WEALTHY MANUFACTURER KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

Firemen Discover a Double Tragedy at New Rochelle, N. Y.

Nicholas Smith Shot His Wife, Set Fire to His Own Home to Hide the Crime and Then Shot Himself While Insane.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A double tragedy, believed by the police to be a murder and suicide, was discovered early today by firemen who were called out to subdue a blaze in the home of Nicholas Smith, a wealthy manufacturer of New Rochelle.

It is believed that fully one hour and a half elapsed between the time Mrs. Smith was shot to death as she lay sleeping in her bed and the firing of the house which completed the tragedy.

The Victoria, May Queen and Hampstead have now wound up their season and the Dominion will come down Monday day to lay up.

There has been considerable produce piled along various routes but it is reported to have been pretty well cleared out.

Another evidence of the urgent need of a bridge to connect the east and west sides of the city was manifested this morning when, because of the heavy fog, the ferry steamer Ludlow was off the route until ten o'clock.

The board of health books show eleven deaths during the past week from the following causes: Two each from pneumonia and heart disease, and one each from consumption, diphtheria, scarlet fever, congestion of the lungs and fracture of the skull.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Mount to Walter Myles, will take place at St. James church on Monday evening at five o'clock.

Mrs. H. W. Hopper was hostess at a very enjoyable thimble party at her home, Princess street, Friday afternoon.

There is likely to be further delay in regard to the dredging on the west side. It appears that in the darkness last night one of the machines thrust out an arm

IMPORTANT CASES IN POLICE COURT TODAY; GORDON CASE TAKEN UP

TWO YEARS IN PENITENTIARY Judge Wedderburn Disposes of a Wife Beater in King's County Court.

HAMPTON, N. B. Nov. 23.—(Special)—At the court house this morning under the Speedy Trials Act in the criminal side of the county court of Kings county, Judge Wedderburn heard the case of the King on the complaint of Emma C. Bonnell of Westfield against Frederick W. Bonnell, her husband, charged with willfully refusing to support Dorothy M. Bonnell, his three-year-old daughter.

The evidence of Mr. Bonnell who was married to the accused thirteen years ago at Greenwich by the Rev. John M. Shaw and who has borne him six children all living, brought out such a strong case of desertion, neglect, abuse, and cruelty on the part of the accused and such unblinking entreaty in asking her to condone his offences, while practically admitting that he was guilty of the crime, that he was allowed to go to his home and to his wife, and to warrant the judge in declining to hear further testimony of other court witnesses.

IS CHARGED WITH PROFESSIONALISM MONTREAL, Nov. 23 (Special)—A tremendous sensation has been caused in Rugby circles here by the announcement that information has been had before the Intercollegiate Athletic Association charging Nicholas Bawlf, of Ottawa College, a full back, with professionalism.

MONTREAL STOCKS MONTREAL, Nov. 23 (Special)—The stock market was better today, but the pending liquidation situation this morning.

THE WEATHER Forecast—Moderate westerly winds, fair and cooler.

AFTER DR. PUGSLEY Sir—A consensus of opinion is, that if Dr. Pugsley does not meet the wishes of a few members of the old Liberal party, he will find that they will make it hot for him when an election is brought on.

NEW YORK BANK STATEMENT Reserve on all deposits decreased, $ 438,850

THE FERRY SERVICE Another evidence of the urgent need of a bridge to connect the east and west sides of the city was manifested this morning when, because of the heavy fog, the ferry steamer Ludlow was off the route until ten o'clock.

THE HOME COMING Mr. Hiram Hornbeam is in a mood to rejoice that his barn and his cellar and his pastures are filled, and that he is a citizen of Canada.

MORE TROUBLE There is likely to be further delay in regard to the dredging on the west side. It appears that in the darkness last night one of the machines thrust out an arm

THE GORDON CASE TAKEN UP

Continuation of the Major Gordon Case followed, when Frederick Roberts was examined and stated that Major Gordon had been in the store last week, and had bought a pack of cigarettes from the defendant.

THE GORDON CASE TAKEN UP Continued. The defendant, Major Gordon, was asked if he had bought a pack of cigarettes from the defendant, and he replied that he had.

THE VOICE OF THE HEART

By Owen Oliver.

Hallucination of an Author Led to His Meeting a Charming Girl.

It is strange enough that you cannot minister to a mind diseased. As a specialist in mental cases, with a hundred wonderful "cures" to my credit, I still say that but a hallucination upon some particular point is not so uncommon as laymen think.

"Of course it is!" I assured him. "But it's the foolery that I've got to cure you of."

"BRICK'S TASTELESS"

It is an extract of fresh cod livers, containing all the virtues of pure Cod Liver Oil without the nauseous grease, combined with Phosphorus in the form of the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, nutritious Extract of Malt and the Fluid Extract of Wild Cherry Bark.

"For years I was annoyed with dandruff and itching of the scalp, all due to my twenty years of theatrical life with its inevitable 'make-up' and wig wearing. At times the itching of the scalp was intense. All remedies failed me until I tried Herpicide, and I soon found that it was giving wonderful results. The itching and also the dandruff, entirely ceased and my hair resumed its natural life and vigor.

MR. PUGSLEY'S EXPLOITS

The result of the Liberal conventions in Queen's-Suburb and in York county naturally suggests reflections upon Dr. Pugsley's skill as a provincial leader in federal politics. It cannot be said that the result is entirely in line with the sanguine hopes and predictions of the ministers' political friends. As a promoter of harmony he has not been a success.

CONCERNING THE PRESS

Taking note of the fact that in various parts of Canada there is a protest on the part of leading papers against being regarded as mere party hacks, the Victoria Colonist remarks that the change is significant, and that there is great need of it. We quote:

"We have in Canada newspapers which are not conducted in this principle and they are not all on one side of politics. They can see nothing good in their opponents, they can find nothing wrong in their friends. They dare not applaud a judicious act on the part of those whom they oppose, lest they might possibly influence some one in their favor; they dare not urge their own friends to take any course lest by so doing they might embarrass them. Such papers have very little influence. Still less influence have those dealing with personalities."

Pointing out that a great responsibility rests upon the press to elevate the tone of public opinion, the Colonist expresses regret that the duty is too often disregarded, and so the tone of public sentiment is lowered. "We hold," says the Colonist, "that, when corruption can be established, it ought to be, and it should be pressed home upon the guilty parties without mercy; but when it cannot be established it ought not to be imputed. We do not believe an election was ever gained by that sort of thing; but we do know that the tone of public sentiment has been lowered and wrong impressions of life in the Dominion have been spread abroad."

The Colonist's remarks are worthy of attention. There is a fippant as well as a grossly partisan spirit noticeable in the utterance of a portion of the press, which tends to lower the tone of discussion and create the impression that public honor and private virtue are impossible in public life. No more mischievous impression could be cultivated in any country. It is for the press to hold up a high standard and insist that public men shall measure up to it or retire to private life. As the Colonist observes, the number of papers which are independent of partisan political influence is increasing. It is a hopeful indication.

1892-3 AND 1907-8

When President Cleveland came into office in 1892 the conditions in the United States were somewhat similar to those now existing.

"There was a fear of tariff revision, so the manufacturers were apprehensive. They began the process of slowing down. Labor was thrown out of work. The Sherman silver coinage act was in operation to the detriment of financial conditions. And the crops were disappointing. The outlook was not assuring. Gold had already begun to flow from the country." Cleveland suspended the operation of the Sherman silver coinage act, and in 1893 "authorized the issue of $50,000,000 worth of bonds and their sale to a syndicate of bankers, so that the currency might be expanded for the general good."

"Crops are abundant; business conditions are sound. As a financial institution the United States government is sound. It is not in want of money. It has money to loan. In 1893 the government had reserves of all of $100,000,000. Now it has nearly a billion dollars. The country is ten times richer than it was in 1893. Yet there is a stringency of currency. There is hoarding through a loss of confidence. That loss is unreasoning, but it operates to contract the currency at a time when there should be expansion."

"Again the government comes to the rescue. President Roosevelt has authorized the issue of $50,000,000 of Panama Canal bonds and $100,000,000 of treasury certificates that there may be a $150,000,000 expansion of the currency. Perhaps he has even strained a point in the matter of the treasury certificates. But it will relieve the situation.

"This also is heroic. It is done with a full appreciation that it may lead to criticism and condemnation. It may be that the personal reputation of another man also as honest a man as ever lived will be assailed, but it is right. And when history is written, it will be justified, just as the act of President Cleveland has taken its proper place in history."

There are two more vacancies in the house of commons. Mr. Belmont of Ottawa and Mr. Archie Campbell of Centre York have gone to the senate. Mr. Belmont's appointment has seemed a foregone conclusion for many months past, and that of Mr. Campbell will no doubt recognize him to the choice of Mr. Graham instead of himself for a cabinet position. Mr. Dan Derbyshire, ex-M.P., also goes to the red chamber. He has been a strenuous partisan for many years, and a favorite target for political opponents.

Three good party men have gone to their reward. May they rest in peace.

Hon. Mr. Fielding wants the Intercolonial kept in good politics. Of course he means Liberal politics. This appears to be a frank admission of a desire to take advantage of the opportunities afforded to operate the road with an eye to political advantage as well as business results. The Intercolonial should be taken out of politics.

The rush of people out of the United States is an indication that the industrial situation in that country during the winter is expected to be somewhat serious for the average wage-earner.

When the man who sells liquor in a Scott Act town can be sent to jail without the option of a fine, even he himself must confess that it is not a good business for a self-respecting citizen.

THE MOONEY CLAIMS A declaration of estin in the suit which B. Mooney & Sons are bringing against the city in connection with the Loch Leomond extension work was served yesterday on the recorder by Powell & Harrison, the plaintiffs' solicitors. The amount claimed is $25,000, in respect of section 4, where the dam is situated. The action, which is at common law, is confined to this section, and it is understood that equity proceedings will be instituted at a later stage dealing with the claim on section 3.

The case will be tried in St. John on the second Tuesday in January, before a jury. The city has now twenty days in which to file an answer to the declaration.

One mother happily expressed her opinion of Baby's Own Tablets when she said: "there's a smile in every dose." In homes where the Tablets are used there are no cross, fretful, sickly children. The Tablets make children well and keep them well. They cure indigestion, colic, constipation, diarrhoea, teething troubles and all the other minor ailments of childhood. They can be given with absolute safety to the new born child, for the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that the Tablets do not contain one particle of opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. Isn't such a guarantee worth something to you, mother? The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 25 cents a box.

A FELLOW'S MOTHER "A fellow's mother," said Fred the wise, "with his rosy cheeks and merry eyes, 'Knew what to do if a fellow gets dirt. By a thump or a bruise, or a fall in the dirt. "A fellow's mother has bags and strings, Rags and buttons, and lots of things, No matter how busy she is, she'll stop To see how well you can spin your top. "She does not care, not much I mean, If a fellow's face is not always clean; And if your trousers are torn at the knee She puts in a patch that you'd never see. "A fellow's mother is never mad, But only sorry if you are bad, And I'll tell you this if you're only true She'll always forgive what'er you do. "I'm sure of this said Fred the Wise, With a manly look in his laughing eyes, 'I'll mind my mother, quick, every day, A fellow's a baby that don't do that way.' M. E. Sangster.

Unique Sea-Going Railway Line Being Hurried to Completion—Major Part Will Be Put Into Operation Next January—One of the Most Interesting Feats of Engineering Since Canada's Transcontinental Highways of Steel Were Built.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—From Canada to Cuba by Pullmans which, through a considerable portion of the journey will run above the surface of the sea is a promise of the near future. In the early days of next January it will for the first time be possible for Canadians to cross the United States by an all rail route to the West Indies, journeying from Miami southward along the line of the Florida Keys and thence by car ferry a short distance across the straits to Havana. This achievement of building a sea-going railroad—which is, perhaps, the most interesting feat in construction since the great Canadian transcontinental highways of steel were built—is now well along. Already a temporary terminal has been chosen from which steamers connecting with trains will very shortly begin to ply to Havana, 115 miles distant.

fill for the roadbed could be secured on the spot. On the various islands this has been obtained by excavating and breaking up the coral rock which gives a gleaming white roadbed. Where the line crosses the open water the necessary filling is obtained by the use of huge pumps which suck up sand from the bottom of the sea and drop it into the fill. The temporary terminal of the sea-going railway and the one at which passengers board at first take boat here to Havana, is 108 miles below Miami, and 47 miles the side of Key West. From here to Havana the distance is only 115 miles, or about 25 miles further than from Key West. The place has been selected not only because it is the point to which the line has already been completed, but because a safe and commodious harbor is at hand. The essential purpose in starting the trains to Havana is to run earlier than the date originally set, so it has been explained, to get the road into operation as soon as possible, and have it carrying something instead of allowing the completed section to remain idle and unremunerative for another year.

Hon. W. S. Fielding Says He Wants the Road to Remain Under Government Control.

Truro, Nov. 22.—Hon. W. S. Fielding spoke to a large meeting this evening. He said the eleven years of Liberal government was not an anglic government, but a human government. It has not been perfect; some mistakes have been made and there so many employed were here and there one may go wrong, but as he had said in Halifax these were only drops in the bucket as compared with the general prosperity.

BROKE OUT OF CELL IN GLACE BAY JAIL

Thompson Ryan Forced His Way to Freedom With a Plank. Glace Bay, N. S., Nov. 22.—Thompson Ryan, who was arrested at Dominion No. 4 last night for assaulting his mother-in-law, made his escape this morning. It was a daring one. He tore the bunk out of his cell and used the plank bottom of the bunk as a battering ram with which to break through the brick roof of the cell. He forced one end of the sideboard of the bunk over the iron frame of the cell doors so that it was supported as a sort of scaffolding across the cell. By climbing up on this board he was enabled to reach a hole in the roof and pulled himself through. Police officers caught eight of him in the woods today but were unable to capture him.

Trade Talks--The Structural Ironworker

One of the trades that has obtained the greatest importance within recent years is that of the structural iron worker--a trade born of the steel sky-scraper, the steel bridge and all building operations in which steel is the fundamental material. It follows that, as steel is growing supreme in all pretentious building construction, the demand for men in the structural iron trade, except in the depth of winter, continues great.

The ironworker, riding a steel beam high in air or perched with his pneumatic hammer on the twentieth story of a skeleton skyscraper, has quite naturally come to be regarded as being in one of the most dangerous of trades and one that has the highest mortality. This is not borne out by statistics--and is probably due to the fact that all accidents in this trade are spectacular. It is, of course, true that the workman who is careless will find death here quicker than anywhere else from falls.

Two virtues of the trade lie in the fact that apprenticeships are short and the wages paid while learning are comparatively high. Men who feel that they are too old or have too many family expenses to start as an apprentice and learn a trade, may find an opportunity here.

Apprentices usually range in age from 21 to 25 years of age, and are paid about 25 cents an hour for an eight hour day under favorable conditions. In many cases the hours are slightly lower and the wages smaller, yet the week's envelope of the ironworker's apprentice is usually fatter than his fellows in other trades.

He has also the privilege of taking an examination after serving only two months--though usually apprentices wait six months before undergoing this ordeal. In the circles of organized labor, such an examination is conducted by union officials and consists of the making of various kinds of knots peculiar to the trade, rigging up block and tackle, together with technical questions about the various uses of steel structures he must work on. He usually has the privilege of taking an examination every month until he graduates as a journeyman ironworker. Even before this time, at the option of the foreman, he may make the same wages as a full-fledged ironworker.

The wage paid to an ironworker averages about $4.50 a day in the larger cities. It, however, scales down as low as $3 a day on out-of-town contracts. One apprentice is usually allowed to every four men. The subsequent or "pumper" gets 20 per cent. more than his fellow workmen, and the foreman, who must have an accurate knowledge of plans and specifications, averages about $10 a day. In the large centres, the housesmiths, who handle ornamental as well as structural iron, are a better paid branch of this trade.

Foreign Facts

The British Museum contains books written on oyster shells, bricks, tiles, bones, ivory, lead, iron, sheepskin and palm leaves.

England spends $10,000,000 a year repairing highways on that little island. Yet France has the best roads of any country in the world.

In the British Museum is an atlas of the world made five hundred years ago and which stands seven feet high. It is believed to be the largest book in the world.

New Zealand, which has an official death rate of a trifle less than twelve persons in the thousand of population, must rank as one of the healthiest countries in the world.

England was first in the world's trade until 1868. In that year the United States for the first time took the lead of the entire world, beating Great Britain by $100,000,000 on trade totals and we have since always kept in the van of commercial rivalry.

As many as 36,000 people have been crowded into England's great church, St. Paul's cathedral. This was when galleries of wood were built in every niche and corner of the building. The ordinary seating capacity of the main auditorium of St. Paul's is only 4,000 people.

The Royal Marines of England are the only sailors in the world who do not take off their hats to their superior officers. The Royal Marines remove their gold-trimmed hats only when King Edward himself passes them in review and when attending church.

Clothes and the Man

"What shall I wear?" is usually a perplexing question for the average man, whether he has only two suits of clothes or a dozen. A woman may be depended on to know what she should wear, whether she has the clothes or not. Though present day men show no desire to return to the plumage and lace of earlier days, the fact is realized that a well-dressed man, above all, a properly dressed man, is a commercial asset not only to himself, but to his employer. To be well-dressed does not mean to be "got up regardless," any more than it does to ape the fop. Here are a few hints that may prove valuable.

BUSINESS BELIEFS.

Would you save money. Watch the little leaks.

Don't believe too much--work it out for yourself.

Keep taking in new ideas--keep working and thinking--and nobody will want to outstrip you.

Learn to read men and their actions correctly. In business it is worth while to know where your man's mind is every minute of the deal.

Growth by Billions

We say we are prosperous and gloat lovingly over the fact, but even the student of facts and figures may well be staggered by the figures that indicate the immense interests under community control. For instance, if deposits in the national banks of the country have swelled from $1,950,000,000 in 1895 to $5,000,000,000 ten years later--the fact tells a concrete story of the country's progress. The number of national banks have nearly doubled in this period, which is within the memory of our age.

Depositors in savings banks have increased over seventy per cent. in this period and now number over 8,000,000 persons who have over $2,000,000,000 drawings interest. The number of tons of freight carried has doubled during this period, and every ton of freight means labor. Think it over--and the wildest dreams of the financial alarmists will not disturb your confidence.

Great indeed is the difference between "wishing" and "winning." Many a brainy man has failed because he has had his wishbone where his backbone ought to have been.

D. Wood, of Pense, Sask., will net $12,000 from his crop.

A Cemented Gothic Design

Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

This house has been built and has proven to be in its completion a very model for a modest home. It is not large, being 30 feet in width by 27 feet in depth, exclusive of the broad piazza across the front which is 9 feet in width. It cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $8,500.

There are three chambers in the second story with ample closets, large bath room and a very attractive stairway, broad and liberal, well lighted with a handsome window on the platform, lighting the second story hall and in full view from the first story.

The reception room or living room is 12 feet in width by 20 feet in length, with a den at the end the same width by 7 feet in depth separated only by a columned archedway. The beauty and arrangement of this room, taken in connection with the stairway cannot be improved, except only as it is enlarged and made more expensive. The woodwork in this room including the staircase and vestibule is finished in fleamish oak with beam ceiling. The dining room is golden oak, the floor also in oak. The chambers are finished in white enamel with doors stained mahogany red.

The attic is arranged in one large room for amusement hall, amply lighted with space to make one servant's room in addition to the amusement room if desired.

The outside of the house is finished in Portland cement with rough cast surface and the window casings, cornices, etc., are painted a light cream color with the shingled roof in dark green, the outside cemented surface being carried up to the grade line without the showing of stone work, this is not only economy, but looks extremely well in the design. The style of this house and its general treatment is well adapted to a warm climate in which case there would be no basement and open panel-work would be carried around the house below the first floor and under the piazza.

Peter Pry's Philosophy

Life is too short to ever have a long party. "Try again" is a poor motto compared to "Do it now." Accept a 25 cent gift and it will cost you $5 in the end.

Some men are angels in public and hob-nob with the devil in private.

Bolts and bars will not help you to keep wealth, if common sense is lacking.

When a man who grieves because he has been rejected by a giddy foolish girl, really does not appreciate his good luck.

No man can be a leader of men who is ever, under any circumstances, satisfied with second place in anything.

The Model Kitchen

BY BEATRICE CAREY.

New ideas in house building have done much toward improving the kitchen of the present day, but even if one's house is not a new one, a great deal can be done toward making a kitchen attractive as well as hygienic, at a very slight cost. This was what it was thought that only the wealthy could afford kitchens that show a dazzling whiteness, in spotless enamel and porcelain, but now modern dwellings of the better class are fitted with openwork plumbing, and the old galvanized sink is replaced with one of enameled iron with nickel pipes. Ranges are fitted with cupboards for carrying away the smoke and grease from cookery, and instead of unsightly wall paper, there are plain patterns to be had in various designs of tiling. Painted walls are even preferable to the tile paper, and when the expense does not have to be considered the lower part of the wall can be done in white tiles to the height of the ordinary wainscot, with the wall painted or done in glazed washable paper above.

If the kitchen is very dark or is in an apartment where the light is from an air shaft,--as is often the case,--it will be found that if white or yellow paint is used for the walls the room will look much lighter, although where there is plenty of light and sun, the blue and white kitchen is hard to improve upon.

There is no reason why a kitchen should be a scullery. The maid will be happier and more contented in nice surroundings, or if you are your own maid, there is an even greater incentive toward making the environment attractive. One very pretty kitchen recently seen in a suburban house was planned on the blue and white color scheme. The woodwork was white enamel, the walls being covered with washable white and blue tile paper. There was a broad plate rail, also in white enamel on which were placed various designs in blue enamel, done in windmill designs or in imitation of delft ware. On a small shelf was a clock and a candle stick with a broad saucer-like base, and a few old blue plates stood on edge between

Gowns and Wraps of Cloth

BY DOROTHY DALE.

Although broadcloth is always fashionable, this season it is especially in vogue, and there is more variety in the broad-cloth fabrics than ever before. In former seasons, the plain, one tone weaves were the general thing, but the manufacturers have brought forward many novelties, in use. It is a great mistake to save such useless stuff, as a rule they are beyond repair and a kitchen can never be neat when there are any useless articles harbored.

An excellent idea is a splash board for the sink. The constant drip of faucet and the woodwork backing of the sink is pretty well moistened, and is apt in time to rot the wood. Get a piece of good pine board about one foot wide and cut it to a length five or six inches beyond each faucet. Paint the board to match the woodwork surrounding the sink and hang it by screw eyes that suspend from hooks in the wall.

If a piece of marble can be found, it makes an excellent pie board and both for cleanliness and results, one that is much superior to the wooden board. Sometimes the marble from an old wash stand or mantel can be used, or a section of new marble can be bought at a marble yard for the price of a wooden board.

Glazed Chestnuts--Blanch the chestnuts, letting them remain in the water longer than usual. Dry the nuts, then take them one by one on a skewer and dip them into sugar and water that has been cooked over a very hot fire without stirring. Lay the nuts on an oiled paper to cool. Remove the syrup from the fire when it seems thick enough. If it becomes too cool let it stand in hot water.

Even the light colored broadcloths in light blue, Wedgewood blue, mulberry, pale gray, mauve and such tones are made on this severe tailors' style, and the result is undeniably smart, an effect of elaborateness being given by the other details of the costume and especially by the hat which is worn.

Women who are especially remarked as being well-gowned understand this important point--in that a smarter effect can be gained as a rule in any daytime gown by selecting the plainer coat and skirt models and having the suit made by a thoroughly reliable tailor, who understands the art of "cutting." When a modish hat, trimmed with plumes or feathers, white or chambray gloves, and a lace stock or cravat are added to the costume, and the boots and other details are well looked after, the effect is most attractive, especially for afternoon wear.

The skirts of all street gowns are made short, although they are cut a little longer than last season--about two or two and a half inches from the ground is a good length.

The illustration shows three good models in cloth--the figure to the left being sketched after a costume designed for street wear with a little fur outer wrap. Black broadcloth was used, the skirt being gored and trimmed with small buttons made of the cloth, and two stitched stripes about the lower part. The bodice trimming was arranged to give a sort of Princess effect, when in conjunction with the skirt, and consisted of rows of the buttons and inset pieces white, braided in shaded colorings and black. The chemise and understeeves were of batiste and lace.

The middle figure shows a carriage or evening wrap of broadcloth, the high turning military collar of black velvet being very smart. Two little gold ornaments were used on either side of the collar and

Correct Dinner Service

BY SARAH GRANFORD.

There are so many inquiries in regard to correctness of detail in the serving of more or less formal dinners that the following description of the serving of a dinner for six is given with the hope that his suggestions will prove helpful. Place it folded in the center of the table; open it carefully until it lies double lengthwise, its middle fold in exact line with the center line of the table. If this initial precaution is not taken, the whole appearance of the table may be spoiled. The coffee set outside the table and the table set one plate at each side, let the maid set two at each side, equidistant from each other and the end of the table. The cold dishes remain on the table until after the oysters and soup have been served. On each plate lay a napkin, the corners all pointing alike on each plate. At the right, beside the plate, lay as many knives as the course will require; the spoon for soup outside the knives, the oyster fork last, across all, its point resting on the plate's edge.

At the left of each plate lay all the other forks to be used with or without knives. The smaller silver should be in exact line with the table edge, all pointing to the right, stand the water glass and whatever glasses may be required for wines, the smaller glasses around the larger.

Flowers or a jardiniere of ferns should occupy the center of the table, but when neither of these can be had, a dish of fruit, tastefully arranged with green leaves, may be substituted.

When soup is served by the hostess, a large napkin should be laid at her place for the tureen to stand on. Place the soup ladle across the front of the tureen, its handle toward the right. A dish should also cover the other end of the table, for the carver, the carving knife and fork being placed before the bowl. A cloth should also cover the other end of the table, for the carver, the carving knife and fork being placed before the bowl. A dish should also cover the other end of the table, for the carver, the carving knife and fork being placed before the bowl.

Chairs should be placed as soon as the table is laid. Shortly before dinner is announced put the dinner table in the napkins and fill the glasses with fresh water, with a little cracked ice in each before pouring in the water.

The coffee set should be on the sideboard or side table, a small tray also with the sugar bowl and cream pitcher, as all do not drink black coffee. Chairs should be placed as soon as the table is laid. Shortly before dinner is announced put the dinner table in the napkins and fill the glasses with fresh water, with a little cracked ice in each before pouring in the water.

The third figure shows a rock of old pink cloth, the blouse stitched in platts and with a taffeta yoke with soutache and cord trimming. The plastron was of Irish linen.

The Care of Lamps

Few people understand the proper care of lamps, and find them a tax to their pocket, but if a lamp is properly looked after, it will give a good clear light without odor--if there is absolute cleanliness as to burner, wick and chimney. Do not leave the care of the lamps until they are needed at night, for this is dangerous, and never clean lamps on a table where food is prepared but have a special place for the work. Spread several newspapers over the table or shelf and upon these set the various parts. Some housekeeper think it better to wipe off the burned portions of the wick instead of cutting it. The main thing is to remove it evenly. Any pieces of wick dropped on the burner will cause an odor when the lamp is lighted. About once a month the wick should be removed and the wick boiled in hot soap suds or a solution of washing soda. Wipe the inside of smoky chimneys with tissue paper before washing them. Care should be taken that they are thoroughly dry or they will break easily when heated. When first lighting a lamp keep the wick low to allow the chimney to heat gradually and do not leave it immediately after lighting it. Many a ceiling has been runed by a smoky lamp. Each day clean every part light with a brush and a piece of chamois. Lift the top of the burner and see that the small air holes in the burner are not stopped up with dust or charred wick. This is often the cause of a dim light and an ill-smelling lamp. If a lamp is constantly used, it should be filled every day, the wick trimmed and the burner wiped off, the chimney and shade also being looked after.

MONGTON LIQUOR SELLERS MUST SERVE TERM IN JAIL

Supreme Court Dismisses Appeal From Sentence of Magistrate Kay—Dealers Announce That They Will Go Out of Business.

Fredrieton, N. B., Nov. 22—The supreme court this afternoon delivered judgment in a number of cases, several of which were of considerable importance. For Moncton Scott act cases, argued at the beginning of the term, were disposed of in a manner which is likely to be disappointing to the defendants. In each case the rule nisi to quash the conviction made by Police Magistrate Kay, was discharged, the court being unanimous. This means that defendants can now be called upon to serve out a sentence of thirty days' imprisonment recently imposed without the option of a fine.

Wonderful Miracles Worked By Dr. Hamilton's Pills

Learned Physician Astounded by the Increasing Numbers of His Cures. Halifax, N. S., Aug. 20.—That unusual knowledge is possessed by Dr. Hamilton is evidenced by the statement of Mrs. MacLeod, of 514 Campbell Road, of this city. For years this lady suffered with torturing reeling headaches that could only be allayed by strong narcotics. "Different physicians," she states, "failed, so I decided to see what Dr. Hamilton could do. I purchased a few boxes of his Manly and Butterworth Pills and their use immediately gave the most grateful relief. Headaches and their depressing influence left me. Spots of fainting weakness, long hours of sleeplessness, fear of nervous collapse, all these disappeared after treating with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My restoration to vigorous health is complete and no remedy could do more than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterworth." By searching out all weak spots, by enriching the blood, nourishing and purifying the system, Dr. Hamilton's Pills work marvels for the sick and weak. 25 cents per box at all dealers. Bradford, England, has now got a municipal public gymnasium. "It is meself

The EDISON PHONOGRAPH

THE secret of a happy home is entertainment. Home should be the most entertaining spot on earth for the family, and it can be for the very small amount of money which an investment in the Edison Phonograph would mean. Mr. Edison's Phonograph supplies the entire entertainment. It will sing, render any kind of instrumental music or talk. It is a marvelous reproducer of every kind of sound and especially of the sort of sounds which, combined, produce music.

If you haven't seen the new Edison model with the big horn, by all means go to the nearest Edison store and see, and more especially hear, it. It's a wonder in its way. Descriptive booklet on request.

December Records Out Monday

WHILE it has been hard to make a Record of just the right consistency to be durable enough to stand loads of wear and at the same time delicate enough to give the most perfect rendition of sound, yet Mr. Edison has produced by his secret processes the most perfect Record for Phonographic use that has yet been made. Go over the list of December Records, check off those you would like to hear and then go to the nearest Edison store and hear them. This is the way to get all the pleasure out of your Edison Phonograph.

There was a good attendance at a dramatic performance given last evening in St. John's hall, Fairville, by the St. Rose's Dramatic Society. The play was A Town In Maine, and the parts were well taken, and the stage settings quite elaborate. J. O'Toole took the honors, while a number of amateur vaudeville artists from the city entertained with specialties between the acts. C. P. R. steamer Mount Temple, Capt. Boothby, sailed from Antwerp Nov. 20 for this port with a general cargo. At a recent meeting the Liberals of Westfield parish elected the following delegates to the next provincial government convention: F. W. C. Nash, George Crawford, James A. Lindsay, substitutes, A. Z. McKennie and Edward Whibley. Mr. Nash, who presided, was elected vice-president of the Liberal Club of Kings county, to represent Westfield parish. Dr. McVeay says Westfield is the first parish to organize and that it is now ready for the fray.

William Burns, aged 17 years, was arrested last night by Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen on a charge of stealing $5 from the house of Mrs. Joseph Matthews, 33 Queen street. Mrs. Matthews identified the youngster, who finally admitted the theft.

Steamer Westport III, Capt. Byard Powell, is on the Bay of Fundy and St. Mary's Bay route again, her machinery having been thoroughly repaired at Yarmouth. Her hull has been painted black, which is thought by many to be a great improvement in the appearance of the boat and is certainly very appropriate for her route during the winter months.

Chester Martin, of this city, and the holder of one of the Rhodes scholarships, received word last evening that he had captured the Brassey studentship at Oxford, which is given for research in some subject connected with the relations of Great Britain and her colonies or with the history of the colonies themselves. The studentship carries a money value and is to be held for one year, but may be continued for two or three years. Mr. Martin is able to carry out his labors wherever he can most readily accomplish the task.

OBITUARY

Roy Lamb
Roy Lamb, eldest son of George and Annie Lamb, died suddenly at his home, Perry's Point, Kings county (N. B.), Nov. 19, aged nineteen years. Beside his father and mother he leaves two sisters and one brother to mourn his loss. Although he had been in poor health for some time, his death came as a sudden shock to his friends in the community. Much sympathy is extended to the family in their sad bereavement. He was a faithful attendant of the Perry Point Sunday school, and Temperance Lodge, always cheerful and ready to aid the cause of good. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Mrs. Mary J. Wallace
At Brown's Falls, on Saturday, the 16th inst., Mrs. Mary J. Wallace passed away. The deceased had been in poor health for some time, and her death came as a surprise to her friends. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her loss is deeply felt. Her funeral will be held at the Presbyterian church, Jukib, and was largely attended.

Howes-Chase
A well known young couple of Queens county were united in marriage by Rev. David Hutchinson at 41 Douglas Avenue via Eliza Smith Howes, of Lakeside, Queens county, N. B., and Miss Orla Jane Chase, also of Queens county. The ceremony was witnessed by quite a number of relatives and friends of the young couple. Immediately afterwards they drove to the boat on their way to their future home in Lakeside.

TUNISIAN SAILS FOR ST. JOHN
Halifax, N. S., Nov. 22—(Special)—The Allan liner Tunisian arrived this morning. The steamer experienced very bad weather for three or four days, but the last two days fine conditions prevailed. She had on board 936 passengers, made up of thirty sailors, 116 second class, and 211 steerage. Among the cabin passengers were three nuns going to Lewis, one of whom is a sister of Sir Adolphe Cocon. The Tunisian left tonight for St. John.

CHERONEA AT HALIFAX
Halifax, Nov. 22—(Special)—The Battle liner Cheronea arrived here tonight with her deckload of fine wood shingle. The steamer was bound from a southern port for Hamburg.

Portland, Nov. 22—A marine disaster was reported Friday by Capt. W. A. Turner of the schooner Marie Turner. On Monday, Nov. 18, when one mile from Seal Island, off the north coast of New Brunswick, she ran aground on her beam ends and with topsails set. Capt. Turner was unable to learn her name. The boats were gone, but he thought they might have been washed away. The schooner was light. The crewlet in a message to navigation.

GEORGE ROBERTSON AND THE BEGGER

Mr. George Robertson, who has just left the storied sea of political life for a snug anchorage in the Government Savings Bank in St. John, was a prominent man in public affairs for many years. He was defeated as a candidate for parliament, was for four years Mayor of St. John, and was elected two or three times to the legislature, boards of trade, exhibitions, public meetings of all kinds, were familiar with his pleasing face and resonant voice. He was a successful man of business before he got into politics. About thirty-five years ago when he was keeping a retail grocery in King street, a poorly clad old woman entered his shop and asked him to give her a little tea. Are you Scotch? asked the grocer. No, sir, I'm Scotch! she whined. "Of course not, my Scotch woman," said Mr. Robertson, and he handed her a package of the herb that cheers, but not inebriates. Why did you ask her if she was Scotch? questioned a bystander when the woman had departed hastily. Most of the old men who voted against it did not state their objections. This new system, as amended, is endorsed by the board of trade, by numerous unions, such as the painters, carpenters, millmen's, etc. (Thus trade and labor unite in support of the new system as proposed by the commission).

Therefore, I ask you not to put off the consideration of this system until December 5 or 15, as such delay will be sure to push it over the holidays. No subject, not even the dredging, is quite as important as is this new tax system. Each alderman should consider it now, and those voting against it must tell why they so vote. The present unjust act must be swept away, and we ask that there be no more delay. The consumption of small incomes and small rentals will cause a loss of $30,000. This amount will be made up by certain increases. The Street Railway Co. and last year $9,600. Under the new act this company would no doubt pay $15,000; other companies and owners of hotels would contribute much more than that now. The new system will not be perfect, but it is far ahead of the present law, which law to assess would dare to carry out to the letter.

I trust that the aldermen, Messrs. Baxter, Bullock, Christie, Pickett and Willet, who voted on the act last March, will see that this new system becomes law this winter.

I am, gentlemen, very truly yours,
W. FRANK HATHEWAY,
November 23, 1907.

THE NEW TAX LAW

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of St. John:

Your Worship and Gentlemen,—The feeling against the present assessment law was so strong in 1905 that a special commission was appointed to prepare a new system of taxation. This commission, about a year ago placed a new system before you the common council. Copies of this proposed law were handed to every alderman, and the council the board of trade. Committee of the board spent many evenings last winter criticizing the system, making many amendments, all of which were printed and sent to you, the common council. In March last this new system with its amendments was briefly discussed at one of our meetings. Aldermen Christie, Pickett, Baxter, Bullock and Willet voting in favor of the new system. Most of the aldermen who voted against it did not state their objections. This new system, as amended, is endorsed by the board of trade, by numerous unions, such as the painters, carpenters, millmen's, etc. (Thus trade and labor unite in support of the new system as proposed by the commission).

UNTIMELY REMARKS FROM MR. LITGOW

President J. C. Lithgow of the M. P. A. A. A., in an interview, said with reference to tonight's meeting: "I don't want to coax them to come. I am simply going to tell them in plain English the best interests of amateur sport requires that they back up the M. P. A. A. A. If they feel like doing it, all right; if not, I'm not going to coax them. They are their own way and I will issue a bulletin suspending the whole lot. I don't want you to take that as a threat; you know that I can do it."

The expression of such sentiments from the M. P. A. A. A.'s head will not tend to promote harmony. Surely they are ill-advised and untimely. Clubs here won't be driven into any proposition, suspension or suspension.

THE GORDON CASE

The Major Gordon case was resumed in the police court yesterday afternoon, when several witnesses were examined and adjournment was made until 11 o'clock this forenoon.

After Sergt. Ross, Thomas Thompson and Thomas Blair had been examined in behalf of the prosecution, Manuel Conners and W. E. Scully were called for the defence and their evidence showed that when Sergt. Ross arrested the defendant he took him by both shoulders and held his back against the edge of a sharp timber. Conners took Ross by the shoulders and other witnesses testified they saw no trouble. At Major Gordon's request, Conners took the revolver from his hand and passed it over to Mr. Scully, who placed it on the ground.

SCOTT ACT IN HAMPTON
Lakeside Road, Hampton Village, N.B., November 22, 1907.

Editor Times:
Sir—Glad to notice a correspondent from these parts in your issue of 16th. drawing attention to Scott Act matters up here. In the railway town they are doing great work. Why can't we have the lid tight on here as in Moncton. If the lid can be put tight down in a town of 10,000 people. Why can't it be in villages of 1,000? You remarked "Where is the inspector?" Echo answers "where?"

THE TRUANT OFFICER

The nineteenth month of the compulsory education act has been in force have been fraught with splendid results and a great deal of the credit for the better conditions is ascribed to J. Boyd McMann, truant officer.

Mr. McMann has visited no less than 460 families. The teachers report the attendance at school is very large, and citizens with one accord say that the streets were never freer from children during school hours.
