WAS REMANDED

Yoff, the man who is accused of stealing Dr. McFarlane's horses, came up in County Police Court before Judge Houston this morning at 11 o'clock. The case was remanded for a week.

Moses Stonefish, an Indian, who was committed for trial by Justice of the Peace Dillon, of Bothwell, on a charge of horse stealing, was lodged in the county jail yesterday. He was brought before Judge Dowlin for a preliminary hearing, and elected to be tried before the County Judge without a jury. His case will come up next week.

ELECTRIC LIGHT BUILDING CAUSE OF MUCH ARGUMENT

The Water Board Need it—Chairman Sheldon Thinks City Should Pay For it and Chairman Potter Thinks Commissioners Should Pay For it Themselves

Chairman William Potter and Ald. Bullis, of the Property Committee of the City Council, met Chairman of the Water Board W. D. Sheldon last evening, with a view to arriving at some satisfactory arrangement by which the present electric light building can be taken over by the Water Works Board.

The meeting lasted for two hours, and during that time there was much discussion and dickerings on both sides. Mr. Sheldon was of the opinion that the city should purchase the building from the Electric Light department and present it to the Water Works. He positively refused to spend the money received from the water users for purchasing the building. Ald. Potter thought that the Water Commissioners should purchase the building themselves, from the Electric Light department. In any case he thought that the purchase money should be placed to the credit of the Electric Light department. The point that the Electric Light department should receive the money for the plant was practically agreed upon, and the only question which seemed to be in dispute was, who should pay the money—the city or the Water Board.

After much discussion, it was decided to recommend to the Council that they purchase for the Water Board the building now occupied by the Electric Light department, and that the money be placed to the credit of the Electric Light department. It was also decided to recommend that the Council include with the building the boiler now on the ground. If this is done, the new filter will be placed in this room to be used in cases of emergency. No money value has as yet been placed on the building.

The new electric light building will be erected at the rear of the present building.

This recommendation will be brought before the Council at their next meeting, and it is yet quite problematical as to how the Council will deal with it. It is not likely that they will agree to purchase this building for the Water Works unless they are compelled to do so, especially in view of the fact that they are so hard pressed for money at the present time, and the Water Board is piling up a surplus. It is also thought in some quarters that the people who are not using the water should not be called upon to improve the plant for the benefit of those who are, and this is what will be done if the money is taken out of the general fund and paid by the city.

On the other hand, the Water Board claim that the reason they have to enlarge their plant is to provide better fire protection, etc., in which all the citizens will share the benefits, and they should therefore pay for it.

The question is one which offers every chance for argument, and it will no doubt be completely threshed out when the above recommendation comes before the Council.

Editor Planet.—I have just finished a week at Blackpool, one of the swiftest places in the United Kingdom. As a sea-side summer resort, for attractions and entertainments, it has no equal. Lancashire and Yorkshire are the great manufacturing centres of industry—the hub of England. Thousands of mills. Millions of people from Lancashire and in July and August the middle Yorkshire take their summer outing, class and the working men take possession of Blackpool. There are no people in England who go in for more solid fun than the people of these two counties; every city and large town provide for a week's holidays, which they call the wakes, and the whole family goes to the sea-side. Every factory shuts down for a week. They have a novel way of providing for this week's holiday. The men pay so much every week from their wages for this annual outing, and the money raised in this way is enormous. I cannot do better than give a statement from the issue of one of the leading papers in Oldham, Lancashire, that the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand pounds was paid out to the workmen, all of which had been collected in this way in a single town. If any of your readers doubt this why write to Oldham.

The promenade of Blackpool is two miles long with a fine sea-wall 60 yards wide. Three large piers extend a long way in the sea, laid out with the finest of buildings, music halls, dancing pavilions, in fact hundreds of places of amusement, and the best talent plays at Blackpool that can be produced from London and Paris.

The winter gardens are the finest places in Blackpool for high class entertainments. I saw the grand spectacular "billed" extravaganza by the Zinder Zee—150 on the stage. It was a swell affair. The Empress ball room, the largest and finest ball room in England; theatres and everything you want in the winter gardens.

A LIGHT SENTENCE

Raymond Toulouse is Given
One Year in Central Prison

He Ran Away With Fourteen Year Old Maggie
Bellaire

Raymond Toulouse, of Big Point, was found guilty and sentenced to one year in Central Prison this morning, on a charge of running away with fourteen-year-old Maggie Bellaire and registering at the Merrill Hotel, Chatham, as man and wife. Much of the evidence was of such a nature that it cannot be published.

The Bellaire girl was the only witness called. She is short, plump, unattractive in appearance, and looks old for her age, which she asserts is only fourteen years. She told the story of her escape with Toulouse calmly in a low voice. She said that Toulouse told her he was going to Thameville, and she asked him to take her with him. She had no good clothes, so he bought her a skirt and a waist. He also made her a present of a ring, which was produced in Court—a plain gold circlet, which looked much like a wedding ring. She said that they went to the Merrill Hotel, where they registered as man and wife. She appeared to be anxious to shield Toulouse as much as she possibly could.

Toulouse's wife was in the city this morning, but did not make an appearance in Court. She was accompanied by her three children, and she said that she was willing to forgive her erring spouse, if he would come back to her. "You owe a great debt of gratitude to that little woman," said Judge Houston when sentencing Toulouse. "She is willing to forgive and forget, in spite of all your faults."

There is nothing in Toulouse's appearance which would explain the great affection which the two women showed for him. He is not by any means good-looking, is awkward in his movements, and wears long hair like a cheap actor or a medicine fakir.

O. L. Lewis and Ward Stanworth acted for the defence, and Crown Attorney Smith prosecuted.

THE FAIR IS OPENED

Nothing Overlooked By
The Directors or The Weatherman

Excellent Horse Show—
Trials of Speed Are Postponed

It is about time for someone to spring the old joke about "Fair" weather in Chatham. Not even changing the dates, it seems, can scare away the rain when there is a Peninsular Fair on.

While the poor weather has undoubtedly caused considerable loss to the directors of the West Kent Exhibition, it is going to be a big fair just the same, and a good one at that. Although it rained for the most of the morning, it cleared up considerably at noon, just enough to give the exhibition the signs of an auspicious start. Early in the afternoon, even though the sky was still black with clouds, the crowds commenced to throng to the Agricultural Park, and there was plenty to interest them after they got there.

The chief feature in the exhibit line this year is the splendid display of horses. "It is an elegant horse show," is the popular comment among the many visitors. Thoroughbreds, carriage horses, draught horses, etc., are shown in large numbers, and the competition is close and keen. The cattle sheds are filled, and in the pavilion, poultry sheds and carriage rooms there is not an inch to spare.

And then there is the midway. Several interesting attractions have been secured from the London and Toronto exhibitions, and here the crowds are seen in large numbers spending their money and seeing things they never dreamed they could see.

Owing to the poor condition of the track there will be no trials of speed this afternoon. If the weather clears up by to-morrow, there will be racing all day.

Taken all in all, the Fair may safely be called a success, and if the rain only holds off for a couple of days, the exhibition will please both the public and the directors.

PASSED AWAY

The death of Mrs. Margaret Reame, wife of Joseph Reame, concession 2, Dover Township, occurred this morning after a lingering illness. Deceased was sixty-seven years old and leaves a family of eight children. She was married twice, her former husband's name being Mr. McCart. She has no children by her second marriage.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock from her late residence. Interment will be made in St. Anthony's cemetery.

Yes, he was pretty well fixed at one time, but he got silver-crazy in 1896 and he lost all he had.

DIED IN CALIFORNIA

Word was received in the city this morning of the death of Anna J., wife of Geo. G. Stewart, of Los Angeles, Cal., which occurred on the 9th of this month.

Deceased was 31 years of age and was well known in this city. She left Chatham about four years ago and has since been residing at Los Angeles. She was born at Glencoe, where she lived for a number of years.

The funeral took place last Monday, from her late residence, to Roseadale Cemetery.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

The Calgary Herald thinks Mr. Borden's plans for the civil service especially deserve fair consideration. He stands for:

"A thorough and complete reformation of laws relating to the Civil Service so that future appointments shall be made by an independent commission acting upon the report of examiners after competitive examination."

Anybody who knows the work of a member of parliament under the present system knows that seventy-five per cent. of his time and ability is given to matters of patronage and appointments. Under existing conditions, with all questions of patronage decided almost solely by partisan influences, it is inevitable that unelectable appointments will be made. The day when appointments to public office are taken out of the hands of politicians will be a good day for Canada.

Mr. Hyman drew his pay as Minister of Public Works down to the end of August in this year. That is ten months and more after he ceased to perform the duties of the position. For more than nine months of this time he was out of the country, and but for a supposed mistake in his letter of resignation he would not have been a member of Parliament. Mr. Hyman is a rich man but he drew from the people of Canada during that period of absence $5,250.

The Globe pays the following tribute to the late Reginald Jamieson, an account of whose sudden ending appeared in Monday's Planet. The late Mr. Jamieson is the son of Dr. Jamieson, who was formerly the Presbyterian pastor at Blenheim, St. Paul's and English's: "The death of Mr. C. R. Jamieson, a student of Knox College, who was drowned in the French River while swimming to secure aid for his two lady companions, is an accident of the most tragic sort. The deceased had to all appearance a great career of usefulness ahead of him, and he had already shown himself to be possessed of ability and courage. His determination to bear the brunt of forcing an official investigation of the manner in which one of the great prizes in the University of Toronto has been awarded led to the correction of abuses of long standing and pernicious effect."

LISTEN TO THIS ADVICE

It may be that some persons will be inclined to doubt the statement made by an eminent authority, at a recent meeting, that with a mixture of dandelion, kargon and sarsaparilla, he would give prompt relief to any sufferer of rheumatism, or the usual forms of backache, caused by inactive, clogged kidneys, yet many cases of long standing that had been entirely relieved were cited to prove the truth of his assertion. The same authority further stated that many cases which failed to yield to the healing waters of the famous health resorts, or the usual remedies as prescribed, salicylate of soda, potash, colchicum, etc.—were readily relieved by the use of this simple mixture—Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful dose after meals and at bedtime.

A well-known druggist, when approached upon the subject, stated that while this prescription, as written, is new, the ingredients are continually prescribed by the best physicians, and any good prescription pharmacy has them; they are inexpensive and harmless to use, and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

If the claims made for this mixture are only partly correct, it would seem that no sufferer here could afford to leave this prescription untried.

WALLACEBURG

Wallaceburg, Sept. 18.—Sunday, Sept. 29th, will be children's day at Knox church. An address will be given in the morning by the pastor, Rev. Murray Tait, and the chief feature of the service will be the singing by the children, particularly those of the primary class.

BLENHEIM

Blenheim, Sept. 17.—Miss Annie Stover has arrived from Lansing, Mich., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stover.

Mr. Geo. Taylor and Mr. Matt Slater left last night for New Ontario on a prospecting tour.

Miss Nellie Denholm, of Blenheim, left last week for Lunenburg to resume her position as a milliner.

Miss Nellie Stover, who has been in training for a nurse at Ann Arbor, Mich., is at present visiting at her home in Blenheim.

Mrs. Mercer Denholm, who has been visiting at Orangeville and other points, arrived home last night.

The lecture (illustrated) given by Rev. G. W. Ray in the Baptist church last night was largely attended.

Quite a severe electrical storm passed over Blenheim last night.

The Blenheim Masons will hold a banquet in their hall to-night, in honor of Mr. Geo. Cairns, who will be leaving town on Sept. 23rd. Mr. Cairns has secured a position in Calgary, Alta., as manager of a boot and shoe store for the Cordville, Georgetown Co. in that town.

Mr. A. W. Bell, a former merchant in Blenheim, who left here over a year ago for Vancouver, but who on the score of the health of his family removed later to Fort William, has returned to Ontario and has located in Toronto, where he has secured a position. His wife and daughter, who have been spending the summer with Mrs. Bell's sisters, Miss Hicks and Mrs. Foster, in Blenheim, have recently joined him in their new home.

The inhabitants of Blenheim were greatly shocked yesterday to hear of the death of Mr. C. Reginald Jamieson by drowning in New Ontario, while trying to bring relief to his starving wife and her friends.

He was a great favorite in Blenheim and held a very warm spot in the regard of all who knew him, his young wife, his father and mother, and his brother and sisters will all have the heartfelt sympathy of the people of Blenheim and surrounding country.

The Rev. Dr. Jamieson, his father, and his family lived for a number of years in Blenheim, having had charge of the rural Presbyterian churches in the vicinity, and were all held in the highest esteem and regard by everyone.

LITERARY

Good Club Houses, the opening subject of Keith's Magazine on Home Building, is written by Ann Nixon Hopkins, who shows the essential points to be considered when building a club house. Illustrations of several handsome club houses are given. Particular detail is given in dealing with in Little Journeys With the Architect.

Modern Designs show many styles of houses, all of which are convenient and compact, and several of which are designed to meet some peculiar difficulty as, for instance, one which is built on the slope of a hill.

A unique plan is one for a play-house. It is built on the lines of a Swiss chalet, and contains a large play room, off which is a good size kitchen where little girls could be taught to cook and serve teas.

In the Decoration and Furnishing Department, curtains are discussed, where most suitable and hints on hanging them is discussed by Eleanor A. Cummins.

Household Economics suggests the best ways of getting rid of rubbish which accumulates in every house, but which varies according to local tastes and inclinations of the inmates.

Other departments are full of bright timely topics.

Published by Max L. Keith, Minneapolis, Minn., at $1.50 per annum, of 15 cents per copy.

The September number of the Travel Magazine has a beautiful colored cover, entitled The Turn of the Seasons, which portraits a return from the hunt. In keeping with the cover, the first article given is, Following the Hounds in California, which describes a hunt which is held every year, in which everyone who can get either a horse or a dog is allowed to join.

A Week End Auto Trip in Southampton, Long Island, suggests several trips that can be taken over the finest of roads, through beautiful scenery, varying in length from what can be accomplished in an afternoon to one of twelve hundred miles.

A Tourist's Trip Through Panama tells of the wonders to be seen on the route of the Panama Canal. Summer Homes in Russia represents a phase of Russian life that is not generally known.

The Department of the Thames From Oxford to London, takes us over the most historical water course in the world. Here the renowned races between Oxford and Cambridge are pulled off each year.

The illustrations all through the number are numerous and beautiful.

Learning by Doing, by Elbert Hubbard, which we find in the September Cosmopolitan, expresses the idea which is so popular in Canada that the course which is the truest and best education is to teach children to observe and think out the reason why, for the common objects which surround them.

Strange Lineage of a Royal Baby, by Chas. Edward Russell, gives the lineage of the infant son of the young King and Queen of Spain. While everyone admits that Spain has had a weak, cruel monarchy, the paper shows the writing of a narrow mind.

Aunt Jane Goes A-Visiting, by Eliza C. Hall, is a sweet little character sketch, which leaves a feeling of rest with the reader.

The New Yosemite Railroad describes the line of railway which has been built to make the Yosemite Valley—one of the most beautiful spots on earth—easy of access without spoiling the natural beauties.

A Wine of Wizardry, by George Sterling, is considered one of the finest poems that has been written for some years.

As Mr. Sterling is not a well-known poet, Ambrose Bierce's article, "A Poet and His Poem," may be considered as an introduction to him. There are many bright stories and other articles on interesting subjects to be found, all of which contribute to make this one of the best numbers that has been issued this year of this popular magazine.

CLARIFIED AND BOTTLED MILK

To clarify and bottle milk is the only sanitary and up-to-date way to handle such an important product of the dairy as milk, for while it is one of the best and most necessary foods we have if properly cared for, it is certainly one of the most dangerous if neglected or carelessly handled, and should never be exposed to street dust, as is done in the ordinary way of peddling milk from large cans with open measures. The Steam Turbine Machine used to clarify all the milk sold from the will certainly take all the impurities out of the milk, thereby removing the danger of many cases of sickness, especially among children, that can be traced directly to the milk supply. Don't take such chances this hot dry weather when you can get

Crown Attorney Rodd in receipt of a letter from Kingmill, Hellmuth, Stedman & Torrance, to the effect that the general attorney has concurred in their opinion that the railway should pay all claims and not attempt to make a fight in the courts.

MOB ATTACK MOTORMAN.

Squad of Policemen Save Man's Life.

New York, Sept. 17.—With clubs and revolvers drawn, a squad of reserve policemen from the East 104th station, fought a mob of Italian-Americans, numbering thousands, who tried to lynch Garret Moroney, a policeman on the Second Avenue surface line Sunday night, after his car had run over and killed a nine-year-old boy. To save him from the wrath of the mob, it became necessary to lock him in a store.

In the meantime the car was fired from the track, and on its side, regardless of passengers in it, and wrecked. The crowd grew to such proportions that it packed more than four blocks.

FOREMAN WAS ANXIOUS

More Evidence as to Instability of Quebec Bridge.

Yenser Wrote Pointing Out Danger and Asking For Telegraphic Instructions—John Spicer's Nervous Fears Saved His Life—Was Afraid to Assume Work—Commission to Visit Hospital.

Quebec, Sept. 17.—On the very day of the Quebec bridge disaster, a letter was received at Phoenixville from Mr. Yenser, the actual foreman in charge of the work, asking for telegraphic instructions as to whether or not he was to continue work on the structure in view of the deflected chord. This fact was sworn to yesterday by Mr. Milliken, who was in Phoenixville at the time, and who immediately called up Yenser on the long-distance 'phone to learn from him that, believing there was no danger, he had continued operations. Yenser is one of the victims under the debris of the bridge. One of yesterday's witnesses, J. Nance, had a marvelous escape when the structure collapsed. He ran a small electric engine on the top of the small traveler. When he felt the bridge give way, he was in the water almost before he knew what had happened. He was picked up by a small boat. In common with a couple of other witnesses, he said his attention had been previously drawn to defects in the structure, but he had continued working because he did not care to be the first man to walk off the work.

Raoul Lafontaine said he had noticed a crack in one of the bridge plates two or three weeks before the collapse. It was 18 or 20 inches long and as wide as his little finger. His cousin, Oumet, who had since left for the lumber shanties in Ontario, had drawn his attention to it. He noticed it on three different days. When asked to point out its location on a plan he indicated a different position to that given by former witnesses. He was ordered to meet the engineers 10-day on the scene of the wreck to endeavor to locate the defect.

A. B. Milliken, recalled, related that on the day of the accident he received at Phoenixville a letter from Mr. Yenser on the works, dated two days before, asking whether, in view of the deflected chord, he should go on with the work on the structure, and requesting an answer by wire. As the transmission of messages was very uncertain, owing to the telegraph operators' strike, Mr. Yenser was called by long-distance telephone and asked further about the matter, when he said that there appeared to be no danger he was proceeding with the work.

For the present there are no more witnesses to be heard here. To-day the commissioners go to Lewis to examine the injuries sustained by the fatal there. Wednesday and Thursday will be spent in examining the storage yards for material, and men in charge at Belair and Chaudiere, and on Friday certain foremen and engineers will be recalled here before the commission. Early next week the commissioners will go to New York to examine Mr. Theodore Cooper and other expert witnesses, and will later visit the works at Phoenixville and the rolling and other mills at Harrisburg and elsewhere.

Quebec, Sept. 17.—John E. Spicer, an employee of the Phoenix Bridge Co., was examined by the Royal Commission yesterday. He did not work the day of the accident, but was on duty on the previous day. Answering Mr. Holgate he said he did not work on the 29th because he got nervous. He had never got into him; he had intended to go back to work in the afternoon, but it got too windy.

The night before the collapse he said, "The whole bunch of us were talking about the bend in the chord. Messrs. Solman, Angus, Rose, Mitchell, Michael Adams, John Jocat, Joseph Diabo, Louis Diabo, all of whom were killed, had discussed a place in the chord which was open, and that an endeavor had been made to 'jack it up.' It could not be gotten into position, and the plates were drawn together and riveted."

Prior to this he and J. Bowen, from Nova Scotia, had viewed the bent chord.

Convict's Story True.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—A number of human bones were found in a quarry in the north end Sunday. The place was being drained by order of the police in order to ascertain the truth of a statement made by a convict serving a term in penitentiary that the bodies of Ellen Quinn and a Chinaman were disposed of by murderers in that place. Sunday's find is regarded as corroboration of the man's story.

criminal case, King v. Lockyer. Henry Lockyer, charged with the murder of Noah Hills, in a fist encounter last June, was allowed off on suspended sentence, his lawyer, J. C. Makins, putting up a magnificent plea for leniency. There are eight civil cases on the list.

Hull Grocer Killed.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—Albert Dagenais, a Hull grocer, went up the Gatineau River with Nap Charbonneau Sunday. They took a 22-calibre rifle with them, and in some way Dagenais was shot through the lower part of the body. He was removed to Ottawa and died in Water street Hospital yesterday morning.

Mrs. M. Barrett, 602 Morton St., Montreal, says: "A horrid rash came out all over my baby's face and spread until it had totally covered his scalp. It was irritating and painful, and caused the very commonest ailment of the infant. I tried soaps and powders and salves, but he got no better. He was so fretful all day long that it made it very hard for me. He refused his food, got quite thin and worn, and was reduced to a very serious condition. I was one day advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. It was wonderful how it seemed to cool and ease the child's burning, painful skin. He gradually became more easy and able to sleep. Zam-Buk from the very commencement seemed to go right to the spot, and the pimples and sores and the irritation grew less and less. Within a few weeks my baby's skin was as healthy as ever. He has now not a trace of the previous rash, and is in first-class condition. Zam-Buk is sold at all stores and medicine vendors, 50c a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

ALPS TOLL OF DEAD.

Ninety Accidents This Year Claim Eighty Lives—Eighty Two Injured.

Berne, Sept. 17.—The toll of summer victims of Alpine accidents is the heaviest ever recorded. Eighty persons were killed and 82 injured in 90 accidents this year, as against 70 deaths and 72 injuries in the previous record, 76 fatalities in 1906, in 71 accidents.

Thirty-eight of the 80 persons killed were guides, 31 were persons spending vacations in the Alps, and the remainder were native flower gatherers, etc. Three-quarters of the fatalities were caused by falls over precipices. The others were due to avalanches, snowstorms and lightning.

Brazil Backs Down.

The Hague, Sept. 17.—Dr. Ruy Barbosa, head of the Brazilian delegation to the Peace Conference, announced yesterday that after further consideration of the plan of M. Bourgeois of France for the allotment of the judges of the permanent arbitration tribunal he cannot support it.

The Brazilian delegate had previously approved the plan, but he now finds that it does not sufficiently guarantee the equality of all the states. He therefore urges the rejection of the Brazilian proposition, namely, one judge for each country.

Judge McCarthy found both prisoners guilty of forgery, and sentenced Giles to six months and McDonald to one year in the Central Prison.

Immigration Statistics.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—The total immigration to Canada for the first seven months of the present year, ending July 31, was 155,886, as compared with 118,229 for the corresponding period of 1906, an increase of 37,657, or about 30 per cent. The immigration via ocean ports totalled 126,453, an increase of 39,820 over the first seven months of 1906. The immigration from the United States was 27,233, a decrease of 2,616.

How Slow the Train Was.

Two men were coming into Denver from a nearby town on a local train the other day. The train stopped every five minutes, it seemed, and one of the men became impatient. Finally when the train halted for the engine to get up steam the man's impatience overflowed.

"Now, what do you think of this train?" he said to the other.

"It isn't making much progress," replied his friend.

"Progress! I should say not," said the impatient man. "It would be a fierce job to take a moving picture of this train."

AX IN TREASON TRIALS.

Sharp Edge Turned Toward Prisoner When Sentence is Pronounced.

Every one is aware of the dreadfully significant part the executioner's ax plays in a trial for high treason. The sharp symbol of death is carried before the prisoner, with its blunt side turned toward him so long as he has not been sentenced, says Macmillan's Magazine, and just before sentence is pronounced the sharp edge is turned his way.

Evening, who was present at the trial of Lord Stafford in 1889, tells us that the ax was turned edgewise to the unfortunate nobleman so soon as it was ascertained that the voting of the peers went against him, an effective but ghastly piece of stage management which must have had a sickening fascination for the unhappy and probably innocent man. In those days, now happily gone by, no one seems to have reflected on the unnecessary cruelty of harrowing the feelings of men about to die by such shocking judicial display.

Not every prisoner treated this purely symbolic but otherwise superfluous and unpleasant ceremony, as contemptuously as did Lord Balmerino. When the three coaches conveyed the Lords Kilmarock, Balmerino and Cromarty from the Tower to be sentenced at Westminster on July 28, 1746, a difficulty arose. It was not laid down by prescription or use in which coach, if there were more than one, the fatal ax had to be carried. "Oh, put the thing in here," cried brave old Balmerino. "I don't care."

Yet, notwithstanding his contempt for this horrid symbol, the undaunted old man cheerfully suffered death for his attachment to another symbol, the white cockade. But Lord Kilmarock, in the next coach, was dreadfully frightened, as he showed himself to be, by his thorough realization of what the awful ax would mean to him. He inquired minutely into all the details of an execution, wanted the governor of the Tower to tell him whether his head would roll or rebound, and when on the scaffold he saw the executioner dressed in white, with a white apron, he whispered to his chaplain, "Home, how horrible!"

REMARKABLE HORSES.

Some Clever Animals and a Wonderful New England Nag.

In his letters to Lord Granville, published by the Royal Philosophical society, who was also greatly interested in natural history, Smithsonian, the founder of the Smithsonian institution in America, says London Tit-Bits, relates how the horse of Alexander the Great, Bucephalus, would at night on hearing a blast of the trumpet from the soldiers on guard, showing the approach of the enemy, run at great speed to his master's tent and with his teeth grab the sleeping monarch and shake him until he sprang into the saddle and galloped toward the enemy.

Also that the great Caliph Harun-al-Raschid in the eighth century in marching toward the forces of Queen Irene of Constantinople always had a number of trained Arabian horses (direct descendants of the famous horses owned by Ishmael 4,000 years ago) thrown forward as scouts, which from time to time returned to camp and by a peculiar whinny and neigh reported the proximity of the enemy.

Again, he relates the experiences of the Portuguese explorer, Albuquerque, who lived for many years in the sixteenth century on the island of St. Helena, where he and the natives taught the herds of wild horses there not only to dig potatoes, but to husk corn, and these horses descended from a herd taken there from Cappadocia in the second century, as related by the Greek historian, Philostratus.

But, to come down to the present day, it is related by a retired New England clergyman whose sands of life had nearly run out that one day on leading his horse down through a lane to a brook for a drink the animal suddenly halted, and turning its head around, grabbed up with its teeth one of its hind shoes which had just dropped off, and holding it in its mouth with the nails dangling, it backed up against a stone wall and clapped it on its hoof and with a few violent kicks nailed it on again.

BRICK BUILDING COLLAPSES.

Cincinnati Has Repetition of London Disaster—Three Dead.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Two unknown men and one woman were killed and a dozen other persons narrowly escaped death in the collapse of the Doherty Shop Co.'s four-story building in Central avenue yesterday. The building was undergoing repairs.

Shortly before noon, after a warning rumble, the front of the building fell forward into the street, leaving only the rear section standing.

An unknown man, who was passing on the sidewalk, was killed. A second man, apparently a laborer, was found dead in the ruins, as was Mrs. Mary Daley, who lived on the second floor.

Of the seven workmen in the building, three were reported missing, but all were later found unhurt.

A number of women in the apartments on the upper floors were in their kitchens, preparing the midday meal, and to that fact owed their escape.

KILLED AS WIFE LOOKED ON.

Harvey Hill Was Electrocuted at Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 16.—Harvey Hill, an employee of the municipal electric plant, when turning on the incandescent electric street light from a pole-box on Ferry street at the south end of the city Saturday evening in some unaccountable manner got his head in contact with a high voltage current and was instantly killed in the presence of his wife, who was waiting for him on the sidewalk.

As there was no more than 150 volts on the incandescent circuit, insufficient to kill, the line must have been in contact with some foreign high voltage wire.

A Summer Hat.

One can be made by using a dolly set, the large piece followed out to fit the brim of wire frame; one small doll for top of crown. The remaining five can be used as a rosette or for sides of the crown. Fill under the brim with gathered mull or net. You are saved lots of work of embroidering and yet have a handsome hat, which is easily laundered.

Cost Less than Stoves

A Hecla Furnace, installed on Hecla principles, will keep your house comfortable throughout the winter at less fuel expense than it would cost you for stoves. It is the old story, of course, of concentration meaning power. In a Hecla, you get all the heat from the coal you burn and where you want it. The whole house is comfortably, and evenly heated and ventilated.

Hecla Furnaces

are equally adapted for mild or severe weather—always ready for any demand made on them. They are the only hot air furnaces that are absolutely healthful and sanitary.

No other furnace is made with the Fused Joints that patented feature of the Hecla which makes the escape of gas, dust or smoke into the house an impossibility. Let me tell you about these Fused Joints and about other features of the Hecla in which you will be interested.

See your nearest dealer or write "Clare's Furnace Builder" for new illustrated catalogue and estimates.

A PIGEON HUNT

Complaint has been made in reference to the action of certain men in the vicinity of the Market Square. For some years, the city has owned some pigeons which have made their home around the market building. They have chosen to make their roost in the open space back of the Police Station, and they feed daily upon the grain and stuff left on the market. A few nights ago a man was noticed prowling around the square with a lantern and a long pole. A person who was interested enough, investigated the matter through curiosity to see what the man was doing at that late hour, and found to his surprise that he was using the lantern to locate the pigeons, and the pole to knock them down. He had a bag along with him, and he was reaping a great harvest of pigeons. The humane officer should investigate this case, and if it is done again the offender should be prosecuted.

LOST HIS WHEEL

Chief of Police John Holmes is in receipt of the following letter: John Holmes, Esq., Chief of Police, City:

The following is a description of Wallace's wheel, which was taken off the back veranda of Mrs. E. W. Scane's residence between eight o'clock Friday night and Saturday morning: It is a Brantford make, new last year, painted red, No. 158819, black mud guard over rear wheel, grip off the right side of handle bars.

Trusting this description will be sufficient to help locate it and that you will use every effort to secure it.

It seems a shame that people are compelled to keep stuff like that under lock and key, and that someone must systematically be making a business of this kind of thing.

Yours truly,
W. J. TAYLOR,

HOUSE WAS ENTERED

At about nine o'clock, Monday evening, the residence of Mr. Eugene Lawson, corner Patteson Ave. and Raleigh St., was broken into by burglars. The marauders gained admittance through a window at the back of the house. A saw-horse that was next to the window in order to make the act of getting in easier. The window was broken and traces of blood were left on the sill, showing that they had cut their hands on the broken glass. Two neighbors appeared on the scene in a short time and made a search, but were unsuccessful in finding anyone. They immediately went up to the G. T. R. station, but were unsuccessful in seeing anyone who looked suspicious of the act. Nothing was stolen from the house.

MANY BIG FIRES

Gloucester, Sept. 17.—One of the worst storms that ever occurred in this section passed over here last night. The storm commenced about seven o'clock and continued all through the night. The sky was lit up in every direction from the reflection of fires. Travellers coming in from the west state that there were fires all along the line, one gentleman counting eighteen fires between Chatham and here, a distance of 34 miles. Mr. Neil Galbraith, a short distance east of here, had his barn burnt with all his season's crop. Mr. John Stinson also lost a barn. Mr. Neil Currie, of Chatham, a short distance south of here, had his barn and all his crops burnt. There were a number of other fires, but full reports are not ascertainable at the time of writing.

HARVEST HOME

A very successful Harvest Home was held at Charing Cross Monday night, under the auspices of the Methodist Church, of that place. The electric car left the G. T. R. station at 7:30 o'clock and was loaded with a crowd of jolly people bound for the Cross. An excellent supper was provided by the ladies of the church, after which a choice program was given by local and Chatham talent. A bumper crowd was present and was very appreciative and gave rounds of applause to the various numbers. R. L. Brackin acted as chairman, and speeches were given by Rev. Dr. Daniels, Rev. Mr. Graham, Rev. Mr. Armstrong and A. B. McGee. Miss Verlyn Lamont, electionist, contributed several excellent numbers to the program, for which she was loudly applauded and encored. Everard Gordon, violinist, played several fine selections. Solos were given by Dr. Oliver, of Berlin; R. L. Brackin, Miss Walker, of Charing Cross; D. Wrightman and R. A. Cunningham, of this city; and a duet by the Misses Maude and Ella Groves. The program was very much appreciated by all, and good order was kept throughout the evening.
