UNDER THE SEMAPHORE.

Transfer Work at Windsor—The C. P. R.'s Chicago Connection.

The Northern Pacific people contemplate the construction of a cut-off line from Red Lake Falls, Minn., to West Lynne, on the boundary of Manitoba.

During the month of June the transfer boats ferried 31,897 freight cars across the Detroit River at Windsor. Of this number the Michigan Central furnished 20,278, the Grand Trunk 10,033, and the Canadian Pacific 1,596. During the busy season the daily average is 1,300 cars.

According to an American railway journal the railroad earnings, as now shown for May, are the most favoroble for several years, and for 124 roads show a general increase of the net earnings of nearly 16 per cent. over the same month last year.

Sir Joseph Hickson, general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, was seen Monday night in connection with a recent dispatch, which announced that the Canadian Pacific Railway had obtained a legal decision confirming their right to obtain an entrance into Chicago. He explained that the legal proceedings referred to were between the Wabash and Chicago and Western Indiana companies, the latter being the company that supplies terminal accommodation to the Wabash, Grand Trunk and four or five other companies entering Chicago. The point at issue was whether the Wabash had the right to bring in the traffic exchanged with the Canadian Pacific without paying additional rental. As a matter of fact the Canadian Pacific does not run its trains into Chicago; they merely exchange traffic with the Wabash Company at Detroit, nearly 300 miles east of Chicago, and the Grand Trunk was not a party to the legal proceedings referred to and did not interfere with any Canadian Pacific rights, real or fancied, which they might possess.

LONDON, July 22.—In the House of Commons Mr. S. Williamson asked, in view of the marked influence of American legislation regarding silver on the price of that material in London, that steps be taken by the Government to secure a full supply for mintage purposes. Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in reply to Mr. Williamson, said that the mint does not speculate in silver. It must, subject to reasonable foresight, purchase according to its requirements.

LONDON, July 22.—In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced that the amount realized through the extra taxation of spirits, which the Government originally proposed to devote to the purchase of licenses, would be now allotted in England and Wales to the county councils for purposes of technical or agricultural education. French Foolishness.

PARIS, July 22.—There is a very stormy time at the Ecole Militaire de St. Cyr, the French West Point. The difficulty arose from the time-honored custom of hazing new cadets, "plebes," as they would be called on the Hudson. The other day, against all the traditions of the school, a nouveau walked into the billiard room. Three or four old cadets immediately put the intruder out, but in doing so the nouveau hit one of his assailants a smart blow between the eyes. The senior classes, furious at this want of respect, took all the mattresses of the junior class and soaked them with water; they also poured water into the barrels of their rifles, poured oil over their clothes and bound two of the nouveaus to a tree and left them there stark naked, exposed to the rain all night long. The senior and junior classes refused to drink their usual champagne together after the review on the 14th. Forty challenges being given and accepted, the 40 duels will probably come off as soon as vacation begins. Meanwhile, the officers have taken matters in hand in earnest and all hazing is to be stopped by force.

Newfoundlanders Have No Taffy to Dispense.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., July 22.—As significant of the irritated feeling against the Imperial Government for agreeing to the modus vivendi without the consent of Newfoundland and the apathy of the colonial officials in regard to the French shore difficulties generally, the Chamber of Commerce has refused to adopt the usual course of presenting the Vice-Admiral on his first visit to this port with an address. It was thought that doing so would stultify them in the present strain with the Colonial Office. Admiral Watson feels the lack of cordiality manifested towards himself and officers keenly and will cut his visit short.

Facing Both Ways.

PORTLAND, Me., July 22.—Senator Hale, in an interview yesterday, said it was the duty of the Republican Senators to stick to the tariff bill until it was completed and passed. It will not necessarily be the McKinley Bill, but will retain all its good features. The first duty of the Republican Congress is to pass a good strong protective tariff bill. The proposition to try and secure a foothold in the South and Central American nations and to get their markets for our goods does not, he said, in any way interrupt the working of the protective system, nor is it inconsistent with a protective tariff.

The Central American Squabble.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The New York Herald says: "Cipher cable dispatches received yesterday fully confirmed the account of the battle between the Guatemalan and San Salvadoran forces. The Guatemalans were taken completely by surprise at the resistance offered and retired precipitately beyond the borders of their own territory. No estimate of the loss of life on their side can be formed, but from all accounts only 30 or 40 of the San Salvador force were killed or wounded. The San Salvador troops did not follow up their advantage, as they had received instructions only to preserve the integrity of their own territory. It is said 2,000 Guatemalan troops are advancing as reinforcements under the command of Gen. Camilo Alvarez himself, the aspirant of Presidental honors in San Salvador, while Honduras troops are marching towards Cojutepeque, near the frontier.

Honduras has declared herself the ally of Guatemala. Nicaragua and Costa Rica will lend San Salvador all the moral and material aid in their power. Orders have been issued by the Mexican Minister of War to invade the Guatemalan territory in case Guatemala should invade that of San Salvador.

At the Springhill, N. S., collieries, no work is being done owing to the strike.

At the iron molders convention in Detroit, R. H. Metcalf, Toronto, was elected chairman of the Executive Board.

The Knights of Labor at Reading, Pa., have begun a campaign in behalf of free text-books in the public schools.

The railroad rules of Switzerland compel all railroads to allow at least one holiday in every three weeks to railroad employes.

The members of the Lathers' Protective Union in Boston have decided to strike for $3 and $3 50 per day. They are now getting $2 50 and $3.

President McLeod has instructed the conductors of the Reading Railroad that they may remain in the conductors' brotherhood if they so desire.

The strike of the boilermakers in Pittsburgh and Allegheny is practically at an end. Of the nineteen shops eight have agreed to the nine hours per day proposition. The others, it is thought, will give up the fight.

Laboringmen never show themselves to better advantage, never indicate their intelligence and superiority more significantly, than when they declare that human needs are not such as to demand of them that they shall go on unceasingly making money for somebody else.—[Chicago Times.

The Knights of Labor and the United Mineworkers will bring suit for damages for the families of the miners lost at the Hill farm mine, Dunbar, Pa. In the case of Superintendent Laing, of the Dunbar Furnace Company, the coroner's jury found him originally negligent in causing the deaths of the miners.

Santa Fe railroaders demand for the freight conductors, 3 cents a mile, overtime 30 cents an hour; freight brakemen, 2 cents a mile and 20 cents an hour for overtime; passenger conductors, the grading system to be abolished and a salary of $125 per month for 3,500 miles; for additional miles 3½ cents a mile; passenger brakemen, $55 a month for 3,500 miles and 2½ cents a mile for additional miles.

A written agreement between General Manager Metcalf, of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and the striking brakemen and switchmen in Louisville provides that the general manager shall thoroughly investigate the demands and complaints made by the men, and at the end of ten days give them a final decision as to what the authorities of the road will do in the way of granting them. The men returned to work under the old rates. The conductors are also promised a full investigation of their grievances.

One of the foreign consuls at Havre has sent out a report in which he compares the condition of the working classes in France and England. He considers that every advantage rests with the Englishman, but he says that the Frenchman gets more amusement at less cost, because he economizes his money, and also that French women are better cooks and managers, and can feed the family on resources that would not suffice for the Englishman. French masons and bricklayers, he says, get 12 cents an hour, and locksmiths, carpenters and joiners about the same; workers in metal have from 12 to 14 cents an hour, and ship carpenters have $1 60 a day. Hours of labor are ten in summer and nine in winter, and rents paid by workmen range from $30 to $50 a year.

The latest developments in the waiters' strike at St. Louis, Mo., seem to be favorable to the strikers. The hotels and restaurants, however, appear to be firm. At a meeting of the strikers the chairman of the Executive Committee stated that negotiations were in progress between the committee and the proprietors of five of the restaurants for the return of the men upon the terms of the union, and that this would be accomplished in a day or two.

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abott in the Forum: Here, then, is the wage-earners' indictment of the wages system: "Every man has a right, because he has a duty, to earn his daily bread by the sweat of his brow. The wage system denies this right to myriads of willing workers. In America, the workingman's Eldorado, nearly 1,000,000 willing workers were thrown out of employment in 1885. 'Inforced idleness,' says Carlyle, 'is the Englishman's hell.' That system cannot be right which turns 1,000,000 of willing workers in rich America into this hell and locks the door against them. Every man has a right to the product of his own industry; under the wage system the greater part of the products of industry go into the hands of a few tool-owners. The wealth of this country has increased during the past quarter-century from fourteen billion to forty-four billion. A careful statistician estimates that the wages of 5,200,000 unskilled laborers were in 1884 less than $200 a year, while the average wages of workmen engaged in manufactures, including skilled laborers, were but $346 a year. That system cannot be right which gives the profits of industry to the few and compels the many to live always praying: 'Give us this day our daily bread.'"

He Was Very Drunk.

DETROIT, July 22.—George E. Dempsey, a colored man living at 395 Rivard street, committed suicide by jumping off the ferry Victoria last evening while the boat was on her 7:30 trip to Windsor. Dempsey was very drunk, and jumping up on the railing exclaimed: "You will never see me in Detroit or Windsor again," and plunged into the water. A second later his hands appeared above the surface. T. H. Smith, of Windsor, threw him a chair and the boat was stopped, but he quickly sank and was not seen again. He was 27 years old and is survived by a widow and two small children. Dempsey, who was familiarly called "Ed," formerly lived in Windsor, but has been in Detroit two or three years.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN.

Twelve Reasons Why Women Want to Vote.

By Alice Stone Blackwell in the Union Signal.

1. Because it is fair and right that those who obey the laws should have a voice in making them, and that those who pay taxes should have a voice as to the amount of the tax and the way in which it shall be spent. Harriet Becher Stowe says: "If the principle on which we founded our Government is true, that taxation must not be without representation, and if women hold property and are taxed, it follows that women should be represented in the State by their votes. I think the State can no more afford to dispense with the aid of women in its affairs than the family."

2. Because it is the quietest, easiest, most dignified and least conspicuous way of influencing public affairs. It takes much less expenditure of time, labor and personal presence to go up to the ballot box, drop in a slip of paper and come away, than to stand all day at the polls offering coffee and entreaties to a miscellaneous crowd of voters. Above all, the ballots would be effectual; the coffee and entreaties too often are not.

3. Because it would elevate and broaden women's minds to take part of the spare time which they now spend on fancy work, wax flowers, crazy quilts and gossip, and devote it to the study of public questions. It would make them more intelligent companions for their husbands, and broader-minded mothers for their children. If women understood politics a man would not be obliged to leave his wife and go down to the store of an evening in order to find some one with whom to talk over the questions in which he is most interested.

4. Because it would increase women's influence. Mrs. Zereida G. Wallace, "the mother of Ben Hurr," lately said, speaking of the exclusion of women from all voice in regard to public affairs: "Think of the effect of this dishonor upon the boys of the land. The mother tries to teach her boy that he must be pure, and temperate, and honorable. That boy goes out from his mother, and the first thing he meets with neutralizes and gives the lie to all his mother's teachings. He says to himself, 'Why, mother says so and so;' but he finds men in high places violating all those teachings, and he begins to conclude that his mother does not know much about it. From that minute the boy discounts his mother's judgment, and though she must still have a hold on his affections, she does not have a hold on him in any other way. There is where you wrong us, gentlemen, and cripple us in training men who will make the statesmen of this nation. If you want us to make statesmen, you must give the women an interest in the Government, and you must count their opinions.

5. Because it would result in the election of better men to office. In Wyoming, soon after the passage of the woman suffrage law a man was elected who was popular with his party, but who was a secret drinker. After his election he grew more careless, went into saloons openly, and was several times seen on the street the worse for liquor. The politicians of his party did not care. When his term was out they renominated him. A man came home from the caucus, and his wife asked him who the candidate was. He told her. "Why," she said, "that man cannot possibly be elected." "Why not?" asked her husband, in surprise. The wife made no answer, but she put on her sunbonnet and went out and talked with the woman next door over the fence. The woman next door put on her sunbonnet and went out and talked with her next neighbor; and so they passed the word all through the town. The women held no caucus, made no public demonstration, but when election day came the intemperate candidate found himself defeated. He knew he had done nothing to make him lose caste with his party, and he could not understand his defeat until one of his lady friends said to him very quietly, "We could not let you back; you were setting a bad example to our boys." In Wyoming, both parties have come to recognize the necessity of nominating their best men, or, at least, not nominating bad men, if they wish to succeed.

6. Because, under our present system, bad women have too much influence in politics. A member of the Michigan Legislature once told Rev. Anna Shaw that if women voted the bad women would have to vote. She answered: "There is a certain row of houses close to the capitol at Lansing, and you know by what sort of women those houses are occupied every year during the session of the Legislature; and you know that their influence is a formidable factor in determining legislation. If women could vote a class of men would be chosen to office who are not so susceptible to the influence of bad women." The bad women are too few in number, in comparison with the good women, to exert much influence merely by their votes. But our public officers are elected by men alone, and are responsible for their official acts to a constituency composed of men alone. Public opinion on social questions is comparatively lax among men. Hence, men of notoriously immoral character are often chosen to positions of high public trust, and they appoint others like themselves. Witness the case of Sheriff Flack, of New York. Such men of course, are open to the influence of bad women, who are thus able to exert a power out of all proportion to their numbers. Let the great mass of good mothers, wives and sisters have a voice in choosing our representatives, and a higher class of men will be chosen, who will not be under the sway of bad women. Women want to vote in order that the good women may have more influence in politics than the bad ones.

7. Because women want to protect their business interests. As farmers need votes in order that they may represent the farming interests, and manufacturers in order that they may represent the manufacturing interests, so women need votes in order that they may represent the interests of the home. For instance: A few years ago the Mayor of Louisville made an effort to enforce the city ordinances against gambling houses. He was met by a petitiom from leading citizens, lawyers, doctors and merchants, begging him to desist, on the ground that his action would injure the business interests of the city. Men who came to Louisville to trade expected to have "a good spree" after transacting their business. If they could not do this in Louisville, trade would go elsewhere. Not long after, the Mayor of St. Paul made an effort to enforce the city ordinances against houses of ill fame, and he was met with a similar petition from prominent citizens, protesting on the same ground—that it would injure the business interests of the city. How many of the wives of those prominent citizens do you suppose you could have got to sign such a petition? Probably most of the men who signed it were not themselves gamblers, or patrons of the other places. But they were business men, their minds were fixed on making money, and they looked mainly at the money side of the question. The mothers, too, were in business. Their business was bringing up the boys and girls to be good men and women. They knew that the gambling houses and similar places interfered with their business—which is really the most important business of all, and the one for the sake of which all the others exist. And every mother of them would have supported the mayor—if she could. But every gambler, every loafer, every man who is absorbed in material interests to the exclusion of moral interests, has a vote with which to intimidate a mayor who tries to do his duty. The good wives and mothers have no votes with which to sustain him. Is it any wonder that city officials so often wink at violations of law, when it is not the shops or factories of a city that are endangered, but only its homes?

8. Women want to vote because politics are so corrupt. For years good men have been trying in vain, unassisted, to purify them. They need the help and co-operation of women. The corruption of public life sets a bad example to every woman's husband; it assails the morals of her son as soon as he steps across her threshold; it takes the tax money contributed by women, and refuses to apply it to purposes which women think most useful and desirable, such as police matrons, and squanders it lavishly for things which women regard as useless or even harmful, such as great quantities of champagne at inauguration balls. It is idle to say that the political world is too corrupt for women to touch it, when it inevitably touches women at so many points. It is as if a man, in a mistaken spirit of chivalry, should refuse to let his wife lift a hand to do any house cleaning, on the ground that the house was too dirty for her to touch it, and at the same time should expect her to go on living in that same dirty house. When she saw her husband and children suffering from the effects of dirt, she would be sure to ask to be allowed to help clean things up. And to fancy that a woman can purify politics better by abstract moral disapprobation than by voting for good men and against bad ones, is like fancying that she could cleanse her house more effectually by frowning at the dirt than by taking a broom in her hand.

9. Because, in the laws now upon our statute books, the reasonable wishes of women are not adequately represented. Witness the laws which license the sale of intoxicating liquor; the laws in relation to the age of consent, which regard a little girl as mature enough to consent to her own ruin at 10 or 12 years of age—in Delaware at 7; the law by which a married mother has no right to her own children as long as she lives with her husband; the law by which the husband can, by will, bequeath the custody and guardianship of the children away from their mother; the law of Massachustts which provides a heavier penalty for stealing a fine cow than for ruining a virtuous woman by fraud and deceit. These laws were not enacted because men meant to be unjust or unkind to women, but because they looked at things simply from their own point of view. That is human nature. If women alone had made the laws, no doubt the laws would have been just as one-sided as they are now, only in the opposite direction. As we need two eyes to get a correct perspective, so we need to have both the masculine and the feminine points of view represented in legislation in order to reach a just result.

10. Because actual and cruel wrongs are every day inflicted upon women, to which woman suffrage would put an end. We have all shuddered over Dr. Kate Bushnell's account of the stockaded dens of vice in the lumber camps of Michigan and Wisconsin, where women are compelled to lead a life of shame against their will. Dr. Bushnell and others who have tried to do away with the evil all testity that the reason such things are allowed to continue is that the officers of the law are in league with the wrong-doers. How long would such officers remain in power if their tenure of office depended in any degree upon the votes of women? No woman has all the rights she ought to want until she has the right to say with authority that such things shall cease.

11. Because it is a maxim in war, "Always do the thing to which your enemy particularly objects." The Brewers' Convention at Chicago passed this resolution by a unanimous vote:

Resolved: That we are opposed to woman suffrage everywhere and always; for when woman has the ballot, she will vote solid for prohibition; and woman's vote is the last hope of the Prohibitionists.

You may persuade a church member that the majority of mothers would vote for dramshops, but you will never make the liquor interest believe it. "The children of darkness are wiser in their generation than the children of light."

12. Because we are more and more coming to realize the truth of Frances Willard's empatic assertion: "The ten commandments and the sermon on the Mount are voted up or voted down upon election day." When such interests are trembling in the balance, every woman must long to cast a vote into the scale that represents purity, sobriety, and honor.

THE MAD DOG.

When spreads abroad the hydrophobia scare,
And people grow alarmed everywhere,
'Tis well to know the signs that indicate
Your cur is mad, ere yet it's all too late.
Rabid dogs I've seen on many a time,
So will describe their case in doggerel rhyme.
For causes of its origin will only say that
One is from bite of infuriated cat.
As oft in winter as in summer season,
And its name of "hydrophobia" has not any reason.
That long before the worst stages have begun
The greatest harm is most often done.
Avoidance of being bitten is better far than cure,
And will save you all that bother of going to Pasteur.

Symtoms: First around as usual he is not
But sleeps for hours in some secluded spot;
Next, missed for one or for two days,
To distant neighborhood from home he strays,
Appears to notice no objects in his track,
Nor for ten days dead crow will he turn back.

* * * *

Heard in some yard between a bark and yelp,
And there distempered looking mongrel whelp,
Who snaps at fowl and bites the hog.
His owner not at hand, a stranger dog
Comes home again, shows signs of gladness
Oft quickly changed to looks of sadness,
Searches hurriedly around, laps water from the pans,
Affectionately licks his master's hands,
But whines as if instinctively he knows
His shortened days are drawing to a close.
No froth upon his mouth as yet, but hark!
There is a strangeness in his bark.
His neck looks thin, a slight fishy stare,
And now be careful not to raise a scare,
Most especially do not him unwisely hit
As it might result in rabid fit,
For with these facts and signs combined
Its the genuine rabies, as you will find,
But when you've safely mounted on the table
Then shout "The dog is mad!" for all your able.

In his last stage he seeks the darkened path
With swollen jaws, his mouth besmeared with froth,
Until within some nook or ditch he lies
Far spent and choking in convulsions dies.

The residents of Simcoe and Brantford, together with two or three in Hamilton, have about $25,000 invested in Port Dover in summer residences, with a prospect of still more capital coming.

Private Dawson has been dismissed from the Dufferin Rifles, Brantford, for insubordination in refusing to sign the roll. This is the first instance of the kind on record in that battalion.

During the quarter ending June 10, P. M. Hare, Tilsonburg, made seven convictions as follows: Disturbing worship, 3; profane language, 1; dangerous lunatic, 1; larceny, 2.

James Lambert, an old and much respected resident and merchant tailor of Sarnia, died a few days ago, in his 63rd year. The funeral was largely attended. Deceased leaves a wife and grown-up family.

The water in the Grand River at Galt this week has fallen to the level of the dam, and but little or none is now running over. It is probable that manufacturers on its banks will soon have to call upon their reserve power of steam.

Brandon Sun: Mr. Morgan, of Ailsa Craig, Ont., arrived in the city on Friday last. This is his first trip west of the Laurentains. He is highly pleased, and if he can only induce himself to return to the effete east, he will carry back a good account.

Mrs. Cliffe, wife of the editor of the Brandon Mail, passed away the other morning after a lingering illness. Much sympathy is manifested by the numerous friends for the bereaved husband. Mr. Cliffe was formerly connected with a Kincardine journal.

David Turner, employed in Still's handle factory, St. Thomas, was putting a belt on a pulley in the factory on Monday with a fork handle. The handle caught in the spokes of the pulley and struck him over the abdomen. It is feared he is badly injured internally.

A. Dale, principal of the Drumbo public school, who was recently fined for alleged excessive punishment of one of his pupils, has published a letter in which he states the castigation was not severe. The fine and costs were collected and paid by a few of the teacher's friends.

The dwelling house of Mr. P. Speardown, Credition, was burned on Monday during the absence of all the family except Mrs. Speardown's mother, an aged lady, who was asleep in bed. The neighbors discovered the fire and carried the lady from the burning building. Loss, $450.

Some time ago "Dr." Levi Tillison, of Dunnville, formerly of Burford, was charged before the St. Catharines Police Magistrate for practicing medicine and was discharged, it being proven that he only professed to be a herbalist. He intends to enter an action for $1,000 damages for his arrest.

Little Willie Duggan, 11 years old, went to Burlington Beach with the Sunday school excursion, and missing the train at 5 p.m. by which the excursionists returned to Milton, set out for home on foot, getting there at midnight. Twenty miles in seven hours was pretty good for a small boy with an empty stomach.

The Arthur Enterprise says: "It is rumored that an elopement took place last week. The principals to the affair were a youth of perhaps 18, a graduate of one of the homes established by Miss Rye or Dr. Barnardo, who has been working for a gentleman here for some time, and a 15-year-old girl named McNeill."

Miss Rose Revell, daughter of R. M. Revell, of Woodstock, carried off five first prizes at the examination for nurses at the Philadelphia training school for nurses the other day. Miss Ethel E. Stark also passed a very creditable examination after one year's course at the Grace Hospital training school for nurses, Detroit.

The recent garden party on the rectory grounds of St. James' Episcopal Church, St. Marys, was the most successful one held there this season. The enterprise of the management in illuminating the grounds with electric light, and the delightful music of the 28th Battalion Band, tended largely to its great success.

Among the appointments to office noted in the Canada Gazette are John Walsh, of Ottawa, to be chief clerk in the Postoffice Department and superintendent of the dead letter branch; G. Rennie, to be inspector of gas and gas meters for Stratford, and Mr. Shanacy, deputy collector of inland revenue, to be inspector of gas and gas meters at Barrie.

Brantford Courier: "During the absence of the Rev. J. C. Tolmie from the manse a few days ago, a number of the ladies of the church invaded his rooms and most tastefully decorated them up with cream lace curtains and cream and blue ornaments. The ornaments and ribbons holding them in place are most tastefully painted and give his rooms a pretty appearance. 'Tis better to be born lucky than rich, apparently."

Judge Wood, of Stratford, held a court at St. Marys on Friday for the hearing of appeals from the assessment roll. The main feature of the day was the hearing of the appeals of the farmers living within the corporation limits, who are seeking to be reduced to a basis equal to the farm lands outside the limits. They succeeded in getting a partial reduction. After the final revision was completed the assessment of the town stood at nearly $1,250,000. The corporation incloses 3,200 acres of land.

The other night at Embro Michael Whiteman went on a spree, and calling at John Blair's house demanded some money which he said Mr. Blair owed him. Payment was refused, whereupon Micheal tore down a fence and allowed 30 head of cattle to get out on the road. Mr. Blair then summoned him before Magistrate Thorne, who ordered him to pay $5 damages and furnish sureties to keep the peace for a year. This he was unable to do, and Constable McKay took him to Woodstock jail.

Mrs. Hollinshead, an old and well-known resident of Guelph, died suddenly on Friday night. She had been visiting at the residence of a friend and arrived home about 9 o'clock and went to the pump for a jug of water. Evidently she became suddenly sick, as she left the vessel on the platform of the pump and returned to the house. Scarcely had she done so before she was heard calling for help, and was found lying unconscious. By the time a doctor arrived the woman had expired. Heart disease was the cause of death.

GLANWORTH.

This is not a large village, but the amount of business done in it is much in excess of some more pretentious places. It is situated on the L. and P. S. branch of the G. T. R., about ten miles south of London, and is surrounded by one of the best agricultural districts in Ontario.

There are two well-kept hotels in the place, one by Mr. Wm. Collins and the other by Mr. John Turnbull, who also has a general store in which he keeps the postoffice. Mr. Albert Abbott is the leading blacksmith, and Mr. A. Scott the carriage builder and wagon maker.

The principal business done in this village is cheese-making and cattle shipping. The cheese factory is under the management of Mr. S. A. Smith, and he says the make of cheese this season will be about 70 tons. That is ten or twelve tons more than last year.

The buying and shipping of cattle and other fat stock is largely carried on by Messrs. J. C. and J. T. Coughlin, D. McPherson and the McPherson Bros.

Mr. Geo. Doan is agent for the ADVERTISER in this village.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE -- A LIVE SUBJECT.

The Province of Ontario enjoys the good name of having sensible Sunday laws, which are sensibly observed by its people. There is no other part of America which stands better in this respect, and with rare exceptions there is no disposition to change the law or the observance. Now and then a newspaper professing to favor the working classes urges that greater license should be given, more especially in the direction of affording opportunities for recreation and amusement, and to that end it is sometimes said that railways and steamboats should be free to carry passengers to and fro as the public may call for such service. Sometimes, too, but more rarely, it is urged that men should be as free to labor on Sunday as on any other day of the week, and that if the owner of a factory or a store desires to work on that day for the public convenience he should be at liberty to do so, providing that his employes are not required to work unless they choose. There is no Sunday newspaper in Ontario, and no street car service with the solitary exception of Hamilton, where the street cars run for an hour or two, though both are established institutions in cities so near our borders as Detroit and Buffalo, and now and again the people of our Province are taunted with slowness and goody-goodiness because they are not disposed to tolerate one or the other. But until the voice of public opinion becomes stronger and more distinct in its utterance in favor of a change we do not believe that the lawmakers of either the Province or the Dominion will be inclined to relax the present laws in any particular, nor will anyone venture to disregard either the laws or the public sentiment which sustains them. Besides, there is good reason to believe that in other countries where Sunday is much more loosely observed as a day of rest a reaction is beginning to set in, and strong demands are being made for such observance of the day as obtains here, in Great Britain and in some parts of the United States. In Germany as far back as 1875 the Socialistic Labor party made the prohibition of Sunday labor one of its chief demands, and has continued to insist upon it ever since. Measures intended to give effect to this demand were several times introduced in the Imperial Parliament, but were always defeated through the influence of Bismarck. Dr. Lowe, the Jewish Liberal, speaking on the subject in 1878, stated that as a physician he had visited more than 9,000 workmen who worked on Sundays in their shops or at their houses, and he found proof that Sunday labor had the most disastrous effect. "In their homes," he said, "slovelinsss and discord reign; the life of the wine-shop has supplanted the family life." The agitation has been kept up in that country, and four years ago an official inquiry was instituted into the extent of the Sunday labor in the various industries, and into its social and economic effects. The results of that inquiry, published in three volumes, fully confirm the statements of Dr. Lowe. It has been ascertained that more than half the manufacturing establishments work on Sunday, although less than half the employes work regularly on that day, while in trade and transport 77 per cent. of the firms work on Sunday, employing 57 per cent. of their hands. As a consequence there is severe competition, with small profits and low wages; one district is the rival of another, and the tendency seems to be in the direction of more rather than less of Sunday work. The effect upon family life, is reported to be serious, and the system is found to be at its worst among the numerous laborers that work in their own homes. In Austria five years ago an agitation in favor of Sunday rest resulted in the passing of a law regulating the hours of labor and restricting work on Sunday to some extent, but the relief has been inadequate. A workingmen's party organized in France a few years ago made "the legal prohibition of more than six days' labor in the week" the first article of its economic programme, and the sentiment in favor of that policy is growing. Speaking on the question ten years ago Louis Blanc said:

> The diminution of the hours of labor does not involve any diminution of production. In England a workman produces in 36 hours as much as a French workman in 72 hours, because his forces are better husbanded. No pains should be spared to make man more enlightened, better and stronger. It is this which constitutes true progress.

A full inquiry into the hygienic, social and industrial aspects of Sunday observance was made by one of the scientific congresses in connection with the Paris Exposition last year, under the presidency of Leon Say, the distinguished political economist. A series of resolutions were adopted, one of which affirmed that no institution is more really liberal and democratic than the Sunday rest, and that all the measures which maintain it, if they provide for the exigency of necessity and mercy, are measures not of oppression but of true liberty, being of service especially to those who most lack opportunities of relaxation and genuine independence. Another resolution emphasized the significant fact that in those countries where religious liberty is most jealously respected the weekly rest is most strictly inforced. And at the Berlin Conference this year it was agreed that a weekly day of rest should be allowed to women, children and all industrial workmen, and that this day should be Sunday. In the United States the observance of Sunday as a day of rest has been influenced by the saloon and by immigrants from the continent of Europe, and in the large cities, and in the Western States there are tens of thousands in every occupation of life who treat Sunday as any other day of the week. But the labor organizations of that country are beginning to show that a day of rest is needed in the interest of the working classes, and there is a strong public sentiment springing up in favor of Sunday observance, mere particularly since the declaration in favor of it made by the recent Roman Catholic Congress at Baltimore. Thus it will be seen that there is a general movement throughout Europe and America for the recognition of one day of rest in seven, so that the laws and the observance as we have them in Ontario are what the countries of the civilized world are coming to. But there is a higher ideal than observance of Sunday as a mere day of rest, and Edward Everett Hale was right when he said that if the institution is to be maintained at all it must be maintained for the nobler purposes of the higher life.

LONDON AS AN ART CENTER,

There are other considerations to be taken into account by a community besides those merely of dollars and cents. We are ambitious to see London the true and worthy Art Capital of Western Ontario. The intellectual pleasures it would give us, the refinement of public taste, the indirect yet palpable promotion of every industry in our midst into which design enters, these of themselves are not inferior incentives. But happily the making of London an Art Center will help us along the material as well as the æsthetic side.

So much for exordium.

Now for the application. Our Art League people reasonably contend that if they are to promote a good display of paintings and works of art at the annual holdings of the Western Fair they should be provided with a suitable building in which to secure proper hanging and lighting of pictures. They propose the erection of an appropriate annex, say 50 feet by 30, the cost of which would be about $1,200. Of this they ask the City Council to contribute $500, the Western Fair Board $500 and the Art League the remaining $200.

We heartily favor the erection of the Art Annex, and trust the City Council will contribute its quota without a dissentient voice.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

—H. M. Stanley's wife is descended in direct line from Oliver Cromwell.

—Cardinal Manning is one of the strongest advocates of temperance in all England.

—Moody is said to be a preacher who does not place grammar above "gumption," nor formalism above faith.

—There is a widespread protest against witnesses being compelled to kiss the usually greasy Bible of the law courts.

—The Salvation Army throughout the world now raises something like $4,000,000 a year, and is extending over all the nations of the earth.

—The City Council majority and the ADVERTISER hold the fort on the Sunday steamboat question. The City Council majority and the ADVERTISER are in the right.

—Rev. Dr. Carman says if the Methodists of Canada would unite for prohibition, marking their ballots along that line, there would be no such thing as legal whisky selling in three years.

—Mr. J. E. Wells, editor of the Canada Baptist, is off on a three or four weeks' trip to the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Wells is a man of strong mental equipment, with solid worth to match. His confreres of the press wish him a restful holiday.

—Now that Stanley has recovered his digestion it is to be hoped his clever wife will shield him from too many society dinners. Letting outsiders feed the lion has never been considered wise by Barnum, and there may be analogies in the social menagerie.

—Here followeth the pith of evidence before the Prison Commission so far: 1. That each considerable center of population should have its industrial school. 2. That enlarged and remodeled jails, capable of affording better separation and classification of young and old offenders, are a necessity.

—Mr. Adam Brown, M.P. for Hamilton, was not sent to Australia as trade commissioner, as at one time intended, but he has been selected as honorary commissioner to represent Canada at the Jamaica Exhibition, which opens in January next. If Mr. Brown is not compelled to make too many speeches he will prove a very good representative.

—Germany has just added 18,000 more soldiers to her army, and increased her military budget by $9,000,000 a year. The total available war strength of France is 4,125,000, against 3,350,000 Germans. The sword keeps ahead of the plow-share in Europe. When will the workingmen and farmers decline to be made food for powder to suit Williams and Bismarcks and Napoleons?

—There is a rift in the lute of the Toronto Vocal Society. This is a musical organization which makes a specialty of unaccompanied glees, part songs, madrigals, and the like. The idea is that of Henry Leslie's famous choir of London, England. Mr. Haslam has made the Vocal Society a musical success, but he is not in tune with "the committee." It is thought harmony will be restored.

—Dr. Landkerkin, M.P., writes eulogistically of Mr. Laurier as leader of the Liberal party. The Doctor's head is level. In mental and moral equipment Mr. Laurier is fully up to the mark. As to those personal qualities which have so much to do with the smooth handling of followers, Mr. Laurier is not excelled by either Sir John Macdonald or Mr. Mowat. If the Liberal party cannot win under Mr. Laurier it cannot win under anybody.

—The prospects of the Western Fair are unusually brilliant. Energetic work by the committee of management, coupled with plenty of advertising, sets the people talking, and that is a good part of the battle for success. The Western Fair, with its attractive programme, is something to talk about, too. By the way, Secretary Browne has already enlisted the good will of many of our Western contemporaries. The merits of the show cannot have too much publicity.

—Several aldermen appear to entertain the idea that they can demand and secure the resignation of Collegiate Institute trustees appointed by the Council whensoever they see fit. There is no law conferring any such power on the aldermen. The Council has the power of appointment, but so long as the Collegiate Institute trustees attend to their duties their conduct is not subject to review, and during their term their seats can only be assailed if they fail to comply with the School Act, with the administration of which the school trustees, and not the Council, are specially charged.

—Edward Blake delivered the judgment of the House of Commons on the Middleton case. He was in possession of all the facts brought out in evidence before the committee, including the confession of General Middleton himself, and his statement of the whole matter was accepted and indorsed by Sir John Macdonald. We see no reason to doubt that the House dealt justly, if not leniently, with the General, and we believe that no amount of banqueting or letter-writing on the part of his friends can persuadethe people of Canada that his offense was a little or a venial one —Toronto Congregationalists are organizing to found sapling churches in the suburbs. That is one view. There are other Congregationalists who think the denomination has fulfilled its mission in the Province, and should unite piecemeal with either Presbyterians, Methodists or Baptists, according to individual preferences. They hold it a serious matter needlessly to divide Christ's church. If Ontario is to present an organically united Protestantism by the year 1900, the union projects already consummated must be followed up without loss of time by new amalgamations.

—Anticosti, the island in the St. Lawrence Gulf on which many a vessel has been wrecked, was offered for sale in the British metropolis the other day, but only a little over $100,000 was tendered for it, and it was withdrawn. Considering the size of the island and the brilliant prospects held out by the speculators who recently obtained control it, this does not seem a very large price. The territory is 120 miles long by 30 wide in the center, narrowing towards both ends. In one part of the Island, there are immense beds of peat and marl, but it has not been made apparent that agriculture could be made successful on the island, hence it has never been settled.

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

NOTHING LIKE IT.

MR. JOAB SCALES, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach and Lame Back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man out of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

WONDERFUL CURES.

FOR THIRTY YEARS.—Mrs. L. Squire, Ontario Steam Dye Works, Toronto, says: "For about thirty years I have doctored for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia without getting any cure. I then tried Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and the benefits I have received from this medicine are such that I cannot withhold this expression of my gratitude. It acts immediately upon the Liver, and its good effects are noticed at once. As a Dyspepsia remedy I don't think it can be equalled."

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE.

HARDENED AND ENLARGED LIVER.—Mrs. H. Hall, Navarino, N.Y., writes: "For years I have been troubled with Liver Complaint. The doctors said my Liver was hardened and enlarged. I was troubled with Dizziness, Pain in my Right Shoulder, Constipation, and gradually losing flesh all the time. All food soured on my stomach, even with the closest attention to diet. I was under the care of three physicians, but did not get any relief. A friend sent me a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and it affords me much pleasure to inform you that the benefit I have received from it is far beyond my expectation. I feel better now than I have done for years."

THE LATE

SIR WILLIAM GULL!

PHYSICIAN-in-Ordinary to QUEEN VICTORIA, the Prince of Wales and ROYAL FAMILY, frequently expressed the opinion "that in

we can do little or NOTHING without COD LIVER OIL and ARSENIC!" (Vide article on Ancillary Phthisis, in Bulletin de Therapeutique, Vol. cix., 1885.)

COD LIVER OIL alone fails to cure, but when taken in conjunction with DR. CAMPBELL'S "Life Renewing" Safe Arsenic Wafers they jointly bring LIFE, STRENGTH, APPETITE and SOUND HEALTH to otherwise HOPELESSLY INCURABLE INVALIDS.

Dr. Cyrus Edson!

CHIEF INSPECTOR of the NEW YORK BOARD OF HEALTH, testified under oath in open court June 11, 1889, as follows:

(Readers will kindly bear in mind that the following testimony taken from the court stenographer's notes of the trial, was literally "wrung" from the unwilling lips of this vindictive witness at the trial of Dr. Campbell, accused by the N. Y. Board of Health of preparing "Poisonous" Arsenic Wafers.)

"Q. Is it not also a fact that this medicine Arsenic) is able in the last stages of TUBERCULOSIS (Consumption) to do what no other one can, strengthen the nutritive function and remove all danger from colliquative accidents? A. Yes, sir; it acts beneficially in those cases."

"Q. Do you know of cases where Arsenic ALONE has been employed SUCCESSFULLY when all other remedies have FAILED? A. Yes, sir."

"Q. Have you ever had an person come to you and complain of being sick or poisoned by the use of them (Dr. Campbell's) Arsenic Wafers? A. No, sir."

I now append the testimony of a GRATEFUL woman, who certifies and is herself a LIVING PROOF of the TRUTH and correctness of Dr. Edson's assertions regarding the action of Arsenic ALONE as a remedial curative!

SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE!

after ABANDONMENT by two eminent BROOKLYN PHYSICIANS!

by the use ONLY of

DR. CAMPBELL'S SAFE ARSENIC WAFERS.

Lafayette avenue (Brooklyn) lady writes Five years ago I was very ill with consumption; two physicians, prominent in Brooklyn, attended me and finally said they could do no more and left me to DIE! Well, THANKS TO DR. CAMPBELL'S SAFE ARSENIC WAFERS, I am Alive and Well to-day. A steady perseverance in their use entirely cured my pulmonary disease. They have done all that you claim for them. Accept many, many grateful thanks. MRS. EDWARDS."

ANOTHER RAPID CURE!

For years my right lung caused me great anxiety, trouble and expense. Finally my physician advised my immediate removal to a warm climate, otherwise, he said, I would die of CONSUMPTION! It was not possible for my husband to remove South, and for a while I lingered undecided what to do, but I grew so weak and emaciated that I finally called, about a year ago, on Dr. James P. Campbell. I was then taking Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, but to no curative end. Dr. C. advised me to continue the oil and to take three of Dr. Campbell's Arsenic Wafers five minutes after each dose of oil. I carried out this treatment for six months, at the end of which time I had ENTIRELY regained my health, strength and flesh and ever since my lungs have been perfectly sound and healthy, as any one may see for themselves by calling on me.

MRS. M. SMITH,
187 West 80th St., New York.
April 7, 1890.

AT DEATH'S DOOR!

JAMESBURG, N. J., April 2, 1890.

DR. JAS. P. CAMPBELL,
220 Sixth Avenue, New York.

DEAR SIR,—You are indeed a public benefactor. But for your INVALUABLE Preparation of ARSENIC in the form of CAMPBELL'S WAFERS I verily believe that "my time here would have been short." Following frequent exposure to inclement weather while absent from home, a racking cough, profuse expectoration, pain in left side and exhausting night sweats harassed me continually. On my return I requested my family physician to give me his candid opinion as to my condition. He said that hasty CONSUMPTION had a firm grip on me, and that nothing but COD LIVER OIL and ARSENIC would save me. He prescribed Norwegian Oil and Liquor Arsenicalis (Fowler's Solution), which in three days landed me IN BED. Next he prepared an EMULSION of Arsenic and Cod Liver Oil, but I could not swallow the nauseating compound. Then as my stomach would not tolerate the Arsenic, he said, "Stick to the oil alone," which I did, but regained neither health, strength nor appetite. One day I read in the New York World of the case of Mrs. John Sibley, who took CAMPBELL'S ARSENIC WAFERS in conjunction with Cod Liver Oil, and in a short time was ENTIRELY CURED. I sent to your office for three boxes of your wafers and commenced by taking two, half an hour after each dose of oil. As no nausea followed, I increased to three and later to four wafers three times a day. In ten days I realized that this combination of remedies "worked like a charm" and that the progress of the disease was at least stayed. My appetite and strength improved daily, my color was natural and in two months I was able to resume much of my daily occupation. Now, a year later, I am entirely recovered and am again well and hearty. I have called several times at your office, but you were absent or engaged. I shall know not rest, however, until I have shaken the hand that (metaphorically) "punched the heads of the N. Y. Scientists (?)" My grateful thanks are forever yours, and if I can aid any sufferer like myself by answering inquiries I shall be glad to do so. Very respectfully yours,

JOHN MOORE.

In advocating the introduction of the above wonderfully CURATIVE system of treating Pulmonary Consumption, Dr. Campbell is simply among the FIRST in perfect harmony and accord with the most advanced clinical practitioners of England and France, as the late Sir William Gull, of London, and Drs. Gepmain, See, Lafage, Labord, Robin and others, of Paris. Indeed, it is the RECOGNIZED treatment in all the great French hospitals, as the Hotel Dieu, Le Beaujon, Le Charite and the different naval and military hospitals, and with results the most ASTOUNDING. The great objection to this method of treatment has been the difficulty of so preparing the Arsenic, as to be tolerated by sensitive and delicate stomachs. In actual combination with Oil or Emulsion, Arsenic makes so nauseating a mixture, as to be less OFFENSIVE to the majority of invalids. This impediment, however, is fortunately entirely obviated by the elegant confections of Dr. Campbell, which never derange even the most sensitive organism. Dr. Campbell claims this combined treatment of Campbell's Arsenic Wafers with Cod Liver Oil, pure, or with Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, RADICALLY CURES CONSUMPTION.

HOW THE WAFERS ACT

Not only by arousing all the powers of the body through Increased Nutrition, but by CAMPBELL'S ARSENIC WAFERS acting also as a PARASITICIDE, "destroying the MICROBES," which according to the researchers of Koch and other eminent pathologists are the undoubted CAUSE OF CONSUMPTION!

TO SUFFERERS! A pamphlet giving a more extended outline of this most efficient known mode of treatment and CURE of PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, with full name and address of invalids literally "SNATCHED from the GRAVE," will be forwarded to any address on receipt of postage only 2c stamp.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

THE TURF

Bay City claims the best half-mile track in the State of Michigan.

It is stated on good authority that Ripple made half a mile at Saginaw, in a private trial in 1:06½.

Fred Archer, the English jockey, from the years 1881 to 1885, rode in 2,971 races, and won 1,149 of them. During a similar number of years—1884 to 1888—Jimmie McLaughlin only won 553 times out of 1,751 mounts.

Bud Doble, who handles the famous young stallion Axtell, says the horse looks more like a race horse than he did last season, having lengthened and lost some of his bulky appearance. He will not be started in public until some time in August.

LACROSSE.

The Brants having previously defaulted the match with the Athletics, of St. Catharines, which was scheduled for Saturday at Paris, was not played.

ASYLUM VS. SOUTH LONDON.

The fourth match of the association series will be played to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon on the asylum cricket grounds between the Asylum Cricket Club and the London South Cricket Club. A keen spirit of rivalry is abroad in the associated clubs, and those who attend will see an interesting game of cricket on perhaps the most beautiful cricket ground in the Dominion. Nothing could be more delightful than the drive to the asylum between 4 and 6 o'clock, and no doubt many lady friends of the cricketers will be present. The South London eleven are Messrs. Booker, Grew, C. S. Hyman, Parnell, Macpherson, J. Pope, J. H. Pope, Tanner, G. Trebilcock, W. R. Wadsworth and Dr. Williams, against whom the asylum will play Messrs. R. A. Bayley, Butler, England, Flynn, T. Gillean, J. Gillean, Heighway, Laird, O'Leary, W. Owens, Thurling and Dr. Beemer. The South London eleven will leave the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets shortly after 1 o'clock and the match will commence at 2 o'clock sharp.

THE TRIGGER.

The Scotch team won the national trophy at the Bisley range (England) by nine points.

The London Gun Club, married and single men, will contest for 100 loaves of bread, to be divided between the two orphans' homes, on Saturday.

The Canadian team's success at Bisley, with Ogg, Smith, Bishop and Hall in the first 100 in the second stage of the Queen's prize, is generally commented on in camp as a good record. The final stage will be shot to-day.

CHESS.

LONDON, July 21.—Blackburne and Lee have agreed upon a draw in the third chess game at Bradford, which was adjourned on Thursday. The fourth game in the contest was played to-day. It was very close throughout, and resulted in a draw. The score now is: Blackburne, 1; Lee, 0; drawn, 3.

SPRINTING.

H. M. Johnson, the sprinter, was reported a few days ago as breaking records at Carson City, Nev. Now he is said to be dying of typhoid fever at Grass Valley, Cal.

Between 200 and 300 people witnessed a "quiet little affair" at Queen's Park last evening. The occasion was the 100-yards dash for a purse of $25, between J. S. Brown and Spence Colwell, both of the city, and well known as first-class sprinters. Colwell led at the start but was overtaken by Brown before he had gone ten yards. The latter steadily increased his advantage and won easily by from eight to ten yards. Time, 11½ seconds. There was considerable betting before the match, Brown being the favorite. Mr. Alexander Davis was the starter, while Messrs. W. Stevens and Thos. Gillean officiated as judges.

THE WHEEL.

Everything is in readiness, and the final race for the Irvine medal will be run tomorrow evening. The contestants—Owens and Lawrason—will start from Lucan at the usual time and finish at the guns in Victoria Park, where a large crowd will no doubt assemble to be "in at the death." Cyclists are excited over the affair, and the general opinion seems to be that a close race will be run. Both the men are in fine trim.

THE OAR.

In the regatta at Duluth Monday in the junior singles, Nettleton, of the Minnesotas, won; Thompson, of Winnipeg, second; Henderson, of Chicago Catlin Club, third. In the junior fours the Winnipegs finished first, with the Duluth, Minnesota, Lurline and St. Paul crews following in that order, but the judges ordered the race to be rowed over on account of fouls. The junior double was an easy thing for the Catlins. The professional double was a two mile struggle, in which the winning crew was to get $1,000, the second crew $550, and the third $350. Gaudaur and McKay were the nearest the shore, Teemer and Hosmer next, Hanlan and Wise next, and Hamm and Ten Eyck last. The start was even but in an instant Gaudaur and McKay forged ahead of Teemer and Hosmer. The crews followed one another quite closely in their order from the shore. The turn was first made by Gaudaur and McKay. A second later Hosmer and Teemer followed them, Hamm and Ten Eyck, and finally Hanlan and Wise. On the home stretch Hanlan's boat got into Teemer's water. Half way to the finish Gaudaur and McKay led Hosmer and Teemer by three lengths. The latter kept three-fourths of a length ahead of Hamm and Ten Eyck, who kept the same distance ahead of the Toronto crew. Gaudaur's crew shot across the line about four lengths ahead. The effort of the last two crews to pass Hosmer's were unavailing, but were almost crowned with success, for there was only a quarter of a length between Teemer and Hamm, and also between Hamm and Hanlan at the finish. Hanlan would have done better had he not lost both his oars for a second a few hundred yards from the finish. The time was: Gaudaur and Mackay, 12:28; Teemer and Hosmer, 12:32; Hamm and Ten Eyck, 12:33½, and Hanlan and Wise, 12:34. Hamm and Ten Eyck, according to Teemer and Hosmer, turned the former crews' buoy and Teemer has entered a protest.

Fire Department Improvements Delayed—A $5,000 Damage Suit Entered Against the City—The Electric Light Question Receives Another Turn Over.

The knowledge of the fact that the City Council would deal with the question of Sabbath desecration, electric lighting and the proposed fire department improvements was sufficient to draw a large crowd of listeners to the Council Chamber last evening. The following aldermen were in their places when Mayor Taylor called the meeting to order: Shaw, Luney, Anderson, Bartlett, Dreaney, Boyd, Garratt, Jones, Skinner, Wallace, Fitzgerald, Moule, O'Meara, Taylor, Heaman and Wyatt.

SABBATH DESECRATION.

The petition of E. Baxter and others, asking that Capt. Foster be allowed to run his boats on Sunday to Woodland Cemetery, was read.

Ald. Boyd moved that the matter be referred to No. 2 Committee; Ald. Wallace seconded.

Ald. Bartlett moved that the petition be filed.

Ald. Jones supported the motion to file the petition. The law was being enforced now, and the Council was in his opinion capable of dealing with the question.

Ald. Luney seconded Ald. Bartlett's motion. The amendment carried on the following vote.

Yeas—Ald. Jones, Wyatt, Moule, Fitzgerald, Heaman, Shaw, Luney, Bartlett, Garratt, Dreaney, Anderson.

Nays—Ald. O'Meara, Wallace and Boyd.

NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE.

Chairman Boyd presented the report of No. 3 Committee as follows:

1. We recommend that the petition for watering York street, from Waterloo to William street, be granted.

2. We have received the following offers for property for fire hall site: (a) Strathy property, corner of King and Clarence streets, 110 feet on King street by 94 on Clarence, with right of way over 13 feet, for $5,000. (b) J. H. Belton, 100 feet on King street by 80 feet on Wellington street, with right of way over 10 feet on King street, $5,000. (c) Dunbar property on King street, $1,750, with a life charge of $15 a year on it.

The report of the committee on electric light matters, as reported previously, was attached.

Ald. Boyd spoke in support of the report, and thought that either the Strathy or the Dunbar properties would fill the bill for the new fire hall building and allow plenty of accommodation.

Ald. O'Meara objected to the purchase of the site or the erection of a fire hall. It was all very well, he said, to erect fire halls in order that visitors may admire a fine building when they visit the city. There were heavy expenses on the city going on at the present time, and as there was a scheme on foot for the erection of a new fire hall in London South he thought that enough at a time.

Ald. Skinner and Jones spoke in favor of putting off the building operations for a year at least.

Ald. Boyd thought that the site should be purchased now as it would be a difficult matter to secure a suitable one in a few years. The fire department was never, he said, found to go beyond its estimates, and the matter should receive a little consideration. The department needed a new ladder truck, and when it came it would be necessary to have a place built for its reception. Two or three men would be killed some day on the old ladders, and then there would be a howl. The ladders would not be used by any respectable builder in the city. He thought that the fire department should receive as much consideration from the Council as the police department.

Ald. Wallace placed himself on record as opposed to the motion to build or to buy land during the present year.

Ald. Fitzgerald moved that the Strathy lot be accepted. The hall had not been improved to any extent for several years and was not in as good a condition now as it was 25 years ago. It would not be desirable, he contended, to spend money on improving an old building which was not in the least suited to the requirements of the department.

Ald. Heaman thought that a new building should be erected as the old walls were dangerous to passers by.

Ald. O'Meara again took the floor and held that the hall was good enough for the city for years to come. If the City Council wanted to practice economy it should let this matter stand over.

The clause was rejected, only four aldermen voting in favor of Ald. Fitzgerald's motion.

The electric light question next called forth the debating talent of the Council. The body of the committee's recommendations was:

1. That the City Council ask the Engineer to prepare plans with respect to lighting the city on the double system of 1,000 or 2,000 candle power lights. 2. That the existing companies in the city be asked to tender for lighting ward No. 6 with 1,000 and 2,000 candle power lights, the condition being inserted that if the city purchases the plant that it can be secured at cost price, the Council having power to cancel the contract in event of the purchasing of the plant. 3. That the committee advertise for a plant capable of lighting the city with 1,000 and 2,000 candle power lights or of both if desired, and also for the lighting of the entire city with both styles of lights for a period of five years.

The Council went into committee of the whole to consider the matter, Ald. Skinner taking the chair.

The first clause was adopted, but the second was struck out after some discussion. The remaining clause was adopted, after which the committee rose and reported the recommendations adopted as amended. The report as amended was then adopted.

NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE.

Ald. Jones presented the report of No. 2 Committee:

1. We recommend that some action be taken by the Council compelling the C. P. R. to take immediate steps to protect the lives of citizens at their railway crossing on Waterloo street at the intersection of Pall Mall street.

2. That the cedar blocking of Dufferin avenue, from Adelaide street to Richmond; Dundas street, from Adelaide street to Fair Grounds, and Cartwright street, from Dufferin to Central avenues, be advertised under the Local Improvement Act; also a drain on English street, under the same act.

3. That in the matter of the Proof Line Road Company we submit the City Solicitor's opinion, and advise that it be carried out.

4. That we report progress on the following matters, viz: Petitions against Cartwright street paving; Richard Vick, for alleged damages sustained; Horton street breakwater, local improvements, frontage tax.

5 That a sidewalk be granted on Wortley road, Ward 6.

6. That the tenders of Wm. Drummond, S. Barfett, and Harding & Leathorn, for block paving, be accepted.

7. That the committee be given power to purchase a new flag for the City Hall.

Clause 1 was adopted without discussion. Ald. Taylor objected to the second clause and called for a vote, which resulted in the adoption of the clause. The entire report as read was adopted.

SHUT OUT.

Three School Janitresses To Be Dismissed—Tenders for Heating Askin Street School.

Number Two Committee of the Board of Education met last night. Members present: Trustees Turner (chairman), Cook, Childs, Craig, Dewar, Brady, Woodward, Overseer Dodd and Secretary Abbott. The usual number of accounts were read and passed.

The applications of Messrs. James Falkner, J. Jack and R. B. Evans for positions as janitors were referred to the Board. It was decided to notify the janitresses of Lorne avenue, Hamilton road and Waterloo North schools that their services would be dispensed with on Sept. 1.

Trustee Childs moved in amendment that the women be retained in their present positions until they showed they were incapable of managing the heating arrangements. Lost.

On Trustee Dewar's motion it was decided to place carpenters' risks as soon as possible on the school buildings now undergoing alteration.

Trustee Childs moved that the Engineer be instructed to call for tenders for the introduction of the Smead system of heating and ventilation into the Askin street school together with the necessary excavation and drainage. Carried.

Tenders were also ordered to be called for cleaning and repairing of stoves, pipes, etc., in the different schools. The committee then adjourned.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

"A FRIEND IN NEED, IS A FRIEND INDEED,"

and to the worn and weary Dyspeptic MALTOPEPSYN is such a friend. It aids the weakened, needy stomach, by putting into it just what it lacks, namely, gastric juice, which aids the digestion of the food, relieves the pain or heavy feeling, and cures the constipation, which usually accompanies all stomach troubles. As you value your future health, avoid Bitters, Blood Purifiers and Purgatives. If your stomach is what is out of order, purgatives will only irritate it, and so aggravate the Dyspepsia. The disease is in the Stomach, so aid the Stomach. Endorsed by physicians. Send 2 cts. in stamps for valuable book to ALLEN MORSE, International Bridge, Ontario.

Finance Notes.

The statement of the chartered banks of the Dominion shows that the notes in circulation increased $1,217,000 during the month of June. Discounts to the public are $153,000,000, about the same as the previous month.

The silver bill has become a law in the States, and as it becomes operative must, within the next six months, result in an increase of from $20,000,000 to $27,000,000 additional treasury notes, which will be legal tenders and available as bank reserves, and will therefore increase the ability of the banks to expand their loans.

The Dairy Markets.

UTICA.

July 21.—The cheese market appears demoralized; the margin of profit is extremely slight, and there seems to be no demand from abroad, while home consumption at the season requires only a nominal supply. Trade was decidedly dull, three buyers being conservative and cautious. The ruling price was established at 7½c as against 7⅝c last week and 7¾c the week before. Transactions were 4 lots, 400 boxes, at 7c; 88 lots, 9,220 boxes at 7¼c; 33 lots, 4,038 boxes, at 7⅛c; 30 lots, 3,675 boxes, at 7⅝c; one lot, 250 boxes, at 7½c; 22 lots, 2,078 boxes commission; transactions same date last year aggregated 19,962 boxes; ruling prices, 7⅞c.

BUFFALO.

July 21.—There were free offerings of cheese to-day. The market was very dull, and the only sale was 1,000 boxes of Cloverfield at 7⅜c.

LITTLE FALLS.

July 21.—Cheese—From bad to worse seems to be the tendency of cheese. The market to-day shows another sharp decline, and the prices are off ⅛c from last week. Transactions: Thirty-six lots at 6⅞c; 54 lots at 7c; 21 lots at 7⅛c; 1 lot at 7¼c and 9 lots on commission; total, 9,653 boxes. Farm dairies: Sales of farm dairy cheese amounted to 905 boxes, and prices ranged from 7c to 7½c, with the bulk at the former figure.

Butter—Four hundred and eighty-five packages of creamery butter sold at 16c to 16½c, with bulk at 16c, and 12 packages of dairy butter at 16c to 17c.

Live Stock Markets.

MONTREAL.

July 21.—The receipts of cattle at the Montreal stock yards were 4,137; sheep, 5,731; hogs, 451, and calves, 121. With rumors from the other side of a slight increase in the demand, trade in export stock has improved somewhat in tone. There is little change in values, but larger sales. Butchers' cattle opened up strong, but with the increased supply weekened towards the close of the week. Sheep are in demand for export purposes, but hogs have fallen off in quality and price. The following are fair values: Cattle, export, 5c to 5½; cattle, butchers' good, 4½c to 5c; cattle, butchers' medium, 4c to 4½c; cattle, butchers' culls, 3½c to 3¾c; sheep, 4c to 4½c; hogs, 5c to 5½c; calves, $5 to $9.

CHICAGO.

July 21.—Hogs—Receipts, 35,000; shipments, 5,406; left over, 2,000; quality of receipts good; market opened weak; 5c decline; light grades, $3 60 to $3 80; heavy packing and shipping lots, $3 65 to $3 80.

Cattle — Receipts, 21,000, including 4,000 Texans; market generally weaker; best natives and Texans no lower; trade active; natives, $3 60 to $4 80; bulk, $3 90 to $4 35; Texas steers, $2 40 to $3 40; native cows, $1 50 to $2 75.

Sheep—Receipts, 7,000; demand good and values firm; sales, $3 50 to $5 25; bulk, $4 25 to $4 60 for westerns, $4 75 to $5 for natives.

EAST BUFFALO.

July 21.—Cattle—260 cars on sale, of which 150 were decidedly poor, and for these the demand was slack. Sellers had to concede 10c to 15c per cwt to make a fair clearance. There was also a heavy supply of stockers and feeders, and on these grades, too, prices were off. Export cattle of all kinds of butchers' above average quality were in demand and sold slightly above market prices of last week. Extra export stock is quotable at $4 35 to $4 65, but $4 50 was a big price for best offering here. Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation; its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 25 doses, 35 cents.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

The great lung healer is found in excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

The Work of the Springs.

The work of connecting the new springs for the addition of the water supply is progressing favorably, and the Engineer expects to have some of the springs connected before the close of the week. The workmen have had some heavy digging on the Colville place and have encountered quicksands and rocks in abundance. The middle of the property has proven the hardest, but the workmen are about ready for the tiles, and they will commence hauling them to-day. Engineer Tracy is putting in about ten hours a day at the work.

Unsavory Surroundings.

After treating his neighbors with unsavory surroundings Robt. Weir, of Westminster, has at last been called to an account for his unneighborly conduct. About a dozen residents of the township appeared before Squire Peters yesterday and testified that the odors arising from the Weir property were unbearable owing to the presence of night soil in large quantities, the greater part of which was still uncovered. Some of the witnesses placed the amount laying on the property as 300 barrels. The case was adjourned until Monday next.

BASEBALL.

THE AMATEUR LEAGUE STANDING.

To the Editor: In the printed statement of the standing of the different clubs in the city in this league the games lost and won by Struthers & Co.'s team are counted, which means that the G. T. R., Alerts, Imperials and Riversides have been credited each with a game won, and the Alerts and Wolverines each credited with a game lost, and the Clippers never played a game with that team, which is disbanded. According to National League rules the games with a disbanded club are not counted in the official score, and I think it is only fair to leave the games which S. A. & Co.'s team won and lost out of it. Hoping to see a correct report of the standing of the clubs, I remain yours respectfully, E. C. HUMPIDGE, Clipper B.B.C.

Pettit of the Milwaukees is winning the unstinted praise of the home papers. According to the Sentinel "it was worth losing several dollars to see Bob Pettit's condensed version of the national game as she ought to be played. He brought forth the Cyclops eye that he and Spalding chiseled out of the base of Mount Olympus on the occasion of their recent tour of the world, and it guided his bat to a single, two doubles, a home run and a sacrifice."

DIANA WENTWORTH.

The moon rose higher, and she could see more plainly. From time to time there came a clearing among the trees, and, stretching away in the distance, she saw glittering white expanses, frozen tracts of water which occur here and there in the forest, now silvered by the light of the rising moon. She looked at them in fascination, with this strange feeling of awe growing stronger and stronger in her heart, until at last the trees grew thinner, the train slackened speed and at last stopped. She saw a kind of shanty and a platform of rough earth frozen hard as iron, and then she hastily looked at her watch; it was already some minutes past the time when the train was due at Jacewo, and she again put her head out of the window and asked a man who was running past if this station was Jacewo. He answered "yes," without pausing or turning his head, and she collected her things and got out of the train.

Her luggage was placed safely on the ground, and the train having steamed slowly out of sight round an immense curve, looking like an enormous serpent, she turned to a group of men who stood near, looking at her with a good deal of curiosity, and, according to her instructions, asked if the Camphausens' carriage was at the station. One of the men shook his head, and when, at his request, she repeated the name, he said he knew it not; he had never heard it before. The other men drew near and took part in the conversation. A few questions, asked in Diana's quick, imperious way, and in German which, though perfect in grammer and structure, betrayed her nationality in accent, brought out the fact that this station was not Jacewo, but only a kind of a small goods station, little more than a signal box; that the train she had left was the last; and that there was no village anywhere near, where she could get either shelter or a conveyance to take her to the end of her journey.

She did not hesitate to reproach the men with their perfidity in letting he leave the train and giving her luggage. The culprit shrugged his shoulders, and, turning to his companions, a sort of council was held, in which the deliberations were carried on in Polish. Diana, being left to herself, also set her wits to work, although she had told the men that, as they had got her into this difficulty, she had left it to them to find her a way out. It had just occurred to her that she might be able to telegraph to the Camphausens and ask them to send the carriage on to her, and she was just going to make the suggestion when one of the men turned to her and said he thought it possible that she might be able to finish her journey at once. It appeared that a gentleman had driven over from Jacewo in the afternoon; it was not known if he had gone back. If he had not, they knew where to find him, and they were sure he would be glad to share his carriage with her; should one of them go and see after him?"

"Certainly," she said; and when the messenger had departed the other men invited her to go into the signal-box until he returned. She was accommodated with a chair by the stove, and sat looking out of the window into the forest. The moon had now risen, and the night was almost as light as day, with a cold, clear light in which the pine-trees looked like ghosts, and the perfect quietness of the place was almost oppressive. She began to believe in the actual existence of bears and wolves, not as likely visitants on this particular night, but as living creatures with an existence outside books. Her companions talked together in Polish, and from time to time addressed her in German. The messenger had already been absent some time, and they spoke openly of the small chance of the gentleman from Jacewo being still in the neighborhood. Fearless by nature, Diana felt no terror at her position; it never occurred to her that these men could have sinister intentions towards her, and she was perfectly ready to intrust herself to the care of the unknown man, whoever he might be, if he was still at hand and willing to be burdened with her. She only felt annoyance at being stopped so near the end of her long journey, for she was tired; and also, having insisted on traveling alone, it was a little humiliating to find herself in this difficulty, and she quickly made up her mind never to mention it to her friends in England.

She was warm and comfortable, and as she sat looking out on the mysterious forest, wondering how the Burlands were spending this New-Year's Eve, and how they imagined her to be spending it, the door opened, and the messenger came in and communicated with his fellows in his own tongue. Then he turned to her and told her he had had a long search for "den Herrn Ingenieur," as he called him, but he had at length found him, and he was perfectly willing to accommodate her in his carriage, which was even now at the door. If she would take her seat in it, he would join her in a minute; he was yet in the forest.

She lost no time; she was out of doors almost before he had finished speaking, and the men followed her and began to pack her luggage. The carriage was a truly aboriginal vehicle, like an immense basket on wheels, filled with straw, and with a plank placed across it for a seat. In front, on a plank to himself, sat the driver, an aged Pole, in sheepskin coat and cap and green woollen gloves. He appeared to have the utmost confidence in his own power of guiding the four small, restive horses which were harnessed to this primitive chariot.

Diana stood looking on at the group of men, who, with many exclamations, and what seemed the exercise of superhuman strength, were getting her boxes into the cart. She was smiling at them in some derision, when, out of the shadow of the trees, a man emerged into the moonlight. He saw her before she saw him, and he stood still for a minute to look at the English girl standing there alone, the spirited bearing of her slight figure noticeable even in the muffling of her long garment, trimmed and lined with fur, which she wore. (It was a parting gift from Mrs. Burland, and Diana had caught it closely round her to protect her against the stinging cold.) This man was accustomed to see and judge at a moment's notice, or even less, and his keen eyes ran over her face and figure, as she stood there unconscious of his presence. He noted everything—the beautiful, proud features, the slight touch of haughtiness in the face, caused by the cutting of her nostrils and lips; the exquisite setting of the head; the resolution and courage expressed in her attitude. Her face was half turned toward him, and he could see both her smile and the brilliance and depth of her eyes. It was a beautiful sight, and, as he looked at her, he muttered:

"Is it possible? There must be some mistake."

What he saw stirred him; there remained yet to hear her voice, and he was on the point of stepping forward to accost her, when the men, having accomplished their task, fell back, and he saw her take out her purse.

"That, too, is an indication of character," he thought, and waited a moment.

She took out a piece of twenty marks. He saw the gleam of gold in her hand, and she gave it to one of the men, saying in German, which surprised him by its purity:

"Divide it among you, and drink to me; it is New-Year's Eve; wish that I may have everything I want in the new year."

"We wish you a handsome husband, Fraulein," said the man, touching his hat,

"A husband? Ah, no,"—with a little laugh—"that I could have; wish me everything I want."

The listener raised his eyebrows and smiled as he heard her. She must be very young. In spite of the dignity of her bearing and her chiselled features, youth was in every line of her face and her figure. She had just been delivered from a very awkward position, and the chances were a thousand to one that she would never set eyes on any of these men again. The little scene showed that heart and hand were equally open.

But he had seen enough. He came up to her and raised his hat, saying:

"You are the lady who got out here by mistake?"

"You are English," she said, turning to him in her quick way.

"Why, yes, did they not tell you? I was told at once that you were a compatroit."

"They did not say what you were; they spoke of you exclusively as "the engineer."

"I am an engineer, and an English one."

"I am so glad! I took it for granted you would be German, and I feared you would smoke—I do so dislike tobacco."

He bit his lip to hide a smile. He liked to hear her speak; her voice was clear and delicate, suggestive of life-long intercourse with people of culture.

"It is so kind of you to give me a seat in your carriage," she went on. "I am exceedingly grateful to you."

"I beg you will not mention it; I am only glad it is in my power to do you any little service. And now, my men," he went on, for they were again occupied with the boxes, "make haste, or the lady will be frozen."

He turned to help Diana into the carriage, saying:

"You had better take your seat at once; it is fearfully cold, and you must be tired. Are you properly wrapped up? What is this made of?" —touching her long mantle.

"It is lined with fur," she answered, just turning up a corner of it that he might see.

"Sit at this side," he said, as she was moving to the other end of the plank, having got into the vehicle with perfect ease and disregard of his offer of help. We shall drive fast, and the wind comes like a knife across the plain. If you keep at this side, I shall somewhat shelter you from it."

The Baby Was There.

At a term of the Sullivan county Court, New York, the other day, the wife of one of the parties to a suit was on the witness stand and had intrusted her baby to the care of another woman, who was caring for it below. The child became restless after awhile and announced its desire to see its mother in notes of unmistakable pathos, which might be traced to hunger. After trying in vain to quiet the child the woman went up stairs and into court, the baby all the time yelling at the top of its lungs. Judge Thornton jumped up and cried: "Take that child out of court." The woman addressed heeded not the command, but continued to advance, and holding the youngster out to its mother over the head of a prominent lawyer, exclaimed with fire flashing from her eye: "Court or no court, this child has got to be attended to."

The Gretna Green of Germany.

Heligoland is, among other things, the Gretna Green of Germany, as will appear from the following further remarks of a correspondent, who recently visited the island: The first is mate of the Cyxhafen, with whom I had a long talk, told me laughingly, how sorry he would be if the island was ceded to Germany. "Because," he said, "we shall get no more champagne treats from the young couples going to Heligoland to get married." "Why do they go there to get married?" I asked. "What, you don't know! Why when the parents wont allow a marriage the young couples have only to go over to Heligoland, where they don t want any license or papers. We always spot them," he added, "and when they come back they have to treat us to a bottle of champagne. Last year 93 couples went across to be married at Heligoland. We shall all lose this little extra now."

The Water Supply.

"How is the city water supply holding out?" was the query propounded by the ADVERTISER representative to a waterworks official yesterday.

"Well, the water in the reservoir is somewhat lower than usual just now, and it is gradually decreasing."

"Do you think the citizens will experience another water famine?" asked the scribe.

"No, I don't; but it would be well if the citizens would be a little more careful and not permit any extravagant use of water until the new springs are connected. It is thought that this will be accomplished in about two weeks' time, and after that there will be plenty of water. They are expected to add 1,000,000 gallons per day to the supply, which will prove sufficient for all purposes. The quantity used at present amounts to 2,500,000 gallons daily."

A Stranger's Impressions.

Mr. Ambrose Archer, her Majesty's vice-consul at Porto Alegro, Brazil, is now on his journey from that country to England via the United States and Canada. He visits his many relatives in this section by the way. He has been in Brazil for the last nineteen years. For that country he believes there is a great future, but on account of circumstances, religious and political, develops slowly. Had it been a British colony, Brazil would have been one of the most important dependencies of the Empire. The revolution changing the country from a monarchy to a republic was planned so adroitly and carried out so quietly that the foreign residents were scarcely sensible of the change. Canadians, he says, have one of the finest countries he has ever seen, with wonderful possibilities, and that we cannot be too thankful or too proud of it. He is on a business trip to New York and Liverpool, of which latter city he is a native, and the headquarters of the firm of Archer, New & Co., Liverpool, and Archer & Co., Porto Alegro, Brazil.

FORESTERS' FESTIVITIES.

Court Middlesex, No. 118, C. O. F., Held Their First Annual Picnic—An Enjoyable Day Spent.

The members of Court Middlesex, No. 118, C. O. F., held their first annual picnic yesterday at Springbank, and an auspicious opening it certainly was. Captain Foster ran his steamer every hour, and the brethren with their friends, accompanied by a goodly number of the fair sex, enjoyed the trip down the Thames. The weather was bright and cool, making the day all that could be desired for an outing. The picnickers amused themselves in various ways, the children with the merry-go-round, and their elders enjoying Springbank's delightful views from the adjacent slope and its shady groves and walks, while the omnipresent lunch basket added zest to the occasion. Another large delegation went down in the afternoon, which was chiefly diverted by the athletic sports, carried on under the direction of High Chief Ranger Ed. Towe and Bros. W. H. Trebilcock, Andrew Ferguson and A. R. Galpin. The programme was an excellent and varied one, the jockey and smoking races being especially amusing. Following is the list of races and prize-winners:

Married men's race, 100 yards—1, A. E. Newman; 2, T. Ridge.
Smoking race, 100 yards—1, J. R. Mitcheltree; 2, J. McDougall.
Three-legged race, 100 yards—1, Mitcheltree and McDougall; 2, Ridge and Newman.
Girls' race, 14 years and under, 100 yards—1, May Davis; 2, Carrie Boss.
Boys' race, 8 years and under—1, Allan Towe; 2, H. Boss; 3, E. Walsh.
Foresters' sons' race, 14 years and under—1, T. Johnson; 2, C. Clement.
C. R. and P. C. R. race, 65 yards—1, Ed. Reed; 2, E. Flock.
Single men's race, 100 yards—1, J. R. Mitcheltree; 2, J. McDougall.
Special ladies' race—Mrs. J. C. Jones.
Girls' race, 8 years and under—1, Jessie Price; 2, Katie Fortner; 3, Carlina Mayer.
Jockey race, 50 yards—1, J. R. Mitcheltree and J. McDougall; 2, R. Thomas and E. Reed.
Married ladies' race, 50 yards—1, Mrs. T. Ridge; 2, Mrs. C. Taylor.
Committee men's race, 100 yards—1, T. Ridge; 2, Fred Price.
Consolation race—C. Colerick.

In the evening a large number went down by the boats. Dayton's string band discoursed sweet music for the dancers, and sundry other festivities were indulged in. The tug-of-war was won by Court Middlesex brethren, captained by Bro. Andrew McCormick.

NOTES.

The summer house on the top of the hill was well patronized. It makes a charming lover's retreat.

Captain Foster stopped his boats at Woodland Cemetery to accomodate some of the passengers.

The members of the court desire to heartily thank those merchants and citizens who so kindly contributed towards the prize list.

Police Constables Crawford, Woolway and McDonald were present to see that order was maintained. They were in plain clothes, and the small boys did not exhibit the customary amount of awe.

Court Middlesex, No. 118, though established only a year ago, is in a decidedly flourishing condition. It now boasts of a membership of 45, and its finances are in good shape.

Following are the officers of the court: P. C. R., John Price; C. R., R. Thomas; V. C. R., Fred Price; S., Wm. Bayly; F. S., James McCormick; S. W., E. Reed; J. W., C. Taylor; S. B., Alf. Thomson; J. B., Thos. Davidson; C., L. Boss; court physician, Dr. J. W. Mitchell.

Microbe Killer—Mr. William Ellis, wholesale saddlery hardware, has secured the western agency for W. R. Adams' Microbe Killer. It is claimed for this remedy that it is the greatest medicine in the world, and since its discovery four years ago has had an unprecedented sale. No less than ten laboratories have been established in the chief cities of the United States and one in Toronto, and the demand is increasing. Full information and medicine at western office, 98 Dundas street, near Talbot.

An Enviable Reputation.

Gentlemen desirous of obtaining the best possible value for their money in cigars should smoke the "Highland Lassie" 5-cent cigar, manufactured by H. McKay & Co., of London. This cigar has been subjected to the most complete tests by the great majority of the smokers of the Dominion, and all of them pronounce it one of the best articles in the Canadian market. Messrs. H. McKay & Co. take a special pride in its manufacture and are particular that none but the choicest specimens of fillers and wrappers enter into its composition. The "Highland Lassie's" reputation is of sufficient repute to satisfy the most skeptical of its worth.
