BALLOT FRAUD WORKERS PUNISHED CENTRAL FOR ONE AND TWO YEARS

Were They Promised an "Easy" Trial, "Easy" Punishment and Quick Pardon If They Kept Mum?

NO PARDON WITHOUT CONFESSION SHOWING INSTIGATORS OF FRAUD

Investigation to Resume Thursday With New Vigor—Attorney-General to Be Asked to Extradite Maguire.

On Saturday, five election officials were sentenced. Judge Winchester, while keenly appreciating the situation, considered their offences too serious for nominal punishment, and as a result, terms of two years' confinement in the Central Prison were passed on Frank Gray, Ab. Cahoon and Sam Thompson, deputy returning officers, and of one year on Lieut.-Col. Gray and Thomas Kerr, clerks.

In the witness box, in their own defence, all save Thompson denied absolutely the irregularities charged, in spite of most convincing evidence. That men of hitherto good reputation would stoop to ballot manipulation and then to perform a major and personal consideration, is unlikely. The question now asked is: Whom were they acting for, and what false hopes were they deluding with to keep them silent?

There is already talk of petition and pardon, but there is coupled with expressions of sympathy the demand for truth yet untold. And with it, also, the demand that steps be taken to ensure the extradition of George Maguire, now in Buffalo, who he led, not alone to avoid punishment, but to serve the interests of the same unnamed persons whose specious promises duped the five men now behind prison bars.

There is a warrant for Maguire's arrest in the sheriff's hands. It remains only for the city authorities to urge the matter before the attorney-general's department to have the proper steps taken to serve that warrant.

The members of the city council, more especially those whom it has been shown to have profited to a greater or less extent by the illegal work of convicted or indicted officials, are strangely uncommunicative regarding the punishment meted, their duty as aldermen under the odium of it, and the propriety of even more determined efforts to continue the investigation. Some even profess to believe that there is no more to be brought out.

Mr. Riddell, K.C., the crown prosecutor, thinks contrary, and his assurance that he will resume the enquiry this week, thoroly and relentlessly, untrammelled by political or personal considerations and actuated only by a desire to glean the truth and the whole truth is a hopeful indication that justice may yet have her own.

Confinement in Central Prison. Judge Winchester Saturday morning passed the foregoing sentences on those who had been convicted of conspiracy in tampering with the ballots and ballot boxes at the last municipal election. The court room was crowded when Judge Winchester took his seat on the bench, a few minutes after 10 o'clock. It was a much augmented audience, composed of friends of the convicted men and municipal politicians, who could not conceal their anxiety as to what the sentences would be. Everyone had an opinion; some thought the prisoners would be allowed their liberty on suspended sentence, while others fixed it at three years.

JUST PUNISHMENT.

From The Sunday World.

The sentences passed yesterday by Judge Winchester on the deputy returning officers and poll clerks of frauds in the recent municipal election were right and in the interest of public safety. There can be no popular government if election frauds are allowed. Ultimately, if it is allowed, anarchy must ensue.

While the public, therefore, will justify the sentences, there will be a deep expression of regret that the men who instigated the frauds, and who profited by the frauds of these officers, have so far escaped. The World knows Col. Gray, and has known him for a long time, and is confident that Col. Gray never of his own motion was a party to fraud in connection with an election. It now remains to be seen whether the person who first initiated him in the business will come forward and confess his guilt, or whether he will allow to go to jail on his account. The same thing applies in a lesser degree to some of the others who have been convicted. There are aldermen who knew about these frauds and were benefited by them, and it will be a shameful thing if the officials are to go to jail and the aldermen to go scot-free—not even to resign their seats in the council.

The city council must purge itself of every alderman or controller who benefited, however slightly, by these frauds; and if the city council is not equal to doing it, the public then must do the purging by wiping out at the next election everyone who is in the council of to-day. Any honest man in the council should resign his seat in justice to himself and the public if the council refuses to purge themselves of these aldermen who profited by Thompson, Cahoon and Maguire; and the same is true of the school board if any of its members are in the same predicament.

In the meantime let the investigation go on, and let the authorities see whether the law is not sufficient to bring George Maguire back to Toronto. The work of purification has only been commenced.

INVESTIGATION WILL GO ON ON WHOM DEVOLVES DUTY OF EXTRADITING MAGUIRE?

Mr. Riddell Promises That Every Possible Phase Will Be Relentlessly Looked Into.

W. R. Riddell, K.C., when seen by The World, was most interested in the reports concerning public sentiment over the sentences given by Judge Winchester on Saturday. Mr. Riddell has been busy preparing for a further campaign, and is surprised that anyone should think there has been any but the most necessary and unavoidable delay in the proceedings.

"If there is anything stronger that you can think of you can say it to enforce the certainty of the investigation being followed out to the utmost. The investigation would have gone on weeks ago had it not been necessary for Judge Winchester to go on with his court, and of absolute indifference to conceal any of the facts, if any such agreement exists it will have absolutely no effect upon me. No one, so far, has even suggested anything of the kind, and nothing will be concealed. Whether the truth affects Conservative or Reform is of absolute indifference. There is no politics in this investigation, and I shall follow up every possible line of enquiry which is open to me without caring whether it may lead so long as it leads to any information."

"And I desire to urge anyone who has any information concerning any facts which should be brought out or even any well-grounded suspicion of the existence of such facts to communicate with me. My time is at the disposal of the city almost totally, and I hope to pursue the investigation relentlessly and vigorously and without any delay which can be avoided. The time which has elapsed since the last meeting before Judge Winchester has not been wasted."

CLERGY DEMAND TO KNOW WHOSE COCK FIGHTERS ARE

Magistrate Ball Refuses to Give the Names, Owing to Arrangement With Press.

Woodstock, April 10.—(Special)—"I shall not under any circumstances make public the names of those who were convicted by me for participating in the cock fight on Good Friday." This was the defiant statement made by Magistrate Ball to The World to-day when asked if he had recognized the decision of last week that the tumultuous clamoring for publicity of these names might be satisfied. And equally decided are those who have demanded from the first that the names of the law breakers shall be revealed to every citizen. Not for many years has there been so agitated as it is over this matter. Every citizen has taken one side or the other, and feeling is hourly growing intense.

Pastors Spoke on it. The affair was referred to from several pulpits to-night, in each case strong feeling being directed toward the magistrate for what the ministers claim to be an act of discrimination due to powerful influence. Many rumors are afloat as to why publicity has not been given those who have been fined. One is that sooner than submit the distribution of certain of the local ministers he is persistent in refusing, and another, that newspapers will be shown in payment with him decided to suppress the names of the guilty ones. The reason for so doing is asserted, is that a number of business men are among the number.

The cry for the names is heard everywhere, yet Magistrate Ball has his friends. The next step to be taken by those demanding the names will be taken to-day when a formal request will be made to the magistrate. If the names are still withheld then it is declared that extra pressure will be brought to bear on the magistrate. The petition signed by over 400 ratepayers calling for a change in the law governing the names of the guilty ones, is being circulated in the community should be shown to a prominent man among them, he declares. But should he ignore the petition, extra pressure will be brought to bear on those interesting themselves in the matter as bound that the citizens have an opportunity of publicly voicing their sentiments.

Encourages Church. Rev. S. W. Falls, preaching at the College-street Methodist Church to-night, touched at length upon this matter. He could not see why certain people in the community should be shown favoritism, as was exhibited in this instance. It was his mind encouraging the introduction of dangerous elements into the administration of justice. He said that if the matter should be referred to a higher authority who would be in a position to see that the law is pursued. The minister clearly put himself on record as strongly opposed to the maintenance of the status quo.

Rev. Mr. Falls explained that never before had the magistrate held court in camera, and so far as he could see it is a matter of public interest. He said that if the matter should be referred to a higher authority who would be in a position to see that the law is pursued. The minister clearly put himself on record as strongly opposed to the maintenance of the status quo.

HOW COLONEL GRAY MAY BE HELPED.

From The Sunday World.

There was a universal feeling of sympathy with Col. Gray on account of the sentence; but inasmuch as all the efforts made to induce him to tell the court authorities what he had instigated and elsewhere that his appearance on the witness stand would be productive of more sensation than has hitherto marked the progress of the civic inquiry, it is still open to the younger man to do this. The same gentleman said that any movement in favor of a reduction of the sentence of Col. Gray would be weakened unless some kind of confession was forthcoming from the father or son that would give up the promoters of the frauds that had been committed in the past few years.

ONE-SIDED RESULTS. From The Sunday World.

Conservatives so far seem to have taken all the punishment and most of the exposure that have been made in connection with the municipal election frauds. Why is this? Was there a deal between guilty parties on both sides that was so cleverly worked out that only Conservatives got the worst of it? In other words, did two or three guilty members of the council who were Conservatives, stand in with a game that was to steer the investigation and the trials against selected scape-goats?

THE WORST THING OF ALL. The worst thing in the matter of the municipal frauds is the flight of Maguire. Maguire was a city hall rouser of the first magnitude, a contractor, and a contractor. He was "in and out" and "round about" all the time.

Why did Maguire flee Toronto? It was no small feat or small persuasion that sent him away.

RECIPROCIITY BOOM AGAIN LAUNCHED BY H. M. WHITNEY

Boston Capitalist Got No Sympathy From Ministers for His Propaganda.

Montreal, April 10.—(Special)—The total failure which followed Erastus Whitney's famous campaign in favor of commercial union does not appear to have deterred another well-known American citizen from undertaking a movement quite as obnoxious to the people of the Dominion as the ill-conceived alliance of the Brooklyn magnate of that time, and the then Liberal leaders of this country.

It is not generally known that H. M. Whitney, ex-president of the Dominion Coal and Steel Company, with two or three co-workers on this side of the line, conceived the idea of bringing about a reciprocity treaty between the Dominion of Canada and the American Republic, and that already several of these gentlemen have had prolonged interviews with high dignitaries in both Ottawa and Washington. People here give little attention to the matter, but it now transpires that resolutions are being adopted by a number of commercial bodies through the New England States and leading articles in certain newspapers on the other side of the line have one and all been inspired either by Mr. Whitney or his helpers, and that they have been given a certain amount of publicity upon this propaganda with the great American industrial promoters.

The act, it appears, jumped out of the speaker as president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, paid particular attention to the coal trade, portraying the benefit the industrial establishment of New England and the railway companies would derive if a free way companies could be allowed interchange of coal could be allowed. Since then the statement has been made with a great show of authority by the speaker, and the result of the campaign had been decided upon, and already an effort has been made to secure the support of the Ottawa ministers.

It will be good news, however, to all those who have faith in Canada's national policy to let the water in over the heads of those who have been approached, informally, of course, including both Mr. Whitney and Hon. W. S. Fielding, have given no hope whatever to Mr. Whitney and his Canadian helpers, and that they have been given a certain amount of publicity upon this propaganda with the great American industrial promoters.

CHIEF GOT TIRED OF GALT AND GALT RECRUITED

Now There's a Charge of Conspiracy in the Demand for His Resignation.

Galt, April 10.—(Staff correspondence)—This is the story of two sides to it—the story of political strife and personal bickerings. Galt the prosperous, who boasts not a single unoccupied residence or building in the town, is threatened with a civic scandal. The germ, nurtured for months, has developed rapidly since the beginning of the new year. An old citizen observed significantly to The World that things were getting no better fast. That was the deduction from one who had heard both sides of the puzzling story.

The climax of the situation is a police chief out of a job and two members of the police commission and one alderman confronted with charges of misconduct. Each side professes to desire a full investigation. The council declared for a civic probe and then referred the case back to the commission to determine date and scope. The latter part of the week the council will meet and set a date for a full hearing. In the meantime Dame Rumor is busy.

In 1884 Police Chief Clark was expelled from his office, or permitted to resign. He in turn secured an attorney and filed charges with the council. Police Magistrate Blake and Alderman Hawk were in a "deal" to force him out. The basis for the council was that Mayor Mundy and Ald. Hawk wanted the police chief discharged. Mundy and Blake conferred with the council, but the council was neutral as to the chief, but he wanted to be put on a salary, instead of a fee, basis by the council. Ald. Hawk was a personal friend of the mayor's, and bitterly opposed to the chief. Hawk was to support the council's decision that Magistrate Blake's interests in return for the magistrate voting with his friend, the mayor, to get rid of the chief.

A cursory investigation would indicate that about the only proof of this allegation is that Magistrate Blake, who is a week later found himself out of a job. Mr. Blake was entitled, under his contract, to a council salary. The council clinched it by adopting the by-law unanimously. To make it more formal, the council is necessary to validate the transaction. The story is continued on Page 6.

GAUSS MAY ROUND HORN TO GET TO ARCTIC STATION. Capt. Bernier Leaves for Bremen to Bring Over Ship for Mackenzie River.

Montreal, April 10.—(Special)—Will the steamer Gauss, which has been recently purchased by the Canadian government from the German authorities for the Mackenzie River customs service, reach the Arctic Ocean by the northwest passage, or will she be obliged to round Cape Horn and cruise from the south to the North Pacific to the district assigned to her? is the question now exciting the attention of marine experts.

Capt. Bernier and the twenty-six officers and men who are being sent to Bremen to bring back the Gauss, left here to-night after having been sworn in by Commander Spain. They expect to get the ship back to Halifax by the 1st of June, and all her supplies are to be purchased in Canada. The Gauss, which is three years old, is a screw boat, barkentine rigged, and has done good work in the German government's Arctic expeditions.

Commander Spain says that Capt. Bernier is confident that he can get to his destination by the northwest passage, but that, he says, is a question that will have to be decided by the department. Up to the present he made the voyage has never been made by one ship, and the question is will it ever be done? If he says, the department decide that the northwest passage is impracticable, then the voyage around Cape Horn will have to be undertaken. The further complement of men will be secured at Halifax.

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION. The matter of temperance legislation is in a very curious position. After the referendum vote, in which a majority of nearly two to one was recorded for the abolition of the bars, the prohibitionists made demands for advanced legislation. By way of reply it was said that the government majority was too small for effective action, and that the convention of 1903 the Gamey charges look up the attention of the legislature to the exclusion of everything else. In the present session the Gamey charges are out of the way, and it is claimed that the arrangements have been such that the government's majority of three has been as good for all practical purposes as one of twenty. Still no temperance legislation has even a day devoted to the subject in the legislature.

THE STURGEON FALLS CASE. The legislature of Ontario had no right to ratify an illegal deal between the public school board and the separate school board of Sturgeon Falls. EDUCATION IN SCOTLAND. Scotland has always been regarded as containing one of the most highly educated communities in the world. It owed this position primarily to its great reformer, John Knox, who, with the coming of the Presbyterian, established a universal system of parish schools throughout the lowlands and eastern counties. These parish schools did admirable service, largely owing to the quality of the men who taught in them. The history of many of the village schoolmasters of Scotland has been sketched for millions who never knew one of them by such skillful pens as those of Barrie and Ian MacLaren, and there are Scotsmen, plenty of them, still living who know that the portraits they drew are not exaggerated. Happy was that dominie who discovered among the shockheaded and towxy rascals who brought their pennies and their peats in payment of the rent, so faithfully imparted some glint of budding talent. How bravely that dominie would play on the good wife's ambition to see her son "waggin' his paw in a po'p'it," how lovingly would that spark of genius be fostered; how patiently and carefully the young hopeful would be grounded in the rudiments; with how much pride the student career would be followed till the reward came and the graduate with all his varsity honors thick upon him grasped his master's hand and received the warm acclamations of all the neighborhood folks who looked upon him as their own!

WAR AND PEACE. Friends' Association Complete Organization and Look to Abolition of Martial Strife.

The regular monthly meeting of the Friends' Association was held on Saturday and the completion of organization was accomplished by the acceptance by Dr. A. C. Courtenay of the secretaryship. Yesterday afternoon in St. George's Hall a public meeting was held.

President William G. Brown explained that the Society of Friends had many years ago been divided into two branches, one called Hicksites and the other orthodox. It was one of the objects of the association, which was authorized by the Hicksites, to organize on a broad basis such a movement as would afford the Hicksites a fair opportunity to be heard in the United States and Canada.

Prof. McCurdy said it was not necessary to explain that he was in sympathy with the Friends' Association. His belief was that there was the chief, however, to the prevalence among the Friends of the idea of non-resistance. It was one of the things that required a great deal of attention from all thoughtful people, patriots and Christians. It was a question of the future of the world, and of the practice of war. The great war was a tragedy between Christian nations. It was a tragedy that had been tried and it was a tragedy that was being tried again.

It was true that the Bible advocated war? The teaching of Christ was considered impracticable and stupid by many, but it was so that God sanctioned aggressive warfare, and he said it with reverence, he for one would not worship such a God. There were thousands who felt likewise.

EDWARD MILLIGAN, 40 Years Old, Expired Suddenly in Imperial Bank Building.

MRS. J. B. BOWES ROBINSON DEAD Was ill Only 24 Hours—Anthraxitis Allow Blocking of Arteries of Knox Church.

Hamilton, April 10.—(Special.)—Edward Milligan dropped dead in the Sun Life Assurance Company's building on North James-street this evening about 6 o'clock. He was employed as janitor of the building, and while his wife was getting the tea ready he went down to light the gas. As he did not return for some little time his wife went down to see what was the matter and found him lying dead on the floor in the suite occupied by the Imperial Bank. The dead man was 40 years of age and leaves a widow and one son. The members of Crescent Lodge, I.O.F., to which he belonged, will have charge of the funeral.

Mrs. J. B. Robinson Dead. After an illness of only 24 hours, Mrs. May Bowes Robinson, wife of John B. Robinson, principal of the King Edward School, died of anthraxitis on Monday morning. She was married 13 months ago in Brantford. The funeral will be held from 153 West Front-street Tuesday afternoon at 4.30. The authorities allowed the aistis of Knox Church to be blocked with chairs again this evening. Rev. D. A. Meldrum, Cleveland, preached at both services.

A Mass Meeting. A mass meeting of the Anglican Sunday School, Hamilton, Stoney Sunday School, Burlington, was held in St. Andrew's Church this afternoon. The church was crowded. The object was to create interest in foreign missions. Rev. C. White, South China, was the speaker.

Rev. Alexander Esler, pastor of Cooke's Church, Toronto, preached at St. Andrew's Church to-day at special services, held in honor of the 8th anniversary of the induction of the pastor, Rev. A. MacWilliam. Rev. Esler, Mr. Naughton and Jim Murphy, the pair held here on the suspicion that they were conspiring to kidnap Owen Sunday morning. John Allen, Proton, saved the priest from the altar. He was brought to the police station in his barn last Tuesday.

Quick Work. Thomas Armstrong stole a piece of Rev. from Claudette. He was caught at the Central Market Saturday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock. At 11 o'clock after he had been thru the police and county courts, he was on his way to serve a month in jail.

Ald. Findlay left Saturday to spend a few days at Clifton Springs. Nelson Long, 66 West Burlington-street, a professional baseball pitcher, was expected to join his team in Lawrence, Mass.

Wm. E. Stull was married quietly in St. Catharines to Mrs. Bertha Carey. The Gore-street Methodists who deserted the church last summer because the stationing committee would not let them have Rev. T. J. Morris, have been further incensed by the action of the transfer committee which refused to let them have Rev. Mr. Morris this year.

New Organ Opened. Rev. George F. Sutton, Ottawa, a former pastor, preached at Centenary Church to-day at the formal opening of the new organ. He said in his sermon that the organ would be pleased with the new instrument and the black-gowned choir. At the morning service he caught a titter at the expense of W. H. Hewlett, the organist, by remarking that he knew of no one who needed the prayers of the congregation more than the organist of a church.

The policemen rushed the season to-day in the streets in their summer uniforms. Ottawa, April 10.—Word was received to-night of an accident at Chalk River, in which John Wilson, a C.P.R. brakeman at North Bay, was killed. He was operating a switch to let the westbound transcontinental thru and did not notice a freight engine shunting in the yard. He was knocked down by the van and the engine passed over his legs, completely severing the right leg. He was taken to Pembroke for treatment, but is hardly likely to survive the shock. He was a married man with three children.

SERIOUS FEUD FIGHT. New York, April 10.—In a feud fight to-day three brothers, Thomas, William and Michael Gilbride, were seriously and perhaps fatally stabbed, and Harry and John McShane, also brothers, were badly wounded.

CZAR'S SHIPS ARE FAULTY FRAUD IN THE NAVY YARDS Wood and Putty Put Into One Ship Where Stool Ought to Have Been.

St. Petersburg, April 10.—The czar is furious at the discoveries of gross corruption in the Russian navy yards, where the new battleships and cruisers are intended to strengthen the far eastern squadron are being built. The discovery was made as a result of the sinking of a gunboat which had recently been finished, and which went to the bottom as a result of firing a salute with one of its heavy guns.

The discharge of the gun was so shattering that the plates were loosened, and the boat went down in a few minutes. A Swedish syndicate secured the contract for raising her, but when the men got to work they found wood and putty where there should have been steel. The ship, in fact, went to pieces when the attempt was made to raise her.

The story reached the ears of the czar, who ordered a thoro inspection of all government arsenals, docks and navy yards. This inspection brought out that the huge naval stores in St. Petersburg, which were supposed to be filled with enormous quantities of provisions and naval stores of every kind, were almost empty.

At least the first building which was inspected was found that way, but in the following night all the other buildings were found in the same condition. It was nothing but the walls. It has been found that the workmen in the navy yards have been putting only a small percentage of the necessary rivets in the plates of the battleships. Digging up all the rivets and holes with wooden plugs and selling the rivets to outside dealers. The czar is now said to have ordered a discharge of all men in charge of the construction of these ships, and the work will be carried on under the direction of the engineers imported from Denmark.

ROMANCE OF MIDGETS Unique Love Affair in Miniature—Engagement Looked For. New York, April 10.—The management of Bessie B. Baller's circus expect to have the pleasure of announcing a matrimonial engagement in a few days. The love affair of two of the midgets, Miss Anna Harvath and Paul Koski, has almost reached that stage. Anna is 21 inches in height, weighs 18 pounds, and is 18 inches in height and weight. Paul is 20 inches in height and weighs 18 pounds, while Paul is an inch shorter and weighs 18 pounds.

But, outside of all consideration of possible and probable, Paul and Anna have had no straightaway. The story of their almost accidental discovery of mutual affection, romance, and nothing short of it. Until a few months ago it was Paul's habit to play with a girl named Anna, a height-whom Anna loved. All the while Paul was confident and loving, but Anna saved up during the performances went to Franz and Paul was merely thought of as a friend. After the opening of the circus in his way, doubtless, but not to be considered excepting a friend.

And then, even to the most casual observers, who merely came out of curiosity to see the circus, the love affair was growing more reserved toward his pleasure in her society, and Paul even went so far as to avoid her. Franz's friends, believing his marriage to be a thing of the future, tendered him a number of proposals, but he refused them all. He was, however, a very handsome man, and drawing attention to his full height, two feet, he thanked the donors of the dinner, but declared he would not marry the best woman in the world.

Of course, when the news of this ungalant affair reached Anna's ears, she was furious. But she still loved Paul. How to win him back without losing her independence was the problem. She decided that the only course open was to get by little she began to see the traits in the younger man which were forgotten by the older. Admiration for the law. The indicted officials left the service as the result of an investigation by the police commissioner.

REFERENDUM'S INSIDE HISTORY
WHAT PARTISAN LEADERSHIP DID

Rev. J. E. Starr Says Ross Letter Was Strategic and Foresees Early Election.

"After reading Premier Ross' letter, I have come to the conclusion that it will have the effect to some extent of clearing the political atmosphere. What he sought to convey in it was that since his appointment the house would not sanction his proposition he would exert his powers of leadership to prevent any amendment which would strip place on the statute book a more stringent law. If it is not proposed by the legislature, a great danger to the political atmosphere would be averted, and I would be glad the premier to stand his guns."

So said Rev. J. E. Starr in the pulpit of Bathurst-street Methodist Church last night, epitomizing his views on the now famous letter. In a discourse that reviewed at length the vexed question of temperance in its relation to legislation and power of enactment, he called upon either of the parties, he cared not which, to face the issue on a straight temperance platform and charge the situation to show that such an appeal would be successful.

THE MIND OF PARTISANSHIP

He charged the leadership of the temperance cause with its non-success up to date, not in the least of partisanship, but in the fact that the people was a subsidiary reason to that of the party. He pointed out by men in the forefront of the van of temperance organization.

Continuing the speaker referred to a current opinion belief in some quarters that the premier was a free agent, able to introduce legislation at will, and the idea entertained by some that sufficient Conservative aid could be enlisted in the bill would be on strike. If he were able to introduce such legislation, it would be only a more stringent law. Even if the bill carried, it would have no force. It is the temperance cause would be made an object of contempt.

PAPA STORMED, THEN FORGAVE.

Breakdown of Motor Car Led to Happy Marriage.

New York, April 10.—Russell Jacobus has wooed the lovely daughter of wealthy Isaac Sigler for months. On Thursday he took her out in his motor car and they sat down to dine in the dusk at Plainfield. After dinner they started for home, and the motor car broke down in melodramatic way at 10 o'clock. Every shop was closed. Blacksmiths were not open. The young man and woman were left in the open air. "Oh, Russell, this is so sudden!" said she.

Just the same they hastened to the parsonage, where the Rev. Dr. Zelle made them man and wife. They remained at Plainfield that night and phoned to Papa Sigler, who stormed awhile and capitulated.

DEATH OF B. H. BULL.

Prominent Stock Breeder and Temperance Worker Passes Away.

Bartholomew Hill Bull of Brampton died at his home, "Hawthorne Lodge," early Sunday morning, after a very short illness. Mr. Bull was the eldest son of the late J. P. Bull, of Downsview, and settled at Brampton in 1874.

His mother was Caroline Amelia Carpenter, daughter of the late Samuel Carpenter of Winona.

Mr. Bull was known through Canada as the founder of the firm of B. H. Bull & Son, proprietors of the Brampton Jersey Herd, having been for years a very large breeder and importer of pure-bred Jersey cattle, and at the time of his death having the largest herd of registered Jerseys ever owned in the Dominion.
