WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1884.

THE DISTRICT EXHIBITION.

Many of our subscribers probably were somewhat surprised at our not being present at the District Exhibition held at Annapolis last week. The reason was that a short visit to the neighboring republic was extended through unforeseen circumstances, some days longer than we had anticipated. We trust, however, that our report of the Exhibition, although necessarily not as complete as we could have labored, will give a fair idea of the proceedings and exhibits. At the same time we must crave our readers' indulgence, if any departments have been overlooked.

The Exhibition was formally opened on Wednesday, by a pleasing speech from his Honor, the Governor of the Province, who was introduced by J. R. Mills, Esq., the chairman of the committee, in a few well chosen words. The Governor's address was summarized as follows:— His Honor stated that it was very gratifying to meet the representatives of the district under such circumstances at the old capital. He referred to the existence of Annapolis Royal, as a town before the accession of George III., to the throne of England, before the British Fathers landed on the American side of the Atlantic, or the time of Queen Anne, after whom the place was named. During the reign of James I. a colony was established at this place. Allusion was made to a stone from one of the French forts to which his attention had been drawn, and on which was found the date 1633. He spoke of the luxuries provided for the guests on the festival board. A century and a half passed away, during which time many serious struggles took place between the French and English. This period was followed by a century of prosperity. In this place our forefathers have lived and their children now meet to enjoy the benefits of their soil. He expressed his admiration of the work in which the agriculturists were engaged and would sympathize with him as he would forth to the seed and watch with interest, its growth until it came to maturity. He alluded to the anxiety which the farmer felt to see the results of his year's labor, and we should look to the results rather than the growth of the vegetation. This year, some crops are abundant; some have partially failed; but we should feel grateful for the prosperity which has attended our efforts. In looking at the fine exhibits before him, coming from the various localities in which the farmer resides, he hoped their future might be as the present, houses of contentment.

At the conclusion of the Governor's speech, the Exhibition was declared formally opened.

Class 1, as customary, comprised man's four footed friend the horse; but we are sorry to say, that in this department, the show by no means fairly represented this fine variety's possession of this noble quadruped. Kings and Annapolis, as well as the other exhibitors, as a fair collection of horses, that would be a genuine pleasure to see, but on this occasion, the exhibit must not be considered by residents outside of the County as a fairly representative one. Our friends who did exhibit, must not suppose that our remarks are meant to imply that the individual exhibits were not well selected, but that the collection as a whole, was not so good as we speak collectively. Mr. Nathan Moore, of this town, had a really fine looking two year old stallion, bred by the Almond station Gilman, an exhibit of the kind, which we should have liked to see on exhibition. They probably would have been had they arrived in the country a little sooner.

In Cattle the exhibit was small, but of a high order. Four fine heads of thoroughbreds were present, comprising the Short Horns, Ayrshires, Jerseys and Devons, besides a number of good individual specimens of these different breeds. Every year shows a marked advance in the raising and purchasing of thoroughbred cattle among our farmers, and it may be reckoned as one of the encouraging signs of the times. Of the solitary two or three exhibitors from Kings Co., were Messrs. Chase, of Port Williams, who showed some fine specimens of short horn cattle, which were well worth looking at. Ayrshires, Mr. Burton Balcom's herd from Paradise left off. One of his cows, "Blythe," has been a former prize winner at Provincial exhibitions, and also took an individual prize at Annapolis. The animals are all good and made an excellent show. This breed was also represented by some fine stock, owned by Mr. Young, of Paradise. One of the central points of attraction among the cattle, was Col. W. E. Starratt's herd of Jerseys, one of the most beautiful and docile of fine breeds. The bull of this herd is a splendid animal, and has received a premium in these columns; the cows also received their due share of admiration. Mr. Moore, of Chestnutville, also had on exhibition a fine two year old bull of the Jersey breed, and some fine cows. Devons were well represented by the Wilmet herd, belonging to Mrs. M. B. Siglin, who has taken quite a number of prizes at provincial exhibitions with animals of this breed. A number of really good cows were shown among the higher grades; but the prizes as a whole among the short horn and Ayrshires, were not so good as we should like to have seen them.

Sheep were well represented in quality, if not in numbers, by Mr. Robie Morton, of Middleton, Messrs. Chase, of Port Williams, Kings, and Mrs. M. B. Starratt. The latter made an excellent exhibit in long wools. These "single animals, fat hogs, had among others two representatives, each weighing we should judge over 200 pounds, and their fragile forms, were far from being the paucity in numbers shown. The other exhibits in the same list, made quite a fair show.

Poultry was a small show, the chief exhibitor being Mr. F. Willett of Tupperville, who is always to the front as a successful breeder of good stock. In the best list roosts, and vegetables, were noticed remarkably fine specimens of Onions; potatoes a fair show—as good as could be reasonably expected, owing to the wet season. Other departments were creditably represented.

We now turn our attention to the APPLE EXHIBIT. A really fine show was made in this section, as far as Apples of any one concern. It is with regret that we say that only few exhibitors from Kings County competed in this class. The exhibit made by the latter was excellent, but could not, of course, fairly represent our sister County. Why this apathy, men of Kings? We rise for an explanation. But we must keep more closely to our text, and reserve further comments for a future number. The exhibit of apples was viewed with pride by all, and the also and general appearance of the fruit, indicated surely the impetus in cultivation that has been given it during the past few years. The Graveston, our leading soft fruit were the finest exhibit ever made in the province, these being 25 varieties. Chace was the honor of raising the best show of Graveston, and he is justly speaking, Ribston Pippin, and King of Tomkins, were splendidly represented. Our standard variety, the Nonpareil, made its customary fine display; while the comparatively new variety in the County, the Golden Russet of Western New York, presented an exceptionally fine appearance. The Baldoys, also finer than ordinary—their warm coloring being deeper and the fruit larger. A large number of entries in all kinds were made in this class, several of the standard varieties having over twenty exhibits each. The first prize for finest collection of all sorts for this county, was taken by Mr. Byron Chesley, of Chaceville. He also made a very fine show of Quince, said by judges to be equal to any grown in a cold grape. A very pleasing feature of the exhibition, and a credit both to the County, and to the gentleman, Mr. H. V. Barst, and Mr. F. C. Whitman—who erected it, was the pyramid of apples, containing 250 dozens of some of the finest specimens of all the leading varieties of this product of God's domain grown in this valley.

Gain was a small exhibit, but good in quality. Dairy produce was also a small exhibit. Miss Abbie Dodge, of Middleton, took first prize for some very fine specimens of roll butter. A complaint was made, however, that the judge had seriously misjudged one wheel of butter, that was by no means up to the standard. Only one or two exhibits were made in cheese. Our old friend, Mr. Jas. E. Whitman, of Albany, had a specimen of his make in this line, to the front.

Belva Lockwood.

Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood, of Washington, the candidate for President of the United States, of the National Equal Rights party, was born at Rowley, New Hampshire, N. H., Oct. 23, 1815.

Her family name was Bonnell. She taught school in her district before she was 15 years old. At 18 years of age she married a young farmer in the neighborhood named Nathan, and one daughter known as Laura W. Orin, was the issue of this marriage.

One of the men in the "first lieutenant's" watch and chain. The lieutenant got a line to the ship and rigged up a sling so that the men could get on and from the vessel. Some provisions were landed and a camp was established.

On the 15th of the month, the "first lieutenant's" boat was towed up that only ten men were left on shore. The natives watched carefully to see that no more landed. The next day, the German steamer, Matilda, came and took off sick soldiers and women from the wrecked transport.
