FRENCH MAKE BIG ADVANCE ON WEST BANK OF MEUSE

Brilliant Attack of Ally Carries German Trenches Mile and Half Wide, Over Eleven Hundred Yards Deep --- Foe Gains Slightly in Champagne.

Paris, July 17.—A powerful attack by the French this morning on the left bank of the Meuse resulted in the capture of German positions on a front of more than a mile and a half to a depth of about two-thirds of a mile The war office statement announcing this gain says that the Germans offered an energetic defence and suffered heavy losses, especially in their counter-attacks. The text of the statement reads:

"Both artilleries were active in the region of Cerny, Ailles and the Californie plateau.

"In the Champagne the enemy renewed his attacks north of Mont Teto: and regained a footing at certain points in trench elements captured on there we organized the ground gained.

"On the left bank of the Meuse an operation carried out by us this morning west of Hill 304 developed a complete success for us. After strong artillery preparation our troops, about 6.45 o'clock, advanced to attack the enemy lines with irresistible spirit. Notwithstanding the energetic defence of the Germans, we recaptured in a few minutes trenches which the enemy had occupied since June 29.

"Pushing our advantage further, we carried German positions beyond on a front of 2500 metres on both sides of the road between Esnes and Malancourt. The entire first German line fell into our hands. A little later the second enemy line, after a desperate engagement in which admirable valor was displayed by our soldiers, was likewise conquered. "The advance reached a depth of about one kilometre. Our line has thus been carried forward from the southeastern end of Avocourt wood as far as the western slopes of Hill 804, passing thru Camard wood.

"Several counter-attacks launched by the enemy in the course of the af-termoon were crushed by our fire. The Germans suffered very heavy losses. The number of unwounded prisoners hed 425, of whom eight were offi-the war with apparent unity of pursituation. The men in the trenches were giving no thought to party politics, and it would be odious to force upon their attention our petty politrcal disputes. It would be unjust, on the other hand, to create a new parliament which would govern this country for five years and yet in whose selection the soldiers would have little voice. New Call for Volunteers.

There was still another considera-tion, said the prime minister, which was not present a year ago. He had been urged by a number of people, including the Liberal members of parhiament supporting conscription, to give the voluntary enlistment system another trial. It had been proposed that the two political parties should unite in an earnest effort to raise 100,000 volunteers before putting the conscription law into force. That appeal had impressed him deeply, and he was inclined to accede to it, but how could there be united, earnest effort by the two parties in the shadow of Puffs of wind are not good for steady sailing and only serve to send your boat spinning uncertainly. Just now there's a deal of puffs in the air. The resignations of these cadet ministers followed a sharp disagreement to revenue to prove questions involvings the Ukraine, an extensive region in Russia embracing part of the territories of the old Kingdom of Poland.

Premier Lvoff has requested the ministers to meet at his private residence, when the cause of the dispute will be considered. It is known he will attempt to prevall on them to withdraw their resignations.

The split in the ministry occurred last night at a ministerial conference called to consider a report summitted by M. Tereschtenko, minister of foreign affairs, and M. Tseretelli, minister of opsts and telegraphs, as a result of their negotiations concerning the Ukraine.

After the report was read the called to consider a report summitted by M. Tereschtenko and Tseretelli, and agreed to the fact that these ministers without the authorizat

The government Points of Difference.

In addition to this cause of complaint, the cadet ministers criticized the text of the Ukraine declaration; first, because it abolishes all power of the temporary government in the Ukraine; second, because it did not specify of what territories the Ukraine consists or make clear how it shall be governed.

MM. Tereschtenko and Tseretelli, on the other hand, flatly insisted upon the immediate publication of the declaration, adding that the form might be altered if the sense were kept intact. When the vote was taken the two Lvoffs in the cabinet and the socialists declared themselves in favor of the declaration as already orawn, without correction or alteration. Opposed by the majority, the cadet members then resigned.

the law of nations. Every day, merchantmen are sunk. We need all our resources to prevent the threatened starvation. The enemy knows this and has staked everything upon it. If he succeeds, victory will rest with him; if he fails his defeat is certain.

"There are only two weapons we can use, both forged in our shipyards. One is a class of warship that will enable the navy to hunt down and destroy submarines; the other is every new merchantman that will replace a ship sunk. These weapons must be used together. Upon the men in the shipyards and engineering shops depends entirely their output. How the latter can be increased concerns everyone, and no measure which will enable the better use of labor and machinery can be neglected. We who are secure in our homes, owe it to the brave men dying every hour for us at sea, on land, and in the air to spare no efforts to give them the weapons with which to win the war.

"We are confident that in this supreme crisis in our history, the men of the shinyards and workshops will see that crisis in our history, the men of the shipyards and workshops will see that this appeal does not fall upon deaf ears."

ments to contest further progress for the present, and the Russians need time to bring up their heavy guns, supply their forces, and bridge the swollen torrents. In the Kalusz region, where they had crossed to the western bank of the Lomnica River, near the Dniester, the enemy heavily attacked them. After losing a wood they decided to evacuate Kalusz with out fighting and to put the river between them and the enemy. They did this, they say, for tactical reasons, the chief probably being that their troops

This, however, he would not do. There were things

Stands by Conscription. Sir Robert said he must admit tha conditions were somewhat different from those of a year ago; that within the past few months parliament and the country had been divided by a highly controversial measure. conscription bill. But he must say that for eighteen months he resisted the strongest pressure brought upon him from every section of the country to introduce and enforce compulsory military service. He had yielded to this pressure only because in file conscription. They had been refused the reclieved that conscription. They had been refused the reclieved that conscription was tight. The conscription bill, he realized, had placed Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a difficult position, and he could only repeat that he would not press for its adoption unless the house was prepared to pass it with substantial unanimity.

Graham's Amendment.

The prime minister resumed his sore. Was this parliament to retain the last two four, or six years might last two four, or six years might last two four, or six years ham rose from the opposition bench, apparently to reply to Sir Robert Borden. He said he hoped the house with which it ought to be graphing. He referred to the high conscription bill. But he must say that for eighteen months he resisted

Fiorden. He said he hoped the house would not think he was intruding in rising to speak at this time, as he did not intend to discuss the resolution itself. but to offer an amendment. He then moved that all the words of the resolution be stricken out, and that, in lieu thereof, the house solve that he who was best able to pay should help pay the cost of the war, and that all the agricultural, industrial, transportation and financial resources of the country be mobilized for the winning of the war.

Mr. Pardee (West Lambton) sec-onded the amendment, which was, therefore, taken to the platform of the conscription Liberals. Mr. Speaker Rhodes said there was some question, in his, mind as to the relevancy of the amendment. would not declare it out of order for the present, but might make such a ruling later in the day, and until then it was open to discussion. Wants Conscription First. Mr. Graham, in support of his amendment, announced that we were all anxious to win the war. Canada, he said, had gone into the war with-out compulsion, and one might almost say, without invitation the less, she was in it and she was Russian campaign. The Russians in Rumania are showing greater scouting going to stay in until the finish. must not, however, lose our sense of proportion. First things must be considered first. Parliament had three months more to live and had plenty of time to discuss an extension reso-lution in the future. In the meantime parliament must conscript the men necessary to win the war and than conscript the resources, without which the war could not be won. We would hinder, not help, the allies sending men overseas unless we had the food to feed them at the front. The government had made considerable progress in conscripting the man-power of the nation. The conman-power of the nation. The con-scription bill had passed thru a number of stages, but now it was apparently side-tracked to discuss exten-sion, while nothing at all was being said about the conservation and mo-Filization of our resources.

Mr. Graham said that the railway companies must be supplied with more motive power and equipment. An income tax must be passed. The cost of living must be reduced, and a great many other things must be done and should be done before we took time to discuss the extension of the parliamentary term.

Foster's Slashing Reply. Sir George Foster said Mr. Gra-nam's speech was full of glittering generalities. He challenged any one to point out a concrete suggestion except the income tax, and as to that George was authorized to say on behalf of the government that an income tax would be passed at this session of parliament. Meanwhile everybody admitted that while we needed food and munitions we needed men most. By all means let us have things first. The conscription, Liberals said they wanted to fill the gaps in our ranks at the front. How could these gaps be filled unless the government passed the conscription act and put it into force with great fessed to be a conscriptionist, wanted a vigorous enforcement of the law from a government that had only three months to live. To promptly and efficiently enforce conscription, Sir George argued, the government must at once be given a renewed lease of life by passing the extension resolution. He quoted Mr. Graham's statement that Canada had risen to the occasion, and added, "God grant that she may stay risen." (Applause.) Sir George Foster and Mr. Glass

(Middlesex), interrupted to dispute this statement, and Mr. Macdonald retorted: "I go by the report. If the government officials and the supporters of the government in this house cannot agree, why do we not have an investigation?" Mr. Pardee (West Lambton) said the prime minister should not have introduced his extension resolution; at least, at this time. It would only be right and proper, and in the na-tional interest, to postpone that resolution until the conscription bill has been passed by parliament or at least by the house of commons. The mat-ters brought to the attention of the house by the amendment of Hon. Mr. Graham were of the utmost impor-tance, and demanded immediate consideration. They could not be brought up on the third reading of the conscription bill or upon going into supply without involving a want of confidence vote. The member for South Renfrew was, therefore, entirely justi-fied in asking that consideration of fied in asking that consideration of the extension resolution be deferred until the subject matter of his amend ment was considered and dealt with

The pressing need of the hour, Sir George continued, was the extension of the parliamentary term, so that the present government, or the union that was to succeed it, might press forward with conscription and all things necessary for the winning of the war.

The pressing need of the hour, Sir George continued, was the extension of the parliamentary term, so that the present government, or the union that was to succeed it, might press forward with conscription and all things necessary for the winning of the war.

Pugsley Defiant.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley declared him self opposed to extension. He did no wait to hear from Sir Wilfrid Laurier because no matter how much Sir Wil frid might personally favor extension he could not carry with him his party his province or the country. A year in thunder tones an election. They

The generals in the field ha dadvised the Canadian Government that the men had lost faith in the Ross rifle, and that whether the rifle was good or boo it could not be used with the British ammunition, which was the only kind available.

Sir Sam Hughes-Fifty British divisions were shot to pieces because they were armed with the Lee-Enfield rifle.
Sir Wilfrid said he did not discuss the merits of the rifle, but the fact remained that the government did nothing to relieve the situation. Even as late as August, 1916, Sir Robert Borden had cabled Sir George Perley asking whether he had better order any more Ross rifles. He had remarked this cable "most secret and confidential." It deserved some such distinctive mark not because it was important, but because under the circumstances it was certainly unique. Election as Cure.

Sir Wilfrid said the prime minister wished to avoid cleavage and division among the people. Unfortunately cleavage and division already existed but in Sir Wilfrid's opinion it could b cured by an appeal to the people. No doubt the election would be character ized by appeals to passion and prejudice, but such appeals had characterthere would be more passion and pre-judice if we attempted to supplant British with Prussian institutions. # What's the Value of Your Life?

Every man's life has a certain definite commercial value based upon the income he is able to earn.

What is the value of your life? Let us assume it to be $15,000. This amount at 6% will produce a yearly income of $900. So you see $15,000 is not an excessive valuation.

Now, if you owned a building worth $15,000, would you insure it to indemnify yourself against its loss by fire? Of course, you would. And yet the building may never burn. But have you taken the same precaution to protect your dependents against the loss they would sustain in the cutting off of your life by death? And sooner or later that is sure to happen.

If your life is not insured for the value you place upon it, write to-day for our free booklet "The Creation of an Estate." Tomorrow you may be uninsurable.

Dr. Clark feared an election campaign would develop into one of personalities. In his view there was no man in Canada fit to stand in the same shoes as Sir Robert Borden. He said with regret that Sir Wilfrid Laurier in office could not carry Canada successfully thru the war. For the good of the country, for the purity of our politics, the next election should not be fought on the faults of the government. A general election now would divide the country, it would paralyze Canada to such an extent that this country would become a degenerate and unworthy element among the allies. An election in wartime would mean an extremely bitter wrangle from the Atlantic to the Pacific in the absence of Canada's heroes, paign would develop into one of per-

In conclusion, Dr. Clark said: "Let not the graves of our gallant dead be deserted; let not the hearts of our soldiers, twenty or thirty thousand of whom are in French or English hospitals today, be wrung by a wrangle over the Ross rifle. The people of Canada will know where place the blame for an election. If the die be cast, the sooner the de-

Preparing for Conscripts.

Great preparations are being made by the Toronto divisional area's military staff for conscription, it being estimated by them that no less than 1500 drill instructors will be needed at Camp Borden to attend a refresher course at the special schools so as to fit them for the work of training the 20,000 men who may be raised in central Ontario. For the school of trench warfere, 500 instructors will be required, 500 at the bombing school, and also at the machine gun school.

All the returned soldiers in Toronto district are being interviewed in regard to their willingness to undertake the work, and it is understood that they are responding well to the request. Those who agree to become instructors are to get the rank of sergeant-instructors and receive equal to $100 a month in pay and allowances.

The University of Toronto's war honor roll of college men who have enlisted, which will be ready next week, will show that over 4000 graduates and undergraduates of universities are on active service. Those killed in action total over 250.

Engineers' Society Condemns

Strong condemnation of wartime pro fiteers as exposed in the O'Connor refiteers as exposed in the O'Connor report just issued by the Dominion Government was last night expressed at a meeting of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers held in the Orange Hall corner Euclid avenue and College street. The members were of the unanimous opinion that the government will do its duty by severely punishing all such profiteering. A resolution was also passed congratulating the members of the Toronto Street Railwaymen's Union in their fight for higher pay and better conditions, and wishing them success at the board of arbitration.

Nationalizing the Railways.

Public expectation has been arcused once more in connection with the announcement by the minister of railways that a statement would shortly be made of the policy the government would adopt in dealing with the Acworth-Drayton report on the nationalization of the G.T.R. and the C.N.R.

It is scarcely possible that after the overwhelming approval with which the recommendations were received by the country generally, and the vehement opposition expressed against the suggestion of further subsidies or financial assistance, the government will reject the majority report, especially after spending so long in its consideration.

Canada has settled down in public opinion to a policy of public ownership of public utilities. The astonishing success of the hydro-electric policy in Ontario has indicated what is possible even under conditions which are by no means ideal. The T. & N.O. Railway, which we think should have been electrified very early in its history, has made a highly creditable record as a steam road, the so badly handicapped for fuel. What has been possible on the T. & N.O. Railway could be repeated on a much larger and more successful scale with a transoceanic system, operating under all the prestige of the nation's own management. What has been done during the last few years on the Intercolonial road is another indication of the possibilities under good management. The political patronage policy, which had brought the Intercolonial to the verge of failure, was abandoned by the present minister of railways, who has run the road for the nation, and not for a party, with the best results, as all sides are willing to admit.

A similar policy for the consolidated lines as proposed by the Acworth-Drayton report would not only achieve a similar success, but would prove to be the greatest stimulus to the prosperity and progress of the Dominion in all its provinces that could be devised. The government which accomplishes this step, with its certain sequence of further nationalization measures, will make the next library on College street. Delay is Dangerous. On the authority of certain American and French experts, among them one of the most powerful men in France, The British Weekly states that the most optimistic among them names two years more as the shortest period for the termination of the

Whether this be a true forecast or not, it would be impudent and foolish not to reckon on such a term. We believe that much of the trouble in Canada has arisen from the constantly indulged hope that in just a little longer the war will be over. As a result everything is delayed; general slackness and procrastination take the place of prompt and decisive action. The policy of the United States Government, which cannot be accused of rashness or lack of shrewdness, is to prepare for a long and costly war. Our allies across the border are not going into this sanguinary business with the idea that, after all, the preparations being made, the men being enlisted and drilled, the munitions being manufactured, the loans being raised, may not be needed. People get the impression in Ottawa that the government lives in a Micawber-like attitude of expecting peace to turn up. Peace, we may as well make our minds up, will come when we compel it. We have to seek peace and enaue it.

The suggestion of the prime minister that with an extension of the life of parliament it might be pos-sible to arrange a further term of voluntary recruiting, does not seem to take into consideration the urgent need for men at the front. By way of good will and pacific intention politically the overture is admirable, but will it help to raise the men that are needed? The Canadians at the front are in dire need of reinforcements. If it is to conciliate Quebec it is a praiseworthy object, but does Quebec require conciliation, and could Quebec or would Quebec do more than is done at present? Col. Arthur Mignault has pointed out that Quebec has raised a creditable number of service units, and has in addition over/100,000 men, employed in making munitions. He doubts if more men could be obtained, and it is impos. sible to deprive the munition factories of their workers.

It is the unanimous opinion of all practical men, confirmed by the action of the United States Government, that the selective draft is the only means left to get the men that are aseded for the front, and that it should be applied as soon as possible.

ten labeled "indigestion." when, in truth, it may be a symptom of some disease of the stomatch as gastritis, dilation of the stomach, excess of hydrochloric acid, or it may be just a temporary derangement due to improper eating.

Symptoms and Alds. There is pain on pressure over the stomach, usually widespread and not severe. The tongue is coated, and there is a bad taste in the mouth. The sensation frequently felt at the pit of the stomach completes. is a bad taste in the mouth. The sensation frequently felt at the pit of the stomach sometimes extends upward, and is often accompanied by the rising into the mouth of a small quantity of a very acid, irritating, pungent, foul-smelling liquid. This is probably due to the formation in the stomach of butyric or factic acid, which is particularly favored by the presence in the stomach of fatty substances. It is this acid which gives to old cheese and very rancid butter that peculiar pungency.

This condition is somewhat similar to excessive acidity of the stomach. Belching of gas, which may continue for some hours after taking food, is a very prominent feature, and there may be marked stretching of the intestines. With the gas, bitter fluids may be brought up. Vomiting, which is not very frequent, occurs either immediately after eating or an hour or two later.

A few sips of hot water will sometimes give prompt relief, and if taken a half-hour after the close of a meal will usually prevent the occurrence of this troublesome condition. A teaspoonful of charcoal, taken immediately after a meal, may also be tried.

Food and Exercise.

Food and Exercise.

As a rule, however, strict regulation of the dietary is sufficient to effect permanent relief. Foods which are hard to digest, such as hot breads, pies, cakes, cheese, fried foods, pickles and condiments, or those which give rise to fermentation, such as cheese, cider, sugar and meat, should be entirel avoided. Purees of peas, beans and lentils, fresh fruits, fruits cooked without sugar, and fruits cooked with grains form the best articles of diet. Zwiebach, bran crackers, toasted cereal flakes and all foods of a dry nature may be eaten. Avoid any drinks at meals when in such a stete, as they increase the production of gastric juice. An active life in the open, sunlit air will do much toward the riddance of this trouble. Plenty of sleep in a well-vertilated room or sleeping porch are essential steps in the remedy of heart-burn. Deep breathing exercises, swimming, dancing, running, tennis and all outdoor sports are also very beneficial and should be freely indulged in.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUESTIONS. D. F. Q.—I have a little sore on my heel. What can I do for this?

A.—Bathe the sore in boric acid water. Use a teaspoonful of boric acid to a cup of water. Also sprinkle powdered boric acid acid.

E. J. Q.—What do you advise for a person who has night sweats. I have been examined by a doctor, but he found nothing wrong with me.

A.—Night sweats may mean lack of bathing, poor ventilation, too much bedding, constitution, indoor life, and some infection present, which good food, fresh air, sunlight and sleeping in a well ventilated room will cure. You need 10 hours sleep in the 24.

Are You to Have a Moving Day? -

Household Helps :-: By Isobel Brands

When every family lived in its own big. forward to with dread. But with the advent of the apartment house, moving day has almost become an institution, and has almost become an institution, and there are many families who regard with perfect poise the prospect of moving into a new apartment every year or two. Indeed, I know more than one house-keeper who would much rather move into a newly-renovated apartment than have her own redecorated, repapered or recarpentered. She maintains firmly that it is much easier to pack your things and to move into new quarters than to have to, shift furniture from room to room while the various mechanics are given a free space in which to flourish hammer and paint brush.

At any rate, moving is not necessarily free space in which to flourish hammer and paint brush.

At any rate, moving is not necessarily the laborious process much to be dreaded, and, if anticipated, it can be handled with comparative case. Here are a few brief suggestions:

Before your furniture is moved arrange to have the water, gas, electricity, telephone connections in working order in the new apartment or house. This means also that first the plumbing, carpentering, etc., in the new house is examined carctully, and all necessary changes and renovations made. In fact, in many cases, new lessees insist that an apartment be thoroly fumigated before they enter it to make sure of its absolute sanitation.

Notifications to Make.

Notify the postoffice a few days in advance of the change of address. Very often a family delays sending in this notice until the day of moving. Consequently, mail is sent to the old address for a day or two later, and has to be reforwarded, and if important mail is expected this may mean a serious delay and inconvenience.

Notify tradesmen of change of address, and settle your bills for all items that have been delivered at the old address. This may seem like a small matter, but it may save much embarrassment. An instance comes to mind of one woman who had always paid her bills regularly, but she moved some distance away the first of May, intending, of course, to pay the various tradesmen as seon as she was settled. But the tradesmen who came to

But the tradesmen who came to her old address to collect on the first and second of the month were told "sha had moved away." Human nature being suspicious, the unthinking householder was mentally accused by the tradesmen of trying to "forget" the bill, and by the time this opinion was spread by means of the janitor and superintendent, it meant considerable embarrassment to the meant considerable embarrassment to the householder. So pay all bills up to date before you move, even if it means setting the bill at another date than the usual

One woman borrowed the idea from the One woman borrowed the idea from the telephone company, and had a number of postcards typewritten about ten days before the day of moving. On these she had her old address and the date she intended to move, and the street number and telephone number of her new house. This she mailed to tradesmen and to a few friends who would otherwise be likely to "drop in informally," and unexpectedly, at her old address, only to find her moved.

The family arrived in the afternoon at about the same time as the moving men, and unpacked time as the moving men, and unpacked their household goods. At six o'clock the contents of the fireless cooker were removed and the family sat down to a steaming hot dinner as complete and as well cooked as the served from the smooth-minning, completely-equipped kit-

THE FOUNDATION OF SUCCESS

"The difference between the clerk who spends all of his salary and the clerk who saves part of it is the difference—in ten years—between the owner of a business and the man out of a job."

Most of the fortunes have been accumulated by men who began life without capital. Anyone who is willing to practice a little self-denial for a few years in order to save can eventually have a fund sufficient to invest in a business which will produce a largely increased income.

No enterprise can be started without money, and the longer the day of saving is postponed, the longer it will be before the greater prosperity be realized.

The newspaper prints the story of an eyewitness of the attack, the man-ager of the local hotel at Bergen-an-Zee, who says a considerable numter of destroyers were firing at the German ships. A number of shells, fell in the neighborhood of Bergen. but so far as is known, without injuring anyone. One shell, according to the story, fell in Gergenbinnen, a trifle inland from Bergen.

A Reuter despatch from Ymuiden and with the advent of new enterprises and industries it is obvious that immigration will increase, and that says four German ships have been by British destroyers in the Sea, four captured, three North stranded and three forced to return o Rotterdam.

Since Saturday 17 German steamers have sailed from Rotterdam, three at one time and fourteen at another, the despatch says. Of the frist group one, the Magdalena, Blumenthal, 1535 tons gross, was wrecked off Zandvoort. Of the second group, owing to the action of British destroyers, not one vessel was able to proceed, eight being capured or sunk and three succeeding in putting back to Rotterdam. Of the three remaining steamships were stranded two were afire. Four Captured. The admiralty announces the capture of four German steamers by British estroyers in the North Sea. The steamers are the Pellworm. Brietzig, Marie Horn and Heintz

Two other German steamers were with the four vessels later captured when the group was signaled by the critish war craft. All six made for the Dutch coast, and two of them reached the shore. These two were badly damaged by gunfire, Cuba's agricultural resources, fts mineral wealth and the importance of its import trade are discussed in an interesting article, written by A. T. Quilez, representative of the Canadian Government in Cuba, which is published in the current issue of The Weekly Bulletin, the periodical of the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce. The article reads as fol-

"There are certain features that characterize the agricultural resources of Cuba which, perhaps no other country could equal—even those situated in the tropical zone. For instance: the western section of the bland known as Vigilta Abade proisland known as Vuelta Abajo produces a special grade of tobacco whose

Pest Proves Valuable.

"Some years ago a wild plant known in Spanish as Milva was considered a pest by the Cuban farmers for the facility with which it would grow and the large area of other. spread over the large area of otherwise productive land. It has been found now that this plant yields a most valuable fibre which can be sold at excellent prices thruout the mar-kets of the world. One hundred acres of the cheapest and poorest land in Cura known here as Sabanis would produce at the first croy—four years after planting—a net profit of more than $17,000, all expense included, and about $12,000 for successive crops. Coffee and cocoa are produced in Cuba under exceptional conditions. yet, the importation of coffee amounts to more than two and one-half milto more than two and one-half millions of dollars every year, while more than forty thousands of dollars worth of cacao is imported annually for local consumption. This state of affairs has prompted the Cuban Government now to devise ways and means in order to develop these natural resources and every effort is being made to stimulate and promote the cultivation of large quantities of vegatables and other produce that vegetables and other produce that were formerly imported from even as far as the Argentine. As Cuba's cli-mate, the fertility of the soil, and every exceptional geological situation constitutes a most valuable asset for the successful development of all her resources, the future that awaits this island economically should act as an incentive for the merchants of Canaever-increasing trade of the island.

Minerals Abound. "Up to the present time the follow-ing minerals have been found in large quantities, iron, copper, manganese and asphalt, while nickel, leadchrome some silver and gold have also been discovered. The importance of a geological survey of the island has been brought before the attention of the Cuban Government and if the plan, is carpied thru very much is expected as a result of these investigations.
"Copper is also found in large quantities in both the eastern and western sections of the island. Not long ago a former secretary of public works, to use his own words, "stumbled over a copper mine in the Province of Pinar Del Rio," and since that time over a million dollars worth of ore has been taken out. Ex-President Jose Miguel Gomez, now in prison for his participation in the Cuban ing the place of the attack is still uprising, has another mine from which lacking. The Amsterdam Handelsblad he has extracted over five hundred thousand dollars worth of copper and it is claimed that he refused $5,000,000

"It is a fact worthy of consideration, that the Island of Cuba figures in the statistics with the largest import trade among all of the American Latin republics with the exception of Argentina. The above statement is the more significant when it is considered that Cuba is but thinly popu-lated and that only a short time has elapsed since she became a republic prior to which her history is a long and almost uninterrupted and almost uninterrupted period or revolutions that brought to the country ruin and devastation. Today Cube has over 200 sugar mills capable of producing over 25,000,000 bags of sugar or more than three and

The cultivation of sugar cane in Cuba owing to the advantages offered by the climate, soil, rainfall and other elements peculiar to the island, is also in a class by itself. It is not unusual to find canefields still producing, that were planted more than twenty years ago, and this, without the aid of fertilizers. The net profit on 1000 acres of sugar land after first planting is estimated at cost of plowing, planting and cultivating. The profit on the second year, there being no expense for syear land after first planting is calculated at 1592,000, which sum actually decreases the severy year unless the soil is fertilized and properly kept.

Max Marcin's most successful play, "The House of Class," which Edward H. When this play was produced at the Candler Theatre. New York, under the management of Cohan and Harris it enjoyed a run of a year's duration. Renfrew, July 17 .- William Bennett, the 19-year-old Montreal man who in a, fit, of jealousy shot his former sweetheart and the man she married at Sand Point, is in the hospital here under opiates most of the time, and the attending physicians do note expect he will recover. Tipple is Released - More Pitchers Are Needed-News and Gossip.

Yesterday's wetness stopped the Leafs and the Providence Grays from staging their second battle for second place in the league standing. Two games will be played today.

As was expected Dan Tipple has received his walking ticket. Tipple was released yesterday morning and ordered to report back to the New York American Club. Tipple is the property of the Yankoes and was sent to the Leafs under the optional agreement rule.

Tipple gave promise in the spring of being a big help to the club. He had plenty of stuff and handled himself like a real pitcher. He proved a big disappointment, however, and has been of no use to the club since early in May.

At least one experienced pitcher must be secured at once if the Leafs are to be in the hunt for the Barrow bunting. Thompson and Hearne are the only reliable workers on the Lajoie staff. They can't pitch every day. Forrester gives promise of developing into a good man Warhop is a good utility man and can do mound duty between times.

Leake will be given a thoro tryout before judgment is passed. This staff is not going to carry the club thru. Assistance must be obtained and at once.

Pitcher Forrester was secured in Hopewell. Virginia, where he was working in the Dupont Powder Works, and pitching in the Dupont Works League. Many former Virginia Leaguers are working in Hopewell, and some classy ball is witnessed at week-ends.

Announcement was made by the Cleve-land American League Club yesterday that Catcher Tom Daly has been releas-ed under an optional agreement to the Buffalo Club of the International League.

Announcement was made vesterday that Tom Seaton veteran pitcher of the Chicago Nationals, had been sold outright to the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League.

The Brooklyn National League Club yesterday released W. G. Dell, pitcher, to the Ballimore International League Club. Appleton, the pitcher who refused to go to Baltimore International League Club a month ago, has been reinstated and has joined that organization.

A Boston despatch says: Manager Hugo Bezdek of the Pirates was not long in discovering that his club did not shape up like a winner, and he will follow the plan of Jimmie Callahan—that is, he will experiment until he gets better results. Third-Baseman Boekel of Great Falls. Mont., a youngster who has had the O.K. of big league scouts, is expected to become a Pirate soon. If Boekel has any of the actions of a major leaguer, it is likely he will get into the game at the out. set, as the new pilot is willing to make almost any change that points toward set, as the new pilot is willing to make almost any change that points toward better results.

As they stand, the Pirates are without a real clean-up hitter. Wasner's spike injury will keep him out of the game for a few days, and there is no Hinchman to throw into the breach. Bill Fischer of course, is of the slugging type, but Bill's punch is sorely needed in another part of the line-up.

One of the baseball scribes is still so angry at Magsy McGraw that he exclaims: "It is up to the Giants' leader to repudiate his reputation or the fans will soon learn his real name.

Ty Cobb is said to be very superstitious, and there may be something to it. It is claimed that the reason why he is doing such scheatlonal hitting is that each time he goes to bat he first goes to the little colored mascot, secured in New Orleans, takes the lad's cap, and rubs his bat with it.

At Brooklyn—With the score tied and one man out in the tenth innings, Stengel drove a ball over the right-field wall yesterday, and won the game for Brooklyn from St. Louis, 2 to 1. The game was a pitchers' battle. St. Louis scored when Orleans, takes the lad's cap, and rubs his bat with it.

Rockford, Ill, sends the following: Outfielder McCabe made what was probably the "freakiest" home run in Three-I. League history in the recent series with Hannibal here: When McCabe hit the ball. Outfielder Lorance of Hannibal dashed to the left-field fence in an effort to get it. Lorance thrust his hands against the fence to save himself from injury, and the little finger of his ungloved hand became caught between two boards. He pulled frantically to free himself, while McCabe was tearing around the bases. Manager Castle rushed over from centre to aid Lorance, but when the finger was out of the trap McCabe had scored.

in his eyes, is to be called out in what he thinks is a bad strike. But McGraw has tamed Zim to a noticeable degree, and he is watching his step this season. While Zim was laid off the umpires he has lost nothing of his love for repartee, and any time a player on an opposing club tries to pass him the buck he has a quick comeback. In one series between the Giants and Boston, Johnny Evers tried his hand at it and got a tart answer. answer.

"Hey, Zim," yelled Evers, "have you ever got all your fines paid yet?"

And Zim blurte dout:

SURPRISE OF YEAR

Veteran Backstop Wins Berth as Giant First-String Catcher.

New York. July 17 .- Old Gawge Gibson seems to have won the berth of first siring catcher of the Giants. With McCarty out with a broken leg and Bill Rariden exhibiting certain basic faults as, a backstop that mitigate against his being ranked a really great catcher, Gib-scn is McGraw's main reliance behind the bat.

young pitchers on the club. It was hardly anticipated that he would do much catching.

The first shock that old Gawge handed the grandoldope that he was a hasbeen was when he reported at Marlin. During the winter months, it seems, up at his home at London, Ont., old Gawge began preparing for a comeback. He worked in the gymnastum or something or other at taking off his superfluous avoirdupois, which is another way of saying he took off weight.

When he came to Marlin Springs, Texas, Gibson looked better than he had for five years. He pitched right in tho. There was not a harder worker in the camp than old Gawge, In the exhibition games with the Texas league clubs his throwing was excellent and he hit well. However, it was hard to see how Gibson could hope to rank better than third among the Giant catchers, with Lew McCarty just developing and Bill Rariden working steadily if not brilliantly. When the Glants opened the National League season in April that was Gibson's position with the club.

Lew McCarty broke his leg on the last western trip in Cincinnati. McGraw did not send old Gawge behind the bat. Bill Rariden took up the catching task. Gibson worked a few innings in Pittsburg just for old time's sake, but he was still primarily the warm-up catcher and coach.

Over in Philadelphia Rariden began to Over in Philadelphia Rariden began to Over in Philadelphia Rariden began to show signs of staleness. For instance, he lost a game for the club by missing one of Ferdinand Stubblefield Schupp's fast ones thru the groove, we the winning run on third hase.

Is Hitting Well Too.

With the return to the Polo Grounds and the coming of the Boston Braves came the elevation of old Gawge to first string catcher. He went in and caught Schupp. He caught well and made two hits which tied the score.

OTTAWA AND CORNWALL MAY PLAY A SERIES

Cornwall, Ont., July 17 .- The last chapter in the history of the N. L. U. will likely be enacted this week, when P. J. Lally will forward his resignation as president and the Ottawas and Cornwalls president and the Ottawas and Cornwalls will retire from further participation in the league series for 1917, but both will likely continue their membership in the league until it is ascertained which way the cat will jump at the opening of another season. From a conversation Dr. Cavanagh, president of the Cornwalls, had with Secretary Ernie Butterworth, of the Ottawas, over the phone, it would appear as the a home-and-home series will be arranged very shortly between these clubs. The abrupt ending of the game two weeks ago was none too pleasing to oither the players or lovers of the game here and local officers report a demand for continuance of the game. The Ottawas are understood to have been taking over the same subject among themselves before Dr. Cavanagh broached the matter and it is likely that the series will open a week from Saturday, with the Ottawa men appearing in Cornwall.

Havana Cuba, July 17.—H. D. Brown, promoter of the Oriental Fark race track here, is, making preparations for another winter meeting. He has decided to race for a period of 25 days, beginning early in December.

As New Orleans may not reopen, Havana probacity will be the only place where the horses will run after the fall campaign in Maryland ends. Many tourists are expected to visit Cuba next winter, and the long race meeting there will be unusually attractive, Brown believes. The Havana track is one of the finest in the parid, and the climate during December January and February is just right for the sport of kings.

THORNCLIFFE RACES OPEN ON SATURDAY

In the neighborhood of 160 horses are already stabled at Thorneliffe Park in readiness for the meeting which Manager Berger declares will open on Saturday, rain or shine. Many more of the best performers now racing at Windsor and Montreal will slso be here, including the stables owned by the following: Messrs. Giddings, McBride, Short, Polk, Lumsden, Bedwell, Doyle, Capps, Knablecamp, Spence and many others.

Seven hundred reservations have been made to date, according to the promoters, and, as far as horses are concerned, there should be Ittle cause for worry. The plant is gradually nearing completion, and by Saturday everything should be in shipshape.

Mrs. Jarvis. Box 286, Penetang P.O., Ontario, writes: "It is a pleasure to tell you what Dr. Cassell's Tablets have done for my baby. When only five months old he fell ill, and though I had medical advice for him he got worse. I tried several special foods, but none of them would stay on his stomach, and he became so thin that he seemed just skin and bone. He only weighed 10 lbs., and we never thought he could live. But chancing to hear of Dr. Cassell's Tablets I got some for baby, and am thankful I dd. He is a bonny boy now, quite cured, and weighs 25 lbs. at twelve months old."

A free sample of Dr. Cassell's Tablets will be sent to you on receipt of 5 cents for mailing and packing. Address: Haroid F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., 10 McCaul street, of conciliation be appointed to settle

The report deals largely with the in-restigation into the Saskatoon bridge and answers the remaining questions and answers the remaining questions categorically submitted to the commission regarding road matters. Dealing with the Saskatoon bridge the commissioners state: "The three expert far as the structure is conthe bridge was constructed senerally according to the contract, plans and specifications; that the structure was a good one, and that the government received full value for the money expended, and your comsioners agree with that opinion." Referring to the Brown frauds, the commissioners state that: "It was endeavored, in the course of the cross-examination of Brown especially, to deavored, in the course of the crossexamination of Brown especially, to establish that the Brown frauds were originated with the object of obtaining money to be used for political purposes, such as election purposes, and that a part of said funds were appropriated for that purpose. Your commissioners now beg leave to report that there was no evidence to warrant your commissioners reporting that such frauds were started for the purposes stated, or that any part of the proceeds were applied to any such purposes.

So far as the proceeds of the fraudulent checks received and retained by Lindsay are concerned, the commissioners find that "the evidence does not warrant coming to any other conclusion than that they were appropriated to his own private purposes."

The commission began its inquiry into the matters referred to them on April 19, 1916, adjourned their sittings on December 7 last until August 16 this year, and altogether sittings have been held on about one hundred and fifty days, the investigation proving the fittest and widest in the history of any government.

Saskatoon Bridge Affair.

The testimony with respect to the Saskatoon bridge concluded on June 6 and no further sittings were held, as occasion did not arise for doing so.

6 and no further sittings were held, as occasion did not arise for doing so.

The contract is dated July 26, 1913, and work was commenced on the bridge on August 1 of that year, and carried on regularly until its comple-tion with the exception of a break in August, 1914, owing to the commencement of the war.

The commissioners acknowledge the assistance of the three independent expert engineers who testified as to the character and work on the bridge, besides submitting very full and exhaustive reports on the whole question under consideration. These three expert witnesses gave it as their ion, as recited in the report of the commission, that "so far as the structure is concerned, the bridge was constructed generally according to the contract, plans and specifications; that the structure was a good one; and that the government received full value for the money expended." The commissioners state that they concur commissioners state that they concur with the experts' opinion.

The main points upon which any difference of opinion arose between these various experts were in regard to the payments for extra work done. These payments amounted to $37,785, and the commissioners state that, "considering the size of the contract, and the character of the work, we are of opinion that the gross amount of the extras allowed was by no means unduly large." The commissioners discuss in their report the items in respect of which the experts differed, dealing particularly with the payments for change of classification on concrete, labor on false work, etc., heating concrete, back, filling, extra reinforcing steel, and in every case find that the amounts paid the contracters were properly allowed.

Act Misconstrued.

The commissioners deal exhaustively with the functions of the streets as spectators and as auditors at open air meetings.

"Then the first regiments left their with the functions of the streets and as a suditors at open air meetings."

The commissioners deal exhaustively with the functions of the highway board particularly its expending and administrative powers, and state that the Highways Act has been misconstrued, and its true intent and purpose lost sight of, inasmuch as the chairman and acting chairman exercised the expending and contracting powers of the board without regard to the other members of the board, and did so without any authority from the board or the executive council. Nevertheless, the commissioners find that the contract awarded for the construction of the Saskatoon bridge was a valid one, binding on ail parties.

The commissioners censure Mr. McPherson for acting in the dual capacity as chairman of the highways board and shareholder in the contracting company, but state that neither the minister, Mr. Carpenter, and acting chairman, nor any ways Act has been misconstrued, and its shareholder in the contracting company, but state that neither the minister. Mr. Carpenter, and acting chairman, nor any other official of the government was aware at the time or until some time after the claims had been adjusted, that Mr. McPherson was a shareholder of the company. From the commissioners' findings, however, it is clear that no evil consequences followed in the carrying out of the contract, or the payment of money under it, owing to Mr. McPherson having acted as stated.

The commissioners express the view that for such an important structure as the Saskatoon bridge more time should have been allowed tenderers to submit rices. The three tenders received were sent to the City of Saskatoon with a recommendation that the tender of the R. J. Lecky Co. be accepted, which the City of Saskatoon assented to, There was a wide divergence in the bids received, but the lowest tenderer's (Lecky's) figure agreed with the government's engineer designer's estimate, and the commissioners therefore find that, altho the tender of the Lecky Company was too low, there was no valid reason why it should not have been accepted.

Scales Held Evenly. it should not have been accepted.

Dealing with Mr. McPherson's adjuditation on certain extras which were in dispute totaling $26,000, which claims were settled for $14,000, the commissioners find that "from the evidence given by Mr. Delay regarding this

CANADA TO BORROW IN UNITED STATES

Thomas White Sees Secretary McAdoo at Washington.

New York. Wednesday, July 18.—A special despaich from Washington to The Tribune this morning says:

"The general financial situation between Canada and the United States growing out of the commercial relations between the two countries was discussed at a conference between the secretary of the treasury and Sir Thomas White, the Canadian minister of finance today. The question of a large loan to the Canadian Government is understood to have been taken up at this conference.

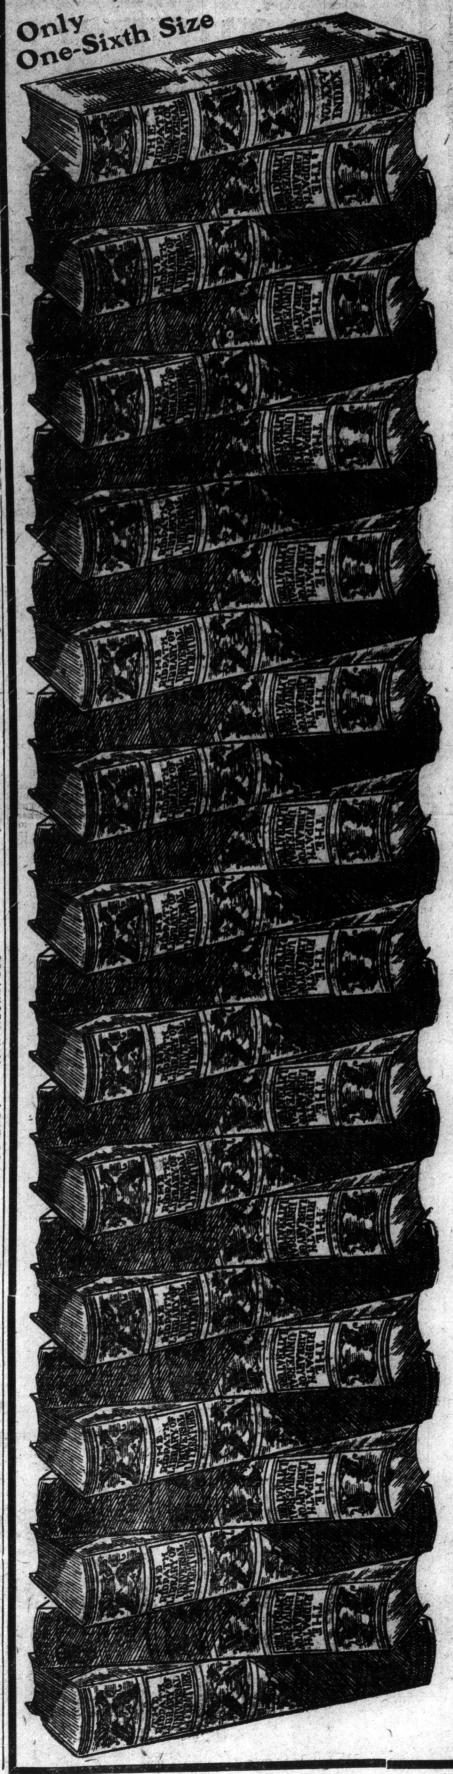

"Since the entry of the United States into the war." said the minister, "Canadian borrowing in New York has ceased because the Liberty loan was before the public and had, of course, the right of way over all other issues. It would now seem," the Canada can only continue to purchase in such large measure from the United States provided a reasonable degree of borrowing is allowed her governments and municipalities in the United States."

oversight of all measures dealing with the returned soldiers' problem, is the recommendation of a majority of the special parliamentary committee under the chairmanship of Sir Herbert Ames, which has spent several months investigating all matters relating to the returned soldier. The committee reported to parliament today. The recommendation mentioned is supported by Sir Herbert Ames, Messrs. Pardee, Murphy, Marcil and Ross.

Messrs. McCurdy, Middlebro and Sutherland, the other members of the committee, are of the opinion that the date of their discharge from the service should remain with the militia department, and that a national bureau, after the French system, should be created by the government. This bureau should be charged with the duties of co-ordinating as far as possible the various measures adopted for the benefit of returned and discharged soldiers or the dependents of such who have lost their lives on service, and that a branch bureau should be established in various centres thruout Canada to act in an advisory capacity and to provide information for returned soldiers and their dependents. If parliament does not accept either of those proposals, the committee concurs in the recommendation of the military authorities that medical treatment of returned men should remain entirely with the Army Medical Corps.

The local money squeeze has paraded business on the Toronto stock change. Few brokers are desirous taking on any new margin business, if about the only confident buyers in the tree those who sold stocks short her the selling was good and are taking them back at their confience. A new government loan effect in the United States is the only ing in sight to relieve the situation, this is not certain and is likely some the time off. If the squeeze becomes reacute the specialties will have to the brunt, and any free selling these will have to be done at much for prices. Some of these have quite distance to fall before they would the investors capable of handling muntil speculators again took them their hands. Yesterday's trend was addily downward, and the pace was addily a sharp recovery which carried the stock back to the opening at 34. During the day over fifty-four thousand shares were traded in. New York. July 17.—Stock market prices experienced further shrinkage for a time on a decided diminution of business, but rallied briskly on the broad covering movement of the last hour. Call money kept within moderate bounds, at no time exceeding 6 per cent. Time loans hardened appreciably for all dates. The course of the market during the first half of the session pointed to its absolute dominance by speculative interests.

Heaviness was more pronounced in the motors and recognized war issues. Maxwell dropping 6½ and New York Air Brake, 5. Gils also yielded 1 to 3 points, with ceppers and shippings.

Steel's rebound to 121% shortly before the close infused most of the active issues, rails also joining in the movement with sugars and tobaccos. Total sales amounted to 675,000 shares.

Trading in bonds in the open market was irregular and restricted. There was a falling off in offerings of Liberty 3½'s, but quotations again ruled at 99.40 to 99.44 for regular lots. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,185,000.

Heron & Co. had the following at Montreal, July 18 .- Today's market was again very dull; with practically no change in prices. This market paid practically no attention to fluctuations in New York, and we see nothing in sight at the moment to relieve the dulness.

LONDON STOCK MARKET.

London, July 17.—The stock market was cuietly cheerful today. The leading features were Brazilian issues, on the resumption of payments and Japanese bonds on redemption purchases. In the mining section Canadians were prominent and in other sections rubber and oil stocks were strong, while steady investment buying occurred in breweries, Australian bonds and consols at occasionally harder prices. American securities were dull and uninteresting.

Money was in better supply and distount rates were easy.

No Metal Available at Present Official Quotation.

To the abnormal, upset conditions in the silver market, local authorities attribute the sharp decline in the price of the metal to 79%c. on Saturday, which was followed by the recovery to $1% c Monday, a new high record for the present movement. New York prices were marked down at the close of last week in sympathy with the London quotation, which showed a decline of %d.

According to experts here the lower price abroad undoubtedly had no greater significance than lack of buy ing support on account of the ap proaching week-end and this opinion is borne out by the fact that the price more than recovered the entire loss with the beginning of the new week. There was no press of sales in New York at Saturday's price, in fact no metal was available at the official figure. The scarcity of spot silver continues to be marked, and with the far east scouring the world for the metal, the settling price for immediate contracts more often than not is several cents in advance of the nominal quotation.-Financial America.

CORN SOARS AGAIN WHEAT IS ERRATIC

Oats Undergo Setback in Price in Chicago Pit Trading.

Chicago, July 17.—Sugestions of prolonged hostilities instead of fresh indications of peace turned the corn market upward today, and brought about sharp gains.

Prices closed ffrm, ¼ to 4½c net higher. with September at $1.60 and December at $1.13½ to $1.13½. Wheat finished steady, 2½c off to ½c up, at $2.07. July, and $1.93. September. Oats varied from ½c net loss to ¼c advance, and provisions closed unchanged to 17c lower.

Irregularity of fluctuations was the most noticeable feature of the wheat market. The September option sagged under selling by houses with eastern connections. Raports of progress at Washington toward general support of the food control bill were surmised to have had considerable to do with the selling. The July delivery was unaffected by Washington advices, and seemed to act in sympathy with the strength of corn.

Despite rains that interfered with harvesting in parts of the Ohio valley, oats parted company with the corn market and underwent a setback in price. Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

ADLER ESCAPES DEATH.

London, July 17 .- The Austrian Parliament has decided that Dr. Friedrich Adler, the assassin of Dr. Karl Stuergkh, premier of Austria, should have been tried by a civil instead of military tribunal, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen today. Consequently, it is added, the death sentence imposed upon Adler will not be carried out.
