

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Product of Canada.

It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for the many ills that result from disordered stomach or rundown blood condition. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their conclusions point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical and altogether harmless.

Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in Royal Yeast are the vitamins and nuclei which it contains. It is certainly well worth a fair trial by those who suffer from any of the ailments mentioned above.

The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER XXXV.

"That which divides us is deeper than a grave," he said, with a slight shudder. "I shall never hear the sound of the waves again without thinking of this."

"Nor shall I. A man should be ashamed to confess cowardice; but I owe to you, Hettie, I hardly know how to take up the burden of life again."

The sweet whispered words gave him strength.

"We shall pass out of each other's life," she said. "Even that will be better than meeting always to suffer pain. After to-night, we shall see each other no more."

"It seems hard," he cried, bitterly, setting his teeth with the air of a desperate man, "though it is better for you and better for me that it should be so."

Then, as he was leaving her for ever, the temptation became too great. He clasped his arms round her, and gathered her to his heart. Once, twice, thrice he kissed her pale, sweet face, as one kisses the face of the best-beloved before the coffin-lid is closed. In silence then he put her away from him; in silence she sat where he had left her; and he went away over the great hill, which rose like a huge barrier between himself and that which was dearest to him on earth.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

The party at Dene Abbey broke up. Sir Basil went home to Glen, where he resolved to devote himself to work, in order to drive far from him all memories of the night that stood out, a clear and distinct picture, from the remainder of his life. The other guests departed to different parts of the kingdom. The duke and duchess went on the Continent; Sir Arthur Hatton and his beautiful niece returned to Brentwood.

The duchess, who had a warm and sincere affection for Leah, was troubled about her. She could not help suspecting that something was wrong between the lovers, for she had seen Sir Basil, on the evening before

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

he left, with such a strange expression on his face. But then Leah seemed happy. The duchess, than whom no more kindly woman ever lived, decided that, if she were in the general's place, she should hurry on the marriage. She had an uncomfortable feeling that something unpleasant would happen if this were not done.

As for Leah, her fears and forebodings had vanished. Basil, of his own free will, had returned to Glen in order to hasten the preparations for the wedding. That being the case, she could hardly charge him with want of love; she had made herself unhappy with fancies. When the Duchess of Rosedene had said good-by to her, she had added: "I shall be back for your marriage, Leah, in the spring; not all the lions of Europe would keep me from that." Leah's lovely face had brightened at the words.

The time was drawing near now in which she would be united for evermore to the one man whom she loved so passionately. A few more weeks of the changing autumn and then would come winter; the spring would soon follow, and then there would be no more parting, no more sorrow. They would be together until Death divided them.

During these days the memory of her sister grew less clear and distinct to Leah; the past was like a dream to her—she lived entirely in the present, father, sisters, the many places she had called home, the troubles and humiliations of her early life, had faded away. Leah Ray, who was to have been a "female lecturer," a prophetess among the people, and Leah Hatton, the famous beauty and heiress, were two very different people.

The general had told her to spare no expense. She was to have a trousseau fit for a queen. The fortune that Sir Arthur had given to her was to be made her own by marriage deeds and settlements. From all these splendours Leah would steal away to look at what was most precious to her—the golden wedding-ring lying in the little morocco case; the ring that had been taken from so many dead fingers, that had held so many living hopes, and that she was to wear for the rest of her life. She cared more for that solitary treasure than for all else that belonged to her.

As they journeyed home from Dene to Brentwood, Sir Arthur saw more clearly than ever how entirely his niece's heart was given to Sir Basil. He was even amused, although he did his best to hide his amusement. No matter on what subject the conversation began, it turned always to Sir Basil. He might discuss the autumn woods, the old gray churches, the pretty homesteads, anything and everything but she managed always to bring Sir Basil in at the end. He laughed quietly to himself, thinking the ways of lovers very wonderful ways.

"Do you think Sir Basil will come over to Brentwood to-night?" was the most eager question she asked.

"How long has he been away?" said the general.

"Four days," replied Leah.

"Then I should say most decidedly that we shall find him waiting for us at the station."

He was right; Sir Basil had ridden over to the station at Arley, intending to go back with them to Brentwood.

There is surely nothing so pathetic as a great love—nothing so beautiful or so sad. Leah's face was a picture to see when her eyes fell on her sister.

Sir Basil had resolved to do his best. There should be no more lingering in the pleasant paths of temptation for him. He would honestly try to make the girl who loved him happy. When between her brilliant, beautiful face and his own there rose the shadow of a pale, sweet face drowned in tears, he turned resolutely away; he would not see it.

Leah thought that he looked very ill, pale, worn, and exhausted.

"You wanted me to take care of you," she said. "What have you been doing to yourself, Basil? I shall not let you leave us again. You look as though you had been ill."

"I am well enough, Leah; you need not be anxious about me, I have been busy, I find that it does not do to be long from home. My land-steward is one of the best men I could have for my purpose; but there is no man living can take the whole responsibility of an estate from its owner. I am glad you have returned, Leah; now we shall have some weeks, at least, of peace."

He spoke in the tone and with the manner of one tried beyond endurance; and again it struck Leah how strangely and sadly he was altered.

There was a warm welcome for the travellers at Brentwood; every one seemed delighted. The household were all in grand array, ready to receive them; the fine old mansion seemed to have put on its brightest look to welcome them. Then Sir Arthur, Leah, and Sir Basil sat down to dinner. They found it a great change from the large party that had gathered round the dinner-table at Dene Abbey.

"After all," said the general, "it is impossible to live in a crowd. One requires quiet every now and then."

On this occasion Leah looked more lovely, in Sir Arthur's eyes, than she had ever looked in her magnificent toilets at Dene. She wore a dress of rich, white lace, with ribbons of pale lemon color, a magnificent pomegranate blossom in her hair, and in the bodice of her dress—a toilet that suited her to perfection. She had never looked happier. The sense of being at home again, the fact of having Basil with her, of knowing that he had been working hard so as to bring the time of their marriage nearer, the recollection that she should not leave Brentwood again until she left it as his wife—all these things made her wonderfully and unutterably happy.

Sir Basil's heart was moved when he looked at her; she so well deserved the greatest love that any man could give her. And he? Ah, if Heaven would but take from him the memory of the pale sweet face drowned in tears! If he could forget that for one half-hour in his life he had known what true happiness was!

After dinner, under the pretense of looking at an accumulation of business letters, but in reality to indulge in ten minutes' slumber, the general went for half an hour to his study, and Leah and Sir Basil were left together. A sense of the cruel wrong that a loveless marriage would be to her, came over the baronet; and he vowed to himself that he would make amends to her by increased kindness, by studying her wishes in every way. His little dreamed how keenly and clearly the eyes of love saw.

HORNE IS OPTIMISTIC.

LONDON, May 11. Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at the annual dinner of the British Bankers' Association, last night, said he was glad at the end of his first year as head of the treasury he found himself in a position incomparably better, in many respects than that to which he succeeded. He was then confronted with very great financial difficulties. These had been greatly mitigated and he was assured also that the bankers found themselves in a very much easier position. All apprehensions of decadence in the city of London had entirely disappeared, continued Sir Robert. If it had not been for the strike in the engineering industry he would have said the country was due for a distinct business revival this year. From all symptoms in the trades the United Kingdom he believed will have good prospects for a revival of business, although not to the same degree. He thought the country might look forward to seeing before long a revival which would bring encouragement to everybody and give business a fresh start, bringing about that prosperity which was in every man's mind, and the country was hoping for.

SECRET TREATY OR YELLOW JOURNALISM?

PARIS, May 11. The newspaper LeClair to-day prints the text of the military convention said to have been signed by representatives of the Russian Soviet army and the general staff in Berlin on April 2 of this year, by the principal clause of which the Germans undertake to furnish the Red Army with arms and material necessary to equip 180 regiments of infantry and sufficient heavy artillery for twenty infantry divisions. The German general staff, according to the alleged convention, undertakes to recognize the Russian Baltic and Black Seas fleets, and to supply at the earliest possible date five hundred new airplanes, together with spare parts and 150 field wireless outfits. The Germans would train sixty Russian instructors in latest discoveries and inventions in chemical warfare, and send technical experts to Russia to speed up existing munition plants and open new ones. The Red Army staff on its side guarantees establishment in Russia of three German plants, one to manufacture airplanes, one for poison gas and one for arms, on condition that the Russian Army can use the output when needed. Germany, it specifies, would be admitted to the new arms factory in Afghanistan. Finally the alleged convention says that the two staffs will prepare a joint plan of operation for procuring Russian access to the Baltic Sea, and contracting parties bind themselves to keep the convention secret.

U.S. APPROVES PALESTINE MANDATE.

GENOVA, May 11. The United States Government has finally consented to the British mandate for Palestine, the Earl of Balfour informed the League of Nations to-night.

CARPENTIER WINS IN FIRST ROUND.

LONDON, May 11. Georges Carpentier won over Kid Lewis in the first round of their scheduled 20 round match for the world light-heavyweight championship here to-night. Carpentier's victory was achieved after two minutes and 15 seconds of fighting. A fight to the jaw sent Lewis to the boards to be counted out.

PEACE COMMITTEE WILL CONTINUE.

DUBLIN, May 11. Reports from the two sections of the Dail Peace Committee were submitted to Dail to-day. The reports showed that the negotiations to reconcile the opposing army factions had broken down on the refusal of the anti-treaty party to accept the preamble of the proposed agreement which would have caused them to admit that the majority of the Irish people were in favor of the treaty, and on the expressed belief of the anti-treaty faction that it was useless to continue the negotiations "because the other side is more concerned to commit us to acceptance of the treaty than with the working out of a detailed scheme." Dail finally adjourned until Wednesday to enable the committee to continue its efforts to find a solution.

CONTINUES IMMIGRATION ACT.

WASHINGTON, May 11. President Harding to-day signed a bill extending for two years from June 30, the three per cent. Immigration Restriction Act.

PRICE OF GASOLINE INCREASES.

NEW YORK, May 11. The Standard Oil Company to-day advanced the price of gasoline one cent per gallon.

FLOOD SITUATION IN MANITOBA.

WINNIPEG, May 11. The flood situation between here and Portage LaPrairie assumed grave proportions to-night with a steady rise reported from several districts. The town of Rabun is several feet under water, while Marquette and Berthel will be flooded if the waters do not abate. No loss of life is reported, but many families have had to evacuate their homes. The waters are reported to be breaking through the dykes on the north and south side of the Pigeon Lake District. Several miles of Portage highway have been washed away and flooded to a depth of three feet.

TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT.

OTTAWA, May 11. Government and Opposition members to-day urged the granting of contracts for steel rails and other measures to relieve unemployment.

WILL ADHERE TO WARTIME AGREEMENT.

HALIFAX, May 11. Pending the outcome of the controversy over the Fordney Tariff Bill, Eastern Canada fishing interests will not oppose the granting of modus vivendi licenses to American fishing vessels admitting them to port privileges on payment of $1.50 per ton net per year, according to the decision of prominent fish merchants meeting here. This means that Canada will adhere to the wartime agreement respecting the fisheries for the present, though the United States appropriated its part of the agreement last year and British fishing vessels may now only enter American ports for shelter or water or food.

114 Old People.

RECEIVE KING'S MAUNDY MONEY. LONDON, (Associated Press).--Westminster Abbey was the scene to-day of one of those quaint medieval customs of which many still survive in some form in London. This was the annual distribution of the King's "Maundy Money" by the Lord High Almoner, the Earl of Wells. Custom decrees that the number of recipients of this bounty shall be twice the King's age and as King George is now 57 years old there were 87 old men and a similar number of old women seated in the choir stalls to receive the money surrounded by a number of the yeomen carrying a gold dish on which were 114 red and white his purses containing the Maundy money which now are minted specially for the occasion. The High Almoner and his assistants are dressed in white instead of the usual towels which their predecessors used in Queen Elizabeth's time when they washed the feet of a number of old persons on Maundy Thursday.

Fashions and Fads.

A wrap of velvet is made charming with colored wool embroidery and deep silk fringe. The cape or wrappy coat resorts to loose panels of pleating to give the required fullness. The jumper dress and matching cape of tweed are an ideal costume for the schoolgirl. A dinner gown of orchid crepe remains is spiculed with silver colored grapes and ribbon. Many a semi-evening gown is expressive of the sleeveless type and Correspondence on Prohibition.

COMMUNICATIONS FORWARDED TO THE GOVERNMENT BY THE CONFERENCE ON SOCIAL SERVICE AND EVANGELISM.

Dear Sir--I am instructed by the Conference Standing Committee on Social Service and Evangelism to forward to you the enclosed communication with the Executive Committee and the Hon. Mr. Warren. I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. and in consequence thereof to publish the same in the columns of your paper. I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Yours faithfully,
T. B. DARBY,
Secretary of the Conference Standing Committee on Social Service and Evangelism.

Methodist Conference Standing Committee on Social Service and Evangelism, St. John's, Nfld., May 11, 1922.

It is well known that many doctors throughout the Dominion prescribe little, if any, alcoholic liquor, therefore the legal turnover in any year for those who do prescribe would be about 75 p.c. of the above amount of spirits and wine.

AND WHEREAS, it is known that the imports for 1921, were very large and out of all proportion to the legal medicinal requirements. The published list of imports from September to December 31st, 1921, shows 35,670 gallons of liquor came into Newfoundland with an approximate selling value of $900,000.00, and if the same rate of importation continues for twelve months the liquor business will present a sales turnover of about 140,000 gallons and a selling value of about $2,400,000, or twenty per cent. greater in gallons than the average sales in a year since prohibition when many saloons were in St. John's.

AND WHEREAS, Section K, Rules and Regulations, provides that only prescriptions sent in on forms supplied by the controller should be honoured.

AND WHEREAS, if the present law were enforced by the Government only 5 p.c. of the stocks imported would be necessary.

AND WHEREAS, the Controller's Department is a Government Department, the money to purchase the liquor is supplied by the Government. The Acting Controller is a Government official.

AND WHEREAS, it is against the spirit of the British Constitution to have a Government Department openly defying and violating an Act of Parliament, which should be strictly enforced, until such time as it may be amended, in a Constitutional manner.

RESOLVED, that this Conference Committee composed of all the Methodist clergymen in the city, and representative laymen, strongly protests to the Government against:

(a) The supplying of liquor to any person for beverage purposes only.

(b) The supplying of more liquor to patients than the law allows.

(c) The supplying of liquor on orders written by those who are not medical practitioners, and who have no legal standing under the act.

(d) Honouring doctors' prescriptions for unlimited quantities of liquor, regardless of the monthly limits set by the Rules and Regulations.

(e) The importation of such enormous stocks of liquor which cannot be legally sold in Newfoundland for several years, and against the placing of further orders abroad until required to supply the legitimate demand.

(f) The unrestricted development of an outlawed business which diverts the large sum of over a million dollars from regular trade in commodities, and while giving practically no employment to the masses helps to swell the ranks of the unemployed through lack of demand for ordinary goods thereby assisting in keeping industries and stores idle and increasing the general depression.

RESOLVED, that the same standard of law enforcement should govern the Controller's Department as is maintained by the responsible heads of the other Government Departments.

RESOLVED that this Committee strongly urges the Government to issue such instructions to the Acting Controller as would make the officials of his department and all druggists refuse to fill prescriptions or orders, which are not in accordance with the Prohibition Act.

AND FURTHER, that the Government should appoint the Board of Control with power to appoint a general manager for the Department, who would be in sympathy with the act as recommended by the Royal Commission and also by the Methodist Conference during its 1921 session.

RESOLVED, that the same standard of law enforcement should govern the Controller's Department as is maintained by the responsible heads of the other Government Departments.

RESOLVED that this Committee strongly urges the Government to issue such instructions to the Acting Controller as would make the officials of his department and all druggists refuse to fill prescriptions or orders, which are not in accordance with the Prohibition Act.

AND FURTHER, that the Government should appoint the Board of Control with power to appoint a general manager for the Department, who would be in sympathy with the act as recommended by the Royal Commission and also by the Methodist Conference during its 1921 session.

Signed on behalf of Committee,
L. CURTIS, Chairman,
T. B. DARBY, Secretary.

March 9, 1922.
Hon. Sir R. A. Squires, K. C. M. G., Prime Minister.

Dear Sir--The Conference Standing Committee on Social Service and Evangelism begs to acknowledge the receipt of your communication, addressed to Rev. Dr. Curtis, in reply to the series of regulations dated Jan'y. 10th, and presented to His Excellency the Governor, in Council, by a deputation from this Committee.

The Committee notes with interest that so far no attempt has been made by the Government to dispute the figures submitted by the Committee which were based on the very large importations during the latter half of 1921.

The Committee notes the statement that the Rules and Regulations were not enforced by the Controller's Department. The Committee understands from what it calls a reliable source that the records of the Controller's Department will prove that some attempt was made by the Department to enforce the Rules and Regulations under the late Controller, R. J. Berreault, and particularly after the promulgation during the first year or so.

The Committee also notes the information supplied by you to the effect that the Deputy Minister of Justice expresses the opinion that the servant to a law enacted by the government.

This Committee wishes to again strongly urge and emphasize the fact that the Controller is a civil servant holding office "during pleasure" and removable "at will". The Rules and Regulations 1917 were provided by his masters, the Government, for his guidance, and until the Government repeals these Rules and Regulations, it is the plain duty of the Controller to obey them, and of the Government to dispense him if he does not.

This Committee would respectfully point out that the Rules and Regulations were worked out by the Board of Liquor Control without precedent to meet local conditions. The principle of the said Rules and Regulations have now been endorsed by the Ontario Government, but on a more stringent basis, only 50 prescriptions a month being allowed. During 1921--November--the United States Government by a vote of 251 to 92 passed the "Anti Beer Bill" which provides among other clauses as follows:--

"Physicians are limited to one hundred prescriptions for intoxicants in ninety days, and cannot prescribe separately or in aggregate for any one patient more than one half pint of alcohol in ten days."

This Conference Committee respectfully insists that the Government should instruct the Controller to obey the Prohibition Laws in every way, as now on the Statute Book, as present conditions tend to rapid demoralization of the whole people.

On behalf of the Conference Committee,
T. B. DARBY, Secretary,
St. John's,
April 12th, 1922.

Hon. W. R. Warren,
Minister of Justice,
City.

Dear Sir--I am instructed by the Methodist Conference Standing Committee of Social Service and Evangelism to call your attention to a letter signed "Vigilance" appearing in the Daily News of April 4th, in which the statement is made that intoxicating liquors may be freely obtained without doctors' scripts.

It seems to the Committee that such a serious charge against a Government Department should not be allowed to go unchallenged, and our Committee would be pleased to know that the Department of Justice is taking the matter up. As this is a public matter, the Committee reserves the right to publish all correspondence.

Yours faithfully,
T. B. DARBY,
Secretary of Committee.

Come to The Tangled Skein, Holy Cross Schools, this evening--May 12, 11.

REORGANIZING UNION--The Firemen's Union is now being reorganized, and within the past month over one hundred members have been added to the roll. On Tuesday next a meeting of the Union is being held when matters of importance will come up for discussion.

Chiropractor.

CHIROPRACTOR TAKEN TO TASK.
 Evening Telegram.
 The space devoted to the paper re News of Toronto and Montreal (submitted by the Toronto Correspondent), in May 8th issue, contains an article in which the Toronto Correspondent devotes a paragraph to an attack on the chiropractors of the Province of Ontario. He is very desirous to know how many are in your midst; also how many have taken on to himself the title of judge in assuming the length of an individual under a particular mode of healers. He has made statements, so naturally, which are not to be believed. I wish to have this rectified in your paper, that the public may know and choose for themselves. It is ever the purpose of the chiropractor, regarding health and his particular mode of healing, to tell the truth, and nothing but the truth, and nothing to hide, so that the public may see for themselves. It is not my purpose to start a controversy, and will only reply to the article if it is attacked. The Toronto Correspondent is not a very able reader of your daily, as it is that he would have known of the name of a Chiropractor among the names of the Toronto Correspondent. Also he never heard of Chiropractors before coming to Toronto, and he never saw one until he came to the people of Newfoundland. Chiropractic is not, if the name before committing himself, would visit some of the leading Chiropractors of Toronto, or may be of the Editors of the Toronto Evening Telegram, who could furnish him with the information concerning the Philosophy of Chiropractic, of which he knows nothing. For the information of the Toronto Correspondent, do not treat or hammer the spine. No such thing as a spinal piece as one is led to believe by reading the correspondence writing. Chiropractic consists of adjusting by hand the articulations of the spine, relieving pressure on nerves, and to their individual organs and the human body. There is no pressure used or a hammer or mallet, nor in no sense is hammer applied in any shape to the spine. If there is it is not Chiropractic. There is nothing in a chiropractic treatment to injure as it is applied to the infant and aged alike. Special permission draws a conclusion from his opinion upon the fact that with tuberculosis died after a visit by a Chiropractor in a half hour whereas it would take a regular man a hundred times as long. He went on to mention speed on the part of the Chiropractor. (Maybe the same in a local). The only person I can draw in, this self-judge passes his opinion to us. The patient would have lived if a regular medical man had been in attendance. Now in contrast to this I want to draw the attention of the public to what happened to a couple of patients of the regular medical profession. There was a little of the Toronto Correspondent so glibly refers to the case of the Chiropractor used in the case. Given serum; two women dragged after treatment. One collapsed on street other in doctor's office. "Chief Coroner conducts inquiry," two women died suddenly. "Afternoon shortly after being needed, a treatment of a patient for blood disorder, Miss Monica Palmerstone Avenue died on the street about 50 yards from the office of Dr. J. H. McCollin, 1553 Dundas Street west, while Dr. McCollin was on duty at 212 Sackville St. in the doctor's office. Dr. McCollin had several other patients during the same treatment, was assisted by Dr. E. E. Faed, 1087 St. Street. (Telegram, Jan. 19, 1922). This is the Toronto Telegram. The correspondence would be able to pick the length of life of those patients if a Chiropractor had been in attendance. It is not my purpose to draw lines in public, or resort to anything alluring, but to give to the truth and nothing but the truth as it is their right. The Association of Chiropractors of the Province of Alberta, of which I am a member, have received permits to practice. In conclusion I will quote from a letter written by a patient who has a proof against all argument, which cannot fail to keep a man from maintaining ignorance! That principle of condemnation before investigation."
 Yours truly,
 W. H. MacPHERSON,
 Atlantic Ave., May 10, 1922.
His Punishment.
 (who has gone into the punishment, and finds William, stealing biscuits): "Now, what do you mean by this? You know that the law punishes for small offences?"
 "Yes, father. You stole mother's money, but remember, I was punished for that. I got the sentence, and am serving it."

HIS DIARY.

May 11th.—The house in confusion from the Spring cleaning and my wife in a great way, being that her painting did dry in spots and will have to be done another time by painters. I so the office but little there to be done. So to the Common Court where I did put in some time. The House sits for but a short time in the afternoon and adjourns until Monday, when, I think, the railway policy will be announced. Dr. Jones and Mr. Woodford make enquiries of my wife and hope she is well. I did discourse with Mr. Bennett of the Hawkes Bay project, which he thinks is good.

PING PONG TOURNAMENT. There was a very large attendance of all ranks at last night's parade of the C.L.B. Cadets. The Companies did counter marching under their C.S.M.'s, and are progressing wonderfully in this difficult exercise.

The Athletic Association held a meeting in connection with the Annual Indoor Sports which take place on Thursday next. The necessary committees were appointed and several other matters were dealt with.

The Officers' Mess again met, deft in a ping pong tournament, this time in the hands of the Dunfield Boys' Club. The margin of points was 32. The Mess has not been getting much practice lately, and have been unsuccessful in all their recent tournaments. The scores last night were:

LEARN FROM THE ROBIN.

A robin underneath the eaves
A nest of wondrous pattern weaves.
The cat who watches from below,
Exclaims: "That's much too high to go."

"I'll show you Mistress Robin now,
A most unusual apple bough.

"A little nook where you may be
The leading couple of the tree.

"There you may learn your babes to fly
And keep on them a watchful eye."

"Better up here," the robin said,
"Than have to fear your stealthy tread."

"Better the high long flight each day
Than have you steal my babes away."

So high beneath the sheltering eaves
Her nest the careful robin weaves.

But men and women, not so wise,
Still rear their young where danger lies.

They heed the blandishment of cheats
And chance the hazard of the streets.

For pleasure's whim they build their homes
Where the sly cat forever roams.

WEEKLY MEETING.
The regular weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and all the Councillors were present. The minutes of the last meeting being read and confirmed, the following business was transacted.

A communication was tabled from the Prime Minister, Sir R. A. Squires in relation to city standards. It will be remembered that this matter has been the subject of discussion by previous Councils, but no definite decision was arrived at. During the past few months the matter has again been revived, and several conferences were held between the Council and the Inspector General, and it was decided that, in view of congested traffic conditions on Water Street, a rearrangement was most necessary. Various suggestions were offered, and it was finally decided that the Prime Minister be written, with a view of acquiring certain lands on Water St. to be used as stands, in order to accommodate the large number of cabs now engaged in the business. The Prime Minister, after consultation with his ministers, decided to place the following sites at the Council's disposal, namely—the property east of the G. P. O. and east and west of the Court House, stating he quite realized the inconvenience and hardship that would be placed on the cabmen, if they were moved to streets other than the principal thoroughfare (Water Street). This arrangement will, no doubt, be most satisfactory, as it will relieve present conditions, and, at the same time, will not in any way interfere with the business of the cabmen. The Council greatly appreciates the prompt action of the Prime Minister, and desire to thank him for his cooperation.

Deputy Minister of Justice Summers forwarded communication with reference to lands recently expropriated for street widening purposes, South Side, and asked that arrangements be made for compensating the owners of these lands. The arbitrations will be held as speedily as possible, under the terms outlined in the Minister's communication.

The Superintendent of the St. John's Light and Power Company stated that repairs to Water St. pavement near the car rails would be undertaken as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

The Newfoundland Motor Association called attention to the stone crossings Rawlins' Cross, which, owing to their being above the level of the street, form a nuisance to vehicular traffic. They also referred to traffic conditions in this locality, which would be considerably improved if the corners, east and west were rounded off. The former matter will be given attention by the City Engineer, but the latter would entail a large outlay in the shifting of telegraph, telephone poles, etc., which the Council could not possibly undertake.

Communication to Mr. R. Moran, with reference to water supply, was referred to the City Engineer.

Mr. A. J. Stacey, Duckworth Street, and J. Hanlon, Kicham Place, called attention to the dilapidated condition of retaining wall, rear of Duckworth Street. Enquiry will be made in the matter by the City Engineer.

Mr. J. P. Stapleton asked that a hopper fronting his dwelling, Livingstone Street, be removed. As Mr. Stapleton has water and sewerage in his dwelling, his request will be complied with.

Communication of T. Doyle, residential conditions near his premises Water Street, will be enquired into by the City Engineer.

A note of thanks was read from Mr. Williams on behalf of the members of the Sanitary Department, for the donation of the Council towards the funds of the Sick Benefit Club, recently formed by them.

Applications were read from the following—M. Tracey, and A. Dessert, for the position of impounder; S. Luscombe and Employment Officer Butler, on behalf of Wm. Glance for position of caretaker, Swimming Pool. The applications were ordered filed.

George Learning offered land off Freshwater Road for dumping purposes. The offer was accepted.

Permits—subject to the Engineer's approval—will be issued the following—W. Goss, Plymouth Road, and J. Leamon, Monkstown Road, for concrete sidewalks; R. English, Queen's Road, Rev. C. H. Field, Cochrane St., and J. Davey, Cochrane Street, for alterations to dwellings.

The following applications were referred to the City Engineer—J. Finney, for repairs to dwelling, Prince's Street; L. R. Penny, extension to dwelling, Parade St., J. R. Chalke, assigned site and reported upon.

The United Tobacco Products Company, Ltd., and Michael Rolla, Field Street, asked permission to install motors on their premises. If same are satisfactory to City Engineer, permits may be issued.

The residents of Cavell Street, called attention to the necessity of macadamizing this thoroughfare, which was opened by the Council some eighteen months ago, for the purpose of erecting new houses, but was not properly graded. The City Engineer was instructed to have the men of his department give the matter their attention.

Readers were ordered to be called for uniforms for the inspectors.

The matter of "blind corners" at junction of Monkstown and Circular Roads, was again the subject of considerable discussion. The City Clerk informed the Board that arrangements had been completed for the transfer of this land. The corner has long been regarded as a menace to pedestrian and vehicular traffic, and the Council are to be indeed congratulated on their successful efforts to eliminate all such "danger points" in the city.

Capt. G. J. Whitty, Dominion Secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, wrote in reference to placing of a concrete curb and gutter around the Soldiers' Monument, Garrison Hill. This undertaking will mean a large outlay, but Capt. Whitty informed the Council that arrangements would be made to reimburse them for expenditure incurred. The City Engineer will consult him as to the details of same.

Matters in connection with Motor Licenses, particularly known as the "Garage Licenses," with which dealers are allowed for the fees paid, two demonstrating numbers, were discussed, and it was pointed out that some of the holders of same had taken advantage of same and used the numbers for more than demonstrating purposes. The City Clerk was instructed to have one of the inspectors round up the parties referred to.

The following plans were passed, subject of approval of the City Engineer—R. Hibbs, Garage, LeMarchant Road; E. Kennedy, Kimberly Row, and Chas. Call, Monroe Street, (extensions).

Permit was refused T. Horan to erect dwelling, Southside, as water and sewerage are not available in the locality.

The report of the City Engineer was tabled. This report called attention to the very dilapidated condition of the W. C.'s (public) and it was decided to have repairs effected immediately.

Tenders will be called for piling of breastwork, Steer's and Ayre's Coves. The report of the City Health Officer showed two new cases of diphtheria in the city during the week.

Regulations for several departments were acceded to.

Matters in connection with readjustment of City Lighting, and unfinished business were ordered to stand over and an adjournment was taken until Saturday afternoon.

At the House.

A very brief session was held yesterday. With the exception of Supply in which there is one vote outstanding, Ways and Means, and the new Local Affairs Act which stands for second reading, the Order Paper has been cleared up.

A question from Mr. Fox elicited from the Prime Minister the fact that the Admiralty wished to hand the Mount Pearl Wireless Station over to the Government on condition that it was brought up to date and inspected. This could not be agreed to.

The Cable Bill was read a second time and an S.P.C.A. amendment to the Cruelty of Animals Bill was passed.

The House adjourned until Monday when it is expected some railway policy will be introduced.

Thrills, Humor and Love in Fox Picture.

Thrills, humor and love, all based on the experiences of a successful but uncouth miner who seeks the ultra social strata for diversion are provided in a splendid William Fox photo-drama "Colorado Pluck" at the Majestic Theatre to-day.

William Russell, that popular screen star, has been entrusted with the role of the venturesome miner.

Russell appears as Colorado Jim, who has slaved for his "pile" and who seeks recreation and excitement in New York's gay life. He encounters the son of Lord Featherstone, who has come to America, hitherto hunting, but falls into the web of an adventuress. Jim and his boy friend Reggie Featherstone, become great pals, and together they sail for the Featherstone home.

Nothing more ludicrous could be pictured than the desperate efforts made by Jim to master the manners, dress and costumes of the English titled set. Jim falls in love with and marries Reggie's sister—who loves Jim's money—and eventually faces a depleted exchequer through investment losses. Jim's return to mining in America and the ultimate scenes between the miner and his wife lead to a beautiful climax. Margaret Livingstone appears as the wife.

"Dinty" Will Bring Tears and Laughs.

HEART APPEALING STORY COMING TO THE NICKEL.

That wonderful heart-touching photo-play, entitled "Dinty" has been secured by The Nickel Management and will be shown shortly, announcement of which will be made in this paper. Thousands cried and laughed at the big New York Strand when this picture was shown. This proves that Marshall Neilan has done it again with his big story, "Dinty," featuring Wesley Barry. How they will laugh at the fighting Irish scowls at Sooty Face and "Chinky." IT'S FUN. Their few happy moments will bring a great lump into your throat. IT'S PATHOS—"I wish I had been gooder to her," said Dinty when his mother died. You'll bear sob, IT'S SORROW—When the lover finds his sweetheart in the clutch of a Chinese slave dealer, you'll feel like avenging.

IT'S INTRIGUE—And you'll clench your fists yourself when you see that pretty American girl under the swinging knife. IT'S THRILL—Everyone will be happy when "Dinty" and "Sooty Face" and "Chinky" come to the rescue. IT'S PUNCH. How you've ever heard of such a wonderful variety of big incidents all packed in one story before. Watch this paper for showing dates of this truly magnificent photo-play.

Stone Coffin at Arbroath.

While workmen were engaged levelling the ground in front of the High Altar at Arbroath Abbey a stone slab coffin was unearthed about two feet from the surface, which was found to contain a skull and some human remains. The grave is quite close to that of King William the Lion.

the founder of the Abbey, and the bones appear to have been those of a powerfully-built man. It is said that interments in front of the High Altar ceased in the seventeenth century, and that the remains must have lain for several centuries.

Dinosaurs Died When Rockies Were Pushed Up.

Five million years ago the Rocky Mountains were pushed up; the huge dinosaurs, who had ruled Alberta for many years without challenge, perished; and, lo, the little warm-blooded mammals who, through fear, had existed in concealment since their origin were able for the first time in their lives to come out in the open and start the long line of evolution which has culminated in the super-animal production, man. Every page in this wonderful and fascinating story of animal origin in Alberta was unfolded and interpreted to the Canadian Club by Prof. P. S. Warren, of the University of Alberta, who delivered an interesting address on "The Animal of Alberta—Past and Present," at Calgary recently.

Describing the pre-historic dinosaurs, Prof. Warren said the diplodocus, which was about 80 feet long and weighing several tons, was the largest of these reptiles. The fact that the reptiles "specialized" in size, and the fact that nature hates anything specialized caused their extinction, explained the professor.

When the cataclysmic disturbance which attended the up-shooting of the Rocky Mountains occurred, the massive animals, with poor and slow equipment for locomotion, had either to get out of the district or perish—and not being able to get out, they did perish completely, without leaving a descendant to carry on in the scale of evolution. At that same time there were also alligators and tortoises, but these reptiles did not "specialize" in size, and they therefore got out, with the result that there are many members of their species remaining to-day.

SURVIVAL OF THE FLEETEST. It was at the time of the extinction of the dinosaur that the mammals which are the ancestors of all the animals creation to-day first came into their own. These mammals, warm-blooded and swift of foot, embodied more speed than any other animal of that day, and they were seldom seen by the larger animals.

Some interesting facts are brought out in studying the trend of evolution which the descendants of these mammals have taken, said the speaker. For instance, it is hard to believe but true, that an animal existed in the ancient days embodying the composite characteristics of the camel, deer and pig. The horse at that time was the size of the present dog, and it came from the same source as the rhinoceros.

Men, declared Prof. Warren, represents the very last of the series of evolution that have taken place in the animal world, although he came into being only a few thousand years ago.

Alberta has a right to be proud of her field of fossilized remains of these pre-historic animals, he said. "In previous years these remains were removed from the bad lands and taken to all parts of the earth, except to points in Alberta. Fortunately, however, the province has now started a museum of its own. Alberta stands preeminent in the production of animal fossils, and there is no greater range of material for evolutionary research in the world than that which exists in this province, he averred."

A Gasoline Substitute.

The Cubans stand a good chance of winning a prize and making some fortunes by the manufacture of a substitute for gasoline.

At the annual meeting of the Agricultural Society at Bessiers, France a committee was authorized to organize a competition with a view to discovering a practical and economical motor fuel with alcohol as the basis of its composition. Prizes totalling 200,000 francs have been placed at the disposition of the committee of which amount 100,000 francs will be awarded to the competitor whose product gives the best results.

Sooner than might have been expected comes a report indicating that molasses produced in Cuba furnishes the base for such a fuel. A despatch says: Cuba has found a new market for her molasses crop by converting it into denatured alcohol for automobile use. When Prohibition was enacted in the United States it automatically destroyed the Cuba market for millions of gallons of molasses.

When the brewers ceased to brew molasses became a drug on the Cuban market. A large per centage is now being converted into denatured alcohol, and forms the base of a new automobile fuel used by practically all of the cheaper and many of the more expensive cars in Cuba. It sells for 20 cents a gallon, against 50 cents a gallon for gasoline.

Reports from the Pacific Islands, particularly the islands of the Fiji group, show that in those islands alone enough raw material for the manufacture of power alcohol to the extent of 50,000,000 gallons a year could be grown without difficulty, and that from British East Africa and Kenya Colony the total requirements of the world could be met.

The raw materials in question are maize, cassava, and sugar-cane, and it is estimated that the cost of these crops would be such as to enable the raw material for a gallon of power alcohol to be available at a cost of sixpence.

The cost of distillation would be almost balanced by revenue from the valuable by products obtained in the process of extracting alcohol.

Man Wins Struggle With Devil-Fish.

Battling for his life 50 feet beneath the surface of Puget Sound, Walter McCray, a diver, known in marine circles from Alaska to California, came out victorious at Tacoma on April 23, over a giant devil-fish. The monster wound its tentacles so tightly about McCray that the diver was unable to reach the knife he carried for protection. When one tentacle threatened to cut off the air supply, McCray, through the submarine telephone, called for a short steel wrecking bar. With this weapon he was able to pierce the body of the devil-fish, and, at last, with man and monster still struggling desperately, McCray was drawn to the surface by his assistant and other men called to help. While Richard Burnett, a dock watchman, stood by with drawn pistols unable to shoot because the diver and devil-fish were so completely tangled, others attacked with what weapons there were at hand, and finally the devil-fish released its hold and disappeared beneath the water.

Lacquer Cabinet for Prince.

OSAKA, JAPAN.—A gorgeously decorated lacquer cabinet, representing 10 years work by master carvers, will be presented to the Prince of Wales during his visit to this city.

The cabinet contains 54 panels depicting Japanese scenes and customs as represented by the Fujiwara or fifteenth century period. The doors are decorated on both sides, plum blossoms on the exterior and dances of the period on the interior. A set of four silk embroidered hangings also will be given the royal visitor as a token of the city's esteem. These hangings are nine feet by seven, and reproduce moral works of a celebrated master in favor during the fifteenth and three following centuries.

THE WICKED WORLD.

I look upon the jazzy crowd, and cry, "Oh, hully gee!" Old fashioned virtues in its shroud, as dead as it can be; this riot should not be allowed—it looks too coarse to me."

"I wonder if I rant and scold without a good excuse? Is it because I'm gray and old I turn the language loose? Is it because I'm filmed with mold, my veins devoid of juice? The youngsters do not seem to dread the evils I foretell; they scoot around with sprightly tread, the springald and the belle, inviting me to soak my head when I would mourn and yell."

"Oh, snuff, you've been on the earth too many years," they cry; "you can't distinguish sterling worth from Johnson's whippersnappers; and you would queer the young folks' mirth with your despairing cry. Because some changes have been sprung in human walks and ways since those dead times when you were young, you talk of pipe-dream days, and from an old and battered lung send forth unseasonably brays. Go, go, old man, you've had your fling, the youngsters own the land; new generations rise like spring when winter has been canned; and if you cannot smile and sing, you might be pounding sand."

"I am an old and wintry man, with furrows on my brow; my teeth are gone and I eat bran much like a horse or cow; and is this why I dourly scan the way the world goes now?"

Parents in Order to Wed.

April 24.—Never has the difference between European and American systems so far as marriage concerns been better exemplified than in the case of Miss Edna Brun. One of the biggest newspapers pleads for infidelity to the whereabouts of Miss Brun, who abandoned her to her parents twenty-two years ago. She is now twenty-four years old, and is employed, and wants to be married unless her parents can be persuaded to provide for her marriage. The idea that she may discontinue her illegitimate child is a grave reason prevented from giving her the attention she deserves. When she was entering about a Paris street she was able to kiss her name to her garments, was found in a public house, and was identified by Pierre Brun, an erstwhile and Marie Victoire Jacquemart. For years she searched the public records, but a trace of the marriage parents. Failure of the police to state the dates of her parents prevents her tracing them through the police records. Now she obtains the necessary permission for her marriage has been granted to the press, she falls she intends to ask the cinema to show an episode of her life.

BITTERNESS IS UNBECOMING.

Bitterness is unbecoming.

No woman would wear an unbecoming hat if she could avoid it. No woman would put on a distinctly unbecoming gown or wear a hat in an unbecoming fashion if she could find a becoming one.

Yet neither an unbecoming hat or gown nor hair worn in an unbecoming fashion, can destroy a woman's charm more quickly and more utterly than the very unbecoming mood of bitterness.

I heard a woman telling the other day of a mean thing another woman had done to her, and of her intention to get back at her.

A Bitter Mood is Fatal.

It was a mean thing. Nobody could gainsay that. But even though one could understand the woman's resentment, that did not change the fact that as she spoke about it all the pleasant music of her voice went out of her voice and all the charm of expression that makes her face attractive was wiped out of it. In place of the sweet expression that usually lights up her countenance there came mean, hard, little lines and a bitter expression. And oh, how plain and unlovely that woman did look!

Men, I think, are peculiarly sensitive to the change in a woman that a mood like this brings. A great deal has been said about the danger of losing a man's love if one gets into the habit of wearing unlovely negligees and of neglecting the little details that go to make up physical loveliness. I think it is quite as dangerous, quite as much of a shock to love, to let oneself be seen in a mean or bitter mood as with one's hair in curlers.

Jealousy Makes Wives Homely.

It is said that wives are usually flattered by their husband's jealousy, whereas husbands are almost always alienated by a frequent show of jealousy, on the part of the wife. I think one reason is that the jealous mood is a bitter mood and therefore takes away sweetness and charm from the wife's face and puts mean and ugly lines in its stead. The very jealousy which makes her long for reassurances from him makes her temporarily into a woman whom it is less easy for him to reassure of his love.

BETTER THAN GOLD MINES.

The guano deposits on the islands which extend at intervals along one thousand miles of the Peruvian coast are far more valuable than Peru's many rich gold and silver mines. Hundreds of millions of tons have been exported, and as the price was generally in the neighborhood of fifty dollars a ton, it is evident that even seabirds have their value, and that the possession of a guano island is a short cut to fortune.

The Cynic Not a Charmer.

Bitterness, resentment, cynicism are not as destructive to the qualities in a man that charm women as to those in a woman that charm men.

A cynical man is often quite popular with the other sex, a cynical woman seldom.

Perhaps it should not be so. Perhaps some day when we have greater sex equality it will not be so. I don't know.

But this I know. That if any woman who wants to be attractive could look in the glass during a bitter mood she would not like the looks of herself and would not want to look that way again.

These guano deposits are sometimes of great depth—so deep, in fact, that the lower stratum is as hard as limestone, and dates back to remote periods long before a sight of a man ever disturbed the countless millions of birds which generation after generation, have nested on the islands.

Such enormous quantities of guano would seem incredible to anyone who has not seen the wonderful sight any one of these islands presents in the breeding season. The birds gather there in countless numbers, hatching out their eggs in such close proximity that there is barely room to turn round.

Commerants are the most numerous species. A recent observer estimated that there were ten million birds of this species alone sitting upon eggs in one place at the one time. They would appear to feed in relays, one "shift" taking care of the eggs whilst the other is at sea.

It is an amazing fact that, among the tens of thousands of nests, no bird seems to make a mistake as to which is her own.

Gannets and pelicans are also very numerous. It is quite a usual sight to see twenty thousand gannets busy fishing at the same time, and if the story is well founded that these voracious birds devour ten pounds of fish a day, it goes to prove the endless possibilities of the ocean as a source of food supply for human beings as well as birds.

Thus one flock, such as the above, may devour in the course of a day one hundred tons of fish, and as it is probable that one hundred million seabirds of different species, but all voracious, feed day by day on the coast of Peru, a very elementary sum will give the total weight of fish consumed. The resulting figure multiplied by the number of days in a year staggers the imagination.

Sir Charles Barry, the celebrated English architect—to whom, after Sir Christopher Wren, London owes so much—died at Clapham, on May 12, 1860. Having studied his art in England, he afterwards travelled for several years in the East, and is supposed to have been the earliest English architect who visited Egypt. His first important work of a public character, was St. Peter's Church, Brighton, which was one of his finest designs in the Gothic style, and King Edward VI's Grammar School at Birmingham, a Gothic structure were also Barry's idea; as were the College of Surgeons, the Travellers' Club, and the Reform Club, in London.

The most splendid and enduring monument of his genius is the Houses of Parliament—"a dream in stone," according to the happy phrase of the Emperor Nicholas of Russia. Barry was knighted by Queen Victoria when she opened the Victoria Tower of the yet unfinished House. Probably the schools of stone carving, metal working, and glass painting which he first set on foot, have helped to revolutionize the taste of London builders. He was buried in Westminster Abbey.

Making Cups and Saucers.

Everyone knows that pottery is made from clay, but many people will be surprised to learn of the other materials used.

Ordinary earthenware is made from Cornish China clay, ball clay from Devon or Dorset, flints obtained from the seashore in the neighbourhood of Dieppe, in Northern France, and "China" or Cornish stone. The delicate and more expensive chinaware is made from china clay, stone, and ground calcined bone, most of which comes from South America.

The clays are churned up with water until a cream or "slip" of the correct consistency is obtained. The other materials are made into slips by grinding with water, and then the correct quantities of each slip are thoroughly mixed together. The whole is then pumped into a filter press, where the clayey mixture is retained while the water flows away. This mixture, still referred to as "clay," is now ready for the making shops.

Let us watch the earthenware cups being made, writes a potter in the Daily Mail.

The first requirement is a mould made of plaster of Paris, the inside of which is the exact shape of, but not larger than, a finished cup without a handle.

A piece of clay which has previously been evenly flattened out is placed in the mould, which is revolved while a tool is lowered inside to shape the clay to the side of the mould. When finished the mould is put into a drying-room where moisture is withdrawn from the clay, which shrinks and easily comes out of the mould.

The handle is made separately in another mould and when it is dry it is stuck on the cup by means of a little slip.

In another part of the room saucers are being made in a similar way. The top of the saucer mould is the shape of the inside of the saucer, and the tool which shapes the clay to the mould also rises the foot, or rim, on which the saucer stands.

Once they are dry our cups and saucers are ready to be baked, or "fired," as the potter calls it.

This is done in an oven like a huge ginger-beer bottle, which holds some tons of ware. To protect the ware from the flames it is placed inside large fireclay boxes known as "saggers."

When the oven is full of saggers the door is sealed up and the firing begins. It occupies from sixty to seventy hours. The oven takes the same time to cool, but the ware which is withdrawn from it is quite dull, without any of the familiar shiny appearance.

In order to get this glazed surface the ware is dipped into another special slip, but when it is "dry" it is again fired. Should it have any decoration, such as gold bands, it has to be fired a third time. Some articles with beautiful coloured designs have to be fired as many as a dozen times. These are, of course, expensive.

Tanlac has done more good than all the other medicine I ever took," said James O'Neill, 158 Rockland Road, St. John, N.E., dyer for Cornwall Cotton Mills.

"About six months ago I got so that what I ate would form gas on my stomach that put me in perfect misery. To make matters worse I took cold and I felt like I had a bad cough. I got so weak from this and lack of nourishment I had to lay off work."

"Soon after I began taking Tanlac on a friend's advice I had my appetite completely restored, and I seemed to improve with every bottle. I have little or no trouble from the cough, sleep well and get up mornings feeling fine. Tanlac is certainly a great medicine."

Repatriation Nearly Completed.

THE ROMANCE OF A WAR WEDDING.

RIGA, Latvia, (Associated Press)—Repatriation of the hundreds of thousands of officers and soldiers captured by the Russians during the World War has nearly been completed. Thousands of Germans, Austrians, Hungarians and soldiers of various other nationalities, whom the Russians took prisoner, have married and decided to remain indefinitely in the Soviet country. Among a detachment of former Hungarian officers passing through Riga recently en route home was Count Valentine Szechenyi, whose cousin married Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, of New York, the Count being accompanied by his wife, a young Russian woman, Princess Mary Gallitza. The story of the marriage of the Count and the Princess, which took place a year ago, was published in America at that time. The Count was permitted to leave a Soviet prison, under guard, long before the wedding ceremony. Immediately afterward he was returned to Andronyevsky prison, near Moscow, where there was a wedding breakfast of black bread, tea and coffee made of toasted grain, a substitute used extensively in Germany and other countries cut off from the outside world during the war. The Count and Countess, travelling under auspices of the International Red Cross with 300 other prisoners of war, were taken from Riga to Budapest. Later they planned to go to Constantinople possibly to make their home. Count Szechenyi and the other Hungarians, many of whom were officers taken prisoner in 1915, were exchanged by the Soviets for an equal number of Communists who had been in jail in Hungary. The Count learned to speak excellent Russian during his seven years' imprisonment, and before his discharge he had become a first-class electrician, having charge of the prison lighting system. Countess Szechenyi speaks excellent English, learned as a child, and plans soon to visit America.

Our feet were given us to support and carry the body, lightly, easily, gracefully and safely. To do this the foot has been as wonderfully constructed as the eye has been to see, or the ear to hear. The 26 bones of the foot are meticulously tied together with ligaments and supported by muscles to give strength and suppleness. At each step these bones need free play. Given this, the tread is light, sure and springy. The foot is built like an automobile tire—flexible, resilient—to take the shocks of the road in walking.

Naturally, the foot is perfectly adapted to its functions, but man, through custom, has forced nature to diverge from her intent. Fortunately nature is kind beyond expectation, and when given another chance does her utmost to restore abused parts to normal again.

No other part of the human body has been so abused by squeezing, chafing, freezing and pinching as the foot. There are men who would abhor the suggestion of wearing orthopedic shoes, but who will compel a No. 9 foot—a perfectly normal, well-intentioned, graceful foot—to spend from 10 to 18 hours every day locked up in a straight-jacket of leather.

A surprisingly large per centage of men and women are troubled with an ache on the ball of the foot, commonly known as the front arch, or Metatarsal arch, having dropped. When this happens you are walking on bone instead of on the cushion under the ball of the foot originally supplied by nature and calloused result. What can be done to get relief? The most natural thing to do is to put on a shoe with a cushion sole. A difference will be noted immediately and comfort and ease will be yours as long as shoes of this character are used.

A Typist Heroine.

A popular Paris evening newspaper and a well-known cinema company have combined together to create a modern version of old fairy tales. The newspaper offered a dowry of $250 in money, and the cinema company obtained promises from various big Paris establishments for a trousseau worth $8500, the whole to be presented to the most deserving French girl in Paris earning her own living. In all the large offices, shops, and work-rooms, the girl-workers were asked to elect the one among their number who seemed to them to be the most deserving of receiving the dowry. A selection of candidates was afterwards shown in Paris cinema, and the audience were asked to

Upon His Honor as Minister of the Gospel
REV. W. A. THOMPSON WRITES OF DR. F. G. KINSMAN'S HEART TABLETS.

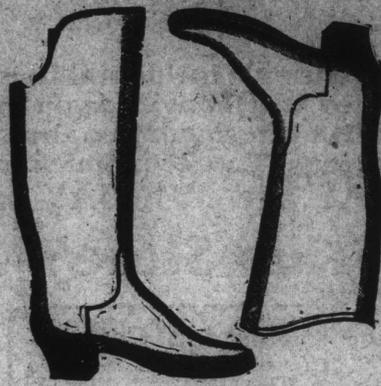

I had heart trouble severely for fifteen years and had many doctors to treat me with no discernible effect. I had become so few that I could scarcely walk fifty steps. At night I was troubled with fluttering of the heart, and by no means had a night's rest for that length of time. I had pains most excruciating and could not lie on my left side even for a moment. I tried five boxes of your Heart Tablets and can now truthfully say that I am well. I am a Minister of the Gospel and upon my word as such, I believe I could not have lived had it not been for your remedy. I am not, generally speaking, willing to give testimonials, but I fully owe this or more to you as owner of the Heart Tablets.
