tion that so many of them appeared, by their names, to be of Scotch descent. When introduced to William Downie, he remarked, "Downie, eh, that's a good Scotch name, too."

When questioned about his rumored resignation, Lord Strathcona said that he could say nothing about the matter at present, but his visit to Canada was for purely personal reasons...

From his rugged appearance after the voyage he looked in excellent health, and took a keen interest in everything which was happening, ever to the details of travel, giving a striking indication that his faculties are not in the least decayed, except perhaps his hearing, which is slightly impaired.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Harvey entertained the employees of Mr. Harvey's store and a few other personal friends at their home on Rochester street, last evening. The time was very pleasantly passed with music and games, after which supper was served.

PACIFIC PASSENGER STEAMER SUPPOSED TO BE LOST

Wreckage from the City of Panama Which Sailed With a Large Number on Board Has Been Found on the Shore

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 5.—The fate of the Pacific mail liner City of Panama, which sailed from here on Monday last for Southern ports continues unknown. According to a telephone message from Pasadoro last night, two life rafts came ashore at Wardell Beach, sixteen miles south of Pasadoro, Friday, with oars, boat hooks, a barrel of water, and a box of crackers. Later two more similarly equipped rafts came ashore below Wardell Beach, while off shore wreckage was seen floating. Both rafts were said to be marked City of Panama. It is known that the steamer had some trouble on the bar on leaving here during a gale, as she was stopped there for a time. The City of Panama was commanded by Captain W. W. Nelson, who has a long experience as an excellent seaman. First officer Pillsbury was commander of the Manchuria when she went ashore at Rabbit Island, near Honolulu. There are two other officers, a freight clerk and storekeeper. The crew in all numbered fifty-six.

EXTENSIVE GRAFT REVEALED IN RUSSIA

An Investigation in Department of Agriculture Brings Out Evidence of All Kinds of Corruption

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 4.—Prince Yassichoff has been conducting an investigation of the affairs of the ministry of agriculture since he succeeded M. Stchinsky, as head of that department, and he has disclosed a state of corruption extending over a number of years. Theodore Nikitin, who has been assistant minister of agriculture, through several regimes, who is an old time bureaucrat, and who for long has been in charge of the state forests, has been involved, according to evidence brought out, in the falsification of contracts, in bribery, and in other irregularities. The first department of the senate, to which the result of this investigation has been referred, has resolved, sitting in closed session, that the government must institute proceedings against Nikitin with the idea of removing him from office. This scandal, coming on top of the mismanagement of the famine relief in which assistant minister of the interior, Gurko, is involved, has made a painful impression in court, and seriously embarrasses the cabinet in view of the approaching elections.

The announcement created considerable surprise as Mr. Ross until recently expressed but little religious sentiment. "I believe that the

THINK HE WAS TRYING TO ASSASSINATE STOLYPIN

Stranger Disguised in Army Uniform Arrested at the Von Lantz Furler Service

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5.—At the regular held here yesterday in members of Major General Von Der Lantz, the Prefect of the St. Petersburg police who was assassinated by an unknown young man Thursday, the police arrested a man disguised as an army officer who was trying to get admittance to the church. The doorman noticed that the man did not wear a sword, and inquired his name. The man replied that he belonged to the Semenovskiy Guards regiment. Detectives nearby saw that he was in a plain army uniform instead of a gold-decked coat of the guard. They followed him to regimental headquarters and learned that there was no officer of the name given by the suspect. The police think the man intended to kill Premier Stolypin who was among the prominent persons present.

OPERATOR RESPONSIBLE FOR THIRTY DEATHS

Eighteen Year Old Despoiler is Blamed for Causing the Rock Island Wreck.

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 4.—General Supt. W. S. Tinsman and Division Supt. C. W. Rourke, of the Rock Island R. R., today placed responsibility for the wreck at Volland where more than thirty persons were killed, on John Lynes, the telegraph operator at Volland, where the trains were to have passed. Mr. Tinsman exhibited an application for a position on which Lynes had filed with the Santa Fe Road on Dec. 24, in which Lynes stated that he was 23 years old. Mr. Tinsman said that in his application for a position with the Rock Island, Lynes also gave his age as 23. In Lynes' sworn statement since the wreck he gives his age as 18 years. Lynes is still in custody at Alma.

THAW'S SISTER GRIEVES OVER BROTHER'S CRIME

Lady Yarmouth Has Given Up Her Social Life, Lives in Seclusion, and is in Rather Poor Health

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A cable despatch to the World from London says: Lady Thaw, a sister of Harry K. Thaw, has confined herself in almost nun-like seclusion since her brother killed Stanford White, suffering her anguish alone, cutting herself off from the society of her friends and the brilliant life to which her position as a peeress entitles her, she has grown thin and lost the piquancy of expression that her friends remember in her. Since her tragedy of last June she has not been seen in London, and while at first she politely avoided friends now she has shut herself up in the Yarmouth County seat at Park-Hall, Salford Priory, with no pretence of meeting them. Queen Alexander herself was so touched by the evident anguish of the young Peeress, that she sent a personal message of sympathy to her, through Lady Herford, mother of the Earl of Yarmouth. It is remarked that she has not been outside of the gates of the Priory since the news of the murder was conveyed to her, with the single exception of her trip to Harrogate where she went in the early fall for her health. The Earl of Yarmouth underwent a severe operation on his eyes in London last month, and even then Lady Yarmouth did not leave the estate. Whatever may be the result of the trial of her brother, it is Lady Yarmouth's intention to bring her mother here, and to take her to Italy for three months quite away from the news of the world.

AUCTIONS.

Auctioneer T. T. Lantulum, offered for sale at Chubb's corner, today the freehold property situated at the corner of St. Patrick and Richmond streets. There are two houses on the lot and these were to be sold separately. The highest bidder offered $500 and the property was knocked down to him. When he found out that only one house was given on the bid he cancelled his bid. Mr. Lantulum wondered what kind of a snap the man wanted. The property was withdrawn and may be sold at a private sale.

KITCHENER GIVEN STILL GREATER POWER IN INDIA

Riots Caused by Action of the Authorities in Forbidding the Exercise of an Old Custom in Use by the Pathians.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 5.—And now it is reported that Lord Kitchener is to be given a hand still more free in connection with the military government of India. The troubles in this connection between Lord Kitchener and Lord Curzon, the Viceroy will be remembered by all. It was at that time supposed that the Home Office had done all that could possibly be done along these lines, and the suggestion is made that if things continue in this direction much longer the Viceroy, Lord Minto, will have little real power left except that which clings round the title of Viceroy.

JAPAN IS ACTING UNFAIRLY IN CARRYING OUT THE TERMS OF PEACE WITH RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5.—The dispute between Russia and Japan is everywhere discussed with a measure of anxiety. The Russo-Japanese negotiations began at St. Petersburg apparently under favorable auspices, each party professing a desire to deal with outstanding questions in the spirit of give and take.

Next morning Mr. Halliday found the crisis over. The Kabul traders had suddenly been sent to Mashaad. They had rented a vacant plot of land to which they removed their goods. Not a single package was left on the footpath. The permanent Kabul residents in Calcutta will, however, warn all new arrivals against the practice of depositing goods on public footpaths.

LITTLE PRINCESS WHO MAY BECOME A NUN

DRESDEN, Jan. 4.—The baby girl shown in this photo is the little Princess Monica of Saxony, who may become a nun by order of the king, who is said to be willing to take back his wife, now known as Countess Montignoso on the condition that the girl, who is a natural daughter of Giron, the tutor with whom she then crown princess, should be sent to a convent for life.

THE SHAH OF PERSIA WHO HAS RECENTLY BEEN DANGEROUSLY ILL

LONDON, Jan. 4.—This is the latest photo of Muzaffar-ed-Din, Shah of Persia, who has been seriously ill at his capital, Tehran, for some time and whose death is daily expected. He will be remembered for giving Persia a constitutional form of government.

en of the official bulletins of the government. After his visit to Kasimir the Viceroy proceeded to Rawalpindi and thence to Nizam, where he took part in a grand shooting party, Lord and Lady Minto and the Ladies Elliot together with the large Vieregal following, were taken out by the Maharaja of Elkanir, himself an old hand at the game for a duck shoot in the neighborhood of Hanumangarh. Before sunset they had brought down no less than 553 birds of which 149 fell to the Viceroy's gun alone, and 139 to the Maharajah's. In addition Lord Minto accounted incidentally for a couple of fine buck. Lady Minto and Lady Eileen each secured a black duck and a chikara.

Considerable interest attaches to the announcement that three hundred camel loads of Indian sugar reached Mashaad recently but no details have been given as to the route which the caravan followed. North-eastern Persia has hitherto been a large consumer of Russian sugar which has gained command of the market owing to its cheapness and the facilities for transport afforded by the Transcaspien Railway. The imports into Seistan from Khorasan from India, have been so small as to be scarcely worth attention, and it is therefore remarkable that so large a consignment should have suddenly been sent to Mashaad. It is quite shocked at this latest proof of the Anglo-Indian degeneracy. What the Phoenix said was, "We are given to understand that the long-threatened pamphlet reflecting on the private characters of some forty ladies of the higher ranks of Calcutta society, and whose names are all mentioned at length, is out at last, and has been seen at the club." The only trouble about the pamphlet was that it first saw the light in 1856 and is therefore forty years old.

"Common-sense, not to mention the promptings of humanity and the claims of Christianity dictated to me the creation of moral, social and industrial centres and their adapted appliances for rescuing the victims from the storms of poverty and starvation and from the banes of vice. And the result of the experiment set in motion seventeen years ago is before the world.

An interesting adventure of the King while motoring is just being told in London clubs. The car broke down and his Majesty got out and strolled up and down with Mr. Stonor while it was being put right. The car had come to a standstill just outside a tiny cottage from which a neat old gentleman emerged and begged that the motorists would come inside and sit down. "We are just about to take tea," she assured them.

DOG POLICE OF EUROPEAN CITIES - By W. G. Fitz-Gerald

That a policeman on night duty in a great city would be more respected by criminals if accompanied by a powerful and sagacious dog, is a reasonable supposition; yet it remained for little Belgium to carry out this innovation...

After ten months of trial, the most conservative members of the city council of Ghent became enthusiastic over the new police recruits, and voted more money for dogs to be used in the Faubourg de Courtrai, as well as along the docks and in the wooded outlying sections of the city between Commune de Wondelgen and the Boulevard de L'Industrie...

They are fed twice a day, at seven in the morning and again at seven at night. Their fare is a kind of soup with a little meat, some krum, and a very nutritious biscuit known as "Kneppel". Each ration weighs a little over three pounds...

Stirred orders are given to the men to open the doors from picking up bones or tempting morsels on the beat. Some superb animals were lost before the chief commissioner saw his vicious larynx settled on the diet, which now renders the dogs almost indifferent to delicacies casually found in the night.

Before its first year is over, indeed, the dog is as admirably drilled as the smartest Prussian infantryman. In many cases the central police bureau maintains in its grounds artists' work arranged walls, water jumps and other obstacles, as well as a regular staff of officers skilled in training these dogs. They customarily receive recruits to hearing revolver shots, to making firing leaps exceeding six feet, and to attacking fugitives in the bend of the knee.

Each canine "officer" costs the pioneer city of Ghent a little more than five cents a day. M. Van Wesemael pointed out to me that thirty dog police regulations cost the city only 238 francs a year, and did more than four times the work that would have been accomplished by twelve men, who would have cost at least 12,000 francs.

The night service of the city is now made up of about one hundred and twenty perfectly trained dog police. The city is divided into a hundred and twenty sections, each with a dog police officer on duty. Each of these was to be a fast and powerful swimmer and a man of ready wit and presence of mind...

Copyright. Billy Parker of the Senior Class stood five feet seven inches in his football shoes on the right end, and never enjoyed himself as much as when he was getting a very large sack and a lot of football bumps on his face. Though he had been three years in college he had just one ambition, and that was to keep on playing varsity football...

"That dub Parker, at varsity night end, is a wonder. If the fastest end next year this college ever saw." Tommy Nolan, who took like a red-hot iron, was talking to Billy Parker about the football game they were concerned to win that night when he sat on the window seat in Lawrence and Dickson's pipe that Billy couldn't smoke.

"There's some sense in that for coaches," said Tommy Nolan. "You ought to see him play in a championship game. Why, last year..." And then Billy Parker's shabby blue jersey would be seen skimming down the field under a practice punt, and the crowd of men on the bleachers would sing out "Yes-al! Parker!"

"Now—were you ready? Long cheer everybody in it if you are a Harvard man, you are yelling and waving your hats and wondering if 'Ellie' ever going to stop punching that Harvard line long enough to let Harvard make a touchdown. If you are a Yale fellow, you are jumping to your feet and getting into that joyous song: 'More work for the undertaker!'

"Yale—Yale—Yale!" The sides were dancing Coches very rapidly down the field to each other, ploving through the substitutes. Billy Parker nodded to Dickson, who had a long story, as will presently be seen.

"Yale! Yale! Yale!" The sides were dancing Coches very rapidly down the field to each other, ploving through the substitutes. Billy Parker nodded to Dickson, who had a long story, as will presently be seen.

lines and nodded savagely to Martin, the head coach, who looked from him to Tommy Nolan and then Dickson. Then he pushed him out on the field. In a sudden, knife-like cheer: "Yale! Yale! Yale!"

Charming Neglige Between-Season Sewing

If there is one thing more than another that appeals to the feminine heart, it is a dainty negligee, or, in other words, the beauty of its billowy fluffs and frills—a severe, untrimmed robe for the boudoir is as much an anomaly as a tailor suit in a ballroom—satisfies woman's innate love of pretty things, while the loose-flowing lines are comfort personified.

Now every woman naturally longs to own at least one of these airy and useful garments, but, unfortunately, to buy them is frequently out of the question; for frills to be pretty must be finely made and of good quality—all of which is a costly luxury.

This insertion may be from an inch to two inches wide, and edges the pointed collars and revers, holds in the short, puffed sleeves and outlines on each side the shirred border that heads a deep ruffle at the bottom of the gown. The two lengthwise bands of insertion running from the shirred bustline to this border may be omitted, but they add much to the beauty of the negligee.

NOTES OF EVENING COATS

THIS is the day when every woman must have an evening coat. It may be of fur, of broadcloth, of velvet, of bengaline, of net, of lace, of almost anything, in fact; but a coat she must have.

PARIS NOTES

EMPIRE gowns have evidently come to stay, but the very newest are not cut entirely upon original Empire lines. They are apparently a compromise between the princess and the Empire gowns.

When the distracting thought of clothes is in abeyance, why not, then, start a lingerie negligee for summer just as soon as the holiday excitement has died down? It will give you ample time for the exquisite handwork and dainty extra touches, which so improve the appearance of such a garment.

While dressing gowns and saques usually conform to certain general lines, there is a distinct trend in the advance models for the coming season toward the Empire lines. Almost all of them, too, are of washable materials.

One of the prettiest of the new long negligees, yet so extremely simple that any one could copy it, is that in the upper left-hand corner. It is made in a pale shade of lavender swiss, with a rather large dot around the graceful collar and the sleeves, which are finished in hand-embroidered scallops, is a knife-pleated ruffle of valenciennes lace.

For those who like the fulness lower, the other flowered negligee can be recommended. This may be made even more luxuriously than

Quite different in design, but very graceful, is the third long dressing gown, with its loose angel sleeves and simulated jacket in the short Empire lengths. This is of fine handkerchief linen, trimmed with insertion of alany lace about two and a half inches wide and a lace edging. The fulness is held by grouped tucks below the jacket line, while above the lower row of insertion are graceful sprays of hand embroidery.

The two short dressing saques are absolutely dissimilar, though equally in vogue. The absolute simplicity of the one makes a strong appeal to the woman who likes to achieve dainty results with the least possible work. It is a rather full little saque of light blue batiste falling from a short Empire yoke. For this an ordinary dressing-saques pattern may serve as a foundation.

Its great beauty lies in the arrangement of the valenciennes insertion with its graceful loops. The narrow ruffle may be of the batiste or of lace to match the insertion.

MANY WERE KILLED AT BINGEN, AT BINGEN ON THE RHINE

BINGEN, Grand Duchy of Hesse, Jan. 5.—Forty workmen were buried yesterday in the cutting of a new railway line between Lamsheld and Leinigen. The dead bodies of ten of the men and fifteen injured workmen have been recovered.

EMPEROR WILLIAM WAS ANXIOUS TO TAKE A HAND IN POLITICS

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—The Kaiser hopes to carry the country and capture a "patriotic" Reichstag within six weeks. He has set January 25 as election day. According to trustworthy information trading his picture and virile personality into the fight in much the same way as Mr. Roosevelt interfered in the recent struggle over the Government of New York. Only His Majesty's intervention would have been more along Russian lines. However, he was anxious to issue a laudable manifesto to his people urging them to "vote imperially," and to smash the seditions and unwholly allegiance between the Catholics and the Socialists who appear to be obstructing his path of world-glory.

ESCAPED PRISONER WAS RE-ARRESTED

In the police court this morning James Fitzgerald was charged with being an escaping prisoner from the jail. He was arrested last summer, convicted of assault, and went out on the chain gang. He escaped and only returned a few days ago. He did not act right and was arrested. It was this morning remanded to jail and is liable to a term in Dorchester for escaping from the gang. One drunk that was picked up on the street was fined $4 or 10 days.

TENNIS CHAMPIONS DECIDE TO RETIRE

Doherty Brothers Will Not Play Much More — They Have Been Winners for a Long Time.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A cable despatch from London to the Herald says: It is stated that the famous Doherty Brothers have decided not to participate in lawn tennis international matches for the Davis Cup next summer and it is very possible the only public appearance on the grass next season will be in doubles for the championship at Wimbledon, which they will endeavor to regain from S. S. Smith and F. L. Risley. H. L. Doherty, the English champion, since 1902, does not intend to defend his title at Wimbledon but will play on the French Riviera. While no definite reason is given for their decision to retire, it is understood to be partly the result of recent controversy, which has led to such drastic changes in the personnel of the council, and partly the result of the feeling that there is a period of too strenuous first-class match play. Both brothers have been all the honors possible for Knights of the racquet to achieve. They have been the doubles champions longer than any other pair in the past and have done what no other pair has done in winning the doubles champion of America. Nevertheless, if the brothers carry out their present fixed intention, the outlook for England in the Davis Cup matches, next June, is none too promising as the next British opponents in the order of merit, Messrs. Gore, Rieley and Smith, are none too young. If America should send over her best team she ought to stand an excellent chance of regaining the cup, though they will find a hard nut to crack in the Australian contingent.

KAISERIN RESENTS HOHENLOHE MEMOIRS

Mad With the Old Prince Guilty of Divulging Secrets of the Court

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—The Empress of Germany is specially aggrieved by the frequent mention of her name and her conversations in the famous memoirs of Prince von Hohenlohe. She thought Uncle Clovis capable of such a terrible indiscretion. I cultivate reticence in speech and manners, and I expect every one who talks to me not to misunderstand my reasons. I never willingly give my opinion, either on political or private matters. The Emperor is not justified in suspecting every one of us of bad faith. And I feel inclined to banish pen and ink from my house forever.

FUNERAL OF BARONESS BURDETT-COUTTS

Great Crowd Attended the Services in Westminster Abbey—The King and Queen Represented.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—In the presence of a congregation representative of all classes, the body of Baroness Burdett-Coutts was interred in Westminster Abbey today. The Abbey was crowded. King Edward and Queen Alexandra and the Princes and Princesses of Wales were present. The American Charge D'Affaires, Mr. Carter, represented the American Embassy and the Lord Mayor and corporation attended in state. The streets along the route of the procession and about the Abbey were lined with spectators, who included many of the poorest inhabitants of the East End. There were numerous signs of mourning in the streets. The flags over public buildings were half-masted and the window shades along the route were drawn. The funeral cortege itself was stately, the coffin being unadorned except for a little bunch of sweet scented herbs which were greatly favored by the Baroness. There were no pines on the hearse, which was an open one, and it was only followed by half a dozen carriages containing relatives and close personal friends.

GOLD FIELD FOUND IN HEART OF ENGLAND

LONDON, Jan. 5.—For some time past rumors have been afloat as to the discovery of a gold field in England within 200 miles of London. It has been stated in whispers that the reef is thirty-one miles long, and presents the same characteristics as a Rand reef. All the secrecy has been attributed to the fact that those interested have not yet secured all the options over the land required.

TRAMP IS MISTAKEN FOR FEROCIOUS BEAR

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Great excitement was caused last night in the Rue Bolivar by the discovery of what appeared to be a full-sized bear asleep on a bench. The "animal" was first discovered by a woman who rushed to a policeman and informed him that a huge gray bear was asleep and snoring ferociously in the next street. While the policeman was cautiously inspecting the monster a motor car passed and a driver, who got up and proceeded to walk away on his hind legs. Grasping a stout stick in his hand, the policeman proceeded to capture the animal, when it was discovered to be nothing more than a half-starved man named Justin Faignon, who had recently been discharged from a traveling circus. Faignon explained that as he was too poor to pay for lodging, he used the bear's skin, which had been given him, to keep him warm at night.
