FIGHTING THE BIG MAIL ORDER HOUSES

New Brunswick Merchants Getting in Line—What They Have Done and What They Suggest—One Man's Opinion.

Bathurst is taking the lead in united action on the part of the business men with respect to the departmental stores of the upper provinces making a slaughter house of the province of New Brunswick, says the North Shore Leader. A meeting of the Bathurst merchants took place recently and was attended by a splendid representation of the business men of the place.

Resolutions were passed inviting the co-operation of the other northern counties of the province having in view organizations all over New Brunswick with the object of stamping out, or greatly lessening, the evil resulting from this outside departmental store business.

Another resolution expressed the opinion that legislation should be promoted and carried through the legislative assembly authorizing the different municipalities to require outside departmental stores to make a sworn statement of what business they expect to do in the province each year and another sworn statement at the end of the year as to the actual business done within our province by them—each municipality to be further authorized to impose a license on such outside departmental stores.

A gentleman who has made quite a study of this matter and whose business has been affected in various phases of the case with the exchange. Among other things he said: "A not extravagant estimate of money sent out of the province each year to the departmental stores of Quebec and Ontario would be between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000."

"The question is not so much who is to blame for this condition of things, as how best to find a remedy."

"The action of the Bathurst merchants is an important step in the right direction, but many other steps are necessary. Boards of Trade should be organized in every city, town, village and settlement of the province and the people of the country districts should be induced to become members of such Boards. At the meeting of these bodies, it should be pointed out that no county or province can become prosperous, where money that should be spent by the people among each other is being sent out in barrels to enrich the business people of other provinces. Against the argument that people should buy in the cheapest markets it can be shown that if the farm producer does not deal with the home merchant and the home merchant is obliged to give up business, the home market for the farmer is destroyed and that there must necessarily be a reduction in the price of farm produce, not to speak of the inconvenience of finding an outside market. Most of the trouble has arisen, because of the attractive circulars and catalogues, sent into our province by the outside departmental stores. Why should not the bigger establishments in our own province send out attractive catalogues? There is no reason why our own business men should not take full advantage of the opportunities offered by printer's ink and engraving.

That New Brunswick has suffered by the unfair competition referred to there can be no doubt, and that the existence of the general stores throughout the province is threatened, unless action of self defense be taken, no one who goes over the province as I have done during the last couple of years, can question. A united New Brunswick First policy on this question is the duty of the hour. Bathurst's action is the first gun fired in a battle that must be waged in the interests of the trade of New Brunswick."

Circulars from Bathurst have been received by several of the leading merchants in Newcastle. These circulars go exhaustively into the whole matter. Early developments are expected in the situation. Messrs. W. J. Kent, H. Melanson, and J. Henderson are on a committee in charge of the Bathurst arrangements.—Sackville Tribune.

Jubilee Services at Lawrencetown

The Lawrencetown Baptist church will hold Jubilee Services on the 26th and 27th. Sunday 26th Rev. R. W. Porter, of Halifax, a former pastor of the church, will preach at 11 a. m., and another former pastor at 7.30 p. m. Sunday School services at 10 a. m.

Monday 27th a. m. there will be a Roll Call of the members at which responses will be given and a thank offering made, after which supper will be served in the vestry, after which a public service will be held, to which all are invited. The history of the church will be read at the public service and addresses given by former pastors and others.

The Choir will provide special music for the occasion.

Farmers' Association

By the twenty-fourth all the crops will be in and it will be a proper time for the farmers of the Valley to take a day off and visit the College Farm, Truro. The rates this year are extremely low and we hope to see a large crowd if the day is fine. A refreshment car will be provided and fruit and drinks will be sold. At Truro lunches will be provided with hot tea or coffee for twenty cents.

The principal and professors of the College will be present to welcome the excursionists. The Committee hope that a large number of people will patronize the excursion from Annapolis County as the cost of running the train from Annapolis to Middleton should be made up by the farmers in the west. Lectures by prominent men will be delivered at College.

W. H. WOODWORTH,
Chairman of Committee

A GOOD RESOLUTION

RESOLVED:—I hereby resolve to do my buying as far as possible from the advertisers of the "Monitor-Sentinel" and in this way give my confidence and support to those whose enterprise has helped to make Bridgetown a good place to live in.

Local Entertainment Benefit Hospital Hall Fund

A splendid amateur entertainment was given in the Court House last evening for the benefit of the Hospital Recreation Hall Fund, produced by local talent under the direction of Miss Margie Walle of the Beck Entertainment Bureau of Boston. About fifty local people including twenty children took part entertaining the large audience which completely filled the house with two hours of continuous fun and laughter. Many of the performers were never on the stage before and only three days were given them to prepare, but all acquitted themselves well, and many surprised the audience with unsuspected histrionic talent.

The stage was effectively fitted up to represent a railway station. All details were carefully arranged through the energetic management of Mr. A. F. Hiltz, superintendent of the County Hospital. Dr. A. S. Burns was the efficient Station Agent, and W. R. Longmire the energetic representative of law and order. As time and space will not permit a detailed mention of points or performers we append herewith the cast.

Mr. Hiltz wishes the Monitor Sentinel to express his appreciation of the aid so willingly given by the various performers, and would also thank the general public for their liberal recognition of the effort made to obtain funds for the county building. An account of the disposal of the proceeds will be given later. It is hoped that Miss Walle will return and arrange for another entertainment this season on similar lines, and it is expected that the entertainment here given, the "Union Depot" will be produced in Middleton the second week of July for the benefit of the same fund.

The election of a president resulted in the elevation of the Rev. B. Hills, B. D., to the Presidency.

The Rev. B. Hills is a Halifax man says the Chronicle. For seven years he has filled the responsible office of Secretary with great efficiency and acceptability. Mr. Hills is the possessor of a quick and accurate mind. Few if any, in the Conference can untangle a disciplinary knot with equal clearness and facility. He also possesses a kindly and attractive disposition, and the unanimity with which he was elected is the finest evidence of the high esteem in which the Conference holds him. Mr. Hills responded to his election by a most happy speech.

Ladies' Orchestra at St. John Fair

Madame Renfew's Orchestra of twenty-five ladies will be one of the big musical features in the Dominion Exhibition in St. John, N. B., Sept. 5th to 15th next. This organization ranks high in musical circles of America, and is being brought to St. John at a very considerable expense. The comely bevy of young ladies dress most attractively in different costumes from day to day, and their programmes are a happy commingling of popular, classical, household, religious, and national music. They have numerous specialty numbers, in imitation of animals, minstrel troupes, etc., and among the party are some veritable comedienne, who create merriment as well as delight from the musical standpoint. Madame Renfew's Orchestra will be heard afternoons and evenings at a central point in the main buildings, and to ensure the thorough enjoyment of its programmes special seating provision will be made nearby. During the afternoons and evenings local brass bands will supply music in front of the Grand Stand and round about the grounds.

Recital Sacred Music St. James' Church

Music lovers who were present at the recital of sacred music at St. James Church last Wednesday evening spent a very enjoyable evening and were delighted with the program rendered. Four selections were given by Mr. Charles A. Munro, formerly of Bridgetown and now of St. John, but recently a soloist of St. Paul's Church choir Halifax. Mr. Munro has the true musical gift and possesses an expressive voice of rare quality well adapted for the rendering of sacred music.

Effective solos were also given by Mrs. R. W. Elliott, of North Sydney, and Mrs. Harry Ruggles of Bridgetown. Dr. Carmon Johnson's fine base was heard to advantage in a quartette and in the anthems. One of the gems of the evening was a duet sung by Mrs. Ruggles and Mr. Munro, "Love Divine" by Stainer.

The Anthem by the full choir "Hark! Hark! My Soul!" was another very effective number in which solo parts, soprano and mezzo-soprano, were beautifully taken by Mrs. Ruggles and Mrs. Elliott. Miss Madge Morse, the efficient organist of the church, most acceptably rendered the accompaniments for the entire recital. During the offertory an organ selection was given by Mrs. A. R. Bishop.

The entire program is one which would bear repeating, and was as follows:

Hymn—"Onward Christian Soldiers." (383).
Solo—"One Sweetly Solemn Thought." R. E. Ambrose
Mr. C. A. Munro.
Anthem—"There is a Blessed Home" J. C. Marks The Choir
Solo—"The day is ended." J. C. Bartlett. Mrs. R. W. Elliott.

Solo—"Face to Face." H. Johnson. Mrs. H. Ruggles.
Organ Solo.—Mrs. A. R. Bishop.
Anthem—"Hark! Hark! My Soul" Shelly. The Choir.
Solo—"Now the day is over." Anon. Dr. C. A. Munro.
Hymn, (382) Prayers and Benediction.
Accompanist, Miss Madge Morse.

A Canadian Product

Montreal—On May 22nd the S. S. "Rakai" sailed from this port for Auckland, New Zealand, this being the first sailing of the recently subsidized C. P. R. line from Montreal to Australasia and New Zealand. Part of the "Rakai's" cargo consisted of two carloads of "2 in 1" shoe polish, made in Hamilton by F. F. Dalley Co. This is the third shipment of 2 in 1 sent to Australia by the Dalley people within the last year. The first, sent June 8th last, consisted of 1,000 gross, the second, sent Nov. 2nd contained 1,500 gross, while the shipment just sent amounted to 1,540 gross, or 221,760 boxes. This brings the total of "2 in 1" sent to Australia within the year up to 581,760 boxes.

It would be hard to find a stronger recommendation for "2 in 1" shoe polish than that it should thus force its way to the ends of the earth, past almost prohibitive tariffs, against the strongest kind of competition from British and other firms.

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY AND D. A. R.

Only a Preliminary Survey to Get a General Idea of Road and Country Traversed.—C. P. R. Not to Take Possession This Year.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the president of the C. P. R. made a trip of inspection over the D. A. R. from Halifax to Yarmouth on Friday of last week. A special train was put at his disposal and he was accompanied by P. Giffkins, general manager of the D. A. R., William Youlds, mechanical superintendent, and D. J. Murphy, traffic superintendent. They made brief stops at several places on the line, Windsor, Kentville, Annapolis, Digby and arrived in Yarmouth about half past seven in the evening.

Nothing eventful is reported as a consequence of the trip but it was intimated by Sir Thomas on his return to Halifax that his trip had been entirely satisfactory as a preliminary feature to taking over the road, although that event would not take place until the year 1911.

A press despatch from Montreal reports the following interview with Sir Thomas on his return to that city:

"Our trip," said Sir Thomas, "was made almost entirely with a view to looking over the country traversed by the Dominion Atlantic and to gathering information as to the character of that railway, which we hope will some day become a portion of the Canadian Pacific system. It was a very hurried trip indeed, as we were only gone from Montreal seventy-two hours, and in that time we travelled over two thousand miles. But during our run over the Dominion Atlantic we met a number of people who seemed glad to think that they would be long secure a connection with the Canadian Pacific, and from the nature of the country and other evidences we saw, we hope in time to build up a very good business there."

"And as to the result of your trip?" was asked.
"Well," replied Sir Thomas, "we did not formulate plans as a result of our journey, nor is it our intention just now to do so. All these matters must remain for the future to decide. As to the building of the C. P. R. hotel at St. John, or any other place, we shall be governed by circumstances, and decide later on. It will probably be nearly a year before the Canadian Pacific becomes even indirectly interested in the Dominion Atlantic, and in the meantime, we shall have plenty of opportunity to think over our plans."

Asked as to the effect which the ultimate object of the new extension of the C. P. R. sphere of influence in the maritime provinces would have upon Halifax, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy merely smiled and remarked, "Well, that will depend upon future developments."

D. A. R. Loses Damage Suit

Jury Awards Mrs. B. W. Cousins Four Thousand Dollars For Injuries From Falling Off Train.

Digby, June 14—The Jure term of the supreme court opened here today Mr. Justice Laurence presiding. It was the first session of the supreme court to be held in the handsome new brick and stone court house and on this Judge Laurence congratulated the municipality in words that very much pleased the Digby people. The grand jury found true bills in the King vs LeBlanc and O'Neil, for wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm to Fred Moseley, D.A.R. baggage master.

The case of Cousins vs. the D. A. R. was tried by jury and at nine o'clock a verdict of $4,000 damages against the railway was brought in. The plaintiff is the wife of B. W. Cousins, Digby, and brought action against the D. A. R. for $10,000 damages alleging negligence on the part of the company. Mrs. Cousins a year ago fell from a train at Ono station, and ever since has been under medical treatment. W. E. Roscoe, K. C., and Frank Jones, for plaintiff; Hector McInnes, K. C. and Barclay Webster, K. C. for defendant company.

The D. A. R. have given notice that they will appeal the case.

Architect Broke Down When Giving Testimony

Montreal, June 15—A dramatic scene was witnessed at the Coroner's inquest into The Herald building disaster when Architect J. S. Archibald, who had certified as to the safety of the building to bear the fatal tank, completely broke down while giving his evidence. Mr. Archibald stated that he had prepared plans for the alteration of the building when The Herald went in in 1905, especially with regard to the preparations to strengthen the building, for the overhead tank which on Monday plunged through the building, causing destruction and the loss of some thirty-three lives. While explaining the disposition of the building and his work thereon Mr. Archibald became completely unnerved at the extent of the catastrophe and his apparent share in it, and broke down, having to sit down for some minutes before he was able to continue his testimony.

THE ARCHITECT EXAMINED BUILDING SEVERAL TIMES

After he had recovered the architect stated that he had examined the tank several times since it was put up, and was convinced that it was properly constructed. He considered that something in the building must have given way to precipitate the tank through the roof, but he could not give any definite idea as to the exact cause.

How Tuberculosis is Introduced Among Cows

A Wisconsin dairy herd of forty-six head, all appearing healthy were sold to divide the interests of landlaid and tenant, says Dr. H. L. Russell, Dear Wisconsin College of Agriculture the former retaining eighteen head of what he thought the most valuable animals and then buying three. The herd was dispersed to twelve persons, eleven of whom this introduced tuberculosis into their herds, for thirty-two of these cows were found to be infested the tuberculin tests being given by State Veterinarian, E. D. Roberts. None of these animals showed any outward appearance of the disease and no one suspected its presence at the time of the sale. The post-mortem examinations showed it had made only slight headway. However, it had begun to spread in the five months following the sale. Its accidental discovery was most timely, to prevent the spread of infection from the twelve centres.

And this is the story of how it happens right along. We didn't have tuberculosis a generation ago because we were not buying from the outside. We have been seeding the disease by the interchange of stock. In the early stages it was spread by the pure-bred stuff. The speaker knew one such herd which had spread tuberculosis to sixteen other herds in four states. One man lost three thousand dollars. The public auction has been a still more potent factor than private sales in thus spreading death and destruction, until now our grade herds are in worse condition than pure-bred cattle.

Out of three hundred and sixty-three diseased herds found in Wisconsin tests, two hundred and sixty-three herds, or more than seventy-two per cent, had acquired the disease by purchase. What more positive proof could one want of the spread of tuberculosis through the interchange of animals from herd to herd?

When a man buys a tuberculous animal he could better afford to take it out and knock it on the head than to take it into his herd and let it spread the disease.

The practical lesson growing out of this knowledge is, never buy cattle to take into a herd unless they are subjected to the tuberculin test.

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.— Warren Has Imported It.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing rats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. Warren, your druggist is the first to import this preparation into Bridgetown and a large, generous bottle can be purchased for fifty cents.

A SMALL TOWN EVERY DAY.
Additions to Canada's Population by Immigration.

Ottawa despatch.— During April immigrants poured into Canada at the record rate of sixteen hundred per day. Of the daily influx the average number from the United States was nearly seven hundred. The total immigration for the month was 48,267, an increase of 24,030, or ninety-nine per cent. Last month April's high record was again beaten, although the definite figures will not be available for some time. Since the first of the year the total immigration has been nearly equal to the total immigration for the whole of last year and the character of the settlers in respect to physical fitness, worldly possessions and adaptability for life in Canada is by far the best in the history of the Dominion. For the first quarter of 1909 the total immigration has been 98,132, as compared with 49,568 for the first quarter of 1909.

Arrivals from the United States during April totalled 20,443, an increase of 8,834, or sixty-two per cent, over April of last year. Arrivals via ocean ports, of whom over seventy-five per cent, were English-speaking, totalled 27,824, an increase of 16,196, or one hundred and thirty-nine per cent., as compared with the corresponding month of last year.

Joker's Corner

THE WATCH AND THE BOY.

Johnny's aunt gave him a bright and shiny dollar watch for his birthday and the boy's satisfaction was unbounded. A couple of weeks later, says Lippincott's Magazine, he remarked very dolefully that the watch wasn't keeping good time.

"It must be wound very carefully every night before you go to bed," his aunt told him.

"Oh, I never knew that," said the boy. "Now I s'pose I've just gone and ruined it."

"Why, when have you been winding it?"

"The first thing every morning," answered the boy sorrowfully.

SURPRISING

Andrew Carnegie, discussing at a dinner in Pittsburg the Pittsburg graft scandals, said:

"Exposure followed exposure so thick and fast that to express astonishment became, after a while, ridiculous—like the astonishment of the waiter."

"A waiter, you know, brought a gentleman a salad with his chicken, and the gentleman, after eating a little, said:

"Look here waiter, there's a worm in this salad!"

"That astonishes me, sir," the waiter answered. "I only just removed four from the air."— Washington Star.

Cologne Germany, June 13—Great loss of life has occurred in the Ahr Valley of the Rifel region as a result of a cloud-burst which swept the districts Sunday. Estimates place the number of dead at one hundred and fifty.

AN IRRELEVANT QUESTION

A little girl who had been for a piano lesson told her mother or her return that her teacher was not at all nice to her. "Why what did he do?" said the mother. "He asked me right in the middle of my lesson how many turnips there were in a bushel!" When the child went for her next lesson she was accompanied by her mother, who said to the teacher: "Why did you ask Nellie how many turnips there were in a bushel?" "I never asked her such a question," replied the surprised teacher. But he added, after a moment's reflection, "I did ask her how many beats there were in a measure."

PURITY FLOUR

A MORAL CENSOR.

In That Role King Edward VII. Was Most Strict.

When King Edward ascended the English throne, the boon companions of the former Prince of Wales who thought that they would be able to clap the new King on the back and he fall, low well met with him, as they were when he merely was the first subject, soon found out their mistake. The few who tried it were reminded speedily that familiarity with the King was quite a different thing from familiarity with a more or less irresponsible man of the world who, by the very nature of his position, was condemned to a life of pleasure seeking. It soon became known that while King Edward was no less truly democratic than ever in his choice of friends, the men and women he wanted about him now were those who had done something and who could be of use to him in his task of governing the greatest empire in the world. One of the friends whom he dropped then was Richard Croker, once boss of New York. It was all right for the sporting Prince of Wales to meet and chat with Croker on a racetrack, but it would not look well for the King of England to be on familiar terms with the man whose name stood for the personification of a certain kind of politics. At the same time, however he made a friend of J. P. Morgan, whose skill as a financier, taste as a patron of the church he much admired.

It was as a moral censor that King Edward caused most surprise, for no one expected that he would be strict in this particular. It soon became known at court, however, that no one against whose moral character there was the slightest breath of suspicion might expect to be received, and recently he had carried this form of censorship further by refusing to receive either party in a matrimonial quarrel, no matter how innocent one of them might be.

Tells of Plot to Rob Express Office

Rutledge Says That in Event of One Plan Failing, W. J. Burgess Was to Have Been Tied Hand and Foot.

Truro, June 14—The trial of William J. Burgess is progressing with public interest here well sustained. Today's proceedings contained the examination and cross-examination of Wilbert L. Rutledge, of Gerry, Indiana, who was the star witness against Laurie Burgess. His evidence was a repetition of that given at the trial of the latter with a slight enlargement, namely that when the plot was concocted between the two Burgess' boys and himself in William Burgess' room in the Elgin Hotel, Seattle, in December 1909, an alternative plan was adopted in case it was found inexpedient to hand out the cash and other property.

Laurie was to be supplied with a revolver and handcuffs, and the latter were to be placed on William's wrists and his feet were to be tied.

Handcuffs and a revolver, were found amongst the property buried on the Burgess farm in South Maitland, but the handcuffs were not used in the robbery of the Express Office.

In the cross-examination of Rutledge by J. J. Ritchie, however, the point was made that in all previous testimony Rutledge declared he had told all that was planned, and that this alternative scheme was not mentioned. One or two other minor enlargements of the previous testimony were dealt with by Mr. Ritchie, but without material effect.

The defence, this afternoon consisted largely in showing what took place when William Burgess, gave the alarm after the robbery, his agitated condition, and the efforts made by him to secure assistance.

Harry MacKenzie, testified to having seen a man coming out of the door of the express office on the north side of the building five or ten minutes before William gave the alarm, and go through an alley-way to the south side of the station.

This man, he said was stoutly built, and did not resemble Laurie Burgess whom he knew. The Court adjourned at six o'clock.

HOW TO KILL FLIES.

To clear rooms of flies carbolic acid may be used as follows: Heat a shovelful or any similar article and drop thereon twenty drops of carbolic acid. The vapor kills the flies.

A cheap and perfectly reliable fly poison, one which is not dangerous to human life, is bichromate of potash in solution. Dissolve one dram, which can be bought at any drug store, in two ounces of water, and add a little sugar. Put some of this solution in shallow dishes, and distribute them about the house.

Sticky fly paper, traps and liquid poisons are among the things to use in killing flies, but the latest, cheapest, and best is a solution of Formalin and Formaldehyde in water. A spoonful of this liquid put into a quart of a pint of water and exposed in the room, will be enough to kill all the flies.

To quickly clear the room where there are many flies; burn Pyrethrum powder in the room. This stupefies the flies, when they may be swept up and burned.

If there are flies in the dining room of your hotel, restaurant or boarding house, complain to the proprietor that the premises are not clean.—Bulletin of Committee of the American Civic Association, Washington, D. C.

A NEEDLESS SLAUGHTER

Thousands of skylarks are being slaughtered in the United States and in Canada every day to satisfy the demands of milliners who are using them to decorate the bows of Chanteclair hats. The Audubon Society, which has entered a vigorous protest, points out that these little birds, which bring fifty cents in the millinery market, are sworn foes of the insects which destroy garden truck. "These bugs, when unchecked, do millions of dollars of damage to the growing crops," says an agent of the society, and farmers in the districts where the skylarks are being slaughtered confirm the statement.—Ottawa Journal.

JOTTINGS OF LA MODE.

A New Use For Big Velvet Flowers. Fabrics of the Season.

The big silk or velvet roses in unconventional coloring has been revived, its mission being to lend a distinctive note to simple evening gowns.

In Paris the sleeves ending beneath the elbow are now the mode, and a sensible fashion it is for warm weather.

It is as difficult to find new fabrics as new fashions, for the so called new gown materials are the old ones slightly altered. It may sometimes be in weave or finish or weight under new names.

Guimpes this year are of the simplest variety, very sheer, little trimmed and very unobtrusive and very shallow. For dressy frocks silver and gold net is much used.

Embroidered muslins and flouncings are unusually beautiful this spring and are being much used for little girls' dresses. The frock pictured is made with skirt of flouncing and blouse of plain material to match, trimmed with the flouncing, the edge of which has been cut off to make the trimming and the little yoke. Vogue of Belt and Girdle One of the Striking Features of the Season.

Leather belts are very much worn this season. Wide plain belts in colored leathers, red, green and puce color, have special prominence. These usually have large buckles covered with leather, and they supply a striking note of color for the Russian blouse costume of natural tone pongee or linen.

The idea of running a wide belt through bound or embroidered eyelet

It can be finished as illustrated with an applied yoke on both blouse and skirt or the plaited part of the skirt may be continued to the waist belt. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Smart and Attractive Trimming. The Latest in Stationery.

Deep net flouncings embroidered with silk floss, one tone or in pastel colors, are among the new trimmings.

The novelty which milliners have introduced is the hat with the fly away brim. It is the left side of the brim that flares to the heavens above a moderate sized crown. The only trimming is a bow of velvet or a many looped wired bow of maline.

SPRING HINTS.

Some Smart Accessories For Very Fetching Wash Gowns.

One of the oddest millinery freaks to be worn with washable frocks is a straw hat trimmed with a band of patent leather treated in a way to make it as supple as kid. A gown in the latest pink linen was topped by a pink straw hat with befeater crown swathed in this way. A wide girdle of the patent leather slipped through the openings of the pink linen blouse belted the pretty costume.

Flowers occupy first place as trimming for straw hats, although plumes demand a prominent place. Large bows of filmy lace or chiffon are much used. The tiled wired bow is being killed by overpopularity.

Very stunning are large gun metal hatpins. A single rhinestone is in the center of the disk shaped top.

Here is an attractive blouse that closes invisibly at the front and is worn with a separate shield. Such a model would be charming made in striped cotton voile trimmed with plain material. JUDIC CHOLLET.

M. K. PIPER
PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1910.

Our editorial comments on the situation of our retailers who are compelled to put up with the unfair competition of the Upper Canada mail order houses has called forth further comments on the subject by a reader, whose correspondence we have pleasure in publishing elsewhere. He discusses the pros and cons in a very unbiassed manner, and passes on to our merchants some suggestions and pointers which they would do well to heed.

Since our last issue our attention has been called to the letter of a commercial traveller published some time since in the Halifax Herald, which we propose to publish in toto later and from which we now wish to quote a few excerpts.

The writer says:
"In travelling through the province from Sydney to Yarmouth, I find that the retailer is losing ground considerably, his sales in many cases are decreasing year after year and it is not an uncommon thing to call on merchants who are anxious to sell out. I can personally name at least a dozen, from memory, who appear to be doing well who have nice clean stores, good fresh stocks, first class business systems, who complain that they are not doing sufficient business to keep them alive and they are looking for prospective purchasers."

"It is, as I have told them, up to themselves to prevent this state of affairs. The population has not decreased so considerably that business should be greatly affected thereby."
"We cannot blame any outside firm for selling goods when and where they can. Competition is the life of trade and if our merchants are going to sit idly by and cry that competition is ruining them, then it is up to them to get down and out and they should do so unselfishly. But there must be some other way out of the difficulty. If competition be the life of trade, then our merchants must compete. If they cannot do so individually, they should do it collectively. The great trouble in Nova Scotia is that the people as a rule are too easy going and, worst of all, there is too much rivalry existing between them to ever make a success of anything."

This is the gist of the whole matter. The time has gone by—if it ever existed, when the merchant after filling up his commodious store with attractive goods can simply stand behind the counter and wait for customers to come and purchase. He has got to make a determined effort to secure his customers and once getting them he must make an equal effort to hold them.

In the latter respect the home merchant has an immense advantage over his competitor, as the element of personality and friendship which the home merchant may exert if he chooses can have no equivalent in the system of the "mail-order" merchant. The many small courtesies the home merchant is in a position to render his customers are so many "drawing-strings" to keep in touch with them.

In respect to securing customers no other methods are necessary than those the mail order man uses. The liberal use of printers' ink is not merely a valuable agent for drawing trade, it is an undeniable necessity. The merchant who does not take the fullest advantage of this means for securing and holding trade is like the foolish orchardist who simply plants his trees and lets nature take care of them. He is doomed to failure.

MINARD—BANKS.

On Wednesday evening, June 15th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Banks, Clarence, was the scene of a very pretty wedding when their youngest daughter, Winnifred Mildred and Mr. Tracy O. Minard were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. F. Wallace. The parlor was very prettily decorated with evergreen and daisies. The bride who is one of Clarence's fair daughters, looked beautiful in a braided white cashmere gown with bridal veil and carried a handsome bouquet of flowers. The many beautiful and valuable presents, included a dinner set, mantel clock, silverware, table linen, furniture and cash, and testified to the high esteem which Mr. and Mrs. Minard are held.

There were about seventy invited guests present, among whom were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Minard of Harmony, Queens Co., and his sister, Miss Zilla Minard of Liverpool. After partaking of a dainty repast the guests left for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Minard a long and happy life. They will reside in Clarence.

RAMEY—BURKE.

The marriage took place Tuesday evening, 14th inst, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burke, Port Wade, of their youngest daughter, Francis May, and Mr. Fred Ramey, of Perotte. The ceremony was performed on the lawn by the Rev. J. K. West, pastor of the Baptist church of this place. The Wedding March was played by Miss Minnie Snow. The bride wore a becoming dress of white organdie and lace trimmings, with the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley and maiden hair ferns. The bride and groom were unattended. The parlor was prettily decorated in white, the arch consisting of ferns and white flowers with a background of potted plants. Dainty refreshments with ice cream were served to over one hundred guests. A nice purse of money and many valuable presents attested to the esteem in which the happy couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Ramey left on Wednesday for Malden, Mass, when a reception was held at the home of her sisters. The bride's traveling suit was of brown with hat to match. We unite in wishing them bon-voyage through life.—COM.

Normal Students Suffering Severe Nervous Collapse

The Truro Sun says:—"For the last ten days it has been pretty generally known that two normal students have been suffering from nervous prostration bordering on temporary insanity."

"It is common talk on the streets that the cause is the severity of the physical drill that students are compelled to take by order of the council of public instruction."

"Personally we have no opinion to express in the matter. We merely mention the matter to call attention to what the people are saying."

"If they are correct, then the evil should be remedied, if not correct then there should be immediate denial of the stories from competent official sources."

"It is further openly stated that the physical drill course is exceedingly hard especially for young girls. That the time required for each lesson is too long. It is stated on the best of authority that the matter of graduating weighs heavily on the students' minds, because it is known that if they cannot pass Capt. Borden's examination in respect to the physical drill they cannot receive their diplomas."

"Again we repeat we have no charges to make or opinions to offer, like others we are merely asking for official information in the interest of the students, their parents and the public in general. If students are being overworked in their studies, then it is time for a change."

"In respect to the faculty of the Normal College, we may say that we have it on good authority that they have no control over the matter of physical drill whatever."

"It is up to some person to explain."

BOARD OF CONTROL IS TAKING ACTION.

In view of the calamity in Montreal prompt action has been taken by the board of control to prevent any recurrence of such accidents, this being the third collapse of such water tanks within the past two years. It was today decided by the controllers that they would at once appoint a board of three engineers to make a thorough inspection of the one hundred over-head water tanks in the city, as well as the buildings on which they are placed with the idea of seeing that all should be made perfectly safe.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Dear Editor:

I wonder if I shall be thought presumptuous by either yourself or the merchants of your constituency if, first, I commend you for the admirable article appearing in the editorial column on page four of last week's Monitor and second, if I suggest to merchants who peruse the Monitor that they should not merely read the article in question, but mark, learn, and inwardly digest it with a view to carrying out its suggestions. ...

Let me say at once that I am animated solely by a desire to see trade which rightly belongs to the towns of Bridgetown and Annapolis kept there. It grieves me when I hear of order after order going abroad even as I feel distressed when, after exhausting enquiries for certain articles hereabouts I send away, usually with enough added to make—say a twenty-five dollar lot and so get the consignment freight paid to my nearest railway station. Thus the thin end of the wedge enters in and one tastes of the advantages—sometimes, of the mail order system. As I read your article various thoughts thrust themselves upon me. I recalled a certain day a few months ago when the mail at the nearest local post office took an unusually long time to open. On enquiry I was told the mail received that day was the biggest ever received at that office and that it contained no less than seven large sacks filled with Eaton's catalogues. The size of the town was not larger than that of Bridgetown. Just think of it! Further enquiries elicited the fact that all that same time every Post Office in the county was having a like experience.

On the first page inside this catalogue appears the following:—"THIS CATALOGUE IS PUBLISHED FOR YOU."

We hope to secure a certain portion of trade from you and from every other person to whom we send a copy. Our hope is not without foundation, as it is based upon past experience."

I should say this last sentence is true with a vengeance if the seven sacks of mail is any criterion. The whole page and the whole thing confirms up to the hilt what you say in your article—viz: "The catalogue has come to stay." Now our merchants if they want not only to regain lost trade, but even to retain what they now have, must take cognizance of this. It is no good to complain or to resent. The fact is that farmers can save money every way by shopping so far away as Toronto or Montreal. 1st. They economize time, 2nd actual cash, not to mention the fact, that, as a rule they get a wider range of choice, and against this the oft repeated cry (tho', absolutely true), "The Department Store" pays no taxes here, gives you no credit, etc., etc., weighs practically not at all.

The difference being, as I heard a man put it one day—"The five dollars I saved by sending away is in my pocket instead of yours." Let me give an instance or two on my information. In a town not far from where I write, A. being anxious to do business with B. the local man made enquiries as to the price of a certain article. It was $45.00. He said "I can get that in Toronto for $37.50. I have a family and $7.50 is, to me, a consideration. I will, however, give you $40.00 cash down. I am willing to do that much in order to give you the trade rather than send away." The merchant refused. Of course one does not know the secrets of that particular man's method of doing business, whether he was working on borrowed capital and so likely paying the Banks seven per cent. on some note, but who could blame the man with the family. Again I heard of a conversation like this, not so very long ago:—"Going to send to Toronto, are you?" "Yes." "Why?" "Because I get things cheaper." "But, did you not see those bargains advertised by—?" "Yes, I have seen several such advertisements and have gone to secure them, but, strange to say, each time they have just sold out that particular line." Now if this is true, or even half true, it hardly bears comparison with the Toronto plan.—that is, if they have sold out of the article required they usually send you a higher priced one for the same money. They want your custom.

Another feature of this business is, so I hear, that local merchants resolutely refuse to cut goods, say a ten yard length, if only nine is wanted. This, it seems to me, in the interest of business is not wise. What are remnant counters for?

And so one might go on. But the query is, the remedy? Let me say at once I readily perceive, for instance, merchants in small towns with a turn over of ten thousand dollars per year or less can hardly be expected to carry on a stock and compete with concerns doing business away up in the millions, especially if they are working on borrowed capital. Yet the fact remains they have to compete with them or surely go out of business. It must come to that eventually. Why not, as you suggest, fight the mail order houses with their own weapons, even carrying the war into the enemy's camp? I understand one firm in Bridgetown has been doing this for some time and with a fair measure of success. They will allow you, if you like to select your goods from any Department they will meet that price with the same article. But (nota bene) they demand that customers do their business with them in the same way they do it with the Toronto stores,—viz:—Order thro' the mail, and most important of all,—Cash with order.—If you are not satisfied they will do precisely by you what the great T. Eaton Co. will do,—return your money. If this is possible for one why not for others, if not individually then by co-operation?

In many of these cases the retail merchant never sees the goods. They are shipped to his order direct from the factory. Thus, much expense is saved and the matter is one simply of clerking. But this, of course would not be possible in all lines.

Another thing might also be suggested here. It quite often happens that a merchant has not the thing inquired for. Why does he not more often offer to get it for his would-be customer? The order may be small, and possibly has little or no profit in it, but, then, he would please the customer, not to mention the chief point, he would keep the business in the town, and small orders lead to bigger ones. At any rate that is how the Department Stores figure it. "Send us a trial order" they say, "no matter how small," and it is often just here that they catch their fish.

I fear this letter is already far too long, otherwise, I should like to quote copiously from your editorial of last week. Possibly, you could print it again as a post-script to this. At any rate, I would again urge every merchant to read and act upon it, for, of course, whatever he decides to do along this line he must make it known to the public and the modern and most effectual way of doing this is by means of "printers ink." Thanking you for space, I am Truly yours X. Y. Z.

Obituary.

REV. J. B. GILES.

The death occurred on Monday morning 20th inst. of the Rev. J. B. Giles, Registrar of Deeds for Annapolis Co., after a lingering illness of over two years from paralysis. The death of Mrs. Giles occurred about three months ago since which time Mr. Giles has steadily declined.

Mr. Giles was an active member of the Methodist Conference and was stationed in Bridgetown some fifteen years ago. Suffering severely from attacks of asthma he was compelled to give up ministerial work and was placed on the supernumerary list. He then went into the office of Edmund Bent, Esq. Registrar of Deeds, and when Mr. Bent retired Mr. Giles succeeded him in office. For the past two years the work has practically been conducted by his wife and daughter. The latter, Miss Freda Giles, is now capably managing the business of the office. A young brother, Rex remains with her in the home. A younger sister, Edith, is in Bermuda with her grandfather and aunts. For the doubly orphaned children the sympathy of the community is extended.

The funeral of Mr. Giles will take place this afternoon at three o'clock with interment in the family lot in the Bridgetown cemetery.

Next week the "Bluenose" will arrive from Yarmouth at 12.55 and from Halifax at 2.31.

Truro Express Clerk Acquitted

His Brother, Laurie, Got Five Years in Dorchester for Truro Express Robbery.

Truro, June 16—The trial of William J. Burgess, charged with complicity in the Truro Express robbery was finished tonight, and the Jury returned a verdict of "Not Guilty."

J. J. Ritchie for the defence, addressed the Court at length. Counsel for the prosecution used up two hours in reviewing the case, and Judge Graham charged quite strongly against the defendant, but from the moment the Jury retired public opinion varied somewhat from disagreement to acquittal.

After one hour's deliberation the Jury reported that they failed to agree. Judge Graham sent them back with instructions to come to a verdict, as the case had already cost much money and time. In another hour a verdict of "Not Guilty" was rendered and William Burgess was discharged.

The exceptionally good character given him by all whom he had been associated and transacted business with in Truro, opposed to the career of Rutledge, who was the chief witness against him, proved too strong an argument in his favor, although much circumstantial evidence, and the almost unbelievable chance that Laurie could do the trick without his brother's knowledge, made him appear one of the combination.

Laurie Burgess was sentenced to five years in Dorchester Penitentiary for his share in the transaction. Rutledge will shortly leave for his home in the United States.

Good Roads

Residents of Waverly and Fall River have subscribed between fifty and one hundred dollars toward the improvement of the Guysboro and Truro roads beyond Fall River. An amount of fully one thousand dollars will be raised all told by private subscription chiefly by Halifax automobilists. This amount will be supplemented by the government to an equal amount. The result will be to give a very respectable mileage of really good road. In this connection Jas. Carr an old resident of the Guysboro road gave fifty dollars. The new crusher was put in the rock breaker on the Eastern Passage Road this week. The engine and carriers are as formerly but the crusher was obsolete. The new one is much more effective.

A breaker complete has been brought up from Queen's county and was moved out on the Preston Road on Thursday under the supervision of Road Inspector Lydiard. It will begin work at once on the section just beyond Dartmouth working out toward the old Walker place.

This is a blessing to the large number of people using Preston Road and others. This move is important because the people, beyond doing their regular road work put up a large sum of money out of their own pocket for the improvements. It is probable that the people of Eastern Passage and Cole Harbor etc., will in the aggregate put up over five thousand dollars perhaps more. That means they are in earnest.—Dartmouth Patriot.

FIRST IN THE VALLEY.

The unusually heavy frost of Saturday night, June 18th, does not appear to have done much damage on the higher lands, but was disastrous on the lower areas. Throughout North Kingston and North Aylesford no injurious effects are evident and the fruit appears to be setting fairly well. Mr. A. J. Wilson, of Clarence, who was in town this week says the same of his district. But from Aylesford west in a belt one to three miles wide in the centre of the valley fruit, blossoms, beans, cucumbers, pumpkins and in some cases the potatoes and even the leaves of the apple trees were killed. The damage must have been very heavy.—Outlook.

MR. ROOSEVELT OFFICIALLY JUSTIFIED.

Mr. Roosevelt's Guild Hall speech on Egyptian affairs was the subject of much criticism on several continents and many more countries. All the smart things were said at Mr. Roosevelt's expense that the smart critics could think of. The matter has since been brought up in the House of Commons, and the leaders on both sides have vied with each other in commending Mr. Roosevelt for his treatment of the subject.

Mary R. S. Andrews has written many stories of a Canadian fishing club where she and Judge Andrews and their son, "Bob," spend their vacations. In the July Scribner "The Campaign Trout" is an exciting fish story with a vivid description of the contest for the record trout in the club.

"GOOD ROADS CAMPBELL" GIVES ADVICE

In Address Full of Valuable Material He Discusses the Building of Our Highways—Mistakes Made—The St. John Streets.

In the course of an admirable address before the members of the Canadian Club last night, says the St. John Times, A. W. Campbell, deputy minister of railroads, or "Good Roads Campbell," as he is familiarly known in Ontario, gave some excellent advice about the building of highways in rural districts and incidentally about laying pavement in the streets of the city.

Mr. Campbell first dealt with the methods commonly used in the rural districts in making roads and which give such poor results for the labor and money expended. The chief trouble, he said, was that very often the roads were not built in the first place and the people were busying themselves wagging their energy trying to repair what never existed. Very often quantities of gravel or broken stone were dumped in the centre of the road and the traffic caused these to sink and the process of repairing had to be gone through year after year. Then again ditches were often dug on each side of the road perhaps for its entire length, and no provision was made for an outlet anywhere. The natural consequence was that when it rained the ditches held their fill of water, and no more.

Then, again, in almost all rural roads there were weak spots passing through sloughs or swamps. Gravel was very often dumped into these places and he had seen in some parts of the country as much as three or four feet of gravel or stone in such places, whereas had proper methods been employed in the first place one-third of the material and expenditure would have made a first-class road there.

CONDEMN'S STATUTE LABOR

The speaker went on to refer to the methods of appointing road commissioners and path masters. These, he said, should not be subject to the whims of any political body. They should be selected because of their suitability for the position and should be continued in it, because each year's experience made them all the better fitted to carry on the work of next year. The system of statute labor also came in for criticism. Often Mr. Campbell said, a man would come on the road without adequate preparation. One would have horses and an ordinary wagon with a wagon box, but he would not be prepared to haul gravel or other material. Another would have a plough or a scraper, and when they came to the place where the work had to be done they would discover that they had no proper gear to attach the horses to the plough or scraper. That would have to be hunted up, and before this could be done the forenoon was gone.

Then again, he went on, some people seemed to think they were entitled to have a fairly good time when they went out to perform statute labor. They would sit on the side of the ditch and smoke and talk and at the end of the day go home contenting themselves with the thought that they had had a good gossip anyway, and let the road "go hang." If other people could travel over it they could Statute labor was a piece of humbug and had outgrown its usefulness. The system was an old one designed a hundred years ago when the districts of the country were covered with forests and the people had no money. These pioneers realized that roads were a prime necessity. They realized the true intent and spirit of the act and handed themselves together not only to do the work which they were legally bound to perform, but to volunteer days and weeks where it was necessary to do so to hew the roads out of the solid forest. Had it been otherwise, this country would still have been a wilderness without any roads.

"In the face of all this, Mr. Campbell continued, we had no business to play with this important question in the way we did. He urged that we should try to do credit to statute labor. He had no patience with the men who were continually asking what would it cost per mile to gravel or macadamize a road. We must estimate what time we can spare from our homes for this work of building the roads and do our work under the wisest possible direction. "Let us organize as they did, plan as they did, and do away with all this ignorance and make the best possible use of our time and money."

WHAT COULD BE DONE

The speaker said that he did not know what it would take to pave all the roads of this province, nor did he care to spend time making such an estimate. He urged the importance of getting the people together and instructing them in the best methods of making draining and crowning a road. There was one district in Ontario in the township in which he was born where the farmers adopted a

ZAM-BUK SAVED THIS BABY

Mr. M. Barrett, 605 Moreau St., Montreal, says: "A horrible rash came out all over my baby's face and spread until it had totally covered his scalp. It was itching and painful, and caused the little one hours of suffering. We tried soaps and powders and salves, but he got no better. He refused his food, got quite thin and worn, and was reduced to a very serious condition. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. It was wonderful how it seemed to cool and ease the child's burning, painful skin. Zam-Buk from the very commencement seemed to go right to the spot, and the pimples and sores and the irritation grew less and less. Within a few weeks my baby's skin was healed completely. He has now not a trace of rash, or eruption, or eczema, or burning sore. Not only so, but cured of the tormenting skin trouble, he has improved in general health."

Zam-Buk is sold at all stores and medicine vendors, etc., a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50. A certain cure for all skin diseases, cuts, burns, etc., and for piles.

TWO FRIENDS RESCUED BY GIN PILLS

The Kidney and Bladder Remedy

Mr. Herbert Bauer, of Davisville, says he owes Gin Pills a debt of gratitude which he can never repay. He suffered for years with Bladder Trouble, and could not pass urine except by such straining which caused great pain.

Mr. Bauer sent for a free sample of Gin Pills. The first dose did him so much good that he ordered six boxes and began to take them regularly. A month's treatment completely cured him.

In high glee he called on his friend, Mr. Simpson, to tell the latter about his recovery and what a wonderful remedy Gin Pills proved to be. Mr. Simpson, at that time, was suffering intensely with his Kidneys. Gin Pills were promptly recommended and taken—with the gratifying result that both these good friends are well and happy men today.

Gin Pills are a special remedy for three special diseases—Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Troubles. For these, Gin Pills are sold with an absolute guarantee of prompt relief or money refunded. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. Write National Drug & Chemical Co., Dept. NS Toronto, for free sample.

THE SAFETY OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES" May Be Taken For Years

The Ideal Remedy For Young and Old

Nature's gifts do us good, if used judiciously. We eat bread from babyhood to old age without ever tiring of it. We drink water, year in and year out, with the greatest benefit to our health. So too, we eat fruit in season and are better for the change of diet. This is true, because such things are the natural foods and drink of mankind. It is for this reason that "Fruit-a-tives" may be used for years in correcting some ill of the body. As is well known, "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes.

Just as fresh fruit may be eaten at every meal, so "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken every night for 20 years or more with the greatest benefit.

The absolute safety of "Fruit-a-tives" has been a great factor in its success. Those who suffered with chronic troubles such as Constipation, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, etc., naturally took a number of boxes of "Fruit-a-tives". As they became better, they found that instead of being compelled to increase the dose as in most medicines, they were decreasing it, and gradually taking fewer doses.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

LAURA AMESSE A HEROINE

A great many stories of heroism are repeated but no tribute can be too high for Laura Amesse, the forewoman in the bindery, who lost her life in the Montreal fire, that followed the awful collapse. Throughout the horrible period of time from the sudden collapse to the time when the last girl came down the great ladder she kept her presence of mind. When she had seen the last girl climb out of the window and into the ladder, she returned into the doomed building, to seek others whom she could save. It was then she met her fate.

With the flames already scorching her clothing she urged the young girls to run to safety on the front ledge of the building. She assured the panic stricken; she comforted the frightened, and spread an atmosphere of calm where terror reigned.

The other girls called frantically at the last for her to follow them. The flames were licking the flooring of the top flat, and enveloping all.

"No girls," she cried, in reply. "There are more at the back of the room and I can't leave them," and shaking the fire that was already burning her dress she dashed into the flames and oblivion, for the flooring onto which she ran had given way, and undoubtedly the brave young woman pitched into the awful wreck to her death six stories below among the ruined mass of debris and seething fire.

Miss Amesse was a favorite among the girls in her charge. She had arranged a little theatre party for Saturday afternoon, and the girls working under her were looking forward to the pleasure.

ADVERTISING.

Mr. Hugh Chalmers, the successful head of the National Cash Register and the Chalmers-Detroit Motor Car concerns, has this to say about advertising: "Business is built on a foundation of confidence. When confidence is gone, business is gone. Individual salesmanship depends upon confidence as much as any other transaction in business.

"If a man has confidence in you and in your goods you can sell him. You cannot make many sales where confidence is lacking. If your prospect lacks confidence in you then your entire efforts must go to building up in his mind a feeling of confidence.

"Now the greatest builder of confidence is publicity—advertising. Lack of confidence is usually due to ignorance. Unless you know a man well you haven't confidence in him. Unless you know a business house well you haven't confidence in that house.

"The greatest foe of ignorance is publicity. The saying that publicity corrects all abuses is a true one.

"Advertising makes you acquainted with the public. It gives people knowledge about you and your goods, and knowledge is absolutely essential to confidence.

"Big advertising looks like big sale; it makes people familiar with you, it unconsciously creates confidence.

"Without a doubt the greatest force to-day in the interest of confidence—in the interest of credit if you will—is advertising."

THE MOTIVE FOR MOVING.

(Boston Transcript)

A man from Indiana moved out and homesteaded a quarter section in the west.

"Friend," said a man who had a ranch hard by, "where'd you come from?"

"From Indiana."

"How was it you left that well settled and fertile state to come 'way out here on these prairies?"

"Why," said the newcomer, "they got to slandering me back there something frightful, sayin' all sorts of mean things about me, and I just concluded to move."

"But why didn't you make them prove them slanders?"

"They did."

Ontario and Quebec have no coal, except what is imported from Nova Scotia and the United States.

Nova Scotia is a coal province producing excellent coal for gas manufacture.

But nevertheless Halifax is compelled to pay more than double the price paid by Toronto or Sorel, nearly double the price paid by London, and seventy per cent. more than the price paid by Hamilton, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Quebec, or Three Rivers.

Is Halifax being robbed by monopoly, and if so how long will Halifax submit?—Exchange.

THE HEROES OF PEACE

Public Service in Ways of Peace May be as Heroic and Splendid as Storied Deeds of War.

Armies of men are engaged in the internal health and street cleaning services of the great cities of the world.

When the late General Waring took charge of the streets of New York a few years ago, he had all the street cleaners dressed in white uniforms. Waring's idea was that the service of the public in the ways of peace may be as heroic and splendid as the storied deeds of war.

It was because Mr. Waring felt and understood the value of public service—and was able to diffuse his spirit through a whole army of workers—that the "Whitewings" were brought into being.

And the idea that gave pride and dignity to this army of public cleaners and sanitation has already transformed the street cleaning departments of a hundred cities, and is leavening all the other departments of civic life.

The other day there was a great parade of the army of "Whitewings," and tens of thousands of people turned out to cheer "the heroes of peace."

For many ages men have dressed in uniforms and have been praised and honored for deeds of military prowess and the destruction of life.

Now at last the time has come to appoint days for ceremony and processions in honor of those who build cities and keep them fit for human habitation.

As it is better to save men's lives than to destroy the day will surely dawn when the glory of the workers will flame as brightly as that of the fighters.

Ernest Peixotto, the artist, who born in California, writes in the July Scribner of the picturesque colonies there which he calls "Italy in California." His own drawings show how much of the life of the Old World has found place in the New.

A PEACEFUL IMPERIALIST.

C. A. Magrath, M.P. for Medicine Hat is No Flag-Flapper.

"In business an employer generally wants his employees to keep their mouths shut, and do little or no talking; in politics, which is the country's business, we are all expected to talk."

C. A. Magrath, M.P. for Medicine Hat, hasn't been in politics very long, but he has been unable to find out the why of the foregoing statement which he made the other day. He has been in business for thirty years in the west and in politics for two or three years, and he hasn't become reconciled to the change. Some of his friends in the Commons say he doesn't care for politics. Mr. Magrath himself won't admit that he would sooner be doing a political turn than eating a dinner, but at the same time he is one of those men that politicians are looking up to these days. He was sent to Ottawa in the general election of 1906. Of course, every politician claims to have been "sent" or "sent for," but Charlie Magrath, of Medicine Hat, is one of the really and truly "sent" men. So far he hasn't made more than two or three speeches in the House. Yet he looms as a big man on the Opposition benches.

Out west they have said for years that Charlie Magrath was a good square fellow—a chap who was business from the drop of the hat. Thirty years ago he went west from Pontiac county in Quebec, and he landed in Alberta about 1878, or about the same time Hon. Frank Oliver was getting out the smallest paper in the world at the biggest price somewhere in the west. Magrath did survey work, became connected with irrigation and railway interests, and made a little money being for years manager of the Alberta Coal & Railway Co. at Lethbridge. No, he is not a millionaire, far from it; but he made enough to keep him from asking for an old-age annuity.

Physically Mr. Magrath is a big man, a little stooped from the weight of an overly heavy share of the burden of Canada's west. He's got a heavy handshake. His hair and moustache are quite grey, but his eyes are clear, and his face is free from those north and south wrinkles; all of which denote that he never let his work get on his nerves. He quit making money because he did not want to bother with a distribution bureau if his conscience troubled him. Of course, a man of his energy couldn't live in southern Alberta doing nothing, so they sent him to Parliament.

He has not done anything very sensational on Parliament Hill. He is not likely to, but somehow or other when you look at him you know he's going to count for more than his vote.

If Mr. Magrath hadn't been fortunate enough to receive a mathematical training in his youth he might have been a poet. He has a streak of poetry somewhere, even though he keeps it bottled up, because the busy west is not very strong on poor poetry. However far the poetry idea may be from the facts, it is very true that Mr. Magrath is an idealist. He can picture the greatest of pictures for Canada, but his mind's picture of the coming Canada does not consist altogether of a money-making and a money-mad people, but a nation strong in all the virtues.

"I am an Imperialist," he told the writer in a burst of confidence when that subject was broached one day, but he added, "Not that sort of waving, flag-flapping kind. It seems to me that a united British Empire can do much toward preserving the peace of the world. That is something worth striving for. Therefore, if for no other reason, Canadians should do all in their power to strengthen Imperial ties. If we Canadians want to help the coming of the world's peace we can do it by being ardent Imperialists."

Mr. Magrath has dipped in business and in politics, and his next venture will be in the role of an author. His publication hardly promises to be a classic, but it does promise to do some good work for the west. It will be a pamphlet dealing with some phases of western Canada, together with a hand-out of advice gathered from thirty years' experience.

IN THE WRONG PLACE.

Mr. H. J. Crawford, principal of the Riverdale Collegiate, Toronto, makes the happiest kind of a chairman, and his services, consequently, are much in demand.

Not so very long ago he occupied the chair in an Islington hall where an amateur dramatic company was giving a performance, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to a local church. The dramatic company was headed and organized by Mr. Lawrence Anthes of the Toronto Foundry, a warm friend of Mr. Crawford's, and most of the cast were also well-acquainted with the genial, popular principal.

During the first act one of the church officials held a whispered conference with the chairman, and when the curtain fell the latter mounted the platform and addressed the audience. The tones of his resonant voice reached the actors, and, knowing Mr. Crawford's happy knack of saying what he had to say in a way to please his hearers, one of the troupe fired off a horse pistol and the rest cheered lustily.

But the applause was not taken up by the audience. Instead there was a moment's absolute quiet, then an hysterical giggle or two, and, almost before the actors had time to wonder why their plaudits fall so flatly, a friend hurried in through the wings and whispered hoarsely: "Shut up, you idiots! Crawford wasn't boosting your show. He announced that Sister _____, who died yesterday, would be buried to-morrow afternoon!"

Ancient Masonic Apron.

Stipendiary J. C. Townsend of Sydney, Nova Scotia, has in his possession probably the oldest Masonic apron in that city, if not in Nova Scotia. It is dated 1792 and was the property of John Muggah, who was made a Mason in that year by the military lodge then working in Sydney. The apron is of sheepskin and the devices are wrought in silk.

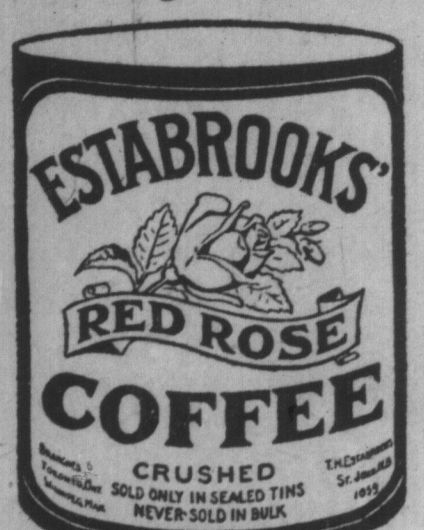

MINARD'S LINIMENT OURES PAIN

The new Crushed Coffee as compared with Ground Coffee

Merely to look at it you will see how very different it is; Crushed Coffee being in small even grains, totally free of chafferskin while ground coffee has the appearance of being mashed; large and small grains with chaff or skin mixed together.

Red Rose crushed Coffee, being free of the chaff, can be made as easily as Red Rose Tea. Settles clear and bright. No egg or anything required. Just look at our crushed Coffee and see how correctly we describe it.

A good combination is Estabrooks' Coffee for breakfast and Red Rose Tea for other meals.

In Theodore Roosevelt's article in the July Scribner he tells how when camped at Merru Boma native runners brought a despatch telling of Peary's wonderful feat in reaching the North Pole. "Of course," he says, "we were all over-joyed and particularly we Americans could not but feel special pride in the fact that it was a fellow-countryman who had performed the great and noteworthy achievement."

One of Madame Waddington's most delightful vacations was spent in Venice, and in the July Scribner she describes the charm of the place and the social life of an English family which gathered around it the most interesting people. Mr. Hopkinson Smith's water-colors of Venice illustrate the text.
