The Throble.

"Summer is coming, summer is coming,
I know it, I know it, I know it.
Light again, leaf again, life again, love again,
Yes, my wild little poet,
sing the new year in under the blue.
Last year you sang it so gladly,
"New, new, new, new!" Is it then so new
That you should care so madly?
"Love again, song again, love again, young again,
Never a prophet so crazy!
See, hardly a day as yet, 'tis true,
See, there is hardly a day.
"Here, again, here, here, here, happy year!
O woe, unbidden, unbidden,
Summer is coming, it coming may soon,
And all the winter are hidden."
—Tennyson

audience into his confidence.

"Was Christianity played out?" he asked.

And he was with a gesture that seemed to gather all the units of the multitude into solidarity he replied, "This audience is the most convincing answer to the question. It is the proof that the most vital of all interests in human life is the religious interest. Christ is not dead. He only sleeps. And this is the day of resurrection. From the tomb of outward doubt and unbelief, He is coming forth into the world, in relation to religion; the indifference which sprang from ignorance or despair; the impotence of religion to touch in any real way the lives even of those who accepted its truth; the enormous social problems that threatened the very existence of the Republic; the call of the times to all good men and women to combine to re-instate religion as a vital reality in the government of the world. Could they effect this re-instatement? It looked impossible; it was really easy. It became easy when the actual life of Jesus was accepted as the model of all that was to be done."

nothing more or less than following Christ. It was not a mode of thought, but a rule of life. And what he had to propose that night, was the union of all who loved in the service of all who suffered. He proposed the creation of a new social force, the League of Universal Service.

It was for this moment that Gaunt's friends had waited with eager anxiety. Butler particularly knew from long journalistic experience the value of a phrase, rightly uttered at the psychological moment, to startle credes, to create parties, to shatter former movements. Accustomed both to measure and create public opinion he knew that the critical moment had now arrived. And he had prepared for that moment in a way peculiarly his own, without consultation with Gaunt.

It was a way which Gaunt would have approved, and that was why he did not consult him. It was daring, sensational, spectacular, but Butler knew that there were moments when a great multitude could be profoundly moved by such a method.

And so unknown to the authorities of the city, Gaunt, he had with electric lights, in dark shadows on the back of the stage. A certain covered it from view, and beside the curtain stood two men who had received their instructions from him.

"And so I propose," Gaunt reiterated, "a League of Universal Service, whose motto is the motto of the union of all who love in the service of all who suffer."

And at those words Butler knew his hour had come. He lifted his hand; it was a preconcerted signal.

And then in swift silence the curtain lifted, and suddenly there flashed up, high in air, above the astonished multitude, a vast cross, blazing with many lights.

A cry rose from the multitude, a cry of wonder, delight, surprise. All over the vast auditorium men and women rose to their feet staring and startled, as if a miracle had happened.

Gaunt turned swiftly, saw the flaming splendour, and sat down overwhelmed. It seemed as though Butler's daring had been miscalculated, as though it would result in confusion.

Then a happy thought seized the man with the corset. He turned to the quartette who had led the singing, and they rose to their feet.

The corset rang out, like an inspired voice, in the strains of "When I survey the Wondrous Cross."

And then the emotion of the crowd broke loose at last. Ten thousand men and women were on their feet. The crowd moved no prompting. With that unanimity, possible only in moments of intense emotion, they felt the spirit of the hour, and in the presence of that Cross of stately lights sang—

"When I survey the wondrous Cross,
On which the Prince of Glory died,
My richest gain I count but loss,
And poor consider on all my pride."

It was the birth-song of the League of Service.

The hymn ceased. The great multitude stood silent, uncertain what to do. It was noticeable that no one felt the hall.

Gaunt rose once more, his composition restored.

"I take it that you endorse my ideal," he said.

"I take it that you endorse my ideal," he said.

"I take it that you endorse my ideal," he said.

"I take it that you endorse my ideal," he said.

A Prophet in Babylon.

BY W. J. DAWSON

Continued.

THAT one slight figure, a mere black dot, under the gaze of twelve thousand eyes, looked pathetically insignificant. It seemed a thing impossible that any human voice should reach to vast a throng, still less that any single man could dominate this great assembly with the qualities of the orator.

For Butler's press campaign had borne its fruit in the vast assembly gathered under the auspices of religion in New York. Hundreds of people had travelled long distances to be present at the service. They had besieged the doors early in the afternoon, and had waited patiently through long hours. Substantial business men, and men whose faces bore the test of outdoor life, jostled one another in the crowd. The millionaire and the artisan sat side by side. College youths thronged the galleries, equally ready for reverent attention or mischievous interruption. Many were present from the time to time conversing in low voices. What had they come out to see? No one knew, but each felt the moment pregnant with possibility and surprise. And then came that sudden silence, that most thrilling of all moments when ten thousand human creatures draw a long shuddering breath, realizing that at last a moment long anticipated had arrived.

"Let us pray!"

The clear high tenor dominated an instant the eager crowd.

"Our Father which art in Heaven. And the multitude found its voice in the familiar petitions of the Lord's Prayer. At first the response was ineffective, but it slowly rose as a volume, ending in the Amen with a sound like that of a breaking wave.

A corset gave the air of "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Had the old hymn ever been so sung before? For there was no one there who did not know it, and none for whom it had not memories. And then, without preface, Gaunt began to speak, and a sigh of relief passed over the crowd when he realized that every word was distinctly articulated, and that his voice, which seemed so slight, nevertheless had a certain clear ringing quality, which reached every ear.

He spoke very simply, at first traversing the familiar ground of his last address at Mayfield Avenue. But Butler had widely circulated those who had expected some vehement attack upon the churches, grew restless under a sense of disappointment. It soon became evident that Gaunt's purpose was constructive and not destructive. His address was confessional in tone; the apology of a strong man for the nature of his life. And as this tone deepened, the restlessness subsided. He paused for them, in a few deft touches, what Christianity had been to him, and what it had become. He uttered no word of blame or criticism of others; he quietly described the development of his own mind and thought. It was the sort of speech that a man might make to a trusted friend. Yet nothing could have been more effective. He was simply taking that vast

A Question of Health.

Without Rich, Red, Blood You Cannot Be Healthy—How to Obtain This Bleeding.

If every woman and young girl would realize the danger of allowing blood to become thin and poor, would understand that the majority of common diseases are caused by an anemic (or bloodless) condition, that the blood is not furnishing the organs with the required amount of nourishment, there would be awakened interest in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This blood means starved nerves, weakened digestion, functional disorders, headache, frequently neuralgia, sciatica and even partial paralysis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, repair waste and prevent and check disease. They fill the system with rich, red blood which means good health and good life.

Miss Marie Dionne, St. Angelo, Que., says: "I am deeply grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. My blood had almost turned to water. I was pale, had no appetite, suffered from pains in the back and side, and had a feeling of constant depression. The smallest exertion would leave me breathless, and I was reduced in flesh until I weighed only 95 pounds. I got nothing to help me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They began helping me after the first couple of weeks, and in a few weeks more I was perfectly well. The color returned to my cheeks, the pains left me, and I gained in weight until I weigh 130 pounds. I feel so happy for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me that I hope some other ailing, miserable girl will profit by my experience and obtain new health."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or you can obtain them by mail for 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The editor of the LaCrosse, Ga. Chief said the future with prophetic eye. Here is a marriage notice, dated some years ahead: "The bride looked very well in a travelling dress, but all eyes were centered on the groom. He wore a dark suit that fitted his form perfectly and in his dainty gloved hand he carried a small rose. His curly hair was beautifully done, and a delicate odor of hair oil, of the best quality, floated about him as he passed. The young people will miss him, now that he is married. He is loved by all for his many accomplishments, his tender grace and his winning ways. The bride commands a good salary as a bookkeeper, and the groom will miss none of the luxuries to which he has been accustomed. A crowd of pretty young men saw him off at the depot."

"This is not a rich man's movement. It must not be financed by rich men. It is a people's movement. It exists for the people; it must be supported by the people, and hence I fix the annual subscription so low that the poorest can afford it."

"I propose further that every man and woman joining the League shall wear some simple badge. Men are proud to wear the Grand Army badge. They should be prouder still to wear the badge of the Grand Army of Jesus Christ, to belong to the divine Salvage Corps of Humanity."

"And to-night I have found what that badge should be."

He pointed to the illumined Cross. "It shall be a Cross with stars upon it. The Cross shall symbolize the sacrifice love makes for others. The stars shall symbolize the light eternal that shines upon the road of service. And they that turn many a righteous soul shall shine as the stars, and the brightness of the firmament to ever and ever."

Dots lived in the city, and a summer visit to grandpa's farm revealed many wonders. After being treated to the farmer's luxury, cream, she was allowed to go to the barn to see the cows milked. She looked on with much interest for a while and then asked, "Grandpa, which is the little pocket she keeps the cream in?"

SIGN OF THE SEVEN DEVILS.

A distinguished doctor some three years ago wrote to a professional friend saying: "I would rather see a patient with almost any other disease enter my consulting office than one afflicted with the seven devils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia." That doctor knew exactly that the little food is difficult to cure—that it poisons the blood, starves and weakens the body and wastes it. But he didn't seem to know that Mother Sigel's Syrup has cured tens of thousands of cases of Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation, Flatulence, Bloating, etc. I have used it for years, and I can say that it is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a true and reliable medicine. It is sold by all druggists, or from Father Morrissy's Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

Odds and Ends.

Or all the features of interest in the recent Kinrade trial, or rather inquest, of Ontario, the one that strikes the writer as of the greatest significance is the fact that it cost the crown at least $10,000 in the attempt to discover and punish the perpetrator of the crime...

All of this must cause every Canadian citizen to carefully consider that policy which lays such extravagant stress upon the necessity of legal vengeance...

This bringing of the criminal to the bar of justice is well enough and doubtless entirely necessary as a preventive measure...

But the feature that calls for consideration and criticism is the fact that we are willing to pay so much for the discovery of vice and so little for the discovery of virtue...

There have doubtless been many cases of crime in Canada, costing large sums of money, which would never have been committed at all if certain expenditures of public funds had been made in the interests of boyhood development...

There may be recognized a too keen scent for vengeance and a too dull sense of real justice. The time to use out justice is not after a man committed a crime, but before it...

Our towns refuses to become interested either in the providing of a suitable play ground for our boys, to in any other way, map out any hope for the future...

It ought to begin. Perhaps he is your cross, your care, He needs your pity and your prayer, He is about you everywhere, For whom Christ died!

Some one will say why write about opium? I answer, the 'drug feed' is often made out of the best of women. The more dainty and nervous the more ready is she to fall a victim to the morphia habit...

"The Japanese Girl."

A large audience assembled last Friday evening on the occasion of the presentation of 'The Japanese Girl' by thirty of the young lady pupils of Acadia Seminary under the able leadership of Miss Merson and Miss True. The stage setting for this popular and charming cantata was quite elaborate, and the chorus, in their artistic Japanese costumes, carefully designed for the occasion, presented a most pleasing appearance.

The parts were admirably sustained, and the acting was spirited and the leading solos showed genuine dramatic ability. Hani Sen (Miss Hylthe Ring) the leading lady, was exceedingly well done, as were the parts taken by Miss Annie Miller and Miss Layton, Miss Ella Vance, as the star server, captured the audience and elicited frequent applause. The play had been adapted to this country and by substituting Canadian for American in act two of the libretto, and appearance of the two Canadian girls, Miss Knowles and Miss Froehman, Miss Knowles and Miss Baker, made a decided hit. Their singing and acting were bright and attractive, and the dust, 'We are not finished yet,' was beautifully rendered, and the final scene, with the wealth of flowers and rich coloring and the display of the Canadian and Japanese flags, was most effective.

The whole affair was most creditable, and the chorus showed careful training and strict attention to technique. Miss Evelyn Haines, of Digby, an accompanist, added much to the success of the play.

Sports at Wolfville.

'Anyone wishing to see good sport will be satisfied if they take in the athletic games at Wolfville on Victoria Day. The first provincial Inter-School meet is to be held on the College Campus, beginning at 1.30 p. m. A hand has been engaged to furnish music between and during the events. This alone will be worth the admission fee to all entering the grounds.

This will be the largest meet ever held in Wolfville. There are to be twelve events and fifty six names have been entered from the six contending schools. Halifax Academy sends fifteen contestants, Horton Academy of Wolfville has ten, Kings Collegiate School of Windsor sends eight, Acacia Villa side, while Pictou and Truro are represented by seven each.

The schools, led by Halifax Academy, began to make arrangements for this meet shortly after Christmas. The idea was to have a contest which would bring in the best of the athletic talent in the schools of our province. This has been done.

There are to be three places in each of the events, which will count five, three and one respectively. Craig Bras. have offered a handsome trophy to be owned by the school making the highest number of points. Beside this, prizes are to be given for first and second and possibly third places. These will be awarded in the evening at the entertainment to be given at the schools by the ladies of Acadia Seminary.

There will be strong competition in all the events. Spectators may expect an interesting programme. Even third places will be eagerly contested. The sports committee are making every preparation possible to have the events go off quickly.

The list of entries from Horton Academy are as follows: 100 yds.—Atkins, Rattery. 200 yds.—Atkins, Rattery. 440 yds.—Atkins, Howe. 1/4 mile—P. Eaton, Palmer, Kirkpatrick. 1 mile—Palmer, Geo. Young, Kirkpatrick. High Jump—Howe, Goss. Broad Jump—Howe, Rattery. Pole Vault—Howe, Porter. Hurdles—Howe, L. Eaton. Shot Put—Howe, L. Eaton, Goss. Hammer Throw—Howe. Acacia Villa School is putting in some good men in the runs. Their entries are as follows: 100 yds.—Steele, Ellis. 200 yds.—Steele, Ellis. 440 yds.—Putman, Judge. Mile—Putman, Judge. High Jump—Patterson, Judge. Broad Jump—Cratt, Judge. Shot—Hodges, Atkins. Halifax Academy is showing in the runs and they also have good weight men. Pictou and Truro have some good material.

Functions such that each suffers when the other is deranged.

When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is given too much work by over-eating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all this work to do.

The beginning of biliousness, indigestion and constipation and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangement and finally kidney disease.

Dr. Cassel's Kidney-Liver Pills are the national standard for kidney disease, just as they are the most successful, because they get at the cause of trouble and clear the bowels and direct influence on liver, kidneys and bowels.

They promptly and thoroughly cleanse the bowels and direct influence on liver, kidneys and bowels. They promptly and thoroughly cleanse the bowels and direct influence on liver, kidneys and bowels.

Marvellous Healing Power.

The most severe test to which a healing agent is ever put is the case of cancer. So successful has Dr. Chase's Ointment been in the cure of torturing itching eczema that many people refer to its effects as magical and marvellous. After the first few applications it positively stops the dreadful itching and then gradually and naturally heals up the area.

Cured When Doctors Failed.

Mr. Felix Villeneuve, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, indigestion of the bowels and liver troubles, and doctors could not help me much. Could not sleep, water contained sediment, had frequent desire to urinate and often passed blood. Had dreadful headaches, one side almost paralyzed and was dead in left ear for eight years. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured me and I am very grateful. I want to thank you."

Two ladies were sitting in close conversation in a hotel parlor. One said to the other: 'Are you married?' The second answered: 'No.' The second then asked the first if she had been more fortunate, and she said, no she too, was on the single list, and added: 'Strange two such estimable women as ourselves should have been overlooked in the matrimonial market.' The second then pointed out a lady who had been widowed four times, two of her husbands having been strangled. 'That woman,' she said, 'is plain and unattractive, and yet she has three to her.'

Flounced Skirts Again Worn.

The old-time double flounced skirts are again being made use of, says a writer in the Chicago Record Herald. Some of the handsomest lingerie frocks are made of two deep flounces of fine embroidery with narrow lace. The sleeves end at the elbow with triple frills of deep lace. The Dutch neck is invariably seen in dresses of this character; sometimes it is finished with a band of embroidery and a double frill of narrow lace; then again there will be a simple finish eyelet work struck with ribbons. Such picturesque little gowns call for hats of corresponding quaintness. The flower-trimmed poke bonnet straddled coquettishly under the chin makes a pretty young girl look as though she might have stepped from a portrait frame of her own great-grandmother taken in the nineteenth century. Flower-laden hats, too, are tied under the chin with long ribbon streamers, which often have their ends decorated with little nosegays of buds and leaves.

BAD LEG FOR 90 YEARS.

Zam-Buk Works a Complete Cure. Mrs. J. Minnett, of 193 Thorburn Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, has been cured by Zam-Buk of a bad leg, which had defied all remedies for sixty long years. She says:—'When a child of eight, I was bitten on the leg by a dog. A doctor cauterized the place, but it never healed up soundly and I have suffered with an ulcerated leg for over sixty years. This occurred in England, and many English doctors tried in vain to heal the sore. At one time I was in a patient at the East Suffolk Hospital for a long period, and for three years I was in and out of hospital. I was continually in pain, and the sore would not heal, but continued to discharge. Twelve months ago I came out here to my daughter, and during the voyage I had to keep my bed. The ship's doctor examined my leg, and gave me a plaster, which I had to take off again; it made the pain so intense. When I reached my daughter's house she sent for a medical man, who said nothing could ever do it any good, and although I tried other American doctors, they did me no good. They said my leg would never be well.

'One day my youngest daughter brought home a box of Zam-Buk, and induced me to try it. With the first application I seemed to find ease, and further treatment with Zam-Buk did me so much good that I sent for a proper supply. I kept on with the Zam-Buk treatment, and soon saw that the wound was getting better. The discharge was reduced and the pain eased. I persevered with the Zam-Buk, and to cut a long story short, it effected a cure. It is marvellous to think that, after suffering for sixty years, Zam-Buk has been able to make my leg perfectly sound.'

Zam-Buk is a combination of power and purity. Purely herbal, it is superior to all known remedies for chronic sores and wounds, eczema, salt-rheum, ringworm, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, skin diseases. It also cures piles. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three boxes for $1.25.

These are Milking Short-Horns.

Those who are so strenuously maintaining that if a cow is profitable at the stall she will prove of little account as a producer of calves that will make high-class feeders, will find much food for thought in the following: A farmer bought twenty steer calves from the milking Shorthorn herd of Mr. Hobbs in England. The mothers of these calves averaged nearly 1,000 gallons of milk a year. In the herd of their former owners these steers were finished and sold at about 33 months of age. Prices received varied from $97.50 to $133 per head and prices were won by them at local fat-stock shows to the amount of $150 more. The average price received per head was $123 which shows that the calves from the Shorthorn dairy cows made excellent beef from the English standpoint of view, and there is none higher in the world. Shorthorn cows when properly managed and bred can produce profit at the stall and in the feed-lot.—Breeders' Gazette.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs most of necessity fail. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by A. V. Rand.

'I'm sure,' said the interviewer, 'the public would be interested to know the secret of your success.' 'Well, young man,' replied the captain of industry, 'the secret of my success has been my ability to keep it a secret.'

A pain prescription is printed upon each box of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Ask your Doctor or Druggist if this formula is not complete. Pain means congestion, blood pressure. Head pain, womanly pains, pain anywhere got instant relief from a Pink Pain Tablet.

Two Worlds.

'We don't live in the same world, said a man of his next door neighbor. 'He lives in one that is getting worse all the time; he says so. The rich are getting richer and the poor poorer, and all bonds of union between them are weakening. Fraud and corruption are increasing everywhere. Old fashioned honesty and old-time religion are dead, and as for the young people of this generation, they are all headed toward destruction. My world isn't bound in that direction. It has sin, sorrow and evil enough, that is sure, but it is fighting against them more bravely than ever before. It is wiser, freer, more humane and better world than it was one hundred years ago.'

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her. Toronto, Canada.—'I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful to him. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles.'—Mrs. J. M. TWEDALE, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

Cured His Rheumatism in Three Weeks.

James LeB. Johnstone, a prominent member of the Citizen's Band, of Chatham, writes: "I contracted Rheumatism by exposure five years ago, and was ailing for two months and in great pain all the time. I got Father Morrissey's No. 7 Tablets and took them for about three weeks, when the Rheumatism all left me and I have had no return of the pain since."

Rheumatism is generally brought on by exposure, but is really caused by Uric Acid in the blood. This Uric Acid is an irritating poison, formed from the waste matter of the body. The kidneys should remove it, but when they fail it poisons the blood, and settling in the joints, causes Rheumatism.

"No. 7" Tablets clear out the clogged-up Kidneys and stimulate them to perform their task of filtering the Uric Acid out of the blood. When this is done the Rheumatism simply and naturally vanishes.

"No. 7" Tablets cost 50c. At your dealer's. 28 Father Morrissey Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

Long, Long Ago.

Where are the friends that to me were so dear? Long, long ago, long ago. Where are the hopes that my heart used to cheer? Long, long ago, long ago. Friends that I loved in the grave are laid low; Long, long ago, long ago. Hopes that I cherished are fled from me now; Long, long ago, long ago. I am degraded, for ram was my foe. Long, long ago, long ago. Sadly my wife bowed her beautiful head; Long, long ago, long ago. She was my angel, my love and my guide; Long, long ago, long ago. Vainly to save me from rum she tried; Long, long ago, long ago. Poor, broken hearted, it was well that she died; Long, long ago, long ago. Let me look back on the days of my youth; Long, long ago, long ago. I was no stranger to virtue and truth; Long, long ago, long ago. Oh, for the hopes that were pure as the day; Oh, for the loves, that were purer than they; Oh, for the hours that I squandered away; Long, long ago, long ago.

How He Quit the Business.

A man who keeps a restaurant has his two children wait on the table. One of them is a boy about ten years of age. A customer was attracted by the quickness of the little fellow, and said: 'You have a splendid waiter.' 'Yes,' said the proprietor, 'he is my son. I used to sell liquor, but he made me quit it.' 'How?' asked the visitor. 'The father told the story. The boy had come home one day and said: 'Papa, my boys at school had a talk to-day about the business of our parents. Each father was asked, 'What does your father do?' One said, 'My father works.' Another said, 'My father keeps a store.' I said, 'My father sells liquor.' That is the meanest business on earth,' said one of the boys. 'Father, is that so?' 'And the father said, 'Yes, John, it is, and God helping me, I will get out of it.' And so he did.'

America Free and Sober.

The liquor traffic in America appalled. What then? There might be less revelry, but there would be more joy and pleasure. There would be fewer workhouses and more work-shops, healthier workmen, wealthier wives and happier children. No longer would the little folk, as they often do now, shrink from a tipsy father or a drunken mother. There would be fewer prisons and more schools and libraries. There might be fewer saloons ablaze with gas and electricity, but there would be more private houses made bright by sweet affection and glorified by love. The victory of Temperance will not solve all our problems, but it will help to solve them. We shall at least be less than our fathers. The nineteenth century has witnessed the rise of the temperance movement; the twentieth century will see its triumphant progress.—Selected.

Alcohol Injurious in Military Practice.

A remarkable series of experiments has recently been carried out in the Swedish army to test the effects of alcohol on rifle marksmanship. A battalion of five hundred men was selected, and doses of alcohol, ranging from strong to weak, administered from immediately previously were furnished to men under conditions calculated to test the effects of liquor on nerve and muscle. In the result, even a moderate quantity was found to effect injuriously both eye and hand, and the experiments in the whole test are stated to furnish remarkable evidence in favor of total abstinence.

Some Drinkers' Logic.

Russell Sage was much opposed to drinking. He would often rail with homely humor on his wisdom against drink. 'Don't drink,' he said one day, 'to a broker, because they are happy, but to a man of business, because they are not.'

cause they are dead, because they are warm because they are cold. Is there any logic in that? 'When I see men drinking I think of a little boy at the seashore. This little boy, at play with his bucket and shovel in the sand, suddenly ran to the edge of an advancing wave, and scooping up a handful of salt water and foam, drank it greedily. 'Oh, don't drink that!' said his mother. 'It will make you thirsty.' 'What if it does?' said he. 'There's plenty more.'

A Royal Teetotaler.

The Boveriga who was recently the guest of King Edward, in England—Knut Adolf of Sweden—a the simplest of reigning princes, His Majesty would have no coronation pomp, and walked across from his palace to open his first Parliament. The King of Sweden is an enthusiastic lawn tennis player, a keen Freemason like his father, and is, generally, a very modest, unostentatious gentleman. But more than all this, His Majesty is a convinced total abstainer, and at the Royal banquets intoxicants are excluded from the table.

'I can't keep the visitors from coming up,' said the office boy dejectedly. 'When I say you're out they don't believe me.'

'Well,' said the editor, 'just tell them that that's what they all say. I don't care if you check them, but I must have quietness.'

'That afternoon there called at the office a lady with hard features and an acid expression. She wanted to see the editor, and the boy assured, but that it was impossible.

'But I must see him,' she protested. 'I'm his wife.'

'That's what they all say,' replied the boy. 'A new boy is wanted here.'

When the Nerves get out of Tune

You can remember the aches described here and revitalize the wasted nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When the nerves become exhausted and you are threatened with nervous prostration, it is in the morning, the morning of the day, that you will get well. But you must be patient and persistent. Mr. Wm. Graham, Alwood, Ont., writes: 'My wife had been ill for some time with nervous prostration and two of the best doctors we could get failed to help her. She gradually became worse and worse, could not sleep and lost energy and interest in life. She was giving up in despair when a friend advised a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

'From the first box of this preparation my wife used we noticed improvement and now she is completely cured and as well as she ever was, she well sleep well and feels fully restored. I am satisfied that my wife owes her life to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.' 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers at Edinboro, Bates & Co., Toronto.
