THEY WILL MEET TELEPHONE DIRECTORS TWO WEEKS

Moncton Council Hope That Differences Will Be Settled—Tennyson Smith Adopts a Milder Tone—Scott Act Proceedings.

MONCTON, Dec. 1.—E. Tennyson Smith is creating a sensation in telephone circles in Moncton, and consequently in liquor circles also. His third meeting last night packed to the doors the big auditorium of the First Baptist church, and many people were turned away. Hon. C. W. Robinson of the previous night, unlike that of the previous night, was not marked by anything unusual. Rev. A. E. Tennyson was called upon to read the report of the special committee appointed on the previous evening to secure information regarding commitments in Scott Act cases. They reported that after consulting legal advice and visiting the magistrates they had been able to ascertain that the magistrates had absolute authority to issue commitments, that nine cases were before the court between July 27 and Nov. 16, that the giving of information regarding the issue of commitments is entirely at the discretion of the magistrate. No information regarding the number of commitments issued was received by the committee. The magistrate claims that the city solicitor is the one to apply for commitments. The attorney general can be appealed to by citizens should the magistrate refuse to issue commitments. At a meeting of the city council last night the city clerk was instructed to notify the city solicitor to take charge of and conduct proceedings as counsel for informant in all cases under the C. T. A. and that the city solicitor be further instructed to take such legal action as is necessary to have commitments issued against all C. T. A. convictions and placed in the hands of an officer and duly executed. There were also several inquiries regarding the act of commitment.

At the meeting of the council Leslie Chappell who has given good satisfaction as a chief of police for another month and one alderman expressed the opinion that the telephone Co. was trifling with the city. No definite date for the conference meeting yet been fixed. A. W. Welch moved that the city decline to hold further negotiations with the telephone company but the motion was lost and an amendment that a conference be held on December fourteenth, carried.

Notice of motion was introduced to abolish tolls in the city market and throw it open to countrymen. A committee was appointed to wait on the general manager of the I. C. R. and have some action taken in regard to dangerous crossings. In consequence of a slight accident the special with the English mails from Halifax did not make the usual fast run, five hours being occupied in the trip. A heated journal on the locomotive caused considerable delay.

BRITISH TEACHERS MUST PAY HEAD TAX

Uncle Sam Taking Toll from the Visiting Teachers Who Enter From Canada

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Every visiting British teacher who crosses the line from Canada to the United States is taxed $2 by the United States immigration officers. They regard it as an imposition, and President Roosevelt's attention is being brought to the matter.

Inspector Hughes went to the United States consul in Toronto and protested against the tax, but his protest, though courteously heard, was in vain. Then Mr. Hughes wrote to Dr. Butler, the president of Columbia University, who has charge of the Mostel teachers' tour in the United States. One of the visiting teachers went across the line, and then came back to Canada. Wishing to return again for a day to Buffalo, he was taxed the $2 fee for the second time.

On Saturday Inspector Hughes attempted to play a trick on the United States Government, but he was fooled. He escorted a party of teachers to Niagara Falls, Ont., took the electric car there, and went up to the Suspension Bridge in the hope of slipping his party over the bridge as sight-seers. They were spotted, however, by the men in uniform, and each had to cough up a $2 bill.

MILL WAS MOVED DURING THE NIGHT

A Carleton County Incident Which Will Likely Lead to a Lawsuit

HARTLAND, Nov. 30.—Some two years ago a saw mill was erected at Gordonville by Randolph Stuckey and Hugo Brooks, which was a great convenience to the locality, and very liberally patronized. The machinery was mainly bought from J. Albert Hayden of the somewhat unfavorable winter's operations on the part of the firm, a judgment against them was secured by Mr. Hayden, and about placed Constable Bell in charge.

So far, so good, but on Friday near midnight, a party of men, headed by Mr. Smith, and consisting of Samuel McMullen, Dolphus Lovely, Samuel Darkis, Herman Shaw, Lorne Boyer, Gordon Milbery, David McLeod, Willard McIntyre and others, appeared on the scene, and dispossessed Con. Bell. Practically all the machinery was loaded on half a dozen sheds, and taken to Florenceville. Mr. Bell telephoned the Deputy of the occurrence, and the Deputy set out to intercept the party. On the Glasgow Road Sheriff Foster confronted the goods, and here he learned that he considered they were hauling away goods that were in the custody of the law, and besides here he had to protect his seizure, but owing to the vastly superior numbers, could not recapture the goods, and here he fell of what took place, the Sheriff refused to give particulars. No doubt the matter will be aired in court.

MANY PAPERS READ AT EDUCATIONAL CONGRESS

Industrial and Social Conditions the Subject of Debate.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—The second day session of the Social Education Congress which has attracted a host of educators from this country and abroad was filled with business and addresses of importance. Seven meetings were planned for the day and evening and of these five were held this forenoon. At Lorimer Hall, the section on industrial education met with Professor Charles R. Richards, of Columbia University, as chairman, "The Needs From the Manufacturers' Standpoint," was the subject of a paper by M. W. Alexander of the General Electric Co., while John Golden, president of the Union Textile Workers of America, spoke on the "Importance of Industrial Education to the Workingman." Prof. Jeremiah Jenks, of Cornell University, was chairman of the Self-Organized group meeting, which was held at Chipman Hall, and read a paper entitled "Voluntary Group Work in Life Work in Life."

WANTS MAY TO GO TO GRAND LAKE

Child Who Was Taken Care of by Mrs. McLaren

Had Run Away From Her Adopted Parents—Missed Trip to Scotland—Famer Would Like to Take Her Home.

An elderly farmer from Grand Lake called at the police station this morning to see if the court officials would not aid him in regaining the custody of little May Ashburn, who is now being cared for by Mrs. James McLaren, of the West End.

The farmer said that six years ago, May came out from Bristol, England, and Agent Wetmore, of the Middlemore Home gave the little tot over to him. She was given a good home. About the first of September the little girl arrived in St. John, and the Grand Lake and was to accompany her adopted mother on a trip to Scotland. She stopped at the Ferry Hotel, Endantown, and one night May ran away from the hotel leaving her hat and jacket behind her. A description of her was given to the police but she was not then located. The little girl went on to the Grand Lake, where she was taken up to a couple of weeks ago, when she was found in a North End alley by Policeman Totten. She was then taken to a couple of boys who ran away on the spot, and the next morning as the little girl said she had no home she willing to accept one with Mrs. McLaren's wife.

The Grand Lake man learned of the child's whereabouts through a clipping from the Star and called on Mrs. McLaren yesterday. The little girl did not wish to leave her adoptive home. Mrs. McLaren does not wish that she should leave.

BIG COMBINES OPPOSE THE STANDARD OIL

And the Latter Declares the Organization Must be Undisturbed if It is to Meet With Success.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—William H. Libby, of the foreign department of the Standard Oil Company gave out a statement yesterday concerning the great foreign combinations against the Standard. Mr. Libby points out that the Royal Dutch Company of the Hague, and the Shell Transport and Trading Company of London have recently announced their amalgamation, and that the principal objects being to control the petroleum industry of the Dutch Indies, and that in Germany a holding company has recently been organized for the purchase of dominating shares in the Russian and Rumanian petroleum. In Galicia a prominent industrial concern, Mr. Libby says, has practically combined about 90 per cent. of the production and refining. Mr. Libby mentions other combines of capital in the petroleum industry and then says: "The amalgamations cited (created and administered by some of the best industrial brains and most prominent capitalists of Europe) so far from receding the opposition of government's press or communities, are regarded abroad as being in the natural pathway of legitimate, economic and progressive commerce and are especially commended when the motive is emphasized of eliminating the American produce from the competitive markets. This commercial battle could not be successfully waged since the comprehensive organization and equipment at home and abroad which the Standard Oil Company has created at such enormous expenditure, and through such unremitting efforts. The successful maintenance of the supremacy of American petroleum in the competitive markets abroad must carry the penalty of a constant industrial battle in the outcome of which not only the Standard Oil Company itself is concerned, but also the entire producing labor classes and a host of associations, directly or indirectly dependent upon its ramified operations. The valuation of its experts constitutes a highly important factor in the adjustment of the international trade balances of the nation. In the prosecution of its aggressive industrial policy the Standard Oil Company believes itself to be fairly entitled to the encouragement that other governments are giving to similar business interests."

FAILED TO KEEP HIS WORD; WAS SENT TO REFORMATORY

Little Robert Clayton Did Not Do as He Promised—Another Campbellton Man Who Got Drunk Here, and Claims to Have Been Robbed.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Daily Mail this morning takes up the agitation for the appointment of a Canadian Ambassador at Washington in succession to Sir Mortimer Durand. In an editorial, the paper says: "It would be a wise course if the government is anxious to consolidate the Empire, Canada has suffered in the past through the ignorance or short-comings of British diplomatists; witness the Ashburton treaty of 1842 (as to the boundary line between Maine and Canada), the Oregon agreement of 1846 (a territorial dispute between Great Britain and the United States which was settled by treaty), and the Alaska boundary arbitration. Never was there such an opportunity for repairing these mistakes. It cannot be alleged that a Canadian as ambassador would be likely to take up an extravagant or dangerous position in his treatment of questions between the United States and Canada. The Canadian frontier is 3,000 miles long, and it could be defended only with difficulty. Canada is so much weaker than the United States that she will never provoke a quarrel. Her enormous and rapid expansion justifies her claim to a larger share in the conduct of the Imperial policy, and the time has arrived to take her into partnership with the Mother Country."

SHPLOFTERS HAD MADE MANY BIG HAULS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 1.—Four Spanish shoplifters were arrested yesterday by detectives and $6,000 worth of silks, furs and clothing stolen from the local department stores recovered. Within two hours of the arrest nearly $1,000 worth of this plunder had been identified by the owners. Pedro Sanchez, his wife, and their two daughters compose the quartette of prisoners. When arrested they were about to leave for Mexico.

CAN HE ESCAPE TAXES BY LIVING ON THE HARBOR?

Henry Baker, an employe on the tug Nevada, was summoned to the police court this morning by Police Sergeant Caples, having been reported for working in the city without a license and not being a ratepayer. J. King Kelly has been retained by Mr. Baker to look after his interests as he claims that being a seaman on the tug lets him clear of being assessed. The police officer maintains that when a man works or personally lives on a boat in the harbor he is just as liable as a man would be who resided on the wharf. The case was set down for Monday morning at ten o'clock when Mr. Kelly will put forth an argument which he claims will not make his client liable for assessment.

SWINDLED NAVAL OFFICERS

Polyglot Rogue also Robs Tradesmen in Name of Cornelius Vanderbilt

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A swindler speaking English, French and Spanish has been victimizing British naval officers at Portsmouth, Gravesend, Woolwich and Folkestone by methods somewhat resembling those employed by the "Volont of Koopnick fame. Appearing in the uniform of a Spanish naval officer, and other disguises, which he wears with little self-assurance, he obtained invitations to the naval messes and borrowed money from the officers.

NINETEEN LIVES WERE SACRIFICED TO SPORT

In the New England States During the Season Which Closed Yesterday.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—With the close season on moose going into effect in Maine at midnight last night statistics completed today show that two months of hunting in New England have cost 19 human lives. Of these fatalities 10 are accounted for in Maine, six in Massachusetts, three in New Hampshire, and two in Vermont. Four of the deaths occurred from exposure and one from an attack of heart disease, while in the other fourteen cases fatal shots in only one instance was self-inflicted.

SPORTING MATTERS

ATHLETIC INDOOR SPORTS.

The Marathon Club is certainly deserving of great praise for their laudable effort to increase the local interest in athletics, and it is to be hoped that the indoor sports which are to be held in St. Andrew's rink will be so successful that similar meets will be held quite frequently. Following is the list of events: Three mile race, senior; relay race, open to members of the club, four men to constitute an entry; one mile race, open only to members of the High School, Robbery or Victoria football teams; half mile race, for boys sixteen and under; potato race, for boys of fourteen and under; 40 yard dash, senior; tumbling by J. Lewis, J. Malcolm and E. P. Howard, and tug of war, four teams. For the tug of war a $10 prize is offered, and for the first prize in the three mile senior race a silver medal will be given. Suitable prizes will be given for the other events. Entries will be received by H. F. Paisley, secretary of the Marathon Club, up to and including Tuesday evening next, and must be accompanied by a deposit of 25 cents, which will be refunded to all who start.

The Bullock trophy has arrived, and will on the evening of the sports be presented to the Marathon football club, who were the victors in the senior football league.

The Moore trophy, which was won by the Victoria in the intermediate football league, will also be presented on that occasion.

HOCKEY AT CHATHAM

CHATHAM, N. B., Nov. 30.—A meeting of the Miramichi Hockey Club will be called next week to consider the hockey situation, and in particular to act upon the circular letter of the Backville Hockey Club, regarding amateurism in hockey.

The club will put a team on the ice this winter and with one or two new members, Chatham will have a strong prospect. Of last year's players there are Will Crombie, who has played in practically all the positions, and during the latter part of last season held down centre; Huntley Morrison, who is one of the fastest and cleverest forwards in the province, is available, and if necessary can fill a back position with the best of them; Jim Watson and Sig. Waiters are wings, and with Crilba In goal, and Brooks of the Y. M. C. A., and an addition from the Juniors, the team will be complete for a start.

The Whites were defeated by the Blues in the last basket ball match, 24.

THE RING

WALCOTT AND CONNOLLY DRAV.

RUMFORD FALLS, Me., Nov. 28.—Belmont Walcott of Boston and Bartley Connolly of Portland furnished the best fight tonight that was ever seen in this town. The men went ten rounds to a draw, but Walcott had a slight advantage through his aggressiveness.

The body was Walcott's chief point of attack, but he shifted enough to disconcert Connolly. In the first round he landed a terrific right smash on Connolly's jaw and the Portland man went to the floor. He got up just as the bell rang. After that Connolly presence aroused much curiosity and many wondered whether she was up to a bidder.

It was rumored today that she will be an extensive buyer at the end of the sale, her purchasers being confined mostly to naves for breeding.

William Kelly's two famous trotters, Oro, 2:05 1/2, the season's champion trotting gelding, and Norman B., 2:05 1/4, were sold for $2,400 and $2,000 respectively, to Samuel McMillan, who will drive them.

The sales today reached a total of $121,915 for 108 head, or an average of $1,035. This makes a total for the four days of $268,335. The principal sales today:

Sweet Marie, 2:02, bm, 10 years, McKimsey — Lady Rivers; George M. Webb, Philadelphia, $14,000.

DR. ANNAND TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK.

Rev. Dr. Annand, the Moderator of the Synod of the Maritime Provinces, will visit the city next week. He comes in response to an invitation from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. David's Church to address a public meeting in connection with their annual thank offering anniversary. He will speak in St. David's Church on Tuesday evening, December 4th. While in the city he will also address a mass meeting in St. Stephen's Church on Wednesday evening, and on Thursday evening in the Carleton Presbyterian Church. Arrangements have also been made by which he will speak in Chipman on Friday evening. He will speak in St. Stephen and Hilltown on Sunday the 10th. The following evening he will speak at Harvey Station, and on Tuesday evening the 13th, at Fairville Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Annand has been a missionary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada for thirty-three years. During all that time he has labored in the New Hebrides Islands, a group about 1000 miles north-west of Sydney, New South Wales. His field of labor at present is Seattle, the largest and most northerly of the "These Islands" are the field in which such men as Dr. Geddie and the martyred Gordons labored, and where John Williams was murdered. Dr. Annand is still at work there in Canada.

Dr. Annand has not been in Canada for twenty years, and it is not likely he will ever return to these shores. He leaves Seattle for his visit to St. John. He will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Melrose, 175 Waterloo street. Everyone is invited to attend all these meetings which have been arranged.

THE METRIC SYSTEM.
A report which must be regarded as of the utmost importance in the commercial and industrial life of Canada is that dealing with the metric system of weights and measures, an outline of its principles together with some notes upon its advantages over the British standard, which has just been issued under the direction of the minister of inland revenue. This report is an exhaustive one and deals with the aim and purpose of the metric system, its world-wide uniformity, its simplicity and completeness, advantages over other systems, the principles involved, and the description of its present application together with demands for its compulsory adoption in other countries. After showing the peculiar features of the British standards of weight, measurement and distance, these are compared with tables under the metric system and the advantage of the latter pointed out. The special advantage which the metric system boasts over our own measures include its ideal simplicity, clearness and accuracy, its tables based throughout upon the decimal system, its standards of length, weight, capacity and area, all drawn from a common unit. Instead of one complicated scale of measurements for drugs, another for the jeweller, and still another for ordinary domestic transactions, the metric system provides tables accurate enough for calculating the minutest proportions and yet sufficiently convenient for the commonplace use of the workshop or the household. It leaves no room for the mistakes and uncertainties that necessarily arise from the use of a single word to convey two or three different meanings. The processes of ordinary arithmetic are by it reduced to simplicity itself, the system is worked out on common sense lines that a child's mind can readily grasp and in which the exercise of a little reason can easily supply any link that memory may have let slip. By means of it the reduction of various measurements to a common unit involves nothing more difficult than the placing of a decimal point. Usually not more than two denominations are mentioned in any single measurement. The metric system will soon provide a language for the world's trade and already furnishes a recognized standard for all civilized nations excepting Great Britain and her dependencies, the United States and Russia, all of whom are contemplating its acceptance at an early date. These advantages have been absolutely proven by a century of use. The consideration that outweighs all others from a business point of view is the international character of the metric system. The steady increase of international commerce of the world must soon reach some common basis of weighing and there is not the slightest possibility of our British system or any modification of it becoming universal. The report goes into the history of the metric system showing how France led in the movement, and how other nations have followed suit until there are forty-three countries in line. English history shows that the fruitless search of governing authorities for a uniform scale of weights and measures suited to the various requirements of the people extends away back to the time of the conqueror. Ever since then there has been an advocacy of reform, and repeatedly parliament has been called to the aid of the legislature. The movement at present seems to be one which will result in something more definite and an indication of the attitude in the imperial house of commons towards this proposed reform it is pointed out that the number of members favoring the metric system has more than tripled in the last four years. In 1902, ninety-six members expressed their approval of the principle; in the year following, the question came forward in February and again in June, being supported on the earlier vote by 170 members, and in June by 268 members. In 1903 no less than 328 favored the adoption of the system. The minister of inland revenue embodies in his report opinions from important bodies in different countries showing that dissatisfaction under the old system absolutely demanded the securing of uniform standards. The metric system is simple, uniform and workable, is no untried experiment, to quote the secretary of the United States treasury, "There can be no doubt that the introduction of the metric system would greatly facilitate international commercial transactions. This government would not comment upon an untried experiment. The metric champions of the United States are doing what they can to educate opinion on the subject. Although their cause has not yet commended itself to congress, they are very far from acknowledging defeat. On the contrary they are determined to work away until the merit of their cause ultimately wins out."

THE JOY OF TOMORROW.
Why are you weeping, my little boy? Because, you bitterly cry, Somebody has broken your dearest toy, And its fragments around you lie; But you will forget your grief when they bring You another toy, by and by.
Why, young man, do you sit alone Caring for no more? Another man, you reply, has flown With the maiden whom you adore: In a year you will wear to some other girl That you never have loved before.
Why, old man, are you in despair? They have robbed you of hope, you say. Tomorrow the sky may again be fair, Though the world is so dark today. And with faith in your heart you will lift your head As only the hopeful may.

WHAT HE WAS LOOKING FOR.
"Sir—Your wife is held by us for ransom. She will be free when you deposit $10,000 under the oak tree at the top of the hill. The Black Hand."
"Dear Sir—Your favor of recent date received. I have deposited under the oak tree a life time of your wife's wardrobe. Yours truly, J. B. Henpecke."

HE KEPT IT.
A man presented himself to his professor, and, seeing the priest's silver snuff-box at his elbow, promptly put it in his pocket. He then said, "Father, I have stolen a silver snuff-box. Will you have it?"
"Of course not, you must give it to the owner."
"But he does not want it."
"Then keep it yourself."
"O, thanks so much, father."

MAY BE.
"Do you give your son good advice?" said the solicitous friend.
"Yes," answered the somewhat sarcastic person. "I give him the same good advice that my father gave me, and that my grandfather doubtless gave him. If we keep passing that advice along from generation to generation, we shall eventually find somebody who will take it."

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.
FRIENDS,
I am not cynical when I say that none of us have as many friends as we think we have.
Some people are not capable of friendship and they are no more to be blamed for it than they are for being stone deaf or color blind.
If any of you question the above statement just sit down and think how many of your acquaintances you love disinterestedly. If this one becomes poor and could not invite you to an enjoyable house party, would you hunt your friend up and make him feel that the loss of his money could make no difference in your friendship, that you loved him for himself?
If that other friend could not help you politically or socially—for he has lost political influence and social standing—would you still seek him out, and could he count on you to go with him to the last ditch?
Have you always been true to your friends? Were you silent when you heard him trampled? If you had been a true friend you would have defended him even though in doing it you made an enemy.
Have you been frank with your friend when he was doing wrong and blundering in act and speech? Or were you afraid of offending him and let him of know in grammar and pronunciation although you knew that those who were not his friends were ridiculing him?
Did your friendship depend upon proximity, did you have to be near him to think of him? When he was over the sea did you think of the sea and its wideness as you never thought of it before? When the rolling prairies and the mountains were between you were the prairies like the ocean to separate you and were the mountains like walls between you?
Has some old time you heard or sung together or some faint perfume that was associated with the old friend of yours put the new friend of have you put the new friend of not as many months in the place? "Is it off with half a life time or more and have you with every change of place?
Was your friendship strained with it? Broken with the first quarrel? Then do not talk of friendship—please—for you know in grammar and pronunciation all things," "Suffers," and is still "kind." "Your actions thunder so I cannot hear what you say," when you call yourself friend.

What a Blow
There's a great big hub-bub going on and lots of printer's ink being used in blowing about Shoes. One dealer swears his to be the best; he 'cuber his, and so with the third. They're all good. We know it, and so do you. But our Shoes for men, women and children are as good as any in the world and better than many. One thing, however, in favor of ours is that there's a certain style about them that you won't find in all shoes. It's because of their style and their easy and perfect fit that they've won their reputation. All leathers and lasts.
Then there's another point in our favor—it's our prices. Always a little lower you will notice than the other fellow's on the same grade.
We think this is THE SHOE STORE after all. Come, see what YOU think.

There's A Reason
Why we sell so many men their footwear. It's because we do it reasonably and well—better than it can be done elsewhere.
Just now we're showing a Man's Box Calf Bal. leather-lined throughout, and Goodyear Welted soles at $3.00 per pair.
Another special line is our Box Calf Blucher, leather lined and Goodyear welted soles at $3.75.
We have just opened another lot of Gosh Box Calf Bluchers and Bals, at $2.35 and $2.50 per pair. They're made of good quality calf and have extra heavy soles.
It will pay you to invest in shoe leather if you buy at Madame Surcouf and Madame Gache are two French women who are balloon enthusiasts. Recently they ascended alone, despite all the warnings.

LITTLE PRINCE OLAF THE MOST POPULAR BOY IN THE WORLD

People of Norway Fairly Worship the Lively Son of King Haakon, Who Won Their Hearts from the Beginning

CHRISTIANIA, Dec. 1.—The visit of King Haakon and his Queen and the little Prince Olaf has started a flood of stories regarding the youthful prince who may someday become the King of Norway. His overbearing spirits and the irresistible charm of his little baby ways have completely conquered the warm-hearted Norwegians.

He is of the Norwegian type, brilliantly fair with his mother's beautiful blue eyes. It is claimed for him that he is one of the best looking of all King Edward's grandchildren and the only one who has inherited Queen Alexandra's delicate coloring and finely chiseled features.

Prince Olaf's entry into Trondheim with the new monarch and his Queen was in reality a triumph. A grizzled naval officer hoisted the short-frooked toddler aloft on his shoulder, and the baby prince laughed, kicked his white-socked legs with glee, and kissed his hands to the people who raved back their delight. And the enthusiasm was redoubled when the chubby Prince flourished a Norwegian flag borrowed from a boy on the quay.

At the coronation of King Haakon Prince Olaf again distinguished himself. Becoming weary of the speeches he darted away from the royal party into a throng of small boys. They had banners which he coveted. Selecting the boy with a brighter one than the rest he struggled with him for its possession, secured it and ran back to the King crowing in the pride of his conquest.

Kink Haakon then took his enthusiastic heir in hand and held him tightly on his knees while they drove to the palace. But Prince Olaf struck to his banner, and waved it vigorously at every cheer from the people and at every shower of flowers from the balconies.

At the end of this exciting day when the King and Queen strolled on to a balcony to receive the plaudits of the people there was a deafening cry for "Olaf! Queen Maud thereupon brought the child to the front, and the King held him at arms length above his head—a bright, beaming, fair-haired little fellow. So firmly did he conquer the people that the next day the children of Christiania subscribed for a future costume for him, the subscriptions being limited to a penny each in order that all might be able to participate in the gift.

Nor is this the only present the little Prince has received. An English lady, Miss Ada Musgrove, recently made over to him the absolute ownership of her lovely island named Portin Brusa, some 20,000 square yards in size, situated in the summer resort of Gode Sound. The island is a little fairy realm with beautiful woods and summer houses, and miniature mountains and valleys.

After the pretty coronation incidents of Prince Olaf relate there was such a run of photographs that the demand exceeded even the demand for the picture of the new King and Queen. And later when the royal family had settled down in residence the popular Prince had to undergo a daily mobbing by admiring ladies during "his constitutional" in the park.

Indeed, so promising became the attentions of the on-lookers that the King was forced greatly against his will to order part of the park to be closed. And even now the Prince has to be protected on his way to and from the park by an imposing bodyguard of four policemen and two soldiers of the guard.

On the occasion a small English child dodged the bodyguard and popped his head under the cover of the pgramulator. "Are you the Crown Prince?" he inquired. "Yeth, I'm the Crown Prince," replied Olaf, whereupon it is reported the two plunged into an animated conversation which the guards did not even attempt to interrupt.

Already the Prince is being initiated into the mysteries of state ceremonial. At one of King Haakon's courts he ran about the room insisting upon shaking hands with everybody in imitation of his father and mother; and when the King and the Queen bowed to their visitors before leaving the apartment he stood very straight and gave a military salute.

"King Haakon is naturally delighted at the popularity of Prince Olaf," I declare," his Majesty is quoted as saying, "that I should never have believed that a child of three could so thoroughly guard the hearts of the people. I often say to the Queen, 'How these Norwegians love the best part of our government which is our child.'"

RENEWED ACTIVITY AMONG THE PIRATES INFESTING THE COAST OF CHINA

Several Vessels Including a Guardship Seized and Destroyed—China's Great Progress During the Past Few Years

PEKING, Dec. 1.—According to advices received here from Hong-Kong and vicinity the troubles with pirates are only just beginning.

One story has it that a series of raids commenced when ten men who appeared to be harmless laborers boarded the British launch Finnam just below Wuchow. They had been on board only a little time when they suddenly produced revolvers, and with the revolvers covered the passengers and the crew.

Two of the pirates systematically searched and bound the passengers while their eight comrades held all in terror with their weapons. Next the crew were overpowered, robbed and plied, and the pirates took charge of the vessel.

Their captain took the rudder and deliberately collided while going at high speed with a larger Chinese launch, the Chanfook. The robbers were quickly wrecked the machinery, and the vessel was left adrift.

These exploits, however, were thrown completely in the shade by the audacity of the next step. Steaming up in the dark with no lights showing the pirate launch attacked a commissioner's armed launch, on board of which was a guard of eight soldiers watching a valuable cargo. There was a sudden noise as the Chanfook, with her engines stopped, glided up to the other vessel and rapped along her side. A sharp fusillade and an attempt to rush the guards followed. But the latter were on the alert and better armed. They fired hastily at the looming figures and the rush of the pirates stultified. They fought hand to hand in the dark for a few minutes. Then the pirate leader called the men back to the Chanfook, the engines started, and the vessel was quickly lost in the darkness. Several had been wounded on both sides in the use of knives and revolvers.

Still unslated the pirate leader cruised about searching for new victims. At four o'clock in the morning he found the launch Salyik. The same plan of campaign was adopted, and met with the customary success. The Chanfook was steered right into the unsuspecting vessel, the pirates leaped on board, and the crew and passengers were robbed. This time the robbers did not transfer their captives, the Chanfook apparently being the better vessel.

When dawn came the pirate ran their vessel on the beach near Fong-shan and made off unharmed. Their night's work had brought them at least $5,000. Some of them were wounded, and this may make capture and identification possible. Two of the pirates' launches are badly damaged.

The Chinese predict many more outrages of this kind before the advent of the Chinese New Year.

The legation quarters in Peking are being transformed. The Boxer uprising left scars everywhere. On the outer wall one sees whole strips of the parapets swept away. The stones were combed away by the soldiers of one of the powers during their occupation of the city. The famous astronomical instruments on the wall disappeared when the foreign troops stripped for white soldiers the ornamentation of the museums of Berlin. Some, however, which were taken away by the French have been restored by the French government and are now being put in their places again.

After the great siege of Peking the emperor got to worship are today striped, for white soldiers live in them. Even the famous Lama Temple is now open.

The splendid white marble palaces across the altar of heaven where the emperor goes to worship are today striped, for white soldiers live in them. Even the famous Lama Temple is now open.

France and Germany has a real fortress with moated sides and sloping walls and abundant artillery. Italy rivals the United States. America can boast the ugliest and most unsuitable legation while England has the most artistic. England is the most artistic and wisely with the beautiful Chinese palace which has so long served that country as a legation headquarters. Even some of the missionaries have caught the fever of display. The great Catholic cathedral erected as reparation by the Chinese is a gift to every loyal Manchu. One American missionary society has even bulled for itself a hospital and homes which rival the legations.

The Marconi mast showing above the Italian legation, the many soldiers of many nations in the streets, the heavily guarded gateways of the ministerial quarters all tell their tale of uncertain outlook. The west is in Peking by surprise and evidently knows it even at this late date. A very little, a short spell of famine, the rise of a real leader for the anti-Manchu party, the uncertainty following the death of a personality like the Dowager Empress, or something yet unexpected, may again bring to the front the anti-foreign movement. And then would come into play the Marconi towers and an appeal to the nations for more troops.

The schools that one sees in the main streets, the movements of the newsmen, the publication of the reform journals, and even the rise of European trained officials into favor—all these things would be swept away in the twinkling of an eye in case such an outbreak should come.

The sights of the Forbidden City, the home of the Dowager Empress and the Emperor may well make one pause. The fine wall facing the British legation—only yesterday as it were the centre of the hottest fighting—the beautiful pagodas on the rising mound striking as that revealed during the past two or three months on the imperial buildings make a picture of impressive beauty. Behind these walls rests the yellow roof of the imperial palaces. Kwang Su, Emperor of China, the man who tried to hustle the east, and the man who has spent on the future history of China still one man. Today he remains practically a prisoner, held in bondage by the strong and dominating Dowager Empress. But when she dies it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that Kwang Su may become one of the greatest forces of modern times. That he has character is well known, but his little fear of detection, instances has been shown, have proved too strong for him over and over again.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—This is the first picture taken of Sir William Freloar in his official robes as Lord Mayor of London. Sir Freloar has been spoken of in this city for many years as the children's afterman, and every one who knows him expects him to make the best Lord Mayor London ever had.

MILLIONS IN GOLD STOLEN FROM KALGOORLIE MINES

Investigation Reveals the Fact that for Fifty Years Wholesale Stealing Has Been Carried On—Some of the Laborers are Millionaires

MELBOURNE, Dec. 1.—The history of gold towns with instances of colossal frauds which have defied detection for years. Even the annals of mining, however, can boast of few instances so striking as that revealed during the past two or three months on the Kalgoorlie field in Western Australia. A special commission was appointed in July to inquire into the alleged frauds. It has just finished its sittings. The evidence points to defalcations amounting to no less than $1,500,000 or $2,500,000 per annum. Moreover, it is clear that the system of fraud is not of recent invention; it has been in progress for many years. There is indeed reason to believe that the speculations were even larger in the old days than they are now. The Kalgoorlie quartz was then far richer. There was little supervision, and a man could take his creditably home full of rich specimens with little fear of detection. Instances are even known of miners taking $200 and $200 per week out of the mines right along. In those times it was a common thing for a miner to spend Sunday over his own private "dolly," separating the gold from the stolen quartz. It has now been proved that similar frauds have been going on until the present time. At the last sitting of the commission, Thomas Maughan, secretary of the Chamber of Mines, in Kalgoorlie, estimated that 100,000 ounces of gold were stolen annually. Seeing that gold is worth nearly twenty dollars per ounce some idea of the amount stolen can be arrived at.

For a long time there have been rumors that the returns from the Kalgoorlie field were not above reproach. But the legislative assembly of the West Australian public in July last, when the police reports were brought before the legislative assembly of the colony. These had been called for in consequence of the allegations of Mr. Scoblebury, a well known mining journalist after an investigation of more than usual scope. At first the statements of the editor that at least $5,000,000 had been stolen from this district every year appeared too monstrous to be believed. Directly the police reports were examined, however, it became clear that frauds of a most serious description were being perpetrated, even if they did not reach the sensational limit suggested by Mr. Scoblebury. The general method adopted has been as follows: As a rule the leading spirit calls himself an assayer and carries on the business of gold treatment works. He has a runner who calls at various mining camps and collects amalgam and ore. This is alleged that it comes from lease in which he is interested. The assayer, of course, keeps the greater part of the profit, the actual ore thief securing a merely fractional return from his partner in crime. Usually the actual thief is not the miner, but somebody employed upon the treatment plant at the mine. There are, however, cases in which this is not so. Instances have been discovered in which the stolen ore has been sent up to the surface in trucks laden with refuse. After being tipped over a scarp heap it was picked up by a confederate who had received a warning to be on the look-out. Profits can be more quickly made by a thief engaged in the treating rooms of the mine.

ROUMANIAN NOBLE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Tried to Shoot Himself With a Toy Pistol—Says He Really Wanted to Die.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—It has just leaked out that Prince George Ghika, a young son of the Roumanian Ambassador in Paris, tried to commit suicide in the Luxembourg Gardens the other day. At dusk he chose a quiet corner of the grounds and shot himself with a tiny revolver. He fainted and was taken to the nearest police station. At the request of the Roumanian diplomat, however, the police suppressed all information regarding the affair. When he regained consciousness he said: "I wish you had left me alone. I wanted to die, and I am afraid that I will not have the courage to try again."

It is supposed that he had been quarreled in love, though when he was asked the cause of his act he declared he would never disclose it.

SLAIN BY DAUGHTER TO SAVE EXPENSE

Old Man Was Borden to Her and She Brutally Strangled Him.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—A crime has been committed near Rambouillet which in its tragic horror and simplicity of evil motives needs the pen of a Zola to describe.

An old man of 76, named Bellanger, was murdered on Thursday by his own daughter because she was tired of keeping him.

Bellanger was a wheelwright. His murderers is the youngest and was the favorite of his seven children, all of whom are earning their own living in different parts of the country. This daughter, Eugenie, married a man named Faudoire a few years ago, and old Bellanger took his son-in-law into partnership and lived with the young couple.

The family was comfortably off, trade was good and the old man had a little income of $60 a year. But as he grew old his sight got weaker, and about a year ago he gave up work, considering that his daughter, who had always lived with him, might well support him for the last few years of his life. She thought otherwise, and the poor old man was grudgingly every spoonful of food, lived in an outhouse and was told by his daughter daily that she wished he were dead.

Finally she ordered him to leave the house on Thursday. At 6 o'clock on Thursday morning, while the old man was still asleep, the young one went to see the mayor, told him that his wife had made up her mind to turn her father out of doors, and asked for his assistance.

The mayor promised to give old Bellanger some easy work in his garden and a room to live in, and accompanied Faudoire home to tell his wife the news. Then she went to her father. On the road the two men met Eugenie Faudoire, who told them that old Bellanger had hanged himself.

All three went into the outhouse together and found Bellanger lying on the ground dead. His face was purple and round his neck was a broken rope.

Eugenie Faudoire pointed to a screw in the beam on the ceiling and said: "He hanged himself from that, and the rope must have broken." The mayor, not believing that the young one was a man who found that old Bellanger had first been strangled with a mallet or a hammer, then strangled. There were signs of a struggle in the room, there was a wound on the back of the old man's head and round his neck were the marks of fingers.

Eugenie Faudoire had evidently at first backed her father from behind, stunned him, and then strangled him. She had then hung the body from the beam, and the rope had broken.

GERMAN CHANCELLORS MUST BE QUALIFIED

The Emperor, to Subject His Advisors to an Oratorical Test.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—It is reported that the Kaiser contemplates establishing what will practically become a "School for Chancellors." In other words he will practically put his ministers through a debating contest during the approaching session of the Reichstag. All will be given a chance to defend the Government from the Reichstag tribune. The one who does it the most skillfully is likely to be the Emperor's favorite candidate to succeed Prince von Bismarck.

CZARINA OF RUSSIA AND HER STURDY LITTLE SON

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—The latest photo of the Czarina with her baby son and heir. The Czar is exceedingly pleased with this portrait, which shows that his son is both good looking and sturdy, effectually setting at rest all rumors as to the coming ruler of Russia being a weakling, mentally and physically.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE AND WIFE ON A HUNTING TRIP

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—This unique engagement was taken recently during the vacation which the Crown Prince of Germany took before embarking on his term as a civil official. Both the Crown Prince and his wife are excellent marks of sport, and in the Bavarian Mountains, where this snapshot was taken, they enjoyed themselves immensely, hunting together and killing a goodly number of deer.

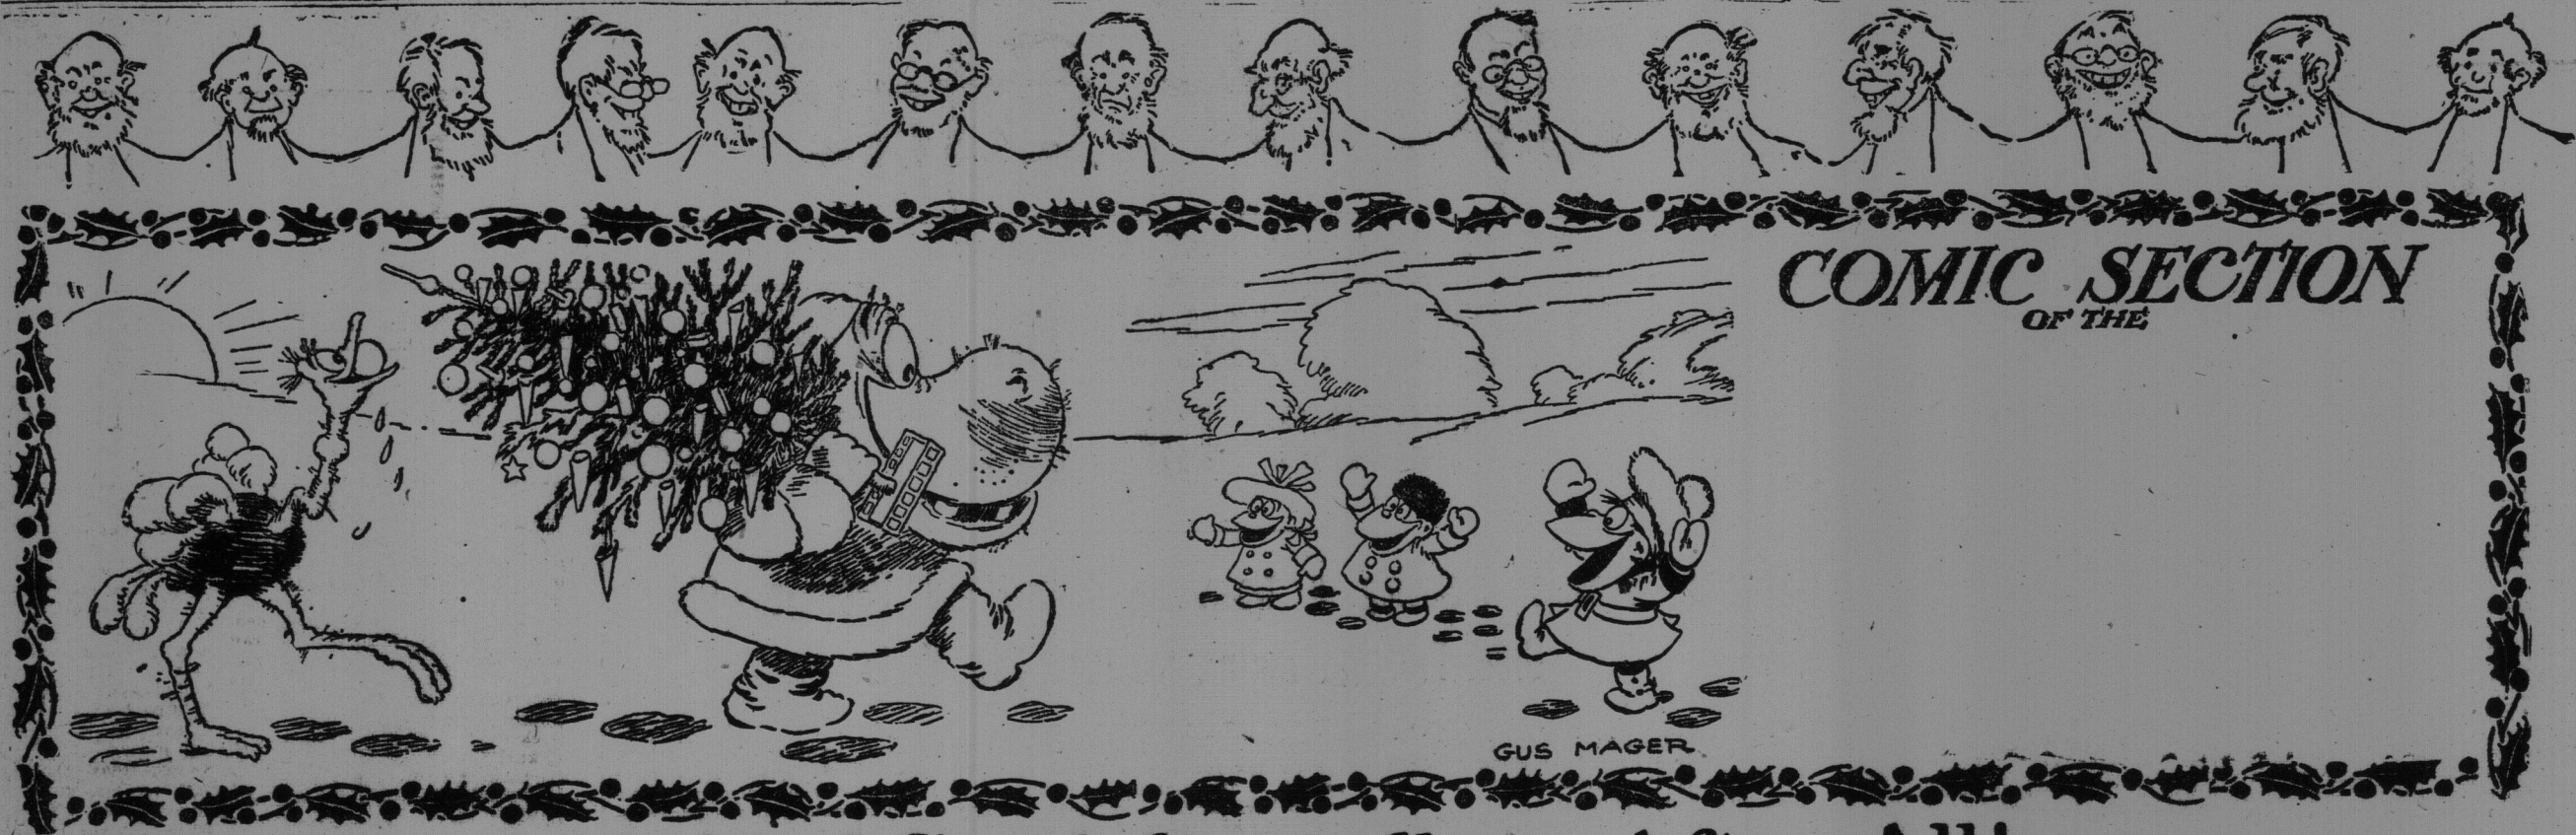

RUSSIA UNDERTAKING AN ARCTIC EXPEDITION

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 1.—The marine ministry is considering the desirability of organizing an expedition for the discovery of a sea route through the Arctic Ocean to the Behring Straits.

THE ST. JOHN STAK

An Adaptation of the Separate Blouse

FOR several seasons the downy French lace or can be of the crepe or chiffon, with appliques of hand-embroidered flowers on it, either in white or in soft pastel shades. The straps and small stiff bows holding down the ruffles are of velvet to match the skirt.

A striking blouse to be worn with a suede cloth jacket suit in the new Russian violet shade is the middle one, in rather heavy net dyed the exact tone of the cloth. It is trimmed with a shallow yoke of tuck muslin, outlined with passementerie, which is continued in a pleasing design down the front of the blouse.

Very stylish, indeed, is the last blouse, of ecru lace and the new shade of brown cloth, which forms a very artistic color scheme. The lace is so arranged that it peeps out between slashes of the cloth both on waist and sleeves in a most bewitchingly useful and decorative way.

All these waists have the deep Empire girdles, high in back and rounding in front. They either match the skirt or else are made of the velvet or cloth with which the blouse is trimmed. They all fasten in the back with buckles or ornaments.

Even where the lace or net blouses are not made to match a special costume, most of them show a touch of color in them in the way of velvet bows or folds put on in odd designs—not so much as to be garish, but just enough to give an indescribably Frenchy look.

The ecru lace waists, in both white and cream, will, of course, be worn; so will the lingerie ones, by the way. They are too convenient to be discarded, but they are certainly outdistanced in popularity by the new ones to match the suits.

It is comparatively easy, however, for the clever woman to transform a separate lace waist into part of a costume by having adjustable trimmings that may be added when a dark gown is worn.

In this way the blouse can also be utilized to wear as a house dress with a white or ecru voile skirt.

One of the prettiest of the all-white waists is of an all-over German valencienne lace in rather a deep cream, embroidered with heavily padded coin and pin dots. Such a blouse worn with a white skirt is extremely useful for an evening at home or to assist at an informal little tea.

For, after all, nothing is more becoming to young and old alike than an entirely white dress. One of this character has the merit of being comparatively uncrushable; it can be packed without the "irreversible damage" in such case, and even may be washed in a tub, provided the skirt is of some material that stands water, as cashmere or mohair.

PLUMAGE FOR HATS

YOU may trim your hat with almost anything under the sun in the shape of feathers and still be in fashion, but if you want to be distinctly up to date you will aim at long, sweeping effects. These may be attained with ostrich plumes, with ostrich plumes, with birds of paradise, with coque feathers, with egrettes and even with wings.

Never have ostrich feathers been worn more than now. The bedraggled, uncured plume that threatened us a little earlier in the season is waning in popularity. If you buy an ostrich plume now you will buy it curled, and you will also choose it in a plain color, as the shaded effects are ceasing to please.

A long ostrich plume of good quality in black or white is a good investment for any woman. Her hat adorned with it this winter is sure to be in good style, and these plumes will admit of almost endless re-tying and curling. Beautiful plumes come in all the standard colors—brown, navy blue, green and gray. There is a fascinating shade known by the milliners as "taupe," which is somewhere between a castor and a gray, and harmonizes beautifully with the London smoke gown.

Two new colors in hat plumage that are finding great favor in feminine eyes are the Bordeaux, which is a pretty shade of garnet, and an exquisite pale blue, which is called "ciel." An entire hat is sometimes built of one of these colors, but with the woman whose tastes are conventional a black hat with a touch of either meets with greater favor.

Iridescent breasts, wings and bird heads are very much liked for many hats. Indeed, this seems to be a season when the sombre in millinery finds little place. Flowers, especially roses, are combined constantly with feathers. One very stunning black velvet hat was Coque plumes increase in popularity as the season advances. They are pretty, chic, durable and not overly expensive. They come in every possible color—sometimes in a combination of colors. What is known as the bronze or natural tint is new this year and very much liked.

Quills still hold their own for the simple hats, and no wonder! There is a well-deserved popularity. The turkey contributes many a quill to the milliner's store, and his contributions are dyed almost any color.

Breasts have an important place in present-day millinery. Entire toques are made of them, or the toque has a velvet crown in a harmonizing color and the breasts are built all around this. Pleasant breasts are charming when used this way, and what woman does not know the joy of possessing a chic little feather toque?

She who heeds not the pleading of the Audubon Society will have a whole bird upon her hat. One woman has been reported as wearing a small rooster there, but it is safe to surmise that she will not have many followers.

Guerita is a new egrette feather that is among the season's showings. It has soft, needle-like vanes ending in a close feather tip, is frequently seen in black and can be spangled with crystal drops.

All-black hats draped in black ostrich plumes are much liked. All-white hats will never lose their popularity with some women for special occasions, and the combination of a black hat with white wings, flaring high at one side, will meet with the approval of her who likes that touch of black and white.

The Girdle a Factor in Empire Effects

THE much discussed Empire effect is accepted in this country with more than "a grain of salt." We have been trying so hard, especially the women of "embonpoint," to get a long waist that it is somewhat disconcerting to be suddenly compelled to shift one's waist under the auster blases.

Fortunately, even Dame Fashion has to bow occasionally to common sense, and while few of us would really be daring enough to ignore her dictates, feminine opinion this side of the water has enough "pull" with the arbitrary dame to compel modifications of her rules.

Thus the Empire lines are somewhat refused to dress strictly "a la Josephine"—of extravagant taste and widely devotum.

The chief factor in gaining this Empire effect is the new girdle. This is on rather novel lines—always rounded in front and sloping from six inches in the back to three and a half inches in front.

These girdles, whether separate or in shades matching the gown, are made with the material cut on the bias, in order that they fall in softer and more pliant folds. They are heavily boned underneath on each side of the back, at the sides and front.

The fastening is always at the back, and very dainty and ornamental they are with their tiny buckles in queer designs and a darning, rather small bow at the top.

The girdle illustrated is to be worn with a separate blouse, and is of white satin, ornamented with three oblong gilt buckles and a stiff little bow of the satin.

Paste buttons in different sizes and of rather gay designs are also much used on these girdles, which, by the way, make charming Christmas presents. No woman can have too many of them.

As a rule, when one is making a girdle for a gift it is safer to have them either of white or black, as they prove more generally useful. A pale blue or pink, however, looks lovely with the lace waists now so popular.

Little Points in the French Woman's Dress

ALTHOUGH the "Salon d'Auteurs" does not offer much of an opportunity for the study of high art, it is, nevertheless, very useful. For fashion has decreed that this is the "chic" place to make your new fall clothes. So every afternoon, just before tea time, the gay world assembles in the great salons of the Grand Palais to laugh over the funny impressionist puzzles, which, fortunately, no one seems to take seriously.

Among those nice little points of dress that to the well-dressed French woman are even more important than her hat and gown, first to be noticed is the change in glove fashions. White gloves are much less worn. And, strangely enough, they are seen more and more in severe, long-sleeved tailor suit than with any other.

When mousquetaire gloves accompany an shorter sleeved costume they are oftenest light tan or chamois shade, and frequently they are black. The latter is a most extravagant fashion, for everybody knows how soon a black glove loses its pristine freshness, and then it is useless to the woman who knows what an ill effect it gives to her whole costume.

Shoes continue in the long, square-toed shape. For afternoon wear those with black patent leather, vamps and pale gray suede tops are best liked. Though there are many high-heeled dark brown kid, with lighter brown suede tops. The effect in either case is that of an overgaiter, but without the clumsy thickness of the latter.

When there are brown shoes there are apt to be tan gloves and a leather-brown feather boa—the latest shade for this indispensable accessory of the well-dressed Parisienne's toilet.

Brown veils have grown even more popular. They have small velvet dots sprinkled generously over the fine golden brown mesh, or that of more extravagant creamy white. The latter is invariably indescribably becoming.

In the category of becomingness might be mentioned the present neck "things." Those very high linen collars, so dear to a French woman's heart, have been rendered much less tripping, and, accordingly, more numerous, by the present way of making. Though they are just as stiff, they are, apparently, much less so because of the hand-embroidery which covers the single thickness of linen forming the outer turnover. Then, the handkerchief linen jabots, edged with baby Irish lace, which are now worn as neckties, make the whole arrangement handworked and very lovely.

In colored gowns it is the same. There is always the transparent yoke of fine lace, baby Irish or point d'Isleone preferably. This, indeed stretching over the throat like the skin itself, is the most becoming thing we have had in many a day.

Cut steel buttons always hold their own, especially this year, when combined with any enamel or gold. Particularly effective was one with a rim of cut steel around solid white enamel, with steel studs and an open filigree centre.

TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS

BLACK passementerie are in great favor for jackets, cloth gowns and evening coats. The newest styles have much heavier braids than last year, of more open and larger designs, generally one-sided, and a distinct right and left.

This black silk passementerie is in great favor for jackets, cloth gowns and evening coats. The newest styles have much heavier braids than last year, of more open and larger designs, generally one-sided, and a distinct right and left.

The soutache braid is often combined with cloth, taffeta, or both, in the most ornate designs, and the ornaments being large, but two or three are used. Extremely effective and absolutely new is a network of silk and jet and with little woven braid edges, beneath a heavy silk braid dotted with buttons and edged with pendant petals of taffeta.

Then there are buttons like great pearl and diamond brooches, set in gold; stripe and heraldic designs on deep-colored backgrounds, surrounded with rhinestones; silver and rhinestones in Greek crosses; tourmaline and Montana sapphire and rhinestones; very tiny rhinestone clusters about as big as the head of a large white pin, which are used by the many dozens; in fact, rhinestones in every conceivable shape and variety.

The heavy pearl trimming always more or less used on wedding gowns is seen in a pleasing variation this season upon a latticed background and fringe of chenille, with bow-knots and dangles of crystal beads and pearls.

Small buttons, about as large as the end of a pencil, of colored enamel, studded with steel, are used in clusters on waist and skirt.

NEW THINGS IN PLAIDS

IF YOU are in doubt as to what to get in the way of a woolen separate waist, make it a plaid.

The plaids come in every possible color and design, but those of moderate size seem to have the preference. Checks are used a little, but the small "invisible" plaids are gaining hold all the time.

Plaids come in light-weight serge, in the different qualities of wash flannel, in the poplin weave and (one of the prettiest of all, by the way) in a woolen background overlaid with silk.

Should you not care for a plaid waist, there are challis and cashmeres in the plain colors. Warm tints, such as the different shades of garnet, are pretty and suggestive of fall, but there are light colors for the women who prefer them. Pink and blue are popular, and the pale gray poplins or challis are lovely.

One of the newest things in waists is a wash flannel in challis weight. This comes in delicate backgrounds embroidered to give a pompadour effect. It washes beautifully, and is urged as a rival of the ever-popular white wash blouse.

Wash flannels come in more pretty designs than ever before. There is one in a cream ground, with a tiny black stripe, which is sprinkled with dots in pale blue. Another has a cream ground with black dots. Still another is in an attractive black and white plaid.

The gray wash flannels in the different plaid designs are exceptionally pretty. A waist of this soft plaid is very pretty when lighted with the new gayly colored neck arrangements and belts.

COMMERCIAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—It was semi-officially announced on the street today that a big rubber deal has been put through that will mark another long step in the almost sensational progress being made by the Canadian rubber industry. It is understood that the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited, has been created with capital in the vicinity of $5,000,000 and a bond issue of $2,000,000. This company will control the Canadian Rubber Co., Montreal; Granby Rubber Co. of Granby, Quebec; and Maple Leaf Rubber Co., Port Dalhousie, Ont. Robert Walker, the young man who shot Detective Lehoucq three times with a revolver on the evening of September 20 in the Starke Hardware Company's warehouse, St. Peter street, and might have dispatched the detective altogether had not Detective O'Keefe knocked him senseless with an axe handle, was today sentenced by Judge Lavigne in the court of Kings Bench to twenty years in the penitentiary. Walker had pleaded guilty to the charge of attempted burglary, for which offense he was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary to run concurrently with the other sentence.

JAMES NOLAN A MUCH MARRIED MAN

An Interesting Story of a Case With the Scenes Laid in Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton—Suit is Being Brought by One of the Wives

(Charlottetown Patriot.) Yesterday, Commissioner McEwen, house in St. Peter's. To make the case further complicated, Phoebe McAdam had heard shortly after Nolan's disappearance that he was drowned, and laid in Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton. The facts are as follows:—About the year 1882, when their guide appeared an Indian woman, from Bathurst, N. B., looking for Mr. Nolan. At that time he was shingling the roof of a house with another man when the woman approached the building in true Indian fashion, skulking behind a tree so that she could not be seen from her point of view, and asked the man with him if he was there. Nolan, who instructed him to reply in the negative, rapidly descended from the roof, disappeared from West St. Peter's and moved to Crapaud, where he lived under the name of James Strang, deserting his first wife, Phoebe McAdam. He next went to St. Peter's, Cape Breton, where he married again. Desiring a change he deserted wife number two (now deceased) and fled to Sydney, where he engaged in the liquor business, and where he married wife number three. In Sydney he accumulated considerable property and number of lots of land in and around Sydney. According to Nova Scotia law his wife is entitled to dower rights of one-third of the profits on all these lands. In his will he recognized the children of all three marriages. His wife number one, learning of his death came to Cape Breton, to recover her rights, brought an action against wife number three, for her share of the property, and won the case, on appeal to the supreme court of Nova Scotia. She then sought to recover her rights of all the land Nolan had owned, during his life-time, these lands passing through different hands. In two cases they were owned by loan companies who had advanced money on mortgages. The present case on which evidence is being taken on the Island, was for dower on land bought by John R. Larkins, formerly a resident of Richmond, Prince Edward Island. Larkins pleaded in his defence that none of the three wives named were legally married to Nolan, because previous to his landing in Prince Edward Island, he had been married to an Indian woman at Bathurst, N. B., the same woman that came to look for him when he was engaged in shingling the roof of the Brigatton as to whether Nolan's property, having married when he was alive, but the court decided that her marriage with McEwen did not affect her right. Nolan had altogether six children, by the three wives, a number of whom are now married. At Sydney, he went under the name of James McAdam. This case has attracted considerable attention in Cape Breton, having come up at different times under different judges. Mrs. McEwen first learned that Nolan was living, through a letter that had been sent to St. Peter's inquiring her whereabouts. There are at present five cases pending, brought by the McAdam woman against the last wife against Larkins, against the Yarmouth Loan Company, against a Mr. McKinnon and against the Canada Loan Co. It is said that Larkins acted considerate search in northern New Brunswick located a marriage certificate, showing that Nolan was married to this Indian woman (now deceased) at Bathurst in 1869. Mr. Findlay McDonald, barrister, at Sydney, is conducting the case on behalf of Phoebe McAdam. The next commission for taking evidence will meet at Bathurst, N. B. It is said that Nolan, alias Strong, alias McAdam was anything but good-looking, but nevertheless he succeeded in winning attractive women.

Band and races is tonight's programme at St. Andrew's Rollaway. The races will be the best held in the rink since it was opened and not since the days of Skinner and Saunders, have two such fast men met as Viggo and Polle. How fast Polle can skate everybody knows who has seen him. Viggo is fast as his recent and former defeats of Polle prove. He has beaten Viggo and other good men. This race alone is worth the price, but for good measure Billy Merritt will skate three miles against time, paced by Wilson, Alward, Nixon and some of the other fast ones. The races will not be started until 10.15, owing to numerous requests from those who are unable to get away from work before that time.

BUSINESS MEN DISCUSS TARIFF
Generally Satisfied With Majority of Changes
President of Toronto Board of Trade
Pleased With Its Provisions—
Can. Man. Assn. not Pleased

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Toronto business men interviewed today, expressed general satisfaction with the new tariff. There were some protests, but these were expected, as the most any tariff can do is to provide the greatest good for the greatest number. Members of the various representative bodies who waited upon the commission seem to be pleased with the result of their efforts. F. H. Howland, president of the Board of Trade, thought the government was right in refusing protection duty on tin plates. "Compliance with the request might have enabled the establishment of an industry, but it would have raised the price of finished goods of this kind to a very high figure. My own feeling about the tariff is that we ought not to get raw material where we can get it cheapest. I never felt the country was getting any benefit from tin plates and steel industries in the east which warranted large expenditure. Our turn will come to produce these things after our market gets larger. We should rather encourage the finished product, with work spread over a large number of smaller factories. I have never been in sympathy with the bonusing of industries of any kind."

STRIKERS WILL BE TAKEN BACK
But Some of Them May be Dismissed
Again by Hamilton Street
Railway Company

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 30.—The Ontario railway board, which met this morning, announced at the outset that all the men who went on strike were to return to work at once. J. M. Gibson objected. He said the question of what strikers the company must take back should be one of the matters that should be tried by the board. The order was only that they be taken back. Colonel Gibson said there were strikers the company would not retain in their employ, and it would certainly exercise its right to dismiss at once. President Mahon said that if that was the stand the company intended to take it was useless to proceed with the arbitration. The Hamilton street railway union men late this afternoon ordered the Ontario railway board to report for duty tomorrow morning.

ANNUAL DINNER OF TRURO CURLING CLUB

TRURO, N. S., Nov. 30.—The annual dinner of the Truro Curling Club was held tonight in the dining room of the Leamington Hotel. The dinner was exceptionally gratified the tastes of many well used to functions of this kind. There was a small guest list and the club members, led by president F. Dexter turned out to the number of sixty-five out of a total membership of seventy-five. The toast list was short numbering six. "The Truro Curling Club shows a very keen interest in the games scheduled to be played this winter, the Seniors and Juniors hoping to keep up their past record."

ALLAN LINER TUNISIAN ARRIVES AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, Dec. 1.—Allan Liner Tunisian, Captain Brice, with mails and passengers docked at ten o'clock. The steamer left Liverpool Nov. 23 and had a fair passage. She brought 17 cabin, 54 second cabin and 49 steerage passengers. The royal mail special with the mails and first class passengers left here at three o'clock this morning. The steamer had 600 tons of cargo to land here.

FREDERICTON ST. ANDREWS SOCIETY CELEBRATE

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 30.—St. Andrew's Society of this city honored their patron saint by the grand Scottish concert at the Opera House this evening. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental solos, choruses, etc. was carried out in the presence of a large audience. Among those who took part were Piper Roy Willet, Walter Nixon and C. D. Holder of St. John, and all came in for a very flattering reception. The Scottish element of this community was strongly represented in the audience.

D.A.R. SECTIONMEN WANT MORE PAY

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 30.—The section foremen employed along the line of the Dominion Atlantic railway between Windsor, N. S., and Yarmouth, N. S., have made a demand on the management for an increase in their wages, and unless their request is granted they threaten to go on strike tomorrow and tie up traffic on that section of the road. The men claim to be thoroughly organized with headquarters at Windsor. Over 100 will go out. They demand an increase of 25 cents per day all round. The management has thus far refused to grant the men's demand.

NOVA SCOTIA MAN HAS BEEN DROWNED

GLoucester, Mass., Nov. 30.—Seaman Howard McEwan, of the Gloucester fishing schooner Lizzie M. Stanley, which arrived here today was washed overboard by a heavy sea off Chatham yesterday and drowned. The body was not recovered. His home was in Liscomb, N. S. where it is understood he leaves a widow and one child. CARNALL, CLARK. In the Catholic Church at Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, Boston, Wednesday evening, the wedding took place of Walter H. Carnall, of the firm of J. H. Carnall & Sons, German street, and Mrs. Sarah Clark. Rev. Father Hunt officiated. Mr. and Miss Beauzert were best man and bridesmaid respectively. After the wedding a reception was held at the residence of the bride's sister. Mr. and Mrs. Carnall arrived home on the steamer Governor Cobb yesterday morning and have taken up their residence at the corner of City Road and Wall street.

BUDGET DEBATE OROED; OPPOSITION LITTLE TO SAY
Great Surprise Caused by Shortness of the Discussion
—Both Sides Expected Debate to Last Until Holidays
—Foster and Cockshutt Were the Only Opposition
Members Who Spoke.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—The budget debate flickered throughout the afternoon and went out suddenly at six o'clock tonight. It had been expected that such an important and far reaching instrument as a new tariff would furnish the opposition with material for many speeches. The debate was expected to last until the holidays. Many supporters of the government were prepared with speeches which are destined to expire still born. Only two members of the opposition have criticised the budget and tariff, Hon. Geo. E. Foster and Mr. Cockshutt of Brandon. Mr. Cockshutt of Brandon followed. He did not think the new one was. It complexity would embarrass importers. It was like four fences about a pasture. The tariff introduced in 1875 by Sir Leonard Tilley was the best Canada ever had. He wanted adequate protection—that is protection which would give Canadian manufacturers the home markets. The government had failed to close preferential arrangements with Australia, and was therefore open to criticism. The sugar provisions in the tariff would result in higher duties in reduced sugar than ever before. He criticised the reduction of duties on agricultural implements. Speaking for five hundred millions capital and five hundred thousand Canadian workmen, he denounced the new tariff for not giving enough protection. Mr. Cockshutt finished at 6 o'clock. Hon. Logan of Cumberland, one of the Liberal whips, said that as there seemed to be a disposition to close the debate instead of delivering a speech, he had intended to during the budget debate, he would give notice of a resolution declaring that to obtain the British preference, goods had to arrive by way of a Canadian sea port. He proposed to speak on that resolution in the House on Tuesday. Mr. Fielding's resolution was then adopted and the budget debate was closed.

FATHER SUES FOR DEATH OF SON

A case which will come up shortly for trial is that of Bovard against the Kennebecasis Steamship Co., owners of the river boat Hampton. The action is brought by John Bovard, administrator of the estate of the late George Bovard, his son. Deceased was one of the hands on the steamer and suffered fatal injuries on June 4th last, dying a few days afterwards. The action is brought under Lord Campbell's Act on the ground that the young man, who was about twenty-five years of age and unmarried, helped to support his father. At the time of the accident Bovard was steerman for the Hampton, and was standing at the stern of the steamer, leaning against the paddle wheel. The steamer was unprepared for the coming of the tug, and as the wheel turned he lost his balance and was forced through the narrow space between the wheel and the cross stick. Then reaching the water he was struck with much force by the stern of the tug. The plaintiff claims that the deceased died of his injuries, while the company says their liability on the ground that he had no business where he was at the time. W. H. Trueman, for the plaintiff and A. J. Trueman, K. C., for the defendant.

A BANGOR MAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 30.—James Babb, aged 32 years, committed suicide at the home of his son, George S. Babb, in Oldtown on Wednesday in a fit of despondency. When Mr. and Mrs. George Babb with their three children, were out for some time, returned home this noon, they found their father hanging from a beam in the shed. Many years ago, when the driving of cattle from this state to the freight market was a thriving industry, Mr. Babb was known throughout this part of the country as one of the most prominent drovers and cattle dealers.

RECENT DEATHS.

SACKVILLE, Nov. 30.—The death of Annie, only daughter of Mrs. Henry Eatbrouks of Mount View, occurred Tuesday. Deceased was twenty years old. Death was due to the sudden shock she received at the sudden death of her father a few weeks ago. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. Funeral services were held on Wednesday. Rev. J. L. Dawson conducted the service. Interment at Upper Sackville cemetery.

MRS. HUNTER'S STORY

SAYS SHE AND HER HUSBAND AGREE TO ACCEPT BOTH QUITE WELL AGAIN. Mrs. I. Hunter, of 111 Reginald Road, Kingston, Ont., has written a public notice a statement of her case as follows: "I have suffered with kidney and liver trouble and chronic constipation for some time. I was subject to dizziness, nervousness, headache, nervousness, depression, pains in the back and side, a tired, weary feeling nearly all the time. "I tried almost every remedy, was treated by doctors and druggists with little or no benefit. "Finally, a friend advised me to try Dr. Leonard's Anti-Pill and the results have been truly wonderful. "My husband has used Anti-Pill for rheumatism and was benefited greatly. We agree that Anti-Pill is a most wonderful medicine and heartily recommend it. "This is a very strong recommendation. Anti-Pill is undoubtedly the greatest of family remedies. All druggists, or the Wilson-Pyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont."

EMPEROR WAS UNABLE TO SIGN DEATH WARRANT

VIENNA, Dec. 1.—A touching story of the Emperor Francis Joseph is being told here. The death sentence on a criminal was recently being signed before the Emperor to sign. He read it carefully through twice and took up a pen, but before he had written more than two letters his name he stopped. Two tears rolled down his cheeks on to the paper and blotted out what he had written. His Majesty turned to his secretary and said: "Tears remove every fault; I cannot sign. See for yourself. My signature is blotted out. I give the man his life."

THE NEW COADJUTOR BISHOP.

was followed by the Bishop of Quebec, who read as the gospel Matthew xxviii, "Jesus came and spoke unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." An anthem was then sung, after which Bishop Worrell of Nova Scotia delivered the sermon of the day. At the conclusion of the sermon the bishop-elect, vested with his robes, was presented to Bishop Sweetman by Bishop Hamilton of the diocese of Hamilton, and Bishop Carmichael of Montreal. T. Carlton Allen, Chancellor of the diocese of Fredericton, then read the record of election and the oath of canonical obedience by which the bishop-elect professed and promised the bishop-elect obedience and obedience to the Archbishop and to the Metropolitan Church and their successors, was

COMFORT CURRIE

FREDERICTON JUNCTION, Nov. 29.—This morning there passed on to her rest Comfort Currie, relict of the late Hattie Currie of Tracey Station. Mrs. Currie was 84 years old and suffered with rheumatism a month, all of which she bore with wonderful fortitude. Of late years she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. C. Le Clarke, at Fredericton Junction. Mrs. Currie leaves three sons—John, Milton and S. L.—and two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Segee and Mrs. C. L. Clarke.

JOHN BARBER

HOPEWELL HILL, Nov. 29.—John Barber, one of the oldest residents of this county and a most highly esteemed citizen, died at the advanced age of 81 years. The deceased was a man of sterling integrity and during a long and honorable life had justly earned the respect and esteem of those with whom he was associated. In his young manhood he had lived for 20 years where he had lived for 20 years place today, interment being made in the new cemetery at this village. Rev. Hilda, pastor of the Methodist church, conducted the services.

CONSECRATION OF CANON RICHARDSON AS COADJUTOR BISHOP OF FREDERICTON DIOCESE

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—The consecration of Rev. John A. Richardson, canon, rector of Trinity church, St. John, as Coadjutor Bishop of Fredericton diocese, took place in Christ Church Cathedral here today. The service, connected therewith, conducted by high dignitaries of the church, was a most impressive one. At half-past ten the Right Rev. Arthur Sweetman, Bishop of Toronto, and clergy in attendance robed in the Chapter House and at 11 o'clock entered the cathedral in procession. After the professional hymn, The Church's One Foundation, had been sung, the Bishop of Ottawa sang the choral canon, the music being Haynes in E flat. The Bishop of Ontario then read as the epistle I Timothy, iii, 1. He administered. The Litany was next recited by Rev. Dr. Symonds, vicar of Christ Church, Bishop Sweetman then addressed the prescribed questions to the bishop-elect, by whom they were duly answered. At the conclusion of this part of the service, J. B. Norton, the Cathedral organist, who was in charge of the music, rendered an organ voluntary, during which, Dr. Richardson robed, and Veni, Creator Spiritus was sung. The act of consecration then took place, the bishops laying their hands upon the head of the elected bishop, Bishop Sweetman saying: "Receive the Holy Ghost, for the Office and Work of a Bishop in the Church of God, now committed unto thee by the Imposition of our hands. In the Name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen. And remember that thou stir up the grace of God which is given thee by the imposition of our hands, for God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of sobriety." After Bishop Sweetman had delivered the Bible to the new Bishop, Bishop Hamilton followed with the customary sentences and the communion service was proceeded with. The hymn "And now, O Lord, be mindful of the love," and "Disposer, supreme," were sung and these prayers said: "Most Merciful Father, we beseech thee to send down upon this thy servant thy heavenly blessing; and to endue him with thy holy spirit; that so endue him with thy holy spirit, that he, preaching thy Word, may not only be earnest to reprove, but teach and rebuke with all patience and doctrine; and also may be to such as believe, a wholesome example, in love, in conversation, in love in faith, in hospitality, in his course, at the latter day he may receive the crown of righteousness, laid up by the Lord the righteous Judge, who liveth and reigneth on God with the Father and the Holy Ghost, without end. Amen. Prevent us, O Lord, in all our doings with thy most gracious favor, and that in all our works being, continuing and ended in three, we may glorify thy Holy Name, and finally by thy mercy obtain everlasting life; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen." The service was then brought to a close by the benediction. The Bishop of Nova Scotia was accompanied in the procession by his chaplain, Rev. K. C. Hind, and by Rev. W. H. Bullock, Halifax, and Rev. Almon Abbott, Toronto.

BRAKEMAN CONFESSES TO STEALING MAIL BAG

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Wm. J. Leroy, Sorarene avenue, formerly a G. T. R. brakeman, gave himself into custody at the police station and made a clean breast of having stolen the mail bag which contained the letters found in the water tank at the Hudson Hotel Wednesday. Another charge will be laid against him of forging Canadian express money orders.

LOOK OUT FOR BAD BANK OF P. E. I. BILLS
St. John Bank and Business House Caught.
Five Dollar Notes of Defunct Bank of Prince Edward Island Floating About Quite Freely—Star Tells You How to "Spot" Them Instantly

Look out for five dollar bills that show a picture of a man watering a horse at a pump trough, at which a plump pig is also drinking, for they are bad, absolutely worthless!
They belong to the long-since defunct Bank of Prince Edward Island, and no less expert concern than one of the most careful St. John banks, and a large retail mercantile house have been taken in by them, or you can reverse this saying and remark that the bad money has been taken in by these concerns.
Prince Edward Island bank notes are no good, but the most wary are liable to be fooled by them. They are not counterfeit, rather they are genuinely made, counterfeited, numbered and serial currency, handsomely printed and generally devoid of suspicious conditions. But they are bad, and do not lose sight of it, for there appear to be many of them about in St. John just now.
The local bank which accepted one did so through the medium of a teller, but it too late for rectification. The mercantile house accepted one via one of its clerks and thence to the office, where it remained quite a while unidentified. It was discovered that the latter bill was tendered by a respectable young lady, who was quite innocent of any wrongdoing in the matter, and who willingly lent her assistance in attempting to trace it to its knowing perpetrator. After following its migrations several people back, the clue was lost.
A cashier who handles thousands of dollars daily, and who knows every bill in common use, as a stamp collector, knows his stamps, warns business people, and St. John folks generally, against these bills of Prince Edward Island. Five dollar notes and bad bills of all kinds.
"I have found it to be a calendar filled with these bad money vendors," he says, "to spring their wad on the people as soon as the Christmas shopping rush commences. They pass a bill then, but in different localities and upon different classes of people. It is a very bad habit, and I have grown to keep particularly wide awake as soon as I find the stores are commencing their holiday boom.
So that all people may know at a glance what a Prince Edward Island bill is like the Star offers the following evidence:
First scrutinize the note for the words, "Bank of Prince Edward Island."
Then look at the picture; it should be that of a man, horse, pig, etc., at a pump-trough. It's a sort of baryard scene.
For further proof of the bill's worthlessness look for a border of "30" marks at each end.
Mind you, it isn't a counterfeit, it's the paper of a defunct institution—and absolutely of no cash value.

THE JUNIOR ROAD RACE WAS WELL CONTESTED
Jennings, the Winner, Came in From the Three Mile House in Twenty-Three Minutes.

The road race which was held this morning under the auspices of the Clifton Athletic Club, was a big success. There were seven starters and the youngsters all made good time.
At 10.15 o'clock a hunkboard left for the Three Mile House, carrying in it the seven runners. At 11 o'clock the race was started. The front end of a rather leisurely trot and the contestants remained in a bunch for about five minutes.
Albert McNutt, who represented the Clifton Athletic Club then took the lead. Frank Jennings of the High School A. C. was a close follower. The remainder kept in a bunch. When the Marsh Bridge was reached McNutt was ahead, with Jennings a close second. John Nugent of the High School A. C. was third and the others were some distance behind, running together. This order kept up until the Brussels street bend, near Union, was reached, when Jennings, with a spurt, gained the lead.
The order of the finish was as follows: Jennings, 1st; McNutt, 2nd; Nugent, 3rd; Bradberry, 4th; Pendleton, 5th; C. Garnett, 6th; and W. Garnett, 7th.
The boys assembled in the Clifton House, where W. A. Black presented the following prizes: First, medal; second, hockey outfit, donated by W. A. Black; and third, picture, donated by Manchester, Robertson and Allison. Other prizes were awarded to the other participants.
The boys deserve great credit, as the race was well managed.
Excellent time was made by young Jennings. He covered the three miles in 23 minutes.
The officials were: D. Hunter, starter; Lyle Mcowan, judge; Wm. McLeod, clerk of course, and Thos. Daley, timer.
The officials of the club wish to thank those who donated prizes.

PURE GEMS
(The Carleton Sentinel.)
Mrs. Thos. Emery does not gain in health as her friends would wish to see.
Willie Waters does not improve much either.
The poultry yards are looking rather vacant since M. B. F. Armstrong was around.
Wilnot London, of Centreville, passed through this place this week going to his farm in Brookville to try the pump-trough. He is a sort of baryard scene.
Mr. Wilnot London is ploughing his farm here. Plough away, Wilnot, Xmas will soon be here.
Two of our little folk, Marion Alexander and Russel Mallory, have been on the sick list. Jaundice is the ailment.
The prospects of Will Abbot securing a housekeeper have brightened. We do not blame you, Will, 't is not meet that any man should be alone."
Some of the young ladies are looking very sad, perhaps it is because some young men left quite lately for the lumber woods.
Wilnot L. Estey is still in our midst.
Fraser Everett's smile is pleasing to see. They are twins.
A Poverty Part, may they never go out of style, was given by the Misses Everett on Saturday evening. Truly it was some of revelry and all enjoyed themselves.
Edward McAlhany is building a veranda for Mr. Tompkins.
W. B. Jones had company last week from Jacksonville.
The "Whip-not-will" took another road Sunday. He did not cross the bog.
Messrs. W. and C. Rockwell made their usual visits on Sunday. That's right boys, "a faint heart never won 't' lady."
Now just let Freddy alone please, for he's trying to be "Good."
Mr. F. B. Armstrong passed through here on Monday purchasing poultry.

WALL STREET.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—First prices of stocks were but little changed from last night and the volume of transactions was small. The movement was hesitating and irregular. A rise of 5-8 in New York Central and a decline of as much in Reading, were the principal movements. The market opened irregular.

HIGHER TARIFF CAUSES ADVANCE IN SUGAR
Ten Cents a Hundred Pounds Added to Refined Grades by All Canadian Refineries Yesterday

Yesterday afternoon all the Canadian refiners advanced their prices for refined sugar ten cents per hundred pounds. This advance is directly due to the new tariff by which there has been made an increase of twelve pounds on raw sugar under the general tariff, and seven cents under the preferential. The higher price in refined will fully cover the difference made by the tariff, but as the sugar market is now firm a further advance based on ordinary commercial reasons may be expected.

ARM BROKEN AGAIN, SAME PLACE, SAME WAY
Wm. Coates, the nine year old son of Albert Coates, of Wright street, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was returning to his home by way of Gilbert's Lane and while running across the tracks he fell and broke his right arm above the elbow. The young lad was taken to his home and Dr. Bishop was called to attend him. It is remarkable that about three months ago young Coates broke the same arm in the same manner by falling on the track. The two breaks were almost in the same place on the arm.
