Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Styles have returned home from the West, after a three months enjoyable trip. They visited friends at Peace River, Edmonton, Calgary, Emphress, Alsask and LeVerne. They passed over the great Peace River, on a flat ferry boat, then took a tourist car motoring down the Great Peace hill, 975 feet high. The Great Peace River country was dressed in fields of gold-en grain. Through this district the railroads are advancing rapidly and no doubt this will be the leading district in Alberta. It lies about 350 miles north of Edmonton.

The first number of "The Blue Bell," a monthly magazine published by the Bell Telephone Company, has been received. The magazine is pub-lished in the interest of the employes of the company and its object is to urge them to do their best work and to let them know something of what their fellow workers in other places are doing and by a constant inter-change of ideas to get the benefit of the best that is being accomplished in the public service throughout the cretire field, thus making them more efficient, contented and happy in their work. The magazine is handsomely gotten up and profusely illustrated.

A proclamation calling for the suspension of all normal business throughout Canada for two minutes, beginning at 11 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 11th, for the observance of Armistice Day was contained in a special issue of the Canada Gazette last Tuesday. This act of the governor-general calling upon us to cease our activities for a moment while we remember those who gave all for their country and for humanity should make its appeal to every heart. Well may we bow our heads for those two brief minutes, grateful for the ascrifice made in our behalf, and breathe, at the same time, a prayer for those whose husbands or sons went forth so gallantly but came not back.

Every editor has received them. says a writer. The postmaster sends them to the editor, but the postmaster is not to blame. There was a man named Tim Short who had the postmaster send us three notices to stop his paper as he did not want it any longer. On investigating our subscription list we found that Tim was Short $2.50. He never paid a cent and stopped the paper as a matter of economy to us. A few evenings ago we stepped into a church and Tim's melodious voice rang out clear in that soul-stirring song. "Jesus Paid It All." He might have been mistaken but his earnestness impressed us. The next day we sent him a receipt in full pegging his pardon for not knowing he had made an assignment of his liabilities. The regular November meeting of Lambton's 149 I.O.D.E. was held on Tuesday, Nov. 8th, at the home of Mrs. R. H. Stapleford, with twelve members and one visitor present. The Regent presided, After the reading and adoption of the minutes, the Treasurer gave a very satisfactory report. The report of the Hallowe'en dance was read, and the Treasurer was instructed to give the net pro-ceeds to the Rink Committee. The report of the concert given by the pupils of the Institute for the Blind was read and it was decided to send the balance to the Blind girls. Other business was transacted and final arrangements were made for the selling of the Poppies. It was hoped that on Armistice day everyone would be seen wearing a Poppy. Mrs. W. C. Aylesworth was welcomed into the Chapter. Refreshments were served and the meeting closed with "God Save the King."

E. D. Swift, of Swift, Sons & Co. has returned from a buying trip, hav-ing rounded up some very special lines at Toronto. These will be taken into stock ready for Saturday including Ladies' Dresses, Childrens and Misses Coats, Men's Overcoats and a few very special suitings for tailoring dept.

To-day (Friday) is Armistice Day. As each anniversary has passed, the sentiment has been expressed among the peoples of the Allied nations that there should be some tangible evidence of the reverence in their hearts for the heroic dead who made hearts for the heroic dead who made peace possible. The children of the devastated areas of France gave the nucleus of an idea which is rapidly gaining recognition, when they gather ed the red poppies which grew in pro-fusion in Flanders and Northern France, and decorated the graves of the fallen heroes, near their homes. The suggestion from children hands The suggestion from childish hands was seized upon by the French Chil-dren's League, which had been en-deavoring to formulate plans in order to provide for the thousands of orphan children in their country. They placed the women and children of the war area at work making silk the war area at work making silk replicas of the poppy, with the idea in mind that they could be sold and the proceeds devoted to this pressing need. The Lambton's 149 Chapter ask you to wear a silk poppy Friday and thus cherish in perpetuity the memory of the sacred dead. Pay liberally for your poppy. It is for a good caves.

OBITUARY

Mary Ann Woolley, relict of the late Thomas Morris, whose deal was mentioned in these columns last week, passed peacefully away at her home on Victoria street, Watford, on Thursday, October 27th, aged 82 years, 8 months and 9 days. The dewas well known and very highly respected by a farge circle of friends who regret her demise. She was born in Tuckersmith township, Huron county in 1839 and married in Watford to Mr. Morris in August 1867. Three children were the result of the union, two sons and a daughter, one of the sons (George Henry) dying in 1888'. Mr. and Mrs. Morris settled on the fourth line, Warwick, and farmed there until 1897 when Mr. Morris' spirit returned unto the One who gave it. Shortly after her husband's death Mrs. Morris moved to Watford where she lived until the time of her death. The surviving children are Stephen, who lives on the old homestead, and Mrs. James Harrower, fourth line. Deceased was an earnest and devoted member of the Congregational church and took great interest in the affairs of the church of her choice. The funeral The funeral was held on Sunday, Oct. 30th, from her late residence to Watford cemetery where her remains were placed to rest beside those of her husband. Her pastor, Rev. DeCourcy Rayner, conducted the service which was largely attended. The pallbearers were John Williamson, John McCormick, John Bryce, Wm. Marwick, R. McNaughton and J. Carroll.

First, the fact that the basis of our prosperity was in the soil, most of our material blessings came to us out of the soil. Second, for the goodly land in which we live; a land of good things, of vast resources, wonderful opportunities and great privileges. Third, we should be thankful that we are thankful to God, that it are a church going people seekin to show our appreciation of G. C. goodness.

THE NEW PAVEMENT

The cement construction work on Main street is about completed, that ing finished Saturday last. The work of cleaning up the refuse, putting on the finishing touches and tidying up generally is now going on and, but for the heavy snow fall, would be completed in a day or two. The street will be opened for traffic as soon as the cement is properly seaoned. From general appearance it looks as if the contractors, Messrs. Merlo, Merlo & Ray, have made an excellent job and everyone is pleased that the work is nearly completed. They had some unforseen drawbacks but pushed the work forward in record time considering the un-avoidable stoppages caused by wet weather. The grade between the Presbyterian church and the business section has been lessened, which is a great improvement and will be nuch appreciated by those driving in and out of town by the North, and will also save them much gas.

The new pavement will be of in-estimable benefit to the town and everyone in it, as well as to those rom the country who do their business here, and will be doubly appreciated after the mud experience of last winter.

Census figures coming out show that people continue to leave the land and make tracks for the cities. Other figures show that more mort-gages are being paid off on farms while more people are standing in soup lines in the cities.

The latest idea in prison construc-tion is to use for bars metal pipes filled with water kept under high pressure by connection with a central pump. The slightest break in any bar would cause a jet of water to spurt, and the leakage would be registered at once on a dial at the central pump.

The statement that each person in Canada receives some twenty-five letters a year was the cause of some the Postmaster General An old lady wrote complaining that during the past twelve months she had received only twenty-two and would like him to search for the others at once.

Four decisions that pave the way for union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches of Canada have been taken by the joint union committee of the three bodies. The committee authorized the drawing up of the legislative bills necessary to the formation of a united church, provided for the widest possible measure of departmental cooperation pending the consummation of organic union, encouraged local union between weak, self-sustaining congregations of the three bodies, and took steps which will tighten the bonds between the United Church in Western Canada and the parent body.

Immigration activity by the Canadian Government in Great Britain on a more extensive scale than has prevailed since the outbreak of the war is said to be the object of a visit of W. J. Black, Deputy Minister of Immigration and Colonization, to England at the present time. Mr. Black will spend some time in the United Kingdom, and will also probably visit Northern Europe, for the purposes of studying conditions at purpose of studying conditions at first hand. It is unlikely that the restrictive measures now in force will be removed, but greater efforts to secure agricultural settlers will be made. It is fore-shadowed that these efforts may not be confined to publicity and agency activities overseas, but may involve colonization schemes attempted in immigration work.

London, England, who has returned from the "London Christian World, there after a two thousand mile trip which contained a report from Bos in Germany, says that there appears to be no unemployment, the people are well dressed and well fed, and the country seems as well organized commercially as before the war. It is also announced that a cargo of German made toys has reached Mont-real. The German mark may reach a point where its value is indefinable but Germany seems to be playing the game for all she is worth. She is making a great bid to resume her place in the industrial markets of the world. Financiers are more than ever inclined to think that her efforts to make the allied nations believe that hopes to obtain concessions that should not be made.

Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the United States Bureau of Entomology, in the course of an address before the Royal Canadian Institute, Toronto, on the subject, "The Economic Aspects of Entomology," said that people did not realize the importance of the fight that the whole world would soon be engaged in against insects. "People must get against insects. "People must get away from the old idea that a man who collects and studies insects is a fool or an idiot," he declared. "Be-cause, of all the forms of life, insects are the most injurious to the human race. They affect our health, our crops, our live stock, our houses, our stored foods and many other things of economic importance. It is only in the last 20 to 40 years that the world has begun to realize this, and a class of men, known as econand a class of men, known as economic entomologists, has sprung into being," he continued. Dr. Howard then proceeded to trace the development of the movement in the United States. "The annual budget for the fight against insects in the United States," he told his hearers, "is nearly two millions of dollars. The average loss to agriculture amounts to over one billion dollars a year." In his talk Dr. Howard praised the work done in Canada, and paid tribute to Dr. Bethune, who was a pioneer in entomology in Canada sixty SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS IN

CEMETERIES AND BURYING THE DEAD

The sadly unkempt condition of many remote little garveyards, with broken fences, overgrown graves, fallen and crumbling tombstones and half-obliterated inscriptions, usually suggests the thought: Would it not be better if the municipalities took charge of all cemeteries within their charge of all cemeteries within their bounds and gave perpetual system-atic care to the graves? But the more immediate concern of the living is the High Cost of Dying, an older greivance than the High Cost of Liv-ing. There is a comment in a little book recently published in Chicago, entitled, "Funeral Management and Costs," by Quincy Dowd, in which a world-wide survey of the subject is presented with a view to quickenis presented with a view to quicken-ing the movement toward funeral reform. The chief reforms advocated are municipal ownership of ceme-teries, reduced cost of funerals, and cremation. The book is written and cremation. The book is written with sanity and sympathy from the point of view of the survivors and the public, and is addressed especially to boards of health, civic welfare clubs, soical workers, trade unions, professional men and clergy.

The amount of money spent upon funerals is staggering. There is no logic in an expensive funeral, but the sentimental element in human nature disregards logic. Funeral expenses, variable everywhere, seem to be higher in North America than else where. The last half century witnessed a marked increase, and the natural reaction has now set in. The tendency now is to have less expensive coffins, "no flowers,"no heavy mourning, less display and less conspicuous monuments. Even at that the average cost of a funeral in the United States is estimated at $150, no counting grave, monument or last sickness expenses.

There have long been funeral re form associations in England, and many notable men there have direct ed that their remains be buried with the least expense and utmost simplicity. Charles Dickens said in his will: "I emphatically direct that I be buried in an inexpensive unostenta-tous and strictly private manner that no public announcement be made of the time and place of my burial, that at the utmost not more than three plain mourning coaches be employed, and that those who attend my funeral wear no scarf, cloak, black bow, long hatband, or other revolting absurdity. I conjure my friends on no account to make me the subject of any monument, memorial or testimonial whatever." Dickens wisely rested his claims to remembrance upon his writings, but in Canada of a nature not previously his funeral directions assuredly set a great example to the world.

The sombre subject of Mr. Dowd's book is lightened by a quotation ton, where it appears an undertaker's advertisement read as follows:

"For composing the features, $1. For giving the features a look of quet resignation, $2. For giving the features the appearance of Christian hope and contentment, $5."

"The worst of it is," said an American divine, "that they can do it." Funeral reform is naturally slow for various reasons. The average person of moderate means in the hour of bereavement is in no mood to bargain over the cost or to protest against excessive charges. Some people delight in display and pomp. she is poverty stricken are part of It is also a commonplace that people the propaganda plan by which she in poor circumstances are prone, from mistaken pride, to order a far more expensive funeral than their warrant. The undertakers are naturally not the ones to advocate economy. Yet Mr. Dowd discussed the matter frankly with leading un-dertakers and found considerable difference of opinion among them as

> The author is a strong advocate of cremation as the most proper disoosal of the dead, and gives a num ber of facts and figures to show the steady increase in the method in Britain, America and Europe. It is cheap, sanitary and dignified. In England it costs about $25, with a minimum of $11, while in the 74 crematories of the United States it averages $35. In the Montreal crematory only a nominal fee of $10 is charged. There is in some quarters a religious sentiment against it, but considering the number of Christian martyrs who have been burned at the stake—including Joan of Arc—there should be no just ecclesiastical objection to it, and many prominent churchmen have advocated it. There is nothing repulsive about the act. The body is placed in the retort during the burial service, an intense heat is concentrated upon it, a rose-color-ed flame envelops it, and in an hour or so it has dissolved into a little heap of crumbling, grey ashes. "Ashes to ashes, dust to dust."

POSTMASTERS ARE WARNED

A ruling has been made by the Postmaster General's Department and information sent to all postmasters that "Lost," "Found," "Strayed," "Stolen" and other notices are illegal. The notice to post-masters is as follows:—"Postmasters masters is as follows:—"Postmasters are warned against allowing notices other than Post Office notices, to be exhibited in the lobby of the Post Office. The Department is aware that pressure is often brought to bear upon postmasters to exhibit notices of meetings for charitable and religious purposes, "Lost" and "Found" not the property of the prop purposes, lost and round it is ces, etc., but it is considered that the Post Office proper should be given up wholly to the Post Office, in order that official notices may receive the undivided attention which the public interests require.

GLAD HE TRIED THE TONIC TREATMENT

Through Its Use Strength and Vigor Was Restored.

To be tired after exertion is natural. Rest and food restore the body to normal after such fatigue. But to be tired all the time is a symptom of an anaemic condition that will not be corrected until the blood is built up. Such an anaemic condition is so gradual in its approach and generally so lacking in acute pains that it is often difficult to persuade the suffer to do anything for it. But it is not a condition that corrects itself. If the blood is not enriched the trouble will increase. The nerves will be undernourished and neuralgic pains will follow. Digestive disturbances often result from thin blood, sleep is disturbed and a general breakdown ay occur. Mr. Wilson Johnson, Ninevah, N S., says: "A few years ago my system was in a badly run down condition. My nerves seemed always on edge, and I found myself so weak that I could hardly do any work. I suffered from headaches and from pains in the back and under the shoulders, and was often so sleepless at nights that when morning came I felt as tired as when I went to bed. was taking medicine all the time, but it was doing me no good. Then I read the testimonial of a man whose condition had been similar to mine, and who strongly recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to give this medicine a fair trial, and when I had taken six boxes I felt much better. I continued taking the pills until I had taken six more boxes and I can only say I am glad I did so, as I am now enjoying the best of health, and I advise all men who feel run down to give these pills a good

The farmers wives of Nebraska, having tasted the sweets of equal suffrage, want to carry the principle of equality to its logical conclusion. They have accordingly drawn up a Bill of Personal Rights, which errs, if at all, on the side of modesty, for it embraces only six points, as fol-

A power washing machine for the house for every tractor bought for the farm.

A bathtub in the house for every binder on the farm.

Running water in the kitchen for every riding plow for the fields.

A kerosene cook stove for every automobile truck.

A fireless cooker for every new mowing machine. Our share of the farm income.

The women of Nebraska scarcely need arguments to support such a reasonable platform. "Tit for Tat" involves a suggestion of retaliation which is unfitting. Perhaps the case would be met sufficiently by the homely plea: "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." They are entitled to "a bathtub for a bind-er" and "a fireless cooker for a mower," but they may be disappointed in their share of the farm income.

PLOWING MATCH WINNERS

The Lambton County Plowing Match, held on the farm of H. A. Gilroy, Alvinston, last Thursday, was a genuine success. All the classes were keenly contested. About 400 autos lined the roadsides and fully 2000 people witnessed the event. A feature of general interest was the six-horse team of Mr. Fred Dolbear, drawing a three-furrowed plow, plowing in competition with a tractprowing in competition with a tractor. Goodison's Hart-Parr tractor, drawing two plows, a total of five furrows, satisfied an eager crowd.

Nicholas Plain, of Sarnia Indian Reserve, won first prize and the Association trophy for High Cutting Plows in sod. Frank Stronghill, of Alvinaton won first prize and the Alvinston, won first prize and the Crown Savings & Loan Company trophy for boys under 18 years of age, plowing in sod. D. M. Campbell, of Alvinston, won first prize in the Farm Tractor plowing and the John Goodison Thresher Company trophy.

A banquet of the officers and directors, together with the competitors ectors, together with the competitors and the members of the Lambton County Plowmen's Association was held in the Music Hall, Alvinston, at 6.30 p.m. The Women's Institute catered to the wants of the inner man in capital form. J. Lockie Wilson, Supt. of the Agricultural Societies, Ontario Department of Agriculture, was the speaker of the evening. Mr. Wilson congratulated the Association on the success of the day's event and the fact that this is day's event and the fact that this is cond year in existence. A feature of pleasure was the keen in-terest manifested by all the spectators. The special prizes, trophies and general prizes were presented to the winners at the conclusion of the ban-

WOMEN'S RIGHTS ON THE FARM PROSPERITY AND THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

Business prosperity depends upon the rightness of the man who does business, whether as merchant or manufacturer, or banker, or employee. So declares no less an authority than Roger W. Babson, head of the Babson Statistical Organization. In a recent address in New York Mr. Babson told how in examining the Babson told how, in examining the statistics of business changes, he tried to find the underlying causes, and came to the unescapable conclusion, first, "that a period of dapression is the result of the unrighteousness, dishonesty, extravagance, and inefficiency which develop in the latter half of a period of prosperity: and, secondly, that a period of prosperity is the reaction from the righteousness, industry, integrity, and thrift which develop in the latter half of a period of depression." In Mr. Babson's mind:

"It is not railroads, steamships, or factories which cause our prosperity; trade, or commodity prices which give us good business. All these things are mere thermometers that register the temperature of the room. Prosperity is based on those fundamental qualities of faith, temperance, service, and thrift, which are the products of religion. The fundamentals of prosperity are the Ten Connand-

And therefore, he continues, as quoted in the press: "The future of business depends on the developing of the soul of the man and upon again permeating labor, capital, and management with integrity, loyalty, and a desire to serve. The need of the hour is not more salesmen, or more foremen, or more technical men, but the need of the hour is to get employers and wage-workers to give their hearts to God. Business depressions can be avoided, but only by directing the minds of your peo-ple to the need of integrity, industry, and thrift. Business conditions can be changed for the better only as man's attitude toward life changes."

Mark Stover, manager Premier Products Company, Sarma, whose home was at 189 South Brock street, Sarnia, died in Victoria Hospital, London, Tuesday afternoon of injuries suffered in an auto accident which occurred in Delaware village early on Saturday morning, October 29. William Ralph Lawrence, also of Sarnia, was almost instantly killed in the same accident, and Alexander Houston, another Sarnia man, suff-ered severe injuries and was removed to Victoria Hospital, where he is now making a rapid recovery.

News was received Monday of the death of Dr. P. F. Kinsman, a prom-inent dentist of Sarnia, who dropped dead Saturday in a hotel at Bruce Mines, near the Canadian Soo. Dr. Kinsman had been one of a hunting party which left last week for the northern Canadian woods. He had been apparently in good health, and the news of his death came as a shock to the community.

Forest Masonic Lodge observed its 50th anniversary on Friday, Oct. 21.
In the afternoon the brethren drove to the cemetery and decorated the resting places of six charter members Dr. Nash, Francis Kent, John Shaw, Capt. H. Stevenson, A. Short and Jesse Tripp. In the evening about 350 members and friends sat down to a lunch and listened to an excellent program of music and speeches. Guests were present from many outside places.

When ninety-five members of the Malden U.F.O. gathered at Arthur Atkinson's Monday afternoon it didn't take them long to husk 16 acres of corn and shock the fodder. This was their fine practical way of show-ing their sympathy for Mr. Atkinson, who is just recovering from an operation for appendicitis. It certainly gives the lie to the sentiment abroad that the world is growing so commercial that it hasn't time to be kind.

Although the townships of Gosfield South, Mersea and Pelee Island have been under quarantine two weeks by the Dominion Department of Agriculture because of corn borers, there is no serious outbreak of the pest in Essex County, according to J. W. Noble, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture at Essex. One or two isolated specimens of the borer were found but government regulations requires a quarantine even for this slight attack. No corn on the cob or corn fodder can be bought out of the quarantined town-ships. Shelled corn is not affected. It is expected that all known pre-cautions against the borer will be taken at seed time next spring.

Introducing the speakers Mr. Taylor said: "In and out of politics Mr. Armstrong has been a friend of everybody and stands as a clean, straight man. Nobody can point a finger at his political career. He has been the father of rural mail delivery and many other acts for the benefit of the country."

Many ladies were present at the athering. B. W. Fancher, United Farmers' candidate in this riding was an interested member of the audience, and, with Leslie W. Oke, U. member in the Legislature was later introduced by Mr. Armstrong to Sir Henry Drayton. Mr. Fancher has proposed that joint meetings be held some time before the campaign is over, and as Mr. Armstrong is agreeable the plan will likely be carried out.

Mrs. Armstrong's address dealt largely with the tariff issue.
"The farmers of the United States

do not stand in their own light," she said. "Mr. Crerar says: 'Return me to power and I think I can get bet-ter trade relations with the United We would all like to have better trade relations with the United States, but we do not have much to say about it. President Harding, a comparatively inconspicious figure, was returned to power be cause of their need of protection. was returned to power be-Their tariff is getting higher and yet n our small nation they are asking that the tariff be brought down and the United States given every ad-

'No doubt Mr. Fancher would say it was farthest from his thought to wipe out our industries or vote that way, but he is standing on the wrong side and on a platform that calls for "immediate and substantial reduc-tion of the tariff," and in five years free trade with England."

J. E. ARMSTRONG National Liberal and Conservative Candidate.

J. E. Armstrong deprecated "pussy ooting" by the Opposition. "Let them stand by their platform", he said. "I stand for every plank of our platform, and a copy of it is at your disposal. Will my good friend, Mr. Fancher, stand by his platform? I claim that I have been a representative of the farmers of this district to the fullest possible extent. I am not going to repeat to you what I have been doing at Ottawa; you know that I have given you a square deal. The Liberals have not brought out a candidate, and I do not think they will. A number of Liberal in this riding are supporting me in this campaign, and I am deeply grateful. Hundreds of farmers are standing behind me, because they cannot support the U. F. O. platform or that of the Liberals—and I know what I am talking about."

Mr. Armstrong reviewed the Creplatform, with particular regard to the proposed free list, and that of the Liberals, which is virtually the same except for coal. He pointed out that abolition of duties on foodstuffs affects commodities in which Lamb-ton is especially interested, such as canned goods, celery, sugar beets, and apples. Wiping out of the duties on farm implements would affect 86 factories in Canada, with an invested

"We need from Lambton the services of an old and tried servant of the people as Mr. Armstrong, said Sir Henry Drayton in opening, "and I have no doubt you will return

"There is one thing that ought to be settled by the people of Canada, and if we have our way it will be, and that one thing is the question of the future fiscal policy to be followed by this county. If you plant sugar beets or build a factory, you want to know where and how you will sell, and whether or not the market at home will be preserved or given to the bigger fellow. Business cannot get on without stability.

"I want to tell you, ladies and gentlemen, that Mr. Crerar is a free trader. He takes the directly opposite. side on this issue of protection. He would pull the bars down further and make it easier for our friends to the south. Aside from unemployment at all—and we have more of that than we like—do you realize that by our excessive purchases in the United States our currency is at a great discount? Last winter it was something like 17 per cent., and it did not take anything like that to add $2 to the price of every ton of coal you put in your cellars that winter. There is just as much difference in buying when you owe and buying when you are a creditor, in the case of a nation as in that of an individG

"Mr. Crerar says we must buy more in order to sell, and in order to buy, Mr. Crerar would take down the bars. I wonder how much more we have to buy before we sell. unless we are going to buy ourselves out of the business altogether. We have been buying at the rate of eight millions to five, a deficit against us of $340,000,000, and then Mr. Crerar wonders that our money is at a discount.

"Our province has borrowed much in the United States. Our railways were built with borrowed capital. These loans are still out, and so Canada is already a debtor in this exchange to the tune of $180,000,-000 in interest annually. Now our exports have been cut seriously by the Fordney tariff. Uncle Sam is looking after Uncle Sam, and nobody can object to it, but how are we looking after our business. year we imported from the United States three times as much pork, twice as much cheese, three times as much butter, and so on down the list, with the result that we increased our purchases of foodstuffs 63 per

"The question for you to determine is, do you like that sort of thing, or do you want a home market. Is it a good thing that the American farmer can sell his product ere in increasing quantities, while you have difficulty in disposing of it at home? You must have factories functioning, business carrying on. The farmer cannot make a factory for himself any more than the imple ment maker can make a market for his implements. Do you think the farmers were wrong in asking protection for sugar beets?

"You know that we did enjoy the American market—just as long as it paid them for us to enjoy it. They have no illusions about their tariff policy. What is good for the nation is good for them, and what is good for Canada is good for us."

Sir Henry quoted statistics showing what enormous quantities of farm and dairy products have been coming into this country from the United States, particularly during the present year. Fruits figure largely, on account of the Southern product being on the market before that grown here and Canada bought last year 273,918 barrels of American apples, 477,000 pounds of cherries, and 2,400,000 pounds of strawberries but there were also 5,000,000 dozen eggs and large amounts of meats.

"Do you think it should be made easier to bring these products in? asked the minister, "or is it about time we learned what these things mean to us. Practically everything I mentioned there is grown in rural Ontario and ought to be grown there and ought to have the market in Canada. Mr. Crerar says it is idle to say the home market takes what the farmers produce. In 1919 Canada produced in dairy and creamery butter 226,000,000 pounds. How much do you think was exported? Just 17,000,000 pounds, and the rest sold in Canada in that home market. Mr. Crerar tells you is no good. The average wholesale price for butter sold in Canada in 1919 was 50 cents a pound and the average export price for the comparatively small amount exported was 40 cents a pound. Isn't the home market of some use?"

Women

est I ask from all the people of Canada an earnest review of the real issue before Canada to-day. I ask from men and women a calm, thoughtful consideration of serious public questions; and, so far as I am concerned myself, I ask not favors but fairness."—ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

WOMEN OF CANADA, the coming General Election will be one of the most momentous in Canadian history, and Arthur Meighen asks YOU to give the issue fair, unbiassed consideration.

Women and men alike are called upon to decide whether political, industrial and economic stability is to be replaced by class rule, political and industrial chaos and possible economic bankruptcy.

The facts are clear, and every Canadian woman will do her own thinking. She will not be misled by others. She will not blindly follow family political precedent, neither will she be carried away by the false theories or empty "isms" of theorists and extremists. Every woman will arrive at a personal decision by the application of practical common sense.

The great issue is the Tariff and here are briefly the facts.

The present Canadian Tariff, so far as it affects the necessaries of life, is a very moderate one. It is simply a tariff maintained to keep Canadian factories in Canada, employing a steadily increasing volume of Canadian labor and developing Canadian Meighen stands firm for the continuance of a reasonable tariff. It is now even more imperative than in the past. All other important countries are retaining or increasing their tariffs in order that they may hold their home markets for their own people.

Under Crerar's Free Trade policy Canada would be swamped with foreign goods, principally from the United States, Canadian industry would be ruined, thousands of men and women would be out of work with all the hardships to themselves and their children that must result. The farmer's great home market would be seriously affected, taxes would be increased, and Canadian working men would have to go to the United States for employment.

While King's Tariff policy is wobbly it nevertheless tends toward the destruction of the Tariff and would bring with it practically the same results.

MEIGHEN'S POLICY EVERYBODY KNOWS. It is the only means whereby confidence may be maintained and employment given to all classes of the people. The foregoing is a plain statement of logical conclusions arrived at from the facts. Think the matter over carefully "without favor but with fairness".

Make your own decision, stand by it unmoved and be sure to exercise your vote.

Shows Remarkable Restorative Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chesley, Ont.— 'Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half way up the steps. I tried two doctors but they did me no good. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and thought I would give it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children, and do all my housework, milk eight cows, and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my bables were born. I recommend it to all my friends who are in need of medicine, and you may print this letter if you wish."—Mrs. Henry Janke, R. R. No. 4. Chesley, Ontario.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

"You've got to be a success professionally, my boy, before you can marry my giri. It's all right about your having plenty of money in your own name, but three square meals a day isn't everything I ask of my son-in-law. "But, Mr. Jenkins, It's only two months since I got my license to practice and I have a few patients already. Besides, I just know I'm going to make good. I love the work and graduated at the head of my class, and down in the slums I've had quite a success," Kingston ended earnestly.

"All the same, I've said my say. There's no such great hurry about your marrying anyway-Claire isn't twenty-

"I guess that's final?" the young man said as he rose to go.

"I'm afraid so, Kingston; nevertheess, I'll be glad to welcome you into the family when you're a little fur-

With a heavy heart the doctor left Jenkins' office and turned his car toward his home, for he knew Claire would be there anxiously waiting for him, as they had planned this interview with the father as a last resort. Kingston thought with bitterness what a failure it had been and how little hope he had to give.

"Never mind, Frank," she consoled, after she had heard the worst, "we'll do something to bring dad around somehow.

"But what?" the man asked desper ately. "I've done my level best and I can't think of another thing to try." "Let me do some thinking," said Claire, puckering her pretty white forehead with the effort. "Dad told me the other day he was going to drop in on you from time to time. As Doctor Kingston reached his of-fice he heard the telephone ringing and his heart leaped with joy at the prospect of a professional call. He took up the receiver and, said "Hello!" in his most business-like tone. It was

"Frank, I've got an idea. Do come over and let me tell you about it.' "Be there in a jiffy," he said as he hung up the receiver and dashed for the door, and a few minutes later he had reached the Jenkins home.

"Tell me, Claire, quick for goodness' "Sit down, dear," she said, enjoying the moment. "You're too excited."

"Wait a minute, now. To go on, you were awfully popular in your class. Now, if you had a lot of pa-tients you'd have a lot more, because people are like sheep and they always flock to a popular doctor.' "But how to get them," he groaned.

"In the next place, you were popular at school and your college mates would do anything on earth for you.' "Sure! Do put the puzzle together

As he glanced quickly around the reception room he was sur-prised to see six men and one woman sitting around anxiously awaiting their turn. A moment later Doctor Kingston opened the door of the inner office and ushered a patient out.

"Next!" he said in his most professional tones; then his eye caught sight of Mr. Jenkins, apparently for the first time.

"Why, how are you, Mr. Jenkins?" he smiled going over to greet him.
"Til be able to see you in just a minute." and he backed into the consulting room and closed the door on another "patient."

A few minutes later the two reappeared, the patient carefully folding a prescription blank on which was written: This entitles A. S. Stillman to 50 cents."

"I'm sure that'll help you," said the doctor patting him on the back.

"I'm sure it will, too," replied the patient earnestly.

Some weeks later Kingston's phone rang and upon taking down the re-ceiver he recognized Jenkins' voice. "Come up to the office this after-noon," it said. "I want to speak to

HERMIT'S LIFE TOO SEVERE

Wealthy Englishman Unable to Find Man Who Would for Long Maintain Required Pose

The grounds of Pain's hill, near Cobham, Surrey, were considered a marvelous achievement of landscape gardening when first laid out during the ownership of the ninth duke of Hamilton. The head gardener, who was given a free hand, produced a bewildering variety of supposed amenities—grottos, cascades, chapels, temples, and even a hermitage.

When the job was finished the noble owner of Pain's hill advertised for a hermit willing to live there seven It was stipulated that he should wear a camlet robe, never cut his beard or nails, and never stray beyond the limits of the grounds. He was to sleep and eat in the hermitage. a mat serving as his bed, and food (washed down solely with water) being sent him from the house. He was strictly forbidden to exchange a syllable with any servant or to speak to anyone who visited the hermitage. If he lived there the full term of seven years under these restrictions he was to receive 700 guineas ($3,500), but he was liable to instant dismissal without any payment if found departing from the regime laid down for her-

The advertisement attracted several applicants, one of whom was selected; but he fled at the end of three weeks and henceforth the hermitage was untenanted.

types and degree of plumpness are jumbled together in the same frate and form a marked contrast when jumbled together in the same crate and form a marked contrast when placed beside a crate containing birds of the same sex, size, plumpness and color. To the well ordered mind uniformity always appeals, while mixtures and jumbles repel as so much junk. If a child goes into a candy store it will soon learn that mixtures are sold at a lower figure than ständard confections. And so it goes standard confections. And so it goes through life — a mental attitude is developed by the great majority of consumers to regard those products that are not standardized as being less attractive and having a lower value. The percentage of particular consumers has increased much fast-ter than the percentage of agriculter than the percentage of agricul-tural producers who standardize their products. In the old days the wormy apple, the misshapen potato and the old hen may not have lost their attractiveness, but times have changed, more people have more money to spend on foods than ever before. With the increase of the family income or wealth during the past twenty years the attitude of the younger generation towards the foods that they eat has changed very considerably. If we refer to the good old days when catmeal was the standard breakfast food and citrus fruits were only seen at Christmas time, we will realize what present day attitude toward quality in food-stuffs means when compared with the past. With this advance in tastes for foods which may be largely flavor and of little value when considered from the standpoint of nourishment the demands for foods that appeal to the eye and to the sense of taste have increased very greatly during the past five years. People Will Pay for Quality. Standardization of food products will put the rosy cheeked, clean, uniform, sound apples in one basket and it will put the wormy, scabby, misshapen product in another. People are willing to pay for quality pro-viding they have a guarantee that they will be handed a quality pro-duct in exchange for their money. How many householders have had the all too frequent experience of putting one-third of their purchase in the garbage can? Inferior materials should be directed into channels where they would be used to the best advantage instead of being a mill-stone or dead weight in occupying space, increasing carrying costs in transportation and reducing the at-tractiveness of the superior portion of the commodity. In seasons of food shortage mixed and lower grades of food products will usually sell and show a margin of profit, but when food products are abundant the more attractive grades sell most readily and create a want for more high-class produce, which demand frequently must be filled from the lower grade. This substitution of a low grade for a high or standard product kills the incentive to buy. Stung once, the particular purchaser consumer will hesitate to buy. They look, but do not buy.

Grading Best for Perishable Foods. The amount of perishable food in the fruit, vegetable and poultry pro-duct classes that is now consumed, duct classes that is now consumed, while very large, is not as great as it would be under standardization. Experiences with mixed grades, poor quality and poor packing leave an impression on the mind of the average purchaser that will take some time to erase. When the perishable food product of Ontario is standardized and marketed in a way that will command the confidence of the concommand the confidence of the con suming public an increased demand is bound to follow.

The Satisfied Consumer Is an Asset. If all the food produce offered for sale could be standardized and marketed in such a way as to develop the market for future crops much benefit would result. Satisfied consumers of this year's product will look to the same source. sumers of this year's Product will look to the same source again next year. Consumers know or should know what they want, and if given a standardized packet of food product in exchange for their money will, if suited, go on patronizing standard products. Salesmanship has been too frequently used to sell a consumer something that he did not want, material sold with the one idea of getting rid of it and no thought of the future.

If the farm end of the food products industry is to develop to the fufiness it merits, all produce grown for sale will have to be marketed through co-operative marketing organizations. Standard, honesty prepared, packed and delivered produce is the only course to pursue in developing a worthwhile market for form produce in our Canadian cities or abroad. Any food producing community that is without a co-operative marketing organization should marketing organization should con-sider the establishment of such. Those districts that have such should consider expansion by amalgamating with similar organizations. Standardized products, common honesty, any industry will make for success in producing and disposing of farm products.—L. Stevenson, Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Toronto. WINTERING OF PULLETS

If Possible Separate From All Hens and Cockerels.

Prepare Quarters Early and Transfer by November - Good Light and Ventilation Necessary — Winter Care of Pregnant Mares.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Many times the failure of securing satisfafctory winter egg yield is iue to neglect of the pullets early in the fall. The ordinary pullets begin laying at from six to seven months of age, and many farmers get a few pullet eggs in October and November. followed by little or no production in December or early January. This frequently is due to a change in roosting quarters or being overcrowded and underfed in the poultry

Place In Winter Quarters Early. To get the best results the pullets should be placed in winter quarters by November 1st. Before that time the henhouse should be thoroughly cleaned, the walls, ceiling, etc., brushed down, and all old cobwebs, etc., removed. Then give the house a good whitewashing, and if the floor is earth or sand at least four inches of it should be renewed. Separate Pullets From Young Hens.

If at all possible, separate the pullets from the old hens and cockerels. In order to lay well, they should be fed all they will eat, particularly of ground grains and green foods, and should not be overcrowded. About twenty-five to thirty-five pullets is plenty for a pen twelve feet square; in fact in many cases twenty-five pullets in the pen will lay almost as many eggs as the thirty-five. Should you be fortunate in having too many pullets, or where you can make a selection, get the earliest and best matured ones into the pen first. If you have to crowd or sell some, get rid of the small, weak ones and those that are slow to develop.

ave the Pen Well Light

The pen should be light and well ventilated. Have all the ventilators or openings on one side of the house and close together. Do not have an opening in one end of the house and another in the other end. These cause drafts which are very apt to produce colds and sickness. It usually takes a pullet at least three weeks to get over a cold, and she seldom lays while she has a cold. Keep the house dry, and use plenty of dry straw in which the birds can scratch for the feed. Give Laying Hens Plenty of Food.

Remember a laying hen needs plenty of food, grit, and shell material. Also there should be a variety to the food; that is green food such as clover leaves, cabbage, or sprouted oats, or if none of these can be had some roots. She also needs some form of meat food—sour milk is the best, nut beef scrap, or other meat offal, if untainted, will other meat offal, if untainted, will answer. Usually about one-third of the grain should be ground or even up to one-half. The whole grain makes exercise in hunting for it in the straw. Always remember the pen should be clean, dry, and sweet.—R. W. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Winter Care of Pregnant Mares. The pregnant mare should be well fed and given regular exercise or light work. All food and water given should be of first-class quality. She should be given more grain than the non-pregnant mare, as she has the foetus to support. All possible care should be observed to avoid digestive derangements; hence, everything consumed should be of good quality, easily digested, fed in proportion to the amount of work performed and at regular intervals. In addition to hay and oats she should be given a few raw roots daily and a feed of few raw roots daily, and a feed of bran with a cupful of linseed meal at least twice weekly. Work that requires excessive muscular or respiratory effort should be avoided, so also should plunging through deep snow, slipping, etc. All nervous excitement should be avoided; so also should sights which frighten her; also offensive odors; and operations and operations.

The use of drugs should not be tolerated, except upon the advice of a veterinarian. If necessary to give

The manufacturer's success is due largely to his ability to buy raw ma-terial at the lowest prices, to sell the finished products through an efficient distribution system, and to take advantage of more economic methods of production. He builds up a sys-tem to eliminate waste, inefficiency, and extravagance. Every farmer should do the same.

A man was fined $25 for running his truck over the London-Lambeth concrete highway before the road was hard. Some motorists seem to think blockades are put up for amusement, but it is the intention of the department to see that newly made roads are not driven over before they are seasoned.

As a result of a subscription taken among the merchants of Kingsville, a large signboard has been erected at the junction of Division and Talbot roads, indicating the direction in which the town lies. The merchants are planning to erect many more such signs on the nearby highways.
