

JUST HOW IT HAPPENED

Defeat of Manitoba Prohibition Explained

Rev. Macbeth Who Lays All Blame on Roblin's Government.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
 Winnipeg, April 3.—Rev. R. G. Macbeth, who was president of the prohibition league of Manitoba at the last election, when the vote was overwhelmingly favorable to prohibition, said this morning: "The province is today as strong as ever in sentiment as ever, but the whole situation has been so complicated by cross currents that the issue was largely lost sight of yesterday. The people felt that the Roblin government was not dealing with the question in earnestness. The act should have been brought into force by an order in council and the people declined to vote in a referendum by the government, in which they had lost so far as that one subject was concerned. The letter of Mr. Roblin which he stated that the act really be a free whisky act published widely and the province would not commit the administration of a prohibition measure to a man under these circumstances, lest a half-hearted effort at enforcement would ruin the work for all time. The people preferred to wait, and the next provincial election will show that they are waiting for a day of reckoning with the government and will elect a government on a prohibition issue."

As to the division in the temperance ranks, Macbeth said, it was most calamitous not only in its immediate effect but for the future. The people, however, were so intensely in earnest in the matter that they will go forward steadily until by some measure or other the goal of their hopes is ultimately reached. Friends of Hugh John Macdonald would regret that his successor had not understood the political value of identifying his party with moral reform or of its tremendous import and popularity.

BOUNDARY QUESTION

May Lead to International Complications

Report That Canadian Surveyors Destroyed Old Russian Monuments.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
 Buffalo, N.Y., April 3.—The Express today prints the following under a Washington date: "The Alaska boundary controversy has assumed a new phase which may develop into a serious state of affairs between Great Britain and the United States. Reports have reached the state department that monuments built by Russia to mark the boundary of Alaska and British Columbia were arbitrarily removed by a Canadian official surveying expedition, and in view of this, Secretary Hay, by direction of the President, has ordered a personal investigation by a commission of American officers to ascertain if there is any truth in the sensational information. Captain Willis P. Richardson, Eighth Infantry, U.S.A., and Lieut. Geo. Thornton Emmons, U.S.N., retired, have been appointed members of the commission. Richardson is stationed at Vancouver barracks, Washington, and Lieut. Emmons, since he was retired for disability in January, has been connected with the Museum of Natural History in New York.

Who Had Threatened Extermination of His Wife's Entire Family—Self Defence.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
 Nashville, April 3.—Rufus Steelman, son of a wealthy citizen of Lincoln county, Tenn., shot and killed his brother-in-law, Frank Warren. Warren and wife had quarreled Saturday. Mrs. Warren went to her home, when a dispute arose over the disposition of the children and Warren armed himself with a revolver and shot gun and threatened to kill every member of the Steelman family. Young Steelman and his father saw Warren coming up the road on a horse with a shot gun across his saddle. Warren rode up to the door and dropping the reins raised the gun. Rufus Steelman immediately drew a revolver and Warren fell dead from his horse.

 Ottawa, April 3.—Sifton announced this afternoon that he would bring down a bill this session dealing with a number of matters connected with the Yukon territory, in all probability the question of representation of the territory in the commons. OLD DEWET'S FINE HAND

In Influencing Steyn to Ignore Overtures

Outlook in South Africa Darker Than for Some Time—War Will Go on.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
 London, April 3.—Dewet is influencing Steyn not to meet Schalk-burger and agree to peace. Communications have passed between Steyn and the Transvaal mission at Kronstadt, but nothing is known of the result. The majority of the military and civilians expect more from continual pressure of the troops than from present negotiations. Once before when hard pressed the Transvaalers showed a desire for peace, but this was promptly overriden by Steyn. There is nothing to indicate that Steyn is less irreconcilable; indeed, facts seem to point to a greater determination to continue the struggle. General traffic is closed throughout the country north of the Tugela river. The region is stoutly protected by lines of block-houses from Ladysmith. Permits are required to enable people to proceed beyond Colenso.

Heavy Passenger List

The stage which arrived this morning brought a small bag of way mail and the following passengers: W. R. Jackson and S. D. Nesbit, of theatrical fame; Lillie de Varley, Dominic Burns, J. T. Lithgow, comptroller of the territory; J. B. Blick, John C. Ord, and C. H. Maas, of the Am's Mercantile Company. Another stage will arrive late this afternoon with a bag or two of outside mail—73 pounds. A stage leaves for Whitehorse tonight and another in the morning, the last named carrying the mail.

To Wind up Company

New York, March 24.—A petition was filed this afternoon by the Bank of New Brunswick at St. Johns, N. B.; the First National Bank of Ottawa, Ill., and the National Bank of Helena, asking that the Crude Rubber Company be declared involuntarily bankrupt. Each of these three banks which figure in the petition have claims on the rubber company for $50,000. The petition asserts that the company has liabilities of $3,000,000 and that it has committed various acts of bankruptcy. The company is now, the petition states, in the hands of two receivers.

The Unrelenting Law

Spokane, March 24.—Nearly nine years ago, August 14, 1893, two highwaymen stopped a stage near Houston, Idaho, and robbed the mail sack. One robber was captured soon after and sentenced to life imprisonment. Charles Gilbert Webb, believed to be the other robber, escaped. Today Postoffice Inspector Slusser, in charge of this division, received notice that Webb has been captured in Mexico and will be brought back to the northwest to stand trial for the old crime.

NEW YORK ANARCHISTS

Distributed Circulars at Memorial Services

Held in Honor of Late Illinois Governor Altgeld—Several Arrests Made.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
 New York, April 4.—An attempt of Anarchists to distribute pamphlets at the Altgeld memorial meeting brought prompt suppression by police, three arrests being made. When acting Captain Churchill arrived at the hall he saw men and women distributing Anarchistic pamphlets making excuses for the assassination of McKinley and attacking Roosevelt. Churchill drove these people from the hall. When Harry Hirschhoff and Solomon Heller persisted in distributing circulars on the sidewalk they were arrested. Later when Solomon Wilhelm called at the station and claimed to be a friend of Hirschhoff, he was recognized as also having distributed pamphlets and was sent to join his friends.

KLONDIKE NUGGET.

AMUSEMENTS THIS WEEK.

Auditorium—"The Henrietta." New Savoy—Burlesque and Vaudeville.

WHAT IT INVOLVES.

There are matters of graver import involved in the proposed salary ordinance than the mere unwarranted expenditure of a few thousands of the public money.

Dawson has only begun the task of administering its own affairs, and the policies pursued by this first council will determine to a large extent whether the business of the town is to be conducted as a public trust or as a private graft.

The municipal campaign was fought very largely upon the general demand of the taxpayers for "economy and efficiency." Upon that cry the majority of the council were elected to office.

They were selected as candidates, and supported by the voters who had every confidence that the men to whom they were giving their suffrages would observe with the most scrupulous conscientiousness the trust reposed in them.

The introduction before the council of the salary bylaw has given rise to the belief that the confidence thus manifested may have been misplaced.

To what extent this belief is warranted will be determined by the ultimate disposition which the council makes of the objectionable measure.

The Nugget is informed that it does not meet the approval of a majority of the members—and that when it comes to a vote it will be defeated, or in any event greatly modified. We trust that such will prove to be the case.

The record made by the council up to the present time has been all that could be desired. The members have exhibited a commendable spirit in dealing with public affairs, and it is to be regretted that a bylaw so ill-advised as the one in question should have been brought forward.

Until it is passed by the council, criticism of the members will be withheld by this paper. We have simply endeavored to show the light in which the matter is viewed by the public generally, and whatever action is now taken by the council will be done with full knowledge of its probable effect.

The Nugget acknowledges with pleasure the fact that the News has supported the stand taken by this paper in connection with the salary bylaw. The opinion expressed in this paper yesterday that the aldermen who allowed their names to be published over the Citizen's platform, should abide by the provisions of that platform is endorsed unequivocally by the News. It is clearly a case of keeping faith with the people.

The most elaborate newspaper establishment in the world is located at Buenos Ayers, the capital of the Argentine Republic. The paper is known as La Preusa and is owned by Senor Ezequiel P. Paz.

The building alone cost $2,000,000, and in addition to the accommodations for the regular staff and mechanical department of the paper, splendid apartments are maintained for the free use of the public.

A large hall is opened for political meetings and all manner of societies and orders are allowed the privileges of the institution. The profits of the newspaper, amounting to about a half million dollars annually, are used in improving and extending the various privileges which are open for public use.

Senor Paz is a philanthropist who might give some pointers to many millionaires who are engaged in large charities.

Corroboration of recently published dispatches relating to Yukon representation in parliament has been received today. The Minister of the Interior has stated that a bill making provision for one, and possible two, members from this territory, will be presented, which means, of course, that it will be passed.

In any event, the matter will not be delayed for any considerable length of time, as parliament will likely adjourn some time next month in order to enable the premier and other members of the government to attend the king's coronation.

A new "anti-plutocracy" party has been organized in the states. Everybody who is "broke" is expected to join in and slaughter the bloated monopolists of the old parties.

The promoters of the movement have evidently failed to take into consideration the fact that nearly everybody in the states happens to be prospering at the present time. It is an off year for "antis."

Prohibition has failed to carry in Manitoba by a large majority. The announcement undoubtedly brought a sight of relief from thousands of people in that province.

If sufficient snow falls each night to require a full day of sunshine to melt it, how long will it be until none of the "beautiful" is left in sight?

If any candidate for alderman had announced during the campaign that he expected a salary of $2500 per year, he would not have received 100 votes.

The Sun's attempts to "square" the salary bylaw have been pitifully weak. The Sun is willing enough but the job is too big.

Evans Denies It. Washington, March 19.—Commissioner of Pensions Evans today was shown a dispatch from Birmingham, Ala., to the effect that a special from Chattanooga, Tenn., stated that close personal friends there of Pension Commissioner Henry Clay Evans claim to have information that President Roosevelt will make him secretary of the interior.

"There is absolutely no foundation for the report," said Mr. Evans, "and I would be glad to have the Associated Press deny it."

Chinese Exclusion. Washington, March 19.—Senator Proctor today introduced a bill continuing in force the present law for the exclusion of the Chinese until the expiration of the existing treaty with China, or until a new treaty shall be negotiated.

GERMAINE IN 'FRISCO

Writes Dawson Friend of His Welfare

Hints That He May Return to Dawson and Again Engage in Business.

A gentleman living in the city has recently received a letter from B. F. Germaine, which is so characteristic of the writer and contains the unmistakable mark of so many of his little peculiarities—that portions of it are herewith reproduced.

As the undisputed champion "bull-con peddler," Germaine remains today undefeated. His little way of grasping your hand with his right, placing his left on your shoulder, looking you squarely in the eyes and without a stutter saying "My dear fellow, I was just thinking of you and hoping you would drop in," was a stunt so fetching that it would disarm the most importunate who ever receipted a bill.

In his letter after describing his numerous exploits in Nome and his journey to San Francisco, he says: "Yes, my dear fellow, Mrs. Germaine and I are happily established in luxuriously furnished apartments in the elite section of the city where we have many callers, and while not reaping an immense fortune are prospering nicely."

Mrs. Germaine's health is excellent and she is looking, if possible, more exquisitely beautiful than ever in Dawson. As for myself, well, I still wear my hair a la pompadour and though not posing as a chef I take an active part in preparing the menus of many of our leading hotels.

After referring to a probable visit of his wife to Dawson this summer, he continues: "If Mrs. Germaine has the same good opinion of Dawson as when I left there, we will no doubt return next summer and open the swell restaurant of the city as it has always been my ambition to be at the front wherever I go, and feeling certain that there is a great and glorious future for that far-off golden north I will not rest contented until I have established myself pre-eminently the host of hosts in your coming great city of Dawson. Give my kind regards to all inquiring friends and specially remember me to the brothers of the A. B. I have for them a warm spot in my heart, an everlasting imprint of their gallantry and the kind hospitality extended to me on that memorable excursion when I bade them goodby at Fortymile."

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The Cotton Duck Company has filed a certificate at Trenton, N.J., decreasing its authorized capital stock from $50,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Men representing fourteen state organizations gathered at Chicago to attend the annual business meeting of the National Retail Hardware Dealers' Association. One of the chief matters which will be considered by the delegates is a way to check the mail order business.

Mayor Samuel B. Jones, of Toledo, O., is still very seriously sick. His friends and physicians are greatly alarmed over his condition. He went to Long Beach, Cal., for rest and recreation, but he has persisted in lecturing and traveling until now he has become utterly prostrated.

Jeremiah Foley, an Australian who was arrested recently on a charge of forging orders to the extent of $5,000 while employed as a clerk in the commissary department of the British army at London, has been brought to New York by Scotland Yard agents, and sailed on the Germania to face the charges against him.

A. G. Hepburn, vice-president of the Chase National bank, New York, in an address delivered before the Academy of Political Science, said there seemed to be a growing demand on the part of the public for government control of various industries, such as railways, telegraphs, etc., and he declared the trend in industry to be toward such control.

Change in the Cabinet. Washington, March 19.—The Post will say tomorrow: It is understood that ex-Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, is being considered by the president as the possible successor of Secretary Hitchcock who, it is understood, will retire from the cabinet. Mr. Wolcott was seriously considered for the interior portfolio at the time of Mr. McKinley's second inauguration, when it was thought probable Secretary Hitchcock would retire. At the time it was also understood he was willing to accept the honor.

The death of the brother of Secretary Hitchcock on Tuesday caused the rumors that the cabinet member from Missouri was to retire to be more persistent than for several days. It is believed the attention of the secretary will now be in demand at home in settling up his brother's estate.

Makes Fair Progress. Washington, March 19.—The house today made fair progress with the rivers and harbors bill. After the close of general debate, twenty-seven of the 116 pages of the bill were disposed of. No amendments were adopted. The general debate today was featureless.

At the opening session of the house today Mr. Mann, of Illinois, of the committee on elections No. 1, gave notice that immediately after the disposal of the rivers and harbors bill he would call up the contested elections cases of Spears vs. Burnett and Moss vs. Rhea.

The general debate upon the rivers and harbors bill then was resumed, and Mr. Ransdell, of Louisiana, member of the committee, defended the appropriations for the lower Mississippi.

Fable of the Home Youth

A Boy who had been fed on Home Influences for 20 Years finally had to get out and finance his own Meal Ticket. Therefore he decided to tear for the Tall Buildings, where all the large Fortunes are made.

When it came time for him to take the Train, his Father handed him a little Book of Hunches.

"In this Book you will find the most valuable Tips that have been doped out by the 32-Candle Power Intellectuals," said his Governor. "If you read this Book, you can't go wrong. In fact, I think you will Bat better than 300 right from the start."

So the Young Fellow packed the Book in his Telescope with the Military Brushes and the Sachet Bag, and made his first long Jump.

Having arrived in the City, he began to answer the "Help Wanted" Ads. He found some very Fancy Openings for a Man with a little Capital, which he was willing to let somebody else Hold for him. But the Business World was not exactly clamoring for a Guitar Player, who had nothing to show except some Scarfpins and Military Brushes, not forgetting the Sachet Bag.

After he had drilled up and down the principal Streets without having a lucrative Position forced on him, he consulted the Book, and was told to "Take up the Work nearest at Hand," so he got a Job shoveling Snow, with the result that he froze his Ears, and was landed by Pneumonia.

After he got out of the Hospital, he consulted the Book, and learned that "All Things come to him who waits," so he sat around Hotel Offices, reading the Advertising Blot- ters, and waiting for a Benefactor to discover him. Nobody except the House Policeman seemed to pay any Attention to him. Finally he took another Peek at the Book of Wisdom, and read as follows:

"See a Pin and pick it up, All that Day You'll have Good Luck."

He went out looking for a Pin and finally located one at a Crossing. He stooped over to pick it up, when a Trolley came around Dead Man's Curve and caught him amidstships. They separated him from the Fender, and he got his Name in the Paper, showing that even an obscure Youth from the Country may now and then attract Attention in the Bustling Metropolis.

The Company compromised with him for $200, and now he had begun to earn a little Money he felt a renewed Confidence in the Guide-Book.

He opened it, and read: "Boldness in Business is the first, second and third Thing." So he walked into the Office of a great Corporation, and asked, "Do you need a good Vice-President?"

"Don't wait for the Elevator," was the Reply. "Fall down the Shaft."

"Hold on!" said the Youth. "Perhaps I selected the wrong Hunch." He took another look at his trusty Volume, and read: "Be Modest." Also, "Humble Beginnings make great Endings."

"Come to think of it," he said, "I should be Tickled to get anything to do."

They put him to licking Labels and answering the Phone, at six Pesos a Week.

The Book told him to plant something every Payday, no matter how thin his envelope might be, so he lived on Eclairs and Tea and wore Celluloid Collars. He grew Paler day by day, and had about as much Gimp as a City Employee.

The Book told him that "A Penny saved is a Penny Earned," so he was a Tight Wad, and very unpopular around the Shop.

Acting on the Advice found in the Book he rode on the High Seat of the Sprinkling Cart, but one day he read that "All Work and no Play makes Jack a Dull Boy"; likewise, "Eat, Drink, and be Merry, for tomorrow we die." Next day he dropped his Whip. He alighted to pick it up and when he turned around, the Water Wagon was a Mile away. He did not catch up with it for a Week.

When he was offered a better Job with another House, his little Manual told him that a Rolling Stone gathered no Moss, and that Contentment was a Jewel. So he stuck to the Starvation Pay, for he read it right in the Book that True Merit always comes in for a Reward. He knew that as soon as he was worth more Money, the Company would come around and put it in his pocket.

Once he got to Fussing Around with a Young Lady who looked Fine to him and he decided to Tag her, if possible. His old Stand-By warned him against Procrastination, and told him that Faint Heart never grabbed off Fair Lady, so he tackled her on a Corner after he had known her for two Weeks and made a Flat Proposition, with the Result that he got the Harpoon in three different Places.

After four Years he had saved up a small Roll of the Needful. A True Friend gave him a Tip on the Stock Market. It was one of those Tips that come in a roundabout way from J. Pierpont Morgan. It was a Wireless Special. The True Friend took him up an Alley and whispered it to him for fear that a Newsboy might hear them and get his Money down first. Our Hero was Leery but the Book said, "Nothing venture, gain," so he margined 100 Shares of Amalgamated Bronze and told them to close it out as soon as it touched 180.

In a few Days he received a Business Letter reading as follows: "You Lose."

Once more his Visible Assets consisted of the Military Brushes and the Sachet Bag.

He headed for Home, and as he walked in he said: "Folks, I've come back to Eat."

"Have you got it in Large Bills or do you carry a New York Draft?" asked his Father.

"That was a bummy Chart you gave me," replied the Boy. "It had me steering in all Directions. I wish you'd take back your Proverbs and give me a Recipe for cooking up a few Practical Schemes."

GEN. OTIS TESTIFIES

Before the Committee at Washington

Tells of the War in the Philippines and of Foxy Insurgent Generals.

Washington, March 19.—Gen. Otis continued his testimony before the senate committee today. Referring to his order of September 8, 1898, directing the withdrawal of the insurgent troops outside the defenses of Manila, Gen. Otis explained that a commission from Aguinaldo's cabinet visited him. In the discussion which followed he said they did not mention the fact that the towns immediately adjacent to Manila were not a portion of the city. He classed as ridiculous Aguinaldo's request to receive a portion of the northern part of Manila occupied by the Spaniards in trade for something in the southern part of the city held by the insurgents.

Gen. Otis said he did not give the insurgents actual permission to occupy the blockhouses, which Aguinaldo claimed had been given. What he said was: "I don't care anything about the blockhouses; we are not going to take possession of them."

Gen. Otis said that Aguinaldo had demanded of Gen. Merritt the right to occupy the palace and to make appointments in the civil government, which caused Gen. Merritt to cable Washington for instructions. The reply was that there must be no dual occupation of Manila.

CAPTURE OF ILOILO.

Gen. Otis then detailed the circumstances attending the capture of Iloilo, the offer of the Spanish general, Rios, to hold the place against the insurgents pending the arrival of United States troops, and the capture of the town by the Visayans before the arrival of the United States troops. Aguinaldo, he said, was overjoyed when he learned that the detachment had been sent out, because he (Aguinaldo) declared that the first shot would be fired at Iloilo which would bring on war between the United States and the insurgent forces. Gen. Otis said that he had cabled Washington saying that the taking of Iloilo meant war in the islands, and had received the response to delay, which he did until the insurgents made war on the United States forces in Manila. He had, he said, issued his proclamation extending military authority to all parts of the archipelago, under instructions from the president.

Senator Rawlins sought to show that many of the things done by the United States military authorities were in contravention of the protocol, but Gen. Otis explained that he felt it his duty to protect lives and property.

The committee adjourned until 2:30 p.m. in order to permit Gen. Otis to conclude his testimony today.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon session Gen. Otis, referring to his proclamation, said he expressly omitted therefrom the word "sovereignty" because the Filipinos attached to it the meaning which the word conveyed to them under the domination of Spain.

Senator Carmack called his attention to the difference between the language used by the president in his instructions and that contained in his (Otis's) proclamation and asked why he had also omitted the words "control," "government," "lawful rule," "authority must remain supreme."

Gen. Otis explained that when these instructions of the president were received he was somewhat surprised. He was afraid they would be disastrous and assist the Aguinaldo government to excite the people of Luzon. Gen. Otis said he told Admiral Dewey, who had called on him the following day, that he did not think the president understood the situation, owing to the great distance of the islands from Washington and that under the conditions then prevailing he would be perfectly justified in making certain amendments.

Leading Filipinos told him that the words referred to might be used by Mabina to excite the people.

HAMPERED HIS WORK.

Gen. Otis admitted, in reply to an inquiry from Senator McComas, that the act of congress limiting the service of the volunteer troops until July, 1901, their return to the United States and the forwarding of others to take their place greatly hampered him in the pacification of the islands.

When the trouble in China occurred notice had been passed among the Filipinos that the United States would not be able to send more men to the Philippines, and this emboldened them to resist the authority of the government.

Senator Patterson asked Gen. Otis if the idea of the Filipino people regarding the hopes and aspirations for independence was a mistaken one.

"No," said Gen. Otis, "Aguinaldo had his ambitions."

Speaking very deliberately, he said: "And he was sent over from Hongkong for the purpose of driving the Spaniards out and then attacking the Americans, I supposed. We have the papers of the original junta."

He thought Aguinaldo was performing a double part at the time. He then explained the location of the Nebraska regiment, which was first attacked outside Manila.

"No man ever worked harder in the interests of peace than I," said the general, "but if the United States troops had attacked the Filipinos and driven them out of the city when they first got there, it would have been much better. They got very 'cocky' after a while, and thought they could sweep us into the bay."

The trouble in Luzon, Gen. Otis said, was caused by the good men being overthrown, because of fear of assassination.

SENATOR PATTERSON ANSWERED.

"Until the time of the ratification of the treaty was not the Filipino army there for the purpose of asserting and maintaining the independence of that island, by armed force, if necessary?" asked Senator Patterson.

Gen. Otis—They asserted that they wanted to drive the Spaniards out, and that under the conditions then prevailing he would be perfectly justified in making certain amendments. He had an idea, however, formed some time previous to the breaking out of hostilities, that the insurgents intended to drive the Americans out if they could. The Filipino army he declared was there to overawe the people in Luzon and elsewhere.

"Admitting," said Senator Patterson, "that they were there to overawe the people, did you have any doubt in your mind that the hope of the Filipino army was independence?"

"They never intended to secure independence, but to set up a government under Aguinaldo," was the response.

"Well, then, independence of some kind?" inquired Senator Patterson.

"Not according to their own pretensions," responded Gen. Otis.

"Was the Filipino army there for the purpose of plunder?" asked Senator Patterson. "Yes, I think they were going to try to drive the Americans into the sea."

ROBBERS AND LOOTERS.

"Simply to convert themselves into robbers?" asked Senator Patterson.

"Made up largely of robbers, yes," responded Gen. Otis.

"When you were communicating with Aguinaldo," inquired Senator Patterson, "as the general in command of the Filipino forces, did you at heart believe him to be a robber and a looter?"

Gen. Otis declared that he did not say Aguinaldo was a robber and a looter. He characterized him as much better than the majority of the Filipinos. In money matters he believed Aguinaldo strictly honest, and then, bringing his fist down on the table and speaking with great emphasis, the general said: "In duplicity he has few equals."

Senator Patterson made a sarcastic remark that Aguinaldo had "a good many illustrious colleagues."

Asked by Senator McComas about the assassination of Gen. Luna, Gen. Otis said there was no doubt that this was Aguinaldo's act.

"My opinion of justice," remarked Senator Patterson, "is that you should bring here the man who is accused of assassination."

Philippine Affairs.
Washington, March 12.—David P. Barrows, chief of the bureau of Insular Affairs, today gave testimony before the senate committee on the Philippines. He separated the Filipinos into two elements. The cultured class is small, only about a dozen families in every town of a population of 10,000. The remainder have no education and no wealth and are controlled economically and socially by the upper class. For two years, he said, this class and the Americans labored under a great misapprehension of each other, but there was an understanding now among the lower classes. Mr. Barrows said there is a strong desire for social betterment, as evidenced by the sending of the children to schools.

Washington, March 10.—The River and Harbor Bill and report presented to the house today by Chairman Burton shows some features not given heretofore. Section 4 authorizes the president to invite Great Britain to join in a commission to secure suitable levels in the great lakes and connecting waters. The report refers to information reaching the committee that Canada is ready to undertake the joint work.

 R. P. McLennan traveled from conveyer with a jolly crowd, in which was a party of three, Messrs.
 Cuthbertson, Bradley and Cogwell,
 the former two being Englishmen,
 the latter a Canadian attorney coming to Dawson to enter the law firm of Dendson & Aikman.

is usual with Englishmen in coming to the Klondike, Messrs.
 Cuthbertson and Bradley had something with them they could not bring in, and that something was a big farm wagon which they proposed putting on runners and hauling down from Whitehorse with several tons of goods. But on learning that the operation of a broad-gauge sled on a narrow-gauge trail would be attended with no end of difficulty, they abandoned their outfit, purchased a light cutter and drove in light. As there was but the three of them in the sleigh they reasoned that they would make much better time than the regular stage on which McLennan was traveling and kindly informed that gentleman that when they reached Dawson they would inform his friends that he would be along in five days or a week.

The start was made from Whitehorse but after the first two hours of travel the three men in the cutter were seen no more by the stage passengers.

When Ogilvie was reached McLencured a large sheet of blank paper on which in flaming letters printed with tar and a stick they inscribed the following, after which it was tacked up on the front of the roadhouse:

 the party saw was the flaming show-they drove on and it is said the peo-

 My Dear Stroller:

(Tender portion of letter omitted for obvious reasons.) I read with considerable interest your article containing a letter from a man who complained that his wife is a constant sufferer from "enwee." I know how to sympathize with him as my husband is troubled the same way. It was the same way outside and has been ever since we were married six years ago.
 I thought by coming in here he would wake up and do something but he is the same old poke. I was a school teacher and made a good living for myself before I was married and had more pocket money and more fun than I have now. Why should any girl tie herself to a husband and a possible family of children when she could be free and happy?

I think it your duty to say something that will benefit the yet unmarried and self-supporting girls who are liable to make the same mistake
 I did and marry some stick that sits around and yawns all day while I bake bread to sell to the miners along the creeks to make money to support him. By writing a piece you can probably reach more people than I could by raising my voice; besides,
 I have my bread to look after. Do this and you will be gratefully remembered by

MARION.

It would be a more hardened man than the Stroller, Marion; who would resist thy gentle plea; and yet he feels that it is not right to address you in an underhand way and unknown to your husband.

So your married life, Marion, is not declaring any dividends. It must be terrible for a woman to live day after day with the knowledge that it will profit her nothing to stealthily get out of bed at night and go through her husband's pants pockets; it would certainly be no pleasure to get up and go through her own—beg pardon, Marion, I am getting in deep water.

You do not say whether your husband asks you for pocket money or whether he gets up at night and goes through your—beg pardon again.

THE MARKETS OF DAWSON

Show Little Change for Past Week

Eggs Coming Down While Cream is Certain to Advance—Great Slump in Horses.

If the snow lay heavy on the ground on the first of May there would still be many miners who would be "getting ready to sled out supplies next week."

Not until the top of the roads begin to peep through the bottom of the snow and four horses' instead of two are required to pull an ordinary load do many people realize that they still have several tons of goods to freight out to their claims in order that they may be able to conduct work during the summer. The result is that now that the snow is going and the roads are becoming heavy, the merchants are all busy putting up goods for the creeks and teamsters are all busy forwarding them.

There has been but little variation in market prices during the past week although there is a likelihood that cream will reach $18 per case in the next few days and by the time navigation opens the cream supply of Dawson will be meagre. Fresh eggs are down to $37.50 and may drop to $26 per case in a week as from 600 to 800 cases are known to be on the river and due in a couple or three days.

The putting on the market by Barrett & Hull of 500 cases of a new but very good brand of butter at outside prices has paralyzed that branch of trade so far as old stocks are concerned. There will be no butter famine this spring.

Many fine horses are now coming in with freight and as their owners have no use for them after arriving, horses are cheaper in Dawson today by nearly 50 per cent than they have ever before been.

The prevailing prices in the markets are as follows:

THE MARKETS OF DAWSON

Show Little Change for Past Week

Eggs Coming Down While Cream is Certain to Advance—Great Slump in Horses.

If there is anything the Stroller admires, it is thrift. No matter where thrift is seen the Stroller stops and sits down on a stump or leans against a wall to admire it.

One of the most thrifty men the Stroller ever knew was a yellow preacher named Gus Walters. Rev. Gus was a past grand master in the matter of taking church collections and the result was that he owned and rented 25 or 30 cottages in Frog Alley while his church never even received a coat of paint.

While Dawson's city council has no chance to get in on church collections, the Stroller is pleased to see evidences of thrift on the part of the board that will at least keep the gaunt wolf from the door.

The motto "God helps those who help themselves" is very appropriate on the walls of a free soup house but would be rather suggestive on the walls of a council chamber. (The foregoing is a little bon mot the Stroller thought of himself. Among his best jokes this spring are some he thinks of himself.)

Being a member of a city council, and especially a member of a city's first council, is a position of great responsibility. As the member walks down street the eyes of his constituency are upon him. If he enters a saloon people say he is catering to the whisky people and if he passes a saloon they say he is catering to the church people.

Is it any wonder the criticized councilman should seize the bit in his teeth, bolt off and attempt to vote himself an independent salary? He should do more; he should pass a bylaw giving ex-members a pension, thereby providing for himself after his one year of incumbency, for one year, if the plebiscite is awake, is all he will likely have.

If the council should decide to elect a private treasurer to be custodian of its individual funds, the Stroller is an applicant for the position. The thought of how he can get his name on the city pay roll has lately driven him to insomnia and frequent toddies.

In the meantime, the conditions of the market demand that the official egg-plugger be given his portfolio at once.

FIRE ON ADAM'S HILL

At Which Each Person Was Chief

Social and Business Notes of Events on Eldorado and Bonanza.

Last Tuesday night the boiler-house on Sechrist's claim, Adam's Hill, caught fire. The workmen in the near vicinity quickly turned out like old firemen, and after a few hours hard work had the fire under control. Considerable damage was done and all the fittings on the boiler were destroyed. As is usual in such cases where there is no appointed chief, the boys all claim the honor of being the leader. Mr. Sharp carries his head up in the air and says he was the chief. Mr. Erickson also wants the honor, but we have it from good authority that Mr. Archie Johnson was really the one who told the boys what to do. If Dawson cannot get a chief it would be well to see Mr. Johnson. He can give good references.

Kinsey & Kinsey have opened their photograph gallery at the Forks and their right hand bower, Mr. Johnson, is right in his glory now, as he likes to dabble in paint.

Mr. Pat Corbett (no relation to Jim Corbett the fighter) is doing a lively business in his shooting gallery at Grand Forks. Last week he gave as a premium to the one making the most number of points in twelve shots a gold watch, which was won by Mr. Connor of the N. W. M. P.

Mr. Sandell of No. 39 Eldorado, who was very low with pneumonia last week, is greatly improved.

Mr. W. O. Smith of the Mineral Springs is transacting business in town today.

The Easter ball held at the Social hall, Grand Forks, last Monday, was a grand success. A large crowd was present and everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Dancing was kept up till 3:30, broken only by a short intermission for luncheon at 12 o'clock. Excellent music was furnished by Messrs. Friend and Murphy. The club announces that the next dance will take place Friday, April 11th.

Perhaps there is not a happier man in Grand Forks than Mr. C. M. Bell. The reason for the broad smile that Mr. Bell wears lies in the fact that Mrs. Bell has just arrived from the outside. Last night a number of Mr. Bell's friends gathered on the front porch of his temporary residence and serenaded the happy pair with songs and music. The serenaders were invited in, when best wishes and congratulations were extended, after which there was more singing and playing. Mrs. Bell, although quite surprised, soon recovered and entered into the spirit of the occasion and favored the boys with a solo.

As the serenaders were about to depart they were invited into the dining room, where refreshments were served. After toasting to the health of the bridegroom and his charming bride the merry makers departed singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Seattle Anarchist.

Seattle, March 24.—For the second time in one week P. J. Cowley, a Socialist speaker, has been arrested for obstructing a sidewalk. The second arrest was made Sunday afternoon by Officer Flannagan. According to Flannagan, the Socialist orator first commenced speaking at the corner of Occidental avenue and Washington street. His crowd was broken up at that point by the police, but in a few minutes Cowley resumed his talk at the corner of Yesler way and Occidental avenue. Officer Flannagan ordered him to quit, but he refused. Thereupon he was placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters. He gave $10 cash bond for his appearance this morning when the case was called in Judge George's court, but postponed until tomorrow.

Cowley was acquitted of the same charge last week. Officer Flannagan says Cowley is quite a good speaker and has the faculty of drawing large crowds to hear him. Sidewalks and streets are both blockaded until it is almost impossible for pedestrians to get along, so this officer says.

Policeman Flannagan insists that Cowley speaks on subjects that should not be allowed in a free country. He says the speaker severely criticizes the government, says bitter things about the President and advises methods to be pursued that are nothing less than anarchistic. With his speeches the police say that Cowley distributes literature along the same lines as he speaks.

Local Socialists say that Cowley is being persecuted. They insist that other people are allowed to hold meetings on the streets and blockade the thoroughfares as much as they please. The police say Cowley was run out of Portland for the same offense he is charged with here. They propose to break up his gatherings, they say, if they have to arrest him every day.

In Memoriam.

To the memory of Miss Bixler, recently deceased at Riverside, California, for whom, in life, the writer entertained the kindest feelings of friendship and esteem. In the springtime of life, in the bloom and pride of young womanhood, she is stricken with serious illness and passes away.

Earth's labors done so soon, Life's work so soon complete; Secure she rests within the tomb, The goal of death's retreat.

Beneath the southland's sunny skies, The home she loved so well, Sleeping calmly there, to rise At sound of the Judgment's knell.

To sorrowing friends betimes there will Out the depths of space in music's strain, Chanting softly, "Peace, be still," A low, sweet voice in accents plain.

Betimes there'll come a still small voice, Whispering gently, calming fears; God is good, and all rejoice Beyond this life and vale of tears.

Then why should we, her earthly friends Deplore her death, so early met, When but a span, our lot extends The time, our earthly sun shall set.

Then reunited we shall be Beyond this earth, life's troubled sea.

REHEARSALS COMMENCED

Opera Company Begins on the "Mikado"

Cast is Given Out by Director Searle—Chorus Numbers Sixty Voices.

If the success which attended the first rehearsal last night of "Mikado" may be taken as a criterion of what the production will be, that recently achieved by the presentation of "Pinafore" will be mild by comparison. Over 70 enthusiasts were present, parts were distributed and work was begun in earnest. The chorus, which will number 60 voices, will be much stronger than in the initial attempt by the company, several new voices having been secured. The cast as so far arranged is as follows:

- Yum Yum Mrs. A. B. Boyes
Pitti Sing Mrs. Rufus Buck
Peep Bo Mrs. Davis-Colley
Katisha Mrs. Eugene Cole
Nanki Poo Mr. R. L. Cowan
Pooh Bah Mr. Sheridan
Koko Mr. H. D. Hulme

The characters of the Mikado and Pish Tush remain to be cast, though it has been decided that Mr. Raymond will take one of them, probably the latter. Japanese wigs for all and the costumes for the principals have been ordered by wire from Chicago and will be in on the first boat after the opening of navigation. Mr. Freimuth will again be entrusted with the task of orchestrating the opera, which insures the accompaniment of being all that could be desired. The date of the production has not been definitely fixed but it is hoped to give it during the last week in May.

DETAINED AS WITNESS

Harris Case Will Have To Be Disposed Of

Before Tomerlin is Given His Liberty for Having Turned King's Evidence.

The information given out yesterday exclusively in the Nugget that Tomerlin, the Dominion highwayman would be given his liberty as a reward for having turned King's evidence, which made the conviction of Brophy possible and Harris probable, created something more than a sensation about town. As so often happens with news of a sensational character the facts in the case were soon succeeded by rumors of the most extraordinary nature, they culminating this morning in a story circulated by an individual of particularly vivid imagination to the effect that Tomerlin had left on foot at an early hour bound for the outside with instructions to report at every police detachment en route, and that he, the builder of pipe dreams, had interviewed him just previous to taking his departure. Such is not the case at all. Though the proceedings against him have been quashed, Tomerlin is not at liberty, no such order of release having yet been signed, nor will there be until the Harris case is definitely disposed of. Tomerlin is being virtually held now as a witness against Harris in case the supreme court of Canada should reverse the decision of the lower court, which found the accused guilty, in which event it would be necessary to try Harris on another charge, and until the Harris case is disposed of Tomerlin will be detained. The crown reserve case sent to Ottawa by Mr. Justice Dugas, it is thought will have been passed upon by May 5, the date set for Harris' next appearance in court.

FRAUD IS CLAIMED

Lewis Alleged to Have Been Insolvent.

Effort Being Made By His Creditors to Have a Bill of Sale Set Aside.

Before Mr. Justice Craig this morning the case of Joseph Dubique and A. Krober vs. J. E. Lewis and L. E. Robertson was heard, the action being for the purpose of having set aside the transfer of a bench claim opposite No. 7 below, right limit, fifth tier, on Bonanza, made by Lewis to Robertson upon the ground of fraud, such transfer being alleged to have been made when Lewis was insolvent and for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. It was brought out in evidence that Lewis owed the plaintiffs some $2500 for supplies furnished, and had additional liabilities amounting to over $4000, principally for labor. In addition to the Bonanza claim he also owned a hillside on Hunker, an interest on lower Dominion, and a quartz claim, all of which, however, were said to be of extremely problematic value. Lewis sold the claim last summer to Robertson and then disappeared down the river.

The defense of Robertson is that he bought the claim in good faith, the sale was legitimate and he produced a witness who testified to having weighed out for him the gold dust paid out for the claim. The case occupied the bulk of the day, his lordship reserving his decision at its conclusion.

Another case disposed of this morning by Mr. Justice Craig was that of J. S. Hammond vs. J. R. Whitelaw, an action brought to recover damages for loss of time suffered by plaintiff in being compelled to attend a wage suit in the police court which was dismissed. Plaintiff did not appear when the case was called and upon motion of counsel for defense the action was dismissed.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

W. A. Clark, for a long time one of the staff of the gold commissioner's office and later private secretary to E. B. Condon, is in the city today for the first time in several weeks. Mr. Clark is working a claim this winter on the right fork of Last Chance upon which he has excellent pay.

M. G. McLeod, formerly assistant to Mining Recorder Burwash at Stewart, has been transferred to the Dawson office.

Mr. H. G. Wilson, of Clark, Stackpoole & Wilson, has arrived in Skagway on his return to Dawson and is expected here early next week.

Among the passengers arriving on the stage today was Mr. J. T. Lithgow, territorial comptroller, who has been enjoying an extensive vacation outside.

Alleges Encroachment. John F. Miller has begun an action in the gold commissioner's court against Zabolion Campbell and J. B. Grundin, asking that they be estopped from working the claims upon which they are now employed and that a receiver be appointed to take charge of their dumps during the cleanup. Miller owns creek claim 246 below lower on Dominion and the defendants the right limit hillsides adjoining, the dispute arising over the boundary lines of the claims.

Mr. Ross has had experience in winter travel and is a "musher" himself of no mean ability. He has been delayed at Ottawa in getting various matters in relation to the Yukon cared for, but will leave in time to reach here before the water runs.
