does us the honor of submitting to us his

But, true liberal that he is, our esteemed correspondent has no intention of accepting our dictum, for which we like him none the less. Political sympathies should be brethren to counsel together, not slaves to obey any man's or any newspaper's say-so. Our friend thinks that

The World is not pursuing the course best designed to subvert the interests of the country, and invites it to follow Mr. Blake in an attempt to stem the tide of corruption and to assert the rights of the people against the dictators of both the grid and tory partisans.

We are quite prepared to join, though perhaps not to follow, Mr. Blake or any other man in so good a work, but we must first have some assurance that he is in earnest in it, and that he is not using the planks of a new platform to uphold an old party. We have no ambition to participate in another "Canada First" fiasco.

We go a good way with our correspondent in his commendation of Mr. Blake, though he is not without his faults as a party leader. We believe him to be an honest able man, who is a credit to his country, provided a Canadian has a country, but he has so far not risen equal to his opportunities, or to the expectations of his admirers. Our correspondent detests Globe dictation, yet asks us to follow a man who submits to it! So long as the reform leader remains in alliance with the clear grid, so long as he deals in barren generalities about Canadian nationality, and refuses to express himself in plain terms, so long will it remain patent that he is under the thumb of the Globe, which brands every nationalist as an annexationist and a traitor to the state. Sir John A. Macdonald did the same at the tory banquet, and therefore is not to be held up as a model for the Canadian people, Sir John and the Globe are in the same boat. If we have to give up our convictions to follow the Globe and Mr. Blake, we might as well give them up to follow Sir John. If the World must join the Globe to follow Mr. Blake its raison d'être ceases, and it sinks to the level of a machine organ, which heaven fore-bid.

The independent, uncorrupted electors of this country require a brassy and sery leader to marshal them. Mr. Blake has the brains. If he has also the nerve let him use it to rebel against the newspaper dictation which our correspondent denounces.

Then, and not till then, can the independent electors of the country extend to him a cordial and unreserved support which they would gladly give him.

THE WEAKEST POINT IN THE NATIONAL POLICY is the duty upon coal. It can only be defended upon the score that it is part of a whole—the keystone of the protective arch and that to remove it would be to threaten danger if not to ruin the whole. But the Mail, which is nothing if not bumptious and unreasonable, must needs undertake to show that so far from enhancing the price of coal the duty actually has a tendency to cheapen it.

This is a mischievous madness.

If it were the case protection would cease to protect. The chief Canadian objection to a low tariff is that it makes this a slaughter market for our neighbors. If a high tariff has the effect argued by the chief tory organ, this still remains a slaughter market for coal, and the Nova Scotian mine owners derive no profit from the national policy.

So far as this portion of Ontario, lying contiguous to the United States coal vein is concerned, the duty must enhance the cost, more or less, though not necessarily to the full amount of that duty.

had added that he has never read of any matter to be in a position to give such instructions, it would have piled truth upon truth. Our London correspondent asks why such "Rationalized methods, not to be tolerated by a free people, are not practiced upon the library at Ottawa? Does it really believe that the minister of customs knows anything about the library at Ottawa?

Emerson says that Methodists are saved by grace and Episcopals by taste. Mr.

Bowell thinks that Canadians are to be saved by book seizures.

OUR TEMPERANCE FRIENDS WILL be alarmed to learn from a scientific contributor to the New York Sun that the earth is drying up, the water yearly decreasing in volume, and the globe upon which we live and move gradually growing as dry as the diorals of its Toronto namesake. We are not in a position to give a positive opinion upon the subject, but we have heard it hinted that this is a New York scheme to prevent the success of Mr.

Livingstone's temperance colony. Still it is a fact that the delegates to the tory convention last week, as reported, ate an unusually large dinner, and that little water was drunk, and, as usual, the tory delegates, as usual, were as usual, if the predicted calamity does come we must look to the law of compensation for consolation.

The milkmen will not be above suspicion, and the streets of Toronto become passable all the year round.

THE OTTAWA FREE PRESS DOES A questionable thing in giving a quotation from

The World as under:

"The Toronto World says that Sir John Macdonald is not the best of the best of the best." The paragraph from which the above was taken reads as follows:

it is not to be pained.

THE THIRD PARTY MOVE.

A LIBERAL'S CLOSE-UP-THE BANKS LETTER.

Sick of Globe Dietation—Ought the Synodists to be broken?—Canadian independence—An Answer to Rosa Rossini.

To The World: As an expression of opinion has been asked for by The World on the desirability of forming a third party, you will perhaps permit me to put forward...

I sympathize with the attitude of The World towards the old Tory and grip parties; especially do I sympathize with all those who are anxious to see the narrowness and despotism of the old influences combined.

It is scarcely necessary to say that the Globe has done most to injure the cause of true liberalism in Canada through its influence combined.

THE NORTHWEST STREET RAILWAY.

It will be remembered that some time ago the council passed the report of the board of works regarding the route to be laid on Carl Howell street, and at the same time modified it so that it ended at the foot of William street.

At that time there was considerable trouble on account of the narrowness of Carl Howell street, and since then it has been learned that it will not be necessary to lay the route on that street as it is now proposed to be opened up to Michael.

Last night on motion of Ald. Evans the board of works were requested to consider the route so as to amend it in those two particulars.

ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

The Harrisons in their exceedingly funny comedies, called Phlox, drew a large audience to the Royal opera house last night.

The piece has been remodelled to a certain extent since its last presentation in this city, and to our mind it is not as funny. However, Mr. Harrison and Miss Alice Harrison introduced much new "business" which is very catching.

HISTORY!

The AXNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was fully chartered May 26, 1880, to do business in all the leading cities of the continent, but in 1881 it was re-organized.

The AXNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was set apart from the parent company by the AXNA Act of 1881, and with a specially trained corps of life underwriters in charge, took the prominent place which it holds to-day in the front rank of existing life insurance companies.

In July, 1880, was established the present MUTUAL DEPARTMENT, which was the first of its kind in Canada, and which has since that time been the largest and most successful of its kind in the Dominion.

In February, 1882, the AXNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was re-organized, and the AXNA Act of 1881 was amended so as to provide for the AXNA MUTUAL DEPARTMENT, which was the first of its kind in Canada, and which has since that time been the largest and most successful of its kind in the Dominion.

Canada, thus doing away with the fear of losing all the money paid if Government should fail to provide for the AXNA MUTUAL DEPARTMENT, which was the first of its kind in Canada, and which has since that time been the largest and most successful of its kind in the Dominion.

In August, 1882, the AXNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was re-organized, and the AXNA Act of 1881 was amended so as to provide for the AXNA MUTUAL DEPARTMENT, which was the first of its kind in Canada, and which has since that time been the largest and most successful of its kind in the Dominion.
