Acting Finance Minister Tells of Efforts To Save Bank.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 14.—'I don't think tha the policy of recompensing the depositors and taking over the wreck of the bank would appeal to the government," said Commissioner H. A. Mo Ment, Said Commissioner H. A. Mc-Keown this morning, during the Home Bank inquiry. The commis-sioner was listening to argument by R. J. McLaughlin, K.C., one of the R. J. McLaughlin, K.C., one of the depositors' counsel, and was trying to ascertain whether or not it would be possible to discover the approximate amount necessary to meet the depositors' loss. While he was asking questions to this end, the suggestion was made that the govern gestion was made that the govern ment might consider not only reim-bursing the depositors, but also taking over the wrecked bank, and commissioner made the above state-

"Of course, you know more about governments than I do," the corumi oner smilingly remarked to Mr. McLaughlin.
Counsel for depositors agreed that with the affairs of the bank in their present condition, it was almost impossible to determine the amount which would be required to pay the depositors. This was no reason why the commissioner should not declare in favor of such payment, however, it was pointed out by W. T. J. Lee another of the depositors' count White Tells of Check.

Argument was not proceeded with until late in the morning sitting. Hon. James A. Robb, who was acting minister of finance when the crash came, and who was present at the midnight conference between memmidnight conference between memgovernment and Direct Stewart of the Home Bank a few days before the failure, was called to the stand. FIND DRAMA, TRAGEDY HUMOR IN "WANT" ADS

A writer once observed that there is more humor, romance and human interest in the advertising columns of a newspaper than in its news pages. Behind a Classified Ad, there may lurk a story of joy or sorrow. A house or apartment wanted is the aftermath, or it may be the prelude of a wedding. A house or furniture for sale may be the breaking up of a family or a home. The "Help Wanted" columns are the loorway to many an ambitious career. The "Personal" Ads. and "Lost" and "Found" columns bristle with possibilities around which the imaginative man or woman may weave a romance. These reasons should be suffi-cient inducement to all to read the Classified Advertising Section of The Advertiser as closely as the remainder of the paper. In addition, there is the added incentive of knowing that one is likely to stumble on a bargain of some sort in every day's edition.

Lieut. Alexander Williams, the Noted Flier, Points Out Many Dangers on Trip.

WEARY SEA WASTES

Planes Will Keep in Close Formation Following Drastic Orders of Chief.

Special to The Advertiser.

By LIEUT, ALEXANDER WILLIAMS, JR., A. SO. R. C. New York, May 13.—An epoch in flight history will be marked tomor-row when the three army fliers who also have to break the existing re-cord for a non-stop hydroplane flight, which is 792 miles. The feat is a far more daring one than that of the N.C.4, which crossed the Atlantic. Their land machines are equipped with pontoons, but should any accident befall them, they will in all probability be unable to ride for any least to fit in the control of length of time in the rough seaway. Where aeroplanes of the N.C.4 type are seaplanes, built for that purpose and designed to ride the waves and having housing for the flyers that will protect them from the winds, the Douglas, cruisers with their land under-carriage removed, are perched high in the air above their all too small pontoons at the mercy of wind and wave. Men are exposed, and should a forced landing in the open seaway be necessary their hardships will be great. These pontoons are little more than sea sledges, skids designed only for landing in comparatively smooth water, and the planes were equipped with them only because it was impossible to provide adequate landing fields at all of the points that will be touched in the flight.

Weary Sea Wastes.

From the time the planes lose contact with the land until they sight Faramushiri Island there will be nothing to guide them over the weary waste of tumbling sea unless they go far out of their way to the north to sight the Komandorski Islands, Russian soviet possessions. It is all but impossible for a flier to know his position by taking sights on the sun as the sailor does, and therefore e must navigate entirely by dead reckoning.

Relying upon their compasses, which are none too accurate, the cause of many disturbing influences. the fliers will set a compass course for their objective, allowing for the speed of their plane, the twist given it by the propeller known as "Tor," and the speed and direction of the Extremely good time may be made if the wind is favorable, that is directly on the tail of the plane, but in such a variable location this is something that cannot be counted upon, and the flier must be careful to watch for changes in the direction of the air currents, which may be so gradual as to be almost unnoticeable, especially when there is nothing on the ground by which to check a wind change that will make a diference of many miles in the drift of observer in the rear seat of the plane s provided with a detail map, upon which he can check up on landmarks which are designated, but when flying for hours over dull gray water such landmarks are non-existent. Flight maps will be used, however, and as mile after mile is covered the man in the rear seat will endeavor to keep pace on his narrow chart fixed on two rollers which slowly unwind before him a miniature re-production of the terrain over which he is passing. One of the greatest hardships on a long flight of this kind is the deadly monotony. Fliers on long-distance flights have been known to fall asleep, and such a lapse on this trip would be fatal. Following the drastic orders issued by the chief of air service, General Patrick, the machines will keep in close formation. Headed by the Chicago, Lleut, Lowell H. Although the police, who are working on the case in an endeavor to find out the name of the man with the queer idea of humor, have nothing to say as to their investigations, The Advertiser has established the fact that the telephone in the local Conservative Club was used to transmit the messages.

London Tories and their newspaper organ have long been strong on "whispers of death" and it therefore seems quite fitting that the "hoarse whispers" should be breathed into a telephone from the headquarters of the true blue boys who dote on the blue ruin utterances of their one and only Arthur Meighen.

Although the originator of the messages no doubt thinks the whole affair rather humorous, the police do not see the point of the joke, and should the man be discovered, he will face a serious charge under the

Mr. Martin Declares Men Who Own Farms in Fortunate Position.

How the church can build up the province was the subject of an interesting address by the Hon. John S. Martin, minister of agriculture in the Ontario government, at the annual banquet of the Synod of Huron held last night in the Smallman & Ingram dining-room. Rev. Canon Gould, D.D., general secretary of the M.S.C.C., gave the synod an inspiring address on the influence of Christianity on world affairs. Hail to the Woman Who Lived!

Dorothy Dix

Woman Who

The Woman Who Has Always Been Happy and Prosperous Has Only Existed in a Silken Cell-But She Who Has Fought in the Battle of Life Has Really Lived. She Has Touched Life at Every Point.

A middle-aged woman said to me the other day:

"I have had what people call a hard life. I have been through the depths of poverty and sickness. I have known want, and struggle, and anxiety, and despair. I have almy strength. For years I walked burning plowshares of a misle marriage.

I look back upon my life ee it as a battlefield strewn with the wrecks of dead dreams, and broken hopes, and shattered illusions-a battle in which I always fought with the odds tremendously against me, and that has left me scarred, and bruised, and maimed and old before my time.

"Yet I have no pity for myself; no tears to shed over past and gone sorrows; no envy for the women who have been spared all that I have gone through. Rather am I sorry for those women whose lines have been cast in pleasant places and who have never known anything but softness, and ease, and luxury, for I know that all that I have suffered was just the growing pangs of

"For I have lived. They have only existed. I have drunk the cup of life down to the very dregs. They have only sipped at the bubbles on the top of it.

"I know things that they will never know. I see things to which they are blind. I feel things to which they are dead, for happy women, prosperous women, live in a little silken padded room in which they are shut away from all the outside world, and they see nothing but its four walls. They know really nothing of life. They never touch the aching, throbbing heart of humanity.

"It is only the women whose eyes have been washed clear with tears, who get the broad vision that makes them little sisters to all

"This of itself is a compensation for many sorrows, but I have more. I have proved myself to myself. I know that I have the strength to endure and the courage to carry on, and that I will not be craven enough to run up the white flag, no matter what other difficulties I may be called "The skeleton at the feast of the woman who has always been happy and prosperous is fear. She becomes panic-stricken when she thinks that she may be called upon to meet trouble; that she may have hardships to endure; that her soul may be torn with suffering. She shudders with apprehension at the thought of poverty, and wonders how she could endure to go shabby and do with out the things to which she is accustomed. She wonders helplessly what she would do if she had to earn her own living.

"None of these fears, with which happy women torture themselves upon occasion, have any terrors for me. I know them for the bogies they are, and know, too, that they fly away before the person who does not cringe before them.

"I am not afraid of poverty because I have been poor, and I know that poverty has its consolations and brings you pleasures that money cannot "Nor am I afraid of having to support myself. I have earned my bread and butter for many years, I know the joy of work and I know that to a woman just the satisfaction of knowing that she is self-supporting turns her crust into angel's food.

"Often I am tempted to envy the woman who has always had some strong man to stand between her and the world, some man whose tenders and love has guarded and protected her. But I am consoled for not og a clinging vine when I wonder what the vine would do, and think broken it would be if the sturdy oak on which it hangs was laid low.

"I have learned in the great University of Hard Knocks a that no woman who has had an easy to arned to live each day as it comes, and not to borrow dreading tomorrow. It is the dark menace of the future hat makes cowards of us. 1 put that dread from me because experience has taught me that when the time comes that I so fear the strength and wisdom to meet it will be given me.

"Little annoyances have no longer the power to affect me. After you we seen your whole edifice of happiness topple and crash in ruins about ou, it never matters to you again that a servant forgets to put the doilies nder the finger bowls or the cook spoils the soup.

"I have learned not to expect too much of people, and so I can still get appiness out of the friend who isn't quite true to me, or the acquaintance o gossips about me, and I can even find pleasure in the society of those hose motives I see through.

"Above all, I have acquired a sense of humor, because there were so many things over which I had either to laugh or cry. And when a woman can joke over her troubles instead of having hystercs about them, nothing can ever hurt her much again.

"So I do not regret the hardships I have known because through them I have touched life at every point, I have lived. And it was worth the price I had to pay." DOROTHY DIX.

George F. Barrett Declares Diversion Will Not Cause Further Lowering.

Washington, May 13. - George F Barrett, representing the Chicago sanitary district, continued his testimony before the House Rivers and Harbors Commission today in defence of the proposal to draw water sewage disposal purposes.

Reports of engineers, Barrett said, showed that a diversion of 10,000 second feet which if constant for a period of from two to four years from the Great Lakes basin at Chicago would cause a lowering of Lakes Huron, Michigan, Erie and Ontario Huron. Michigan, Erie and Ontario "of from five to six inches and that there never would be any further lowering after that." That point had now been reached, he said.

Protect Your Premises

H AVE you ever figured your annual loss through pilfering, lost time, waste, risk of fire or damage by trespassers, meddlers and loafers, to your premises by inadequate fence protection?

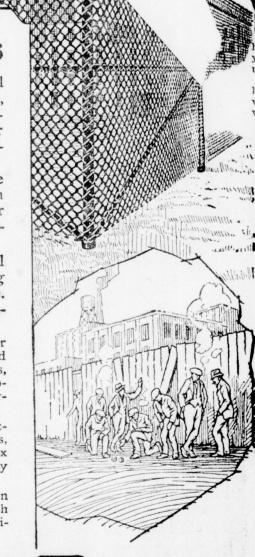

You can erect a 6 or 7 foot fence with 3 strands of barbed wire hung on a diagonal brace over the inside or strung on the posts making it impossible for interlopers to climb.

We will supply the fence, steel posts and gates and install it according to specifications, with our guarantee. You will be under no obligation whatever in asking us for an estimate.

Owners of factories, coal yards or dumps, lumber yards, storage yards and warehouses, loading tracks and platforms, will find the Frost chain link Property Protection Fence the most economical and certain method of protecting their property.

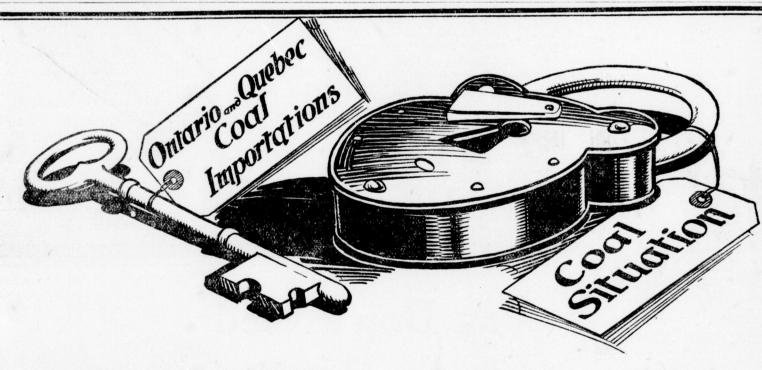

Lighter weights for partitions in factories, warehouses, stock and tool rooms, elevators, hockey rinks, ball grounds, fox farms, tennis courts, etc., are also made by the Frost people.

Samples and catalogues will be sent on request by mentioning the purpose for which the fence is required. This entails no obligation whatever on your part.

The Coal Question in 1931

AKING the figures of population and coal consumption mined in Canada and imported, F. W. Gray, in evidence before the Fuel Committee at Ottawa, forecasts that in seven years from now, 1931, Canada will be consuming 46,700,000 tons of coal. Canada will mine 30,000,000 tons, will import 18,700,000 tons and export 2,000,000 tons.

These are encouraging figures because, while Mr. Gray forecasts nearly double the production of coal in Canada, the increase in importation will be only about 30 per cent, with but practically no increase in our exports.

Ontario and Quebec hold the key to this situation because these two provinces import over 95 per cent of all our coal imports.

Ample supplies of Nova Scotia coal can be developed to be laid down profitably in Montreal at a price which will be no more than the cost of extraction of American coal, plus freight and duty.

THE GREAT PHYSICIAN,

Doctor Bing of London Town Is a man of great renown; One auspicious day in spring Went Bing's doorbell ting-a-ling, All in haste the medico Did unto the doorway go, Found a lady, pale and wan, His abode's front porch upon. "Doctor, doctor," thus she cried, "Let my husband come inside! There he sits and suffers greatly In our motor car so stately; There he sits, his ills enduring, Waiting for your skill at curing."

"Be it bite or burn or sting," Answered Doctor Elmer Bing, "I shall cure him if I can, Enter thou unhappy man!" In he came; his state was sad; Something hurt him very bad. Rocked his body to and fro, While his wife explained his woe

"Gay," she said, "we drove along. Fast we sped, the wind was strong. Bugs blew from far and near, One blew in my husband's ear, Bring, I pray, some swift relief From this awful state of grief, Or we'll find my husband dead From the racket in his head."

'Tis a very simple thing,' Answered Doctor Elmer Bing. Took a common china cup, And with water filled it up, Dropped a single, saltless tear Down into the stranger's ear. When the water went inside, Straightaway the insect died, Straightaway that bug did drown; Gone the patient's anguished frown; "Let gladness now commence to ring," Said Doctor Elmer Eggnogg Bing.

The stranger said: "Oh, Bing, my friend, am a doctor from North Bend. Of doctors I have met a few, But ne'er a physician such as you; For scientific eminence In you combines with common sense, Receive my hand, my card as well; To friends shall I this story tell, And grave conventions soon shall hear Of drowning bugs within the ear. May years great fame and riches bring To you, wise Doctor Elmer Bing.'

Away they drove, the doctor scanned The bit of pasteboard in his hand, And read this legend: "Doctor Greer, Specialist for Nose and Ear."

Refuge From Self

We cannot even talk naturally because our voice shames us. If a newsboy would advocate his papers in a conversational tone, all the passersby would stop and wonder and probably think he was crazy. We do not care for the parson unless he puts on the conventional parsonaceous tone; he had as well come into the pulpit with a striped sackcoat as to speak to us in an easy-going street

The reason why the orator on class day strikes a strange and foreign tone is because he is giving out ideas strange and foreign to him. If he became conscious for one moment of his real self and thoughts he would be swamped in embarrassment.

Clothes react on the body. They strike in. We are what we put on. Johnny not only looks like a nice little lad when he is dressed in his Sunday clothes, but he is an entirely different person from the young imp who stole the apples Saturday night, who was also named Johnny. It is the same boy in the bathtub, but that is a secret, private and wholly fictitious person; the real person is the young soul going to Sunday school saturated with Sunday clothes. There is a subtle change in the man we elected mayor; he is no more Bill Jones; the integument of office has infected his speech and manner.

THIS penetrating power of clothing is quite strong. It descends into our deepest consciousness and affects our thought power. A suit of army khaki actually makes Tom Tinker brave. A dress coat and patent leather shoes fire the wit of the gentleman at the banquet. He would not be half so cheerful in repartee if he had on overalls.

Words are the robes of thought. And at length, the process works reversely; the thought becomes the property of the world. Every great writer whose works become known and read by the people, actually creates thought. Thousands go about saying his phrases, and hence thinking his thought. The great national brain rolls along in ruts of platitudes. The common people do not think, they remember.

Notice two women meeting at tea; they converse: study their remarks; they have simply exchanged sets of bromides. For that matter, if no one spoke except to utter an original saying, there would be a vast silence. Every word is a bromide, more or less. To be thought original we learn the trick of juggling them into new combinations.

The mind is wrapped in words, soaked in words, is words. The hermit-crab has become absorbed by his whelk. Having finished with the whelk shells of this life, we seek housing in the next. "For," says the apostle, "this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

Sir Robert Suggests Plans To Bring Empire in Closer Unity.

Sir Robert Borden would bring the whole of the British Empire into closer co-operation by a system of resident ministers in the British Isles to voice the opinion of the dominions on the external following the system of the dominions on the external following the system of the system of the dominions on the external following the system of th minions on the external affairs of the empire. Such was the suggestion brought forward by him when he addressed the Women's Canadian Club in the Central Collegiate Institute yesterday afternoon.

"One great difficulty in the way of greater unity in the empire in the past has been the fact that the mother country has held a sort of trusteeship in the administration of external affairs," he said. "But now that the dominions have begun to have a voice in external affairs, we must try to find out to find out the said." must try to find out a means by which each of these separate parts may express their desire in the mat-ter of external affairs.

have attended to this as best they could. But I believe that there might be a still more satisfactory solution of the problem. And I venture to say that this problem will be one of the great problems of the future. I merely suggest a system of resident ministers. I do not attempt to say that this is just how the thing should be done. It would be a bold man, indeed, who would say that. But the problem is there to be solved.

"The empire is drawing closer and the status and the status involves responsibility. For it is especially important in a loosely-joined commonwealth, such as the British nation, that all the parts should look not to the merely saying closer and the status whole. And in it we have a mighty where it whole. And in it we have a mighty heritage, in its traditions and its institutions.

S.S. Athletican Shipping Water in a Heavy Sea.

By JOHN B. FOSTER.
Copyright, 1924.

New York, May 13.—Catcher Perkins of the Philadelphia Athletics is one of the best catchers in baseball the very best they were saying over n the City of Brotherly Love when the season started—but today he is erhaps the worst panned man in

The reason. During April, when the Athletics and their supporters were just crazy for a little batting to help them on to a few victories. Perkins turned in a batting average of .083. Twenty-four times at bat and two hits. That was his portion. A pitcher who couldn't do better would feel dismal. But a catcher—

h dear, oh dear! Since May Perkins has been bat-ling .444. But the fans haven't noticed that he is picking up. They remember only that long string of games when he didn't do a thing. while the Athletics rolled and shipped water in a heavy sea, and they have lamored for his hide as earnestly as they lauded him when the season started.

But Perkins is only a rallying point for the Athletics' fans. Connie Mack's club is riddled all the way through with light hitting. Hauser hasn't started. Miller is sliding around the barrier instead of break-ing away from it. Strand hasn't come within a mile of his first score of hits. Hale is fifty points behind his normal figure and no one much is stepping into the ball except Sim

WALLACEBURG LACROSSE ENTHUSIASM GROWING

Special to The Advertiser. Wallaceburg, May 13.—So great is the interest in the local lacrosse team this season that over 300 fans turned out Monday to witness the workout of the intermediates. The determination which is being shown by every man is really wonderful, and the new men have proved themselves far beyond expectation, and all are ready for their first big game at Windsor next Saturday. Both home and defence are stronger than ever.

It is expected that if arrangements can be satisfactorily made the local team will travel to Windsor by boat, thereby avoiding a long train journey event they are sure to take with them a large number of fans.

The officials of the W.A.A.A. already report having received several generous donations towards their building fund. The work on the building is now nearly complete, and it is expected that the fittings will be installed this week.

Gehringer Handles Thirteen Hot Chances Without An Error.

MORGAN REAL FIND

Special to The Advertiser

Muskegon, May 13.-Morgan wa tight in the pinches yesterday and was accorded brilliant and errorles support by the rejuvenated Tecum sehs, who won the second straight game of the series, although again outhit by the home club, over the Anglers yesterday afternoon. Parker and Nason made catches of the classic variety, while Gehringer went after everything that came on the ground, handling thirteen hard chances without the semblance of a Muskegon tried hard to make a comeback, and Morgan was found for two hits in each of the eighth and ninth, but poor base running Meyers and Gehringer's fast fielding stopped the rallies.

Nason was a thorn in the side of the Anglers. He scored the Tecs' first run, after a walk and two successive bingles had given the Muskies a lead of one in the second frame. Nason broke into the game in the fifth, when his drive went between Cortazzo's legs before the little shortstop of the locals could get down after it. Eiffert flew out, but Parker slapped a single to right. Germain forced Parker at second and then worked a double steal with Nason on the scoring end. Morgan singled to center, and when the ball got away from G. Loepp, Germain scored what proved to be the winning

The visitors checked in another run in the seventh on Nason's walk and singles by Eiffert and Parker, before a runner had been retired. Fast a runner had been retired. Fast ing the regular shortstop berth on fielding by the Muskegon infield pre-the Crient Southern Counties team. vented further scoring.

Yesterday's game was played on rain-soaked field, which made players uncertain on their feet. Two hits got by Beatty and one past Naleway which would ordinarily have been easy outs, when they slipped.

The London team left this evening for Flint, where they face the league leaders in a three-game series.

SARNIA PREPARING FOR SENIOR OPENER

Tunnel City Officials Sure of Strong Support For Team.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, May 13.—Officials of the Sarnia Senior Baseball Club are endeavoring to have a closing of the city stores and offices Monday next in consideration of the opening of the Southern Countries Baseball League locally, when the Strathroy nine will visit the Athletic ground, There is general confidence that the city merchants will co-operate in order to give the baseball season an auspicious opening. This week laborers and teams are busy at the ball park levelling the ground and making various improvements to the bleachers and entrance.

There is much enthusiasm here for baseball this season, and if the locals can make a strong bid for honors in the league the game is assured of great support. Sarnia has always been a good baseball town, and Manager McRury is confident that his squad can deliver the goods this and make the competition interesting for anyone.

Price Movements on Wall Street Show Decided Trend to Irregularity.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 14—Wall Street. 1:30 p.m.—Effective selling pressure against Baldwin, which ran off 1½ points to 106%, a new low figure for the year, and acute weakness in a variety of speciaties, caused a withdrawal of the support which had been extended to the popular industrials in the early dealings, and the whole market dipped.
American Can and United States Cast Iron Pipe were supplied freely, also General Electric, United States Rubber
first preferred, Central Leather preferred, and Associated Drygoods.
Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron, however, continued to creep up, touching 47.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 14—Wall Street, noon.

—After the first batch of over-night buying and selfing orders had been disposed of, trading quieted down, with price movements showing considerable irregularity. Chief activity centered in the rail and coal shares, Philadelphia and Reading Coal extending its gain to 3 points and Lehigh Valley and Reading rights each moving up 1½. Illinois Central also was pushed up a point. Early heaviness of Chesapeake and Ohio was attributed to speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors to increase the regular dividend. Punta Alegre and South Porto Rican Sugar extended their losses to 2 points. Maxwell A and United States Rubber first preferred also dropped a point or so. Call money opened at 3½ per cent.

SMELTERS HOLDS FIRM AT TORONTO

Trading Is Somewhat Restricted at Morning Session of Toronto Exchange.

Toronto, May 14.—Trading was restricted on the local stock exchange during this morning's session, with the trend of prices uncertain. Smelters, in which trading was heaviest, held unchanged at 39, with Barcelona and Brazilian losing ½ and ¼ respectively at 18 and 50%. City Dairy was strong, selling at 47, or 3 points above the last grevious sale. Mackay advanced a point to 112½ on light trading, while Duluth closed ½ higher at 20%. Mc-Intyre Mines eased off 10c to $15.90.

Items Disputed.

Various of these items were disputed as the section was taken clause Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, rector of St. John's Church, London, moved an amendment to the effect that the item with reference to printing be deleted, as printing was in many cases a direct means of collecting the buderingham said later, that it was put-ting a premium on stagnation in the diocese. Canon Andrew stated also that the city churches were put to a considerable expense to maintain law, he could not reveal the nature week-night activities, and that this of the advice which he had given to was to a great extent not an expense entailed by the country churches, although in many cases the parishioners in the latter were people of better means than those in the city churches. Canon Andrew protested against what he called penalizing the parishes for attempting to keep their operty in repair. Dean Tucker also supported this view, making the statement that many parishes, striving now to keep their heads above water with added would find that in addition to providing this added efficiency, they would incur the extra burden of making up larger budget apportionment.

MANY SERIOUSLY HURT IN CLASH AT DELITZCH

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, May 14.—Quarreis between the Communists and Nationalist organiza-Communists and Nationalist organizations in Delitzsch, Saxony, assumed a grave character last night, according to a despatch received here, and many persons were seriously injured. The police carried out house-to-house searches. Delitzsch is sixteen miles east of Halle, the scene of the recent monarchist demonstration led by Gen. Ludendorff.

home of the prime minister, and stated that the next day he had a conference with R. P. Gough, vicepresident of the bank, and Casey Wood, one of the directors. Messrs. Gough and Wood had gone to Mon-treal on the noon train. "I followed on the afternoon train because I wanted to keep in touch with the matter," said Mr. Robb.

Present At Interview.

Mr. Robb said he was present when the directors had an interview with Sir Vincent Meredith president of the Bank of Montreal. They made a frank statement of the condition of the bank and Sir Vincent "did not give them much hope."

However, he had promised to consider the matter and see if an advance could be arranged to tide the bank over until the question of arranging an amalgamation with another bank was considered. Mr. Robb said that he had informed Sir Vincent that he (Mr. Robb) was there merely as an onlooker, although the government was anxious to avert

large lot of books that were sold on Woodstock market on Saturday as junk. They passed into the hands of the Woodstock Rag and Metal Company, but before reaching them most of the books were ruined by having the covers ripped off. Mr. Axelrod, manager of the company when communicated with, held the large lot of material over until it could be examined, and the political scrap books fortunately turned up very little damaged as did also a large collection of political cartoons that Mr. Pattullo had gathered together during his political career. Both will make an interesting adition to the university collections

Street Railway Sets Price On Road That Will Enable City To Operate At Profit From Outset

ADVERTISEMENT

President Currie Explains Basis of Offer Made To Mayor Wenige—Price Is Something Like 75 Cents On the Dollar of the Assets.

The price at which the London Street Railway has just offered its line to the city would permit opera-tion at a profit from the outset, according to Charles Currie, president of the company. President Currie as had a number of conferences with Mayor Wenige, who was authorized by the council to secure a price from the company. A price was named, and the mayor will now present it to the council. In an interview following the negotiations, Mr. Currie outlined the procedure which he believes will now be taken to acquire the street railway property, and stated why he regarded the offer of the company as not only fair, but decidedly low.

To Go To People. "We have submitted a price to Mayor Wenige," said Mr. Currie, "which we think the city would be unwise not to accept. If the council sees fit the people will vote on the ourchase at the municipal election in

"Why do you think the offer you have made to the city is fair?" Mr. Currie was asked.

"Because it is less than the actual cost of the road without any capitalization of earning power," replied Mr. Currie. "It is less than the actual cost less depreciation, which leaves it something like 75 cents on the dollar of the assets. I am not here to exact one cent from the people of London beyond what would be a decidedly fair price for this property, and I think that would be fair.

"In the case of arbitration could the people, as Mayor Wenige has sug-gested, ratify the arbitration finding by a vote, or would the city be bound buy at the arbitration figure?" Mr. urrie was asked.

"The people would vote first and bitration is final," he replied.
"Suppose a figure is reached by greement and the people vote against "Our franchise is automatically extended for five years by the five-year extension clause. This became operative when the city failed to give one year's notice of intention to purchase Therefore, unless there is purchase by agreement in the meantime, we will have the right to continue to operate the street railway for five years, beginning next March."

"Would this be satisfactory?"
"No, it would be unsatisfactory to ll concerned. The company could not get additional capital for a five

Furthermore, the Ontario Legislature nas just passed a bill which requires the street railway company to re-vert to seven tickets for a quarter at the expiration of the present fran-chise. That is to say, if the franthise is extended five years, this new law says we must reduce the fares from five cents. It is impossible to operate under those conditions with-out cutting the men's wages 33 1-3 per cent and cutting down the ser vice as well. It might easily happen that the street railway would be compelled to cease operation alto-

"Could not the street railway com pany retain control and do this itself?"

"Not with a five-year franchise and a fare lower than the present fare. But if a new deal were negotiated with a long-term franchise and a continuation of the present fare, the street railway company could spend the necessary money and give a street railway service unequalled in any city the size of London."

The Windsor Purchase.

"When hydro acquired the street railway at Windsor, what was the pasis of purchase?" "Well replied Mr. Currie, "the two million dollars, but this included an electric light plant. If the City of London were to pay on the same basis per mile for the London Street Railway as was paid for the Windsor Railway, the London property would cost the City of London $1,750,000. But the figure at which the property is available is far below that, and the ondon property is in a far better condition than the Windsor line was,
