TO FIGHT THE WHITE PLAGUE BY MEANS OF PRECAUTION

Full Text of Suggestions Compiled by Dr. Hodgett of the Provincial Health Dept.

While consumption is a dangerous disease, 250,000 deaths occurring in 1903, from this cause in Ontario, F. L. Hoffmann, an actuarial authority, states that "the mortality from tuberculosis has progressively declined in American cities for more than a century."

The family, which is held to be the foundation of our social system, and which is being recognized to a practical degree in several recent movements as in the fostering of destitute children, may become a factor in the successful conflict with the plague of consumption.

1. The special measures required for producing conditions destructive to the virulence of tubercle bacilli which may have found lodgment in a house. Unfortunately these best calculated to preserve and improve the health of the inmates.

2. These are air, light, sunshine and dryness, which while they aid in rendering individuals able to resist the disease, at the same time are most destructive to its vitality.

3. The breath from the lungs contains food for the germs, which become poisonous if rebreathed. Hence, the death-dealing engines, workrooms, schools, churches and public vehicles, should be quickly changed, otherwise persons breathing it become weakened and thus may become predisposed to consumption.

HOUSE OF COMMONS MEANS MONEY LOSS TO COUNTY.

Bylaw, Must Bonus City for Territory Annexation. The annexation of the Avenue-road district to the city has presented a new feature. If the county loses this and the East Toronto tract to the city, it loses some of its most valuable tax assets, and will also be expected to pay the city a considerable sum for taking them over.

The amount is governed by the assets and the debts of the county at the time of annexation. If the annexing portion contained one-fifth of the assessed value of the county, the county would have to pay the city one-fifth of its assets, such as buildings, cash in bank, etc., less one-fifth of its debt.

Toronto Man Gets Patent Which May Be Experimented With.

"This is the car you've been waiting for," says Harry A. Lee of this city, who is trying to get the Toronto Street Railway to experiment from patents he has just secured.

A car 52 feet in length, like the present one on the King-street line at big, will, under his arrangement, seat one hundred, or almost double. Entrance is gained from a door in the side of the car, and there is a side aisle of 18 inches admitting to fifteen rows of seats, three of which are in separate compartments for smokers, for which a special side door is provided.

STOCK-RAISING IN THE WEST.
Mr. Porter's letters show the growing importance of the live stock industry of the west. A great deal of western land, especially in Alberta, is well adapted to stock-raising, both for beef cattle and dairying, and we may expect to see this industry taking an important position in western Canada as it has in the western and southwest United States. In former days the bulk of the animals for breeding purposes came from Ontario, but now the western ranchman is raising a large part of his own pure-bred stock. This is a stage in the development of the west which we must learn to expect in every department of industry, and so long as the property of the Dominion as a whole is increased, we cannot complain.

HORSES ARE VERY SCARCE AND PRICES ARE FIRM
Dealers Complain That Breeders and Farmers Are Too Exact—Transactions, Quotations.

The horse market on the whole continues firm, although there was a bit of weakness manifested in some lots at Tuesday's sale at the Repository. Horses of all classes are very scarce, and buyers complain that it is impossible to buy of the breeders and handle the animals on this market at anything like remunerative prices. Purchasers, on the other hand, think the general figures too high, so that with the former exacting inflated prices and purchasers holding off because they are not too happy one, especially as even at the figures demanded by farmers all classes of horse are scarce. The public during long years of depression have been educated to cheapness, and now that farmers and breeders are again on the market at prices which are not too high, the dealers are not too happy one, especially as even at the figures demanded by farmers all classes of horse are scarce. The public during long years of depression have been educated to cheapness, and now that farmers and breeders are again on the market at prices which are not too high, the dealers are not too happy one, especially as even at the figures demanded by farmers all classes of horse are scarce.

$75 to $125; serviceable second hand teams, $60 to $120.
Toronto exhibition did well at the Montreal fair last week. Crow and Murray won five firsts and about a dozen seconds. They won first in pairs under 15.2, first with Othello, ch. g., in the combination saddle class; first with Hands Off, a brown cob, in 15.1, and under first in the green hunters' heavy weight, with Siberia, and first in saddle class over 15.2 with Montrose.

The market in Montreal is reported dull and no sales of any account were recorded during horse show week. George Pepper, who headed the list, is there now with fourteen head that he brought from Boston that he would like to dispose of.
James Murray of Crow & Murray is now in Boston, Mass., where he has sold in the pair of brown geldings, that in the 16 hands and over class at the recent show in the armories. The firm will probably enter at the open air show to be held at Walsheok, in Philadelphia, the last part of the month.

Well-bred and high grade draught mares are scarce and in generous demand. Ask a dealer what any kind of good draught horse is worth and he will tell you to find them first and then buy them. Raising draught horses is now one of the most profitable branches of farming.

Advices from England and Scotland say that prices for Clydes and Shires are continually on the rise, and that the quantities are handled that it is impossible to house the stock even temporarily. Brantford machinery, Harrison's agency, setting plows, steel rollers, Leamington, harness and whiffletrees from Bowmanville and a myriad of other articles for the farm and stock are available for sale. This is especially important, as an example of the progress of the industry and the western market. In many instances warehouses are overflowing. In others no lumber is available for sale. This is especially important, as an example of the progress of the industry and the western market.

There has not been a season in ten years when there were fewer horses with coughs or distemper.
Chicago Horse Market.
Chicago, May 17.—As a whole, trade in most classes is fairly satisfactory. Eastern dealers report prices too high for the local market, and many country buyers are satisfied with the trade here. The local market is not so good as it was last week. The principal cause of the decline is the heavy demand for horses for the local market. "THE HAT" STOCK CENTRE PROBLEMS FOR RANGERS
Interesting Letter From The World's Staff Commissioner in the West.

Medicine Hat, May 17.—(Staff Correspondence.)—The prominence the live stock industry has assumed in the west during the past few years has firmly established Medicine Hat as a distributing point. Occupying a position at the confluence of the Bow and South Saskatchewan Rivers the town commands a fine ranching country for a radius of nearly 100 miles. From Cross Hill on the north to the boundary line on the south and from the Rocky Mountains on the west to Cross Lake on the east is largely subject to this gateway. Part of this territory is included in the semi-arid belt where ranching or mixed farming by irrigation prevails almost wholly.

The "Hat," as the laconic western terms the metropolis of the region, is the southern terminus of the great C. P. R. Canal, which will take its water from the Bow at Calgary. This district has profited largely by the influx of Ontario cattlemen and Yankees from the West. They have overrun the country adjacent to the Cypress and the Great Sand Hills. Every water hole and stream is occupied and the movement has reached such proportions that settlers' goods have congested the freight traffic of the C.P.R. The demand for farm implements is so keen that at every waiting station from Moose Jaw to Calgary merchants are expending their money for the removal of their goods. Boys of freshly-painted wagons, sunny plows and other articles for the ranch and stock are continually on the move. Quantities are handled that it is impossible to house the stock even temporarily.

Brantford machinery, Harrison's agency, setting plows, steel rollers, Leamington, harness and whiffletrees from Bowmanville and a myriad of other articles for the farm and stock are available for sale. This is especially important, as an example of the progress of the industry and the western market. In many instances warehouses are overflowing. In others no lumber is available for sale. Chicago Horse Market.
Chicago, May 17.—As a whole, trade in most classes is fairly satisfactory. Eastern dealers report prices too high for the local market, and many country buyers are satisfied with the trade here. The local market is not so good as it was last week. The principal cause of the decline is the heavy demand for horses for the local market. The principal cause of the decline is the heavy demand for horses for the local market.

SLAUGHTERED CATTLE
Are Better if Hardened Off With Grain.

It has been contended that cattle fed on slilage were liable to greater shrinkage if driven considerable distances to market. Experiments show that slilage fed cattle do shrink more than dry cattle, but the latter make a much poorer showing in the slaughter pen. It is recommended, therefore, that slilage fed cattle be finished off, particularly if they are to be driven to the shipping point and shipped considerable distances. Slilage containing a high percentage of concentrates and a considerable amount of hay or other roughage, should be used for finishing off. In a test of the value of the slilage-fed animals showed the highest per cent of good meat and of fatness deposited of the beef of many people that cattle fed on slilage will not make out quite well with those fed on corn and other dry feeds.

CATTLE DIE FROM DISEASE.
Infectious Dysentery Causes Heavy Losses at Fort Dodge, Ia.

A Fort Dodge, Ia., dispatch says: During the life winter, and even extending to this spring, the farmers in many localities have suffered from heavy losses by the appearance of a new and apparently incurable disease among the cattle. The disease has been called infectious dysentery, and in almost all cases the animals have died within a few days. A short time ago a form of the disease called infectious dysentery was reported from Iowa, and at the request of Governor Cummins, Dr. Baughman was sent to the scene to investigate. He reported that it was in all probability, caused from a fungus growth among the grass upon which the cattle had been feeding.

HOG NOTES.
Pigs thrive best when their surroundings are clean. On this account too many should not be kept together. The earth makes the sleeping floor with sufficient bedding to make comfortable. Bedding should be changed sufficiently often to keep clean, as dirt tends to breed disease. A young sow is easily injured by being bred too young, as too soon after she has fattened her first litter. Under present conditions, no hog should be bred before she is three years old, unless it be a breeding animal. An animal kept in good thriving condition should be allowed an extra month of fattening before being put to the slaughter pen. A well-bred hog that has been pushed from the start will be in a better condition to stand the rigors of a month's packing than one that has been pushed from the start.

The general conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, which convenes in Washington next week, meeting once every four years, will consider among other important business the mission-ary problem in Japan.

The meeting will be called upon to decide whether the Methodist Protestant Church of Japan shall enter a union of churches which is being formed in that country or shall remain independent.

THEIR NEIGHBOURS

Japanese Are Now Almost Within Striking Distance of the Russians.

Mukden, May 17.—The fighting line is steadily nearing Mukden, where Viceroy Alexieff's headquarters still remain. Little reliable information can be obtained by the newspaper correspondents who are forbidden to proceed to the scene of operations and official information is withheld until accurate reports are sent to St. Petersburg.

Numerous small engagements have been fought, but no decisive action has taken place. Port Arthur is now completely isolated by the Japanese, and the northward with the object of turning the Russian position and advancing upon Mukden.

The Japanese are now operating in a rugged country, well suited to the military camp around the station. A significant feature of the situation is the demoralization of the Chinese, which may be said to be a barometer of the military weather.

The newspaper correspondents are most courteously treated by Col. Potchikoff, the officer in charge of the press. They are chafing under the restrictions imposed here, which prevent them from seeing the fighting a hundred miles away in turning. They have rapid and mysterious channels of communication, through which the result of the battle at Fengwangcheng spread and could be suspected.

News from Mukden, May 16.—The Russians were totally surprised this morning by the appearance of Japanese transports, conveyed by a squadron of Japanese ships, had suddenly appeared off Kailashan. The Japanese expected here that 10,000 Japanese troops had already been landed. The disembarkation will be completed in a few days.

This information accelerated the Russian evacuation, which was carried out in perfect order, and early this morning the gunboat Sivouch was destroyed.

Protests from the city are likely to take a much wider form than indicated by the Journal. Aldermen who were asked to call public meetings in their respective wards, some of them have already consented.

THE WHIP-POOR-WILL'S PLAIN. Written from Donlands, on the Don Mills road, William Bland says there are quite a number of whip-poor-wills in that locality. They start to utter their plaintive cry about 8 o'clock in the evening, and on occasions he has heard as many as five birds from the same nest. They continue to sing until midnight, and on occasions they continue to sing until dawn. The bird is a large, heavy-bodied, long-tailed, powerful orotund night bird. The male bird is brown, with a blue-black, with orange markings on sides, wings and tail, and can always be told by the peculiar habit they have of opening and closing the tail. They arrive from the south about May 10 or 15, and the whip-poor-will arrives about the 10th. A Bird Lover.

ONE GENERAL IS RETIRED

Count Keller Supersedes General Zassaltch and Rumored Dissatisfaction is True.

St. Petersburg, May 17.—(11.51 p.m.)—It is announced to-night that Lieutenant-General Zassaltch has been relieved of the command of the second Siberian army division and that Lieut.-Gen. Count Keller, former governor of Ekaterinoslav, has been appointed to succeed him.

Since the battle of the Yalu it has been predicted that Gen. Zassaltch would not long retain his command, but he has been no disposition to act hastily. The emperor's advisers could not forget that while Zassaltch did not carry out the plan of operations which had been previously determined upon, he had displayed a stubborn resistance, which showed to the enemy and to the world that the Russians had not lost the courageous spirit of past generations.

What will become of Zassaltch whether he will remain in the far east or be assigned to a less important region cannot be learned to-night, but it is emphatically stated that there is no intention to disgrace him, and that he returns from the far east to be on sick leave and at his own request.

It is generally believed that he will find it convenient to make such an application. Lieut.-Gen. Count Keller recently resigned the governorship of Ekaterinoslav in order to go to the front. He is a far abler soldier than an administrator, and is younger than Gen. Zassaltch, being only 54. He participated in three campaigns during the Turkish war. In 1887 he commanded the imperial rifle regiment, and later was in the corps of imperial pages, by which he was thrown into frequent contact with the members of the imperial family, with whom he is popular. He is considered to be a distinguished strategist and the possessor of cool judgment.

Boys Suits for Summer

Perhaps you think a boy doesn't know one suit from another. Oh, no. Just ask him. He likes a suit that fits well and looks up-to-date just as much as his father does—perhaps more.

A boy's clothes have a lot to do with the place he occupies in the respect of his companions; The appearance of your boy reflects back to you. If he is well dressed he is better thought of, better respected, and his mother shares some of the involuntary regard that goes out to the boy. He is "placed," so to speak. The social status of him and his parents is approximated by his appearance at school and on the street.

We think the Men's Store capable of pleasing both ends of the boys' clothing proposition. We can please the mother as to materials and making. We can please the boy as to fit, patterns and general appearance. And we can please all parties as far as is concerned by the reasonableness of our prices.
