London, July 29.-The Chronicle, in Its issue tomorrow, will claim to have authority to deny the statement that Great Britain has abandoned her occupation of the Island of Trinidad.

TROPICAL HEAT IN EUROPE. Berlin, July 29.-Tropical heat prevails in Germany, Austria and Italy. There have been many cases of sunstroke in Vienna and elesewhere. Thunder and hail storms in parts of Germany have ruined the crops. Many persons were injured during the storms. a number of cattle were also killed and

THE CZAREWITCH VERY SICK. St. Petersburg, July 29.-The Grand Duke George, Czarewitch of Russia, and his mother, the Dowager Empress, arrived here from the Caucasus today. After a short stay at the Peterhof Palace they will go to Denmark, and later the Czarewitch will go to Algiers to spend the winter. The condition of his health shows no improvement. One of his lungs is completely gone, and the other is affected.

THE LOSS OF THE CLEVELAND. London, July 29.—The British steamer Duffield, from Philadelphia, via Havre, which ran into and sank the British steamer Cleveland in the English Channel on Friday last, arrived in the Tyne vesterday. She landed five of the Cieveland's crew, whom she had rescued at the time of the accident. Five others were saved by the steamer Baltimore, from Montreal and Liverpool, which was proceeding for Gravesend. Seven are yet missing. The Cleveland went down off Dover.

PASSING OF THE PLUMAGE TRIMMING

London, July 29 .- The Society for the Protection of Birds is rejoicing that at last a reaction has come against the universal use of birds' feathers on hats and bonnets. When the season opened in May every woman wore a graceful spray of soft, fine plumes with drooping or curly tips. These bird of paradise feathers were in quantities at every milliner's. Mixed in the same spray were delicate osprey tips, which had long been in fashion. During the season one warehouse of the many engaged in the traffic disposed of 60,000 dozens these mixed sprays. Thy are now disappearing, but perhaps because it is announced that the supply of birds is almost exhausted.

"CROOKED" NEWS. London, July 29.—The Times has commenced an action against the Central News, a small news agency of this city, claiming that the terms of its contract with the Central News-to supply cable messages from the war in the Far East-were not fulfilled, inasmuch as the dispatches were not true or substantial copies of the cable messages, and that some of them were concected by or on behalf of the defendants, and that others were largely altered. The Times, therefore, makes declaration that the publishers of the Times are not responsible for the claim made for a further payment of $210 for such "war news." The Central News people deny the allegations.

A LUGGER BURNED.

Queenstown, July 29.-Details of the burning of the lugger Zenith show that she had on board a crew of 6 men and 21 passengers, who were out on a pleasure trip from Gladore, to which place they were returing from Baltimore when flames burst through the hatchway of the lugger. A panic followed, and the boat which was lowered was swamped by the crowd of people who clambered into it. During the confusion nine persons were drowned. The skipper of the Zenith then ran her ashore, and the remainder of the passengers and crew were rescued by the

panion, the Rev. G. P. Merrick, chaplain of Holloway jail, tells a story of the murderer, Dr. Neal Cream, of Quebec, who, it will be remembered, was executed for the murder of several women in London by the administration of strychnine concealed in capsules. According to the chaplain of Holloway jail, it was proved beyond a doubt that he had murdered in cold blood no fewer than 35 women. It appears that while in America he suffered imprisonment for a crime which had been traced to him by a woman. This woman detective had beguiled him until his guilt was brought to light. When he came to England he believed, or said he believed, that every woman who spoke to him was a police decoy, and he sacri-

Strangely enough, he was one of the most proficient Bible student ever admitted to Holloway jail. He could recite from memory almost half the Bible.

MISLEADING TELEGRAMS. London, July 29 .- The Post will tomorrow, on the authority of its St. Petersburg correspondent, say that the sensational statements circulated by Feuter's Telegraph Company and certain papers in Paris regarding the nature of the Franco-Russian alliance have greatly annoyed Russian court circles. Both the Foreign Minister and Minister of War deny the statements.

Some officers attribute this satisfactory state of things to the new explosive, cordite. confidential reports to the War Office bear out this view, they will encourage policy of keeping a large reserve of this ammunition, which logically fol-lows upon their action in turning out Campbell-Bannerman, who did not believe in keeping more cordite in stock than sufficed for current needs and something over. The balance of expert military and chemical opinion appears to support the Liberal War Minister rather than his Tory successor. The keeping qualities of cordite are seriously doubted, and it may at any moment be superseded by a new explosive which will not deteriorate with age. If vast stores of cordite be accumulated, there will be a pretty bill to be paid should the predictions of its critics be verified by experience. But the Tories maintain that it is better to waste a few millions sterling than be caught short of cartridges in a time

MUST REACH THE POLE. London, July 29.—The session of the Geographical Congress was occupied with the discussion of polar exploration. Dr. Neumayer and Mr. Joseph Hooker, a survivor of the Arctic expedition headed by Sir John Ross, 1829-33, urged that fresh expeditions be equipped, and Dr. Murray, leader of the Challenger expedition (formerly of London, Ont.), argued in support of the theory that the Antarctic continent was not a succession of volcanic islands and that investigations in the Antarctic Ocean ought to be undertaken by the navies of the world, and not as a result of private enterprise. A small committee was appointed to draft a resolution in favor of further explora-

London, July 29 .- Most of the interest of the day in the Geographical Congress or the day in the Geographical Congress centered in a paper read by M. S. Andree, proposing a balloon route to the North Pole. The idea seemed feasible as pronounced by the explorer. The only difficulty appeared to be how to make sufficient reas for the ball. how to make sufficient gas for the balloon. Then again, prominent geographists seemed to think that the proposal would fail without the use of boats with much provisions to rely up-on in case of accident. The general impression of the congress was that the proposal was lacking in practical application.

The congress appointed a committee of six, with Sir Joseph Hooker as presicent to draft a resolution calling upon the civilized nations of the world to undertake an Antarctic exploring expedition. Mr. S. A. Andree explained his plan of reaching the North Pole by balloon. He suggested that the start should be made early in the summer of 1896, in order to reach the Norskaren Islands, situated in the northwest corner of Spitzenberg, by the middle of June. The sun in that region is always above the horizon at that season, and for that reason the temperature of the air and the balloon would be very uni-

THE ELECTION WIND-UP. London, July 29.-The following returns were received northeast division of Derbyshire: T. D. Bolton, Liberal, 4,737; Dr. J. Court, Conservative, 4,210; Liberal majority, 527. Only three more districts remain to hear from in order to complete the returns. With the exceptions of the polls in three districts the results of the general election is known. The districts yet to be heard from are the east division of Donegal, the south division of Londonderry county and Orkney and Shetland. In 1892 East Donegal returned an Anti-Parnellite by a majority of 763, the south division of Londonderry county returned a Liberal-Unionist by a majority of 501, and Orkney and Shetland returned a Liberal by a majority of 1,003. The result in these districts will make slight difference in the political complexion of the House of Commons. Elections were held today in the first two mentioned districts, but the polls will not be declared until tomorrow. The election in Orkney and Shetland will not take place till Aug. 6. The returns now at hand show the following totals:

Total Government supporters....410 Anti-Parnellites

Tre Conservative majority over any coalition that can be made will be 9. The Unionists have gained 110 seats and the Liberals 20. A $20,000 DINNER FOR 22 PEOPLE.

London, July 29.—The people of Paris will talk for many a day about the wonderful dinner party given on Thursday night at the Pavilion d'Armenonville, a famous restaurant in the Bois de Boulogne, by Rodman Wanamaker, the son of the merchant and ex-politician of Philadelphia. Twenty-two guests partook of this feast. Twentytwo of the finest equipages which Paris stables could produce called at the residences of the guests, and then brought them to the banquet hall. The list of guests included Count Bryas, Count de Chazelles, Count la Rochefoucauld, Baron van Zuylen, the son-in-law of Baron Rothschild, and the artist, Roland Knodler, of New York. The decorations of the diming room were marvelbeautiful. Luminous fountains, planted upon great blocks of ice, kept the air cool. The dinner itself showed a splendid disregard of cost. It was not one dinner, but 22 independent dinners, separately served, one to each guest. There was none of the meanness of the Europeans, who are not ashamed, even when wealthy, to make a roast of fish do duty for the whole party. Each guest had before him a whole leg of mutton, a whole salmon, truffled fowl, a basket of peaches, and a double magnum of champagne, besides bottles of wine of sacred vintage and fabulous cost. After the dessert had been served a waiter brought around a black silk bag, into which each guest thrust his hand and drew out a souvenir. The souvenirs were pearl and emerald pins, ruby links, gold eigarette cases, inlaid with diamonds, and other trifles of substantial value. It is asserted that the cost of the entire affair was close to Young Wanamaker succeeded to his own satisfaction in demonstrating that American hospitality, when measured by the cash standard, quite distances effete European customs. Some comments on the affair, in which Frenchmen and foreigners are indulging, do not have a pleasant sound in the ears of other Americans in Paris, and some protests are made that young Wanamaker is not a typical American host. THE FIRST CABINET MEETING. London, July 30 .- The first Cabinet meeting since the general elections was held at the Foreign Office at noon today. It was expected that the Speakership would be one of the subjects the new Government to carry out the | discussed. The Marquis of Salisbury presided, and he and all the Cabinet Ministers were loudly cheered on ar-riving at the Foreign Office. ONE APIECE.

London, July 30.-The following additional election returns have been received: Donegal, east division—Arthur O'Connor, McCarthyite, 3,393; E. T. Herdman, Unionist, 2,731; McCarthyite majority,

662. Mr. O'Connor, who is the sitting member, at the last election had a majority of 763, showing a loss of 101

Londonderry, south division—Thos. Lea, Unionist, 4,470; Dodd, Liberal, 4,-018; Unionist majority, 452. Mr. Lea, who is the sitting member, had a majority of 501 at the last election, showing a loss of 49 votes.

Discovery of the Huge Vault in the Cellar,

A Canadian's Narrow Escape-Holmes' First Victim Alleged to Have Been "Removed" in 1851.

HOLMES' LETTER TO QUINLAN FOUND.

Chicago, July 29.—The police have found a letter from Holmes to Pat Quinlan, dated July 18, to which much importance is attached.

Charley Chapman has not been formplaced under arrest, but probably will be as soon as the police get from him all the information he will give. It is said that he knows too much of Holmes and his skeletons to be an innocent man. It was what he claims to be the skull of Mrs. Connor which he brought to Inspector Fitzpatrick. He claims that the balance of the bones are now in the hands of a young medical student to whom he loaned them. The entire skeleton will probably be in the hands of the police tomorrow, together with that of Annie Williams. IS THIS ANOTHER VICTIM?

Chicago, July 29.-Dr. Russler, for mes building, and he and Holmes were often seen together, apparently being intimate friends. Some time in 1892, the date being a matter of doubt, the physician dropped out of sight. He had but few acquaintances, and although he disappearance caused some talk a hong the neighbors, little attention was paid to it. The recent skeleton discoveries in the "castle," however, revives the affair, and it is considered probable by some that the physician may have been among Holmes' victims. IMPORTANT DISCOVERY. Chicago, July 29.—The huge brick vault underneath Holmes' charnel house was unearthed today by the police, who are still delving in the earth in and about the cellar. The existence of this vault has been theoretical until today. When Chappelle accompanied the officers through the Holmes house vesterday he indicated the location of the vault in the southeast corner of the cellar, and early this morning half a dozen men were put to work digging in the place indicated. At 4:30 o'clock the officers in charge of the work telephoned police headquarters that they had reached and uncovered a long strip of the roof of the vault. Superintendent Badenoch at once gave orders to get the ground in such shape that the vault could be easily opened tomorrow. and to then discontinue the work for the day. The police theory is that Holmes used this vault for quick-liming the bodies of his victims and getting them into such a condition that they could not possibly be identified, and that Chappelle, the articulator, would not suspect that the bodies were anything more than cadavers secured at some medical college, morgue or hospital.

While the police officials are not hope ful of finding bodies of murdered people in the vault, they expect to secure evidence to fully establish what the vault was used for and what connection, if any, it had with the half-destroyed human bodies that were carried away from the house to the home of the articulator.

Chappelle's admissions are the most remarkable and damaging yet received against Holmes and his confederates. They reveal the existence of a complete system of machinery in the castle for the commission of murder, commencing with the steel chamber or vault, the dissecting table, and ending in the acid tanks, where all the evidences of the deed but the bones were removed. The police today found a man who they say admits that he was employed by Holmes to do all the queer brickwork about the mysterious house. They declare his story is of the greatest im portance, but refuse to divulge the

LAR. Chicago, July 29.-Workmen digging at the Holmes place today found in a corner of the cellar six bones, four of which were small and the others about six inches long. Dr. Robinson, the druggist, gave it as his opinion that the smaller bones were those of a human being, but the others were not. Most of the day was devoted to trying to locate the hidden vats in which Machinist Chappelle told the police Holmes was accustomed to boil the The secret tunnel described bodies. by Mrs. Sylvester, of Kansas City, has not been found. People who knew Dr. Russler in Englewood say he disappeared suddenly in 1892, and some adhere to the theory that he met death in the charnel house. He had an office in the Holmes building and the two men were often seen to-

A SENSATIONAL STORY. Philadelphia, July 29.-Since the disclosures which have given Holmes such wide notoriety, an afternoon paper here has published several exclusive stories were interesting to read, but were all of the "they do say," or "a mysterious stranger said today" class, without giving any substantial authority for their publication. This paper publishes today a "scoop" purporting to give a new statement by Holmes of the death of Benjamin Pitezel, as follows: "On the Saturday night preceding the deatn of Pitezel the latter called on Holmes at the house where he was stopping here, on North Eleventh street. Pitezel was greatly downcast, and told a heartrending story of his pecuniary difficulties and of the sickness of his daughter in St. Louis. Holmes remonstrated with Pitezel about his spendthrift habits, and told him that unless he quit drinking he would no longer assist him. Pitezel made threats that he would commit suicide, and the men separated for the night. On the follow-ing day (Sunday) Holmes went to call on Pitezel at the Callowhill street house. Pitezel was nowhere about the lower part of the house, and Holmes, after waiting twenty minutes for him, concluded to look for him. His search resulted in the discovery of a note addressed to himself. The note directed him to go up to the second floor and open a closet, in which he would find a large blue bottle containing another note addressed to Holmes. Holmes found the note in the bottle, and was horrified when he read it. It told Holmes that his (Pitezel) dead body would be found in the house. The letter pleaded with Holmes to take care of the writer's children, and suggested that there would be no difficulty in collecting the insurance from the Fi-delity now the death of Pitezel had occurred. Holmes found the dead body of his friend and sat in the room with it for over an hour, in doubt as to what course to pursue. He finally decided that since Pitezel had killed himself there would be no harm in destroying the evidence of suicide and making it appear as if Pitezel had met with an accidental death. Holmes pried open the mouth of the dead man and poured into it a quantity of explosive chemi-cals. He then placed the lighted match in the corpse and the explosion which so horribly disfigured the body followed. To give more reality to the impresion that Pitezel met death by accident, Holmes lighted Pitezel's pipe, then blew out the flame after the tobacco had been partly consumed, and placed the pipe beside the body. It was nearly 4 o'clock in the afternoon when Holmes left the house, and that night he went to Chicago with his wife (Mrs. Howard).

When Mr. Shoemaker was told of the above alleged statement of his client, he refused to discuss it. He said that Holmes had been talking too much, and that when his client was brought to trial he would produce his evidence. HOLMES' WIFE.

Despite statements to the contrary, it is said that "Mrs. Howard" is in sympathy with Holmes, her husband, and will do everything in her power to aid

A CANADIAN'S NARROW ESCAPE. Chas. E. Davis, son of the proprietor of the Mitchell (Ont.) Advocate, does business on the ground floor of the building in Chicago that was occupled by Holmes, the murderer. It is rnized some burnt elry, found in a furnace, as that ty Minnie Williams. Davis carried an insurance of $10,000 or $20,000 on his life, and the press reports say that he was marked as a subject by Holmes, who told a woman that he intended to kill Davis, but Davis was warned by friend, to whom he no doubt owes his life.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY Indianapolis, Ind., July 20.—Detective Geyer, who is here searching for the house in which he thinks Holmes murdered Howard Pietzel and disposed of the body, has made the startling announcement that he has discovered enough here to convince him that the arch-murderer had laid his plans to murder his fifth wife, Georgina Howard, and her mother, Mrs. Yoke, of Franklin, in this city, as soon as he should get rid of the Pietzel family. Detective Geyer obtained his clue at the real estate office of John L. Wright, who had dealings with Holmes while the latter was darting from one hotel to another with the Pietzel children. At that time Holmes had been given authority by Georgina Howard make a deal with other heirs for her property at Franklin and had her mother's consent. Owing to some hitch the deal was dropped temporarily. Detective Geyer asserts that as soon as Holmes had got the few thousand dollars coming to his wife, he would have disposed of both Georgina and her mother as he did of the Pietzels. Detective Geyer still holds to the belief that Howard Pietzel was murdered in this city, although his body might have been disposed of in Chicago. Thus far he has no clue to any house in this city that Holmes rented. He says all traces of the boy end in Indianapolis.

MRS. CIGRAND TALKS. Anderson, Ind., July 30.-Mrs. Cigrand, mother of Holmes' victim, was seen today for the first time, and sne proved to be the most interesting of the family when she at last laid aside her timidity and began to talk. She can account for the big trunk in which Miss Emily's body was taken out of the castle. About a week before her marriage with Phelps, Miss Cigrand packed her trunk full of her clothes and wrote a letter to her mother stating that she was going to return them and her trunk. She hoped that the folks at home, who were common folk, could use them and also the trunk. She said that Mr. Phelps was very wealthy and bought her new clothes and a great big trunk. It was a very large one, she said, and she did not need the one she The trunk was received at Lafayette, charges prepaid. It was brought out of a closet today and the contents examined. It is a very large trunk. This accounts, Mrs. Cigrand thinks, for the great trunk that she was carried out of the castle in. There is hardly any doubt in the matter. The trunk was not received until a day or two after her supposed wedding. The address was on a card written with a typewriter. The clothes were examined, but not a trace of blood could be found. Mrs. Cigrand says that the trunk was packed very carelessly and did not look like a moman's work. Mrs. Cigrand also remembered of another letter coming from the missing daughter. It was written on a typewriter and signed Emma. It did not bear any date or street number and was very short. It simply said: "Why don't you write? I am distracted."

Mr. and Mrs. Cigrand received word from Chicago today to come to their uncle's, Dentist Cigrand, who several years ago resided here. They will leave at midnight. Since reading everything that has come out, they are confident that the fate of the girl is not summed up incorrectly. They also find that she drew $300 out of the Fowler National Bank at Lafavette about that time.

Another big strike of gold in British Columbia, north of Trail Creek, is causing a rush. Miss Emma Foster is the name of the young woman who fell dead on the street in Hamilton on Friday night. The Ontario Agricultural College has just made a profitable sale of live stock to Strachan & White.

An Ottawa dispatch says the prospects are bright for the opening of the Canadian Soo Canal before the end of next month.

All the twine manufactured at the Kingston penitentiary during the past two seasons has been sold for use in Ontario and Manitoba. The Quebec Government will shortly remove the business tax, the imposition of which some time ago caused a great deal of dissatisfaction among Montreal merchants. The contractors have succeeded in placing two gates in lock 17 of the Cornwall Canal. They have a large force of men at work night and day. The Ontario prohibition appeal case is set down for hearing before the Brit-ish Privy Council on Thursday. Sir Oliver Mowat will attend in connection with the case.

R. Carmody, a Toronto commercial traveler, while trying to put a boy onto a trolley car at Hamilton, was knocked down and sustained severe injuries to his back.

Wm. Sliney, age 22, was driving a cray of flour on Monday afternoon in Halifax, N. S., when he fell off, and the wheels passed over him, causing death. Mrs. Carey, wife of Mr. Carey, of Woodstock, died very suddenly on Saturday evening. She was seized with a choking fit, caused by the rupture of a blood vessel. She sank rapidly, and died at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning. Charles Duchene, an employe of the E. B. Eddy Company, was working at plumbing in the lower part of one of the mills on Monday, when a jet of boiling solder poured directly into one of his eyes. He will doubtless lose the sight of the optic. Russell Ryan, the ex-station agent of the G. A. R. at Eastman's Springs, pleaded guilty before Judge Ross on Monday morning to taking $60 97 of the funds of the company. He was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison. The electric launch which has been running since the first of July on the canal at Brantford, was burnt to the water's edge on Sunday night. The fire is supposed to have been started from the storage battery. Loss about $1,000. Insured in the Guardian Insurance Company for $700. It is denied by the crown officials at Montreal that Andrew Boyd, of the firm of Boyd, Gillies & Co., has made a confession admitting his connection with the fire bugs recently arrested there. Boyd gave information to the crown regarding the fire in his place, which led to the arrest of Haynes, a former bookkeeper. Charley Will, youngest son of Ald.

Will, of Windsor, has been away from home over four weeks, but it was only saturday that his parents became alarmed. Dispatches have been sent all over the Province. Young Will is about 18 years of age, and an ardent bicyclist. A month ago he started off on a Provincial tour. At the end of a week he wrote to his mother for some more money, which was sent to him at Woodstock. Having just left there the letter was forwarded to other points, on Saturday evening it turned up in Windsor, undelivered.

TALKING WITH ABERDEEN.

Premier Greenway and His Cabinet -

Rumored Proposal by the Dominion. Winnipeg, Man., July 30.-Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, has arrived here and had a long conference with Sir John Schultz, Governor of Manitoba. The subject of their conference was the perplexing Manitoba parochial school question. Premier Greenway and several of his Ministers also conferred with Lord Aberdeen. It is ascertained that in a few days the Dominion will submit to the Manitoba Government an amended proposition for the restoration of the Roman Catholic schools, the chief feature of which proposition is that the teachers of these schools must pass the examination prescribed for public school teachers and that the Roman Catholic schools must in every way come fully up to the standard of the public schools. WHO ARE THEY?

SIXTEEN THOUSAND TAILORS

On Strike in New York-Their Complaint. New York, July 29.-Of the 16,000 men and women on strike, 8,000 are in the city, 6,000 in Brooklyn and Brownsville, 1,200 in Newark, where the strike was ordered this morning, and 900 Lithuanian tailors in this city and East New York. A settlement committee is in session continually, prepared to settle with any contractors who desire to sign the agreements. Mr. Schoenfeld said that tailors' strikes would also occur in Chicago, Baltimore and Boston, Rioting, attended with bloodshed, occurred today in the Hebrew colony on Sigel street, Brooklyn. The first trouble was at the shop at No. 54 Sigel street, kept by the firm of Kaufman & Cohen. Here 173 tailors went out early this morning, and when a few non-union men applied for work they were pushed away. Some of the non-union men were beaten when they insisted on trying to enter the shop, and as they ran away, one or two of them bleeding, an alarming report spread that many persons were killed. The police reserves of the sixth precinct charged the strikers, and several were hurt in the sharp skirmish. A number of shots were fired by rioters, but as far as known no one was seriously hurt. An attack was also made on the shop of Challs, at No. 91 Ewen street, when the police reserves ran to the scene and scattered the crowd.

THOMAS NUGENT'S FUNERAL.

Woodland,

Near the Scene of His Early Associations—Was a Philanthropist in the True Sense of the Word-Service at St. Paul's.

The funeral of the late Thomas Nugent, a former well-known Londoner, selling at 75c, our 65c Blouses we are who died in Ontario, California, took place yesterday from St. Paul's Cathedral to Woodland. A large number of people assembled at the church to hear the words of consolation uttered by the officiating clergyman-Rev. H. H. Waters, New Orleans, who is taking the place of the dean at present. Many of the most prominent business men of the city-especially the older school -were present.

All the children of deceased attended his funeral except his daughter Amanda, who is living in Ontario, California, but was too ill to be here. His sons are Byron, Dan, Charles and James, from St. Louis; Frank, from Winnipeg; John, from New York; and William, from Chi-Apron Linen, with fancy borders, cago. The seven sons acted as pallbearers.

The floral offerings were on a magnificent scale, and most elaborate. A floral cross was perhaps the most conspicuous, being within a few inches of six feet long and correspondingly wide. It was the work of Gammage, and probably is the largest ever made up in the city. The other offerings were a pillow, a star, an anchor, a sickle and sheaf, and a wreath—all from members of the family. The top of the casket and a large table were necessary to display the flowers.

Mr. Nugent was born in Prince Edward county, Ontario, Canada, March 18. 1812. He lived on the old farm where he was born for 40 years, taking care of his parents and younger brothers and sisters. His father died in the 91st year of his age. In 1852 Thomas Nugent purchased a beautiful farm at Belmont, Ont., and moved on it in September of that year. The farm was in its natural state, heavily wooded, and the village of Belmont consisted of but a few houses. He immediately began clearing his farm and improving the town, by building a school house and churches, giving the land for the Episcopal. Presbyterian and Methodist churches and parsonages, and contrib-uting largely to the building of each and their support. The town grew to be quite a place in a few years. He raised a family of nine children, eight sons and one daughter, all of whom are now living except one son, Morgan, who died in 1870. He educated his children and helped them start in business. A few years later he sold his grove, and lived until his death, July 22 last. In Ontario, Cal., he purchased a large tract of land in the town, and began laying it out as a beautiful park. When it was completed he gave it to the town of Ontario, about one month be-fore he died, and on the 4th of July last the town received the gift, giving to him a great ovation, and naming the farm at Belmont and moved to London, park Nugent's Park.

The Usual Lively Time at Last Night's Meeting.

Strong Language Hurled Across the Table-Will the Pound Be Sold? A New Collector and Two Assessors Appointed.

A special meeting of the London West Council was held in the school house last night, Reeve Macdonald, Councilors Moore, Murdoch, Andrews and Hamilton being present.

Among the communications was a letter from Manager Carr, of the street railway company, in which he stated that Clerk Simpson had notified him that the company was not keeping up to its contract with the village in regard to the condition of the track on the Wharncliffe road. Mr. Carr said he was keeping the road strictly in ac-cordance with the agreement between the village and the company, and had been breaking boulders on the line last

The communication was referred to the Board of Works. Councilor Moors stated (at he had been informed that it was the intention of the street railway company to take the car off for a few days. Reeve Macdonald said he doubted the truthfulness of this report, and the matter dropped.

Collector Jones tendered his resignation, owing to press of other business. Mr. Jones' resignation was accepted, and the thanks of the council were tendered to him for past services.

It was then moved by Councilor Moore, seconded by Councilor Hamilton, that Mr. James Campbell be appointed collector. This was carried unanimously, and Mr. Campbell was duly installed.

A communication from one Cottam, to purchase the village pound elicited some discussion. Councilor Moore said the pound was of no use whatever to the village, and might as well be sold. Councilor Hamilton expressed the same opinion. Councilor Murdoch said it would be un-fair to the residents of the village to sell the pound, as if there were no public pound the fines imposed on the owners of stray animals would be increased from 50 cents to $8 or $10. In reply to a question by Councilor Moore, the fact was brought out that Councilor Murdoch's horse had been in the pound Sunday night.

The matter was then referred to the finance committee. A bylaw appointing Messrs. Hevey and Lacey assessors was then taken up.
There was a lot of discussion concerning this, and in the course of his remarks Councilor Moore referred to the reeve as a usurper of another man's seat, and accused Councilor Hamilton of opposing everything that was for the good of the village.

Councilor Hamilton said that common decency would not permit him to put up with the insults of Councilor Moore. He intimated that if that gentleman did not like what he said or did, he could "lump" it.

After a time the reeve succeeded in obtaining order. The bylaw was then passed, Councilors Murdoch, Hamilton and Andrews voting yea, and Councilor Moore Messrs. Meredith, Cameron, Judd & Dromgole were appointed village solicitors. The council then adjourned.

A CYCLONE LOCOMOTIVE.

Great Things Expected of the New Jersey Central's New Flyer.

On the stroke of 6:12 o'clock every evening there pulls out of the Jersey Central station in Jersey City a new and huge locomotive, which can run a mile in 36 seconds. This monster arouses such interest in all who catch a glimpse of it that every evening a crowd of men and women-passengers by the various outgoing trains-gather round it and gaze on it with amazement. Even the engineers and firemen from other trains show an unusual interest in it. The engine is No. 385 and was built by the Baldwin Locomotive Company, Philadelphia, for the Philadelphia and Reading, under contract to make the run from Camden to Atlantic City (90 miles) in 90 minutes, says the New York Sun. It is running temporarily on the Royal Blue line to Philadelphia to get ready for service. It is a comengine, built on the English model, with a small smokestack, and is the only locomotive of the kind in existence. In its general appearance it impresses one as being much larger than it really is. It is higher than the ordinary locomotive, but by actual measurement it is one inch less in length than engines of the biggest type in use. The driving wheels are the central feature. There are two instead of four, as is the rule on other passenger engines. Instead of being at the back of the locomotive they are in the middle, and directly under the cab. They are seven feet high. The engine is equipped with a Wooster firebox, and burns very fine buckwheat coal. It is run under 200 pounds steam pressure and uses the steam twice, for high and low pressure, which insures a saving of fuel and water. This locomotive is expected to revolutionize railroad transportation, and its trial trips are being watched with a great deal of interest by railroad men. 'ACCIDENT TO THE AURANIA'. New York, July 29.-The steamer from Bremen, passed the dis-Cunarder Aurania on the 27th abled inst. The Aurania's engines had been slightly damaged. She refused assist-

THE TORONTO GLOBE AND THE JUDICIAL COMMITTEE OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

Our enterprising Toronto contemporary is daily making some new discovery in reference to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In its issue of Friday it informs its readers that "The last deliverance of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council is an opinion and not a judgment." The declaration of our contemporary is peculiar.

The opinion of their Lordships differs from that of our contemporary; so, too, does that of the official reporters, for they were of opinion that the deliverance of their Lordships was a judgment, and they reported it as such, and it will be found along with other judgments of their Lordships in the Law

The words of the Canadian statute authorizing the appeal are: "The opinion of the court upon any such reference (i.e., the Supreme Court) although advisory only, shall for all purposes of appeal to her Majesty in Council, be treated as a final judgment of the said court between the parties."

In the sense in which the judgment of the Supreme Court is an opinion, all judgments of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council are opinions. So, too, are the judgments of all the prize courts in Christendom. No judgment of the Judicial Committee is other than advice to the sovereign, which the sovereign sanotions subsequently upon advice of her constitutional Ministry. The decision of the committee never operates as the judgment of an ordinary judicial tribunal. It is not a court, but a Council of State. The statute which creates it authorizes it not to hear and determine, but to hear and report. The words are, "such appeals, causes and matters shall be heard by the said Judicial Committee, and a report or recommendation thereon shall be made to his Majesty in Council for his decision thereon."

In the first Manitoba case their Lordships conclude their report as follows: "In the result their Lordships will humbly advise her Majesty that these appeals ought to be allowed with costs.' And in the second appeal they say: "Their Lordships will humbly advise her Majesty that the questions submitted should be answered in the manner indicated by the views which they have expressed. There will be no costs of this appeal." In both cases there is a reasoned judgment. Upon the second the Judicial Committee make a report which concludes in these words: "And in case your Majesty should be pleased to approve of this report, then their Lordships so direct that the parties do bear their own costs of this appeal, and that the sum of £300 sterling so deposited by the appellants as aforesaid be repaid to them." Now what did her Majesty do with regard to this report? "Her Majesty having taken the said report into consideration, was pleased by and with the advice of her Privy Council to approve thereof, and to order as it is hereby ordered that the recommendations and directions therein contained be punctually observed and obeyed and carried into effect in each and every particular. Whereof the Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada for the time being, and all other persons whom it may concern, are to take notice and govern themselves accordingly."

Our contemporary thinks they ought to take no notice, and to refuse to govern themselves accordingly; that there no authority to order and no constitutional duty to obey. It is clear that both the Judicial Committee and her Majesty's responsible advisers were of a wholly different opinion, and we think on a question of constitutional law they are safer and more authorita-Canada than our esteemed contempor- this is the center—the drought has done Canada than our esteemed contemporatively little damage, whereas and gives a clear and be comparatively little damage, whereas for sale by W. their conclusions with more confidence. No rule is better settled in the practice than this: "That her Majesty cannot with propriety be advised to refer to a Committee of Council in England a question which her Majesty in Council has no authority to determine, and on which the opinion of the Privy Council would not be binding on the parties in the Dominion of Canada." Here the parties are clothed with a limited sovereignty, and there is no coercive authority to enforce obedience to the Queen's order made under the sanction of law, but there is a constitutional presumption that every State functionary will conform to the law, and this is a reasonable presumption,

"Let justice be done." It is indeed late in the century to seek to bring the law and its expounders into disrepute, and to revive the doctrine of the Stuarts in a modified form, and to argue that the supreme law should not bind either the Legislature of a Province or the Federal Parlia-

In the recent elections the Victoria Australia) electors refused to longer maintain a "protective" tariff. In the boot-making trade, where there has been an import duty of $1 25 per pair, wages are now so low titioned for assistance to emigrate to the gold fields. They stated that they were almost on the verge of starvation. BRITISH DAIRYMEN MAY VISIT

There is a probability that the British Dairy Farmers' Association may hold its next annual convention in Canada. The matter has been discussed by the council, which fixes the meeting place. Mr. Pocock urged that visit to Canada would be of great interest and practical value, and Mr. Webb, who is interested in several Canadian industries, and others, said this suggestion was worthy of consideration. The secretary stated that several members had already expressed their wish to visit Canada whenever the association organized such a trip. We are sure that the dairymen of Canada would warmly welcome a visit from their progressive English brethren.

How would it do to invite the English association to hold a joint convention with the Western Ontario Dairymén's Association, say, in this city. Right around here, in the counties of Middlesex, Oxford, Huron, Elgin and Perth, we have the most advanced dairymen on this continent. A comparison and mutual criticism of methods would be invaluable.

WHAT CAUSES DROUGHT:

In an interview given elsewhere, Professor Wiggins, of Ottawa, states that the drought which has prevailed in Ontario this year is caused, as in 1887, by the absorption of electricity by the telegraph wires, which now are plentiful throughout the country. The doctor talks entertainingly, but he seems to be a trifle off in his deductions, or how comes it that in Western Ontario-in the district of which in Grey and Bruce counties great havoc has overtaken the crops? There are far more electric wires in this part of Canada than there is in the region bordering on Georgian Bay, which has suffered the greatest injury.

HARSH ARRESTS UNNECESSARY IN LONDON.

The case of George Smart, errested on Sunday forenoon for obstructing City Policeman Monaghan while impounding his cow, deserves more than passing notice. While constables must be protected in the execution of their duty, the Chief and Police Commissioners should see to it that their men are not unduly officious in making unnecessary arrests.

Taking the evidence as given at the Police Court as our guide, we reach the conclusion that no matter how the law may be stretched, the arrest of George Smart was absolutely unnecessary, and the conduct of the officer, in handcuffing a well-known and respected citizen, and dragging him through the streets to the cells, was also unwarranted. The constable, it seems, picked up Mr. Smart's cow, which had broken out of a pasture field, and was driving her to the pound. With but an imperfect knowledge of the law, Mr. Smart attempted to regain possession of the animal, whereupon he was arrested, and though he was in his shirtsleeves, and pleaded to be allowed to to his home near-by to get his coat, the constable refused this very modest request, and instead handcuffed him, and took him to the station, while the streets were crowded with church-

Though Mr. Smart had been a murderer instead of a mere breaker of a city bylaw, he could not have been treated with less consideration, and probably no one more than the officer, in his cooler moments, would be ready to concede this. If Mr. Smart had resisted arrest, if he had refused even to give his correct name and address, one might concede that it was right to submit him to the indignity of being handcuffed and dragged to the police station. But surely in a case of this kind, the policeman would have been doing his full duty if he had accompanied Mr. Smart to his home, satisfied himself of the man's bona fides, and duly summoned him before the court.

A TERROR TO EVIL-DOERS. Whether Holmes, the man charged with wholesale murder, is tried at Philadelphia or Toronto is of small moment, provided the law can reach him, and its administrators are not tampered with. So far the most direct evidence against Holmes has been found in Toronto, where he is held for trial for brutally slaying the Pietzel children, and if he is placed on trial for the murder of their father first, it will be because the Philadelphia officials believe that they can convict him of that crime. If not, he will certainly be sent to Canada, It is with satisfaction that we read in our United States contemporaries strong tributes to the efficiency with which the criminal law is administered in this Province. They tell us that criminal justice is administered more certainly and more promptly in the courts of the Dominion than in those of all of the American States. "The probabilities of a criminal getting his dues in Canada," remarks the Chicago Record, "are ten times greater than they are in Chicago. "A trial in Chicago," adds our contemporary, "would be protracted for months, and would end in a disagreement of the jury."

The criminal gets fair play here, but no more. That is all a prisoner has a right to expect, whether he be guilty or not guilty. The delays of justice over the border have become scandalous. Holmes could not have been well acquainted with our methods of doing business, or he would never have extended his line of operations over the

A charming story is that told by Rev. Egerton R. Young, the intrepid Northwest missionary, in his new romance recently published. Its title is "Oowikapun, or How the Gospel Reached the Nelson River Indians." A beautiful picture of Indian life in the far north is given. The habits of the aborigine, their homes, the bravery of their men and women, and love-making, are portrayed. It is shown what a heroic maiden was willing to suffer in order that she might be faithful to the Christian truth, once imparted to her, and take it to her people. The story should do much to inspire an interest in missionary effort. (Toronto, Wm. Briggs, publisher.)

Dr. Bourinot, clerk of the Canadian House of Commons, has written several works on Canada and her constitution, but until he issued his latest book none were specially adapted to the needs of the masses. In his new work, "How Canada Is Governed," Dr. Bourinot meets this want. It gives a short account of the executive, judicial and municipal institutions of the Dominion, with an outline of their development. It is a citizen's manual, and there is very little in connection with the management of the country that a student cannot with ease glean from its well arranged chapters. the Dominion and other illustrations add to its attractiveness. (Toronto: The Copp. Clark Company, Limited, publishers.)

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in very heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. CRICKET.

CAPT. HYMAN'S TEAM WINS. Chicago, Ill., July 29.—The Canadian team. of London, Ont., and Toronto cricketers, captained by Charles S. Hyman, of the London Cricket Club, played their first game of the week's series on the grounds of the Wanderers today, and defeated their opponents-a pick of Chicago and suburban cricketers, known as Helliwell's team. The same men were taken to Canada by Capt. Helliwell, of the Cicero Club. The Canadians scored 159 runs and extras, the score of Helliwell's team being 113. Twelve men were played on each side.

The visitors took the field first. The wicket was fast. Bowling honors were about even between Laing and Goldingham, the latter also distinguishing himself at the bat. Capt. Hyman elected to go to bat last, and the first ball went through his wicket. The local team lost the game from poor fielding. Score: HELLIWELL'S TEAM.

ALERT CHANGES. "Struck Out" has this to say: was much surprised to notice in the city papers, also at the last two games ed by the Alerts, that Manager Reid had deemed it necessary to release their very reliable third baseman, John Player; also that he had placed Steve Dunn on second, and still continues keeping an out-field man much worse than any in the City League. If Tierney can be shifted round to suit any position, why not play him in the out-field? Player certainly put up a much more valuable game than any of the men in the outer garden. Dunn may have got off so far without any errors, but when it comes to covering ground he is not of much account, and I think you will agree with me when I state that his batting days seem to be past. Any person who is acquainted with the members of the Alerts must know that Player has had a great deal of trouble the last few years, and deserves great credit for the plucky game he has played. He should have been encouraged by his captain instead of called down in front of the stands. Player has signed with Hamilton, and will, I hardly doubt, show before long that Manager Reid has made a mistake, to say nothing of the shabby treatment

THE WINDSOR MEETING. Windsor, Ont., July 29.-Appearances would seem to indicate that the Windsor meeting is to become a very momentous affair, and make Windsor the racing center of the west. The fight between the Oakley officials and the law and order people will, it is said, result in shutting down racing there at the close of this week or next, and Saratoga is on the point of breaking up for the same reason. If this occurs there will be but one point in the west, outside of St. Louis, where there is a chance for the runners, and that point is Windsor. All day yesterday there was a crowd of owners at the track, imploring the officials to provide stable room. The 375 horses alavailable inch of room, and horsemen ready at the track have filled every stand around and claim a stall even before the roof is put on. Still more stable room is asked for. There will be no games of chance allowed at the track, except that incidental to the horse racing itself. GRAND CIRCUIT MEETING. Cleveland, O., July 29.-The Grand Circuit meeting opened auspiciously here today. The attendance was the largest of any first day in the history of the Glenville track, fully 5,000 peo ple being in the stands. Larabie was a strong favorite in the 2:33 trot, and would have won in straight heats had he not broken in the first heat on the first turn, Fred Kohle showing a good burst of speed and winning out. Larabie won the next three heats as he pleased, going the fourth in 2:12 3-4, and lowering his Detroit record 1 3-4 seconds. The talent got a bad throw down in the 2:22 trot. Red of Waranoke was a favorite at $16 to $15 for the field. Bassora, an outsider, won in three

The following item should be stereotyped for general use in all towns where there is to be racing: Over 500 horses are now at the track and train loads are arriving every hour. The coming events promise to eclipse all previous meetings in the history of the turf. Visiting horsemen all unite in the statement that the local track is the fastest and best in the world, and grow almost hysterical in speaking of its matchless merits. Several world's records are expected to be shattered each day of the races.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

A London Carriage Painter Thought to Be the Man Who Burglarized a Sarnia Residence.

Sarnia Observer: Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock Mr. Geo. Ingersoll, while standing in the doorway of Geary's drug store, noticed a man go up the stairway of the Carter Block, and thinking it peculiar that a stranger should have any business there on Sunday, notified Mr. Geary, who had rooms in the upper flat of the Carter building. On going over to investigate, Mr. Geary found the man on the second stairway, and being asked his business said he wanted to see Mr. Hanna. He was piloted to the door and informed that Mr. Hanna's residence was on Emeric street. Mr. Ingersoll got a second look at the man when he was passing up the street, and recognized him as the man he had seen coming out of Mr. Bruce's yard on Friday afternoon last, the day on which the house was broken into and robbed of about $50 worth of jewelry, etc.

Mr. Bruce happened along shortly after, and on learning Mr. Ingersoll's story, immediately set out in search of man, coming up with him on Christina street, and had him arrested. He appeared before the mayor this morning on a charge of vagrancy. He was remanded until Monday next to enable the police to investigate the Point Edward burglary. Defendant says his name is Frederick N. Scott, that he is a carriage painter and came from London Wednesday with the Chosen Friends, and his folks live on King street, near Adelaide.

DURRANT'S DEED BRAMATIZED.

And the Performers Are Placed Under

San Francisco, July 30.—The production of the new play entitled "The Crime of a Century," which was placed on the stage at the Alicazar Theater last night, was stopped in the middle of the third act. Just at the point when Dubois, the character who is supposed to impersonate Durrant, was about to drag a young woman to the belfry of a church, Sheriff Whelan and his deputies marched on the stage and arrested the performers, eleven in all. The manager of the theater was also placed under arrest. The manager stepped before the curtain and made a speech in which he claimed he had a right to produce the play, but he was taken into custody nevertheless for disobeying the order made by Judge Murphy restraining him from putting the piece on the stage. A great crowd attended the performance, which was hissed at intervals. The whole company spent the night in jail.

AN ORANGE DECLARATION. Halifax, July 29.—The Orange Grand Black Chapter of British America met last evening. The Most Worshipful Grand Master, Sir Robert Weir, in his address, said it was the duty of each of them to do all in their power to defeat the proposed remedial legisla-tion for Manitoba by bringing what influence they could to bear on their representatives, and by pledging all candidates for Parliamentary honors in future to use their voices and votes for the maintenance of the public schools system throughout the Dominion.

OTTAWA SEPARATE SCHOOLS. Ottawa, July 29.—The report of the commissioners appointed by the Ontario Government to investigate the condition of Ottawa's separate schools is being prepared. It is stated that the commissioners have obtained facts that are a surprise even to themselves. They have abundant evidence to show that the Roman Catholics had good reason to be dissatisfied with the education their children were receiving. It seems that the teaching of the Christian Brothers receives the severest criticism, but the separate school board will be exonerated.

If not, read on to the end, when you will know more about our business methods than when you started. Just here we wish to state that as there is a time for everything, now is the time to buy, because at this season we are getting ready for incoming goods and are desirous of clearing out all lines of summer goods, even though we trim the profit off as an inducement. This is what we call getting ready. It is our province as merchants, and our interest too, to finish each season with clean shelves. It pays us better to get our money out of these lines than to pack them away to endeavor some other time to secure the regular price. We are offering too large a list of summer goods to enumerate the very close prices. You think over your requirements and come and see if we have it. Ten to one we have. DEFECTS IN SCHOOLS.

The Fundamental Shortcomings of Public Education.

Practical Knowledge Now More Needed Than Anything Else.

(From the Chicago Herald.)

The American people are awaking slowly to the fact that there is a fundamental defect in the structure of their free school sysem. It is a lack of proportional attention to manual training. It was our inevitable misfortune to pay tribute to a British ideal in founding free schools. At the time the American foundation was made education in Great Britain was the exclusive privilege of birth or of fortune. It is to be remembered that only in this generation has a free common school been opened to the poor in the wealthiest part of the British Empire, England. Only after prodigious effort and longdeferred hope was the spelling book allowed to the child of the English laborer. The allowance, grudging and late, was conditioned upon the presumption that a little spelling, a little reading and writing and figuring made up the sum total of instruction that ought to be given to any but a rich man's son. The common schools of the United States have been generally based upon a like idea, liberalized so as to lead from mere rudiments up the broadening path of academic and collegiate instruction, but until within recent years altogether literary. If we were to be merely a commercial people; if our role among nations was exclusively a buying and selling one; if we were to originate nothing in the arts or crafts; if, as a nation, we were never to become artistic, or, like England herself, to remain content with an artistic taste derived from a generous patronage of foreign art, with only mediocrity and slavishness at home-merely literary training would be enough for American youth.

A different destiny fortunately awaited us. The best blood of the oldest nations of the western world in our veins, an artistic inheritance was bound to make leaps for life when political liberty and social equality afforded the necessary conditions. In spit of a total absence of any but literary instruction. the feeling for design broke out spontaneously and compelled creation of special institutions in which the craving for artistic expression found vent. We produced, even in our national infancy, a group of artists who won fame abroad when the country lacked means to reward them at home. The presence in American soil of the clays, metals and stones that belong to fine and industrial arts; the rapid development of architecture demanding adepts in decoration; a growing intimacy between American thought and the standards of continental art finally coerced attention of educators and patriots alike upon the grave fault in our common schools—exclusiveness of literary training, overflowing the country with annual tides of young men and women things for our customers that | totally ignorant of practical knowledge. Another no less potent force was simultaneously working demonstration ting the lowest possible price, simultaneously working demonstration of the defect. Rich in woods suited to decorative uses, cabinet making, draw vantage of all the study of ing for textile factories, and designing in glass and pottery engrossed an anstyles and of the most perfect | nually multiplying aggregate of skilled labor earning the highest wage. It was found to be entirely a foreign-born and foreign-bred skill. It came and everything we sell. If articles continues to come almost entirely from continental Europe. American youth received no instruction in drawing or modeling in the common schools. Foreign youth receiving that instruction in Prussia, Saxony, France, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary and Bohemia, came and come over here to take the highest stipend paid for any form of abor, and American youth remain excluded from its opportunities. It is a common saying today, and a true one, that in the United States there are laborers and artists, but few artisans. Our artists are the progeny of special schools and of the now sturdy beginning made in manual instruction in the common schools. Many people cherish the illusion that manual training makes carpenters, bricklayers and blacksmiths. It is this error that has obstructed the progress of manual training even in cities. Manual training, properly so called, is the grammar of form. As well expect a child to become a musician without learning either the science or art of music, or another to become a doctor without going to a school in medicine, as anyone to become skilled in the arts of design or the useful crafts without manual training. The study of form is the foundation of all technical knowledge. With their superior health, food, lodgment, clothing, with a vista open to any width he pleases for every American child, the youth of the United States can easily become foremost in the arts and crafts if the rudimentary instruction, indispensable for a sympathy with principles of design, be given in the common schools.

GRASSHOPPERS AND DROUGHT.

Some Specimen Experiences in Grey and Bruce Counties, Ont.

The tract of country in the north which is chiefly affected by the great drought and grasshoppers, embraces the townships of Bentinck, Glenelg, Holland, Sullivan and parts of Euphrasia and Artemesia, in Grey county, with Brant, Edersile, Saugeen and Bruce, in the county of Bruce. A writer who took a trip through these townships says:

Fall whea t will yield about 50 per cent of an average crop; hay 25 per cent; peas good, nearly up to the average; oats, 35 per cent; root crop very poor; fruit none. Through Brant and Elderslie all crops are very poor, but it is only when you come into the Grey townships, where a grasshopper plagu Elderslie all crops are very poor, but has been added to those of frost and drought, that any person can form an idea as to what total annihilation of the crop means. I called upon a number of farmers today whose reports I subjoin. I may say that I was careful enough to call only on successful, energetic men. On all the farms visited were all the evidences of thrift -stone or brick hoses, large barns, good outbuildings and fences; in fact, a thrifty and successful community.

GUARDING A DIAMOND. When a diamond is found weighing more than 100 carats the news is usually heralded with much ado. It is not be wondered at, therefore, if the finding of the "Excelsior" created considerable excitement. It weighed in the rough 971 carats, and was found near Jagersfountain, in the Orange Free State. When examined it was found to be a white stone of the first water, but had a small flaw in the center. The inspector of the mine, a Swede named Jorgensoen, was the lucky finder. The proprietors of the mine, Breitmayer & Bernheimer, had the stone tested and valued by experts, who agreed that the value was $5,000,000. It is a fact that two offers of $3,000,000 and $4,250,000 respectively have been refused by the proprietors. Upon its transfer to the coast great precautions were taken for its protec-tion. Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Kennett, Hepkins Company.

Chicago, Ill.. July 29.—The world's exports last week were small as expected. The visible decreased quite largely, partly owing to the Armour "C" elevator becoming tregular and taking $93,000 out of the official visible and puting it into private elevator stocks. Primary receipts were hardly as large as expected, due possibly to the storm in the west. The first of the spring wheat crop from Northwestern lows arrived. The two oars solid at $c over September. It is hard, heavy, and of superior quality. If this is an indication of the crop there will be a good demand for it, and it will probably move freely while winter wheat is comparatively neglected owing to the poor quality. The condition of the export business is illustrated by the fact that Liverpool is 10c per bu over New York for corn, and but 6c over Chicago for wheat. The official French crop reports show the condition of all small grain to be good. The granger stocks continue to adports show the condition of all small grain to be good. The granger stocks continue to advance on the fine prospects for spring wheat in the Northwest, and the estimates of the yield are being raised daily. No export business is reported today, and no cash business here. Local sentiment is bullish on wheat and scalpers are generally long, but it would seem difficult to advance prices under the provailing conditions.

conditions. Corn and oats are steady and slightly firmer, with good demand for cash corn. Receipts are increasing somewhat, but the demand is equal to the supply, and the price is affected somewhat by the strength in wheat. Provisions slightly higher. It is thought Armour has been feeling the market, being a buyer and seller by turns on a small scale. It s expected that stocks will decrease but little, f any; though July is usually a good distributing month. Oll Markets.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

-The unseasonably cool weather of the last few days has had a decided check upon the holiday seekers, especiially the dake excursionists.

-Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, the new Grand Trunk president, will arrive at Montreal on Aug. 17 to commence his tour of the line. The new vice-president, Mr. Jos. Price, will be out a week

-Mr. F. W. Wodell, of Boston, voice specialist, formerly of this city, has been taken seriously ill at Hamilton, and his physician has ordered him to lay aside his teaching for at least two

-Galt Reformer: Mr. Chas. Ellis, son of Mr. Jos. Ellis, who was thought by his parents to have disappeared in a mysterious manner on Wednesday evening last, has been found. It appears he left suddenly for London. Ont., where he is visiting an aunt.

-Three boys who completed a two weeks' holiday in camp at Orchard Beach, Port Stanley, last week, are mourning the loss of a valuable bundle of their outfit. After breaking up camp they sent their luggage to the station, and while it was on the platform waiting to be checked someone purloined the bundle, valued at $20. It contained a small rifle, rugs blankets, clothing and jointed fishing pole. The police are trying to find a clue.

LONDON WILL HAVE A WINNER.

A Semi-Professional Ball Team in 1896-Like Other Clubs Now.

If the work of the Alert Baseball Club this year has not been such as to place it in the front rank, it is because London has not done as Galt and Guelph have done-imported paid playare all residents of London and working in trades or professions. Their ball playing is, therefore, a labor of love, as they receive little or no remuneration as the remuneration as the remaining th ers. The members of the present team pensate them for the loss of time and wages when away from home. Even the home games cause them to lose half a day's pay each. The Guelph and Galt players are by no means all residents of those places, except during the baseball season. They are paid regular salaries, and the teams are really semi-professional. A movement is on foot in the city to put the Alerts on the same footing next year. London, with a winning team, would be the best baseball town in the Province, and enough money could be made to properly remunerate the members. course, the majority of the present players are first-class men, and would be retained, only the weaker spots being strengthened by non-residents. It is the Alerts' turn to win the pennant, and they intend to do it next year.

THE WHEEL CARMAN JOINS THE METEORS. A well attended meeting of the Meteor Bicycle Club was held on Monday evening, and several new members were received into the club, including Mr. W. M. PERHAPS HOLMES KILLED HER. A Christian Endeavor Delegate Missing

-Where Is Mrs. Gardiner?

Boston, Mass., July 30 .- A most mysterious affair connected with the re-cent Christian Endeavor convention here has just come to light. Mrs. E. T. Gardiner, of Arcadia, Neb., who came here as a delegate to the convention, has not returned to her home and husband and children, and the report of her death is not supported by the rener death is not supported by the re-cords of the health department or by anything else. Mrs. Gardiner is 35 years old. She has always been appar-ently healthy, and when her husband received from her a letter on July stating that she was about to die he was astounded. To that letter came a supplement written by "Mr. J. Brown, of South Boston," whom neither Mr. Gardiner nor anyone else knows, stating that the woman was dead, and in the interests of economy her body would be buried here. Now, the death registries bear no record of any such death, and detectives employed by Mr. Gardiner have failed to find a trace of Mrs. Gardiner, dead or alive. It is assumed by some of those interested in the case that Mrs. Gardiner has been spirited away by thieves, who were ttracted by the large amount of money and considerable amount of jewelry she carried, while some believe she died and that her body was secured for dissection purposes. When Mrs. Gardiner was in Boston she did not stay with the rest of the Nebraska delegation at the regular headquarters, but stayed with some friends, who cannot now be found.

THE AURANIA SAFE. New York, July 30 .- The Cunard line

steamer Aurania, Capt. McKay, from Liverpool and Queenstown, which was yesterday reported in distress about 88 miles east of Sandy Hook, was sighted off the bar at 9:37 this morning.

Capt. McKay reports that on July 26 furing clear and calm weather he was obliged to stop the ship owing to a fracture in the main steam pipe, which supplies the engines with steam. The repairs were completed after a stoppage of 37 hours. The Aurania proceeded under reduced speed at the rate or accident.

The Order's Appeintees Armed-A Judge in League With Them.

Omaha, Neb., July 30.-As the first day of August approaches, the day up-on which the Churchill-Russell A. P. A.

law goes into effect, the interest in police matters becomes intensified among all classes of citizens. The malcontented police plotters have been in almost constant conference with the members of the radical element of the A. P. A. of which Judge Scott is the head, and Attorney Covell, the partner of Churchill, the leading light. Nearly all of the 222 policemen who were re-cently dismissed by the present board have been enrolled as a nucleus of the police force to be organized by the new board, and they boast that all are armed. As a part of the well laid programme it has been announced that Judge Scott has not adjourned his section of the district court, and will be on hand to issue any judicial order required by the plans of the new board. Yesterday the real inwardness of this statement became manifest when one of the band told an officer of the police force that "H— will be popping next Thursday." Asked to be more explicit, he said that the plan was to appoint the commissioners under the terms of the Churchill-Russell law at a late hour Wednesday night, and have them ready to take possession of the affairs of the police early Thursday morning. If they resisted they were to be arrested. These arrests were to be followed by the arrest of Chief of Police White and all of the officers of the force who were not in sympathy with them and who

MOUTHS

Some mouths look like peaches and cream, and some like a hole chopped into a brick wall to admit a new door or window. The mouth is a hotbed of toothaches, the bung-hole of oratory, and a baby's crowning glory. It is patriotism's fountain head and the tool chest for pie. Without it the politician would be a wanderer on the face of the earth, and the cornetist would go down into an unhonored grave. It is the grocer's friend, the orator's pride and the dentist's hope.-Leavenworth Spring Monitor.

The Secret Out.

"I-I don't know," came in a confused stammer from the woman's own lips. "This gentlemans tell me to come, and say you will be good to me. I know, ma'am, you did not like me. I didn't want to tell anything to anybody. But what I see, I see, and the gentlemans ask me more and more and then I tell

'im everything." 'What is she talking about?" cried Genevieve, dropping her air of wonder asd assuming that of cold severity. "Let her speak plainer if she has anyting to say. I do not understand these allusions."

The detective looked at the woman. "Tell your story," he commanded, with a quick gesture.

Whereupon the woman glanced round

"I am sure I didn't think what it would come at all to," she began, lifting her eyes for a moment to Gene-vieve's face and instantly dropping "It's wrong, I know, but I was always looking in through keyholes and listening. Most of all I wanted to find out about the girl you let come so often to your room when you let ncbody else come. I wanted to know so much that I used to stay longer in the room than you wanted me to, just to see if she would take off her veil. And when you caught me that time looking over your shoulder, I was only trying to find out if you was writing to this girl. It didn't seem right, but none of it was right. She was a dressmaker, and ladies like you don't put up with dressmakers' girls, keeping them in their room all alone for hours. I can't tell why I did what I did. I only want to say how it is I came back after you sent me away, ma'am, just to see if you was married all right, and if that girl was let come into your room at the last, as she was all along.'

"All of which means," the detective here dryly interposed, "that she was in the house unknown to anyone but the servants, on the evening, at the time you were married." "Ah!" Genevieve's cold, curling lip seemed to say. "She did come, ma'am, that you krow, and when I saw her go up, I got so mad I sat down on the back-etairs and cried. Then I got awful mad Celia was not looking at her old mistress or she might have found it --- "and when I difficult to proceed, heard you all go down I just ran up to see if she was left to look over the rail, at the people below, because I didn't see why you wouldn't let her do that when you have done so much for her before.

'You mean," again broke in Mr. Gryce's cool voice, "that you thought it a good opportunity to steal a sight of her face?"

A red flush answered him. "I thought so, but I did not see it, for she wasn't in the hall; and then I wondered what she could be doing shut up in that big reem, when she could be seeing all the people downstairs. Then I feel I must go in. You see I tell the truth, ma'am, for you'll not like me again any more. And when I found the door locked I couldn't think of anything, but how to see into that room and see what that gul was doing all by herself. So I went to the room next by yours. I got out of the window on to the roof, and tried to look into the window which is in the alcove--'

"Why do you stop?" Was it Genevieve speaking? Even her I usband did not know her voice. As Celia had only stopped for her breath, she looked at the lady with eyes of wonder; then went on as if no interruption had occurred.

'For I saw from the street that your shade was a little up, so that I could look in. When I tried to look I could not see the girl, and I got mad, and then because the window was not locked. I pushed it up and couldn't see her yet and couldn't hear her, too. Then I got in the window and walked in the room. She was not there."

Celia paused. Did she realize that she had reached a dramatic climax? I think not; she was only feeling a little uncomfortable; for Mrs. Cameron's eyes were fairly burning now upon her face, and in a way the most callous of mertals must have felt.

"Not there," she said, shifting her gaze and looking somewhat uncomfort-"And I was so much afraid I felt faint-like and ran to get out of the room. But the door was locked. Then I went to the alcove window, and there I got an awful fright-oh, awful. For right there by me on the floor where a lot of dresses lay, there was a hand sticking out, and it was white and cold

She gave a little scream and turned pale at the recollection, while Mrs. Cameron half rose to her feet and then sat down, inert and stricken, finding difficult for a moment to breathe, such terror seemed to pass over her at the circumstance and picture thus presented to her. Her husband, who had been seized with a shudder, too, walked straight up to the detective. "This is an incredible tale," cried he; "have you reason to believe it a true one. "Let us hear it out," was the calm "Afterwards we will talk." And he motioned to the woman to finish her story.

"I hear that some people say that an awful, dreadful scream was heard when the wedding was downstairs. It must have been a dreadful scream. I LOW WATER IN ONTARIO

a desert. Some substances will not receive others into union with them except on certain conditions. Oxygen, that has such an affinity for iron and other oxidizable bodies, will not combine with them at very low temperature, nor will when the thermometer shows 40 degrees below zero. In times of drought, such as we have now in Ontario, vast lakes and flowing rivers, though ex-rent was highly charged with electricity from the time it left the mouth of the Mississippi till it reached the mouth of the St. Lawrence; now the telegraph and telephone wires that form a wire netting across its path over the western sates conduct off its electric energy, and not only is the vapor it contains precipitated in those regions, but it is unable to reload itself with vapor on reaching the great lakes. In 1887 I visited those parts of Ontario when the drought was so disastrous during that year, and subsequently reported to the Dominion Government that the teleed out that when Western Ontario would become ruined by drought the Ottawa Valley would enjoy copious showers from electric clouds that would form over the northern hills and forests beyond the wire belt, and would float down to us on the northwest current.

to be married. It was a terrible shock and a great surprise to me. I had been dressing, and was thinking of anything else than tragedies or death. Nor do I think she meant to die then and there. But she was desperate. She had had a talk with her intended husband and had been disappointed in him. She did not want to see him again, and the contrast expressed by my bridal attire and the dreariness of her own outlook maddened her I suppose; for in a moment, as it were, she seized upon that bottle and turned it to her lips, and the deed was done, and she was dead before I got over the terror which held me breathless and immovable at her side. I was in my bridal dress and veil, sir. The ceremony had already been delayed, and I was momentarily expecting the summons to descend Should I mar the happiness of the whole company by revealing what had occurred? I thought not, in the moment I had to consider. So I just drew the poor girl into the alcove, and in grief and terror enough, God knows, covered her over with some dresses I had before pulled down from the closet and thrown upon the floor. I had barely done this and readjusted my veil, when

LONDON GEOLOGISTS AT ROCK-WOOD.

To the Editor of the 'Advertiser": Rockwood, a village in Queen's Valley, Eramosa township, county of Wellington, is a place where true geologists may go with profit—a grand exposure of limestone—which would be the making of Captain Foster if it was at Wonderland, on the Thames. But it is on the Grand River. Those are fortunate who get there in fine weather, and find Mr. Walker, of the woolen mills; Mr. Charles Strange, son of Henry Strange, Provincial land surveyor, who knows the place well. Taking the train at the G. T. R., leaving London at 7:30 a.m., you reach there before 10, and so have the whole day. Mr. Walker took the lead, and passing through the village, we were soon on the heights, where the quarries are. Men working on a 50-feet bed of blue lime-stone, in the thicknesses of about two to three inches convenient for working and handling. The dip is more than sufficient to keep them from trouble with water, as at Beachville. Deep workings will hold water, as some clay is in the seams. The large rock above makes finer looking lime, but not so strong. The men were too busy to care for fossils. At some risk many contortions of body we looked down into the pot hole, 30 feet deep and 15 feet wide, perhaps, and worn fairly smooth. Some attribute it to water and stone. There is much debris at or near the bottom, which might be many feet down. There is a crack midway from bottom to top, and at the side next the ravine an opening has been made that enables a person to get in easily. Some have risked much in climbing an extemporized ladder to carve their names. E. A. Stuart, J. S. Black, and many others, and the Erie is not left out. The caves on the road to the woolen mills are interesting and easy to see, only the back entrances to other caves need cleaning so that you may creep into them. A live geologist is wanted to develop these caves and other wonders in this interesting neighborhood. If there is money enough in the village, there are idle men to do it.

God Save the Queen. THE "ADVERTISER'S" PICNIC.

The "Advertiser" invites its many friends and readers to join its annual excursion to Port Stanley on Saturday next. The outing will be as pleasant as all former ones have been. The trains leave the city at 10:05 a.m., 2:25 p.m., 5:25 p.m., and 7:15 p.m., and returning arrive in London at 5:08 p.m., 8:27 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. A programme of races and a baseball match will be features at the Port. The steamer Joe Milton will run an average of the city of the steamer of an excursion lakeward in the afternoon. Every accommodation will be provided for guests. Fare, 30 cents. THE POLICE COURT. Harriet Chrystler, the white wife of a colored man of the same name, was the only woman at the Police Court this morning. Her Othello pleaded for her and told the magistrate that she had been home working up to yesterday afternoon and could not have been gone ong then, as the stove was warm when he got home. Mrs. Chrystler supplemented her husband's pleading with her hands clasped on the magistrate's desk, her lips quivering with emotion-or whisky—and her eyes filled with tears. In fact, Harriet looked just as penitent as she did the last time she was up. Mr. Chrystler took his wife home. A first offender from South Lonfined $5 or twenty days for drunkenness. A first offender from South London was discharged. A man named Henry Linnegan was arrested at 3 a.m. and charged with vagrancy. He was allowed to go as he had $7 in his possession and was not drunk. PYTHIAN CONGRATULATIONS. After the regular routine of Prospect Lodge, Knights of Pythias, last night. an open meeting was neld, which took the form of congratulations to the London Knights recently honored at the Grand Lodge meeting in Hamilton. There Mr. A. G. McWhinney, of Prospect Lodge, was elected grand chancellor, and ex-Ald, F. J. Fitzgerald, of Mizpah Lodge, was elected supreme representative. Both were made the recipients of handsomely engrossed addresses, and both replied feelingly and in appropriate language. During the evening the past chancellor of the district held a meeting and elected Mr. Horace Bates to the position of district deputy grand chancellor. Mr. Bates also was the subject of warm congratulations. A large number of visitors were present, and an adjournment was afterwards made to the rear hall where refreshments were furnished and a pleasant evening spent in speech and song and recitation. Among those contributing to this portion of the programme were Messrs. George Burrell, D. Smeaton, Kennedy, R. Poulton, and Wm. Hill. The committee who successfully managed the affair consisted of T. D. Hastings (chairman), George Burrell (secretary), Sam Webb, James
