Muskegon, May 16.—John Jacksen, the New York murderer captured here the other day, did exactly what the officers wired to watch out for and tried to commit suicide. When left alone about half a minute he swallowed a big dose of laudanum. He was in a stupor all yesterday afternoon and refused to eat anything in the evening. He was terribly disappointed when he learned he was not to die. He says he will plead guilty to the charge of manslaughter as soon as arraigned.

The Big Railway Case Re-Opened.

Before Mr. Justice Rose yesterday afteracon at Osgoode Hall the now famous St.
beorge case yes advanced another stage, when the G.T.R. renewed their motion for a non-suit. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., John Bell, Q.C., A. B. Aylsworth and Wallace
Nesbitt appeared for the G.T. and G. T.
Riackstock, Walter Read and Dugald MacMurchy for the plaintiffs. Mr. McCarthy opened the argument in favor of a non-suit and Mr. Bleckstock replied, after which judgment was reserved. Mr. Blackstock then moved for a verdict for the plaintiffs on the fludings of the jury. Among other things he contended that, the one answer given by the jury as to culpable negligence was alone mifficient to require a verdict against the G.T. He had not finished his address when the gourt adjourned until 11 o'clock this

SLEEP, BLESSED SLEEP

the city for a few days visiting his brother, James W. Galbraith, leaves on the Pacific express this morning for the coast. Mr. Galbraith is on his way to Victoria, B.C. He swung around this way to see Spokane Falls and also his brother Jim, whom, strange to say, he had never seen before. Jim, who is a pioneer in this section, left home before his brother Harry, who is now 38 years of age, was born, and the two brothers had never set eyes on each other until they met in this city a few days age. Both are brothers of Hon. Robert Galbraith, awho for years past has represented the Kootenay Province in the British Columbia of Mr. Henry Graham, Wingham, writes: "I was in Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery with the property of the standard of the cold standard of the cold that suppeases hunger; the drink that quenches the first the fire that warms cold, the cold that moderates heat; and lastly, the general coin that purchases all things; the balance and weight that makes the shapherd equal to the king, and the simple to the wise."

Blessed is the man and woman who can enjoy the benefits add blessings of pure sleep which fits them for the duties of life.

Unfortunately, there are thousands throughout the land who know not the rich brown of the coast. Mr. Henry Graham, writes: "I was in Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery with the cold state without the Wille that the cold that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the same cold, the cold that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the cold that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink that quenches the ford that appeases hunger; the drink

HE NEVER SAW HIS BROTHER

Henry A. Galbraith's Visit.
The Spokane Falls Review contains the following: Harry A, Galbraith, representing the Toronto Safe Works, who has been in the city for a few days visiting his brother,

Free and easy expectoration immediately re lieves and frees the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, coids, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of the throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Afti-Consumptive Syrup is a specific for, and wherever used it has given unbounded satisfaction. We are preparing lists of houses for sale and to rent and purpose advertising them in the same liberal manner which has characterised our advertisements in the past.

We have not heretofore made any special effort to handle house properties, having confined ourselves almost exclusively to the sale of warehouses and vacant properties, but owing to the numerous enquiries for house properties for both sale and rent, we have concluded to open a Special Branch with a competent staff of officers, who will devote their entire time and energy to this line of business under our direction.

Our success in the past in the properties that we have been handling is a good guarantee that we can make this undertaking a success also.

We would be pleased to place your houses on our list, and will give them our best attention.

Yours very truly,

WE TWIRLS, TORONTO TO VICTORY AT LONDON.

In Proportors did not score until the fifth inning, when they pounded out four runs. Rickley hit safe for a base and was advanced one, when McLaughlin was sent to first on balls; a single by Newman filled the bases. Ike then made a two-base hit and Rickley and McLaughlin scored. Bottenus lifted a high fly to Hiland and was retired. Newman scoring; Connors repeated the play to Leighton and Ike scored. Grim made a hit and was put out while trying to steal second, thus retiring the side. In the sixth, with two men out, Rickley made a hit and reached third on two passed balls, McLaughlin was presented with another base by Maguire and both scored on a long hit by Newman into right field, Newman reaching second on the play. Ike was given first on balls and Bottenus knocked a grounder to Lutenberg, who fielded in time to put him out.

To Contractors

There was a heavy run at the Western cattle markets this morning, no less than 45 loads offering. Prices of export cattle exhibited a slight weakness due to the fact that the demand was slow and the continued low prices in Britain. Butchers' cattle were held inore firmly and choice animals commanded higher rates than on Tuesday. Outside buyers were present from Montreal and Pembroke. About 30 loads of export cattle shipped by Messrs. Flanigan and Crawford went through to Montreal to-day.

Mr. Carling's refusal to remove the embargo on TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED AT OUR office until noon Wednesday, 28th inst., for the several works required in the remodelling of Shaftesbury Hall, corner Queen and Jamesstreets, Toronto, for the Sons of England Hall Company.

The Idwest or any tender not necessarily accepted. shipped by Messrs. Flangan and Crawford went through to Montreal to-day.

Mr. Carling's refusal to remove the embarge on American cattle was adversely discussed by shippers, who wish to have these cattle (now bonded through from one place in the United States to another) shipped from Canadian ports to England. Mr. Carling thinks that the mixing of Canadian and American cattle would affect the Canadian trade injuriously and that English farmers would insist in such a case that Canadian as well as U.S. cattle be slaughtered at the port of debarkation.

Advices from Montreal report the demand for export cattle fallen off and prices are quoted at 50 to 50; good butchers' beeves in active enquiry at 41,6 to 5c, fair at 4c to 45c.

CATTLE—About 3c of the 46 loads offered were cleared at 53c to 55c for exporters, being fully 5c off from Tuesday. Butchers' cattle were firmer, selling at 43c to 45c per lb.; inferior 35c to 4c. Transactions:

Drawing back, I let Dr. Farnham take the lend, which he did in his own brusque way. And then I saw what the dim light had not revealed before, a young man's form standing by the newel-post of the wide staircase that rose at our left. He at once came forward, and as the light from the lamp above us fell fully upon him, I saw his face, and started.

Why? I could not tell. Not because his handsome features struck me pleasantly, for they did not. There was something in their expression which I did not like, and yet as I looked at them a sudden sensation swept looked at them a sudden sensation swept over me that made my apprehensions of a moment back seem like child's play, and I hecame conscious that if a sudden call of life or death were behind me urging me on the instant to quit the house, I could not do it my members, testified as to whose step it belief that face was before me to be fathom.

It was now well on towards morning, and I was just been through. A sense of rising courage and renewed power rewarded me; and blessing the Providence that had grantments, when the door opened behind me, and the electric thrill shooting through all my more Ado's will. Opening it with

'Ah, I see you have brought the nurse," were the words with which he greeted Dr. Farnham. And the voice was as thrilling in Sits tone as the face was in its expression. "But," he suddenly exclaimed, as his eyes met mine, "this is not Mrs. Gannon." And the elder advanced, and without seeing an excuse for his action, sat down close by my side. The fan at once dropped; I had no he asked, in tones which, however lowered, I could easily distinguish. "Did n't you know there were reasons why we especially wanted an elderly person?"

his speech till the words, "She is no gossip," came to salute me and make me ask myself if there was a secret skeleton in this house, that they feared so much the eyes of a stranger.

"But," the young man went hurriedly on "she is not at all the kind of person to have over my mother. How could we-" and there his voice fell so as to become uninteljigible.
But the docter's sudden exclamation helped me out. "What!" he wonderingly cried, "do you intend to sit up too ?"

"I or my brother," was the calm response, hastened to follow. As I crossed the sill I almost started too, at sight of the tall, slim, truly sinister figure that awaited me, leaning against the opposite wall. He was younger than his brother, and had similar features, but there was no charm here to make you forget that the eye was darkly glittering, and the lip formidable in its subtlety and power. He advanced with much of the easy nonchalance that had so characterized the other. "Miss Sterling, I believe," said he; and with no further word, turned and led me down the hall to the sick-room. I noticed even then that he paused and listened before he pushed open the door, and that with our dest step inside he cast a look of inquiry that had something besides a son s loving anxiety 'n it. And I hated the man as I would a serpent, though he bowed as he set me a chair, and was careful to move a light he

I found her what report had proplained her to be, a handsome woman of the sternly imposing type. Even with her age against her and the shadow of death lying on her brow and cheek, there was something strangely attractive in the features and the stately contour of her form. But it was atpraction that was confined to the eye, and could by no means allure the heart, for the same seal of mysterious reserve was upon or that characterized her sons, and in her, in the younger one of these, it inspired a strust which I could imagine no smile as dissipating. She lay in a state of coma, and her heavy breathing was the only sound that broke the silence of the great room. "God 'lelp me!" thought I; but had no wish to . Instead of that, I felt a fearful plea-in the prospect before me-such effect

I did not know how long I sat there gazing in the one direction for that faint sign of life for which the doctor had bid me watch. I was, therefore, surprised when a hand was thrust over my shoulder, and a fan dropped into my lap.

"It is warm here," was the comment which accompanied the action.

I thanked him, but felt that his sole tened to throw wide the blinds and lean out my windows looked toward the east, I has-I thanked him, but felt that his sole object had been to cover his change of position. For, when he sat down again, it was where he could see my face. I therefore felt justified in plying the fan he had offered me, in such a way as to shut off his somewhat basilisk gaze. And so a dreary hour went by.

It was now well on towards morning, and I was beginning to suffer from the language operators and renewed mover rewarded me.

The grounds were not large, though, situated as they were in the midst of a thickly populated district, they appeared so. It did not, therefore, take me long to exhaust their attractions, and I was about to return upon my course, when I espied a ittle summer-house before me, thickly shrouded in vines. Thinking what a charmug retreat it offered, I stepped forward to observe it more closely, when to my great surprise I saw it was already occupied, and by a person whose attitude and appearance were such as to at once arouse my strongest curiosity. This person was a boy, slight of build, and fantastic in his dress, with a face like sculptured marble, and an eye which, f a little contracted, had a strange glitter in it that made you look and look again. He was kneeling on the floor of the summernouse, and his face, seen by me in profile, bsorption towards a small opening in the vines, through which he was intently peering. What he saw or wished to see I could not imagine, for nothing but the blank end of the house lay before him, and there could be very little which was interesting in that, or not one of its windows were open, except the solitary one in my room. His expression, however, showed that he was engaged in watching something, and by the corrugation in his white brow and the pecuiar compression of his fresh, red lip that omething showed itself to be of great importance to him; a fact striking enough in tself if you consider the earliness of the our and the apparent immaturity of his Resolved to solve this simple mystery, I ave an admonitory cough, and stepped into he summer-house. He at once started to is feet, and faced me with a look I am ondering upon yet, there was so much in that was wrathful, curious, dismayed, and lefiant. The next moment a veil seemed to fall over his vision, the rich red lip relaxed from its expressive curve, and from being ne of the most startling visions I ever saw, e became-what? CATARRH, COLD IN THE HEAD, HAY FEVER, ETG. CATARRH, COLD IN THE HEAD, HAY FEVER, ETC.

Symptoms for which No. 12 should be used: Eyes weak, watery and infamed. Ringing in the ears. Deatness. Hacking cough to clear the throat. Expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers. The voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; sensation of dizziness, mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick; tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid.

Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption and end in the grave. No disease so common, more deceptive and dangerous.

Who are broken down from the effects of abuse will find in No. 8a radical cure for nervous debility, organic weakness, involuntary vital losses, etc.

Symptoms for which no. 8 Should be Usen. Want of energy, vertigo, want of purpose, dimness of sight, aversion to society, want of energy, vertigo, want of purpose, dimness of sight, aversion to society, want of confidence, avoidance of conversation, desire for solitude, listlessness and inability to fix the attention on a particular subject, cowardice, depression of spirits, glddiness, loss of memory, excitability of temper, spermstorrhoa, or loss of the seminal fluid—the result of self-abuse or marked excess—impotency, innutrision, emeciation, barrenness, palpitation of the heart, hysterio feelings in females, trembling, melancholy, disturbing dreams, etc., are all symptoms of this terrible habit, oftentimes innocently acquired. In short, the spring of vital force having loss its tension, every function wanes in consequence. Setentific writers and the superintendents of insane asylums unite in ascribing to the effects of self-abuse the great majority of wasted lives which come under their notice. If you are incompetent for the ardious duties of business, incapacitated for the enjoyments of life, No. 8 offers an escape from the effects of early vice. If you are advanced in years, No. 8 will give you full yigor and strength. M. V. LUBON'S

RUPTURE REMEDY-

For the Speedy Relief and Permanent Cure of Hernia or Rupture. Luben's Rupturel Remedy must be applied exactly in accordance with the directions accompanying each package. The Remedy allays inflammation, separates adhesions, softens indurations, and strengthens the abdominal wall, so that in a few weeks or a few months, depending of course upon the age of the patient and the length of time he has been ruptured, the use of the truss may be entirely discontinued. A box of the Remedy for a single rupture usually lasts six or eight weeks, and in recent cases is quite sufficient to effect a permanent cure; double rupture and cases of long standing naturally require a larger quantity. Young children are often quickly cured without the aid of a truss by simply applying the Remedy morning and evening, tubbing it well in with the hand while the child is lying down. If, however, the good effects of the Remedy are not apparent after several days use, I would recommend that a truss be obtained. Trusses alone fall to cure; but Luben's Remedy, with the sid of any good truss, never fails.
