campaign. The admiral demanded that the chancellor discipline Prof. Valentin, but the chancellor, while freeing the admiral from the charges took the position that the professor was not subject to his disciplinary powers. These letters, however, touched only the fringes of accusations and allegation which for months have been circulating from mouth to mouth in connection with this controversy. There is attributed to Prof. Valentin not only the statement that Admiral Von Tirpitz furnished incorrect figures regarding the number of available submarines, which charge the chancellor declares unfounded, but also the declaration that the admiral deliberately misled the Reichstag and the chancellor regarding the previous submarine campaign and the amount of tonnage destroyed and that the Foreign Office obtained the correct figures only from the papers stolen from the admiral. This account of Prof. Valentin's conversation not only reached Admiral Von Tirpitz, but was submitted in the form of an affidavit to the Bavarian war ministry and formed one of the subjects of discussion at the audience granted last month by the King of Bavaria to a delegation which demanded a change in the imperial policy and the sharpest possible warfare against Great Britain. In a communication printed in the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung this afternoon, Prof. Valentin denies flatly any mention of the theft of papers from the admiralty or that, as charged in the affidavit, he cited as authority for this statement the chancellor, with whom at that time he was not acquainted. There has arisen a sharp issue of veracity between Prof. Valentin and the author of the affidavit, Professor Grossmann, editor of The South German Monthly, a prominent political periodical. The partisans of the admiral and the chancellor, the protagonists of ruthless submarine warfare and those opposing a breach with the United States, have thrown themselves into the controversy, and by the time the Reichstag convenes, ample material for a vigorous clash doubtless will be available to the Reichstag orators as well as to the chancellor, should he determine to refer to the issue in his expected speech on the general situation.

Von Mackensen Checked in His Advance in Dobrudja

Heavy Fighting of the Day Is Mostly on Eastern Fronts, Where Allies Make Progress Everywhere.

London, Sept. 21.—Field Marshal Von Mackensen's advance through the Roumanian province of Dobrudja, where his combined German, Bulgarian and Turkish forces have been striking for the railroad from Constantza to interior Roumania, has been checked, according to accounts from both sides of the struggle. Bucharest yesterday announced a check for Von Mackensen's armies on the line of defense of the Serbian and heavily reinforced. To-day a statement by the Sofia war office announced that the resistance and stubbornness of the Entente armies still hold reports their strongly fortified positions. Reports regarding the fighting in Macedonia are conflicting. Accounts from the eastern sources have asserted the Bulgarians were falling back on the Serbian territory and preparing for the defense of Monastir. Sofia, however, announces a turn in the fighting favoring the counter-attacks resulted in the repulse of the Serbian and allied troops with heavy losses. Further east in the mountainous country along the Serbian border, the engagement is a heavy one all along the line, the struggle in the Kaimakalan district being particularly stubborn. On the far western end of the line, the allies are making progress, but are apparently at tempting no serious forward thrusts.

Petrograd, Sept. 21.—Via London 3:20 p.m.—German troops have assumed the offensive against the Russians on the River Stokhod in the region of the Kovel-Rovno railway line, in Volhynia, says the official statement, issued to-day by the Russian war department. REVOLUTION IN GREECE?

Reported That Isle of Crete Revolts and Proclaims Government.

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 21.—A revolution in the Greek island of Crete is reported in a Havas despatch from Athens. The revolutionists are said to have proclaimed a provisional government. Several revolutionary outbreaks in Greece have been reported since the entrance of Roumania into the war and the occupation by the Bulgarians of the eastern portion of Greek Macedonia, which resulted in an agitation in favor of participation by Greece in the war. Last month revolutionists obtained control of parts of Greek Macedonia near Saloniki and proclaimed a provisional government. The movement was said to be extending, but further news was withheld by the censor. The Island of Crete, 150 miles long, with a population of some thing more than 300,000 is in the eastern Mediterranean, sixty miles from the southern extremity of Greece. It is the former home of ex-Premier Venizelos. Under the treaty of peace between Greece and Turkey in 1913 the island was annexed by Greece.

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 21, noon.—The French have made another gain in the Verdun sector, where they captured two trenches and 100 prisoners south of the Thiaumont work, according to an official statement issued by the war office. They also gained 100 yards east of Fort Vaux and in the Chapire Wood. Bad weather still halts operations on the Somme and German attacks have not been renewed.

BULGARS REPULSED

Russo-Roumanians Repulse All Attacks in Dobrudja

By Courier Leased Wire. Bucharest, Sept. 21, via London 3:36 p.m.—The battle in Dobrudja, between the Danube and the Black Sea, continues with intensity along the whole line. Official announcement was made here to-day that the Russians and Roumanians have repulsed the Germans and Bulgarians in all their attacks, inflicting severe losses on them. Roumanian troops which have been retreating in Transylvania have halted their retirement south of Petroseny, the statement says. Following is the announcement: "On the northwestern front there were small skirmishes in the Strein valley. Our troops have halted their retirement south of Petroseny, where they are fortifying themselves. "In Dobrudja the struggle continues with obstinacy. Russo-Roumanian troops repulsed, in sanguinary manner on the whole front, all attacks of the enemy and made several counter-attacks. "Enemy aeroplanes dropped bombs on Conctanza, where no one was injured, and on Piatra Neamt, where a child was injured."

Canadian Casualties

By Courier Leased Wire. Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The militia department is informed that Canadian losses on the Somme number about 400 killed, 1,200 wounded and 300 missing. There are no official details of the fighting. Aggregate Canadian casualties to August 31, were 37,861, including 8,644 dead, 27,212 wounded, 1,282 missing and 723 missing and "presumed dead."

British Lead in War Inventions

By Courier Leased Wire. Chicago, Sept. 21.—The British are manufacturing new war inventions "which would turn the Krupp green with envy," according to Dr. Benjamin Rand of Harvard University, who returned from a visit to England to-day on the Steamship Andania. Accorded privileges of inspection by the British foreign office, Dr. Rand said he visited munition and ordnance factories and saw "some astounding inventions," but that he was pledged not to disclose their nature. He found among every class, he said, an intense determination to do all possible to win the war. In one factory he saw 7,000 women at work, uniformed in khaki. New factories were being built, he said, and existing ones constantly extended.

Hon Robt. Rogers Now on Stand

By Courier Leased Wire. Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—Hon. Robt. Rogers, Minister of Public Works, was a witness this morning before Mr. Justice Galt, sitting as commissioner to investigate the Manitoba Agricultural College. He was examined by Hugh Phillips, counsel for the government. Mr. Rogers said he was Minister of Public Works for Manitoba in 1911 and 10 October ninth. He identified Commissioner Galt's recent message to him regarding evidence given by W. H. Carter, contractor, and his reply. Mr. Rogers said he was informed by Chief Architect Hooper of the Public Works department, that Carter, Halls and Aldinger could not erect the power house at their tendered price of $60,025. He approved of the architect's opinion. This was soon after the tender was received. "When the tenders were opened by Hooper and myself," said the minister, "I recommended the acceptance of Carter's as the lowest, and a short time afterwards Hooper presented the condition that from his point of view it was impossible to erect the building at the tender price."

NEWS FROM SIMCOE

Fire, Caused by Spark From Engine, Destroys Delhi Station.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

News from Simcoe Take One (From our own correspondent) Rev. S. J. Pinnock, of Toronto, will preach in the Baptist Church on the five Sundays of October.

Simcoe seems to attract missionaries. Rev. R. E. S. Taylor, missionary to West China, under the Canadian Methodist Board and now on furlough, recently took a furnished home on Lynwood Avenue, and will complete his furlough here, leaving in January.

The pulpit at St. Paul's was occupied by August W. Taylor on furlough from Central India. The late Dr. Jamieson, of Trinidad, made Simcoe his furlough headquarters for some years, and previous to this to China, where he had gone to take up the work which the Dr. was forced through ill-health to leave when no longer able to continue in service, retired to Simcoe, and yet, Simcoe has not provided many missionaries for the home or foreign field. The Baptist Church here have two in recent years, Miss Ida Ryerse and Mr. Ralph Smith. The Anglican and Presbyterian Churches do not appear to have given any missionaries for some years.

Major Williamson, Judge Boies, Rev. A. B. Farney and Messrs. Silver Curtis, Lawson McCall, W. C. Alken and McGuire spent yesterday afternoon playing Scotch doubles with Waterloo bowlers. It was not a town against town match, but the draw gave the opening line up pretty much that completed. Mr. McGuire and Judge Boies won the final match. The game was over at 6.30. It is stated that Arthur Mills, of Charlotteville, threshed 180 bushels of wheat from four acres and 190 bushels of oats from three acres.

Rev. A. B. Farney left for London after the bowling match at Waterloo yesterday. He will attend a diocesan committee meeting on church extension, and will on Sunday preach Thanksgiving sermons at Port Rowan on Sunday. Simcoe Anglicans will hear Rev. Bloodroot of Port Rowan.

Rev. J. H. McEwan will preach an anniversary sermon in Welland on Sunday.

Pte. McGarry, of Waterloo, over-stayed his leave from camp, and wired in that he was ill. He was given till yesterday morning to report in, and failing to do so officers from here went over and found him fit. He is on his way to camp.

Jack Smith, who signed up in police court some months ago, as an alternative to an unknown sentence and disappeared without notifying the khaki, has sent word that he will be at the family home to-morrow and is desirous of having an escort to Camp Borden.

Major W. G. Jackson, C. O. of A company, and Capt. Heath, C. O. of D company, returned from Ottawa last night after finishing their special officers' course in musketry. They will not return to camp until after the week-end.

The 133rd spent last night in the trenches, and it is feared that they may have lost the C. O. He got out in front of the first line when last the battle was on the firing line and

ROLL OF HONOR

Several thousand officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company enlisted for active military duty with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and the majority of them are now in Europe, bravely battling for Canada and the Empire.

As particulars of Army Reservists are not available, these lists of those who have given up their lives for their country or been wounded in action are necessarily incomplete, and do not therefore indicate fully the extent to which the Company's officers and employees have participated in the great struggle.

There was considerable freight in store. The fire licked up an adjacent chicken house, along with the fowl. Several houses took fire but the brigade did take three news from Simcoe.

excellent work and saved all of them. The building was an old wooden structure, and the only local regret at its disappearance is the prospect of a long box car accommodation for the fire. The only origin for the fire suggested is the conventional "spark from an engine."

The Phoenix club, Battersby house and Queen's Hotel passed inspection to-day. The Inspector was at Port Dover yesterday. Inspector Cook challenges the statement of the Port Rowan News, copied by a local paper, which asserts that there are no male teachers in that town or the adjoining township of South Walsingham. Two, he says are in Walsingham, one of them for at least three years. The Inspector is a close reader of the country newspapers and half a dozen failures.

We have it on good authority that it is the present intention of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to have the new Book of Praise printed in England as the one now in use was.

Sofia, Sept. 21, via London.—Bulgarian successes in the Florida district on the Macedonian front, are announced by the war office in today's official statement. The tide of battle turned favorably to the Bulgarians, who inflicted heavy losses on the Entente forces in operations in which the Bulgarian cavalry took part. The statement reads: "Macedonian front: 'The battles around Florida are developing favorably for us. In strong counter attacks, in which our cavalry participated, the enemy was repulsed with great losses. The plateau is covered with enemy dead. GERMANY BROODS OVER PLIGHT

Under British Embargo, She Quarrels With Neutral Countries.

Berlin, (via The Hague), Sept. 20.—For the past week rumors have gained wide currency in Germany that relations with Denmark are strained to a dangerous point. Similar rumors also had it that Holland was restive and war feverish. While these rumors are theoretically attributed to British agencies in neutral countries, it seems more likely that they have arisen spontaneously in a highly sensitive public mind, and are, perhaps, to be viewed as significant symptoms of the latest phase of the economic war wherein the indirect pressure of the British blockade is being more and more felt, and consequently gaining greater importance.

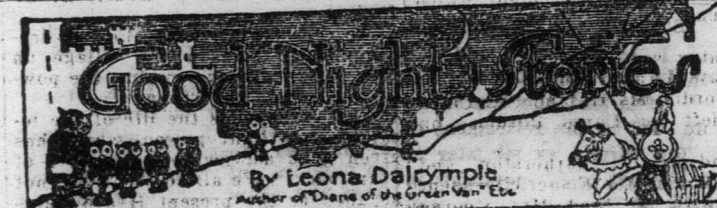

Under the growing pressure of Britain, both Denmark and Holland have diminished their food exports to Germany to a degree that is unpleasantly noticeable, and public opinion instinctively senses that if this increasing British pressure on adjacent neutrals continues to its logical limit it will mean the complete closure of neutral borders to food exports into Germany, which would be tantamount to war.

As Denmark, with Holland in the second line, has gone the farthest in clapping on food embargoes under British pressure, the public, with shrewd intuition, has absorbed other shrewdly founded war rumors, particularly regarding these two neutral countries.

GRANNY'S FEATHER TREE

Granny Grundel's cottage in the fairy forest was as quaint a spot as you could find. Small? It couldn't be any dearer, 'twas no bigger than a doll's house. And Granny with her broom of twigs kept it as clean as a whistle, and a whistle must be clean, for every time you blow through it you blow the dust out. It had gables—that tiny cottage—and a garden of fairy flowers. But there! I must tell you about 'Granny's' feather-tree, for the whole forest was jealous.

You see it came about this way. Granny's friend, the giantess, had a horn-beam tree on her hat for a plume and it had taken such a vast amount of talking to pick just the proper tree that Granny almost lost her patience.

"Dear me," she sighed, "I do wish some fairy would invent a new kind of tree, I'd like to have it here in my garden. I've talked trees so much with the giantess that I'm tired of them all."

And with that an idea popped into Granny's head that made her laugh and clap her hands with delight.

"I'll do it!" she cried. "I'll do it and everybody in the forest will be green with envy. If the giantess can use a tree for a plume, why—"

But Granny said no more, fearful lest the wind might carry her secret to other fairy cars.

Now there came a day when, drawn by a pair of rabbits, a cart drove up to Granny's door and from it four elves unloaded a wonderful tree, such a tree, indeed as no one had ever seen in the fairy forest. Snow-white it was and fringed and it curled and fluffed most beautifully in the wind. Granny and the elves planted it in the garden and in almost no time there were elves and fairies and gnomes and dwarfs crowding around to stare at it.

"Never was there such a tree," they cried. "Even the broom is nothing like so white and the poplar is not so fluffy. 'Tis more beautiful than the horse-chestnut in bloom. Nobody else has ever been able to find a tree small enough for a fairy's garden."

But Granny just laughed and said nothing at all and the white fringed tree in the garden tossed and curled and fluffed for the starting of the wind. "Granny," begged an old fairy, "tell where you got it. 'Tis a beautiful tree."

And then Granny laughed and laughed until her spectacles fell off her nose and caught in her kerchief of cobweb.

"Why," she cried, "you silly, silly wee folk! If the giantess can use a tree for a plume, can't I use an ostrich plume for a tree in my garden?"

And there you have the true tale of Granny's feather-tree.

THE SITUATION

The Teutons made a terrific effort yesterday to come back against the French troops in the Somme, but without avail. Their object was to break the iron ring which has been closing around Peronne and Comblès and the troops under command of the Bavarian Crown Prince were sent in wave after wave of massed formation against Joffre's men, only to be hurled back with terrible losses.

The come back of the Serbians still holds. They have delivered a staggering blow at the Bulgarian right wing in Macedonia, and have captured a dominating mountain peak besides pushing their lines still further. They are now within a few miles of Monastir, the chief Bulgarian base.

The Roumanians still continue to do well, although the fighting in the Dobruja region is of a fluctuating nature as regards results.

It is said that the Greek demand upon Germany for the return of the soldiers who surrendered at Kavala is in the form of an ultimatum. The time limit expires to-night and refusal can hardly mean anything less than the entry of Greece into the war.

A despatch from London says that the full story of how the Canadians acted in the recent Somme offensive will, "thrill the great Dominion like a heroic song." French-Canadians are specially mentioned and this will add to the regret that more of them are not with the colors.

RAILWAY TO TERRACE HILL

The conference last evening between a deputation from Terrace Hill and the Street Railway Commissioners took the admirable form of a heart to heart talk with reference to the best manner in which to extend the municipal line to that district. Reclamation was entirely absent and there was a get-together spirit which proved very pleasing. Too often the general public are apt to thoughtlessly criticize trustees of the people who for their part are usually endeavoring to discharge their duties faithfully and well.

The absolute need for a street railway service for Hill residents has long been conceded, and there is equally no doubt that it would prove a paying proposition. The war time has led to hesitation because of the tremendous rise in the price of material needed, but there is the equipment to Blue Lake available, and the suggestion was made last night that the $30,000 owing to the city by the Lake Erie and Northern Railway might be partly taken out in material.

The Courier hopes to see this extension accomplished in the not distant future.

GERMANY FEELING THE STRAIN

Indications multiply that the Huns are commencing to severely feel the strain. The Courier special wire service last evening conveyed the information that a captured document, signed by General von Falkenhayn, issued the warning that "the wastage of guns in the last few months has been considerably in excess of production." He further stated: "The same is true of the ammunition in our reserves, of which there has been a very serious diminution." He concluded by urging all ranks to make a serious endeavor to avoid waste, or otherwise making good the losses or placing new formations in the field, would be impossible. There can be no mistaking the significance of such an order. It means that the prodigal use of munitions is beginning to tell and that reserves which, at the outside were supposed to only be ample for two years of war, are commencing to become depleted in the third. This is one of the reasons no doubt why the Huns in the Somme fighting have been so unsuccessful in their counter-attacks.

Another illustration of the fact that the German people are commencing to become apprehensive as to the outcome of the struggle, is to be found in the circumstance that the last war loan is not meeting with the response expected.

Still a third symptom of national unrest is a threatened stormy session of the Reichstag, with talk of a coalition ministry in order to help save matters.

Faith in the boast of the Prussian war lords that their hosts could not be broken, and would prove all conquering, is manifestly most decidedly on the wane.

HUGHES ALL THE WAY.

The indications on the other side of the line are that Wilson hasn't any chance of retaining the job of President. In this regard, the Philadelphia Inquirer recalls the fact that when he did succeed on the last occasion it was by the minority vote of the people. Taft and Wilson between them polled 7,604,462 and the present occupant of the White House 6,293,019, or 1,311,443 votes behind the others. The record for recent years has been as follows:—

- 1888—Jas. A. Garfield, R. 4,449,051 W. S. Hancock . . . 4,442,045
1884—Grover Cleveland, D. 4,911,017 James G. Blaine . . . 4,848,334
1888—Grover Cleveland, D. 5,538,933 Benjamin Harrison. 5,440,246
1892—Grover Cleveland, D. 5,556,918 Benjamin Harrison. 5,176,108
1896—Wm. McKinley, R. 7,104,779 William J. Bryan . . 6,358,133
1900—Wm. McKinley, R. 7,207,923 William J. Bryan . . 6,358,133
1904—Theo. Roosevelt, R. 7,623,486 Alton B. Parker . . . 5,077,911
1908—William H. Taft, R. 7,678,908 William J. Bryan . . 6,409,104
1912—Woodrow Wilson, D. 6,293,019 William H. Taft . . . 3,484,956 Theo. Roosevelt . . 4,119,507

Wilson not only has the disadvantage this time of facing a re-uniting of the Republican and Bull Moose parties, but in addition the protectionist interests in the States are against him and strange to say he has alienated the large Teutonic vote. His continuous and sometimes debasing efforts to keep Uncle Sam out of the war, have not been appreciated by the hyperated gentlemen, who consider that his notes to the Berlin authorities were too rough and peremptory. Hughes will get this element, the mores the pity.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Canadian post office returns for the last fiscal year show that the great volume of extra business, mainly owing to the war, has been handled with a very little increase in cost. The figures show a net revenue of $18,858,409, as compared with $13,046,649 in 1915, or an increase of $5,711,000; while the expenses have only increased $47,947. The result is a surplus of $2,849,000, as compared with a deficit last year of $2,914,000. The showing is all the more gratifying, as it has not been attained at the expense of efficiency.

The directors of the Brantford Royal Loan and Savings Company in taking $25,000 of bonds of the new war issue, not only show a patriotic feeling, but also the keen business acumen for which this institution is noted.

The man who has any growl about Camp Borden hasn't the make up to go to the front anyway.

In the States there is a demand for government action with reference to the increasing cost of bread. The people there evidently have the impression that it is paying 'too much to loaf.

Right now a whole lot of those Huns wish more than ever that they had got to the French capital with half a chance at those Paris restaurants.

TERRIBLE FLOOD.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Red Cross officials to-day gave serious consideration to the state department despatch stating that nearly a million Chinese are homeless and thousands dead as a result of the flooding of seven thousand square miles by overflow of the Hwai River in Anhui province China, two months ago. The United States consul at Nanking reported that autumn crops were destroyed and calls for relief were pouring in from many districts. The flooded area is about the same as that inundated in 1909 with a loss of nearly one million lives. A projected $30,000,000 Chinese Government loan for reclamation work was made impossible by the European war.

Ferdinand Schupp put the fifteenth straight victory on record for the Giants when he defeated the Chicago Cubs 4 to 2. Schupp held the Cubs to six hits, gave only one free pass, and struck out five men. The Giants found Lavender in the fourth inning, and when the session was concluded two runs had been scored. The tie was broken in the seventh, when a double by Holke, the Rochester re-cruiter, a triple by McCarty, and Burns' infield out accounted for two more tallies.

THE TONIC THAT BRINGS HEALTH

"Fruit-a-tives" Builds Up The Whole System

Those who take "Fruit-a-tives" for the first time, are often astonished at the way it builds them up and makes them feel better all over. They may be taking "Fruit-a-tives" for some specific disease, as Constipation, Indigestion, Chronic Headache or Neuralgia, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism or Pain in the Back. And they find when "Fruit-a-tives" has cured the disease, that they feel better and stronger in every way. This is due to the wonderful tonic properties of these famous tablets, made from fruit juices.

NEWS FROM PARIS

Wedding Bells Have Been Ringing in the Neighboring Town.

Paris, Sept. 20.—(From our own correspondent.)—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Church of the Sacred Heart this morning at 10 o'clock when Mary Secord, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bonney, West River street, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles L. Shepherd, of Tracey, California, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shepherd, of Oakland, Cal. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Cassidy, while Miss Bella Cahill ably presided at the organ. The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly attired in white crepe de chene, and George crepe and silk trimmings. She also wore a veil made in mop cap fashion, with valley lilies and carried an ivory prayer book. The bride's sister, Miss Celia, was bridesmaid and was gowned in pink crepe de chene, with a black velvet picture hat, and carried pink roses. Mr. Joseph Shepherd of Creton, Iowa, supported his brother. After the wedding ceremony the guests adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served—the home being decorated in pink and white, and the bride's table with pink and white flowers.

ESCAPE FROM PRISON CAMP

Three Canadian Soldiers Believed Dead, Reach London at Last.

London, Sept. 20.—Registered as dead by the Canadian Pay and Record Office, which was about to authorize distribution of their effects, Lance-Corporal Edward Edwards, of the Princess Patricia's, Pte. James Jerry Burke (1216), Eighth Battalion, Winnipeg, and Pte. M. C. Simonds (23445), of Seventh Battalion, Port Arthur, have arrived in London, after having escaped from a German prison camp. They experienced some strenuous adventures. For three weeks they were at large slyly and cautiously wending their way to the Holland frontier, they covered a distance of about 150 miles. In Holland the fugitives, to their surprise, found a warm welcome. In fact, a local band headed them in procession to the Mayor, who in turn communicated with the British Consul, with the result that they were shipped to England.

Corporal Edwards is a Scotchman, who had been living in Toronto. His number, 39, shows he was an early enlistment. Ptes. Burke and Simonds are Canadian born. The first two were taken prisoners at Ypres last year.

In the week-end fighting the Canadians found themselves opposed by Wuertembergers, as at Ypres. Captain Morton, of Windsor, Ont., who is in a hospital at London with illness, left the front a few hours before the heavy fighting commenced.

A RUMOR. —The rumor is current that Brantford may get another new and important industry. The concern spoken of will specialize in steel plates and kindred products, and Montreal capital is named as beholding the venture.

COLLISION. —A slight collision occurred this morning shortly before noon, on Dalhousie Street, when in passing each other a delivery wagon of the Gordon Grierson Co., and an automobile collided. The damage was only slight, the rear mudguard of the car being twisted somewhat, while the wagon, though it seemed for a moment to be about to overturn, escaped with one wheel bent.

NEW GREEN. —The Echo Place Bowling Club are progressing rapidly in the construction of their new greens, on the north side of the Hamilton road, and expect to have them in a finished state this fall. A new club house is also proposed, but as yet the date of the erection has not been definitely decided upon. However, the officials of the club feel confident that with the rapid growth now being experienced by Echo Place that the future of the club is assured.

AUCTION SALE CONTINUED. —Two days were not sufficient in which to dispose of all the goods at the Imperial Hotel Auction Sale, and on Page Two will be found a list of chattels which will be sold by auction on the premises, King St., on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The death in Toronto of Mr. D. W. Karn, for many years a prominent resident of Woodstock, removes a man who had many friends in Brantford. He moved to the Queen City about two years ago, and his many excellent qualities won for him the respect of everyone with whom he came in contact. Mr. Karn was one of the victims in the St. George bridge accident, and received such injuries that it was thought he would never entirely recover. He did, however, even to the extent of resuming tennis and lawn bowling, both of which games he was very fond.

GAVE PICTURE

Miss Sarah Tupper, and old resident of Brantford, whose father carried on an extensive business here in the early fifties, has presented to the Brantford Historical Society, through Col. Leonard, an interesting amber type picture of Nathan Gage. Mr. Gage at one time owned all the property between Lorne bridge and Market street, on the south side of Colborne, and was one of the early citizens of Brantford.

TOWN PLANNING

An invitation to attend the conference to be held in Hamilton on October 2nd and 3rd, for the purpose of town planning, has been extended to City Clerk Leonard and the members of the city council. The question to be considered will be municipal government and finance, town planning and good roads, and the problems that will be to the fore after the war. This is the second annual convention held for this purpose, and an interesting and instructive program is provided.

WRENCHED KNEE

Mr. H. Fisher, M. P., was brought to the Brantford hospital yesterday afternoon and Dr. Secord made an X-ray examination of his knee, which was so badly injured in a mishap some time ago. Unfortunately his foot slipped when he was coming downstairs on Sunday, and the investigation showed that some ligaments were torn and a couple of small bones pulled apart. Mr. Fisher returned to his home last evening. The second mishap is not serious, but will still further retard the use of the leg. Mr. Fisher's countless friends will be sincerely sorry to hear of this second misfortune.

A very interesting program was offered, in which the following persons assisted: Dr. Henderson, representing Wellington St. church; Miss Davidson, Miss Bloxham, Miss Westbrook, Mr. Bert Scott, Miss Hicks and the choir of the church. The anniversary services were held the preceding Sunday, and were conducted by Rev. W. R. Smith of Oxford street church, and Rev. W. E. Baker of Colborne street.

Terrace Hill Citizens Wait on Railway Commissioners

Promise Is Made that Street Railway will be Put Through to the Hill at Earliest Possible Opportunity.

That the Street Railway Commissioners are making an honest effort to provide Terrace Hill with Street Railway service at the earliest possible moment, was given out at the regular meeting of the board held last evening.

A deputation from the executive of the Terrace Hill Ratepayers' Association was present, consisting of Messrs. I. S. Armstrong, I. D. Scruton, J. W. English and S. Cayless. They were there to offer suggestions as to route, and to assure the board that they would do all in their power to back the commissioners in any effort they might make to go forward with the work immediately.

Mr. I. D. Scruton, acting as spokesman for the deputation said that it was agreed by everybody, including the commissioners, that a line to the Hill would be a paying proposition. It was also conceded that the line had been promised and was long overdue. The ratepayers in this section recognized there was a labor problem on, but felt that in a few weeks enough men might be available to start work. They had been informed that the commissioners had on hand considerable material and with that at Blue Lake, which the commissioners were endeavoring to lift, ought to be enough to reach the Hill. The deputation wished to suggest that a line be built branching off Market St. at Grey, along Grey to Clarence, under the Clarence St. subway to Dundas street to the hill. This would give a direct line to the hill without change, and would also serve a section of the city below the hill which ought to be a good revenue producer—Brantford Laundry, Bucks, Ham and Notts, etc.

It was suggested that when the rails are laid along the proposed route so as to be on the ground when labor would be available. The main thing was to get the line started, if there was only enough material to reach the top of the hill. It was realized that the rails on hand were not the weight for permanent use, but were sufficiently heavy to serve the purpose for four or five years till conditions would be bettered.

Mr. J. W. English took up the question of the grade on Dundas street hill, and showed that he had a splendid knowledge of the requirements. He stated that a cinder ballast along Dundas street on top of the stand would be the equal of light gravel and would be satisfactory.

A free and easy discussion followed. Mr. Turnbull said that the commissioners had the proposed line in view before the deputation had presented it, and it appealed to them as the one feasible, quick way of reaching the hill without transfer and would tap a productive section of the city. He felt that the commissioners needed ten men to lift the rails at Blue Lake. As yet five had only been secured. They had tried to borrow men from other railways, but trackmen and foreigners used to this work were not available. They were doing their best to get men and hoped to succeed soon.

Mr. Calbeck, while favoring the proposed line, said that, in his opinion, the only proper solution of street car service to the hill was through the proposed St. Paul's avenue subway. It should be opened for other reasons. Mr. Turnbull said he still clung to a line up Pearl street and through the Albion street subway, along Lawrence St., to St. Paul's avenue to the hill. He contended that this would be an exceptionally good paying investment. During the discussion the suggestion was made by Mr. Scruton that owing to the fact that the L. E. and N. had not paid over the $30,000 for the Paris-Galt section that perhaps the commissioners could take out part payment in rails and material to put the line to Terrace Hill. Mr. Calbeck said that the Mayor and Council did not seem in a hurry to force payment owing to the fact that the money was drawing interest until payment was made. The Mayor came in for harsh criticism for his stand on the arrangement the commissioners had made with regard to the crossing on Colborne St. It was a direct saving of over $100 a year to the city. The Mayor simply did not know the facts or he would not assume the stand he did.

Much further discussion of a general sort took place. The interview was cordially conducted, and was considered by both parties as a straight business proposition.

Before retiring, Mr. Armstrong, in thanking the deputation for their courtesy, stated that he realized that public servants entrusted with the conduct of the ratepayers' affairs, did not receive enough backing and support in their efforts to serve the municipality. Sympathy was lacking, and kicks registered when a boost once and awhile was what was needed. He sympathized with the commissioners in their problems, and assured them that the ratepayers of the hill were reasonable and only wanted them to do their best to provide them with a much needed convenience.

The commissioners appreciated the attitude of the deputation and assured them that they would do their best to give service as soon as possible.

The White Sox came out on the long end of an even score, seven to a slugfest at the expense of three Philadelphia pitchers. E. Collins and Weaver led in the hitting, the former getting four singles and a pass, and the latter three singles. Chicago is now in second place, a game and a half behind Boston.

Wedding Bells

A host of Brantford's younger set will rejoice in the union of two of its most popular members in the marriage of Mr. Arthur Harp, the manager of the Bon Marche, to Miss Annie Steele, which took place yesterday at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, 121 Market Street.

The ceremony was performed by Venerable Archdeacon MacKenzie, of Grace Church, in the presence of a large number of out of town guests who had assembled for the occasion.

The charming bride, attired in an exquisite creation of white marquisette with Italian trimmings in gold, and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley, was given away by her eldest brother, Mr. John Steele, of Toronto. The bride was attended by Miss Ellen Cleary of Dunnville, who was gowning in a black and white dress, and carried a rainbow bouquet of sunset roses, while Mr. Joseph Brown, of the same place, assisted the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome tuned oak piano, to the bride, a silk parasol, and to the bridesmaid, a silver mounted cane. A dainty luncheon was served at the conclusion of the ceremony by the Misses Hicks.

Among the wedding gifts, which were numerous and costly, were two substantial cheques expressing the goodwill of prominent business men.

The happy couple left this morning on a honeymoon trip to Detroit and other nearby towns, receiving a royal send off from their many friends. The going away costume of the bride consisted of a blue tailor-made suit with a purple brete hat and veil to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Harp will reside at 9 Chestnut Avenue.

ADDRESS RECRUITS

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 21.—The ceremony incident to the taking of the oath of allegiance by new recruits, held in Athens yesterday, was attended by King Constantine and the royal family, says a Reuter despatch from the Greek capital under date of September 20. The king in a speech, says the despatch recommended blind devotion by the men to their superior officers and their sovereign, adding that when every soldier acted on his own initiative with regard to his country's requirements "woe betide the country" possessing such "an army."

"You will have many things told you in order to mislead you," King Constantine is quoted as continuing, "believe nothing. Those who tell them will sell patriotism like retailers. They seek to commit crimes under the cloak of patriotism."

RIOTING OCCURS

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 21.—Reuter's correspondent at Copenhagen sends the following: "The Wilhelmshaven Zeitung says the number of sanguinary and apparently organized encounters between civilians and the military lately has assumed alarming proportions. Last week several street fights occurred with fatal results. Another occurred on Sunday night when civilians, armed with knives attacked a party of military near the railway. Killing two and mortally wounding others. The assailants escaped."

CITY HIT HARD BY CASUALTIES

Local Names Appear Still in the Official List.

MAJOR STARR, 84TH, WOUNDED.

Despite the announcement received yesterday from England that the Canadian casualties in the great offensive were very light, the official lists during the past few days have become larger than ever before, with the possible exception of the period following the fighting in June last, and in common with the rest of the Dominion, Brantford and this vicinity also suffer. The following is to-day's list:

Pte. Arthur Butler, seriously ill. Pte. G. D. Millard, wounded. Pte. Thos. Martin, Paris, wounded.

Pte. Ed. Scanlon, Norwich, wounded. Pte. Arthur Butler, reported seriously ill, left Brantford as a member of the 36th reserve battalion in March of 1915, and was later drafted to the front. Pte. D. G. Millard, a married man, residing at 297 Nelson street, according to the casualty list, enlisted here in the 84th battalion, was later drafted to the 75th and has taken part in the recent fighting. Word of his wound, caused by a gunshot and inflicted in the chest, was received by his wife here yesterday.

In the list of wounded this morning appeared also the name of Major H. G. Starr, of Toronto, who was attached to the 84th battalion as senior major during its stay here last winter, when he won for himself a very large number of friends who will learn with regret of his injury.

RECRUITS FOR HOME GUARD
Now to Be Accepted at 215th Office—Regulations Concerning Deserters.

Arrangements have been completed with the Home Guards to have recruits wishing to join that force, sign up here, at the headquarters of the 215th battalion on George St. For those desiring information in this regard, it might be stated that the pay for married men is $1.55 per day, of which at least 45 cents must be assigned to the wives of the soldiers, while single men receive $1.10 per day. All other necessities, of course are provided for the men exactly the same as if they enlisted in an overseas battalion. In this connection, one recruit has already passed the medical examination here and has been sent on to headquarters. Notice has also been given out by the local military authorities that all persons, either retaining the uniforms of deserters or sheltering deserters, are committing a criminal offence and that all necessary measures will be taken to bring these persons to justice. Pte. Hodr is returning this morning to Niagara-on-the-Lake with two deserters under his protection.

Music and Drama
At the Colonial.

To win instant success in all parts of the country on her very first appearance on the screen is the unusual experience of pretty Mary Miles Minter, the winsome little actress, who was the stellar role in "Emmy of Stock's Nest," a five part photo drama, produced by the Columbia Pictures Corporation and released on the Metro program. It will be seen here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Colonial. When Miss Minter met with such popular favor in her initial bow on the screen in "Always the Way," a search was at once begun to find another suitable vehicle for screen purposes for her winsome personality. This was found in "Emmy of Stock's Nest," and not since Miss Minter came into fame playing the title role in "The Littlest Rebel," has she had a part so admirably suited for her talents and the radiant charm of her blossoming youth.

THE GRAND
Re-opens with Good Play and Large Audience.

Those Present Well Pleased with Many Improvements to the House.

The Grand Opera House reopened for the season last night under most auspicious circumstances. There was a large audience and an excellent play which greatly pleased those in attendance.

General comments of congratulation were heard upon the manner in which Mr. Whittaker has had the place improved. Paint, new carpets, a better lighting system, and many other added accessories have served to rejuvenate the appearance of this resort in a most marked manner. In short, it is to-day one of the best appointed houses in the Province. The very amusing farce, "It Pays to Advertise," held the boards, and repeated the success it achieved here last season. It seems like an odd subject out of which to construct a splendid offering, but it has been done, and there is small cause for wonder over the two-year run in New York.

Miss Durano, was very effective as Mary Grayson and imparted the needed vivacity to the role. Mr. Minter gave an excellent character sketch as Rodney Martin, the irascible yet affectionate father, and Mr. Craddock as the fool son who made good in business by advertising, did a very notable piece of work indeed. George Sweet as the irrepressible believer in printers' ink also deservedly won high favor. Miss Stemple took the role of a French adventuress well, more especially when she was presumably a daughter of the la belle country. Manager Whittaker has booked some splendid attractions for the season. The next event will be the famous Aborn Opera Company, in "The Bohemian Girl," on Saturday night.

SISTERS THREE

Gipsy's room struck another note. All the sporting pictures of the house were gathered here—those quaint colored prints and pictures that delighted our grandparents. Trophies of the chase adorned the walls—the heads and tails of foxes, curious sea birds stuffed in a marvellous travesty of life, specimens of rare creatures from the woods, the spoil of sportsmen's guns; and in addition to these were sporting guns in a rack, whips and rods against the wall, golf clubs in a case in one corner, and croquet mallets and tennis rackets in another. The furniture showed feminine touches. There were shelves with Gipsy's favorite authors and her girlish story books. Her Davenport desk in the window was a pretty possession, and the very incongruity of the plainness of the room gave it a certain charm.

As for Allardyce, air and space and light were the things which she craved, above all else. Some ancient brocade curtains which seemed to reflect the soft, mingled tints of dawn hung in her windows, but were never drawn. There was little furniture in the room. A few pieces of old ebony, with ivory inlay, too much chipped for the drawing room, round a bonny here, and her own few personal possessions—books of poetry, a few delicate seascapes, and one or two engravings of allegorical paintings—she brought and set in order. On the floor a thick pile of Oriental carpet, much faded by the strong south sun, but in good condition otherwise, remained as it had done in her mother's time. The white bed by the window was by day draped with a length of the same old material as the windows, and revealed a couch rather than a bed, and the dressing room held the clothing and the toilet and shaving apparatus. To all intents and purposes this room, open to sea and sunshine, was a parlor rather than a bedroom, and upon the windowed seat Allardyce would sit, watching the glory of the sun by day or the silver radiance of the moon by night, scarcely aware yet which filled her with her seer joy and peace.

Thus set their house in the sisters were awakening interests in their surroundings. And upon this bright spring morning they felt that they were making a more definite entrance into their new life.

"We will take our own plantation said Gipsy with kindling eyes. "Uncle Richard always went away, and mother too. I will you what the enemy thought s going to do. Oh, suppose we had he has been at it again!"

"Either the sisters set forth. In their attire was black in respect for the kinsman they had known, there were light and ne in their faces. At their old setter dog walked, se- He had appeared from the back regions on the rd day, and of aspect and lean ne. Penny explained that he sen "the master's" regular anion during the last years of fe, that he had scarcely eaten and had kept away from the of strangers, as though he not bear it. But Gipsy had him in the yard, and her heart one out to him. "Captain" had apointed readily, by Gipsy had with animals which few could And that same evening Captain had been lured to the drawing-room, which held no keen associations for him. He had been installed beside the fire on a deep skin rug. He had received blandishments and affection from three charming young mistresses. His lonely heart had been won; his grief had become somewhat assuaged. Allardyce had sat with his head on her lap, talking to him, explaining things. Gipsy had encouraged him by her good fellowship and understanding of dog ways; and now the old dog—old in sagacity rather than in years—shadowed them as he had followed his master in the past, and showed very plainly that church-going was quite understood by him and a part of his regular life.

"He will wait outside for us, Penny says. He always went with uncle Richard, whether he walked or was taken in the chair. I simply love the feel of a creature at heel. Captain is going to be an institution, I can see. Oh, there is the gate; No, it has not been stopped again! Ah, Mr. Gaston Lebreton, so you have had to admit defeat—and at the hands of women too!"

"The sheltered path through the whispering pines was a very attractive walk. The three sisters felt that to cut them off from using it would be a wrong and an affront. They could understand that the dwellers in Sunset Crag would fight tooth and nail for their rights. The road might not be very much longer, but it had none of the charm of sheltered privacy which was the characteristic of the path through the tall straight pine-trees.

The only check they received was at the farther gate. Gipsy advanced first to open it, for there was no chain or padlock on it now; but instantly she observed that it boasted a fastening that had not been there on Wednesday morning. It was a neat catch of some sort which puzzled her.

Her face flushed; she set her teeth and brought all the ingenuity of her mind to work upon the task of discovering the trick of the fastening. for it did not appear as though it was a lock, since there was no key-hole visible anywhere.

Very few girls would have discovered the trick—and very few men either; but Gipsy chanced to be gifted with the mechanical sense, and after several minutes of futile struggling she plucked out of the heart of the mystery. The lock clicked, and she uttered an exclamation of triumph and satisfaction. The gate swung open to her hand, and the sisters passed through triumphantly.

But Gipsy's face was still flushed and her golden-tinted eyes were bright with mingled impulses of anger and scorn.

"That is the kind of young skunk we have for Lord of the Manor," she exclaimed wrathfully. "Oh the meanness of the creature! Does he think he is going to get his way by some dirty little trick like that?"

Audrey regarded her handsome sister with a humorous upturning of her brows and the corners of her lips.

"It is certainly rather entertaining to circumvent him like this! Perhaps he is expecting to make us late for church. I dare say that prettish lock was only put on last night. You will have to teach us the trick of it when we come back."

"I'd like to get a chisel and pry it off and throw it into the nearest horse-pond!" cried Gipsy with a gust of heat.

But the church bell had changed its note. Time was getting on, and the sisters were only too glad they had the gate open before them; for the tall split oak fence, with gate to match, guarded by strong barbed wire, was an effectual barrier to any other form of exit from or entrance to the wood.

There were plenty of village and fisher folk hanging about in the churchyard, who watched the girls with friendly and unabashed curiosity. They had heard from many an old dame the whispered word, "Miss Mary's maids," and liked to think that the memory of their mother was still green in many hearts, albeit she had been away for close upon a quarter of a century.

The church was large and fine and dim. There were many interesting monuments and mural adornments; and in the transepts were still to be seen four of those ancient room-like pews—two in each—which are now so seldom seen in our English churches.

The pair in the south transept belonged to the Rectory and to Sunset Crag. Mrs. Kingscote was already installed in hers as the Vere sisters were solemnly ushered into theirs by the old clerk, who breathed heavily, and who, later on in the service, as he handed round the offertory plate, whispered an audible "Thank you!" to each one of the "quality" who placed a coin upon it.

Enconce behind the high carving of their "loose-box," as Gipsy subsequently termed it, the sisters could see little save the fine vaulting of the roof overhead until they stood up. When they did this however they could look down the nave where the humbler people and the servants from the bigger houses sat, or upwards into the chancel with its fine eastern window. Opposite to them sat the occupants of the corresponding pews in the north transept; and a single glance informed Audrey that she was looking upon the dark, handsome face of their "bronze enemy," Gaston Lebreton, and that the delicately-made lady beside him in deep widow's weeds was that "Madame" of whom she had heard, but who did not seem to have made much mark in the little world of Rockhaven.

"Es have nothing to say against Madame," was all that Gipsy's questions had elicited from any of the people with whom she had spoken. Yet to Audrey's thinking that face did not belong to a woman of no individuality. In fact, she was more interested in the mother than in the son, and was aware of a passing pang of regret that circumstances seemed likely to raise up a barrier to anything like friendly intercourse with this neighbor of theirs.

All the same, she was of opinion that, if strife there must be, it was better for it to arise at once, before any friendly advance had been made. It might be much more embarrassing if it suddenly arose like a storm in a teacup later; for in small places teacup storms can make a mighty upheaval and trouble.

Gipsy looked across at Gaston, and Gaston looked back, with sombre eyes at Gipsy, in her bright, mobile, mischievous face there were triumph and mischief and defiant scorn all plainly to be seen. His expression was less easily read. The gloom in the eyes deepened somewhat, she thought. She was wondering whether he felt as great a fool as she decided that he looked. He must know that his precious patent catch had failed to do its work; that would be gall and wormwood to him. Gipsy was enjoying herself thoroughly. She felt she had her foe in the dust, and only wished she could be quite sure that he knew he was grolverling there himself.

As for Allardyce, her eyes wandered contentedly about the hoary old church, and the music of the organ, much finer than often heard in so remote a place, filled her with quivering rapture.

The one face which arrested her attention at intervals was that of an old man, with snowy hair and a tall, gaunt, upright figure, who occupied the big pew beside that of the Lebretons. Here was a face that interested her—a sad, stern face, lined by age and sorrow. "I know who it must be," said Allardyce to herself—"General Kildare, who lives on Sunrise Reef."

Subscriptions, accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent of the amount subscribed, must be forwarded through the medium of a chartered bank. Any branch in Canada of any chartered bank will receive subscriptions and issue provisional receipts.

This loan is authorized under Act of the Parliament of Canada, and both principal and interest will be a charge upon the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

When the scrip certificates have been paid in full and payment endorsed thereon by the bank receiving the money, they may be exchanged for bonds, when prepared, with coupons attached, payable to bearer or registered as to principal, or for fully registered bonds, when prepared without coupons, in accordance with the application.

Delivery of scrip certificates and of bonds will be made through the chartered banks.

The issue will be exempt from taxes—including any income tax—imposed in pursuance of legislation enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

The bonds with coupons will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000. Fully registered bonds without coupons will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $5,000 or any authorized multiple of $5,000.

The bonds will be paid at maturity at par at the office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, or Victoria.

The interest on the fully registered bonds will be paid by cheque, which will be remitted by post. Interest on bonds with coupons will be paid on surrender of coupons. Both cheques and coupons will be payable free of exchange at any branch in Canada of any chartered bank.

Subject to the payment of twenty-five cents for each new bond issued, holders of fully registered bonds without coupons will have the right to convert into bonds of the denomination of $1,000 with coupons, and holders of bonds with coupons will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds of authorized denominations without coupons at any time on application to the Minister of Finance.

The books of the loan will be kept at the Department of Finance, Ottawa.

Application will be made in due course for the listing of the issue on the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges.

Recognized bond and stock brokers will be allowed a commission of one-quarter of one per cent on allotments made in respect of applications bearing their stamp, provided, however, that no commission will be allowed in respect of the amount of any allotment paid for by the surrender of bonds issued under the War Loan prospectus of 22nd November, 1915. No commission will be allowed in respect of applications on forms which have not been printed by the King's Printer.

Subscription Lists will close on or before 23rd September, 1916.

CANADIAN CHARGE WAS FINE ONE

Canucks Relieved Australian Troops, and Rushed Forward.

London, Sept. 21.—To be buried under a ton or two of trench mud after being hit in several parts of the body by jagged pieces of shell was the experience of Private J. M. Daly of the Montreal staff of the Merchants' Bank until his enlistment a year ago. This happened during the great move forward, where there were no deep dugouts or scientifically made trenches in which to shelter. The enemy was on the defensive, contesting every foot of ground. The Australians had already pushed a big dent in the German front line. The Canadians were hurriedly sent to relieve them for a spell. The order was: "Rush!" The Canadians were in full rigout, with greataut, knapsack, rifle, knife, water bottle and other equipment. "We ditched our topcoats and knapsacks," said Daly, "because we knew what the rush order meant. Our knapsacks are always bumping into things. Besides in mine, anyway, there was only 'bully beef,'" he added, a small amount of food as much as the big hole in his right cheek would allow. "Our heavy coats, too, were out of the question. The water bottle is always the last thing to go." The first rain fell on the open ground. They never lost a man, and they soon came up into the make-shift trenches of the Anzaes. High explosive shells dropped on every side. It would not have made any difference if they had them. The particular shell which did for the ex-bank clerk. His first feeling was as if he was drowning; his second was a fearful pain in the chest and shoulder, while from the intense pressure from the weight of earth there was a new kind of darkness, with singing in the ears. At length there awoke a spirit of self-preservation. He found strength in covering himself. He forced his left arm through and then clawed diligently until the light broke, and he wriggled until he was able to poke his head through. "I came out shaking my head like a pup, after a big dive. I shall not soon forget the faces of the other chaps when I appeared. They were more frightened a good deal than myself."

Other Canadians who have arrived here, rounded declare if the advance continues as begun our troops will soon be in a twelve-mile stretch of the open ground, with no end of possibilities against the enemy.

Commanding the 10th Brigade Canadian Expeditionary Force at the front, who has been wounded.
