STEALING OF GOODS FROM TRAINS IN WEST

Canadian Manufacturers Take Up Matter of Suspected Conspiracy

INVESTIGATIONS HELD

Boots, Shoes and Liquor Among Articles Pilfered—Thief-proof Packages and Special Nails to Be Used in Future

(Canadian Press) Toronto, Jan. 13.—Prompted by fears of a conspiracy among railway employees in various parts of the country, where goods in transit have been pilfered, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is taking steps to prevent further losses.

During the last few months, complaints have reached the head office of the association that large quantities of boots, shoes, liquor and kindred commodities that can be put into lumber boxes, have been stolen while in transit, and investigations made in Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and other places are said to have shown that railway men have conspired to rob the manufacturers.

Thief-proof boxes and a special kind of nails, which are being made under the direction of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, are likely to be generally used in future by shippers of goods such as those which have recently been stolen.

The Freight Relief Association is also taking up the question of freight delays. Figures that prompt and efficient service is as important as the question of rates, the secretary has addressed letters to several thousand members asking for specific evidence.

THINK STEAMER WILL BE SAVED BUT SOME DOUBT

Effort to Free Uranium at Noon Today—Three Bumps Before Liner Settled on Rocks Near Halifax

(Special to Times)

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 13.—Steanship Uranium, ashore at Chebucto Head, is in the same position as when she struck the rocks last night. An attempt will be made to pull her off at 12.30 today, high tide.

While the steamer was trying to get an official of the Canadian Northern on the Uranium, she got caught in the suction of the latter's propeller and was nearly pulled on the rocks. It was with great difficulty that this was avoided. It took fully half an hour to get the Uranium out of her dangerous position.

Flot John Holland went aboard the Uranium this morning at 7.30. He reports that there is two feet more of water in the hold than last night.

The opinion of those on board the Uranium is that the steamer will be gotten off all right. The life boats will be held in readiness in case of emergency. The water about the ship is very deep.

Contrary opinions are expressed at the scene of the wreck by captains and others as to managing the vessel. She struck three rocks before finally settling down.

Actual work in connection with the construction of the sugar refinery will be commenced within the next few weeks. F. H. Anson, managing director of the largest and most modern refinery in the world, accompanied by Henry Holgate, chief consulting engineer, H. L. Trotter, engineer in charge, and B. Wilson, treasurer, arrived in the city today on the Montreal express.

The surveys for the location of the building, which will be finished and the construction company will be able to make a start on their part of the work within three weeks. The company has a widely recognized reputation for such work and has performed some of the largest and most important in the United States and Canada.

The site taken over by the Atlantic Sugar Refining Company includes the buildings on the Bellis Road, and these will be used during the period of construction. The site is a large one, and contractors, tool houses, storage sheds, etc. The work of remodeling the buildings to fit them for their purpose will be commenced immediately.

It is expected that Mr. Trotter and Mr. Anson will remain in St. John throughout the period of the construction of the refinery.

MR. MULLIN WINS CASE IN WASHINGTON

Application For Drairage From Lake Michigan Denied—St. John Lawyer Represented Canada

A telegram received this morning from Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries, brought the pleasing and complimentary information to Daniel Mullin, K. C., that he had won his case for Canada in the matter of the application of the Chicago Sanitation Commission for drairage from Lake Michigan. The telegram read as follows:

"Ottawa, Jan. 13.—D. Mullin, K. C., St. John, N. B. Congratulations on decision of secretary of war denying the application of Chicago Sanitation Commission. Decision most favorable to government and shipping interests."

Mr. Mullin had the honor of representing Canada in Washington and argued the matter before the secretary of war on behalf of the dominion, protesting against the application for permission for drairage from Lake Michigan for the Chicago drainage canal, thence to the Mississippi river.

Chatham, N. B., Jan. 13.—At Napadogan, on the line of the G. T. P., on Saturday, Harding R. Pond, a well-known young man of Boistown, passing away. He had been working on a staging and fell to the ground sustaining injuries that resulted in his death within a short time.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 13.—With the thermometer far below zero fire broke out on Saturday afternoon in Reed's Bazaar in the centre of the business section of the city. Owing to a break down in the power plant the city was without water for nearly an hour and it looked for a time as if all the wooden buildings in that vicinity were doomed.

A few exciting moments were experienced this morning about nine o'clock in Mill street when people proceeding to the scene of their daily employment, were witnesses of an accident which might have ended more seriously had it not been for the promptness of T. L. Irvine, I. C. R. yardmaster, and James Braly, gateman.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Lord Francis Scott of the Grenadier Guards youngest son of the Duke of Buccleugh, and Captain B. Grant of the Rifle Brigade have arrived at Government House and will act as aides de camp to the governor-general for a short time.

BONAR LAW AND LANSDOWNE TO CONFER AGAIN

Liberal M. P.'s Take Advantage of Troubles in Unionist Ranks

URGE FOOD REDUCTIONS

Ask Lloyd George to Cut Present Taxes on Food, Especially Sugar—Some Provisions of Government's Colossal Scheme For Education

(Canadian Press) New York, Jan. 13.—A cable to the "Tribune" from London this morning says it is understood that Bonar Law and the Marquis of Lansdowne will confer again today and that a reply to the Unionist memorial will be given tomorrow. On the Liberal effect of the news that the Unionist rank and file have now agreed that food taxes shall not be an issue at the next general election has been striking and immediate.

Liberal members have drawn up a memorial to the chancellor of the exchequer praying him to provide in the budget for reduction of the present taxes on food, and especially on sugar, and this memorial, with a post-card for reply, has been sent to a large number of Liberals in the hope of securing the signature of men of prominence among the government's supporters.

Two young fellows were standing in the shadow of the mill, and as she came opposite to them, one of them gave her a slight push to one side, and while she was recovering from the shock and surprise, his companion ran to the other side of her and snatched the hand-bag from her. Both of them then ran off, going in the direction of Harris street. This was about nine o'clock, and the whole affair happened within a few seconds. Mrs. Chase was so overcome with the shock that she was unable to pursue them and there was no one about at the time to whom an alarm could be given.

It is said by residents of the neighborhood that there should be better lighting in this vicinity as it is very dark near the spot where the robbery occurred.

Quebec Bank To Start Business in St. John Tomorrow

It is the Second Oldest in Canada—Ward C. Hazen Manager

The Quebec Bank will open its doors for business for the first time in St. John tomorrow. It has the distinction of being the oldest bank in Canada. It was established in 1818, only three months before the Bank of Montreal. Since then it has progressed and prospered and its financial strength is proportionate to its age, its capital being $5,000,000.

Although no announcement has been made in this city, the beginning of an invasion of the maritime provinces which will give the bank branches in the principal points of the eastern provinces. The scale on which they are preparing to do business in St. John is indicated by their purchase of the historic building on Chubb's corner, one of the most important business corners in the city.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Woman Is Hold-Up Victim In City

ROCKLAND ROAD OUTRAGE

Mrs. Chase's Handbag Snatched From Her Grasp by Youth Working in Conjunction With Another—Chose Dark Spot For Their Act

A daring and successful attempt at highway robbery was committed on Saturday night in Rockland Road, and as was the case in the vicinity of the section of the city in a previous instance not very long ago, it was again juveniles who were the offenders. Two boys about sixteen or eighteen years of age.

Mrs. Chase, who resides at 13 Hawthorne avenue, was proceeding to her home after having been to the city shopping. She carried a hand-bag in which she had a few dollars and some valuable receipts, and had reached Rockland road just a little past the entrance from the "valley" at a point where the lighting could be greatly improved.

Two young fellows were standing in the shadow of the mill, and as she came opposite to them, one of them gave her a slight push to one side, and while she was recovering from the shock and surprise, his companion ran to the other side of her and snatched the hand-bag from her. Both of them then ran off, going in the direction of Harris street. This was about nine o'clock, and the whole affair happened within a few seconds. Mrs. Chase was so overcome with the shock that she was unable to pursue them and there was no one about at the time to whom an alarm could be given.

Lucky Wind Blew Hat From His Head

King Street East Man Believes it Saved Him From Being Robbed

A daring attempt at hold-up has just been reported to the police. It is supposed to have taken place in King street east one night last week. A heavy wind and snow storm was raging and a well known citizen who resides in that street was on his way home being followed by a crowd of people. He was passing along by the Burial ground when a gale of wind blew his hat off. He turned to recover his hat and was just in time to see a burly negro with his hand uplifted as if ready to strike him. The negro took to his heels and ran down Carmarthen street. The man gave chase but was not able to catch him. The citizen had quite a large amount of money in his pocket at the time, and had it not been for the wind blowing his hat off, he believes he would have been robbed and robbed.

Sydney Street Fish Store Broken Into

Early on Sunday morning a bold break was made in the store of Smith's Fish Market in Sydney street when someone gained an entrance and, opening the safe in the office and breaking open the strong-box, took a little more than $10 in cash. The thieves or thief must have made considerable noise, and must have been in the store for some time. First boards were ripped off a side window in the alley. Then entrance was gained by the window. After that a door was broken in and the office entered. The safe was next attacked, and after it had been opened the strong-box was forced with an ice-pick and also an axe.

It was somewhat similar to the Men and Religion Movement, he said. Rev. Mr. Thomas appeared on behalf of the committee appointed by the Evangelical Alliance to investigate social conditions and asked if the Baptist ministers had any suggestions to offer. The Methodist ministers transacted only routine business.

BOUNTY TO PARTNERS IN EFFECT IN BRITAIN TODAY

Government Gives $7.50 Where Parents Are Insured And Sick Benefit to Mother

London, Jan. 13.—Beginning today, every child born in the United Kingdom to parents insured will bring the parents a bounty of $7.50 under terms of the new national insurance act. The mother is also entitled to sick benefit during her illness. There are about 1,200,000 births annually in the United Kingdom and it is estimated that fully 1,000,000 of them will be entitled to the insurance benefit. One effect of the scheme is expected to be an improvement in the national physique, which is said to have suffered considerably because so many mothers died necessities and are sometimes obliged to resume work before fully recovered.

THE PARCEL POST. Canada is about to experience a vigorous agitation for a parcel post system similar to that which has been inaugurated in the United States.

The World points out that the Dominion Government has reduced the rates to meet the new competition. This leads the Toronto World to observe—

"The express companies in Canada will continue to maintain their present rates so long as the Dominion Government charges sixty-four cents for carrying a package weighing four pounds, and refuses to accept a package weighing more than four pounds at any price. When are Canadians to get relief?"

The World points out that "Postmaster-General Pelletier could begin a parcel post service tomorrow by changing the regulations respecting fourth-class mail matter; he could increase the limit of weight from four pounds to eleven pounds, and reduce the rate from sixteen cents a pound to eight cents, or even six."

The conference committee of one hundred of the Toronto Board of Trade last week discussed a resolution urging the Dominion government to make improvements in the parcel post system. It was pointed out that while parcels up to eleven pounds were now entering Canada from the United States the limit here remained five pounds.

The statement was made that Canada is probably the only civilized country without an adequate system of parcel post.

Of course the proposed reform will be opposed. The Retail Merchants Association of Canada last week sent a delegation to Ottawa to interview Premier Borden, and among other things they protested against the inauguration of a parcel post system, which they contended would mean the taking of money from the Dominion treasury for the benefit of a few mail order houses.

They will have support from other commercial organizations and from the express companies, and the government will find itself called upon to decide whether the existing conditions or the change asked for would be of greatest good to the greatest number. In the United States they appear to have answered that question to the satisfaction of the greatest number.

BANKRUPTCY LAW. There is a movement on foot, having lately been started in Toronto, to secure a uniform bankruptcy law for the Dominion, with a bankruptcy court in each province. The Toronto correspondent of the Montreal Financial Times writes—

"The attitude of some of the biggest manufacturers in this city and of business men generally to the proposal laid before the Ontario Bar Association by Mr. James Bicknell, K. C., that a bankruptcy court should be established in each province and that the insolvency laws should be made more uniform, would seem to show that should legislation along this line be introduced it would receive exceptionally strong support. Because the liquidation of assets, especially in Ontario, has in the past proved most unsatisfactory, the matter is one in which the liveliest interest is taken. Most of the business men, interviewed by The Financial Times agreed that probably the greatest flaw in the present insolvency law is the totally inadequate punishment meted to dishonest debtors."

It is claimed that a Dominion law can be enacted, "as the British North America Act empowers the Dominion parliament to provide for the establishment of additional courts for the better administration of the laws of Canada." It is expected that a copy of Mr. Bicknell's address will be sent to the minister of justice, and that the legal associations of the nine provinces, besides the various mercantile and manufacturing associations of the Dominion, will be asked to endorse and further the proposal in every way possible.

A number of high court judges in Ontario who were interviewed expressed the view that something should be done to improve the bankruptcy laws of Canada, and Mr. Bicknell contends that "if it be true that uniform commercial laws would be in the best interests of Canadian commerce, then it is equally true that these laws referring to insolvency throughout the Dominion should be uniform."

The Sanitarium and the proposed Children's Protection Act will be two very important matters to be considered by the municipal council next week.

The Berlin, Ontario, Board of Trade this year will give attention to town-planning and the housing problem, and will also consider the appointment of a publicity commissioner.

A strong delegation from Ontario waited on the Hon. Robert Rogers last week, and asked that the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal be commenced without further delay. Mr. Rogers told his visitors that the government had the question under consideration, and the request to avoid delay would receive attention.

PRESENTATIONS. As a token of her services to the choir of St. John's (Stone) church, Mrs. C. S. E. Robertson, who will leave for Montreal with her husband on Tuesday, received last evening, after the church service, a suitable address which was read by Rev. Mr. Kuhring, and a silver metal patee presented by L. P. D. Tilley, M.P.P., on behalf of the choir and other friends.

A handsome suit case was presented to Williams White on Saturday evening by the employees of the White Candy Company, as a token of their esteem.

LIGHTER VEIN

"The world is my oyster," I call long ago, But now that my tresses are graying, I no longer fancy I'm all of the show; I see what a small part I'm playing, I trust not appearance, though pleasant to be.

Not her self-complacency blind me, When a girl is apparently smiling at me, I look to see who is behind me. —Lippincott's.

A SLIP. Mother—How did you come to tell a lie? Willie—I think my conscience skidded, ma.

SOLEFUL MUSIC. Wishing to make his neighbors think he was a fine musician, Brown installed a mechanical piano near a front window of his home, where he spent hours each day pedaling out melodies.

"Your father is a great piano player, isn't he?" "Yes," replied William "but it makes his feet feel sore."—From the Detroit Free Press.

HER HEARING GOOD. Gibbs—So your wife quarrelled with you. I thought you said she was blind to your faults. Dibs—She was blind to them all right, but she wasn't deaf, and the neighbors posted her.—Boston Transcript.

WHY LIVING IS HIGH. Another reason for the high cost of living is that dinner used to begin with prayer, instead of cocktails.—From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

AN EXCELLENT DEVICE. An excellent device against slipping on your front door steps these icy mornings is to have a pair of old trousers to patch, with your last summer's sofa cushions. These, suitably placed, will prevent your falling and chipping your nose or granite steps with the back of your celluloid collar.—Judge.

ENVIOUS. Johnnie—"I wish I could be Tommy Jones." Mother—"Why? You are stronger than he is, you have a better home, more toys, and more pocket money." Johnnie—"Yes; I know, but he can wiggle his ears."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

WHO LOSES? Porter—"Have you lost something, eh?" Sandy—"Aw, ay, but it's nothing—just the threepenny bit o' siller 'a' was about to give 'er for carryin' my bag."—London Opinion.

SOMETIMES IS. Mrs. Knapp—"Do you think I'm going to sit up all night mending your socks?" Mr. Knapp—"My dear, it's never too late to mend."

WHO'S THE BEGGAR. Percival Wilson presented his wife with a beautiful diamond ring. Mrs. De Kooner smiled, and he presented a necklace of pearls to her. Which he bought while in gay Paris.

Arthur Von Prezel presented his wife with an elegant cut glass bowl. And Mrs. Pondexter received, as a gift, A Chinchilla muff and stole.

Mr. Fitzmaurice presented his son with a splendid violin, and Mrs. De Kooner presented a horse to his athletic daughter Pauline.

MORNING LOCALS

An enjoyable temperance meeting was held in the Seaman's Institute on Saturday evening, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Rev. Gordon Dickie was the speaker and gave a fine address to the men. A splendid musical programme was provided. Rev. M. McCutcheon conducted the service on Sunday evening.

Dr. J. Baptist Blake, of Boston, assistant professor of surgery at Harvard University, addressed the members of the St. John Medical Society in the Art Club rooms on Saturday evening. Many of the physicians in the city were present. Dr. Blake talked on Fractures and Their Causes and Treatment. He has had great experience in surgery. The society conducted three or four such lectures during the run of a year, and Dr. Blake was brought here specially to lecture before the members. He is a son of Mary Eliza, both Blake, the writer. While in the city, Dr. Blake is a guest of Mrs. T. J. Croan, Elliott row.

Signor Manetta, the Italian singer, who is filling an engagement at the Nichol here, assisted the choir in the Cathedral at eleven o'clock mass yesterday morning and also at vesper in the afternoon. At the morning service he sang the Adagio Fides, and at vesper the Alma Mater.

The monthly meeting of the Holy Name Society was held in the Cathedral last night. Rev. A. W. Meshak, D. D., continued his talk on church history, dealing with the Anglican church.

A serious accident was narrowly averted at the construction works at Courtney Bay on Saturday. Five cars, loaded with stone, toppled over the breakwater, carrying with them a workman. He was not seriously hurt. The cars were hoisted back on the rails in about two hours.

W. Burton Stewart, managing director of Norton Griffiths Co., Ltd., and P. R. Warren, chief engineer, arrived in the city on Saturday. Mr. Stewart said yesterday that there was nothing further he could say about the steel plant, but he might be able to make an announcement in a day or two.

NEW PASTOR. At the Christian church in Coburg street yesterday the new pastor, Rev. Fred Ross, preached for the first time, at both services. The congregations were large and included several strangers to hear the new pastor. Rev. Mr. Ross has come to St. John from Chatham, where he spent several years. Yesterday morning he preached on God's Love and in the evening on What and Where is Heaven. He is an eloquent preacher and the congregations expressed themselves as greatly pleased with their new pastor's efforts.

Mrs. Johnson, of the Hotel Metropole, Bourne-mouth, Eng., left $235.00 for charities, and desired her funeral to be conducted liberally and regardless of expense. She left $275.00.

FACIAL PROLOGUE

After the Christmas party they both fell well pleased with themselves and things in general. They sat together in a cosy little alcove, and by-and-by he took his courage in both hands and proposed. There was no hesitation on the lady's part as she accepted, and a moment later she occupied but one chair, whilst he nestled closely by her breast. Suddenly she started, frowned, and looked at him full in the face. "Albert," she said, "you are untrue to me! You are playing a game with me!" "Darling," he replied, "what?" "You—you—you—you're making 546 faces at me!" she thundered indignantly. "I can't help it," he muttered sadly. "My eyes have been falling off gradually and I don't want to let go of your dear little hand!"

"What makes you so sure that young fellow is a good business man?" asked Mr. Cunnock. "Well," replied his daughter, "he does not ride, shoot, play golf or tennis, or write for the magazines. There must be something he can do."

TROUBLE NOW IN THE FRENCH CABINET ON EVE OF ELECTION

Paris, Jan. 11.—Alexandre Millerand, who won a reputation at home and abroad as a great war minister, resigned from that office today.

M. Lebrun, minister of colonies, has been appointed minister of war, and M. Beraud, under secretary of finance, replaces M. Lebrun, the under secretaryship in the ministry of finance being temporarily absent.

The ministerial crisis was the direct outcome of the reinstatement of Lieutenant Colonel De Puy De Clam in the French territorial army. With the election of president occurring on Friday next, the political situation has become greatly confused, with indications pointing to a stirring week.

URANIUM STRIKES AT ENTRANCE TO THE HARBOR OF HALIFAX

Halifax, Jan. 12.—Eight hundred and eighty passengers were taken from the stranded steamer Uranium at the entrance to Halifax harbor today and landed in safety. The ship hangs by her bow on a reef at Chubb's Head. The captain and his crew are still aboard, hoping to float her. The steamer struck on the ledge in a heavy fog while the captain was maneuvering for a pilot.

The stranded ship struck bow on when the tide was high and in the middle of the afternoon her bow was six feet out of water, with seven fathoms of water amidships and seventeen fathoms at the stern.

The number of passengers on board was 880, of whom 649 were for New York and 240 for Halifax. Of these 100 were cabin and the remainder steerage. It was expected that the crowd would be off the steamer by 7 o'clock this evening, but they got clear of her by 8.

The Lady Laurier took the women and children first, and then the men were transferred to the Bridgewater. The wind was heavy from the southwest and the Uranium therefore is protected by Chubb's Head. Had the wind been in the opposite direction the ship would have been fully exposed to the sweep of the whole Atlantic and must have broken up almost at once.

She will be in terrible peril whenever the wind does change. Captain Postace of the Uranium, is convinced that he will get his steamship off and at first objected to entertain a proposition to disembark the passengers. An attempt will be made to float the stranded steamer. The nationality of the passengers is Russian, German and Austrian. The Uranium has 200 tons of cargo for New York and 200 for Halifax.

The passengers on the Bridgewater arrived at 8 o'clock and the Lady Laurier left the wreck with her load at 7.30 this evening. The Uranium belongs to MacKenzie & Mann.

GOT THERE FIRST

The lovely girl, having ingested a minute in her room to adjust her transformation, change the angle of her Grecian hand, and make sure that her skirt fitted like the peeling of a plum, descended to the parlor to find the family pet ensconced upon the knee of the young man caller, her curly head nestled comfortably against his shoulder.

"Why, Mabel," the young lady exclaimed, "aren't you ashamed of yourself! Get right down."

"Shut 't up," retorted the child, "I got here first." "Everybody's Magazine. "Why," she said, "more than 2,000 agents in all parts of the globe."

MONCTON TIMES FIRE LOSS SOME $10,000

Moncton, Jan. 12.—Fire that caused about $10,000 damage to the building, plans and stock, broke out in the Times newspaper building shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The fire started in the basement, but whether from spontaneous combustion or what will probably never be known. From the time the fire was discovered until it drove every employe from the building and smoke enveloped the place, was but a few minutes. One of the boys at work in the stock room detected fire and running into the basement found the place full of smoke. He ran to the second and third stories alarming the employes.

Notwithstanding the employes hastened from their work, they had difficulty in getting out, and some who delayed had to be taken out of the second story windows by ladders.

Five girls employed in the composing and job rooms escaped with some difficulty on account of smoke, one having to be partially carried out through dense smoke.

The building, which was three-story brick, was insured for $3,000 and the damage is estimated at $4,000. The damage to the machinery, stock, etc., is estimated at about $6,000. The insurance was held as follows: Building—Phoenix, $3,000; Liverpool, London & Globe, $3,000. Plant and stock—Fidelity, $3,500; Sun, $3,500; Acadia, $3,000; Northern, $4,000; Phoenix, $400.

F. R. Fairweather, of St. John, arrived this afternoon and the work of appraising the damage will commence tomorrow.

The Times is able to make up the paper in its office, and through the kindness of J. T. Hawke will issue for a few days from the Transcript press.

THE NEW COTTON FABRICS IMITATE THE WINTER ONES

Voile With a Jacquard Design Will Be the Novelty for Spring and Ratine Will Again Be Popular in Various Weaves—Cheruit Shows Oriental Sashes—These Will Be Drawn Over the Hips and Tied at the Sides—Worth Insists Upon Angel Sleeves.

(BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE.)

We have rather a good method in America of going slowly on new fabrics until the public gives a verdict and then multiplying the product. This has been the case with ratine and with rough weaves of all kinds. Paris began using velours de laine, chambré cloth and various ratines two years ago last August, but they were imported in small lengths to this country and made no headway during the first winter season.

In the spring cotton ratines were brought out in quantities and the public received them with sufficient enthusiasm to make them pay; this last August, when the French again showed the same fabrics as those of the year before, Americans took them up and flooded the markets from New York to Texas with them. They were variously called. Those who would them gathered them under the general name of ratine and chinchilla, but all the Paris weaves were here.

It looks as though they would remain in fashion until next January. If one judges by what the manufacturers say and not by what Paris will decide next August. No matter what Paris does decide the fabric will probably share the same fate as the ratine and velours de laine of two years ago, by being ignored over here.

Whatever we are wearing now is of small importance in the way of news, but it has its bearing on what is to come, for the new spring fabrics will be modeled after the present ones. Cotton ratine will be reinstated, and it is probable that it will be as popular as white linen and more serviceable, in that it does not crush. It will come in the different shades of blue, also in white, in violet, in brown and black. Suits of the latter are very smart, especially when worn with fine white blouses, with a touch of black at the neck and a black and white hat.

There will also be silk ratines, crepe de chine, a new kind of voile and a cotton chambré, which it is claimed will give much the appearance of the chambré satin, which has served so well for several years.

This new voile will be quite attractive, for it is covered with a Jacquard weave which has been revived after ten years' absence from the loom. Everything has the Jacquard design this winter. It was probably brought out first on marseilles, and women liked it so much that it has been introduced into silk and cotton fabrics for spring and summer. There is one silk which has it in which are woven nine different colors, and the result is not as fantastic as one might think.

There are also cotton voiles with deep agaric borders in colors or plain, which will be used as an edge to tunics and for the hem of the skirt, and also for that deep Oriental sash which Cheruit introduced six months after the manner. As for crepe de chine, plain, striped, with a Persian pattern or a Jacquard design, there will evidently be no end of it. We may become as wearied of it as we now are of tulle, which remains lovely, but has lost by familiarity.

When one shop could display seventy-two tones of it in one day, it was too much for even an artistic color, and now the fastidious woman has grown shy of it. Paris, however, has not, and it is probable that the same thing will happen now as has happened before, in that a color or a garment will have a second and a stronger life. Seal brown is its rival as far as the French houses are concerned, and the American women are recognizing its beauty as the season progresses.

Satin dinner gowns in deep seal brown are considered unusual and artistic, especially when they are touched up with that queer prismatic orange or dull Chinese blue. One of the best frocks worn in this deep brown has a draped skirt over a narrow slashed underskirt which is faced with the blue and partly turned back in the shape of envelope flaps. The bodice is half of shirred tulle in the same tone of brown and extends into a high Medici collar at back and drops into a deep V in front. Inside the brown tulle, against the neck line, is softly drawn a fold of flesh tulle mingled with a ribbon of Chinese blue velvet which twists itself into a lover's knot at the bust. The long sleeves are of shirred tulle and are finished at the wrist with a frill of tea lace and a knot of blue velvet ribbon.

There is a new tone of pink that also combines with the fashionable seal brown as well as Chinese blue and orange, but it takes a certain combination of skin and hair to wear it. It is called Nell rose. The name came about in an interesting way. Remembering the popularity of Alice blue, one of the important manufacturers sent some shades pink to Miss Eleanor Wilson, the daughter of the president-elect, asking her to make a choice among them. She chose the tone of rose and the manufacturers immediately called it Nell rose; the shops offer it as the novelty in color.

All the talk that drifts to and fro concerning new colors and fabrics is not so important or interesting to the woman who buys clothes as is the gossip about cut and style. The people in the trade of clothes know what a tremendous part fabric plays and they also recognize that it is almost the only medium of exclusiveness in costumes.

There has also passed to be any striking individuality about one gown or coat or hat or suit because all the buyers from America see all the French models at the same time and make a desultory uniform selection. These are copied by the thousands over here and a woman who pays $600 for a gown at her dressmaker's on Tuesday will see its exact copy for $92.50 in a shop window on Wednesday. It is also the material, and in this way that a woman can hope to be exclusive in her choice of clothes.

America neither makes nor imports large quantities of the French fabrics at the time when they are new and desirable, and so the woman who wears a cutaway suit of marseilles in October knows that she will meet a hundred like suits in the city but probably not two in that fabric. The exclusive importers of materials bank heavily on this fact and allow the dressmakers who have a rich clientele an experimental handling of short lengths of remarkable fabric that cannot be bought in this country. It is also for this reason that a woman pays more for the fabric she uses than for the dress itself, because she has learned this expensive lesson at a large cost and the importers have taught it to her.

But are there so few novelties in style, you ask. The answer is that there are more novelties than the average woman cares to keep up with, but the present wholesale method of copying a new cut that is in fashion in Paris destroys a novelty as soon as it is out. The mills evidently in America cannot work as rapidly as the tailors and dressmakers do, because they do not supply novelty material until a year after its birth. Possibly there is more secrecy between the manufacturers of the two countries and we are not able to buy their ideas, or possibly they do not choose to sell their products to America in the wholesale way that the Paris dressmakers do.

Now what about the styles? What do those in the watch towers foretell? There is nothing newer than the herails have already shouted, such as short coats, pleated skirts, accordion pleating in all manner of garments, Russian blouses with the seams wired to stand out like hoop skirts and again the long sleeve. Cutaway coats are safe for another season, although the straight box coat made of marseilles or brocaded crepe de chine is coming back into fashion with the immense fur collar and cuffs. At a distance it looks surprisingly like a wadded satin dressing room sack.

Such coats are worn over skirts of velvet or velours de laine, and it is said they will be worn over knitted suited ones that are quite plain and narrow.

Paul Poirot is showing such a suit made of Parma violet velvet and orange. The straight jacket is lavishly fitted with fur and the short skirt is excessively slim and its knif pleating stretches into severe folds. With this is carried an immense muff of seal brown velvet edged with fur and heavily embroidered in a Jacquard design in colored floss. The hat matches the muff.

Cheruit who has been introducing quite a number of novelties in the last few years, whether because she chooses to depart from the elegant, conventional style of the past or because of her partnership with a famous German designer, has brought out the Oriental sash as her dominant and attractive way. She used it last August, but the public did not care for it. The Americans credited it and only the smart Russian and French women took it up.

The first gown she showed which had

My Friends' Husbands

(London Daily Mail.)

I suppose every woman who has been married knows that the ideal husband does not exist, any more than does the ideal wife. But sometimes one is tempted to be a little envious over the charms—in public, that is—of the men one's own women friends have married.

My own husband does approach very close to my ideal of what a life-partner should be when we are alone. He is all the home virtues but very few of the social ones.

When I am particularly anxious for him to shine in someone else's house he is quite certain to be at his very worst. He is dour, shy, silent, even—I sometimes fancy—slightly inattentive in his attitude towards me.

Alone, in our own house, he is all that the most exacting wife could require. He talks well and fluently, he listens with interest to what I have got to say, he fetches and carries for me, delights in providing me with small comforts, shows me the best of what is in his heart. We are chums as well as lovers.

The Charming Mr. R.

But not a single other human being ever allowed to see this. When a third person is present we become as distant in our manner to each other as the merest acquaintances. I am sure we must have earned the reputation, by the time of a couple who have made a distinctly unsuccessful marriage.

The most charming man I know is the husband of a very close friend of mine. They have been married for two years, and for the first twelve months I resisted the temptation to tell the wife of my admiration for her life-partner. I wanted her to know that I thought her the luckiest of women, but it seemed a little tactless to do so too soon.

I contented myself with asking the couple to dinner as often as possible and watching, with real pleasure, the bridegroom's devotion to his bride. Although

UGH! HOW CHILDREN HATE CASTOR OIL

To Clean the Little One's Stomach Liver and Waste-clogged Bowel. Give Gentle "Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the physic that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Till day of hardy physic is over. We don't force the liver and 30 feet of bowels now we coax them. We have no drugged after-effects. Mothers who cling to the old for of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their little stomachs and tender bowels are injured by them.

If your child is fretful, peevish, his sick, stomach sour, breath fœtid, as his little system full of cold, his diarrhoea sore throat, stomach-ache; doesn't eat, rest well—remember—look at the tongue it coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, then don't worry, because your child will have a well-smelling child in few hours.

Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of licentious figs, senna and aromatics cannot be harmful. It sweetens the stomach, makes the liver active and thoroughly cleanses the little one's waste-clogged bowels. In a few hours all sour bile, undigested fermenting food and constipated matter gently moves on and out of system without griping or nausea.

Directions for children of all ages, for grownups, plainly printed on the box.

By all means get the genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. Accept nothing else.

Hot Buttered Toast

Why his wife consents to respond to his boy-and-girl friendship pose I do not quite know. I suppose it is a matter of pride with her.

I know several examples of a third type of charming man; the man who is charming at all times except when he is alone with her.

He is the polished conversationalist, the man of the world who is an unqualified success at dinner parties, and who will talk brilliantly on any subject you like to name except the one on which the average male is most fluent. He will not talk about himself.

For a little while this is quite pleasant, because he implies a want of trust in his fellow-conversationalist.

And does this sort of man adopt the same attitude of modest self-effacement with his own wife? According to two or three wives of my acquaintance who have reason to know him well he does not.

Apparently there is no husband so complete an egotist in his own home as the one who will not talk about himself outside of it. His wife's affairs are ignored. She is not supposed to have any views at all; she is merely a listener, while her companion pours out his thoughts about himself day after day, year after year. He can listen when he wants to. He listens to the talk of other women. Have I not just said that he has frequently, at dinner parties, listened to me?

Am I not better off, after all, with my honest rough-diamond than these friends of mine who have married men with more charm? Besides, my husband does possess charm, only he will not let any other people discover the fact. Perhaps some day I shall find a means of taking him unaware and coaxing it out of him, even in the presence of an audience. M. M.

Hot Buttered Toast

Even some of the new top coats that have been worn at the races in Paris show a form of the sash in a five-inch band that goes straight across the front and ends with buttons beyond the under-arm seam; and, by the way, this same coat introduces a combination of cape and sash shape that might be called an exaggerated dolman for want of a better term.

The cape effect is at the back, extending over the shoulders, and is shaped in long loose panels over the arm to the hem. These protect the arms, which come through slits in the side seams. There is a great deal of style in this garment, especially when it is made in brown with an orange lining, with one sleeve thrown back, army fashion, over the left shoulder.

Worth is still showing angel sleeves, and Cartier uses them in many of her effective dinner gowns. One dressmaker says they are all very well if they don't get in the soup, and one of Worth's methods of preventing this, although his artistic head would never entertain the thought, is to fasten the edges of the sleeve to a gold-colored bracelet worn at the wrist. This is done with a white satin gown, which is plainly made except for three splendid old lace flounces draped around the skirt. The bodice is a mere web of tulle and lace, and the wing sleeves, made of the two fabrics, is held to the arm by the new bar bracelet, made of small brilliant set in platinum.

has introduced the seal in gorgeous Oriental silks which seem to be cut from a Mandarin's robe.

There is no doubt that this sash in many forms will play a large role in the early spring costume. It will be used in the original form, which is quite becoming over the slender hip, natural or otherwise, of the fashionably shaped woman. Worn in this way it touches the waist line at the top, passes across the hips from right to left, and is knotted at the left side of the back with the free ends heavily weighted with bands of fur or velvet brocade. Beer is using it as a straightaway girdle, which holds the waist in quite tightly, extends for four inches above; one end passes under the girdle and falls in a fringe half way to the knees.

Such coats are worn over skirts of velvet or velours de laine, and it is said they will be worn over knitted suited ones that are quite plain and narrow.

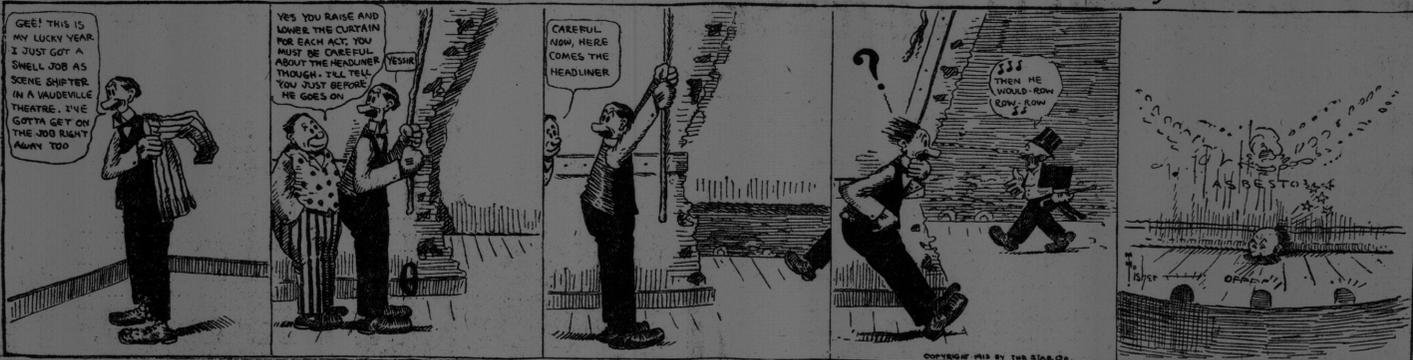

Paul Poirot is showing such a suit made of Parma violet velvet and orange. The straight jacket is lavishly fitted with fur and the short skirt is excessively slim and its knif pleating stretches into severe folds. With this is carried an immense muff of seal brown velvet edged with fur and heavily embroidered in a Jacquard design in colored floss. The hat matches the muff.

Cheruit who has been introducing quite a number of novelties in the last few years, whether because she chooses to depart from the elegant, conventional style of the past or because of her partnership with a famous German designer, has brought out the Oriental sash as her dominant and attractive way. She used it last August, but the public did not care for it. The Americans credited it and only the smart Russian and French women took it up.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION WRESTLER OF EUROPE

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Iringer may have bitten off more than he can chew. Wrestling fans do not believe that there is a man in the world who can throw Bothner three times in an hour. Men half again as heavy as he is have tried to throw him once and failed. Tom Jenkins couldn't pin his shoulders to the mat, nor could dozens of others. It may be that Iringer will accomplish the feat that baffled so many others. Bothner is not as young as he was. He is many years older than Iringer, and if his youthful rival triumphs over him it will be due as much to the increasing years as to the foreigner's superior ability. Then, too, Iringer will outgrow Bothner, many pounds. Bothner is always close to the 158 pound mark, while Iringer will probably weigh around 175 pounds.

Iringer is a youth in years, he is old in experience. He is an Austrian by birth. He has been wrestling for many years and in many lands. He cleaned up all opponents in continental Europe, and then crossed over to England and repeated his victories there. Iringer has issued a challenge to Fred Best, American (Gus Schoenheit) or any other light heavyweight wrestler in America. Unlike many foreigners, who are solely Greco-Roman wrestlers, Iringer is an expert catch-as-catch-can grappler. Picture No. 1 shows Iringer executing crotch hold on his partner; No. 2, the flying mare; No. 3, hitting his opponent's shoulder to the mat. But picture shows great chest development of Iringer.

Iringer was a bitter disappointment, but I am not going to make excuses. Of course, I'd like to meet McCarty again, but I don't believe he will give me another chance just now. Meanwhile, I intend to go after Willard and the other big fellows who say they want to fight McCarty, and I'll see 'em all I'll be ready to fight.

BASEBALL

New England League for Portland. "Portland, Me., Jan. 11.—This city is today interested in the report that a New England baseball team may be placed here this summer. C. B. McLaughlin, the former Harvard captain and pitcher; T. J. Keedy, the former Dartmouth star and present Lehigh coach; and Otto Dinninger, last year with the Jersey City International League Club, are reported as the men interested in the project.

The Fall River franchise is on the market. Baseball has not prospered in that city and the above named trio is reported as having secured an option on that franchise with a view to placing it in this city. McLaughlin visited this city Tuesday and had a talk with several men who are interested in getting a New England League franchise, and he will report to the others at an early date.

FOOTBALL

London, Jan. 11.—Although this afternoon there was to have been an epidemic of cup fever owing to the first round proper of the English Cup, snow and fog intervened and compelled the postponement of sixteen out of the thirty-two games set down for decision. The results: Fulham, 0; Hull City, 0; Millwall Athletic, 0; Middleboro, 0; Manchester City, 4; Birmingham, 0; Crystal Palace, 2; Glossop, 0; Southampton, 1; Bury, 1, 0; Halifax, 2; Queens Park Rangers, 4; Rochdale, 0; Swindon Town, 0; Sunderland, 0; Clapton Orient, 0; Bristol Rovers, 2; Notts County, 0; Croydon Common, 0; Woolwich Arsenal, 0.

PREVING ON WEAKNESS OF PEOPLE FOR DRUGS

Cases Coming to Light in Paris Show Large Illicit Trade.

Paris, Jan. 13.—The police are investigating the case of a young woman dead from the effects of cocaine poisoning. She was found dying in a hotel of the Saint-Georges quarter, and was conveyed to the Lariboisiere Hospital. It was found that injections of cocaine had been made in the thighs, and it was afterwards learned that the young woman, who was identified as Yvonne Bock, 27 years of age, a native of France, had expressed the intention of committing suicide by means of an excessive dose of cocaine.

The first results of the police investigation have been the arrest of a man named Jarzuel, whose address was found among the papers of a young chasseur of one of the large restaurants, and who is known as being able to procure cocaine—as too many of them regularly do. This man was formerly a hack-writer for the press, but he seems to have abandoned letters for the more lucrative trade of secretly selling drugs. He lived alone, but was daily visited by young men and girls, and the proprietor of the house had already threatened to give him notice, as he feared he was engaged in some illicit business.

It appears that Jarzuel had a very large circle of customers. His trade was so notorious that it is impossible to imagine it was unknown to the police, and the only point to be elucidated is how Jarzuel contrived to secure sufficient quantities of cocaine to satisfy the nightly demand.

A similar strange inquiry appears to have been extended by the authorities to Lestringuet, a poet, indigine at Rome, where he was garrotted, elicited the information that while performing his military service Lestringuet rented a single room, furnished with a bed, table, and a few chairs. Here he used to receive soldier friends in snuff, and all would remain shut up for hours in silence. Lestringuet then fell ill, and at the hospital, the cause of his sickness was quickly discovered, but the only step taken was to forbid soldiers to have rooms outside the barracks.

CARLETON MAN SEVERELY HURT
Jaw Fractured and Face Torn—Strong Words From Dr. Neve on Ambulance Situation

George Fullerton, of Carleton, working at the coal pocket on Rodney wharf, was severely injured about half past seven o'clock this morning. A wire cable had become fast in the ice on the ground, and when it was released by steam power it flew up. Fullerton was standing over it and was struck in the face. His lower jaw sustained a compound fracture, an opening six and a half inches long was torn near the mouth and his lower lip was split downwards and inwards.

Dr. F. H. Neve was called and after giving him first aid had him sent to the General Public Hospital for treatment. It was nearly an hour after the accident before the badly injured man was on his way in the ambulance to the institution via the ferry and this circumstance led Doctor Neve to express himself very forcibly on the situation.

"You can say from me," he said to a Times reporter, "that this city has the record of being the worst off of any on the map in regard to emergencies of this kind. Philanthropic societies dealing with cruelty to animals and other matters in excellent intent, will find an examination of the circumstances that in West St. John there is scope for their good offices.

"The limbs and lives of workmen are endangered; often times prompt surgical attention is necessary and it is a pity that they have to await the summoning of the ambulance from the city and the delay consequent on a trip of the ferry or around by the bridge. When it is considered that all this time the injured man is suffering and then he lies helpless, it seems that something had better be arranged."

Doctor Neve felt strongly that the ambulance should be stationed in Carleton, where most of the accidents happen, or else there be a second one provided. He himself had volunteered the use of his automobile but found himself confronted with a $40 fine if he drove it down the Sand Point wharves. He felt strongly that something should be done in the interest of humanity.

DOCTORS AT SUPPER.
The members of the New Brunswick Medical Society were addressed by Dr. J. Basset Blake, of Boston, assistant professor of surgery at Harvard University, in the Art Club rooms on Saturday night. Dr. Blake lectured on Fractures, their causes and treatment, and his lecture was listened to with a great deal of interest by the doctors present. After the lecture the members adjourned to the home of Dr. Blake where supper was partaken of. Dr. D. Malcolm, president of the St. John Medical Society, presided, and Dr. Blake was the guest of the evening. After supper an impromptu musical programme was enjoyed.

TO ST. JOHN ON HONEYMOON.
A very pretty wedding took place in St. Mary's Catholic church in Houlton on last Wednesday morning at five o'clock, when Miss Mary Susan Breaux, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Breaux of Chatham, N. J. A. McDONALD CASE

Hearing in the case of James A. McDonald, charged with stealing money from the P. F. Collier Publishing Company, was to have been resumed in the police court this morning, but on the application of George W. Fowler, K. C., for the defence, it was further adjourned until tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. The prisoner with his counsel did not arrive in court until 11:20 o'clock, the Sussex train being late. H. J. Smith appeared for the prosecution. Before asking for an adjournment, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Smith, together with the prisoner and G. H. Theis, representing the Collier Company, had a conference, at the conclusion of which the adjournment was asked for. It was said that a settlement may be arrived at in a day or so. Mr. Fowler will leave this evening for Ottawa and R. St. J. Freeze of Sussex will probably appear for the prisoner tomorrow. The prisoner is now out on his own recognizance.
