Hijacker wants to come to Fredericton

A young American was extremely annoyed today when his request for safe-passage to the University of New Brunswick was denied by Canadian Transport Ministers. Despite his promises to destroy the VIA RAIL train with dynamite and other unspecified explosive, Fred Sams was told that the Government would be pleased to get rid of that train, anyway.

Sams had boarded the train in Montreal holding twelve Waterloo University students at gunpoint as hostages. The students, unaffected by this intrusion continued to party, happy that they were given a longer period away from school. Sams then demanded that the train take him straight to Fredericton where he has wanted to go all his life.

In an Exclusive interview, Sams confided that he had posters of some of the most crucial spots in Fredericton including the Princess Margaret Bridge, the Crotchmo, the Playhouse and the three Tim Hortons stores in the city. Sams says, he has always wanted to visit this city ever since he was a child and the urge became too much for him on his eighteenth birthday.

Action shots of the hijack by photographer Pearl Locker. Hijacker's glasses are circled.

He knows all three Tim Horton stores in the city (oops.)

The stance taken by Transport Minister drew great protest from the general public but he remained adamant that his real reason for denying the hijacker any concessions was that playing soft to such scum was always the worst policy. He denied allegations that he has been busy trying to see the end of VIA RAIL and that this action was a part of the plot in that dictation.

Our reporters are now on the train with Sams who has been having tremendous fun with the Waterloo University students. Our last report is that Sams wants to go to Waterloo University instead. The Fredericton Tourist Board has sent a representative to the train to try and talk Sams out of that decision. We will keep you posted on further developments.

Celebration was the order for the day as one student at the University of New Brunswick (UNB) conquered what may be the most difficult obstacle he'll ever have to face. No, he hasn't attended every Campus Entertainment event this year - it's something even more stupendous.

At approximately 6:03 pm on Wednesday April 14, Salmonella Ptomain finished his Beefer Food meal ticket while still standing.

"I feel great!" stated Mr. Ptomain, who not only is the first student to complete the meal ticket with no medical difficulties, but is also the first to survive 3 years with Beefer's prestigious 19-meal plan.

Mr. Ptomain, a biology student, says the secret of his success is not to sneeze or look at the food. He first listens for any signs of life, then quickly stabs the food (just in case). "The tasting itself is the hardest part," he says. "I just imagine I'm eating somewhere really great like MacDonalds."

In congratulations, Beefer Foods has awarded Mr. Ptomain a life-time meal plan. In addition, a plaque will be erected in his honour and hung in MacGaggle Hall.

Medical tests will be conducted on Mr Ptomain to discover just how this strange phenomena has occurred. Although in perfect health, he will receive rehabilitation during the summer months for early signs of french fry withdrawal.

Says Ptomain: "I JUST IMAGINE I AM EATING SOMEWHERE REALLY GREAT"

Testimony of a Beefer Foods survivor.

Ptomain gets his award.

A FELINE SHOCK

Cat electrocutes elderly woman

A woman was electrocuted last Sunday when her cat, who had just been struck by lightning, jumped into her bathtub. The cat, whose name is being withheld, was known for taking baths with his owner. The cat's veterinarian testified that his previous owner was Jacques Custodian, a famous marine biologist, and this was how his water fetish began. The vet also explained to police that the cat was experiencing a term called "feline envy" as he was neutered just two months ago.

Investigators stated that the electrical storm began early in the evening shortly after supper. "We've never seen something like this before. The cat should have died immediately. We're still not sure how it got back into the house and got up to the bathroom!" Foul play was ruled out.

MUTANT TURTLES INVADE UNB

Last week thousands of snapping turtles from the various swamps around New Brunswick came to the Fredericton campus of UNB. Experts say that these turtles are very intelligent and the reason for that is that they feed on dormant brain cells. The fact that there is an excess of dormant brain cells in the minds of students at UNB may explain why they were attracted here in the first place. Already 25 students have been attacked and eaten by the vicious turtle infantry, you may be next.

Although most of the mutant turtles are of a warring nature some are on a mission of peace. The foremost of those peaceful turtles is called Turtle-one, who is by far the oldest and wisest of all the turtles known to man. He or it as the case may be has predicted, using various material here at UNB, that the next ice age will occur within a year of this date. So you better go out and buy yourself one very big snow shovel.

Wings at the Crotchmo!

Clubbing battles in the city

Just when the Socialist Club had begun to steal away the traditional Crotchmonauts on Friday and Saturday nights, the Crotchmo management in a whirl of creative panic introduced "Chicken Wing Nite" which has completely revolutionized the clubbing business in Fredericton.

"I don't know how it happened," confided Crotchmo manager to her close friend and associate Myrtle Jones who then confided with the brother of our star reporter's landlady, "I just don't know how it happened, but I was just walking along Queen Street and it hit me: Chicken Wings, cheap chicken wings!" She described how she suddenly began sprinting along Queen St., then on to King St. towards the Vitriolic Meat Mart where she bought pounds and pounds of chicken wings.

"She was foaming at the mouth, screaming give me wings, chicken wings, all you've got!" Confided a clerk in the Vitriolic Meat Mart as she recovered from severe wounds to the fingers in the (Edward Chalmers Hospital). When contacted, manager of the Vitriolic Meat Mart had no comment, but close friends of the King Pin disclosed last night that he had to supplement his rather depleted stock of chicken wings with the limbs of his pet doves and the stray crows found pecking breadcrumbs in the back of the building. "She was crazy," he is reported to have said "She didn't care about the blood and feathers; she just wanted wings." The manager is said to have chopped the fingers of the shop clerk in her anxiety. The clerk is happy with the compensation she has received which is a year's free entry into the Crotchmo complete with a supply of chicken wings.

Crotchmo manageress Madame Pumhardor before the fiasco.

"Wings, wings! Give me all the wings you've got, NOW!"

So far, we have come to understand that the wings introduction certainly boosted attendance at the Crotchmo, however there is growing concern among the Fredericton Municipal Authorities and the SPCA about the mess of wingless doves, crows and pigeons along the river front. In the Crotchmo, the manager, a tall, skinny woman with thick black rimmed spectacles, blue dyed hair, who lives at 1101 Northumberland (who has asked that her name be not revealed) is concerned that the chicken wing phenomenon is proving quite costly. Two bands The Bums of Philbert and the Glad Times Boo's Band have walked off-stage in disgust this week after a flood of patrons stormed the chicken wing buffet, filled bags with chicken wings and departed from the premises leaving the entire place empty and thoroughly messed-up. Close friends of the sound technicians of both bands confided to close friends of the editor of this paper that the band members were particularly upset because all the wings were gone. Reports have it that the patrons went up to the Socialist Club where there were special sales of beer and ketchup. Socialist Club manager refused comment on accusations that he masterminded the whole thing.

Since, then things have become more difficult for the Crotchmo management who were forced to raise the price of the chicken wings from ten cents to fifteen cents per wing and because of the growing inaccessibility of chickens and birds with wings and because the chef wanted a raise. Patrons are utterly disgusted by this capitalistic move and have been picketing the Crotchmo screaming obscenities at the yuppies and traditional Crotchmonauts who have persisted in attending the only establishment that plays their kind of music. When contacted, a spokesman from the Socialist Club was overheard saying "This would never happen up the hill, there is a reason why we are called the Socialist Club." He is reported to have spat bitterly at that point. Insiders have informed us that the Socialist Club, in a cavalier attempt to sieze the waning market of the Crotchmo, will be introducing a pigs trotters night. Nicely seasoned and served in a thick spicy white jelly-like substance, this delicacy is said to increase verility in men and stimulate sexual urges in women. It is also said to be so hot that only beer can assuage the fire. Manager of the Socialist Club confides that patrons need not worry, there will be enough beer for that.

In the meantime, the Crotchmo is in search of another gimmiche. They have contracted with the brain wizard of the Socialist Club for ideas. Insiders say that the manager of the Crotchmo no longer takes strolls on the river front.

Michael Jackson has categorically denied the use of plastic surgery on his face. Sources close to him have admitted that he has been using a special cream that eats away skin tissue without leaving a blemish. Applied to the nose area, it guaranteed a smaller nose. Special creamo-sculptors can be hired to make sure the optimum shape is achieved. Michael Jackson has access to some of the best sculptors, it is said.

Elvis Presley is alive and well and performing from somebody's bottom! That's the amazing claim being made by New Brunswick farmer Harold Hardlovian. "I couldn't believe it!" said Harold frantically crunching through several bags of Roloids. "One evening after a particularly big bowl of chili the air was filled with the strains of 'Heartbreak Hotel' and 'Hound Dog', as well as being a bit smelly."

Scientists are perplexed by the discovery and are currently trying to establish the source of music gusting from Mr. Hardlovian's hindquarters at random intervals.

"It's a puzzle," said eminent scientologist Dr. Bruce Nookins, "but it seems unlikely that this man could have concealed a loud speaker in his lower intestine." Dr. Nookins continued, "My guess as an internationally respected scientist is that this must be an act of God providing us with an omen that the world will soon be over run with three-headed aliens that wish to perform sadistic experiments on teenage girls."

When contacted in the Bahamas, Dr. James Dandy stated, "This has nothing to do with my resignation - piss off!"

UNB's Favourite Band, The Fleas, Singer Undergoing Sex Change

A shock in the entertainment world has occurred! The lead singer of the Fleas, Flake Robots is said to be having a sex change!

"Not true" states guitarist Spruce Nelson. "Flake was just fooling around, and some idiot thinks he's gone crazy, and wants to become a woman."

Bufflo Bill Coady, the drummer of the Fleas, when asked about the said operation had no comment. Which may lead us to think that there is something happening with Flake.

The road crew for the band (who asked to be left unnamed) were in conflict of what was really happening. John* stated "I've known Flake for years and I don't think he'd ruin his career over something this stupid." But Boy* said "there's been some really strange things happening with all the guys lately."

The answer to the real question of the sex change may never be known.

WOMAN REUNITED WITH TWINS RESEMBLING FROGS WITH BEAKS JUST AS HER THIRTEENTH EAR FELL OFF

'Crikey!' That's the word from Doris Knobbit in St. John today as she was reunited with her twins, both resembling frogs with a complete set of gills and along beak for eating doughnuts. 'Yes, it's a pity they're both joined at the head and scrotum', said sex-change Doris just as one of her remaining thirteen ears fell off as a result of a bizarre and incurable disease.

Doris is not a stranger to the unusual. Adopted by subterranean mole-creatures at the age of thirty-nine, Mrs. Knobbit was soon to develop a talent for eating sharp metallic objects without any apparent discomfort. After a disappointing relationship with a bowl of petunias, Doris was soon to discover the joys of artificial discombobriation which she learned to appreciate at the hands of Bob 'the Limpet-sniffer' Pertussis, a gypsy pedlar and sometime astrologist to prominent US Senators.

'All I can say is that they'll be loved', said Doris of the bizarre tangle of snouts and appendages which she has brought into the world. 'We've already given them names - Victor is the one with the forehead that always reminds me of blue cheese', Doris continued with a chuckle, 'and Micheal, as you can see, has rather too many arm-pits than might be expected on something that looks like a piece of fungus.'

Rebel Without a Clue

Confessions of a Woman With a Thing for Rubber

By Jamaica Joe

UNB's balloon thief has finally been caught in the act. Arts student Jackie "Mad Jack" Hoffman, was caught outside the Student Union Building releasing 99 balloons that had been missing from UNB's Charity ball.

When asked why she did it Hoffman replied "I was making a statement ... the world's rubber tree population is quickly being depleted by balloon and condom makers alike. By setting the balloons free, I was symbolizing the release of their souls."

"Mad Jack," as Hoffman is known in the "entertainment business," was apprehended by Campus Police Chief Blonda Chicky while she was off duty. Says Chicky, "I was in the process of disposing confiscated alcohol while riding my bicycle when I ran into her! Once I stood up I realized that I had broken the fourty of Wild Turkey.... I was so pissed off I arrested her on the spot."

While thinking of charges to fabricate, Chicky stumbled upon a recently invoked University by-law that prohibited offspring of 60's legends from releasing balloons on University property. Said Chicky, "What luck!"

Mad Jack is currently serving two to five years as Bar Services secretary. (Ed - No offence Ellen)

War Criminal Arrested

-Fredericton N. B. On April 1st, 1989 several RCMP, in connection with campus police, have apprehended the Notorious pet of War Criminal, Joey Mengelly.

This horrendous felon, aptly named Hitler Kitty, was believed responsible for the deaths of over millions of dogs in unspeakable experiments and side-dishes. Hitler Kitty had disappeared at the last end of the war when allied troops were occupying berlin. Several Nazi-hunters have searched the world over, but could not find any trace of Hitler Kitty until now, and believed him to have perished during the last days of the war in Europe. Not until last year, did his presence become known, when he foolishly tried to run for UNB student Council President and won. Since then a special crack-team has had Hitler Kitty under surveillance until sufficient proof had been collected and the arrest was made. Arrangements are being made to transfer Hitler Kitty into Interpol custody next week. Arrangements for a trial are still not known.

FINAL CAMPUS ENTERTAINMENT EVENT DRAWS LARGEST CROWD THIS YEAR

Last Saturday night, UNB Campus Entertainment held its best attended extravaganza ever. Entitled SUB Rock '89, the rock concert featured INXS, U2, and the Rolling Stones, each on a different level of the SUB.

"It was totally awesome!" says Wacky Vino, Campus Entertainment Coordinator. "We drew a larger crowd than we ever hoped for." Thirteen people purchased tickets for the event, which cost .50¢ each. The ticket entitled the purchaser to free beer for the evening, along with a lifetime membership to the Cottage Hill Socialist Club.

"To think I thought UNB students were apathetic," she adds, "eleven people actually attended the concert, and they had a great time!" Wacky admits that she did cook a lasagna dinner for those who bought tickets, who just happen to be close friends of hers. "But I did not pressure them into attending SUB Rock '89," she states.

What happened to the two people who bought tickets but didn't go? "Oh them," adds Wacky with a laugh, "Mom and Dad went to the Crotchmo instead."

SUB Rock '89 - The great crowd goes wild as Bono of U2 belts out Sunday Bloody Sunday. Downstairs, the Rolling Stones & INXS were shaking in the BlueRoom and Cafeteria.

MANILOW RESIGNS

Barry Manilow announced today that he is retiring from active show business. Manilow, a fading pop music star who has been linked romantically with several television and movie stars, has reportedly accepted a position as president of a small eastern Canadian university.

The University of No Brains, located in the resort area of Freddie Beach, is currently looking to replace their outgoing president James Dowdy.

According to the sister of the mother of Manilow's paper boy, Barry had no idea why he was offered the job, except that UNB officials felt that he would fit in right away.

A close friend of a high placed UNB official felt that Manilow was the most obvious choice. He could take over for Dowdy and no one would even notice. Some reports have Manilow already on the job.

Stepping Homeau is Exposed!

An article appearing earlier this year in the Bumswithin described an incident where Appalled Mucky persuaded very young women to enter a beauty contest at the Illstop. The author of the article, Stepping Homeau, was found to have been having an affair with Mucky for some time prior to this event. A concerned relative of Mucky spoke with out reporters.

"They were getting along quite well until my mother found out that Homeau had only one eyebrow - a sign of extreme low intelligence and a Coke-can fetish. She thought he just wore his sunglasses up high on his forehead but when she tried to take them off him one day they wouldn't come off. She immediately called Mucky's parents and the whole family has been up in arms since."

Appalled was also shocked. "Things really changed between us when I found out the truth. Homeau didn't take the let-down well and he backed out of our deal - to take all the underage contestants to our place later with their escorts and fill their nostrils with peanut butter. We've done this before and it gave very positive meaning to our relationship. I can't believe he exposed me this way and now I have tons of Snippy and nothing to do with it!"

Homeau was not available for comment but his co-workers at the Bumswithin stated they saw him leave in a trashy white sports car, loaded down with Coke cans, last year's Illstop calendar and four cases of Snippy. It is unknown where he was going or what his future plans would be.

BOREISS: I want it to be like my home!

FALL SURPRISES IN THE SUB

Students at UNB will be in for a few surprises when they return to the Campus next fall. This summer a number of important modifications in the regulations governing the use of the Student Union Building will be implemented so that come next fall students will not have to contend with in-term changes.

Some of the changes include the no-smoking policy in the Cafeteria. All smoking will be banned and a special alarm system will be installed which will go off if it detects smoke. This alarm will alert the Campus Police who will have five people on call to respond immediately to the alarm. A sprinkler system will also be activated thus quenching any fire in the building. The Campus Police will have all rights to treat such an offender in the same way that an unruly drunk is treated in the Socialist Club. When contacted in his secret basement office, SUB manager promised that no drastic measures will be taken as long as students comply with the new ruling. Said Boreiss, "I want to make this place better than it was before, better, stronger, faster.... I want it to be like my home, and a man's home is his castle. I wouldn't let people smoke in my home, I wouldn't, and I want this place to be like.... I mean..... it is my home, it is, it is!" Our reporter could not get him to comment further on the issue as he attacked one of our photographers, screaming that she must have been sent by one Jean Beau Sniche, an apparent recurring figure in Boreiss's nightmares according to sources.

On a more positive note, students may be excited to learn that the Grizzler will no longer be cooking. All meals will be raw, and students may have access to the stoves and microwaves to do whatever they will on them. This new self-

University students are too dumb to compare prices. They think they are getting a deal and they are so lazy that they would rather stay up here and purchase my "designer" goods (chuckle) than pay less down-town or up-town." Our reporters promised not to repeat any of this and they didn't. We simply took the words vebatim from the transcript of the tape.

The Socialist Club has promised to assist anyone who is willing to picket the Sub Standard Department Store. Insiders say that the Socialist Club is trying to expand also.

service mechanism is said to be an act of mercy by the Cafeteria Staff who were caught in a slight quandry when a questionnaire was passed around to all their cooks asking what went in the Grizzler food. The cooks were not certain and the most useful answer was by one of the chefs who said, "A bit of this and a tad of that."

Finally, the Sub Standard Department Store will be expanding as they will take over the space now occupied by the Dry Cleaners and the Men's Rest Room in the SUB building. Management promises that a dime rest room facility will be provided. Asked about why the Dry Cleaning Establishment will be closed down, close associates of the Sub Standard management confided that the manager said, off-the-record, that, "Dry Cleaning businesses are destroying garment salespeople especially cleaners that have tailoring facilities." When asked about the high cost of items in his store, he is said to have leaned forward conspiratorially (fortunately making our bugging device pick up with greater clarity, his statement) and said, "Don't tell anyone, but these

UNB Hires New Chief of Security

The administration of UNB is pleased to announce that they have hired a new chief of security. The new chief is Bardot, and the administration is sure she will rule with an iron fist. Bardot stated that she will end the parking problem on campus by "not allowing professors and administration to have their cars on campus during class hours."

She plans a complete retraining session for the security force which includes complete training in hand to hand combat, and instruction in the use of concealed weapons. When asked for any further comments Bardot stated: "I'm looking forward to the retraining period, and finally being able to take over."

SCANDAL ROCKS WORLD MOPPING CHAMPIONSHIPS

UNB SHAMED IN THE LATEST STEROID SCANDAL

Big Joe UNB's last minute entry in the World Floor Mopping Championships was disqualified three days ago after testing positive for steroids. Big Joe who was thrust into the competition when former UNB World Champions Big Al and Bigger Brian turned professional earlier in the year. Big Joe was entered in the individual Mop Leaning events. Utilizing the newly legalized graphite core mop, Joe set a new world record that was held by a member of the Polish National Team. When questioned, Big Joe denied ever taking the illegal and highly controversial drug which has now apparently invaded all branches of professional sports. Big Joe claims that he had no idea that he would even be entered in the World Championships and therefore had not prepared in any way. Sources who are close to friends of Big Joe's close friends revealed that the UNB coach had begun, unknown to Joe, to train him earlier this year. How did he do this? Sources confided that the coach had made sure Big Joe had the lightest work load and plenty of free time to train. As to steroids, the coach denies ever administering any. A full investigation will be carried out as soon as someone gets around to it.

Professor Potpourri Stanley has been awarded $46,700 as a first year grant for his work in psycho-sexual geophysics on the condition that he donates his gonads to science. The size of the grant makes him one of the NSERC's top earth science grantees. The University is elated.

Science Special Report

UNB PROF IN NEW FIELD

Whether the grant from the Natural Science and Engineering Research Council (NSERC) comes in or not, UNB scientist Potpourri Stanley is determined to continue his research in the correlation between his sexual activity and the climatic conditions in Eastern Canada.

According to close confidants of Dr. Stanley, he hit on the idea during the sudden and unexpected snowfall experienced in Fredericton a few weeks ago. Stanley claims to have been going through a particularly difficult period with his sexuality just prior to that date. On that date, sources say, Stanley recorded a boost of sexual energy which he says set off cosmic rays along a psychic path (created by the combination of human energy expressed in extra-sensory communication paths) which triggered off the storm that ensued. Since the, Dr. Stanley has kept a careful track of the correlations between his sexual behavior and the climate and has been elated, although not shocked, by the results.

Confided Dr. Stanley's wife: "It became a problem. We would be going through a particularly bad spell sexually and then he would suddenly get the urge. As soon as we were ready to go to bed, he would have to go to shovel the driveway." She is said to be pleased with the news of possible funding but remains alienated from her husband since she couldn't live with a man "who couldn't conceal his extramarital affairs effectively." When contacted, Dr. Stanley's mother Mertyle Stanley only laughed at the "halabaloo" about the whole affair saying that her family has controlled snowfalls in Eastern Canada for the past 400 years. She says she knew when Prof. Stanley had his first sexual urge and she managed to avert a terrible storm by beating it out of him. She still regrets the action but admits that her husband was on the road a lot during those days and she wasn't prepared to risk an unnecessary accident.

Prof. Stanley is not bothered by the publicity that these new discoveries will have on his private life. According to close sources, Stanley is happy to do all he can for the advancement of science. He is hoping to get a grant to visit a number of cities in the world including those South of the Equator to see what impact his sexual-psychic powers may have on the environment. He is also one of the first Canadian scientists to be invited to the highly prestigious Conference of Psycho-Sexual Geophysical Phenomenon to be held this year on Mount Kilimarjarro where the second largest Centre in psycho-sexual Geophysics is located.

When contacted to comment, the Student Union president confided that a petition was going around requesting the resignation of Professor Stanley or his agreement to end his three month old affair with his most recent lover so as to enable the Union to proceed with their Summer activities this year. At press time, Professor Stanley could not be contacted for comment.

FOURTEEN SLAUGHTERED IN MUD-DIVE BLOOD BATH

This year's Jones House Mud Dive consisted of around fifteen divers. A very disappointing crowd of only around nine hundred people showed up to watch this magnificent and dirty event.

Some people were quite upset to have it snow that day, since it kind of ruined the dive's atmosphere. But most of the spectators were too intoxicated to give a damn.

The ceremonies commenced with a sort of "head bang." One of the social reps of Jones House laid down in the mud and people took turns jumping on his head. His funeral will be this Friday (closed casket of course).

Each diver wore a costume to represent some famous person or a theme. Some of these were Ghaddafi, Daffy Duck, Louis Armstrong, the Mona Lisa, The Texas Chainsaw Massacre, Rita MacNeil and Jack and Jill.

The Daffy Duck diver did not dive. After eyeing a pigeon walking down the sidewalk, the diver was not seen again for the rest of the event. The Ghaddafi diver did not dive either. He ended up getting into a lengthy political argument about the coolest looking sunglasses with a Jones House resident by the name of Simon.

The Texas Chainsaw Massacre diver apparently forgot to take the chain off his saw and took the lives of around fifteen people before realizing that they were really dead. He will be appearing in court in around two weeks time.

The Jack and Jill divers spend quite a long period of time in the mud after diving. They claim they lost their pail. The Rita MacNeil diver went over really big with the spectators. The splash was pretty big too.

The only complaint there was from the spectators was that they missed many of the dives from running in and out of Jones House for more beer.

There were no remarks from the judges since they were three of the fifteen killed by the Texas Chain Saw Massacre.

But El Macho made a special appearance slicing somebody in a gaudy shark contest. The event ended with everybody enjoying a delicious meal of shark fin stew.

"AS SOON AS I'M TURNED ON IT STARTS TO SNOW."

ANIMALS SPEAK OUT AT LAST!

The citizens of Canada were shocked nationwide last weekend when a "herd" of wildlife stormed Capital Hill protesting 'the damage man is inflecting upon the environment.' Many were carrying banners with slogans such as: "No More Nukes!"; "Let's Kick The Chemical Habit"; and "Free Canada - Trade Multi-Nationals".

Spokesanimal Beatrice, an grandmother beaver from the west coast, told our reporters that they were hoping to raise public awareness about the devastating effects of modern day societal values on the ecosystem ("Capitalism, for all you who never took sociology", explained Beatrice). "It is time that you humans realize that you're not the only ones who have to live on this planet. Not only are we being driven out of our homes by sheer force, but we are facing a constant bombardment of deadly chemicals - pesticides, herbicides, acid rain, PCB's - everything and anything including nuclear waste!"

Beatrice went on to say that the wildlife throughout not only Canada but the entire world have been holding conferences periodically for about the last 15 years. "We all assumed that you [humans] would come to your senses and stop this terrible assault on the environment. But for us in Canada, when the Free Trade Agreement went through, we knew that it was up to us to take action!"

It would appear that the Canadian State was quite well represented geographically, as the 'herd' of protestors included wildlife from all over the country: bison, white-tailed deer, caribou and musk-oxen, prairie chickens, big-horned sheep, even some bald eagles. Amongst the crowd was a survivor from the recent oil-spill off the Alaskan coast. Oattie, a rather sickly-looking otter who was carried on the back of a moose, gave a painful description of his visit to the American waters. "Quite a few of us went up the Coast to see some friends.... I was the only one who made it home.... I just don't understand how even humans can allow such awful things to happen over and over again..."

Although there was fear that the government might call in the riot squads to disperse the chanting group of animals, the protest ended on a dismal note as the protestors got wind of Brian Balony's press statement concerning the incident: "I don't understand what is wrong with these animals. We built them games reserves, parks and even bird-feeders... And who pays for this? It comes off the backs of hard working Canadians.... I guess you just can't satisfy some people, er animals, no matter what you do."

University of New Brunswick Student Union Treasurer Bernie Dumpy and Bumswickan photographer Pearl Locker have fallen madly in love - thanks to Student Union Vice President (Internal) Squigi Mocca, who played cupid in the startling romance.

From the moment Mocca brought them together, March 31st, the pair were almost inseparable - eating Beaver Foods lunch together for 13 straight school days until Pearl had to hitch-hike to Halifax on a photo assignment with the Daughters of Sullivan. Even then, Dumpy wowed & wooed Pearl with phone calls & boxes of 24 exposure color film.

"Yes, Pearl and Bernie are dating", confirmed Editor-in-Chief, Salami Jawes. They are very serious."

Dumpy, 23 - who's never been romantically involved before - excitedly told Bumswickan staff he hopes his relationship with 20 year old Pearl will last for "the rest of the term".

"It was like getting an A+ in Advanced Cost Accounting"

A source close to Pearl confided: "Pearl has dated many men. She's a shy girl who takes her photography seriously.

"But she now tells me: 'Since I've been eating Beaver Foods with Bernie, I've put on 50 pounds and I've got more color film than ever before. I'm having so much fun I could die!'"

Bernie and Pearl had talked at editorial meetings before in the past school term, but the sparks never flew until Squigi suggested to Bernie that he do Pearl's income tax forms for her.

Squigi brought them together after an editorial meeting and Dumpy gave Pearl a friendly punch in the shoulder. Bernie told Squigi "I've always thought Pearl was dizzy, but I never thought she'd be my type. The minute she punched me back in the face, I melted.

"It was like getting an A+ in Advanced Cost Accounting. My heart started beating like I was having a heart attack!"

Pearl confided to a friend: "Bernie has a special way of making me feel like dirt. I've fallen in love with him."

Ever since then, they have been developing film (in the dark room) and calculating photo inventory budgets together, confided a Bumswickan editor: "Bernie told me he doesn't know what will happen with this special relationship - but he and Pearl say they hope it will go on at least for the rest of the week!"

-N.H.L. Pro's playing in University Sports - Howie, Orr, Sittler

Fredericton, NB. (AP)

The University of New Brunswick in a surprise move to improve their Hockey program has offered substantial amounts of money to former N.H.L. greats Bobby Orr and Gordie Howie to enrol at UNB to play for the Varsity Red's. The Athletic department is also in the midsts of appealing the C.I.A.U.'s age restriction of varsity players, which is presently at 25 years old.

Sources revealed that because of the C.I.A.U. regulation concerning eligibility of "pro" status players in sports, they would only have to sit out 1 year before being allowed to play for a Canadian University Varsity program, but Orr and Howie have already done this. Unfortunately the C.I.A.U. has put a age restriction on varsity players, thus presently making Orr and Howie ineligible. "They will certainly have to try-out for the team, but we feel they can make it" said one source high up in the Athletic Department.

BOBBY ORR

"Gordie is looking to go back to school and get a business degree", a close friend confided, "and he said UNB was the place for him". Friends of Orr say he has mentioned the same sentiments.

UNB must be hoping to improve their 6-22 record with these acquisitions. Other sources within the department have mentioned that if this is successful they will be trying to entice Darryl Sittler to come to the big red machine.

Farcity Maniac Coordinator's Own Story: "SMARTT-PACK PIG ATTACKED ME IN A VIOLENT RAGE"

By Pebbles Flintstone

UNB alcohol awareness ambassador and Farcity Maniac mascot, the SMARTT PACK PIG, is being sued for $40 million by UNB Farcity Maniac Coordinator Kurl Birdless - who says the Pig attacked him at a Farcity basketball game and then tried to stuff him in a bag!

His lawsuit charges the violent outbursts were part of a "continuous course of physical and emotional abuse" at the hands of the Pig - who he says blew his stack when he warned him that the school year was almost over and his services as mascot would not be needed until the fall.

Birdless told the Inquisitive "SMARTTY was so upset about having to spend the summer in a bag that we got to the point where he literally would not give a cheer at Farcity Maniac events - he would just stand there and drink with the Lounge Lizard."

Birdless and SMARTT-PACK had been the best of friends ever since the Pig came to UNB, about one year ago. But the animal's fierce refusal to comply with a previously made agreement has ruined their once close relationship.

"He signed a contract," said Birdless. "Eight months of the year his job is to raise the moral of the students at Farcity Maniac events, and four months are to be spent in a bag."

Birdless stated that at the end of the last Farcity game of the year, SMARTT-PACK "suddenly made a fist. Then the pickled porcine grabbed me and threw me against the wall with his hamhock, his full body weight behind it. Then he threw me up into the bleachers."

"My head crashed against the wall, and lights flashed in front of me. It was a moment before I could focus."

"He was yelling, 'I want to work at the Crotchmo this summer! I refuse to be treated like some common animal!'" Staggering, he then carried me into the Farcity Maniac office and proceeded to try to stuff me into the bag that he originally travelled to UNB in."

"He left, leaving me dazed and feeling spacey. There was this strange smell of burnt bacon and beer in the air."

The SMARTT-PACK Pig could not be reached for comment. His attorney, Shark Breathmint, told the Stunned that the Pig "categorically denies" everything Birdless said. "It is absurd and strains one's imagination. In my opinion, these charges are an attempt to retaliate for Birdless' previous threats to SMARTT-PACK to sell him to Beefer Foods. This threat was made at a time when attendance at Farcity events was at an alltime low.

When it comes to friendship it's clear one is very important to SMARTT-PACK: He is very devoted to the Lounge Lizard.

Birdless confided, "Ever since that reptile started slinking around, SMARTTY has not been the same. I know they're in this together."

"He left, leaving me feeling dazed and a little spacey. There was this strange smell of burnt bacon and beer in the air."

The way they were - Birdless and SMARTT-PACK Pig share an intimate moment at the Cottage Hill Socialist Club.

ELM SHITTY PROHIBITS INQUISITIVE STAFFERS FROM RENTING VEHICLES

By Barb D. Wire

(Bullshit Press) Elmm Shitty Leasing manager, Dick Nosed, has prohibited the use of his vehicles by Inquisitive personnel. Mr. Nosed was contacted today but refused to be interviewed as he was busy with his secretary.

"Those *!@#%! I'm never leasing our vehicles to that rag ever again, they just destroy them!"

When contacted by the Inquisitive, Mr. Nosed's secretary Ms. Sweet Vigininty agreed to show the damaged vehicles. Intrepid Inquisitive photographer, Yawn Baloney acquired the revealing pictures.

When contacted, the allegedly responsible Inquisitive staffers, Dr. Strangelove and his sidekick Ponyetail, claimed that the damage to the vehicle was not their fault. "Hey, it's not our fault," explained Dr. Strangelove, "We had absolutely no infantry support, (support that was in the leasing contract) when we got to the UNB campus." Ponyetail blamed the damage on Campus Security.

"We were driving across the lawn in front of Silley Hall when a Green Hornet fired an anti-tank missile from their office window. As the missile hit the vehicle, I bailed out to deliver the last of our paper bundles. Dr. Strangelove got the Green Hornet with the machine gun as he was bailing out."

When contacted for a rebuttal, Elmm Shitty's Dick Nosed claimed that the vehicle in question was only insured against anti-tank weapons that are greater than 66mm in calibre. Dr. Strangelove and Ponyetail are appealing the unilateral action.
