HARD COAL MINERS NOT TO STRIKE

Walkout of 60,000 Miners in Pennsylvania Field Is Generally Opposed.

DEFIANCE MOVE

International President J. L. Lewis Had Refused to Grant Permission to Strike.

Associated Press Despatch.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 21.—Confidence was expressed by union leaders today that the threatened strike of 60,000 coal miners in district No. 1, U. M. W., embracing the hard coal fields, would not materialize. Should a general walkout be ordered by the grievance committees which are meeting here today to take action on the proposition in defiance of International President J. L. Lewis and district officials, the union leaders said it would be a failure. Practically all of the 90 locals in the district were said by District President Rinaldo Capolino to have voted yesterday to oppose the call for a general strike.

With the exception of the locals embracing the 1,000 strikers of the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Halstead colliery of the Glen Alden Coal Company, the district president asserted that every local in the district would stand by the union leaders and oppose the strike.

Associated Press Despatch.

Marion Browning, 16, the oldest daughter, discovered the fire in the tenement, and awakened her mother. Together they took a six-months-old infant, two other girls, aged 4 and 6 respectively, from their beds and hurried them from a window 30 feet to the frozen ground after finding two stairways enveloped in flames. ### Ontario Astronomers Ask That Those Near Edge Note Exact Extent.

MOON IS WOBBLY

Certain Gyration Will Be Made Careful Study by Scientists.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Long's Corners, Jan. 21.—Astronomers have predicted to the second just when the moon will appear to start swallowing in the sun during the eclipse of night, which happens in Ontario and the northeastern states on Saturday morning, and they know to within a mile or so just what territory will fall completely within the shadow. This, however, is a degree of accuracy with which the star gazers are not satisfied. Although the gyrations of the moon are quite well defined, there are certain wobbles which are not quite understood, and this is why the scientists leave themselves leeway of a second here and a mile there in prophesying just when and where the face of the earth will be darkened again after dawn on Jan. 22.

STRAINED STATE HINGES ON LETTER

Towe's Explanation to Mayor on Expense Grant Made Definite Proposals.

INTRODUCED RAISE

The strained state of affairs which has already been created between the mayor and the city council regarding the mayor's supplementary expense account of $1,200 now appears to center on the terms of the resolution introduced by Ald. Towe at the special council meeting on Dec. 19.

Ald. McKay, chairman of the 1925 finance committee, upon the mayor's ruling on Monday night when the council supported his request that all vouchers, including the mayor's expense account, come before the finance committee in the regular way.

Ald. McKay's attitude appears to be based on the terms of the resolution which sanctioned the $1,200 payment to the mayor. This resolution moved that payment be made on a pro-rated account be presented to the finance committee. It is this account which has not yet been submitted and which Ald. McKay as finance chairman is now requiring.

Ald. Towe, originator of the resolution of Dec. 19, explained the purpose of his motion in a letter to the mayor written on Dec. 27. This letter, which follows below, now seems likely to become a factor in the dispute.

Towe's Letter, Dec. 27, 1924. "Your Worship,

"My amendment to the motion granting the mayor $1,000 for 1924 was to the effect that $1,200 additional to the $1,800 already provided by council was to be paid conditionally in order to legitimate expense account being rendered to No. 1 committee up to $3,000.

"The expense account for the mayor's office could not of course be itemized in minute detail and it was not my desire to have street car fare, postage or petty items itemized in order to make it clear I would suggest that each occasion be shown when an expense of any consequence was necessary in your position as chief magistrate of the city of London.

"There were many occasions during the past year which may have hit your pocket and everyone will agree that such should be paid by the city of London.

"Delegations, conventions, etc., in our city certainly necessitate special expense, and an account covering Rotary, Rotary labor congress, etc., convention, drymen's convention, Michigan Pikers, etc., could be shown in your account.

"There are many citizens who at times need a helping hand and unless you were able to make immediate contributions many would suffer. A sum of this would be an item of expense.

"Number one committee may not wish to know just what and where you were called on to spend money in the interest of the city of London, and this letter is written at your suggestion that I should give my view as to the full meaning of the amendment.

"It will be necessary to have this rendered early next week as it will come within the jurisdiction of the 1924 council.

Yours truly, ALLAN M. TOWE

GIRL SLAYER OF MOTHER LACKS FUNDS FOR DEFENCE

Alienists Will Not Be Brought In—Case Stands on "Merits."

POPULAR STUDY

Special to The Advertiser.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 21.—Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old Swedish girl, who killed her mother in a fit of "jazz mania" is going to face the courts with hardly a penny spent on her defence.

"This case is going to be tried on its merits," said Frank J. Egan, public defender, who will represent Dorothy.

"There's no money to spend for alienists. The only money is the couple of dollars a day the state allows for witness fees."

Dorothy's father agrees with Egan. "I haven't any money to spend," he said.

"And another thing," he went on with determination. "There isn't going to be any lying in this case. Dorothy is my daughter, and I'm going to stand by her and I'm going to see she gets justice, but nobody is going to lie for her, and she isn't going to lie for herself."

Keith Lord, one of the friends of Dorothy, is here under arrest, coming from Los Angeles, where he played a banjo in the "Frisco Five" jazz orchestra. He is charged with contributing to Dorothy's delinquency.

"I stopped going with her after Mrs. Ellingson objected," he said. "Dorothy told me Mrs. Ellingson was not her mother, that she just boarded there. She mixed me up in this. It's all her fault."

Dorothy Ellingson is keeping a record of her experience in prison. Thus far it shows she has been interviewed by 85 persons, including 29 newspaper reporters; and that on Thursday 50 photographs were taken of her; 40 were taken on Friday, and Saturday, and Sunday 16 more were added.

Mothers Plan to Hold Concert in School in the Near Future.

The Victoria Mothers' club has an interesting program before it for the coming few weeks. Last night arrangements were made for a sale of home produced goods, and on Thursday 50 photographs were taken of her; 40 were taken on Friday, and Saturday, and Sunday 16 more were added.

The club is also planning to hold a concert in the school in the near future. Mrs. George Young, Beaconsfield avenue, has offered her home for a tea, to be held shortly.

A report of relief work carried on in the district, showed that seven families have been helped at Christmas, and a great interest was evinced by the members, having been sent them.

The club donated $14 toward the blind institute work. The meeting was featured by a successful shower of books for the Victoria hospital library.

The very fine program included an inspiring address given by Mrs. James Chalmers on "The Modern Mother and Her Daughter." The speaker referred to the fact that today there was not the same chance for a mother and daughter to confide in each other. Formerly they were at home together. Today the daughter goes out in the business world and there is not the same contact.

Other numbers on the program were a social to Miss Whelan, with an encore given in Norwegian; readings by Miss Logan, and dances by Jean MacDonald and Freda Wenig.

YOUTH PLEADS GUILTY, REMANDED FOR WEEK

Admits Passing Worthless Checks on Two City Merchants.

Roy C. Hunter, 22 years old, was remanded to jail for one week by Magistrate Graydon in police court this morning after a sentence upon a charge of fraud. The young man was arrested last evening by local detectives following information laid by C. O. Shoebottom and James E. Mooney.

Hunter pleaded guilty to the charge. On January 13 he gave Mr. Shoebottom, a local grocer, check for $5 for groceries. He said at the time that he had sufficient funds in the bank to cover the amount of the check, but upon investigation it was learned that the bank had no account under his name.

In December, Hunter admitted he cashed a check for $5 upon Mr. Mooney and showed a bank book as proof of a substantial account entered in his name. The check, however, proved worthless.

Hunter pleaded with the court for another chance. He said that he had never been in trouble before and in view of this fact was deserving of at least suspended sentence.

PROGRESS OF STRATHROY SPURRED BY BIG FIRES

Describing the growth and history of Strathroy, Superintendent Cutler, at the place last night addressed the members of the London and Middlesex Historical Society at their meeting in the public library.

The first house in Strathroy was built by one Buchanan in 1832, the speaker said. He then traced the history of the village and chronically described the development of the town. The disastrous fires which occurred from time to time were mentioned. The part of the destructive fires played in the development was shown. The building of brick dwellings rather than wooden houses was started after numerous fires had swept the town.

DIVORCE POLICIES FROM EDUCATION

W. C. Johnston Delivers Striking Address Before St. George's Mothers.

That the educational system of the country should be separated from politics, was the striking statement made by W. C. Johnston, of the central collegiate institute staff, speaking before the members of the St. George's mothers' club last night. His subject was "Some weaknesses in our educational system," which he handled with skill and eloquence.

Education, he said, should not be controlled by any particular government. He had a great admiration for the ministers of education of the past, who were devoted to education, and what they had accomplished, but he thought that the educational system should not be under the influence of any party.

The speaker did not offer a solution for the present state of affairs in this connection, but declared that woefully wrong should be looking for a gradual change in the direction he suggested.

Individual Neglected. He referred to the fact that there was not enough individual attention given to the individual child in the system. Thirty-five pupils were herded into one class, to cover a certain course of study in ten months. Some of them might be capable of covering that course in four months. Others might take longer than ten months. Yet all were put there on the same basis, working together in the same regimental lock-step.

He thought the modern educational system did not parallel life in its subjects of study. These might be good for training the mind, but why not choose subjects which would both train the mind and be of practical use in after life?

The present system did not tend to teach children to be self-reliant and develop initiative. It rather made them dependent. There should be a change here.

The modern text books were not just what they ought to be. The teacher had to spend valuable time explaining out-of-the-way words and phrases, which might be spent on the subject itself.

No Co-Operation. There was no definite co-operation between one grade and another in the schools. Children should be followed by the same teacher, who would both train the mind and be of practical use in after life.

Col. Frank Ware was a second speaker of the evening, bringing the matter of uniforming the school children before the club. The department, he said, was very anxious to interest the mothers' clubs in this scheme, and already some of the clubs had voted in favor of the plan.

"I wish we had 'Old 27' back again," mourned Skipper Rockett. "Give that old girl four good machines, and she would walk away from this skittish outfit."

Two Hundred Guests Are Present at Sessions This Morning.

In the presence of two hundred guests, the London Life Jubilee program was continued this morning in the main building on Wellington street, in Dufferin hall, in the afternoon in the Masonic temple. Addresses on subjects of interest to all members of the staff were given by officers, and a great interest was evinced in every phase of the work and life of the great company.

What is known as the "24 K" club, members of which can only be obtained through having sold $150,000 worth of insurance in the year, and of which there are now 47 members, were tonight for Niagara Falls, where tomorrow by the special permission of Sir Adam Beck, they will inspect the "Chionwa power scheme, which is a great project of the province, where a banquet will be given in their honor by the company in the King Edward hotel. A theatre party will bring this part of the gathering to a close.

Tonight all members of the staff attending the sessions will take in the O. H. A. hockey game at the Arena, and a banquet for district managers will be held in Dufferin hall at 8 o'clock.

"HIDDEN" STREET SAVES MOTORIST COURT FINE

George Beamish, charged in police court today with passing a standing street car in his automobile, was allowed to go upon payment of $20 court costs, after Magistrate Graydon had heard his excuse for the offence.

Beamish declared that he passed the street car at the corner of Richmond and Bridport streets. Bridport street ends at Richmond, he said, and driving north along the latter road, a motorist is unable to notice the street. When the car stopped, he said, he thought it was halting in the middle of the block.

ASK FOR SCHOOLS.

Application has been made by the town planning commission for the use of a number of the public schools for the purpose of holding town planning commission meetings. The commission, through Engineer W. P. Near, has asked for the use of Ryerson, Empress, Victoria, and Rectory schools for evening meetings on Feb. 3, 4, 5 and 6.

CRUSADERS GAIN IN STRENGTH HERE

Local Conclave of British Order Progressing—Prince of Wales a Patron.

Not only is the Most Noble Order of Crusaders a fact in London, but its membership is increasing every day, and it will soon be in a position to begin carrying out the aims for which it was established. It was learned today that the London conclave, which is a branch of the British order, formed two years ago, and of which H. R. H. Prince of Wales was one of the first members, hopes to include within a short time every officer and man who served overseas, whether in the C. E. F. or in British colonial units.

The aims of the order, being similar to those of the parent organization, are briefly to "abolish all class war and to follow as nearly as possible the tenets of the sermon on the mount." At the present time a conclave is in process of formation, composed of ex-officers, and the work of organizing men from the rank and file will commence soon.

One Londoner, however, the so-called "Red" elements in society is not, as has been stated locally, the sole aim of this order. Abolition of class war means war on every single thing which stands for class distinction and class antagonism, and it applies impartially to capital and labor. It is a rule of the order that its membership remain secret and that no one outside the order shall know who are members.

The unfortunate London baby was literally born old. The state of its bones is analogous to the state of the bones of a very old man.

The child is living, and, of course, everything possible is being done to overcome the abnormality. Progress varies much in different cases, physicians declare, although there is tendency towards improvement in some; in others, when fragility is considerably less there seems to be improvement in the condition of the bones as age advances. Treatment for such a condition consists in a diet of cod liver oil or phosphorus to take the place of lack of protein matter.

The cases from a physiological standpoint, is probably one of the most interesting that has come to the attention of Canadian doctors.

UNIONIST FORCES NOW LEAD IN CITY

Chelsea Green Congregation Unanimously Enters—778 Churches For Union.

At the meeting of the Chelsea Green Presbyterian congregation last night, the decision was made to enter the United Church of Canada without the formality of taking a vote on the question.

The decision of the congregation places the unionist forces in the lead in the city, six to five. The churches voting to enter, union are: St. Andrew's, Five Knox, King street, St. Paul's and Chelsea Green. Those opposed are: New St. James', St. George's, Hamilton road, Chalmers and Knoxwood Park.

Chelsea Green, under its pastor, Rev. W. J. Crawford, is the second local Presbyterian congregation to have voted itself into the union by a unanimous vote. The first church to take such action was St. Paul's church, Hyde Park, under its pastor, Rev. John McKillop.

UNIVERSITY COURSE IS SOUGHT FOR WORKERS

The university has been co-operating with the Workers' Educational association, Western Ontario division, for the past three years in an effort to bring adult education within reach of those who cannot attend the regular sessions of the university.

The three-year, or tutorial course, which the two bodies are aiming to bring about, has not been established as yet, but it is the desire of the Workers' Educational association to raise the work to the three-year standard.

The one-year study classes have been successful. Lectures in political science, English literature, public speaking, history and sociology have been given in the vicinity of London with success.

Professor E. W. MacDonald, field secretary, is getting in touch with farmers' clubs, the men's brotherhood and similar organizations with the intention of increasing the work and scope of the organization.

ACKNOWLEDGES GIFT.

Inspector George Tustin of the London Humane Society wishes to acknowledge with thanks the donation of a load of hay by the London Team Owners' Association for the two horses owned by a teamster in London township who has been unable to work owing to blood poisoning. The horses were removed by Mr. Tustin to his barn on Victoria street over two weeks ago.

COL. WARE TELLS MOTHERS OF CADET MOVEMENT

Col. F. B. Ware of headquarters staff, Military District No. 1, spoke to the members of the St. George's school mothers' club in London in the absence of Col. George H. Gillespie, cadet officer, who was at Stratford.

The aims of the cadet movement were explained by Col. Ware. It is expected that there will be a series of meetings held in the schools of the city when mothers' clubs have been formed. This will give the parents an opportunity of learning what cadet training means and does not mean to school boys.

BANK DEBITS DECREASE IN CASE OF INDIVIDUALS

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Bank debits to Ottawa accounts in the clearing house center of Canada as reported to the dominion bureau of statistics by the Canadian bankers' association, declined about one per cent in December when compared with the record of the preceding month. Actual bank debits were $2,524,661,000 in December against $2,448,726,000 in November.

ORGANIZER COMING.

Ensign May Eleri, territorial life saving guard organizer of the Salvation army, Toronto headquarters, will be in the city in the interests of the Salvationists; young people's guard for the purpose of holding town planning commission meetings. The local troops of the four London corps will meet the organizer. The leaders are preparing a special supper, which will be given in honor of the visitor. The reception will likely take place at the Clarence street citadel.

WORK WILL CONTINUE DESPITE SUN'S ECLIPSE

Mayor Sees No Need of Closing Stores For Hour on Saturday. There will be no flags flying, no salute of guns, no civic holiday when the total eclipse of the sun occurs on Saturday morning. The city of Hamilton has decreed that its citizens shall have a part day off to observe more carefully the sun's eclipse.

Not so London, Mayor George Wenig said this afternoon that there is plenty to do in his Forest City on Saturday. It is market day for one thing, and working conditions are supposed to be much better here than in Hamilton.

McClary's York street plant held a successful euchre and dance last night in the dining-room. More than 130 were present and the Variety Four orchestra provided the music for the dancers. Prizes were given for the winners in the euchre, and refreshments were available. Another dance and card party will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the east end plant.

Bones of London Infant Fracture When Touched

Very Rare Disease Discovered Here—Bones Like Those of Aged Person.

Two weeks ago a child was born in London, suffering from what is said to be one of the most rare diseases the world knows. Its academic name is "osteogenesis imperfecta." Interpreted, this means brittle bones—so brittle, in fact, that they break with the slightest pressure.

The infant was born with a broken rib. Now it has broken arms and legs. At the first feeble motion of the limbs the bones, as hard and delicate as ice flakes, cracked. Many other bones went likewise, and with almost every motion of the child's body a fracture is caused.

Only a few other cases of this nature in North America are known to local medical men. This type of extreme fragility of the bones has been common in Austria and Russia, although climatic conditions, according to physicians, having nothing whatever to do with its prevalence. The anomaly is recorded in certain orthopedic text-books.

One London specialist explains the rarity as a condition of defective bone cells which fail to absorb the protein deposits of the body, taking in lime instead. A normal child is born with bones that are, in reality, gristle. Only after many months growth does the gristle turn into actual bone.

The child is living, and, of course, everything possible is being done to overcome the abnormality. Progress varies much in different cases, physicians declare, although there is tendency towards improvement in some; in others, when fragility is considerably less there seems to be improvement in the condition of the bones as age advances. Treatment for such a condition consists in a diet of cod liver oil or phosphorus to take the place of lack of protein matter.

ORGANIZER WILL TALK TO LIBERALS

Duncan Marshall and James Malcolm, M.P., Expected Here Friday. On Friday night Duncan Marshall, Liberal organizer for Ontario, and James Malcolm of Kincardine, member for North Bruce, will be the speakers of the evening in Hyman Hall. The general meeting of the London Liberal association is the occasion of the visit of these two Liberals, and will be held at 8 o'clock in the Liberal headquarters in the city.

Officers for 1925 will be elected, in view of the possibility of a general election this year, and the certainty of a general election within two years this election holds special interest for Liberals.

C. C. Ferguson, secretary of the association, expects a large turnout, the recent rally in Toronto, having had a wonderfully invigorating effect on Liberalism throughout the province. The enthusiasm of the prime minister has its reflection among Liberals and the officers elected this year will be chosen with an eye to the Liberal organization and successful achievement in the work of election preparation.

MODERATES ARE PREPARING TO INTERVIEW FERGUSON

Col. W. T. Lawless, president of the London branch of the Moderation League of Ontario, today reports progress in the membership drive, and also in the appeal which has been made for funds. The annual membership fee has been fixed at $1, and a large number of adherents to the cause have been secured since the branch was formed last week. There has also been a gratifying response in the way of voluntary contributions.

It is the intention of the London branch to send a delegation to see Premier Ferguson at the end of this month and to urge on him the need for a revision of the O. T. A. and ways and means to give practical expression to the wishes of the moderates.

TENDER IS LET.

Capt. W. H. The tender calls for the delivery of the blinds as soon as possible. Principal Reginald G. Fowler of the Empress school, has requested the board to provide the blinds at the earliest possible date, since the pupils find the light in the new school almost dazzling, as compared with the old building they have recently vacated.

ONLY THE MOTHER KNOWS ABOUT THE COUGHS AND COLDS OF THE CHILDREN

It is hard to keep them from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly clad, or have on too much clothing, play too hard and get overheated, and cool off too suddenly; get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes at night, and do a dozen things the mother can't prevent.

The prompt use of DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP will check the cough or cold before any serious lung trouble can possibly develop.

Mrs. Everett E. Keetch, R.R. No. 2, Fredericton, N.B., writes:—"My little boy, age nine years, had a dreadful cold which left him with a bad cough. I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using three bottles he was completely relieved. I would advise all mothers to use this remedy for their children as it is an excellent medicine."

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body wastes and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Advt.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of mucus, catarrh or a cold, apply a little Nujol, a germicidal cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes, and you get instant relief.

Try this. Get a small bottle of Nujol's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up, your head is clear, no more hawking or snuffling. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, straining for breath is gone. You feel fine.—Advt.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE WILL tell you that the first results of constipation—headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. For sale by all druggists.

MITCHELL IS HEAD BOARD OF HEALTH

Unanimously Re-elected Last Night—Health Measures Discussed.

Meeting for the first time this year the board of health last night re-elected Charles H. Mitchell as chairman. The selection was unanimous. Ald. W. J. Ashton, Ald. L. H. Douglass and Dr. W. S. Downham all giving their assent to the motion, which invited Mr. Mitchell to carry on for another term.

An epidemic of mumps in December resulted in more cases of that disease than in any one month for the last ten years. The report of Dr. Downham, medical officer of health, was, however, rather encouraging as a whole.

Would Stop Marriages.

Conditions respecting venereal diseases in the city were partly represented by the report of Dr. Gunn, medical director of the city clinic. During December 35 patients were under treatment. City Clerk Baker asked if some means could not be permitted whereby persons suffering from the disease would not be permitted to marry until given a doctor's certificate. He stated that this was done as much as possible, but many cases were never known, where people were unfit for marriage.

On the recommendation of Dr. Downham, it was decided that the Ontario Academy of Medicine be asked to seek provincial legislation to necessitate a doctor's certificate before people can be married.

The board of works will be asked if use can be made of the old small-pox hospital near the sewage disposal plant on the Pine Line road. The health board has not used this place for some years and wants to dispose of it.

Discussing the fusion of the health and relief departments, members stated that the relief department stenographer would be under the direction of the medical officer of health, and that reports would all come through the same department in future.

INSURANCE HEADS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

London Life Officials Hold Meeting at Dufferin Hall.

Members of the Industrial Department and the Ordinary Insurance Company met yesterday afternoon to discuss problems which face managers and agents from coast to coast.

Both meetings saw an enthusiastic gathering of men who were eager to get the other fellow's point of view. C. K. Keppay, manager of the Stratford office, spoke on personal efficiency at the ordinary meeting, held in the London Life office. Frank Robinson, manager of the Toronto office, spoke on co-operation as applied to business. The addresses were answered by two agents, F. C. Gerrard of Toronto, and A. H. DeMara, of Kelowna, B. C. In the four addresses the points of view of the manager and the agent were taken up and discussed at length. J. G. Stephenson occupied the chair.

At Dufferin hall over 100 members of the Industrial staff met to discuss their work.

W. B. McKewen, city manager of Toronto, read a paper on "Where and How To Select Agents for An Industrial Ordinary Life Insurance Company." A vigorous discussion of nearly an hour followed the address.

William Lang, of Kitchener, spoke on the training of agents for an industrial ordinary life insurance company.

A. E. Richardson gave an excellent paper on policy contracts and how to make collections. An exhaustive treatment of the subject was given. Discussion followed.

J. J. McSweeney, city manager of East Toronto, was presented with a gold watch. He won in his district in industrial issue during the jubilee sweepstakes.

Centennial of the Steam Railway

1925 marks two important anniversaries—the hundredth of the steam railway—the 40th of the Canadian Pacific. Just one hundred years ago, according to the scribe on the spot, a "great concourse" of people witnessed the first trial of the steam railway. The locomotive (inset above) and thirty-eight "waggons" made the run from Brusselton to Stockton.

To quote the local Chronicler: "Such was its velocity that in some parts the speed was frequently twelve miles an hour."

George Stephenson, the engineering genius back of this epoch-making enterprise, ventured this prophecy: "You will live to see the day, though I may not live so long, when railways will come to supersede almost all other methods of conveyance in this country—when mail coaches will go by railway, and railroads will become the great High Way for the King and his subjects. The time is coming when it will be cheaper for a working man to travel by railway than to walk on foot."

It was not until 1885—when the last spike was driven in the Canadian Pacific—that "the Great High Way for the King and his subjects" became a transcontinental reality in Canada. Not only were Canada's scattered provinces united into one great nation—but the most difficult and most important link created in what was to become the World's Greatest Highway!

The Reason Why So Many Widows Are Scolded Out of Their Inheritance Is Because They've Never Been Taught Finance.

"Why have women so little money sense?" a man asked me disgustedly the other day.

"Look at Mrs. A. Poor old A. tolled like a dray horse for forty years to pile up a fortune that would keep his family comfortable after he was gone, and now Mrs. A. is throwing all of his hard-earned dollars away as fast as she can.

"And she is following the usual precedent of widows. They all seem bent on getting rid of their husband's money. There is no scheme so wild that they can't be inveigled into it. There is no speculation so risky that they won't undertake it. They are the easy mark for every scoundrel with a pretentious title, and the predestined victim of hysterical lawyers and oily scoundrels.

"It doesn't seem possible that a woman of ordinary intelligence could live to be middle-aged, and rear a family and get on her feet, without finding out something about how to handle money, but she does. I could name you a dozen widows in actual want, whose husbands left them comfortably well off, but who, through mismanagement, lost every cent of their inheritance within ten years.

"You would think that a woman, knowing that the breadwinner is gone, and that there will be no more money coming in, would hang on to every cent she has, and not scatter it, but she doesn't. She scatters it to the four winds with such a reckless hand that there are times when I wonder if it is worth while for a man to slave and deny himself in order to save up money for his widow to hand over to sharks and sharpers."

WEDDINGS

SMITH—CARRUTHERS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Carruthers, Trafalgar street, was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding recently when their only daughter Elizabeth became the bride of Wilfred R. Smith, son of Mr. Franklin Smith of Wlarton. Rev. A. B. Blew, rector of All Saints' Anglican church, officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming gown of powder blue georgette, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of roses and ferns. Her bridesmaids were Miss Edith Palmer, who wore a pretty gown of brown canton crepe with sand satin hat and bouquet of pink carnations and ferns. Mr. Robert Wemman attended the groom, while Miss Phyllis Barnard played the wedding music. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will take up their residence in London.

GLOVE SILK LINGERIE.

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Jan. 21.—The vogue for glove silk lingerie and for linen underthings has been increased because of the growing number of women who wear rubber reducing girdles. The pressure of the latter necessitates a perfectly fitting, soft material beneath to avoid discomfort.

"BOBS" LATEST MILLINERY.

Special to The Advertiser.

London, Jan. 21.—Some of the new Milan and Picot small hats for spring are so nearly the shape of the helmet of the London bobby that they have been formally christened "Bobs" in the trade. The brims, however, turn up instead of down, and are frequently trimmed with leather bands and buckles.

BLACK SATEN SLEEVES.

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Jan. 21.—The black sateen sleeves worn by the country grocery clerks are back in fashion. Some of the new evening gowns have detached sleeves of exactly similar design, which are held up by an elastic band above the elbow. These sleeves, however, are of crepe satin, beautifully embroidered.

JUST A BUTTON OR TWO.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Some of the newest skating and tobogganing costumes worn here conceal the knickerbockers by a short skirt. This is buttoned at the side until the wearer goes into action, when an unfastening of the buttons provides ample freedom of movement.

ENSEMBLE CORSETS.

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Jan. 21.—The vogue for ensembles has even reached corsets. For example, one may buy a bra-sleeve and bandeau, a girdle or a corset separately, or she may purchase a body support which combines them all or any combination of them.

The Pompadour Frock of Flowered Taffeta Is Put Forward as Most Suitable for the Very Young Woman.

It was not enough that there should be pompadour ribbons and fans and head-dresses; she had the love of power, the desire to rule, the wish to leave her name to the French people as one who had done great things for the country.

This is the historian's comment on Jeanne Antoinette Poisson, known as Madame de Pompadour, one of the most charming French women of the eighteenth century. Unfortunately for poor Jeanne there are numerous folk today who could tell you to save their lives whether she was the favorite of Louis XIV. or Louis XV., and whether she ruled at court two years or ten, who could give you a pompadour mode of arranging the hair, who have a distinct idea of the pompadour type of frock and a more or less distinct notion of what you mean when you speak of pompadour silk.

The pompadour head-dress is of too recent fashion not to be understood. Twenty years ago when a woman spoke of her pompadour she meant only one thing: girls wore "rats" in their pompadours then, as they bob their hair today. Some seventy-five years ago, if a woman spoke of her "pompadour" the chances were she meant her parasol—for the name was applied then to a little sunshade with a holding handle—made of moire antique—the prized possession of every woman who sought the reputation of being fashionable.

Ever since the supremacy in Paris of that remarkable king's favorite, the word pompadour is applied to silk, has meant that it bore a pattern of leaves and flowers, pink and blue in color, sometimes further embellished with gold. At the present time there are pompadour frocks for young girls—they are considered quite demure and naive for the young ingenue. The bodice is tight but straight, the skirt is bouffant and short, and the material is printed taffeta, flowered and in pink and blue. The frock is quite thin, cutting it into pieces slightly larger than the half pieces of bacon. Sprinkle each with a very little onion and a grain or so of sage. Now roll each up and pinch the crust at the edges. Brush each roll with a little milk and bake in a moderate oven for a quarter of an hour.

Boiled Bacon.

Select a piece of bacon of moderate fatness and let it soak in warm water for two hours. Now scrape on any rusty places. Put the bacon in a saucepan with cold water and let it come to a boil. Then simmer it, allowing an hour for a pound piece and an hour and a half for a two-pound piece. When done, remove from the saucepan, take off the skin and serve with any desired vegetable as a dinner dish.

Printed taffeta frock for young girl. It is trimmed with flowers at side of bodice and flowers fall over the skirt.

quilted waistcoats form a distinguishing feature of some of the new spring tailors. For example, a gray drapelle suit surmounts a white waistcoat worn over a blue pique frock. The coat of this suit is fastened with two buttons, placed low and close together, giving a full view of the waistcoat.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

MORE WAYS WITH BACON.

To many housewives there seems to be but one way of cooking and serving bacon—that is, cooked in a frying pan for breakfast, either with or without fried eggs. Yes—and there liver and bacon—served more often for a lunch or dinner dish now than we don't have such hearty breakfasts. But that is about the extent of many housewives' bacon repertoire.

Here are some ways of adding variety to your bacon cookery.

The first recipe is for English bacon rolls. To make them you need slices of bacon—rashers, as they call them—pastry, a little minced onion and dried sage. Cut each slice of bacon in two and roll out the pastry

A letter was read from Miss Stuart of Canlan, in which she thanked the club for parcels sent at Christmas.

After the meeting a dainty supper was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held on Feb. 14, at the home of Misses Mabel and Marjorie Keith.

This was one of the evening's labor party euchres, the next one coming on Tuesday of the coming week. Mrs. F. Wells and Mrs. A. Gilmore had charge of the event, and during the evening Mrs. Eggett gave some very fine readings. Following the serving of refreshments the gathering broke up.

London, Jan. 21.—The costume dress has come into full favor at the January functions in London, especially the bouffant type. The spreading skirts of that style usually are made all over in the manner of an old-time bedspread.

Standard Drug and McClarys won their games in the Manufacturers last night. The druggists by turning back the C. N. R. 3-0, extended their winning streak to four straight.

The McClarys-Hell game developed some unexpectedly good hockey, despite the 2-1 score and the fact that it was the bell game's fourth loss.

The first period of this game went scoreless but brought forth some strenuous hockey. Slater, Pring and McMillan drew penalties in the first period.

The druggists renewed the affair in the second with more passing and McMillan and Charlebois both got in for hard shots.

The Danger of Worry.
By STANLEY BUCKY HARRIS.
I was at home on Wednesday night when my first fall season in organized baseball, as a member of the Reading club came to an end.

The first was a conversation with Joe Birmingham, a former manager of the Cleveland club, and the time of one of our outfielders. Joe told me of Cleveland scout had been in the stands to look me over the day I injured my ankle in Syracuse.

He was referred to the ignorance which I had when I looked good to him, and he resolved to perfect my sliding. He called me up with the information that I looked like a scout made mistakes.

Boston, Jan. 20.—Montreal added the two points necessary to tie with Canadiens for second place in the N.H.L. by defeating the Boston Bruins 2 to 0, before a small crowd here tonight.

Montreal, with Noble Broadbent, D. Munro starting, out developed to win by a bigger margin. Most of the hockey was played in the first period, after which the game degenerated into a superior kind of shilly-shally.

A Case That Does Not Improve.

Home Bank examinations reveal few pleasing chapters. It seems to make little difference where the probe sinks its shaft, it runs into the same material, men, crooked, deceptive work.

There is another aspect to the case—there were those in positions of trust outside the bank who were prepared to play their miserable part in the work of deceiving the government, deceiving the people who trusted the bank, and deceiving everyone who had dealings with the institution.

Records show that the provincial government and city of Toronto, through employees who must have been of sufficient importance to dictate financial policy, played their part fully in the swindle, and did it for some time.

On May 30, 1922, the city of Toronto had on deposit in the Home Bank the sum of $28,734. The fiscal year of the Home Bank ended May 31, the following day, and on that day the Home Bank had on deposit from the city of Toronto $525,754.

There were those who considered Mr. McCallum gruff and unsympathetic. The answer is they did not know the real McCallum. He would not hold back relief where it was actually needed, but he did cause many people to exert their own energies to the limit before coming to their assistance, and he did so because years of experience had taught him that it was the best course, though perhaps not the easiest.

Of ex-inspector McCallum it can be said that he had many friends in London who will miss him.

Coming to the account of the provincial government in the latter part of May, 1922, $1,000,000 was deposited in the Home Bank by the treasury department. Strangely enough, right after the bank's books had been closed for the year the amount started to be taken out with singular rapidity, as much as $640,000 of the amount going early in June.

It is had enough to think of the bank and its management as having been crooked, but the sting is multiplied when proof flaunts itself of those on the outside who were ready for a price to use their position to join hands in the swindle.

Appealing the Mayor's Ruling.

Appealing from the ruling of the mayor, as presiding officer of the city council, is not a pleasant experience. It is some years since the ruling of a chief magistrate in London has been successfully appealed. The reason for it being done at the council meeting needs explanation in order that citizens may not gather the idea that it was simply another attempt to bring in the question of the mayor's "salary."

At the last meeting of the 1924 council a motion was put to a vote that the mayor's "allowance" for expenses of office be $3,000, and that it be made retroactive for 1924. At that meeting the vote stood 7 to 5 against the increased grant; Mayor Wenige did not vote on that occasion, and stated his intention not to vote.

The next day Ald. Shaw went to the city clerk and asked to have his vote reversed, as it had been his intention to vote the other way. He was within his right in so doing, as he would not be a member of council at the next meeting when corrections of minutes could have been made in the regular way.

This document was submitted by his worship, and in the course of routine business came before the chairman and members of the finance committee of the 1925 council. In the same list of accounts were three others, grants to various organizations, and the chairman of the committee, Ald. McKay, failed to see how some grants could be made simply by resolution of council, while for others a bylaw was necessary.

That brings the matter to the point where the mayor at the council meeting ruled Ald. McKay, chairman of the finance committee, out of order and refused to allow the four accounts to go back to a special committee. Ald. McKay had no other course open to him but to appeal to council against the ruling of the chair, and he did so successfully.

It should be remembered that the mayor of London is not voted a "salary." If that were the case it would probably be no person's business what he did with it. The city year book shows the item listed as "expenses of mayor's office."

It is regrettable that the mayor's office should have been brought into the limelight to such an extent as has been the case. The trouble originated in the fact that the vote was not regularly carried in the first place, although it was made to appear on the day after the council meeting that it had been. When an affair such as this gets off to a bad start it never rights itself. There is no disposition on the part of either council or citizens to ask the mayor to spend more money on the legitimate expenses of office than he receives, but council is quite within its right in insisting that all matters of this nature should be done regularly and in the proper way. Were they to do otherwise they would be failing to discharge their fair duty to the citizens who elected them.

He Filled a Difficult Place.

The passing of John W. McCallum, for twenty-three years relief inspector of London, removes a resident who had seen and known London for over half a century.

Prior to accepting office as relief inspector Mr. McCallum was an alderman, well versed in civic affairs. His position as relief inspector was never an easy one to fill. Like any man in such an office, he was between two fires—on one hand to deal fairly with those in want, and on the other to protect the city's finances from those who looked upon the relief department as an easy anchorage.

There were those who considered Mr. McCallum gruff and unsympathetic. The answer is they did not know the real McCallum. He would not hold back relief where it was actually needed, but he did cause many people to exert their own energies to the limit before coming to their assistance, and he did so because years of experience had taught him that it was the best course, though perhaps not the easiest.

Of ex-inspector McCallum it can be said that he had many friends in London who will miss him.

Lookin' Back

I heard two boys a-arguin' about some triffin' thing today, and one was ready with the cash to back the thought what flowed his way. A thousand dollars he would bet to show as what he says was right, then thousand bones they seemed within the fancy of this youngster's flight.

Which set me thinkin' as I walked on how a youngster talks so big, and how he loses all that puff when bald head trumpets for a wig.

When first I sniffed of printer's ink I was a-tchin' for the hour, when I should grab the pen and write and bring the world inside my smiter. Why I would pen a wondrous thing to smite the sinners on the jaw, and make the villains of the town come tremblin' in before the law.

And them what burgled people's home would feel uneasy in the core, they'd amble back with what they swiped and not go burglin' any more.

Until one night the bandits come and crashed a cellar window through, they pinched my pewter spoons and forks, my dollar watch was missin' too. I was mused up rough, and how folks hadn't took much stock in all my fevered uplift stuff.

'Twas then I yearned for easy cash, for ducaats come most awful slow, and I had found how this slow coin was faster than the deuce to go.

I dabbled in the stocks a spell, and stripped the seeds from off my roll, and snorted at them wise old birds who reckoned I'd be in the hole. I know ten times as much right then as what the village banker did. I pulled the whiskers on his chin and said the moss grew on his lid.

The Johnnies sellin' stock they come, I quaffed the tales they glibly said, I auction-saled my horse and cow and mortgaged up the old cow shed. And when they'd trimmed me to a peak these birds they used to pass me by, they skinned me for an easy mark and hung me on the fence to dry.

To the Editor

Closing the Fish Market.

East End Resident Says City Council Had No Business Doing Away With Stall Where Good Fish Was Sold At a Reasonable Price.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—I see that the city council has closed up the fish market, and it is one of the poorest strokes of business they ever did. What business have they to go ahead and do away with the one place on the market where people could always get fish at a reasonable price, and a venture out of which the city was making some profit?

The city council has no right to interfere with the food of the people. If they want to make the market no good at all they can just keep on tinkering with it as they have been doing, and forcing the working people of the city to go elsewhere and pay higher prices. I suppose they will be closing up the Hydro Shop next because it is in competition with other lines of business.

The aldermen showed by their vote on Monday night that they had no sympathy with the problem of the poor people of the city. In fact there are several things that have happened around the city hall since the elections that would have had a great bearing on the vote on December 1 had the people been able to see far enough ahead.

It is hard enough to make ends meet in London now without the city council deliberately making it harder. EAST END WORKER. London, Jan. 20, 1925.

This Embargo Business.

Boston Paper Points Out Several Precedents That Might Be Followed by Canada in Dealing with Pulwood Supplies.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—Some timid souls opposing an embargo on pulwood on the ground that it might provoke American resentment. They ignore the fact that the Americans themselves recognize the validity of the embargo as an economic expedient and make use of it whenever it serves their purpose without considering its effect upon other countries.

"Now," concludes the Boston Post article, "with our record, how can we consistently protest when our favorite tactics are turned against us?"

Canada, as a nation, gets nothing for the pulwood of which this country is despoiled, although put to great expense in protecting it from fire and in other ways. The so-called "private owners" get but a pittance from its sale for export.

The middlemen, jobbers and such, of course, get their rake-off. The American paper manufacturers get the rest. Why not put a stop to the whole business? If we must consume the wood instead of conserve it, as we should, why not consume it ourselves?

By the time exploitation, fungi, fire, insects, wind and the axe get in another ten years' work of devastation, the people will cry "Hands off!" on any more cutting in our poor, dilapidated wooded areas because of the ensuing tremendous and disastrous changes in climatic conditions long before that time, regardless of whether or not our last tree has been cut or destroyed.

Why I say we have less than ten years' supply remaining under the present conditions.

In the interest of the people who are investing their hard-earned savings in these large pulp and paper flotations, and in the interest of the banks who are loaning huge sums of money to these companies, if for no other reason, surely the time has arrived when the government must either prohibit the export of any more pulp and paper mills in Canada or else prohibit the export of the raw material that is to feed these mills.

There are enough new mills and enlargements now under way to absorb more than the total quantity of wood now being exported, and some of the existing mills have already exhausted the wood supply on their own watersheds. It is time to invoke the blue sky law—in the interest of the whole people. FRANK J. D. BARNJUM. Montreal, Jan. 18, 1925.

"He turned to Angele. "Go in," he bade her. "I will follow." Obediently she turned and left him there to give them their dismissal, none daring to protest at her departure.

At the foot of the stairs she leaned a moment against the wall to recover, shaken and trembling in the reaction from her effort. "I have not my bosom, a sickness in her very soul. She peered into the gloom about her, looking for the fugitive, and then, cringing by the wall, she saw alone white discoloring, and gleaming ghastly white, she discovered him, and understood how Vidal, despairing in haste, had overlooked him.

"Go up!" she whispered, and he came instantly forward and obeyed. Beyond the half-closed door she could hear Vidal's voice, but the words he uttered. CHAPTER II. Chevalier de Seyrac.

He paused on the landing until she came up, and then he entered the living-room, where the fire, burning brightly now, warmly irradiated the deepening twilight.

She went to a chair, and he sank to it exhausted, mopping his brow. Then she crossed to the window and closed the shutters as a measure of precaution before proceeding to kindle a light.

As she struck flint with steel he spoke at last, sufficiently recovered. "Mademoiselle, how shall I thank you?" "Though still breathing hard his words were pleasantly modulated, and it remained on her face a smile which could not at the moment think whose.

"There is not the need to attempt it, citizen. I do not think what any woman must do who has remained a woman amid all this. And I am not a demagogue, citizen."

"Your pardon, madame. He rose that he might pay her the detestation of not remaining seated while she stood, now that she was sufficiently recovered.

"No, yet a dame," she corrected him again. "Again your pardon, citoyenne," he said, understanding at last. "I had not received since you gave me shelter."

"That I could not be a Republican. You were mistaken. I am the wife of a soldier. I do not think what any woman must do who has remained a woman amid all this. And I am not a demagogue, citizen."

Without answering she lighted the candles, then crossed to the door and gave her attention to the steward.

"They have not yet gone, citoyenne," he said, and then he was a note of interrogation in the question. "They will," she answered. "You have nothing more to fear. Then she turned to stare at him, she was a napkin with some things in it."

"It is here upon the table, citoyenne." She turned to look, saw the package, and from that shifted her glance to the face of the fugitive. Thus she and her guest stood eye to eye a moment in the yellow candlelight, each staring wide-eyed at the other in utter silence. At last both spoke at once.

"Angele!" she exclaimed. "Angele!" he cried. And upon that they continued to stand at gaze, silent once more in their mutual stupefaction. She heard now what it was that had seemed so oddly familiar in his languorous tones. The sight of him now turned back the wheel of time.

He was scarcely changed from the youth of twenty who had persecuted her ten years ago, when she was a child of seventeen. In memory, as she stared at him, she was back again at Beauvaloir in Normandy where this Chevalier de Seyrac had been almost as long of life and death, a wolf who would have devoured her remorselessly, had not Vidal intervened and fled thence with her beyond the reach of the vengeance provided in the seizure by the frustration of his will.

Ten years ago, and deep though its impression had been upon her mind, significant though the event had been beyond any other in her life, yet in the storm and stress of the last winter, with the unhealed wound, he had brought—an upheaval in which Vidal and his wife had played their part—that affair of ten years ago which had altered the whole course of her life and of Vidal's had faded into vaguest shadow, had lain almost forgotten until this poignant moment.

"You had departed days he had been the pursuer, the persecutor; she the fugitive who had fled for protection to the honest bourgeoisie she loved. Now it was he who was the fugitive, the persecuted, and it was to her of all living women that he was come for shelter and protection.

That laugh of hers, so discordant and sharp, touched by something of the mockery which she found in fate, grand upon her face, she had rendered superfluous. He moved unobtrusively and his glance from one of amusements changed to one of a future watchfulness.

"You'll—you'll not betray me?" he faltered. "You'll not take vengeance upon me for the sin of having loved you, Angele—for it was love that

To Merchants and Salesmen

"The Problem we Worry about Most"

A big manufacturer says:—"If a customer needs goods between our salesmen's visits, and a salesman for a competing line calls on him, he is apt to get the order.

"That is why our salesmen and I worry most about how to keep dealers thinking of us and our goods when we are not there to remind them."

Many salesmen call up customers by Long Distance between visits. They tell us it enables them to hold the business—absolutely solves that problem 100%.

The really economical salesman, therefore, is the one who uses Long Distance frequently.

MOTOR STOCKS TAKE DECLINE

United States Steel Announcement Has Tendency to Unsettle Market.

Associated Press Dispatch. New York, Jan. 21.—(Wall street, noon).—Heavy selling of the motor shares unsettled the morning market after a temporary display of strength following the announcement that the price of United States steel common to employees had been fixed at $125 a share. Chandler broke nearly three points to the lowest price in more than a year, and Nash Motors dropped four points with a number of other issues in that group yielding a point or more. Textile and merchandising issues were also singled out for attack by bear traders. American Woolen, dropping 2 1/2 points, Kresge Department Stores four and S. S. Kresge 1 1/2 points. The Commercial Solvents issues, however, showed further advances. The "A" stock extending its gain to 10 points at 125 1/2 and the "D" 11 points to 136. A fair demand also was noted for the southwestern rail stocks with the St. Louis Southwestern making the best showing. Call money renewed at 3 per cent.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT BONDS HAVE GOOD YIELD

Franc Is Expected To Reach Parity in Near Future.

Special to The Advertiser. Montreal, Jan. 21.—The more optimistic reports from Paris regarding the settlement of war claims and inter-allied debt questions have proven to be bullish for the purchase of French government bonds. The franc has been making new highs during the past few days and many believe it will not be long before the franc reaches parity with the dollar. The franc, as a matter of fact, usually moves in sympathy with sterling, and investors here are buying French government bonds in the belief that this is the opportune time to buy French government bonds and hold them for a long period.

France's Potential Resources

Area and Population. The total area of France, including Alsace-Lorraine, amounts to 212,459 square miles. The population of France in 1911 was 39,601,509, and that of Alsace-Lorraine was 1,874,014.

Industry and Commerce. France is an agricultural and an industrial nation. The yield of the principal crops for the year 1922 were: wheat 4,184,000, rye 995,000, barley 860,000, and corn 117,000.

In 1914 there were 41,638 mines and quarries in work, with an annual yield of value estimated at $29,452,263 francs. Iron ore was produced to the amount of 11,184,000 gallons in 1921.

French manufactures include silk and cotton textiles, leather goods, metal goods and tools, automobiles, paper, chemicals and rubber goods. Alcohol was produced to the amount of 11,184,000 gallons in 1921.

Foreign Trade. France commands a great export market. Her exports are directed chiefly to Great Britain, Belgium-Luxembourg, the United States, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Argentina, Italy, and the United States.

Transportation. France has 25,396 miles of railway. The principal lines include the Northern, the Eastern, the Paris-Lyon-Mediterranean, the Paris-Orleans, the Southern (Midi) and the State Railway.

Navigable rivers total 4,312 miles and canals 1,011 miles. In 1924 there were 23,918 miles of national roads.

National wealth and resources. The national wealth of France was estimated in March 1923 as being about Fr. 770,000,000,000 as compared with Fr. 100,000,000,000 in 1913 and 180,000,000,000 prior to the Franco-Prussian war.

Reparations. France is to receive large sums on her reparations account from Germany which will greatly increase her resources. The Ministry of Finance has issued a statement outlining the economic and financial situation.

The general economic situation shows a similar improvement. The uninterrupted development of France's foreign trade, the constant payments and that under the provisions of the Dawes plan 52 per cent. of these payments will be credited to France.

Refunding External Debt. Latest reports indicate that France is about to proceed with the refunding of her loan to Great Britain and the United States. This step, in the opinion of international bankers, will prove a powerful impetus in the recovery of the world.

As reported at the Customs Office of France, imports into France from Germany during the first nine months of the present year amounted to 1,626,000,000 francs, as against 628,000,000 for the corresponding period last year.

Exports from France to Germany for the nine months were 2,738,000,000, as compared with 751,000,000 in 1923.

French Government 6% Bonds Provide the Investment Opportunity of the Present Generation

PRESENT PRICE YIELDS ABOUT 7 3/4% And Yield increases as Franc Rises

Funding of France's External Debt to Great Britain and the United States will serve as a powerful impetus in driving the value of French Government 6% Bonds rapidly upwards.

EXCEPTIONAL PROFITS FOR ASTUTE INVESTORS

WE BELIEVE that an investment made today in French Government 6% Bonds (issued Dec. 16th, 1920—Redeemable on or after January 1st, 1931), presents an exceptional opportunity for profit.

Due to the depreciation of French francs, a French Government 6% Bond can now be bought for approximately $45.00; with French Exchange at normal (19.3c per franc) these same bonds would have a value of $193.00 each.

International bankers believe that French francs will sell above 10c per franc before very long. Just think what it means to French Government securities; when the franc touches 10c, each bond of 1,000 francs would have a value of $100.00—a rise of over 125% or a profit of $55.00 for every $45.00 invested.

We made a thorough investigation to determine the best way to buy French francs for maximum profits. We believe that the French Government 6% Bonds, maturing after 1931, afford the best medium, for they represent to French investors precisely what the high grade British Government Consols and our own Canadian Government Victory Bonds represent to us, being legal investments for every institution.

French Government Bonds represent to us, being legal investments for every institution, Trust Fund and Savings Bank in France and constitute a strictly high-grade gilt-edged government investment. They may be sold again instantly, being listed on the Paris Stock Exchange (Bourse).

The interest coupons have always been paid promptly on the dot and can be cashed in Montreal, New York, London and the principal financial centres of the world at the current rate for francs.

United States were financially bankrupt after the Civil War. Their securities could be bought for a song, yet in a few years the Americans were on their feet financially again, and today are considered the richest nation in the world.

England, too, once faced what seemed to be financial disaster. With Napoleon virtually pounding at her gates, British Bonds went next to nothing, but the victory at Waterloo sent them skyrocketing. The Rothschild family accumulated the major portion of its wealth by investing in British Bonds and selling them when Wellington's victory became known.

The experience of France, bankrupt at the hands of Bismarck, is within the memory of living man. Her bonds sold down to 7% of their normal value after the Franco-Prussian war. They appeared hopeless, yet in two years they had recovered 95% of their normal value, making fortunes for those who had the courage to invest in them. Millions of men and populations of nations lend their collective efforts to the task—nothing is impossible. The French Franc will undoubtedly come back to normal.

A study of history convinces one forcibly that the most difficult thing in the world to destroy is national existence. History will repeat itself. We believe that the opportunity of a lifetime, to make remarkable profits, exists today for our clients, through the purchase of these high-grade government securities. They rank as the highest-grade French Government bonds, and are virtually a first mortgage on the entire assets and resources of the Republic of France. The bonds are valid for thirty years after maturity and the interest coupons for five years after redemption date, thus enabling you to cash them at any time the exchange rates are favorable.

France ranks as a first-class military, naval and commercial power of the world. French industries are thriving and working overtime. France is exporting goods to every country of the globe; her shipping is crowding the seas and the nation shows every evidence of industrial and economic progress. Reparation payments from Germany are further enhancing her treasury. These conditions should be quickly reflected in a rapid rise in the French franc, which would in turn increase the value of her Government bonds. That is why we urge you to buy French Government bonds now while they are on the bargain counter.

Table with 4 columns: Present Price, With 10 cents, With 15 cents, With Par (10c). Rows include 1,000 French Government 6% Bonds, 5,000 French Government 6% Bonds, 10,000 French Government 6% Bonds, 25,000 French Government 6% Bonds, 50,000 French Government 6% Bonds, 100,000 French Government 6% Bonds.

We are selling a good many of these bonds at the above price which covers every expense. Upon receipt of money-order or accepted cheque, we will at once confirm sale by return registered mail, but order must be received by return mail to insure these prices, as quotations are changing daily.

We handle all kinds of foreign government and municipal bonds and it is vitally important to us to have our clients select those which will make the most money for them and make it most quickly. Our interest does not cease after a sale, for it is our constant aim to keep in touch with our clients, to render them service, posting them when the bonds rise in market value, and advising them whether or not we deem it advisable to sell. This service is expensive to ourselves but its value to our clients is incalculable. Use the order form below.

PIRIE MUST DIE, COURT DECREEES

Sentenced To Death For Slaying Wife and Family—Is Unmoved.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—John Buchanan Pirie, ex-captain of the Royal Air Force, today was sentenced to be hanged on March 24, for the murder of his wife and two young daughters. Exactly five hours after the opening of his trial, the jury found Pirie guilty, rejecting the plea of insanity on which the defence was based.

The accused, who had sat with his head bowed previous to the verdict, quietly received sentence. When asked if he had anything to say he replied that there was "one lack in the evidence of one witness, Dr. McNaughton said I told him I took part in the South African war. What I did say, so far as I know, is that Dr. Argue told me I did. The prosecuting counsel indicated that I told a lie; that I object to."

SEE THE ECLIPSE TO BEST ADVANTAGE.

The popular topic among scientists and many others at present is the total eclipse of the sun due to occur on January 24th, and particularly as there will be no other total eclipse of the sun visible from Ontario for one hundred years.

Many will desire to get to a point of vantage from which this phenomenon may be best witnessed. The center line of totality passes through a point south of Hamilton and north of Buffalo, and that points in this vicinity will be all equally good, including Hamilton, St. Catharines, Welland, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo. At these points the eclipse will continue for one minute and ten seconds of totality, and the time of the eclipse will be a few minutes past 3 a.m.

If you are interested you may leave London at 4:30 a.m. and 5:30 a.m., arriving at Hamilton at 7:12 a.m. and 7:45 a.m., respectively, by the Canadian National Railways. Connection is made at Hamilton for points south of that city in the event passengers may desire to make observations from more southerly points in the district.—Advt. 415-18,19,21.

The Hungry Watchers Prevent Peter Leaving the Safety of the Brambles

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter Rabbit was safe in a bramble-tangle on the edge of the Green Forest, but a small bramble-tangle, but it was a thick one, and Peter felt quite safe there. Hoity the Owl couldn't get at him, and the brambles were too thick for Reddy Fox to force his way through. So Peter didn't worry at all. Both Reddy and Hoity were just outside on watch. But that didn't bother Peter.

"They'll get tired after a while," said Peter to himself. "They'll get tired and go away."

But there was one thing that Peter didn't know, and that was that both Reddy and Hoity had hunted and hunted and found nothing to eat. Here was a dinner, a splendid dinner, in that little bramble-tangle, and it was worth waiting for. Both knew that sooner or later Peter would have to leave that little bramble-tangle. He himself would get hungry, and he would have to go where he could find something to eat.

So, though after a while Reddy pretended to go away, he didn't go, but hid where Peter couldn't see him, but where he could watch Peter through the bramble-tangle. Peter could see Hoity. It was a moonlight night, and all night long Hoity remained, hungrily watching. He didn't move. He sat so still and upright that had you happened along and looked up at him you certainly would have thought him a part of the tree. But Peter had seen him all right there, and so he wasn't fooled.

Reddy Fox knew that Hoity was watching him, but he didn't know that Peter knew that Hoity was watching. So after a while Reddy stole away to hunt for Wood Mice. By the time jolly, round, bright Sun had started his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky, Reddy was back again in his former hiding-place. When Mr. Sun had climbed high enough to make it uncomfortable for Hoity, Hoity gave up and flew to a darker place deep in the Green Forest.

Peter saw Hoity go. By this time Peter was beginning to get stiff. "I'll wait awhile," said Peter to himself. "and then I guess it will be safe enough for me to go on. I haven't seen anything more of Reddy Fox, so I guess he has given up."

So Peter began to move about in the bramble-tangle, for he had sat still so long that he was beginning to feel stiff. Now in moving about Peter made a mistake. A pair of the sharpest eyes in all the Green Forest saw him as he moved about. They were the eyes of Terror the Goshawk. So Terror perched

DECORATIONS GAY

A peep into the Masonic Temple just before ten o'clock last night would have found five hundred men and women, young and old alike, engaged in the various pursuits of dancing, card playing or chatting to

About one hundred and seventy-five of these were from out-of-town, coming to London from throughout the breadth of Canada, to be present at the great Jubilee celebration and annual meeting of the company.

The dancers naturally attracted the greatest attention as they moved back and forth over the dance floor beneath a canopy of lights and scarlet and white decorations. Long streamers of scarlet and white shaded the light, the broader bands of the same colors were draped over the ceiling and drape gallery and stage.

Behind a screen of white snowdrops, which acted as stage from the rest of the dance hall, the business orchestra, furnished attractive dance music.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stinson and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mayne formed the reception committee, while a large and enthusiastic committee from the head office staff moved throughout the building welcoming guests and keeping the fun at gayest pitch. Just above the main door, leading to the gathering in the main dance room, was the great London Life crest, and that dates 1874 and 1924, indicating that it was the time of the Jubilee celebration.

Cardroom Attractions. Upstairs, cardrooms had been arranged, while in the basement supper was served from 10:30 to 12 o'clock from small tables prettily laid beneath a canopy of Japanese lanterns.

Although all of the many entertainments afforded the guests were in full swing just previous to 12 o'clock, the striking of that hour brought dancing and card-playing to a temporary close, and all of the guests gathered in the main dance room to witness the clever program of old-fashioned songs and dances presented by Miss Lenore Coughlin, Mrs. Harrison Link and Miss Kathleen England, who, in their quaint costumes and the brightness of their singing and dancing brought forth the enthusiastic applause of the gathering. And this was only superseded in warmth when they followed up their skit with a number of humorous limericks on outstanding personalities of the company and staff.

This most successful At Home was arranged under the direction of an able committee headed by Ora Newton.

HUDSON'S BAY RAILWAY IS PROVINCIAL PROJECT

Canadian Press Dispatch. Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—It is of no use passing resolutions urging the federal government to complete the Hudson Bay railway, and it will never be finished unless the prairie provinces combine to do it themselves and let the dominion administration look after the water end of the project," declared Hon. T. C. Norris, leader of the opposition in the Manitoba legislature, last night.

He urged the Bracken government to take the initiative and try to induce the Saskatchewan and Alberta governments to come into a joint scheme.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE NO. 85

Here's another of those "on the square" puzzles. In the upper left-hand corner is a word square, each word of four letters. Similarly in the upper right, lower left, lower right, and in the center, are found four-letter word squares. The four corner letters of the center square overlap on the others. Remember, we carried a puzzle of similar construction. There are no unusual words in this one. Horizontal 32 is 32 (Acrop). Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical) according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock. Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

To-day! saw
How to give us sunshine, when clouds are dense and rain falls?
A problem not even an Einstein has solved!
Yet Fashion solves it easily this season, and presents in support of her theory—the yellow slicker.
That valiant note of color struck by gallant sailors against pounding seas and sullen skies, Fashion has claimed to meet her whim for vivid hues—and to protect her smartest gowns 'gainst rainy days.
From New York we hear that smart women who wear the yellow slicker glint sunlight even though skies are drab and heavy with rain.
And it wasn't only the yellow slicker that I saw on the Second Floor this morning—but colorful oiled silk raincoats as well. You must be thinking seriously of them, ere thaws and spring rains begin.

EATING PILLS IS FATAL TO 18-MONTHS-OLD BABY

Canadian Press Despatch. Moncton, N.B., Jan. 20.—The 18-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gaudet of this city is dead as the result of eating yesterday a number of pills containing strychnine and arsenic, which were kept in the house for one of the parents.

AGRICULTURISTS ELECT OFFICERS AT DORCHESTER

Special to The Advertiser. Dorchester, Jan. 20.—The annual meeting of the Dorchester Agricultural society was held here on Saturday afternoon, and was well attended. Charles Rath, a director since 1917, and president for the past two years, A. E. Jackson, who was perhaps the oldest director on the board, and a former president of Donnybrook fair, and A. McCallum, who has been a director for a number of years, have all retired. Miss Celia W. Neely, who has been secretary-treasurer of the society for the past 12 years, has resigned. Miss

The financial statement was very satisfactory, although the balance on hand, $2,195.33, is about $145 less than the previous year. This is somewhat accounted for by the loss in gate receipts at the last exhibition. It was decided to conduct standing field crop competitions on corn and oats this year. D. L. Morrison and O. H. Moxley were appointed delegates to attend the conventions at Stratford and Toronto early in February. The following officers and directors were elected: D. L. Morrison, president; B. Marsh, first vice-president; O. H. Moxley, second vice-president; directors, C. Hunt, J. Calvert, F. Boyes.

Nothing new developed in the case, and the police are still following slender clues.
