DOGS MUST BE TIED OR SHOT

Is Short But Pointed Order Issued by Major Wood.

In consideration of the rapid spreading of the rabies which has become more prevalent since the weather began to get warmer and realizing the danger which threatens the citizens of Dawson from this source an order was issued today by Major Wood requiring all dogs to be closely tied as well as muzzled.

Yesterday three mad dogs were killed by members of the police force, two of them in the center of the town and the third on the bridge crossing the slough on First avenue next to the fire house. The one killed on the bridge was a dark shepherd dog with brown forefeet. As he had on a tag-it is evident that the disease developed in him very rapidly, for tags were only started issuing on the first of the month.

It is in the interest of every owner of a dog that has any value, aside from the instructions of the police to that effect, to tie him up so as to lessen his chances of getting the dread disease. The situation is getting very serious and the order has gone forth that all dogs must be tied up within 24 hours from this evening or they will be shot.

England and Germany.

Berlin, May 3, via Skagway, May 8. A representative of the British government today informed the Reichstag that the committee on petitions from Germany had demanded of Great Britain five million pounds sterling on account of the expulsion of and injury to the business of certain German citizens who were expelled from the Transvaal by the British. The report said that Great Britain had refused to consider Germany's demand on the ground that she did not wish to establish a precedent, but was carefully investigating the whole matter.

Steamer War Still On.

Skagway, May 8.—The steamer Victorian which arrived yesterday evening from Sound and B. C. ports charged a rate on the up trip of $10 and $5. Returning last night her rate for passengers was $5 and $2.50. The Vancouver News Advertiser of May 4th contains an advertisement for the steamer State of California, the rates quoted from there to this place being $6 first-class and $5 second-class. No cut in freight rates is advertised for the steamer. So far as news brought by the Victorian goes there is nothing to indicate that the end of the present rate war is in sight. There is a strong possibility that rates will go even lower.

THE SPORTS COMMITTEE IS STILL ON TRIAL

Arranges Complete List for the Queen's Birthday.

A well attended meeting of the sports committee of the Queen's birthday was held in the offices of the Bank of Commerce last evening, W. M. McKay in the chair.

Hugh McKinnon spoke at length on the advisability of holding the sports celebration on the reserve ground at the rear of the barracks, could permission be obtained for same, but the suggestion was not acted upon, a motion being put and carried to the effect that the celebration be held on the main street as heretofore.

It was agreed, on the motion of J. C. Dougherty and Capt. Olson, that a grand parade be held at 10 o'clock on the morning of the sports.

After careful consideration of the outlined program presented by the sub-committee appointed for that purpose, the following revised games were agreed upon:

To commence at 7 sharp; quarter mile horse race (in heats, if necessary); 100 yards race, veterans' race (50 years and over); 50 yards, 120 yards hurdle race (16 hurdles); quarter mile bicycle race, final of the quarter mile horse race, 220 yards race, boys' race (14 years and under 50 yards, miners' pack race (50 pounds), sack race, half mile horse race, obstacle race, amateur race, amateur 100 yards race, final half mile horse race, running high jump, vaulting with pole, hop, step and jump, running broad jump, putting the 16-pound shot, throwing 56-pound weight, consolation horse race, tug-of-war (in cleats), tossing the caber (16 feet), throwing the hammer, canoe race (single), canoe race (double), walking the greasy pole.

Throwing the hammer and tossing the caber to be held at 3 o'clock behind the barracks.

The tug-of-war to be pulled off at 7:30 p. m., after which the canoe races will be held. All athletic events to be subject to North American Caledonian Association rules. Entrance fee of $1 in all athletic events excepting boys' race. Twenty-five dollar entrance fee in quarter and half mile horse races, 75 per cent of same to go to the winning horse and 25 per cent to the second; together with the scheduled prize. Consolation horse race for all beaten horses, with no entrance fee.

All athletic entries must be made with the secretary prior to commencement of event. Entries for quarter and half mile horse races to close at noon on the 23d. Last entry to lead off in each event.

Capt. Olson and Messrs. Stewart, McKinnon and A. McFarlane were appointed a parade and grounds committee. The committee resolved to offer a prize for best float.

On motion of J. Dougherty and Hector Stewart, it was agreed to request the finance committee to set aside $2000 for prizes.

One Year Today. One year ago this morning at 4:30 o'clock the ice moved from the Yukon immediately in front of the city and for fully ten days thereafter at irregular intervals the surface of the river was covered with flowing ice. Last midnight when the ringing of the big bell and sonorous blowing of the A. C. Co.'s whistle announced that if there was not a fire there was something else out of the common, many people took it as a signal that the ice had started and until it was found out that an incipient blaze had caused the commotion there was a general hurrying into clothes preparatory to a grand rush to the banks of the river. Even money is being offered today that the ice will move by noon of May 16th.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

First Man to Stake is Awarded Claim.

After hearing all the evidence and giving it careful consideration Gold Commissioner Senkler rendered a decision yesterday that is of more than passing importance in these days of stampedes for the purpose of securing mining claims.

The case was this: On March 12 Roscoe Green staked the upper half of claim 53 below, right limit, on Bonanza, and on the following day, March 13th, F. E. G. Berry staked the same ground. The latter reached the gold commissioner's office first, recorded and was given a grant for the claim. In a day or two Green appeared to record but was too late. He filed a protest and the case was heard yesterday. Mr. Senkler decided that Green is entitled to the claim and so ordered, he having been first to locate and having reached the recorder's office within the specified time.

Clayton Remembered.

The members of the Arctic Brotherhood presented Past Arctic Chief Frank Clayton with a handsome memorial last evening in the shape of a chain and charm. The charm is a fine specimen of the jeweler's art. On its face is the British and American flags entwined with the inscription "No Boundary Line Here." A diamond adorns the center of the charm and on the edges are Mr. Clayton's name, the camp number and the initials P. A. C.

The opposite side is a monogram of the order with the gold pan in the center in which are the letters A. B. The pick and shovel are crossed beneath the pan. A marmoset head is at the top and three nuggets are placed on the sides and bottom.

Mr. C. M. Woodworth presented the charm to Mr. Clayton on behalf of the members of the lodge as a token of the esteem in which he is held and the appreciation of the good work he has done for the lodge.

Three hearty cheers and a tiger were necessary to show the full extent of the appreciation in which Mr. Clayton is held by the members. He is a very proud and happy man today.

Police Court.

A pair of miners on the creek who live in Dawson—alleged miners—were in court this morning, one of them Gilmore Anderson, being up at the instigation of Forest R. Gee, no relation to Haily Gee, on the charge of stealing a nugget pin to the value of $7. As Gee had "soaked" the pin and Anderson had redeemed it and was holding it until charges were paid, the case was dismissed. As it was the second time Anderson had been up on similar charges, he was advised that he is edging rather close to the skookum house and may drop in the next time.

The cases of Jones and Thomas against Thos. Charlson for wages alleged to be due for labor performed on defendant's Gold Hill mining property occupied the remainder of the day and were not completed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Magistrate Starnes is hearing the cases.

Society on Gold Run.

A dance was given last night at the Gold Run Central hotel which was one of the most enjoyable of all the social events of that country this season. An elegant supper was served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Home, Mr. and Mrs. Cody, Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, Misses Nees, Golden, Sloggy, Keen, Etanson and Sullivan and all the gentry of the neighborhood.

A Slight Shock.

Mr. W. H. R. Lyons who with W. J. Torney have a lay on claim No. 22 below on Bonanza, which claim is owned by the Harper-Ladue Co., tells the story of Joe Nichols who received a slight electric shock while at work on that claim. A wire runs across the dump in such manner as to enable a man to touch it with his hand if he so desires. Nichols touched it and as a consequence received a slight shock. Half an hour later he was at work and some the worse for his experience.

MUCH BEEF ESCAPED ROASTING

At Armour's Big Slaughter House in Stock Yards.

ILLINOIS AND IOWA VISITED.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sustains Damage Amounting to Over $9,000,000—Business Wiped Out.

Chicago, May 3, via Skagway, May 8.—Armour's beef house, one of the largest at the stock yards, caught fire today and was saved with great difficulty. The loss amounts to $100,000. It is a five-story brick and covers an entire block. On the lower floors of the building at the time the fire originated were 16,000 live cattle, all of which were quietly driven from the building unharmed. Stored in the building were 6500 dressed beves.

Small Town Burned.

Gridley, Ill., May 3, via Skagway, May 8.—Two business blocks were burned here this afternoon, upwards of 30 buildings being destroyed. The loss is $50,000.

As Iowa Blazes.

Marshalltown, Iowa, May 3, via Skagway, May 8.—The town of Hwart was practically destroyed by fire today which originated in a large grain elevator. The loss exceeds $100,000.

Fire in Dist.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 3, via Skagway, May 8.—This city today experienced the most disastrous fire in its history, 150 blocks being totally destroyed. The area burned is two and a half miles long by half a mile wide. The loss is $9,000,000. Six lives are reported lost.

(The business of Jacksonville was nearly all on Bay street which runs parallel with the St. John's river and it is on this street which the fire must have worked such great destruction.)

COMING AND GOING.

C. E. Hilderton of Chechako Hill, is spending a few days in town.

D. H. Campbell of Gold Bottom, is making Dawson a short visit.

The name of Mr. J. H. Palmer has been added to the sports committee for the celebration of Victoria day.

An incoming mail was supposed to have left Whitehorse last Saturday but as yet nothing has been heard from it.

Sam B. Fenow and Henry C. Lewis of Monte Cristo and Wm. Butler of Bonanza, are registered at the McDonald today.

For several days past smoke has been issuing from the stacks of the steamers across the river which would indicate that preparations are being made to sail in the near future.

The reserved seats for the Arctic Brotherhood entertainment Friday night at the Savoy theatre are going like hot cakes and all anticipating having reserved seats at the best entertainment ever given in Dawson must apply immediately at Rudy's to have their seats reserved. The curtain will rise promptly at 8:30 Friday night.

KILL THEM OR TIE THEM UP.

The mad dog question seems to grow in seriousness with the lapse of time. A number of dogs were killed yesterday and others undoubtedly taken with rabies were seen running unmolested through the streets.

The opinion has been expressed in these columns before and is repeated today that stringent measures should be immediately adopted in order that the mysterious malady which has become so general among the dogs of the community, may be prevented from spreading.

Every dog now at large on the streets of Dawson represents a source of danger to human life. The disease breaks out among the animals without warning and a moment only is required to transform a quiet, peaceable dog into a snapping, snarling, maddened brute.

The only remedy which will adequately meet the present situation is an order by which all dogs shall be kept off the streets. The presence of a dog on the streets at the present time should be sufficient to warrant shooting it.

Owners of dogs who place any value on the animals will not object to keeping them tied up as long as present conditions continue.

Stray dogs and dogs whose owners do not value them sufficiently to keep them off the streets ought to be killed immediately.

The situation is altogether too serious to admit of any further delay. It would be far better to order all dogs to be killed rather than subject the community to a continuation of the dangers to which it is exposed at the present time.

NOTE.—Since the above was placed in type, an order has been issued by Major Wood along the lines suggested. All dogs are to be tied up within 24 hours or killed.

ABOUT INCORPORATION. The opposition which has been so general to local incorporation did not originate in any desire on the part of the citizens of Dawson to shirk legitimate responsibilities.

The whole matter resolves itself into a business proposition and thus far Dawson has decided against incorporation for the reason that sound business principles have warranted such action.

task of looking after the welfare of Dawson.

At the right time Dawson will assume its natural duties in the premises. Incorporation will be acceptable when it comes in the proper manner.

Myers in Victoria.

M. M. Myers, of Dawson, is a guest at the Dominion hotel. Mr. Myers walked over the trail from Dawson to Whitehorse. He started out in the company of G. M. Heaney and A. M. Bannerman, both of whom are well known Victorians.

Mr. Myers was laid up during the trip and waited for the stage to complete his journey, while Heaney, Mr. Myers left at Whitehorse. Mr. Myers says that since the advent of steam thawing plants mining has been greatly facilitated, and that the influence is leading to the formation of more companies, as it would hardly be worth while purchasing a plant for use on one claim, and so companies are being formed, and in that way the claims are being grouped.

Mr. Myers says that there is considerable development work being done on the conglomerate claims which have recently been staked, and which are situated about 60 miles from Dawson. He says that the ore assayed has gone as high as $58.80 and as low as $4.50 to the ton. There were thousands of acres covered with this conglomerate, and millions of tons of ore in sight.

This deposit was discovered some time ago, but did not receive much attention on account of the placer mining. Now that the latter is not so good, prospectors are turning their attention to it.

Mr. Myers said that mining in Dawson, when he left, was very quiet. He stated that Eureka creek was now the best paying creek around Dawson, and that those who were fortunate enough to have a claim on that creek were now making a great deal of money.

The business in Dawson, he says, is very good. The prices, although they would be considered ridiculously high here, were considered low at Dawson. Mr. Myers stated that in Whitehorse Capt. Smyth was building a vessel of moderate size and light draft for service on the Stewart river.

A Good Snake Story. The latest authentic snake story is from North Glenwood Farm, near Easton, one of the country places in Talbot county, Md.

The other day a big black snake was seen emerging from an ice pond. It was killed. A protuberance was noticed about the middle. The snake was chopped in two, and a porcelain turkey nest egg rolled out. Captain Noble Robinson was tenant on the farm last year.

Mrs. Robinson raised turkeys, using china eggs in their nests. She says that 14 months ago she missed the nest egg from a nest near the ice pond. She supposed a boy who had the range of the meadow had taken it.

When the egg from the snake was shown to Mrs. Robinson, she identified it as one she had lost by a certain incised mark upon it. The snake had carried the china egg 14 months in his vermiform appendix, apparently without appendicitis.

Countries That Teach Gardening. School gardens were established in Belgium many years ago, and it is said that to them is due the prosperity of the rural population, the larger portion being engaged in truck gardening.

Missing People. The whereabouts of the following are inquired for at the town police station by their relatives: Thomas A. Griffith, of Grove Bay, Ontario; W. C. Fisher, San Francisco, Cal.; D. P. Dwyer, Vancouver, B. C.; Antoine Mahen, Ottawa, Ont.; John Antoine, Ottawa, Ont.; Stefano Fraguilla, California.

The Pacific Cold Storage Co. offers every facility for keeping frozen products. Munin's, Pomeroy or Perinet Champagnes $5 per bottle at the Regina club hotel. Kodak tripods; $3.50 Goetzman's.

Notice. The public is hereby notified that all water taps so far as possible will be removed from the public streets. The company is prepared to make house connection to the mains without delay at a very low rate, charging only for the cost of the material and labor.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

A thing may be epidemic without being contagious, but of late stampeding has been both. Staid and steady citizens who in times past would scorn to take a wild chase over the hills and valleys have lately lain aside all discretion and joined the everlasting throng and ran hither and thither, up this creek and down "yan," over ridge and vale, through slush and mud, all with the same end in view, namely, to secure a claim.

Among the many who have thus departed from the even tenor of their ways are Frank J. Mortimer and J. H. Rogers, both of whom are agents for steamboat companies and whose daily conversation is more or less about steamboats. Both of them recently joined in a mad stampede to a Hunker tributary and next day they were returning footsore and weary to Dawson.

On their homeward journey they came to a branch of the Klondike from which the ice had gone out and through which in a narrow channel the water was rushing like that of a mill-race. Luckily a narrow log lay across the channel at this particular place and Mortimer started across. With his arms poised in the air like those of a tight-rope performer he had reached the middle of the log when Rogers sang out "Steamboat!" Mortimer looked up and—kerching—he dropped into three feet of as cold water as ever ran from a glacier.

P. S. That is all. It all depends on who steps on a man's foot without apologizing whether or not the owner of the foot takes it as an insult and resents it.

Monday evening the Stroller was standing on the corner of Third street and Second avenue when a local theatre band lined up on the street and began to consume wind. The Stroller knew it was a band from the kind of instruments the various players held up to their faces, besides he recognized the sound of the bass drum.

As it recalled recollections of his callow youth when the Pumpkin Ridge band would come to Timothville every Fourth of July, the Stroller paused to choke down an emotion that wanted to rise up the main shaft, and while pausing, there being quite a crowd standing there, he felt a sudden pressure on one of his feet.

He looked down and there stood Jim Post's three-star Henessy bulldog with one fore foot planted firmly on the toe of his shoe. The playing of the band appeared to have cast a spell over the square jawed brute and there he stood with the terminus of his bench leg squarely on the Stroller's foot.

That he felt badly and was suffering mental agony was apparent for the reason that his ears worked and he appeared to have an internal griping. The Stroller was also in mental agony for he had no idea to whom the fierce looking canine would look for revenge.

At length, after what seemed fifty six minutes to the owner of the foot and the shin which was within two inches of the dog's mouth all the time, the bass drummer sounded a falsetto note that caused his bullship to stagger, which act the Stroller took advantage of to withdraw his foot and glide like a sweet young thing up the street.

Speaking of dogs, the published records of yesterday morning's police court session would not be believed back in the sheep growing sections of the east even if printed in the "Christian Advocate," for the reason that the residents of that portion of the country can not conceive of a man being punished for defending sheep from what he believed to be an attack from dogs.

For there it requires a week's study every year to determine on whether to kill the one dog on the farm or pay $1 tax on him. But any dog that ever casts a longing glance at a sheep never lives to repeat the glance. Back there a dog is a dog and, like the mule, blushes at the thought of his ancestry and mourns for the future of his race.

One sheep, even in Democratic times when there is no tariff on foreign wool, is considered worth more than all the dogs in a township.

The Stroller once owned a dog which answered to the name Kosiusko, a mid-mannered, gileless appearing dog as ever wore a tin can. One night a dozen sheep were killed in the neighborhood by an unseen dog. The gaunt finger of suspicion wanted to point some place so it took aim at Kosiusko.

Carried the Trap. A young man who was hunting recently in the Alleghanies, near Red Oak Knob, Va., shot a large bald eagle. The bird measured 7 feet 2 inches across the wings.

The Stroller is sorry to disappoint "West Dawson Farmer" in that, while there are many good points in his communication, it is not germane to the occasion. For instance, he devotes 11 pages to telling how colts, lambs and calves should be cared for, all of which was superfluous for the reason that we have no colts or lambs and the last pair of calves the Stroller noticed were nothing to speak of.

AS IT IS IN SUBURBANVILLE

Where They Use Party Telephone Wires.

Mrs. Onering and Mrs. Tworing Quarrel Over the Line and Fleet at Home of Mutual Friend.

Since telephones on party wires were introduced in Suburbanville there has been a very thorough readjustment of old feuds. The party wire system permits three or four telephones on the same wire. Every telephone bell on this wire rings at the same time. The special telephone that is wanted is indicated by the number of times the bell rings. Each subscriber on a party wire quickly acquires a decided contempt, if not hatred, for every other subscriber on the same wire.

Suburbanville's social lines were formerly marked by membership in church congregations, in some one of the dozen or more whist clubs and lastly by the butcher who supplied the family. When Mrs. Smith wanted to write a dozen congenial women to write a whist or bowling club, she started out on her list the woman who patronized the same butcher and went to the same church.

Since the party telephones have been put in it has made the problem of collecting a dozen congenial women so complex that it would puzzle a graduate in double entry bookkeeping. Not only must the hostess bear in mind the congregation to which the women belong and the butchers whom they patronize, but she must be sure not to bring together two women who use the same party wire. Such a disaster happened last week.

Mrs. Onering had never met Mrs. Tworing, though their telephones were on the same wire. When Mrs. Tworing's telephone was put in, she thoroughly enjoyed the novelty of calling up all of her friends who had telephones a dozen times a day. Mrs. Onering had become accustomed to her telephone, and the continual jangling of Mrs. Tworing's calls annoyed her. Several lively skirmishes followed over the wire.

One morning when Mrs. Onering was anxious to telephone for a cab to catch a certain train she waited for Mrs. Tworing to get through telephoning until her patience was exhausted. Then she broke in on the wire with the remark: "Won't you please give me a chance to call up the Tivory stable? I'm in a hurry."

"Are you, indeed?" said the voice. "Who are you?" "I am Mrs. Onering. Who are you?" "I am Mrs. Tworing, and I shall complain to central that you have been jangling."

"Well, then, I will tell central that can't help listening because you are jangling the telephone all the time. I am as much right on this wire as you are."

"Comes from having ill bred persons on the wire, and"— "People who never had a telephone before, and"— "I'll complain, and"— "I won't stand it a"— "Such impertinence."

"I find my telephone a great convenience," said Mrs. Onering, "but I have the most disagreeable people on it. One woman has just had her telephone put in, and she works it to death. She has been telephoning all this month. I think I will apply to my wire changed. I can't stand that's just my experience," said Mrs. Tworing delightfully. "There is most impertinent woman on my wire. I know from her voice that she is a perfect fright. She is so curious she listens whenever I use the telephone. If one could only chase the subscribers on her party wire, it would be a great advantage."

"The many common experiences made by Mrs. Onering and Mrs. Tworing very funny, and each was just about to inquire of the other to call when the hostess came up and said to them: "Why, I did not know that you two people saw each other."

"We have just scraped an acquaintance," said Mrs. Onering, "and I wish you would introduce us formally." "Certainly," said the hostess. "Mrs. Onering, I want to present a neighbor of yours, Mrs. Tworing."

perfectly. I have had a lovely afternoon." And out she went. "If she had not gone, I would have done so," said Mrs. Tworing. "Why, I thought that you were getting along beautifully," said the hostess.

"Her telephone is on my party wire, and she bothers me very much." Mrs. Tworing and Mrs. Onering pass each other on the street as strangers, and when they conflict in using the telephone each treats the other with frigid politeness.

So many hostesses in Suburbanville have had similar awkward experiences that they have now applied to the telephone company for a classified list of the party telephones in use, so that two women who use the same wire may not be invited at the same time.—New York Sun.

The Harvest-Mouse Family.

Little Mrs. Harvest-Mouse loved a hedge bottom. She always said it was more private than the open field, and also she thought about the farmer and how he comes to cut the corn, but leaves the long, stiff grass in the hedge bottom safe and standing when the corn is all carried away to the barn.

So when Mr. Harvest-Mouse began to talk to Mrs. Harvest-Mouse about where to build their home she begged him to choose the long, stiff grass in the hedge bottom rather than the corn in the field. That is how it happened that their tiny nest was built between the grass stems, and they built it very cunningly of narrow blades and bits of feather or any soft and bending stuff that they could find and they fixed them all in such a clever way that at last a weevil round nest no bigger than a cricket ball was fixed high up among the stiff green stalks as if it grew there by itself. It was soft and light and very thin, so the summer air blew gently through and kept it nicely aired.

The taller grasses standing round about hid it from the hawks, and a little birdweed then grew up and helped them. It twined around the stems and wisted its tendrils from one to another, then hung its tiny bells about and made a merry garden near the nest.

Mr. Harvest-Mouse was very pleased when all was done and felt happier still when eight little baby mice were snug and safe inside. They fitted into the soft, round ball quite perfectly, which shows how wee they were.

And now through the hot summer days, while Mrs. Harvest-Mouse was busy with the children, Mr. Harvest-Mouse was running here and there collecting news for his wife and flies and other food for himself and for his family. What a gay, clever, little mouse he was, and as for her, she was the quickest, daintiest little lady in the land, and she taught her children to be quick and dainty too. She also taught them to be good, though what she would have done had they been naughty I cannot tell, for there was not a corner in the house to stand them in.

She ran nimbly all about the outside of the nest, and when the little ones began to bite each other's tails for fun she patted gently through the open network of the walls and told them how their long tails would be useful when they came to climb the tall, stiff grasses in the green and mazy world of the hedge bottom where they lived, and the birdweed quite agreed in what she said, for it knew the value of a tail to hold by.

One warm evening the little mother sat on the top of her little round house, while Mr. Harvest-Mouse was chatting with a neighbor or in the corn close by, and then it was she told the children a great deal about the world. She told them how as she sat there she could see the green grass blades bending over her and a sweet birdweed bell swing gently under the weight of a bumble bee. She said that far away, quite high above the grass blades in the hedge bottom, even higher than the corn, there was blue, blue sky. She could see patches of it now as she looked up through their tangled screen. The tiny mice inside the nest got restless at the very thought of that, and they asked her to get a bit and poke it through for them to see.

"You silly, silly ones," said she, "there are great things that you cannot understand in the big world, and one of them is the blue, blue sky. It is only to look at, not to touch, and some day you will learn that it comes with the sunshine, and goes when it rains. A jark once told me that he loved it even more than the green world, for though the sweet grass cools his breast and holds his pest and his little ones, yet the blue, blue sky is quite full of joy and goes far up above the farmhouse smoke and above the hawks and is wider than the widest field, and though he were to sing his heart out from dewy dawn to sunset he could never fill it all with music. Oh, the big blue sky is very wide, indeed, and very far away, as you will see one day when you are strong and quite grown up."

Just then a gnat flew by, and Mrs. Harvest-Mouse sprang up and caught it and gave it to the children through the wall, for though she talked about the sky she knew that they were hungry and saw the gnat and caught it cleverly. And now that the sun was getting low she talked about the winter. She said as surely as the night came on when the daylight died away so surely would the winter come when summer time was ended.

"What could the winter be? the children thought, and one wee mouse made bold to say he did not care, and it might come any time for him. He had just caught, and eaten a tiny fly that had crept through the network of the nest, and he would catch and eat the winter, too, no doubt. Why not? He was getting strong and bold enough for anything.

His mother gave a pat where his little ear showed pink between the grasses and silenced all his silly talk at once and then went on to tell how the winter was far beyond their thinking as the blue sky was high above their heads.

"The warm, soft wind that rings our birdweed bells," she said, "and makes sweet music in the grass will turn to cold and bitter blasts that will blow the leaves about, and then the bells will wither one by one and fall away, and the grasses will turn quite dull and dry and run against each other with a shrill and fearsome sound as the wind sweeps up along the hedge bottom."

At that the little mouse, whose ear was tingling still, felt frightened, and he quivered while his mother talked and wondered what would come of it. She knew just how he felt, and now she gave him comfort and advice about the future, and she told them all what they must do. "For," said she, "the winter is too great and strong for tiny creatures like ourselves, and so while the big world and the hedge bottom are bearing the cold, weather we may sleep quite peacefully, each in a tiny hole, until the winter time is over and the summer comes again. You must seek your holes when the right time comes and then be sure to curl your tails well in to keep them from the frost."

They all squeaked a little promise to remember what she said and not think they knew better, and then they whisked.

pered softly to each other of the great world and the sky and the winter time and how quite soon they should be grown up mice. And while they talked and chattered merrily, catching flies from time to time and trying who could be most clever and saying how much they had grown since yesterday Mr. Harvest-Mouse came home and rubbed noses with his wife with a grave and anxious air, for he brought bad news from the corn close by. The hawk had come and caught their kindly neighbor, Mr. Field-Mouse. But this he said quite gently, sitting close to Mrs. Harvest-Mouse, lest the little ones should hear. "Ah," she said and heaved a sigh, "how glad I am we chose the long, stiff grass in the hedge bottom rather than the corn in the field!" "Yes," said he, "we did well to choose the hedge bottom." And with that he ran about the nest and counted his eight children anxiously and scolded them a little and then went a-hunting for his supper till by and by the quiet night came down and settled on the little family and all was peace and darkness for awhile.—Black and White.

Dominionites Dance for Benefit of Alex. McKelvie.

Last Saturday night at Yeager's roadhouse at 7 below on Dominion a dance was given for the benefit of Mr. Alex McKelvie of Manitoba, who has been sick for some time with pneumonia but is now recovering. As an evidence of Mr. McKelvie's popularity at $5 each for tickets, nearly $400 were raised and turned over to him. Those having the benefit in charge were Mrs. Yeager, Mrs. Randall and Mr. Holiday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Berkstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Reister, Mr. and Mrs. Colby, Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. Yeager, Mr. and Mrs. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Botwell, Mrs. L. Pond, Misses Koffie, Erickson, Bradford, Ruster, Bosworth, Miss Marion Bosworth and a large number of gentlemen.

ON ELDORADO AND BONANZA

New Pay-Struck Found Near Victoria Gulch.

Baby Willett Christened—Business, Labor and Social Notes—Everybody Busy.

Beginning next Saturday evening a series of weekly dances will be given at the Magnet hotel during the summer.

Messrs. Fairchild, Knox and Lewin, of Adams Hill, have sunk a shaft 125 feet and have drifted 50 feet thus far. These gentlemen expect to work all summer. A large boiler and other machinery have been placed on the ground, which will be sluiced up as soon as taken out.

Mrs. Primus, of 33 above Bonanza, who has been sick at the hospital almost the entire winter, has again returned to the roadhouse and is making a number of improvements, preparatory for the coming busy season.

A new paystreak was found last week by Mr. Jas. Amesberry between Victoria and No. 7 Pup, which caused a big rush to that place. As high as 25 cents to the pan was found four inches below the moss.

Last Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willett, of 43 above Bonanza occurred a ceremony which is not often witnessed on the creeks. It was the christening of their little baby girl which was named Marie Valarie Willett. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byrne, of 35 above Bonanza, stood as God-parents for the little one, and the impressive ceremony of the holy Catholic church was performed by Father Damaire, of Grand Forks. Marie Valarie Willett is fortunate and her parents may be congratulated in securing so estimable people as Mr. and Mrs. Byrne as God-parents.

Mr. Geo. Archer, foreman on the Kinzie and Kinzie claim on Gold Hill, was surprised and indignant to see in black headlines in the News a few days ago "Buried Alive in a Mine, Geo. Archer Covered by Falling Earth—Rescued and Will Live." George knows nothing of any such accident either to himself or anyone on the claim.

Mr. Ogden, teamster for Mr. Lawson on Magnet Gulch, in attempting to cross Bonanza creek last Monday afternoon with a big load of lumber, found the water deeper than was at first supposed. The horses were cut loose, and while one managed to reach the bank, the other was carried by the rushing stream to a dam, under the logs and out on the lower side, then carried under the shore ice below, so that nothing but his head protruded from under the ice. A number of men soon came to the rescue, and the horse taken out and run up and down the road to revive circulation.

Gay gulch has been visited by a stampede which has continued uninterruptedly every night for the week. The miners say "if the cheebakos would only come in the day time and give us a chance to sleep nights, we would not mind their coming every day in the year, but just why they come only at night is a mystery to us."

Prof. Parkes was seen meandering up Bonanza creek this morning, with his moving picture machine and big 8x10 camera. The professor will take moving pictures and stereopticon views of the big mines on Bonanza and Eldorado, to be exhibited at the Savoy in the near future.

Playtime In the Senate.

Senator Butler once had a bill appropriating $5,000 to build a monument on the Moore's Creek battlefield, North Carolina, which was an especial object of Senator Wolcott's fun.

"Can the senator tell me the date of the battle?" he asked Mr. Butler. "It was the first battle of the Revolution, 29 days before the battle of Lexington," was the reply.

"But cannot the senator tell me the day and the year?" persisted Mr. Wolcott.

Mr. Butler was stumped. "I can tell the senator tomorrow," he finally remarked.

"Then," replied Mr. Wolcott, "I will let my objection stand until tomorrow also."

A few minutes later Senator Wolcott relented, and Mr. Butler made another effort to get the appropriation agreed to. This time it was Senator Lodge who objected.

"Oh, don't object, Lodge," said Wolcott in a stage whisper; "he'll put the date of the battle forward a year if you are jealous on account of Lexington."

But Mr. Lodge continued to object, and the monument bill remained on the calendar.—Washington Post.
