Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.			qu'il de ca point une i mod	L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-âtre uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.
	Coloured covers/ Couverture de couleur	•		Coloured pages/ Pages de couleur	, ,
·	Covers damaged/ Couverture endommagée			Pages damaged/ Pages endômmagées
	Covers restored and/or lar Couverture restaurée et/or		· 🔲	Pages restored and/o Pages restaurées et/o
	Cover title missing/ Le titre de couverture man	nque ,		Pages discoloured, s Pages décolorées, ta
;	Coloured maps/ Cartes géographiques en c	couleur		Pages detached/ Pages détachées	· · ·
	Coloured ink (i.e. other th Encre de couleur (i.e. autr			Showthrough/ Transparence
q	Coloured plates and/or illu Planches et/ou illustration			Quality of print varie Qualité inégale de l'i
	Bound with other materia Relié avec d'autres docum			Includes supplement Comprend du matéri
$\square$	Tight binding may cause a along interior margin/ La reliure serrée peut caus distortion le long de la ma	ser de l'ombre ou de la		Only edition availabl Seule édition dispon	ible
	Blank leaves added during appear within the text. W have been omitted from f Il se peut que certaines p lors d'une restauration ap mais, lorsque cela était p pas été filmées.	henever_possible, these ilming/ ages blanches ajoutées paraissent dans le texte		slips, tissues, etc., h ensure the best poss Les pages totalemen obscurcies par un fe	t ou partiellement uillet d'errata, une pelure à nouveau de façon à
	Additional comments:/ Commentaires supplémer	ntaires:
	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·			, · ·
Ň	This item is filmed at the Ce document est filmé au			Dus.	· ·
103	14¥	18¥	228	26¥

LADY ABERDEEN'S ADDRESS

At a Public Meeting, held in the Town Hall, Port Arthur, on Tuesday. Sept. 25: the following address was delivered by Her Excellency, Lady Aberdeen:

Mrs Gibbs and Ladies: I find it difficult to respond appropriately to the very kind words with which Mrs Gibbs has welcomed me; I can only tell you how deeply touched I am by the very genume sisterly cordiality of her greeting. I can assure you that I feel it to be a very great privilege and honor thus to be allowed to come in contact with the women worker of Port Arthur and Fort William and to be counted by them as a friend and fellow worker. I have already had that privilege in many other cities of Canada, and I feel it to be an inexpressible advantage to be allowed to come into touch with all the manifold works and activities which are being carried out throughout the Dominion, for the wellfare of the community at large, and, indeed, I feel it would be more appropriate if I were a listener this afternoon instead of a speaker, for I would like you to tell me as a stranger all that you are carrying on amongst you and thus to give me help and inspiration. I understand, however, that you wish to confer together concerning a movement, which I have the honor o representing, and Mrs Gibbs, and that beautiful society called the Kings Daughters, with whom I claim special sisterhood and membership, were good enough to suggest such a meeting as this and to take in hand its organization, representing all the various societies and churches in Port Arthur. in order that I might have the opportunity of tell-ing you something of this National Council of Women of Canada, which is intended by its authors and promoters to forge, as it were, a golden link uniting all the women workers from ocean to ocean in bonds of sisterhood for the high and holy work which they are called on to undertake by virture of their common womanhood, and their common responsibilities in this fair country:

I am glad, therefore, to meet you and to respond to this invitation, recognizing how great is the mission which has been given to the women of Canada-the women of a country which inherits such high traditions from times past and which, as a population poss-esses all the elements of greatness, and who as a people are God-fearing and law abiding It is impossible not to recognize what a future must lie before this country if its women can only he found true, to those high responsibilities which have been laid upon them; if they build up homes from whence will issue infihences which will both sweeten and exalt the whole current of national life and when we look around for a sign as to whether our women are going to be true to their responsibility, both of a private and a public nature, I think we have very much reason for thankfulness and for faith in the future. It has been surprising to those who have organized these women councils, in various centers of populations, when they have come to enquire into the various institations and societies existing therein to find how many and how varied they are. I have had the pleasure of speak. ing to the representatives of some of your organizations and L could see that the women of this city are not behind others, and that in all the churches there are various societies for various purposes. I will not go over the various forms of philanthropic, religious, and educational work which exists amongst you, and which, in one form or another has, I d ubt not, the sympathy of each one here, even when they cannot personally participate in their efforts.

والمراجع والمراجع والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية والمحالية وال

But let us go back and ask how has this come about? Did it exist 15 years ago? or even 10 or 12 ago? We find that great progress has taken place, during the last few years in women's work and oppartunities for good in all the countries of the world, and we can observe this fact in small outlying places, as well as in large cities and centers of population. 'The fact us, ladies, that women have found out that "union is strength." There used to be a sort of idea that women could not work together. We have heard on all sides that women had some sort of inherent incapacity for working to gether, but I think that that assertion has been pretty well contradicted of late, although, still we need a great extention of the principle of co-operation, and those of us who have been it . workers know how difficult to induce others without is experience in co-operation to first step. the first take The step taken we soon realize all the advantages which come from loyal help and support and how much the discipline of co-operation assists us in our work and how our own character is developed as we learn to take as well as to to give; to accept the will and the decision of those who have most experience and authority amongst us; to carry out lovally the decision of the majority. So this tendency towards co-operation and union has been shown in all the various directions of work, and hence the outcome is all these different societies and auxillaries, and institutions which are managed by various committees. You here know well the benefits which such organizations have brought to your city. Take the instance of the King's Daughters, or the organization of noble work carried ou by the convent of >t Joseph. That inclination is daily strengthened. Not only do we find that these societies exist but there is a tendency between those of a kindred character to unite; in fact. I think we realize that the work of the different societies resembles, to a great extent, the work of specialists, in the medical profession. One medical man will take up the study of the eye. another that if the ear, and another that of some other portion of the body; but they all find the necessity of coming together now and again and taking into consideration the care of the general health of the body if success is to be insured. The women workers of the place take up the various forms of work; some for the care of little children, some for the aged and infirm, others for the sick, and again tor various reforms, prison reform. rescue and preventive work, and so on. Each of these is everywhere the work of specialists and we know how engrossing such work becomes; how those who are the most eager and enthusiatic in the work become engrossed in the particul-ar line to which they have devoted themselves and thus naturally lose the opportunity of knowing what is going on in other lines of work. But, if we are to carry on our own line of work complished. successfully, we must of necessity un tee of whic derstand the gen ral scope and the general wants of the lives to which we Council ger to time to are devoting ourselves. If our work lies, for instance. specially among or conferer children we need to think for the varties which lous influences which' tend to mould give in a E particular the child's life, and which will mould it in the future, as regards body, mind, paper or soul; the different stages of its life. who have special sut We need therefore to take a wide view to know more than our own work and so we particular line of feel from time to time that we need to of work be come in touch with the general work which is being done by others. I think it is a feeling of this sort that has brought about these Councils for women, or, as they are called in England. Uni ns of Women Workers. I need not trouble you, I think, with any history as to how the Women's National Council of Canada came into existence. It is pretty well known now that it is practically the the outcome of Women's Congress at Chicago last year, where the women present were urged to form Councils in all their different countries. I will content myself with giving you a short account of its work. The plan has been to form lo-cal councils in any given centers of population. These local councils havebeen formed by various societies and institutions, organizations of all sorts being represented in a central com mon body. Each society which federates is represented on a central com-These ' mittee by its own president. form the executive of the Council to which are added a few officers. This central body is then able to carry out whatever is needed to promote the ob-I will read to you jects of the council the preamble of the National Council which, I think, will give you its aims: "We, women of Canada, sincerely good believing that the best of our homes and nation will be advanced by our own greater unity of thought, sympathy, and purpose, and that an organized movement of women will best conserve the highest good of the Family and the State, do hereby band ourselves together to further the applition of the Golden Rule to society, custom and law."

I think that preamble really contains That is the whole gist of the matter. greater unity and the furtherance of the Golden Rule in all the relations of life. You will ask how this end is to be actaker such chief ticula ment you the comm

the mere *

ferent sec

before the

to this ur

and purp

speaking.

the publ:

of the wo

will kno.

parativel

unaware different

Surely ti

pathy: i know of

accomp<sup>1</sup> against

had son

faith if

learn fro

is a wc

it sends

know h

divers

It give.

ties for

forwar

ial helr

the me

some c

not ye

are sti

being

to be gener.

some of the

and "

shall benefit

should plished;

whic

The Executive Commitcomplished. tee of which I have spoken in each Council generally arranges from time to time to have some general meeting or conference at which all these societies which join are represented. These give in a short account of their own particular work, and, in addition, a paper or papers are read by ladies who have been invited to discuss some special subject of general interest to the community. You will see that the mere fact of the different reports of work being carried on by many different sections of thought and brought before the public, in itself must tend to this unity of thought, sympathy, and purpose, of which we have been To begin with, it enables speaking. the public to acquire some knowledge of the work that is being done and you will know. ladies, how even in a comparatively small place people are often unaware of what is being done by the different societies and institutions. Surely that, in itself, is a very great benefit But it is well for us that we should know what is being accomplished; it will draw out our sympathy: it will widen our charity to know of the noble work that is being accomplished by other bodies-bodies against which ve may perhaps have had some prejudice; it will deepen our faith if we thereby learn that we can learn from as well as give to them. It is a wonderful lesson to ourselves and it sends us to our homes rejoicing to know how God is working by many and divers means for His own good end. It gives these institutions opportunities for bringing their various needs forward - their needs either for material help or for more workers; or it is the means of drawing into actual work some of the younger women who have not yet found their vocation. but who are stirred up by hearing what it s being done by others. Then it enables to be brought before the public any general need in the city or districtsome general want which all citizensof the place are concerned in relieving, and which if they determine together shall be done, will undoubtedly be taken in hand by those who can meet such need. I These are, 1 think, the chief benefits which come to any particular district through the establishment of such a Council. I cannot give you any hard and fast lines on which these Councils shall develop

They are intended to suit the needs of each place where they are set on foot and if the Council has been formed by those who are working—by those who know the people and their needs, then it will doubtless fulfil its objects and will also further the great work of bringing us all nearer together.

These local Councils are represented on the National Council of Canada. which meets once a year in different places in the Dominion. It met last year at Ottawa. The different local councils, eight or nine in number, be sides the nationally organized socie-Ladies ties, were then represented. from different places read valuable papers, on subjects relating to their special work or on subjects of generalinterest. These National Councils have been formed not only in Canada and the United States, but in many countries in Europe and are intended to join an International Council which meets every five years, again extend-ing the bond of a common sisterhood You will see that there are n work vast possibilities in this work. There are doubtless dangers also for we are but human. and when we in this way gather together representatives of all sections of thought we know that there must be dangers, but we believe that this movement towards real unity--this coming to know one another better and to realize this common responsibility which is ours must tend for good both for ourselves individually and for the communties amongst which we live. And if we begin to think of some of the general subjects on which we can unite-some of the subjects in which all women of whatever church or denomination or section of the community may combine, surely, there seem to be very many such subjects in which they are all deeply interested. First of all we must place the home. We all here agree that the home is woman's first mission. But what does that involve? Sometimes it is spoken of as if home duties meant a narrow life, a circumscribed life, but if we ask ourselves what home means to each of us-what it should mean to each of us-we shall see that it by no means involves a narrow life. If we ask ourselves each of us to think out what would be the the ideal for ourselves, each in our own position in our own home, of what we could do and be. if we could rise to ve nd -. îS :n erm. -86 •to his out b-70u lcil ns: ely of ed ·ht, яn zill the ind plimsins is the ife.

ac-

٦.

k

1 ł

1.

э.

w

'n

e

0

k

١k

S

n-

1,

ot

У

91

:e.

he

st

ie

if-

elf

its lo-

of

is

that ideal of character. and influence, and life, and self-sacrifice, you will at once see how much it means and much we how have to learn. Sometimes people speak as though the power to be home-makers came by in stinct to women, but do not we knowwe, who are in our homes as wives, mothers, sisters, daughters-that this is by no means the case? Do we not each óf 118 realize our vant of training and of knowledge in our contact with other lives. 🖗 on which so much depends? . Cannot we in there general conferences and meetings which are to bring us together as women who are wanting to fulfil their duty in the world? cannot we specially confer together on some of these matters which touch the very inmost springs of our lives? Do we not need to know much more of how to train our children-how to study our children-to understand the diffeient characters of those little ones that have been confided to us? and whom we often damage because we do not understand and enter into the individuality, the different characteristics, of each one and the different training needed to fit them for their work in life? Cannot these subjects bearing upon the relations of parents and children be made? as I trust they will be, most important subjects in your councils? Most valuable papers were read in these topics at the first meeting of Council at Ottawa, and I trust we shall never meet without taking up this subject and endeavoring to help one another to understand what it means to be home-makers in the deepest and And even as regards broadest sense. the bodily wants, the sanitation of our homes. the care of the sick, the prevention of illness, the knowledge of the the value of various foods and their preparation, are we all trained as women to know about these things and understand them? All these subjects have a general interest for us and touch us all very nearly. They are subjects which cap be discussed with much help and profit and to which of us doubtless could give each our quota of experience.

Again. in speaking of our hopes another subject has been suggested at our Councils, the question of domestic service. It is a subject which is much on the thoughts of women everywhere, not only here but at home. It needs our best thought and essentially it is one which the women in any country should assist one another to solve. It is too large a subject to enter into at any length now, but it is one of those subjects which will have much light thrown upon it by these Councils and by the coming together of wise, experienced, loving and sympathetic women.

k

But springing up from these home duties come our social duties, which come to eve y woman-her duties to society. We sometimes lament the low tone of society, but if there is that low tone anywhere, whose fault is it? Is it? not that of the women of the place? And is not a very grave responsibility lying upon us? and especially now in these days when every opportunity is given to women for thorough e lucation and for the use o'her infl'ence for the heightening of the whole tone of so ciety. If we see the young people in our midst making pleasure the main object of life, whose fault is that? If there are two standards of morality expected, one for man and the other for woman: one for Sundays and the other for week days; one for religion and the other for business; whose fault is it? Is it not the fault of those who set the tone in the home and in the social life? In these matters also can we not unite in our conferences those of all churches and sections of thoughtwho desire a lofty standard of mortali, ty whether from the secular or relious point of view. Can we not help one another to lift higher the ideal of life? whether in the home or social life, or the life of the country? Does it not depend upon us women. and, especially upon those whom God has called to be mothers, to see that the children grow up with a high ideal of public life, that they should deem it to be a high privilege that they 'elong to this country, deem it a high honour to be trained to serve their country, anyway, however humble. These matters come home to us mothers although I am not sure that the women of any country have realized the duty incumbent upon them to bring up their children with a distinct idea of serving their country and with a high ideal of what tbut service means That brings us again to the further thought of a women's duty to her country and to mankind at large; to that wider idea of duty to which women are called in these days. The call comes to all f us tang gree it nc this neec hor any dau; in that wid onl can A ma

but

101

wit

alt

du+ for the

wс

it.

fu'

b€

wo

Ľ.s

be "t

n:

nc

er

w of

te

tı

a

fı

բ Ե

R

۲

ť i

in one

who c

vacy c

in the

their

anoth

high

to w embe

essen

wom

ity ir

into

home

into

in one way or another. There are few the more secondar, work of life or who can shroud themselves in the pri- the educational work, or the promovacy of their homes without hearing, in their hear's the summons to serve their fellow creatures in some way or It is a most holy call and a another. high vocation this call which comes to woman, but we must _ remember that one of the. great essentsials for its success is to carry into our work the element of true womanliness and what does that quality involve ? How has it been brought into being? Is it not the pressure of home duties and family life that has taught women in a greater or less degree that they must live for others? Is it not a fact that woman must learn, this lesson through her children's needs ? through the discipline of the home? if she is to rightly perform in measure her duties as wife, anv daughter and mother? And it is σf self-saorific in that spirit that we are called to go forth to the wider work to which women are being alled now-a-days, and it is that spirit. only, which our Lord has taught us, can regenerate the world.

As Mrs Gibbs has said we are not de manding rights by this Council we are but seeking to help one another to perform our duties in a higher spirit and with a deeper motive, than ever before - ledge of one another's work will result in although, indeed, it may lead us to see duties where we never saw, them be-But let us never seek to escape... fore. the discipline which has sanctified. womahood, but, rather let us glorify in Let us make it yeild us its it. full fruits; teaching us to give our very best and our very selves to whatever work for the common good God calls always 11.5 Let · us rememthe promotin of of love." What ber our basis "the golden rule of love." What more can we require ? It can exclude none. It includes all and in all our different Councils we rejoice to know that we have the su port and co-operation of all sections; of a l the various Protestant denominations; of representatives of the Roman Catholic Church and its institutions. Here I would gratefully acknowledge the help and support given to us by several of the Arch. bishops and bishops of that church again and then we have our Jewish sisters also with us. • We wolcome them all. Let them only be united in one common aim - the uplifting of humanity. Whether this is attempted through what we may call tion of that which goes to make life. beautiful, the promotion of culture in any way, is the promotion of good and healthy decreation and all physical: development—anything of that sort-as well as directly philasthropic works.... we want them all... We want them all to be drawn together by this beautiful. and sacred bond of love.

Ladies, I have striven in a very imperfect way to put bef re you the objects of this movement, I would like to say that I hope I shall not be underst d in any way to be pressing this I only feel it to be my duty. subject. to lay before you its objec s; the workers of this place must know whether such an organization would be of use to them. and I beg you not to go forwar ! in this matter unless you all, of every denomwould be for the common, good and would help y u to fulfil your high, and h ly mission. Tthank you for listening, to me so patiently,

I will now read the constitution recommended by the National Council for . Local Councils of Women of Canada:

PREAMBLE.

Believing that the more intimate knowlarger mutual sympathy and greater unity of themelat. and therefore in more effective action, certain Associations of Women interested in Philauthropy, Religion, Education, Literature, Art, and Social-Reform, have determined to organize Local. Corneils, and to that end join in the following :

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.-NAME.

This Federation, shall be called the, Local Council of in affiliation, with the National Council of Women of Canada.

ABTICLE II. --- POLICY.

The aim of the Local Council is to bring the various Associations of Women ۱n into closer relations through an organized union; but uo So ciety entering a Local Council shall thereby lose its independence in aim or method, or be he committed to any principle or method of any other Society in the Council, the object of which is to serve lity ecihen ven and the of so in e Jain If lity ther the gion ault who ≥ son we se of ght-"tali. relio ne life? 'e, or t not ecialed to ldren oublic it to ang to our to , anymatlough of any ncumtheir erving leal of brings nt of a and to er idea led in ll fus

79

It ito

of ich

rils

'se,

>tic

ne

ich

to ow

iow.

s-it

ace?

as a medium of communication and a means of prosecuting any work of common interest.

ARTICLE III. -- MEMBERS.

Sec. I. Any Society of Women, the nature of whose work is satisfactory to the Executive Committee of a Local Council, may become members of said Local Council by its øwn vote.

SEC. II/ The women of any organization composed of both men and women may associate themselves by their own vote and join said Local Councils.

ARTICLE IV. -- OFFICERS

The Officers of a Local Council shall consist of a President, Vice Presidents at large, ex-officio Vice-Presidents (Presidents of all Societies federating in a local Council), a Corresponding Zecretary, a Recording Secretary and a Treasurer.

These officers shall comprise the Execuive Committee, whose business it shall be to control and provide for the general interests of the Council. Five members shall constitute a quorum of this Committee.

ARTICLE V .--- MEETINGS.

Sec. 1. A Local Council shall hold Annual Meetings for the election of officers and other business.

See. 2. The Committee of Arrangements shall consist of the Executive Committee together with one Delegate from each Society belonging to the Council.

Sec. 3. At the Annual Meeting each Society belonging to the Council shall have three votes (exclusive of that cast by the President).

Sec. 4. All other members of any Society belonging to the Council may have the privilege of participating in all discussions that may arise at the Annual Meeting, but may not vote.

Sec. 5' Other meetings of a Local Council may be held from time to time as may best promote the interests of said Council.

Sec. 6. All new business to be brought before the Annual Meeting of a Local Council must first be submitted to the Executive Committee as notice of motion.

ARTICLE VI. -- FEES.

Each Society federating in a Local Council shall pay an annual fee of $ towards the expense fund of the said Council.

ARTICLE VII. -PATRONS.

Sec. 1. Any person whose name is acceptable to the Executive Committee may become a Patron of a Local Council upon the payment of $5.00 annually, or $50.00 at one time.

Sec. 3.—The names of Patrons shall be placed after those of the Executive Committee on all printed documents.

Sec. 3.—Any person whose name is acceptable to the Executive Committee, and who is not connected with any affiliated Society, may become a Member of the Local Council on payment of $1 anunally, and may take part in the proceedings and di cussions of the public meetings of the Council, but is net entitled to a vote. Such members shall receive free all literature published by the Council.

A NAME AND A . .

ARTICLE VIII. --- AMENDMENTS.

This constitution may be altered or amended by a two-third vote of a Local Council at any annual meeting, provided that such alteration be in harmony with the constitution of the N-ational Council, Lotice of the proposed change having been sent to the Executive of the National Council two mouths, and to each Society belonging to the Council at least on month prior to such meeting,

