You will be glad to know that your brother has been awarded the Military Medal for "Gallantry and Devotion on Duty." As his C. O. Miss Lawlor was a person of excellent qualities, kindly and hospitable. The whole community will extend deep sympathy to her aged mother and two brothers, William and John with whom she lived, in their sad bereavement. Mrs. Michael Hayes of New Mills, Mrs. Wm. Daley of Belle-dune and Mrs. George Mauthaus of Boston are sisters.

The pallbearers were: John Nowlan, John McDonnell, Albert Thompson, Thos. Dupont, Jos. Daley and Olgivie Thompson.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.

The preliminary examination of R. Bellanger, accused of breaking into C. G. R. cars and taking therefrom some goods, commenced last Saturday before Judge Matheson and considerable progress was made. The investigation was adjourned until Saturday. At the conclusion of the session the prosecuting attorney, Mr. Gilbert asked the court for leave to withdraw the information which had been laid against Joseph W. Germain for receiving stolen goods. His case had also been set for Saturday. Mr. Gilbert remarked that the evidence on the hearing of The King vs Bellanger disclosed that there was nothing by which Germain could be held for trial and asked that the information be dismissed. The request was granted.

COLLECTION FOR RED CROSS WORK

Tipperary Club Will Look After Local Collections Friday and Saturday.

The appeal for funds for the British Red Cross has gone out and towns and cities from ocean to ocean are collecting for Red Cross Work.

Throughout New Brunswick large amounts have been subscribed but every dollar is needed and no doubt Campbellton citizens will respond generously to this appeal as they have in the past. Already the Women's Institute have contributed $100.00 and tomorrow and Saturday the young ladies of the Tipperary Club will visit every section of the town asking for subscriptions. When they call meet them with a smile and then dig deep and give them every dollar you can spare. You cannot give too much, especially when you remember that the funds so collected go to make more comfortable the poor wounded boys in the hospitals.

Let Campbellton live up to its past record for generous giving.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE FRENCH

Eight Thousand Prisoners Taken in Tuesday's Fight. German Lines Smashed.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Oct. 23.—

(By the Associated Press.)—The French troops this morning fought one of the most cleverly conceived and most brilliantly executed actions of the war. More than one thousand prisoners belonging to the famous Fifth Prussian Guards were taken, and the French still continue their victorious progress.

The battle opened before dawn along a nine-kilometre front, from the northeast of Laffaux, about the neighborhood of Vauxaillon to Le Royere Farm. Amid inky darkness the French troops left their trenches, and with a terrific barrage fire from the most powerful concentration of trench guns ever gathered on such a short front preceding them, they made their way toward, into and over the first German positions, sweeping all resistance aside.

Altogether, six German infantry divisions were aligned, facing the French attacking forces, but none of them were able to withstand the onslaught. The advance continued like clock-work.

When war was waged with rocks.

While the warriors of ancient Babylon had not the means of wholesale slaughter in vogue today, their warfare could hardly be considered as child's play as is plainly evidenced in D. G. Griffith's masterpiece "INTOLERANCE," which is coming to the Campbellton Opera House Saturday afternoon and evening. In this gigantic spectacle Mr. Griffith has re-fought, faithfully and authentically, the battle waged by Cyrus and his Persian hordes on Belshazzar of Babylon.

In one scene, where the Babylonians high upon the walls of their besieged city, hurl huge rocks on the hordes of Cyrus, a signal was used to permit

VICTORY LOAN COMMITTEE AT WORK

Meeting Held Last Evening and Work Well Under Way.

The central committee which is looking after the organization work in connection with the sale of Victory Bonds, met in the committee rooms, McLean building last night and transacted much routine business.

Committees were appointed to meet at the different parish headquarters to prepare lists.

A general meeting of the whole committee will be held here Friday afternoon, Nov. 2nd and it is hoped every member of the committee will be present.

Mr. H. G. Ellis, of the firm of J. M. Robinson Sons, St. John spent a day here this week in connection with the Victory Loan Campaign which is soon to be inaugurated throughout the Dominion of Canada.

In conversation with "The Graphic," Mr. Ellis said: "The opportunity offered to the people of Canada is indeed attractive and at the same time unique. Previous to the opening of the world war all bonds issued by the Dominion of Canada were sold on the London, Eng., market where the interest return of slightly over three per cent was considered exceptionally attractive in view of the security offered.

On the opening of hostilities this market became closed to practically all but domestic requirements and Canada was forced to borrow at home and in New York.

On the entrance of the United States in the conflict the latter outlet became to some extent closed, with the result that the people of Canada will soon be afforded an opportunity to lend money to the Dominion at an interest return which will from present indications be five and one half per cent. This handsome return cannot fail to appeal to all those with idle money. There is always a ready market for the bonds should holders desire to sell, and the interest coupons will be cashed at their face value at a chartered bank in Canada when one consider that he or she can help to win the war, and at the same time secure an investment such as Victory Loan Bonds, there can be only one decision—BUY THEM.

The local committee has been most fortunate in securing the services of His Honor Judge McLatchy as Chairman, and under his able guidance the subscriptions from the County of Restigouche will undoubtedly be a source of great gratification to the Community.

PROHIBITION IN PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

More Than 1,100 Municipalities in That Province Now in the Dry List.

(From Toronto Star)

The fact that Quebec has voted for prohibition goes far to weaken the popular impression that the province is a stronghold of opposition to prohibition. It must be borne in mind, however, that this impression is gained largely by visiting the two largest cities, Quebec and Montreal. Many smaller municipalities, urban and rural, have no licenses more than 1,100 having established prohibition.

The action of the Roman Catholic church is worthy of note. It boldly challenged the powerful liquor interests and the inclinations of a good many of its members, and threw all its influence on the side of prohibition. Those who imagine that the church is not interested deeply in social reform have here food for reflection. Protestant and Catholic clergy in Quebec joined hands in the work and share in the credit of the victory. It does not appear that the Catholic clergy acted differently from the Protestant ministers. The weapons were prayers and persuasion not coercion. The Catholic voters did not tremble at the voice of clerical authority. A decisive majority voted as the church desired, but a very substantial majority opposed the church, while in one ward, St. Saverus, noted for its fervent piety, hundreds refrained from voting.

There was respect for the church, but by no means the abject submission that is so often ascribed to the Roman Catholic laity. There are two cheering indications in this vote, apart from the victory for prohibition. One is the enthusiasm and leadership of the Roman Catholic clergy in social service. The other is the attitude of the laity, responsive to leadership, sympathetic with reform, and also independent doing its own thinking and forming its own judgment. It is true that this attitude of French-Canadian is not new or surprising to close observers. But there are many who do not take the trouble to observe but accept carelessly the stories of prejudiced men.

THE TEACHERS OF BONAVENTURE MEET

Interesting and Instructive Papers and Discussions Heard.

The Annual convention of the teachers of the Inspectorate of Rev. J. M. Sutherland convened in the Academy, New Carlisle, on the evening of the 8th inst. Devotional exercises were conducted by the Inspector, Rev. J. M. Sutherland.

The Inspector-General J. C. Sutherland, Insp. of Quebec gave a short introductory address. He remarked that he had been accustomed taking day after day with the various inspectors in the province, and that conferences such as this one have beneficial results.

The following programme was carried out:

Address "Birds" by Rev. J. M. Sutherland. This was an exceedingly concise and interesting address giving the description, habits and value of the birds of this locality in summer and winter, and with which our school children should be acquainted:

The crow, robin, junco, meadowlark, song-sparrow, wood-pecker, partridge, or goose, black and white warbler, nuthatch, chick-dee, blue-jay, brown-creeper, swallows, moon-shed, owl, hawk, wild-geese, wild-duck, cedar-wax wing, American red-start, golden crowned kinglet, wren, yellow warbler, king fisher and snowbirds.

Inspector-General Sutherland B. A. remarked that Nature Study is compulsory in Grade eight, and recommended Mrs. Annie Comstock's Nature Study book as the best on the subject. He also mentioned that if the book is ordered through McDonald College, it can be obtained at reduced price. Mr. Sutherland advised the teachers to observe, and study interesting books, because a teacher requires to know more than the lesson, she must be able to explain and illustrate.

The next on the programme was a paper on discipline by Mrs. Wm. McWhirter of New Richmond which here follows:

DISCIPLINE

In order to be successful in any line of activity it is necessary that order should be maintained. Perhaps in no service is this more fully realized and practised than in military circles. Unquestioning obedience to orders is required and rendered, hence efficiency is maintained and work accomplished which would otherwise be impossible. But it is not only in military service that discipline is an important factor. In every line of work it is required, and in the school room we find from early days that the teachers word was law, and obedience to that law was compulsory. In older days order was enforced by means of the rod. We imagine to-day at some of those old stories, and it is little wonder that the dominion of the old school was often held in any but loving remembrance.

The pendulum has now for some time swung the other way. There are few today who advocate the maxim "No licks," "No larnin." Corporal punishment has fallen into disfavour. The best teachers do not practice it, except in exceptional cases. Punishment such as many of the old-time teachers meted out to their culprits would be speedily followed to-day by a lawsuit.

Still the teacher of the present is often sorely puzzled how to treat the boy or girl, who is making school life a burden to her, as for every teacher knows, one disobedient pupil is sufficient to spoil a school. Many teachers, otherwise well-equipped for their work are unable to "keep order." The children do largely as they please, and those of us who have had experience with young people know that their ingenuity is quite wonderful.

Lack of discipline in the school-room is detrimental to good work. Stupid pupils find work difficult amidst the din, and idle ones, embrace the opportunity to add to the discord. This good work is extremely difficult, if not impossible of performance, and the teacher is more worn and worried than she should be. It has been remarked "Good order is not simply quiet, there are two kinds of noise in the school room, the noise of work and the noise of confusion and idleness. To the thoughtful observer they are easily distinguished. There are also two kinds of quiet in the school room. The quiet that comes from interest and study, and the quiet that comes from fear of the teacher. These two, are easily distinguished. Children are controlled by external and internal motives. You may be the poorest disciplinarian and yet have the most death-like stillness in your study room. It is the discipline of fear, of the tyrant, the discipline that is so often the incubator of lawlessness later."

This question of discipline is of greater moment than merely being quiet in school. Law and order are the very foundations of good citizenship. It is a true remark to say that training in obedience should begin at home, be continued during school life, extend to the laws of the nation, and above all to the law of God. One who has been thus from childhood accustomed to obey will be less likely to prove lawless concerning commands human or Divine.

The great step is made during the first day of the term. The new teacher is under examination, and if there is a weak point in the armour of the keen eyes of the boy and girl will soon detect it, and they will act accordingly.

It is not well to have too many rules; better few necessary ones well obeyed. Busy children are almost sure to be obedient for it is true in school as elsewhere that "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." Therefore the wise teacher will see that the pupils have work to do which will occupy their time and which with diligence they can accomplish.

If a pupil idles his time he can have the opportunity of doing it, while the others are enjoying themselves. Some teachers may object to "keeping in," if so, this point will afford a subject for discussion.

Supt. Mowry of the Salem, Mass., schools has issued cards to his teachers which contain practical suggestions:

The following is a sample:

Prevention of the wrongdoing is better than punishing the wrong done. Exercise good self-control. Study the vote taken re the use of laws in school, showed that, several teachers still have faith in the old mode of persuasion.

Rev. J. M. Sutherland's address on "school-gardens" showed that on the coast we are behind in the matter of school-gardens.

Inspector-General Sutherland, B. A. gave a most interesting and statistical address along the line of the importance of education in a country and the necessity for teachers taking up in a wide way the subject of Nature Study and agriculture.

Convention reassembled on Tuesday at 9 a.m.

Mr. Gill, Principal of New Carlisle Academy gave a very interesting and comprehensive report of the Convention of the Protestant Teachers of the Province of Quebec at Montreal.

The report of Mr. Gill is as follows:

REPORT OF CONVENTION OF PROTESTANT TEACHERS AT MONTREAL.

By Wm. H. Gill, Principal of New Carlisle Academy.

The 61st Annual Convention of Protestant Teachers of Quebec was opened in the Assembly Hall of the High School in Montreal by the Rev. Herbert Symonds.

After the reading of the minutes of convention and various other reports, the committee on "Text Books and Course of Study" presented their reports recommending certain changes as the dropping of Latin in Grade VII, revising the Geography Course, besides recommending the dropping of such unsatisfactory text books as Bennett's Foundation, Homer's Odyssey, Fabrice Faciles. During the report, it was recommended that the services of a director of French for the Protestant schools of the province be re-organized in view of the recognizing necessity and importance of the French language. The Pension Committee reported a satisfactory balance of $10,462. The Treasurer showed a balance on hand of $661. The Committee on Nominations presented C. A. Adams of Gramby and A. B. Lockhart of Sherbrooke as president. Six names were nominated for Vice President of which three were to be elected.

A resolution was placed on record dealing with the question of compulsory education which was as follows:

Steps should be taken to require a measure of compulsory education in this province and that the laws dealing with the employment of children should be revised with a view to preventing the employment of children who have not passed a certain scholastic standard owing to the fact that a considerable proportion of the children in Quebec Province receive little or no schooling and many who are enrolled in the first grades never attend school.

The school room is the training place for life, and many boys and girls receive their notion of justice and right from the teacher who even discouragement has tried to do her duty, and hold aloof from progress, and example a high ideal of Christian living.

I do not feel that I am taking this subject too seriously. We have the young people of the most impressionable age and our influence is far-reaching even beyond the lessons of the course of study. In our schools are the men and women of the near future.

REPORT OF CONVENTION OF PROTESTANT TEACHERS AT MONTREAL.

By Wm. H. Gill, Principal of New Carlisle Academy.

The 61st Annual Convention of Protestant Teachers of Quebec was opened in the Assembly Hall of the High School in Montreal by the Rev. Herbert Symonds.

After the reading of the minutes of convention and various other reports, the committee on "Text Books and Course of Study" presented their reports recommending certain changes as the dropping of Latin in Grade VII, revising the Geography Course, besides recommending the dropping of such unsatisfactory text books as Bennett's Foundation, Homer's Odyssey, Fabrice Faciles. During the report, it was recommended that the services of a director of French for the Protestant schools of the province be re-organized in view of the recognizing necessity and importance of the French language. The Pension Committee reported a satisfactory balance of $10,462. The Treasurer showed a balance on hand of $661. The Committee on Nominations presented C. A. Adams of Gramby and A. B. Lockhart of Sherbrooke as president. Six names were nominated for Vice President of which three were to be elected.

A resolution was placed on record dealing with the question of compulsory education which was as follows:

Steps should be taken to require a measure of compulsory education in this province and that the laws dealing with the employment of children should be revised with a view to preventing the employment of children who have not passed a certain scholastic standard owing to the fact that a considerable proportion of the children in Quebec Province receive little or no schooling and many who are enrolled in the first grades never attend school.

The school room is the training place for life, and many boys and girls receive their notion of justice and right from the teacher who even discouragement has tried to do her duty, and hold aloof from progress, and example a high ideal of Christian living.

I do not feel that I am taking this subject too seriously. We have the young people of the most impressionable age and our influence is far-reaching even beyond the lessons of the course of study. In our schools are the men and women of the near future.

POSITIONS FOR VETERANS.
At the present time Restigouche has about forty returned soldiers. Some of these will never be fit for further military service but are able to fill public positions, and should have the refusal of any that may offer.

In the matter of fact it is our duty being more and more discovered by his fellow citizens.

The evidence will be presented to the presence of Mr. Gordon Waldron, a good general, a lover of the people, and the legal representative at this trial of "Saturday Night," the one Toronto paper that was not strong enough to come to grips with a big advertiser like Sir Joseph Flavelle.

Of course the evidence would be more revealing if the Royal Commission included one expert cost accountant instead of two auditors with Flavelle's affiliations in Big Business which they must take care of. These two auditors do not go behind the figures presented to them by Sir Joseph's crack mathematician, General Manager Fox.

Naturally, Mr. Fox does not make out a bad case for his employer, and just as naturally two auditors looking for future commissions, do not disagree with him. They say, "These figures check, therefore they must be all right." An expert cost accountant on the other hand would say, "Figures cannot lie, but some liars can figure. How do you make up this item? Then he would enter into a searching analysis of the cost elements."

However, murder is coming out in spite of handicaps, and the five hundred thousand women who have been given the vote by the Borden Government would do well to keep a sharp eye on the evidence from day to day and see what it means. It is not too much to say that of the five hundred thousand soldiers' women folk who have been enfranchised, four hundred thousand belong to the working class which feels the high cost of living most acutely. They are on short commons most of the time and very little would push them over the dead-line into actual starvation. Their separation allowances have not been able to keep pace with the price of Sir Joseph's bacon.

Sir Joseph is more responsible than any other man in Canada for the high cost of living. It is his calculating brain that has built up the pork trust and perfected the system by which the fourteen cent hog became the fifty-seven cent bacon. The high cost of butter, eggs, and other staple products can also be traced to his pernicious activities. Sir Joseph is not only the guide, philosopher and friend of the Borden Government, but he is said to own Finance Minister White, who runs chores for him. Sir Joseph has such a hold on the Borden Government, that he hasn't even offered to resign from the chairmanship of the Munitions Board while he is being investigated. Sam Hughes did it, and Bob Rogers did it, but the pious Sir Joseph, who deplores everybody's profits but his own, refuses to do it.

He makes the excuse that he doesn't do it because he is an imperial appointment, but the general opinion is that if the man had any delicacy he wouldn't let a little thing like that stand in his way. The fact seems to be that Sir Joseph has associated with hogs so long that he caught some of their manners. Anybody but Sir Joseph would have taken it as a hint to quit his chairmanship of the Imperial Munitions Board, when the British Government stopped buying his bacon, but his hide is thick and he didn't feel it. So far as Big Business goes Sir Joseph has long been known as one who had all his feet in the trough at once, but since the war started he has done even better. Rumor has it that his beef stew contract will net him thirty million dollars and that, what with other enterprises, shells, fuses, munitions, carried on under various aliases, he will be in the Rockefeller class when the war is over.

Unluckily all the Royal Commission is authorized to do is to look into his bacon. All his other grafts escape inspection. A Royal Commission that would thoroughly investigate Sir Joseph Flavelle would need to investigate every spot where a dollar shows its head in Canada, not to mention choice spots in the United States and England. A Royal Commission with these plenary powers would also find him and his Toronto group of looters up to the neck in the C. N. R. deal, by which they hope to fleece this country of $125,000,000—$75,000,000 for the bonds they bought up in England, and $50,000,000 for the watered stock. They would also find Sir Clifford Sifton somewhere in ambush. This is why Sir Clifford is so anxious to continue the Borden-Flavelle Government in office. Where the treasure is there shall the heart be also. One hundred and thirty-five million dollars is worth gambling for. You see now why Flavelle and the other big fellows are all playing the same game. As long as there are so many dollars in sight the Borden Government can't lose Sir Joseph. What he gave to the campaign fund in 1911—rumor says it was a cool million—he wants back a hundred fold.

The Borden Government has given five hundred thousand more or less poor women the vote. They asked for cheaper food and they got the vote instead. The Borden Govern-

GADSBY'S LETTER

OTTAWA, Oct. 20. Joseph and I have five hundred thousand women enfranchised under the War Time Election Act are no doubt taking a great interest in the Flavelle investigation now in progress in Toronto. In spite of a copy of high-toned letters from Borden and fifty-seven cent bacon.

Meanwhile housewives all over the country who have been trying to make a dollar do fifty cents' worth will be interested to learn that Sir Joseph Flavelle's company made two million dollars this year on the bacon it sold to England. As the Flavelle Company, it made a million on the bacon on this side of the ocean, and as Shedd-Thompson & Co. another million on another profit, adds a commission and hands the bacon over to the British Government. It is well that the bacon is only one ocean to cross. Apparently the number of profits increase in geometrical progression. That is to say, if one ocean means two profits, four would mean sixteen.

This probably explains how the Flavelle Company made two hundred and fifty per cent profit during one year of the Boer war. The bacon had a number of oceans to cross and doubtless Sir Joseph, in some disreputable spots where another profit might be expected to happen.

Scrape of Butter.
There are about sixty-four individual helpings of butter in a pound, each helping equalling about one-fourth of an ounce. If the accumulations after the meal were estimated "pats" collected each day, in the average household. But if everyone of our 20,000,000 households should begin her rub. He is the old-fashioned surprise of bringing up an army in an unexpected quarter. The battle of the Marne was an old-style battle; of decisive battles probably the last in the classic mode. Here, however, a good luck may have entered into the result. The astonishing fact remains that in a contest fought on an untried strategic principle, of which superior preparation was supposed to be the essence, the less prepared antagonist won.—Fate Review

Wheat Crops.
Manchurian and Siberian wheat probably will be exported to America to replace American wheat shipped to the Entente Allies in Europe. Because of the lack of locomotives and cars, it is impossible to send the wheat surplus from Eastern Asia. At scores of railway stations in Siberia and Manchuria, sacks of wheat, which shall be protected by temporary sheds, are rapidly deteriorating.

Beans in Scarc.
The growing scarcity of beans and rubber has necessitated a drastic reduction of automobile traffic in Stockholm. No taxis whatever may be operated after 9 p.m. or before 7 a.m., and they may not go out of a very restricted district. Private automobiles may not be used at all. All private motor boats are also prohibited from running. The supply of kerosene as well is nearing exhaustion.

Why Canada Needs More Money

UP to date the war has cost Canada about $700,000,000.
Canada has spent in Canada over $400,000,000 on her own account.
Canada has spent in Canada on behalf of Great Britain over $300,000,000.
What Canada spends for Great Britain is really loaned to Great Britain and will be repaid or credited to Canada later on.

Great Britain needs so much ready cash to finance her own expenditures at home for herself and for our Allies that she must buy on credit from Canada, and from every other country where she can get credit.

Of course Great Britain's credit is so good that other countries, in order to get her trade, are quite as willing to give her credit as we are in Canada.

Canada wants to help Great Britain not only because Canada wants Britain's trade but because we are Canada and she is Great Britain—both members of the same Great Empire, kin of our kin, our motherland.

For Canada it is both a filial and patriotic duty to supply Great Britain's war needs and remember, her needs are our needs. Also it is in Canada's self-interest to supply those needs and thus keep open a market for our products.

Now, Britain needs our wheat, our cheese, cattle, hogs, and many manufactured articles.

Canada also needs many of these things—between the two it amounts to more than a million dollars a day in cash.

And the producers must be paid in cash.

Neither Canada nor Great Britain could go to a Canadian farmer and buy his wheat or his cattle on credit.

The farmer and all other producers might be ever so willing to give their country credit but they could not do it because they have to pay cash for wages, for rent, materials, etc. They must be paid in cash, or its equivalent.

So Canada says to Great Britain:—"I will lend you the money so that you can pay cash to Canada's producers for what you want."

"I will borrow this money from our own people just as you borrow money from your people."

"I will also borrow from the people of Canada money to pay cash for all the products that Canada, as well as Great Britain, needs in Canada."

That is Canada's practical, patriotic part in helping to win the war.

Without this credit the Canadian producer could not sell to Great Britain, and without these Canadian products the war would be prolonged.

So it is necessary for Canada to give to Great Britain the credit in order that Canada's own producers, who need a market, will have one; and in order that Great Britain which needs the products to win the war, will get them.

Now how does Canada get the money by which both Canada and Britain can pay cash for Canada's products?

By borrowing it from the people of Canada through the sale of Canada's Victory Bonds to be offered in November.

That is why Canada's Victory Bonds are offered to the people—to raise money to help to finish the war.

"Canada must keep her shoulder to the wheel even though it be a chariot of fire," and the way for Canada to keep her shoulder to the wheel is by buying

Next week this space will tell you Canada's plan to win by selling Canada's Victory Bonds.

EDITORS MAIL

To the Editor of the Graphic.
Mr. Editor—
The Local Medical-Board has begun its work, last week in the Town Building, and a large number of our young men presented themselves for examination. They were compelled to undress and wait their turn, in that state, as if they were mere cattle, our young men are not used to appear in such a primitive "titine" before a group of twenty-five men or more. The Military authorities even neglected to have curtains put on the windows, and every passerby could easily see in what manner the Board was proceeding to the examination of the recruits.

As some of the young men did not seem to take the eye-test satisfactorily owing to the actual state of light in the room. Someone had the brilliant idea to turn on the electric lights which had the desired effect of giving more light on the eyes-testing card; and also on the subject being examined; giving the public including a bunch of youngsters who stood near the entrance, in full view of even the minor details.

A screen would not cost very much, and I think Mr. Editor that the doctors could do their work just as well and in a more convenient manner behind them.

"If our boys are going to fight for 'Civilization' why not treat them accordingly."

The above facts were noticed by many recruits and therefore it would be opportune to draw the attention of the authorities on same.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,
I remain yours truly,
CITIZEN.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of frezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from your feet. A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, itching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers. This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that, while frezone is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whitening at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.

D. W. GRIFFITH'S COLOSSAL SPECTACLE INTOLERANCE
LOVE'S STRUGGLE THROUGHOUT THE AGES

That D. W. Griffith's latest spectacle "INTOLERANCE," which had long and successful runs in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Los Angeles, is coming to the Opera House, Campbellton is an announcement that will doubtless interest every person who saw this eminent director's "Birth of a Nation." "INTOLERANCE" tells of love's struggle throughout the ages by means of four stories, the scenes of which are laid in Ancient Babylon; in Judea in the time of Christ; in Mediaeval Paris and in a modern American city. "Appalling in magnitude and grandeur; tremendous; stupendous; magnificent; awe-inspiring; wonder and unsurpassed in splendor," are some of the descriptive terms used by the leading dramatic critics of this country to describe "Intolerance." Mae Marsh, Miriam Cooper, Seena Owen, Constance Talmadge, Bessie Love, Margery Wilson, Elmer Clifton, Lillian Gish, Robert Herron, and Alfred Paget, are among the film favorites having the principal roles.

THE NEED FOR REINFORCEMENTS.
High Organization Behind the Lines Must be Kept Up, as Well as Fighting Units.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—All Canadians should understand thoroughly the kind of military organization which the Allies depend on Canada to maintain overseas. Since news stories in the press mostly overlook the activities of the fighting line, the public at home is apt to overlook the essential work done by the many thousands of men behind the lines on whose energy and devotion to duty depends the success of those in the trenches.

Behind the Canadian lines in France, for instance, there are Canadian soldiers engaged in forestry corps, railway corps, trenching battalions, labor battalions, railway supply detachments, salvage companies, field detachments, field bakeries, depot units who supply reserve parks, casualty clearing stations, hospitals both military and general, depots and labor battalions, dental corps, mobile veterinary training establishments, headquarters, ordnance corps, army bay corps, training establishments, headquarters, offices, camps, etc. In all there are over twenty-five different and necessary branches of the military organization to be maintained behind the lines by Canadian soldiers.

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS.
"I noticed how quickly I hastened from a room treated with 'Formal', writes L. M. England of Inverness, Ont., to Conservation, 'and I thought I would try it on rats. I saturated some rags with it and put them in the holes and covered the latter with paper and earth to prevent the rags from turning. The rats, which had long outlasted me, did not return. In another place, I tried the same remedy with success'."

REPORT INCREASE OF 25 PER CENT. IN SOLDIERS' PENSIONS
Toronto, Oct. 23.—From an authoritative source, the Globe says it has learned that an order-in-council has been put through at Ottawa increasing pensions to overseas soldiers by twenty-five per cent.

esting paper on physical training in the schools. Physical education, he declared, is not allotted enough scope in the course. It is essential to complete education, however, and to give aid to the development of the two other parts, moral and intellectual.

The number of men rejected as physical unfit by the boards of exemption in England and the United States have shown clearly the deficiency of physical training given our boys and young men. "In the American army 75 per cent of the recruits were unfit and in the navy 95 per cent." Man power is wanted for the nation, therefore, physical training is necessary to the making of a perfect citizen.

Miss P. S. Hill, of Colby's University, gave an instructive lecture on the Montessori System of education as applied to kindergarten and primary work in the schools. Montessori's system is one based on five main theories. Of individuality, of freedom, of sense training, of socialization, and of imagination. The system calls for great respect for the nature of the child, the concentration of each individual, concentration of lessons, self-education and self-instruction on the pupils part. There were over 850 teachers at the Convention as compared with 995 in 1916.

The training and upbringing of children was the main topic of discussion at the meetings on Friday afternoon and evening. The Rev. Dr. E. I. Rexford spoke on "The Children's Challenge to the Community," dealing with the subject from various angles, while Professor Sexton spoke on the claims of the returned soldiers. Dr. Rexford insisted upon the importance of the moral education of the child. Mental training alone would not lead a nation far, the training of the character was a thousand times more important. It was the child's gone further than Germany in technical and scientific education, and what was the result? The moral and spiritual life had been neglected. Dr. Rexford appealed to the teachers of this province to do all in their power to foster the moral side of education. It was the child's right to be allowed to develop the poetical and spiritual side of his character. After a patriotic recitation by Mr. Holt, Mr. Bradford, community secretary of the Y. M. C. A., gave a lecture on "Some School Methods in Character Building for Social Efficiency," dealing especially with the boy in his teens. During this period of a boy's life there was no sudden break, the growth was continuous, though each part of this period had its special characteristics. The ten-year-old boy had passed through a trying time when he emerged from the primary school into the great life of the high school. Towards the age of thirteen boys became very sensitive, and as a result resorted to all sorts of crazy things to hide their feelings. The boy's very coarseness, the angle at which he wore his hat, were typical of this period. It was an unspiritual age, an age of talk, sometimes mixed with profanity.

At this time of his life a boy is proud of being seen in the company of a cigarette in his fingers; special jokes were a delight especially if they resulted in anything that would bring him a half holiday. Later, a boy begins to develop his personality, fifteen and sixteen years was the period of self-consciousness. The boy was now entering the period of his social relationship, and there was a marked change in his appearance; he began to attend to the color of his socks and the color of his shoes. Mr. Bradford next spoke of the importance of organized athletics; it affords a boy an outlet for his energy, and it is a very important part of his education which the Germans had overlooked, their philosophy was not altruistic enough to sink self for the good of the other; the soldier when in school life was there more opportunity for this than on the playground. It was between fifteen and sixteen years that the sex instinct became strong; this instinct was shamefully preyed upon by modern commercialized amusements, the movies, the theatre, etc. At this time a woman was the boy's best helper. A boy should be taught to explain himself. He should learn that he was an intellectual, spiritual, and abstract being.

Sergt. Pearson delighted the audience with three French songs. "Claims of our Soldiers" by Professor Sexton followed.

Undi I lately Canada knew no more about the problem of rehabilitating the returned man than she did about war when the very people who she showed luxuries on the men in the convalescent homes would often pay but scant attention to the returned soldier when his only means of the army was a service button. The experience of France has shown that eighty five per cent of the men who could not return to their old occupations could be trained so that they could be placed on a wage-earning basis that was of often far better than the most favored before he marched away to war.

The following resolution, moved by Mr. Chas. McBurney and seconded by Mr. Fulkow was passed by the Convention.

"That in the opinion of this convention the depletion of young manhood of the country by war conditions tends to the childhood and youth of our land doubly precious and imposes upon the teaching forces of our province the imperative duty of using all possible means to secure to the people and normal development of the child life committed to our care."

2. That in the opinion of this Convention systematic efforts should be made by our schools to utilize the special and spiritual forces at our disposal in this province for the development of the character of our pupils and for the amelioration of our social conditions.

On Friday evening the Convention had the pleasure of listening to her greatest public speaker, Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce. He told several incidents in connection with his early teaching experience before entering upon his public career. He was mainly devoted to preparation for citizenship in after war conditions. He urged the necessity of men getting a continuing widening knowledge of the scope of citizenship. The man who was a good citizen in his town had a good basis for extending his citizenship to the municipality, to the province, to the Dominion, to the Empire, and at length to the World State. The war had done more to bring people to the municipality, to the province, to the Dominion, to the Empire, and at length to the World State. The war had done more to bring people to the municipality, to the province, to the Dominion, to the Empire, and at length to the World State. The war had done more to bring people to the municipality, to the province, to the Dominion, to the Empire, and at length to the World State.

NATURE OF THE WORK.
The exercises will require drawing from models and objects, from dictation, from well-chosen copies and original designs.

From the first pupils learn to draw from real objects.

The sense of touch is one of the easiest means of ascertaining the form of an object; therefore have the pupils handle the models and objects.

Choose simple familiar things, such as a sphere cube (model) apple, potato (object). Have the pupils handle and grasp the model; (the sphere) how does it feel? Trace with the fingers the outline of the part that can be seen. Have the pupils trace the outline; what is the shape of the outline? (round). (The teacher gives the name (circle).)

Place a pencil on the sphere, the pencil touches at only one point. Place a pencil across the top of the apple; notice where it touches, observe the bottom and sides in a similar way.

Have the pupil draw the outline of width; draw light lines to show height and width, join with straight slanting lines. Draw straight lines for the stem and the depression at the bottom, from left to right. How do the distances compare? Trace the outline on the apple with the fingers following the depression at the stem, holding the apple on a level with the eyes.

DRAWING.
By Mrs. Robert Miller of Maria. "Drawing is a means of expression. It should be taught in every school, because it enables the child to appreciate the beautiful things around him; it trains him toward a useful art; it enriches all of his other school work. Teachers and pupil may learn to look upon drawing not as a substitute and for itself alone, but as a means of awakening and conveying thought; the other subjects of the school drawing course. Drawing should be as freely used as writing and speaking. Before beginning work in the book, show the pupils how to hold their pencil, for free movement and drawing. Give practice in movement with the pencil from left to right, and see that each pupil holds the pencil properly the same for movement from top to bottom, and from corner to corner.

Give directions for holding the pencil for movement round and round. The pencil must be held the same throughout the movement. The pencil should be held lightly by the thumb and forefinger supported by the middle finger.

Circles and vertical ellipses should should be drawn from the lower end of the imaginary vertical diameter, holding the pencil from left to right. In drawing horizontal ellipses the pencil should be held as for a horizontal line. Circles, ellipses, and ovals should be sketched with one sweep of the pencil.

It is very important to have freedom of movement in drawing. It produces lightness of touch, quickness of execution, begets confidence in one's ability to draw, and when acquired by a class of pupils, materially lessens the work of the teacher.

Pupils should never be allowed to work carelessly, but freedom of movement is of the greatest importance, and the timid child is not inclined to work freely upon his book if he does not feel sure of what he is to express and the manner of expressing it. This confidence is to be gained by working upon the practice pages of his book.

CONSIDER TAXATION A MINUTE

Taxes are raised to keep our streets in order, to maintain our fire protection and police services; our schools and so on down through the whole list of civic work and civic necessities.

And the amount needed for these purposes has been steadily advancing. The cost of materials are going up, wages for workmen are advancing, and we require more to-day than our forefathers did—the standard of living is improving.

In the old days the streets of even the best residential sections of the largest cities were little better than bogs in wet seasons and dust heaps after a few days of sun; and street lights were almost unknown. The only thing they had was the gas jet. That has all changed now. To-day we insist on paved sidewalks in all our cities and even many gutters are kept in good shape and they are well lighted.

Where is the money to come from to pay for all these things, increased cost due to natural causes, increased cost due to the desire for better living conditions? It must come from the people in the form of taxes. And how are most of our taxes raised? By setting a value on our property and then compelling the property owner to pay a percentage of that valuation.

That percentage is the same for everyone and is usually arrived at in this way; an estimate is made of the amount that will have to be spent on civic improvements for the coming year; an estimate is made of the value of the property in the town; the civic officials then estimate what percentage the first is of the second; and what percentage is the rate of taxation.

Although the rate will be the same for all, the amount that each will pay will be different. The much more money than the man who owns but man who owns property worth 10,000 will pay $1,000.

But what is the most valuable property in a town. Is it not the local stores and factories? The owners of these places then are paying the bulk of the taxes.

Well, then anything which injures business for those local stores and factories will reduce the value of the stores and factories that much. The tax assessor will have to lower his assessment or valuation of the store or factory. A lower valuation means a smaller payment in taxes.

But, as was shown above, the same civic expenditures have got to be made and even increased. The money has got to be raised. What is to be done? There is only one solution—the raise the rate.

When the rate is raised everyone will have to pay more money than they did before. Everyone who has any property knows more about that than he could read in a dozen newspapers. The experience is very painful.

The practice of sending money away to buy goods is dealing a very severe blow to the stores and manufacturing industries in New Brunswick. It is lowering their value; it means that less taxes can be justly levied on them. And it means that more must be raised from the owners of residences and other classes of property.

It is time for us in New Brunswick to sit down and seriously go over the question of buying away from home. There is no minimizing the thing; there is no use dodging the issue. Commercial property in this province is not as valuable as it might be if our money were spent at home. Honestly, what do you think about it, you the reader?
