The Empty Cradle.

SAD is the heart of the mother

Who sits by the lonely hearth,

Where never again the children

Shall waken their songs of mirth.

All through the misty spaces She follows its upward flight. Little she thought of a moment So glooming and sad as this, When close to her heart she gathered Her child for its good-night kiss. she should be tenderly cherished, Never a grief should she know, Wealth, and the pride of a princess, These would a mother bestow.

And this is the darling's portion In Heaven-where she has fled; By angels securely guarded, By angels securely led. Brooding in sorrowful silence Over the empty nest, Can you not see through the shadows, Why it is all for the best?

Better the heavenly kingdom Better the early morning flight, Than one when the sun is down; Retter an empty casket, Than jewels besmirched with sin: Are those that have entered in. -The Scotsman
