MR. HARTT ON EDUCATIONAL QUESTIONS.

No subject with which the provincial government and legislature have to deal is more important than the school question.

Mr. Hartt's speech, delivered early last week, was crowded out of the hall, but we call attention now to some of his statements and opinions.

In this province there are about 1,700 schools, which are taught by upwards of 12,000 teachers.

Something should be done to remedy this state of affairs and to put something like a "sinecure" on the salaries of the teachers.

Mr. Hartt proposes a plan by which the salaries of teachers should be increased and the school attendance improved.

There will be no crowd land investigation while Mr. Tweedie is head of the government and Mr. Pugsley is attorney general.

SUSSEX, May 1.—The new wagon, recently purchased for No. 1 Hose Co. is being used to great advantage.

NO INVESTIGATION.

The promptness and unanimity with which the provincial ministers and their supporters voted upon Mr. Hartt's motion asking for an investigation into the crown lands administration is a sufficient answer to the pretensions of Mr. Tweedie.

There will be no crowd land investigation while Mr. Tweedie is head of the government and Mr. Pugsley is attorney general.

THE RIGHT FOOD FOR YOUNG LADIES. The right food for young ladies is of the greatest importance to their health. This is not a new thing, but it is a new discovery. You may be absolutely certain. A Brooklyn girl says: "For a long time in spite of all I could do I was thin, skiny and nervous. My cheeks were so sunken that my friends used to remark on how I looked. I couldn't seem to get strength from my food—meat, potatoes, bread, etc. So I tried various medicines without help."

"I often read about Grape-Nuts, but never tried the food until one day something impressed me that perhaps if I would eat Grape-Nuts for my nerves and brain I could digest and get the good of my food. So I started in. The food with cream was fascinating to my taste and I went for it regularly twice a day."

"Well, I began to improve, and now, while on my third package, I have changed to my friends' congratulations warmly; ask me what in the world I have taken, etc., etc. My cheeks are plump and rosy and I feel so strong and well. I sleep sound and I seem as though I couldn't get enough to eat. Thank you sincerely for making Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason for Grape-Nuts.

PETER DEVINE CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER.

Coroner Officials Say That Is What Coroner's Verdict Means.

Inquest in Musquash Tragedy Concluded—Evidence That Devine Hit Mangan, Fell Into Ditch With Him, and Struck and Shook Him Afterwards.

Coroner Berryman and the jury sworn in by him on Monday last to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of John Mangan, who was discovered fatally injured in a ditch near the New Brunswick Southern Railway depot at Musquash April 24th, heard the testimony of eleven witnesses in Knight's hall, Musquash, Saturday. The proceedings are being watched with keen interest.

So far there is little evidence against Peter Devine, the man arrested, many of the witnesses claiming that Mangan and Devine fell from the road to the ditch below while in a clinch. The case will probably be tried this afternoon. All the witnesses examined said that Mangan was looking for trouble and he admitted to Squire Anderson that he was to blame for the affair.

The jury is composed of J. A. Bacon (foreman), Fred Clinch, James O'Connell, John F. O'Connell, Wm. Thompson and Max Anderson. The hall was filled at both the morning and afternoon sessions. Peter Devine, who is charged with manslaughter, is guilty of the assault, was present and seated near him was Daniel Mullin, K. C. Chief of Police Clark and Detective Killen were in attendance the day of the election. It was on the 31st of April. I was acquainted with John Mangan since he was a boy. I saw him here on election day. First saw him at 11 o'clock. There was no trouble between us till about four o'clock. I was coming out of A. Bacon's house and was on the left side of the road. I saw Mangan and asked me to have a drink with him. Mangan had been drinking some. I could see that Mangan was drunk when I saw him. I don't think I drank any more. I had had some drinks that day. John Clark was present. He lives here in the village. I don't know how long he has been there. Mangan walked along with me. I told him I wanted no trouble with him and that I wished to be let alone. He struck me on the head with his hand. It might have been closed. It was on the left side of the road. I asked him to keep away, saying I wanted no trouble.

KNOCKED MANGAN DOWN. He came at me again, but I tumbled him off. We were near the station by this time. Later on he came at me and I tumbled him off. I saw him strike him on the jaw and Mangan fell to his knees. When this occurred there were a number of people close by, but did not notice what was going on. I was encircled. I shoved Mangan over and hit him again on the face. I shoved my foot on the side of his head to keep him down for a while. Patrick King came along and said to Mangan, "Mangan, I said I wanted no trouble and walked away. I went up the road, not knowing what Mangan had done. I don't know of anyone having hit Peter." Peter was from Belmont. I hit M. Peter. I had not seen my brother. He did not know anything about it. I never saw him again. The trouble I had had with this man trying to abuse me. Peter did not say anything at the time. He did not get out of the wagon once. Mangan was coming right for me and was frothing at the mouth like a madman. I was just a little to the westward of the old Musquash hotel on the south side of the road. Peter jumped out of the wagon and placed himself in Mangan's arms.

PETER DEVINE AND MANGAN FELL TOGETHER. They took a turn around and tumbled right over the bank. I am not able to say whether he hit Mangan or not. Peter came up over the bank at once. The horse and wagon were between me and where they disappeared. Peter and I went down to Mr. Bacon's. We left the man in the ditch. I saw he was breathing, so I thought he was all right. Made no effort to resuscitate him. I never saw him again. I don't think Peter had been drinking to any extent. I saw him take one drink. Neither Peter nor I made any effort to find out how Mangan was. Mangan remained in the village till after seven o'clock. It was after the poll closed that Peter and Mangan had their trouble. I don't know of anyone having assisted Mangan. He was a dangerous man, and I didn't bother about him. I did not refuse to have anything to do with him after he was hurt. He was up to too many schemes and was dangerous when he was drinking. He was able to walk more rapidly than I was. There had been trouble between Mangan and me long ago, but I held no feeling against him. Mr. Mullin asked the witness what this trouble was that he had mentioned.

AN OLD ROW CAUSED THIS TROUBLE. The witness—I had a row with him years ago. He had me down and would have killed me but for the fact that he was forced away. I never trusted him after that and it occurred to me that I kept away from him. He was quarrelsome when drunk and would fight a woman as soon as he would a man. I consider it an accident the falling of Mangan and my brother over the bank. I say that so, but didn't actually see how it happened. The horse and wagon was between me and the place where they disappeared.

Dr. Geo. T. Corbett of Fairville gave evidence regarding the finding of Mangan and the treatment of his injuries, substantially as previously reported in the Sun. He stated Mangan was conscious when he first found him, but could not move. He asked Mangan how this thing happened, and he said he did not know. He could only tell me what he was told. Witness thought his failure to tell about the fight and what resulted was due to the fact that he was intoxicated at the time.

The coroner took occasion to assure Dr. Corbett that he had given Mangan good attention. The coroner asked if it was not generally admitted that a person having concussion of the brain from an accident would be a sober one at the moment. Dr. Corbett admitted that this was so, but he did not think this was such a case. If Mangan had been sober and had received the same injury he would have known how to come by the injuries. Witness had heard nothing as to the result of the post-mortem examination. Death was caused by the fracture and dislocation of the first three cervical vertebrae. He thought Mangan under his condition after the first 15 hours would have been able to make a walk with him.

THIS WITNESS DID NOT SEE MUCH. Joseph Crawford said: I live at Five of Waterloo, the parcel of Musquash, and work in the Dunn factory. I was in Musquash election day. I saw Henry Devine that day and Mangan. I saw Mangan and Devine in the polling booth. There were some men with him, but I can't recollect who they were. Did not see Mangan at the time. I saw Mangan and Devine in the polling booth. There were some men with him, but I can't recollect who they were. Did not see Mangan at the time. I saw Mangan and Devine in the polling booth. There were some men with him, but I can't recollect who they were.

Dr. Macaulay—I hardly think so. I had never heard of such a thing. The inquest was adjourned at noon for dinner.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Shortly after 1 o'clock the coroner resumed the hearing. The witness Joseph Crawford was recalled. The coroner asked him if he was not in a position to give more information, but the witness did not seem ready. He was driving on the road about 4 o'clock the afternoon of the occurrence. Alonzo Stevens was with him and another man. He thought it was Peter Devine. He did not see Devine jump out of the wagon and clinch Mangan. The witness had been drinking that day and didn't know who was in the wagon.

SAW THE FIGHT. Albert Moody testified that he was 16 years of age. He worked about the house. He knew Mangan. The afternoon of the election there was a row in the village. Saw Mangan about 4 o'clock that afternoon near the station. He was lying down near the station. He got up, but he staggered. Saw Mangan on the road that afternoon. Saw Mangan and Devine together. Devine had Mangan on the ground. This was on the road which leads down from the main road to the station. He could not say whether Henry Devine hit him when he was down. Mangan got up and followed Henry Devine. It was Peter Devine. Did not see him do anything. Saw him go over the bank. Witness was standing at the gate of the old hotel. Where Peter Devine jumped out of the wagon was 50 yards from where he stood. He stood and saw Mangan and Peter Devine go over the bank into the ditch. There was no trouble till 4 o'clock. About that hour Henry Devine, McCarthy, Mangan and I started to go up the road. It was not long till Henry Devine and Mangan began to talk of an old dispute. Mangan asked Devine if he was satisfied to make it all up. Devine said no. Mangan then insisted that right there was the place to finish it. Mangan pulled off his coat and made at Henry Devine, who was retiring from the place. Devine did everything possible to get away and avoid all trouble. He ran a short distance and I started to follow. Peter Devine followed the face the latter fell to the ground at Devine's feet. Devine and I then left the place. Did not see Devine put his foot on Mangan's head. Witness and Henry Devine walked away, leaving Mangan where he was. When they got to the hotel Mangan rushed up and commenced quarrelling with Henry Devine. By this time Peter Devine put in an appearance. He was walking when I saw him. PETER AND MANGAN CLINCHED. Peter Devine and Mangan when they

WOODSTOCK NEWS. WOODSTOCK, N. B., May 3.—Wm. F. Dibblee died this morning about ten o'clock. About ten days ago he was attacked with paralysis. For a brief period between that time and today he revived a little and it was thought he might partially recover. Yesterday, however, the symptoms of the approaching end became marked and he gradually sank into unconsciousness and passed peacefully away. He would have reached his 83rd birthday had he lived two more months. The greater part of his active life, Mr. Dibblee lived in Woodstock, and for half a century his name and figure were alike familiar to the people of the town and county. About twenty-five years ago he established the hardware firm of W. F. Dibblee & Son, now grown into large proportions and managed by his son J. T. A. Dibblee. Mr. Dibblee was an active Free Mason in his day, having been a member of the charter members of Woodstock Lodge and having filled all the high offices in the order. In political sentiment he was conservative and in religion a member of the Church of England. He was at church on Easter Sunday and up to that time, unless the weather was so severe, frequently attended both morning and evening services on Sunday. He had been church warden and vestryman. Some years ago he retired altogether from active life, although he remained remarkably strong in body and vigorous in intellect, so much so that it was often remarked that he did not reach the century limit. His was an active, strong personality, and his name will long be remembered in Woodstock as that of an upright and successful business man and an honorable citizen. His wife was Miss Barker, by whom Mr. Dibblee was twice married. His first wife was Mrs. Barker, by whom he had two surviving children, George X. Dibblee of Fredericton and J. T. A. Dibblee of Woodstock, were born. His second wife was Miss Clements, who died a few years ago. The funeral will be at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon from St. Luke's Church. The Masonic body, of which deceased was long an active member, will attend in full regalia. As soon as the Salvation Army vacates the Town hall the improvements on the building will be begun. The appropriation therefor having been passed by the council. Repairs are being made in and about St. Luke's Church. The interior will be repainted and generally improved before the meeting of the synod here in July. Arrangements are nearing completion for the entertainment of the clergy, who will attend the synod, at private homes of church people.
