Disgust for Food

DOCTORS tell us that nutrition has more to do with health than any other factor. With plenty of good, wholesome food and the facilities for properly digesting it, the blood is kept rich, the nerves steady, and vitality in a condition to defy weakness and disease. But few sufficiently prize good health until they lose it. For this reason overeating, overwork, and worry and irregular hours lead to a break down of the nervous system, and indigestion is often one of the first symptoms. You lose your appetite and have a disgust for food. The starved nerves cry out with pain and aches for good nourishing blood, which the crippled digestive system utterly fails to supply. Nutrition must be supplied in other forms, else physical bankruptcy is certain. Many people have found Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most acceptable method of restoring vigor to a weak and exhausted system.

Nature are found in condensed and easily assimilated form. This nutrition is taken up by the blood stream, and quickly carried to every part of the body. Such symptoms as indigestion, sleeplessness, headaches, irritability and dependency soon disappear when the food, the starved nerves are fed back to health and vigor. The nerves which control the digestive fluids of the stomach and the action of the various organs of digestion resume their functions and aid in the good work of forming new, rich blood and building up the system. Mr. Fred Carleton, farmer, Laird, Sask., writes:—'I was very thin and nervous, and as I was continually growing worse, decided to give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a trial. I would suffer from indigestion and indigestion, was easily worried and excited, and felt generally run down. The benefit obtained from this food has been very marked, and I can recommend it with the greatest confidence to persons who are thin, weak and nervous.' You can soon feel yourself getting better when using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for it benefits your system in every way. You can prove that new, firm flesh and tissue are being added by noting your increase in weight from time to time.

Strength.

I would be strong, but I have no desire for strength such as a tyrant would display in seeking to cause others to submit. Or through the wish to have satisfied eyes, such strength may come through accident of birth. Or the result of some other circumstance. To be desired and robbed of all its worth by some bloody word or evil chance. I would be strong in heart and strong in trust. I would have strength about all my back to stand. To stand when temptation, to be just. To have strength, keeping hope alive. I would have strength to stand for the right. Though my friends were blindly to the wrong. To be strong in a loving fight. To be strong in a loving fight. To be strong in a loving fight.

Editorial Notes.

Did Lester have a mandate from the people when, right after the elections of 1904, he introduced his plan to commit the country to the expenditure of immense sums of money on the building of a new transcontinental railway? If 'Cox couldn't wait' in 1904, neither can the empire wait at the present moment. The present position of blockers is not only unpatriotic but, in all respects, Canada is anxious to increase the effective naval forces of the Empire, and she shows she can do it back to the way Mr. Borden proposes.

There are events occurring in every community which, if reported in a local paper, would create a commotion little dreamed of. What to report and what not to report often perplexes the editor. He is often justly accused of cowardice and favoritism, when all the time he is looking toward the good reputation of the town where his lot is cast. The local editor from necessity almost constantly finds himself between two fires, and whichever way he turns he is sure to be unjustly treated. This is one of the pleasures of a newspaper business.

When you go into the post office and enquire for mail, don't try to fill up the delivery window with the north end of your body. If you merely stand off and fire your request through those whom you address will respond promptly. After you receive your mail, don't stand monopolizing the delivery while you look to see the post mark and guess who the letters are from. Let those be blind to your chances, for the short and time is fleeting. Please remember this and you will confer a favor on those in the rear.

In a letter which appeared recently in the St. John Times, Superintendent Fraser, of the Halifax School for the Blind, refers to what is being done in this province to arouse public interest in the question of the feeble minded. It will be seen that forty leagues have been organized in the province to unite in the agitation to provide for proper care for those who unfortunately are deprived of the average of mental ability, and many of whom become the prey of persons of strong mind and brutal instincts. The subject is one which we well command the attention of the people of this province.

Hold up your heads, girls! The ugliest of you may have the beauty of health and purity and innocence. The plainest may make herself so beloved that the hearts of those who know her will long for her presence, and to them she shall seem the very queen of beauty. If your lips are too thick and lacking in curves, teach them to utter sweet words of sympathy and noble words of inspiration. If your hands are large, let them ever be ready and helpful; the glad alms-givers of a generous heart. It will shine through and be apparent to the dearest eye, and while making the mind and heart beautiful, do not forget the body—Keep it clean, wholesome and pure, and you will be a delight to yourself and those about you. No matter how bright the eyes may be, if they reflect unkind, unlovely thoughts they are not beautiful. No matter how soft and white the hands may be, if they cannot work they are useless members, commanding no respect.

Popularity.

We all desire approval, and hope that when we die our premature removal will cause a public sigh, and while on earth we linger we hope that dames and gentle will at no point the finger of praise and confidence. And so, to gain endorsement, we try all kinds of tricks, some strive for law enforcement, some enter politics, some try to heal diseases by making purple pills, some deal in moral wheezes and others pay their bills. Some cultivate politeness, or wear a manner great, some have an airy brightness that ought to captivate. Some hand out eloquent the peribial flight that thrills, some plug for revolution, and others pay their bills. Some dress in gorgeous raiment, with bonnets rich and glad, while tailors shriek for payment, and milliners go mad. In one way or another we always strike to gain the plaudits of our brother while we on earth remain. One method is a winner, with happiness it fills the breast of saint or sinner—the paying up of bills. There is no plan that's better, no method that's more fit, because the chronic debtor can't hope to make a hit.

For the Boy Athlete.

Every athlete, or those athletically inclined, would do well to follow these concise suggestions: 1. Health means work. Get into something with your whole soul. 2. Wear a smile, sing, whistle. Do something for the other fellow. 3. Cut out the liquor and tobacco. 4. Eat plain food and chew it well. 5. Use olive oil, three or four table-spoons a day won't hurt you. 6. If you feel out of sorts in the morning drink two or three glasses of water. Flush out your system. 7. Get out in the hills. Climb the mountains. If there are no mountains, lie on your back and kick your legs. 8. Breathe deeply and take breathing exercises. Let two hours elapse before going to bed, after exercising. Sleep warm, but don't tire yourself with heavy coverings. 9. A cold plunge is good in the morning if you can stand it. Don't abuse bathing. One bath a day is enough for any man; make that one snappy, too. 10. Above all, good health means work and exercise. Don't take your exercise like a machine. Put some vim in it and you'll get double benefit.

Renall Ordinaries

Our experience with them and the many reports we have received from those who have used them, prove that they are really the most pleasing and satisfactory bowel remedy we know of.

Renall Ordinaries taste the candy. They don't cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness, as do the usual purges or laxatives. Renall Ordinaries seem to act as a tonic, strengthening upon the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They prompt the CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Renall Ordinaries are not sold by all drug stores. You can buy Renall Ordinaries only at the Renall Stores. You can buy Renall Ordinaries in this country only at our stores.

Try Them at Our Risk

We particularly recommend Renall Ordinaries for children, and persons who suffer from indigestion. Renall Ordinaries come in vegetable capsules, in tablets, in lozenges, and in candy. Usual dose one tablet.

Tests of Friedmann Cure.

From various cities where the Friedmann cure for tuberculosis is being treated, encouraging reports come of improvement shown by patients. This is good, as far as it goes, but it ought not to be considered decisive or anything more than a condition which justifies and demands longer and very careful investigation. Many remedies for the 'white plague' have been tried which seem, for a time, to bring excellent results. The victims of the great scourge were often lured up by false hope and courage and things went well with them on the surface. The reaction came later.

All the world will rejoice if the Friedmann cure proves more genuine and its benefits stand conclusive tests, but it is cruel to exaggerate the meaning of the early reports from sufferers treated by the Berlin doctor or under his directions. Time and scientific investigation will tell how sure and vital the gains are, and for the present all that can rightfully be said is that nothing conclusive has been absolutely demonstrated one way or the other.

Alex. Darrah, aged 56 years, died at Wolfville on Monday, April 22, after an illness of more than a year. He was a native of P. E. I. and came to Kentville about six years ago with Faulkner & MacDonald and worked on the trail. Ever since that time he had been in Kentville and boarded with Mrs. Ambury. Mrs. Ambury with Mr. Darrah came to Wolfville four weeks ago. He was buried on April 23rd in Wolfville. Rev. G. W. Miller conducted a service both at the house and grave. He leaves one sister, Mary, who resides in Moncton.

Zam-Buk in the Home.

READ HOW USEFUL IT PROVED IN THESE WIDELY DIFFERENT CASES.

Zam-Buk's strongest point is its effectiveness in all kinds of skin diseases and injuries. Just note how excellent these persons proved in it widely different directions. SORER HEEL.—Mrs. C. A. Campbell, of Povaassan, Ont., writes: 'One of my heels was very badly blistered by a pair of new shoes, and the poisonous dye from my stocking got into it, and made a bad sore. For a week I could not get out of a shoe, and suffered great pain. I applied Zam-Buk, and in a few days it drew the poison out, and healed the wound.'

Bad Cut.—Mrs. J. Virgint, of Ononabago, Ont., writes: 'Zam-Buk had a bad cut, which I sustained. I was hurrying across my yard one day when I slipped and fell heavily, my knee striking a sharp stone. The moment I did not realize how badly I was hurt, but I found I had a bad cut about two inches long, very jagged and very deep. We bathed the cut and applied Zam-Buk. This stopped the smarting very quickly, and in a few days it had healed the wound completely. For cuts and bruises Zam-Buk is a splendid remedy.'

Eczema Cured.—Mrs. Antoine Arsenault of Max amville, P. E. I., writes: 'I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to any person suffering from eczema. I had this disease and was under doctor's treatment for two years, without any good result. I then tried Zam-Buk and in the end it cured me.' Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, eruptions, chaps, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c box all drug stores and stores, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tab.

Ladies' Names.

Mary is a sweet name, but it is Heber and means bitter; Agnes (chapel), Alice (noble), Emma (a nurse), Frances (free), Gertrude (truth), and Margaret (a pearl) are typical English names, are they not? No, they are all German! Amy (beloved), Bianch (fair), Charlotte (noble), Joyce (pleasant) are French. Bridget is, of course, Irish, but is often chosen, nevertheless. The following are all Greek in origin—Agatha (good), Bertha (bright), Catherine (pure), Dorothy (God's gift), Helen (shining), Maud (lady of honor), Matilda, Phoebe, Phyllis, Sophia and many others.

One real English name is Mercy. Lucy is a Latin name, and means shining. To that may be added, Marie (heaven), Rose, Anabella, Barbara, Beatrice, Grace, Fania, and Francis, which significantly means 'some what old.' Purely Jewish names are Deborah, Eve, Jane, Joan, Judith, Ruth and Susan and Sarah, Rith, Eleanor, Winifred, Rosamund and Mildred and Saxon.

My Brother's Keeper.

I am my brother's keeper, therefore I will make myself strong that I may lend a hand when he is weak; that I may carry my own burden un-fatiguedly and lift a part of his when he is weary.

I am my brother's keeper, therefore I will cheer him on the way; I will show him that in storm and darkness I am unafraid, so that he may be emboldened to walk through his own valley of shadow with a brave heart and head erect.

I am my brother's keeper, therefore I will be true and clean in my life, that as his life touches mine he may not be soiled; that he may find in me some example and incentive to keep his own life clean and his dealings with men honorable and kind.

I am my brother's keeper, therefore I will cherish his fame, and never, if I can help it, cast a slur upon his motives or his acts. I am not his judge, I am his brother.

I am my brother's keeper, therefore I will try to solve the problems of life with a view to his welfare, knowing that in the rightful adjustment of business, and society, and life in its truest expression, my brother's welfare is my own, and mine is his.

When perplexing questions must be answered by my voice, or my pen, or my vote, I will seek the answer which means my brother's good, not merely because such answer will mean also my own good, but because he is my brother.

I am my brother's keeper, therefore I want to know more and more about my relationship with him and how to acquire wisdom as a brother should; because I shall hear, some day a voice calling to me in the garden: 'Son, where is thy brother?' and I shall want to answer, 'Here, Father, here is my brother, with his hand in mine; we have come together.'

Two Good Receipts.

Brown Nut Bread.—Mix one and one-half cups of wheat flour with one and one-half cups corn meal and two cups of graham flour. Add two teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Add to the flour two cups of sweet milk, one-half cup of brown sugar and one-half cup molasses. When well mixed add one cup of finely chopped walnut meats. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Brown Betty.—Pure and core a dozen large, juicy apples, then chop fine. Butter a deep pudding dish, place first a layer of chopped apples, with some bits of butter strewn over them; sprinkle with white sugar, nutmeg, lemon essence, or the juice and a little of the rind of a lemon. Next a layer of bread crumbs, then a layer of apples, and so on till the dish is full, finishing with a layer of bread crumbs. Send it to the table hot or cold. Eat with cream sauce.

Spring Impurities in the Blood.

A TONIC MEDICINE IS NECESSARY AT THIS SEASON.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an all year round tonic, blood-builder and nerve-restorer. But they are especially valuable in the spring when the system is loaded with impurities as a result of the indoor life of the winter months. There is no other season when the blood is so much in need of purifying and enriching, and every dose of these pills helps to make new, rich, red blood.

In the spring one feels weak and tired. In the spring the appetite strength is often poor—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills develop the appetite, tone the stomach and aid weak digestion. It is in the spring that poisons in the blood find an outlet in disgusting pimples, eruptions and boils—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills speedily clear the skin because they go to the root of the trouble in the blood. In the spring aches, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, erysipelas and many other troubles are most persistent because of poor, weak blood, and it is at this time when all nature takes on new life that the blood most seriously needs attention. Some people do themselves with purgatives at this season, but these only further weaken themselves. A purgative merely clogs the bowels, but it does not cure anything. On the other hand Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood which reaches every nerve and organ in the body, bringing new strength, new health and vigor to weak, easily tired men, women and children. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring—they will not disappoint you.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., APR. 18, 1913.

Editorial Notes.

All interested in the re-organization of the Wolfville Board of Trade will please meet this evening at the Council Chamber, at the Town Hall. It is hoped there will be a good attendance.

A Montreal despatch says that it is reported there that the late George Cramp, barrister, of that city, son of Dr. Cramp, formerly president of Acadia, has left about fifty thousand dollars to Acadia University.

Longfellow's 'Evangelist' is to be dramatized and will be performed on the stage in New York next season. Miss Edna Goodrich will appear in the title role, and the company will include 75 persons in 4 acts and 11 scenes.

The local legislature has taken a forward step by enacting that in future women may be appointed to the School Boards of this province. Wolfville has some women whom we should like to see more closely identified with the conduct of our schools.

The rulers of the world are having rather a hard time of it these days. Sunday afternoon King Alfonso of Spain narrowly escaped death at the hands of an anarchist. His majesty was fired upon three times, but escaped unhurt. Only a few days ago the king of Greece was assassinated and during the recent revolution in Mexico the president of that country lost his life. Ruling a nation may not be as much fun as some of us have fondly imagined.

Those women of Massachusetts who do not cover the points of their hat pins with some device that will protect the public from injury are liable to a heavy fine according to the provisions of a state law that went into effect recently. The act does not restrict the length of pins, nor does it specify how they are to be rendered harmless. The method is left to the discretion of the wearer. Ladies leave Wolfville to visit friends should see that they are supplied with point protectors for their hat pins.

An interesting example of the working of the two systems of taxation—taxing land and improvement and taxing land only—is exemplified in the city of Lloydminster, half of which is in Saskatchewan and half in Alberta. That part of the city which is in Saskatchewan levied a tax on buildings and improvements as well as on lands, while the part in Alberta taxed the land only. The result was that the Alberta side forged ahead of the Saskatchewan side, and while most of the retail business was done in the latter, all the better classes of residences were built on the Alberta side.

A numerous signed requisition from the electors of Ward 4 has been presented to Mr. C. A. Campbell, of Port Williams, asking him to allow himself to be nominated as a candidate for Councilor at the approaching municipal election, to which request Mr. Campbell has given his consent. Mr. John Donaldson, the retiring Councilor, who has been a most valuable member of the County Council for some years, has, we understand, declined to longer remain in office. Mr. Campbell, when formerly a member of the Council did excellent service, and THE ACADIAN will be very glad to see him again take his place at the board.

Help Your Town.

The progress which a town makes is altogether due to the energy displayed by its citizens. If all were to sit quietly and take no part in its advancement the wheels of progress would be clogged. There are men who cannot allow an opportunity to pass without making an effort to secure it, and if successful the whole community must benefit. There are others, however, and these are in the majority, who never turn a hand to accomplish anything on behalf of the community in which they live. They are completely swallowed up in their vocations. An European traveler tells of the following epithet which he had read on a tombstone in England: 'Here lies _____, he was born a man but died a grocer.' The man had disappeared in his calling. We often find that a man's vocation has swallowed him; that he is completely overwhelmed him; that there is nothing left of him for any purpose outside his occupation.

Children in the Home.

When there are children in the home it requires constant attention to keep them free from the many childhood ailments which beset so quickly—some of them proving fatal while others leave the little ones more restless and weak. To keep little ones well Baby's Own Tablets must be kept in the house. These Tablets regulate the stomach and bowels, break up colds and fevers, expel worms and make teething easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

H. P. Cramp, who is well known in the Maritime Provinces as having been the colleague of Longfellow's 'Evangelist' in his dramatic work, has just completed the play 'The Evangelist' and has arranged for its production in Toronto and Montreal.

A Foolish Canvas.

The Liberal members at Ottawa and the Liberal newspapers profess to be highly indignant over an incident that occurred in the House of Commons a few days ago, when Premier Borden introduced his resolution to amend the rules of debate. It is stated that Sir Wilfrid was gagged, that he was insulted, that he was denied the right of free speech, that all Canada was insulted, that Mr. Borden and Mr. Rogers are the murderers of parliamentary free speech, and so on and so on.

Of course all this is absurd. Sir Wilfrid was not insulted nor was he gagged. He and Hon. Mr. Hazen arose to address the house at the same time. The presiding officer decided that the leader of the opposition had the prior right to speak. It was Sir Wilfrid's intention to move an amendment to Mr. Borden's resolution to amend the rules. This would have given the Liberals an opportunity to debate the question for weeks. They would have blocked it as they had already succeeded in blocking the passage of the Naval Bill and again the minority would have been masters of the situation. However, the government determined to take no more chances, and when Sir Wilfrid arose to move his amendment another member taking advantage of what is known as rule 17, which had been passed when Sir Wilfrid and his party were in power, several years ago, moved that Mr. Hazen be heard. This motion passed the house, and Sir Wilfrid was thus prevented from moving his amendments. He was 'not gagged. Exactly two minutes were occupied by Mr. Hazen. The opposition leader might then have discussed the measure at any length he saw fit, but he did not do so. Mr. Pugsley instead took the floor and talked until the hour of adjournment. Now the question is, where is the insult? Where was the gag applied?

During the last four months Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his supporters in the House of Commons have done everything in their power to embarrass the government and prevent the passage of the Naval Bill. They have taken advantage of every twist and turn in the rules to prevent the majority of the people's chosen representatives from carrying on the business of the country, but just the moment the government takes advantage of a rule that has been in existence for years to put a stop to the opposition's guerrilla warfare, that moment they lose their tempers and Sir Wilfrid whines that he has been denied free speech, and his friends and supporters shout that he has been insulted. They resemble a lot of spoiled children. When they saw everything going their way they were quite happy, but the moment they began to lose, they complain that their opponents are not playing the game fairly. The truth is the opposition thought to hold up the closure resolution as they held up the Naval Bill, and force the government to the country. When they discovered they had become loiled, they became angry, and even the knight of the white plume seems to have lost his temper as completely as his most insignificant follower. It was a rather sorry spectacle.

How 'the Machine' Worked.

No doubt now exists as to the intention of the Laurier Government to introduce the Closure had the administration survived the last General Election. Speeches by Hon. William Pugsley and other ex-Ministers have been quoted from which no other conclusion is possible. Further evidence, however, is forthcoming in the tone of despatches sent out from Ottawa by the Liberal machine. The Montreal Transcript gave prominence to an obviously inspired despatch from Ottawa under date July 27th, 1911. In commenting on the closing days of the session, it said in part: 'A brilliant and vigorous speech from the Premier (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) that will be threshed out in the coming campaign, namely, Reciprocity versus obstruction; true Imperialism versus ultra Imperialism, and majority versus minority rule, will probably mark the last scene. 'Sir Wilfrid, if the opportunity of his followers and sound the war note of the campaign. Meanwhile the hours of obstruction talk still being endured emphasize one chief moral of the present session, namely, that the new Parliament must take prompt steps to prevent a recurrence of another eight months' session with less than half the business of the House put through. 'Liberal members have been loath to advocate closure, but patience has now ceased to be a virtue. There is a general consensus of opinion that no sane man can be expected to long remain a Member of Parliament under present conditions when there is absolutely no remedy for needlessly long sessions, and holding up of the country's business at any time by a stubborn minority. 'In the coming campaign the Liberal members will frankly declare the necessity for some form of closure, and when the Government is returned to power it will have a mandate to change the rules of the House in accordance with the present obvious need for reform.'

Closure.

The King's government must be carried on. The majority must rule. There must be no interference with the right of free speech. These are axioms of government. When free speech is used as a weapon to prevent majority rule and to block the business of the King's government it becomes necessary to find a remedy.

That situation arose years ago in Britain, and what we call closure resulted. Now it is proposed to adopt for the Canadian parliament a modified form of the British system, by which it will be possible to end a debate after twenty-four hours' notice. It should not be necessary in Canada to resort to this procedure. No fair-minded and reasonable man can deny that parliamentary leaders in Canada have always been ready to give opportunity for necessary discussion of great public questions. That has been the practice of the past, and except on a few rare occasions, speakers and parties have confined their debates within what may be termed reasonable bounds, and have adopted the constitutional course of allowing the responsible party to carry out its program and assume whatever responsibility attaches to its acts. It is unfortunate for many reasons that the same course is not now being pursued. The British government, if it has not actually asked the Canadian contribution of the three ships, has signified in unmistakable terms its desire that the gift be made, and through the First Lord of the Admiralty, has clearly let it be known the plans it has for those ships. Both Canadian parties have expressed approval of a $15,000,000 naval expenditure, and if the Liberals do not like the idea of the ships being part of an imperial squadron, but prefer them for home service, it will be easy to recall them when they are again in power, or when for any other reason it is thought advisable. The introduction of the closure proposals cannot but be regretted on all sides. That the government is face to face with a serious difficulty the recent happenings in parliament have made abundantly clear, but the remedy proposed will only add to the bitterness that has been engendered. -St. John Globe (Liberal).

Installation of Officers St. George's Lodge, No. 20, A. F. & A. M.

At the regular meeting of St. George's Lodge, No. 20, A. F. & A. M., Reg. of N. S., held in the Lodge room, Wolfville, on Friday, 11th inst., the following brethren were duly installed by Bro. J. E. Smith, R. W. D. D. G. Master, to serve in the offices set opposite their respective names, during the coming Masonic year of 1913-1914:

- W. M.—Henry A. Peck, S. W.—Horace G. Perry, J. W.—David Thompson, Treas.—Andrew deW. Bars, Secty.—Alfred K. Bars, S. D.—Wilmot H. Thompson, Jr., J. D.—Les H. Curry, S. S.—Thomas E. Hutchinson, J. S.—Francis C. Dennison, Chaplain—George W. Miller, Marshal—Robie W. Ford, P. M. Tyler—Martin W. Pick, P. M. Organist—Robie W. Ford, P. M.

At the close of the installation service the brethren of the Lodge, after having been agreeably entertained by interesting speeches from the newly elected officers, visiting brethren, and members of the Lodge, set down to refreshments and returning home after joining in singing Auld Lang Syne in the wee sma' hours.

The death took place at Berwick of an early officer of the St. George's Lodge, Bro. Robie W. Ford, P. M., who died on Friday, April 12th, at the age of 78 years. He was a native of Scotland and had resided in Wolfville for many years. He was a member of the Lodge since its formation in 1854 and was one of its most prominent members. He was a graduate of Acadia in 1884 and for some years was engaged in the work of conducting the great canal. His lecture, illustrated by lantern views, was much enjoyed. There is no audience presided over by E. F. Fife, president of the club, who is familiar with the Wyoming and Montana declines, which he cannot compare with the ranges of Vermont and the Pacific for sheep and cattle. He declares that in five years the two eastern states could greatly reduce the price of meat and wool, and he predicts that ere long abandoned farms in the eastern states will be converted into cattle and sheep ranges. Here is a suggestion for the Maritime Provinces.

Government Scandals Coming Home to Roost.

THE 'INEVITABLE CONSEQUENCES OF LONG HOLDING OF OFFICE' SHOW IN SUCH DISGRACEFUL AFFAIRS AS MURRAY'S CROWN LAND DEAL, AND OTHER WRONG-DOING BROUGHT TO LIGHT IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY. House of Assembly, Halifax, April 13th.—One of the memorable remarks in political discussions of recent years was that of Premier Murray when he boldly observed that 'long holding of office has brought about the inevitable consequences—corruption and jobbery in every branch of the public service.' Mr. Murray was applying the words to other than his own party, but they reflect with intensity on his own administration, moribund as he is, and certain ere long to become defunct. During the present session of the provincial legislature some unsavory charges have been laid at the door of the men who occupy the benches to the speaker's right. The debates of the present session will make interesting reading for those who would defend a government such as that of which George Murray is the head.

THE PEOPLE WILL DEMAND SATISFACTION.

The crown land scandal in Inverness and Victoria and the tuberculosis scandal on the government farm at Truro, are two of the notable instances of wrong-doing brought home. These and other charges, of which most unsatisfactory explanations were given in the house, will come before the people and the government cannot hope to escape a reckoning day. Premier Murray's words are true in regard to his own government. 'Long holding of office brings the inevitable consequences of corruption and jobbery in the public service.' There is jobbery and corruption.

FOR FISHERMEN'S PROTECTION.

A move that may prove the basis of a province-wide protection to the 'men who go down to the sea in ships' has been inaugurated through the medium of a bill introduced in the house of Assembly by J. W. Margeson, the member for Lunenburg. It is the formation of a 'fisherman's benefit association' in that county. The bill comes as the result of a well-thought out plan on the part of the citizens of Lunenburg who, as Mr. Tanner observed, possess a happy faculty of carrying their ventures to a successful issue. Mr. Margeson explained the bill and Mr. Zwicker followed in hearty commendation of it. The yearly dues of the association are provided for as $10 for each vessel, $2 from each captain, and $1 from each man. While the benefits only pertain to men engaged in banks fishing any man in the county may become a member. On death, the result of an accident or other influences incident to fishing on the banks, the beneficiaries of the deceased shall receive $500. This will be regulated by the bye-laws yet to be framed.

RELATED OYSTER CULTIVATION.

It is strange that so often the Murray government only follows instead of leading. They do not lead in matters where they should be in advance. An illustration of this is furnished in the bill which proposes to develop barren areas along the shores and utilize them for oyster cultivation. The attorney-general frankly stated that the bill was patterned after measures to secure this end and which for some time had been law in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. The government of those provinces saw the point long ago, which only now becomes visible to our antiquated administration.

METHOD OF OPERATION.

The oyster beds in the natural state are registered under the Dominion Fisheries act. Such a move as the one proposed does not in any way disturb that authority. It provides that oysters may be deposited and cultivated on barren bottoms. The idea is to lay out certain of these areas and lease them. Oysters will be deposited therein and will be owned by the lessee so long as he cares to hold the lease. The areas, the bill provides, will be about five acres each. Police officers are to be appointed to guard them and protect against the inroads of oyster thieves and take general care and oversight. Mr. Margeson sounded a note of warning against allowing foreigners to come in and obtain sweeping monopolies. Our people must be first.

Mr. Tanner thought the government should not stop here, but go on with a policy of education along general lines. This industry ought to be commended to the people of the province of Nova Scotia, and while he was not averse to seeing foreigners acquire reasonable leases under proper conditions, he urged that the industry be carried out at first in the interest of our own people.

British Emigration.

The people of the British Isles exhibit an increasing tendency to emigrate within the Empire. Statistics published by the Imperial authorities show this to be the case, the tendency having become marked during the last fiscal year. The United States is not now the magnet for the Old Countryman it used to be. He now turns his eye rather to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, or South Africa. It is well for the British Empire that this is the case. It broadens the base of the imperial structure; it renews the life of the British race. If Britain is to hold her present place in the world of nations, she must live her life over again in her overseas states. Happily this is being done, but it took a long time to do it.

With the departure of the Furness liner Shenandoah from Halifax for London Friday went the last shipment for the season of the Nova Scotia apple crop of 1912. The Shenandoah took 7,500 barrels of the winter varieties, thus rounding out the total export at somewhat above 700,000 barrels out of a crop that produced approximately 800,000 barrels.

HERE IS GOOD ADVICE TO TAKE

It will help those who have Kidney and Bladder Trouble. There are other 'old enemies' similar to the one mentioned in this testimonial. Kidney and Bladder Troubles are always enemies to good health. As soon as you start to take GIN PILLS these ailments begin to disappear. It is the same in cases of Lumbago, Sciatica and like complaints. This letter illustrates the benefit of GIN PILLS.

Winnipeg, Jan. 6th. 'I have been a sufferer from Lumbago for some years past and during Christmas week had a very acute attack which confined me to the house. About the latter part of April, I met your Mr. Hill and mentioned my complaint to him. He advised me to take GIN PILLS. I have been taking them at intervals during the early part of the present winter, and up to date have had no return of my old trouble—in fact, I feel better than I have for years and think that my old enemy has vanished for good and all.'
