THE ADVERTISER, LONDON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1906.—TEN PAGES.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

WANT TO MAKE REDUCTION; ARE AT SEA HOW TO DO SO

The Commissioners Get Into Deep Water in Rate Matter and Fall Back on City Solicitor.

The water commissioners met last night and attempted to reduce the water rates.

Before they had discussed the matter five minutes, however, they got beyond their depth, and after two hours and a half of floundering, they concluded that the city solicitor will have to be asked to frame up a resolution which will have the effect of reducing the rates.

Chairman Darch and Commissioner Saunders were present, Mayor Judd being out of the city. Supt. Moore and Secretary Ellwood were also on hand.

Mr. Saunders moved as follows:

"That the discount on the coming payment be 20 per cent. and on future payments 30 per cent., but these discounts shall not be enjoyed by any metered service where the application of the normal discount of 20 per cent will result in a lower net rate than 5.6 cents per 100 cubic feet, but in such cases the discount shall be applied down to the point of making a net rate of 5.6 cents."

Got Into Deep Water.

This looked good until Secretary Ellwood, in a troubled manner, began to ask for instructions as to its application and its effect upon the existing bylaw which fixes the rate.

It was then the commissioners got into deep water. They did not know that the rates were fixed by bylaw, until that moment, and of course, it became evident that a resolution of the board could not override a bylaw, and that it would be necessary to amend the bylaws before the cut in rates could go into effect.

Then the resolution of Mr. Saunders, as given above, was amended half a dozen times to cover the different points which came up, but like Wang's elephant, the cry was still "more hay."

It was very evident that a theoretical reduction and a practical reduction are two altogether different things. The reduction on the flat rates appeared to be easy enough, but so as to make up the difference in the meter rates, a fifteen puzzle of the worst caliber.

It is the intention of the commissioners to in future add 10 per cent to the reduction already given of 20 per cent, but for this quarter the reduction is to be 50 per cent, so as to make up the difference in the meter rates to the benefit of the rate payer.

REVENUE OFFICERS DOOMED TO DEATH BY TERRORISTS

Got Two Old Boilers, Supposed To Be Part of Illicit Stills, Near Parkhill.

What appears to be a joke in the way of an illicit still seizure took place yesterday afternoon, when the premises of two prominent farmers of East Williams were raided by Chief of Police Manes, of Parkhill, and Special Officer Flood, of Toronto.

Two old wash boilers, converted into stills, were seized, as was also a quantity of old lead pipe.

The boilers were shipped by express to the inland revenue office here, and are now in the custody of the collector, Mr. Thomas Alexander.

One boiler has evidently not been in use for ten years. The bottom is rusted out and there is a hole as big as a man's hand in one end.

The other boiler undoubtedly has not been used in five years. It is filled with rust, old rust, and insects. The latter no doubt are highly indignant at this unwarranted molestation of their ancient solitary reign.

It appears that the revenue officers have had reason to believe that illicit whisky was being made in the Parkhill district, and a watch has been kept on several men for months. As a result, the farms of two prominent residents of East Williams were raided and the old boilers were seized.

THE FOUR NEW NORMALS

Plans Received by the Government—May Soon Start to Build.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—It is understood that the plans of the four new normal schools contemplated under this year's educational programme are ready for submission to the cabinet for approval.

As soon as this is obtained, tenders will be called for and work on the schools will be commenced.

Before Christmas it is hoped to have work on the whole four well under way.

The schools are to be located at Hamilton, Stratford, Peterboro and North Bay.

QUEEN'S DEGREES.

Kingsford, Sept. 27.—The following degrees are awarded as a result of the supplemental examinations at Queen's: Mr. Fred Sine, B. A., J. D. Barker (Alberta), T. E. Clarke (Ontario), J. J. Edwards (Tennessee), William J. O'Connell (Ontario).

duction on the two quarters of this year on which full rates were charged.

Where It Would Be Unfair.

But the secretary explained that to reduce the rates one-half on the present quarter would not be fair to those who metered as a consumer might use 1,000 gallons the first quarter, 2,000 gallons the next, and only 300 gallons this quarter. Thus a reduction based on the quantity he has used the past three months would not be fair to him.

This staggered the commission, but finally Mr. Ellwood was told to go through his books for the year and make a reduction on the basis of the amount used the past nine months.

"How about people who pay in advance?" asked the secretary.

"We can't consider everybody," he was told.

"How about a case where the property has changed hands this quarter?" Mr. Ellwood next inquired. "Will the man who, for example, has paid water rates on the property for two quarters receive nothing, and will the man who now owns the property and who is paying his first quarter, be given a cut of 50 per cent?"

"We can't do anything with that, either," he was again informed.

"How about the railways, churches, etc., which now enjoy certain rates?" the secretary again asked.

Clear on Two Points Only.

The commissioners thought they would provide especially in the bylaw for such cases, but the more they amended the resolution, the more amending it needed, and the more they amended it, the more they amended it.

On only two points did the commission appear clear. One was that the reduction should be 50 per cent on this quarter. The other was that in a case should a man who has a meter service be given a reduction which will reduce his charges to less than 5.6 cents per 100 cubic feet of water, as this amount represents the actual cost of pumping.

After the commissioners had been convinced by Secretary Ellwood and Supt. Moore that the rates are really fixed by bylaw, and that before anything could be done it would be necessary to amend the bylaw, Commissioner Saunders agreed to have the city solicitor draft a resolution in connection with what the commissioners want, and the rates relating to the reduction were laid over.

Mr. Saunders then gave notice to have the bylaws amended at the next meeting of the commission.

Commissioner Saunders this morning had an interview with City Solicitor Meredith regarding the reduction of the water rates, and Mr. Meredith succeeded in drafting a resolution, along the lines suggested by the commission, which will fully cover the case.

Monday another meeting of the commissioners will be held, at which the bylaws will be amended and the new rate clause will be inserted.

In brief, the commissioners will give orders to Secretary Ellwood to give all persons enjoying a flat water rate a reduction of 50 per cent on this quarter, and all persons paying rates on metered services will be given a similar reduction, based on the amount of water used by them during the entire year, unless the reduction will mean that such persons will pay less than 5.6 cents per 100 cubic feet, which is the cost of pumping.

In such cases the reduction made will only go as far as 5.6 cents.

It was stated at the city hall today that the commissioners would run foul of a snag when they asked the city solicitor to draft a bylaw which would refund any rates collected, but apparently the commissioners have got over this by declaring that they are refunding nothing, but are giving the people a flat reduction of 50 per cent on this quarter.

YORK COUNTY LOAN

Phillips' Trial May Not Come Off for Three Months.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The case of Joseph Phillips, of the York County Loan, is one of a long list that have yet to be tried in the sessions. Crown Attorney Drayton's programme so far gives no indication when Phillips will be tried. Mr. Drayton and his staff, although in possession of all the evidence taken at the police court, have taken all the books of the concern and of the Lister Piano Company, and are going over them minutely. When the police court examinations are analyzed, it is said, they do not furnish the basis for seeking the charge that Mr. Drayton seeks to allege.

If this is the case, the trial of Phillips may be postponed till the December sittings.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—A disastrous fire took place at St. Louis De Milend yesterday afternoon causing a loss of over $100,000.

SWITCHMEN ISSUE AN ULTIMATUM

Prospect for Another Great Railway Tieup.

25,000 MEN READY TO STRIKE

Companies Given Until October 25 to Grant Increased Wages—One; Labor Matters.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Not since the famous strike of the American Railway Union in 1894 have labor interests of the railroads been in such dire straits as at present. Since the year there has been no report of an organized movement that threatened the business of the various lines to the extent that they are now threatened.

The Switchmen's Union of North America, organized since the extinction of the American Railway Union, has come to the front and announces that unless an increase in wages is granted, the 25,000 members of the organization will go on strike within the next thirty days. Officials of the railway companies have been busy counting noses since this notice was received and they shook their heads gloomily yesterday when asked if they believed the men would go on strike.

May Strike Oct. 25.

The men have given the companies until Oct. 25 to deliver a final decision as to their demands. It is said that if nothing favorable is heard from the railway officials before that date the members of the organization will strike.

Vice-President Heberling, of the International organization, who has charge of the situation in Chicago, said he believed that there would be a big come to an agreement with the switchmen. He said that the men have not been so well organized since 1894 as at the present, and declared that they were ready to quit work in order to enforce the demands of the organization.

Officials declared that the switchmen would appeal to other brotherhoods of railway employes for support and they professed to believe that they would be supported by all of the other unions.

Unions Tied Up.

It is said, however, that they will have to make an extra strong plea because the railway unions have already been asked to fill in the breach between the switchmen and the telegraphers and the railroads.

What the switchmen lack at present is the support of such an organization as the old Federation of Railway Employees, which went to pieces just before the declaration of war on the part of the American Railway Union. As a matter of fact the death of the Federation of Railway Employees was the birth of the American Railway Union. However, since then the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has grown up, which claims jurisdiction over the switchmen as well as the other railway organizations. What position this organization will take in the present controversy is not known, but the switchmen are hoping that they will be able to command its support.

Open Shop in Windsor.

The strike of the union carpenters against Windsor contractors for closed shop has been declared off and the carpenters are all back at work. Plenty of work at present, with winter coming close was too strong an inducement to the men to remain out, and they accepted the contractors' ultimatum of "open shop."

All-Night Session.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning a section of the carpenters met to conclude final negotiations, ending the strike. Many of the men are at work, but an all-night session kept 200 interested workmen on the street awaiting their decision all night.

Plumbers' Troubles.

At Toronto the plumbers, steamfitters, gasfitters and helpers had a lively session in Victoria Hall, brought about by the recommendation that for the future all payments should be handled by the international treasurer. In other international matters local will pay into the international office for each member and his sick and death benefit will be paid by check from that office. It was pointed out by one of the speakers that this action was necessary in order that the funds of the locals may be preserved and the benefits would be assured them when necessary. Other members said that many locals were not capable of managing their finances. It was also shown that in some localities some members were favored while others were ignored. The recommendations of the committee were adopted.

TO HAVE NEW THEATER

Toronto Gets It, as Result of a War Between Circuits.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The war between the eastern and western burlesque circuits will give a new theater to Toronto. The new playhouse will be erected on the site of the present Earl Theater, the old Temperance Hall, building on Temperance street, and property which has been purchased by the Bell Telephone building.

The theater will have double the seating capacity of the present building. McPatrick & Son, of New York, theatrical architects, are at work on the plans, and building will begin with the new year.

Young Farmer Has Narrow Escape from Awful Death

Falls Into Threshing Machine While It Is Running at Full Speed.

An accident which might have resulted in the instant death of Godfrey Harrison, a young farmer who lives with his father 4½ miles west of Hyde Park in Lobo Township, occurred last evening.

Threshing was in progress at the Harrison farm, and young Harrison was in the act of walking across a board, suspended over the threshing, when the board broke.

Harrison fell into the self-feeder, but being remarkably active he managed to scramble out unaided. Before he reached the top of the machine, however, the knives gashed his back in several places.

Dr. Ross, of Hyde Park, was called, and he attended to the injured man. Harrison will recover.

The threshing machine was running at full speed at the time of the accident, and how the young man escaped instant death is a mystery.

SEVENTY VILLAGES TAKEN UP ARMS

Grave Agrarian Outbreak in a Russian Province—Police Powerless.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 27.—There is disquieting information regarding the situation in the provinces of Saratov and Tambov and the Lower Volga region, where serious disorders are anticipated, when the recruiting season opens in October. The populations of many communes have adopted formal resolutions disavowing the authority of the police and clergy. The rural police are residing in large numbers. Land owners are disposing of their estates at any sacrifice, and land values have dropped from $80 to $16 per acre. Details of the uprising at Malmush, Viakha Province, are difficult to obtain, but the peasantry of the village of Kharosk have disarmed the police and proclaimed autonomy.

Grave agrarian disorders have broken out in the Province of Halmush, with a population of over 100,000, where the inhabitants of 70 villages are reported to have joined in the uprising, have disarmed and expelled the police, and are pillaging and destroying the residences of the owners and devastating the country.

Administrative police chiefs in the Malmush district and eight of their subordinates have been killed.

LOSS FOR LEAMINGTON

Basket Factory Ruined by Fire—Employed 60 Hands.

Leamington, Ont., Sept. 27.—At an early hour this morning the Leamington Basket Company's factory, employing 60 hands, was almost ruined by fire.

The fire was burning fiercely when discovered, and Ephraim Stockwell, the night watchman, had a narrow escape with his life.

The machinery was totally destroyed. The loss is $6,000, and is partly covered by insurance.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL

Story of Shortening Line 400 Miles Is Incorrect.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Chief Engineer Lumsden, of the national transcontinental railway, says that he never heard of the report published in the press that the commission was able to shorten the line between Quebec and Winnipeg by 400 miles. He wished that it was correct, but it was not.

Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-general, will deliver the annual address to the Caledonian Society, Montreal, Oct. 31, Halloween.

TO REVISE STATUTES.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The Government has appointed Mr. Justice Mabee to the commission for the revision of the statutes, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Mr. Justice Street.

Judge Snider of Hamilton, county judge of Wentworth County, has also been appointed to the commission.

COURTS INVESTIGATION.

Windsor, Sept. 27.—J. W. Hanna, of Windsor, acting for Paul Morand, license inspector for North Essex, who is accused by Constable Vanderlinder, of Sandwich East Township, of having purchased and drank liquor in a hotel after hours, has written the license department at Toronto, asking an investigation of the charges which are said to be without foundation. It is said that if the Government does not make the investigation asked for, Morand will issue a writ against Vanderlinder.

$250,000 FOR A RIVER PLANT;
OVER A MILLION FOR OTHERS

Supt. Moore Reports on Cost of Four Schemes to Increase Local Water Supply.

Engineer Moore last night presented a report to the water commission showing the cost of securing water supplies from the Thames River, Lake Huron and Lake Erie.

The figures show that a separate fire-fighting and business supply from the river would cost about $250,000, and that the annual charges to the city would be $12,630, or about one-half mill on the tax rate.

A direct main and supply from Lake Huron would cost $1,365,000, upon which the annual charges would be $68,564, or equal to about 3 1-4 mills on the tax rate.

Mr. Moore also gave figures on another route to Lake Huron, which would mean an expenditure of $1,430,000.

A supply from Lake Erie, with the main running along the line of the L. and P. S. R., would cost $865,000, the annual charges upon which would be $43,782, or close on 2 mills on the tax rate.

Mayor Judd being absent the report was simply laid on the table.

LABOR ALARMED BY "BROWN PERIL"

Protest from Workingmen in British Columbia.

THE HINDOOS MUST BE BARRED

Report Made by the Executive of the Dominion Trades Congress
at Victoria, B. C.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 27.—The workingmen of British Columbia are up in arms against the "brown peril." The Dominion Trades Congress, in session at Victoria, in the report made by its executive officers—Alphonse Verville, member of Parliament, Montreal; James Simpson, of Toronto, and P. M. Draper, of Ottawa—says:

"While an effective restriction has been placed by the Dominion Government upon the entry of Chinese into Canada, it would appear from conditions, in British Columbia particularly, that some similar restrictions should be placed upon the Japanese as well as upon the Chinese, who are rushing into this country, and depriving white labor of opportunities to work. It has been said that these classes are worse than Chinamen. It is also reported that Hindoo laborers are being brought in to work the sawmills, and pressure is being brought to bear to allow Chinese labor in for railway work. Canada is in a new crisis of her history. The temptation is great to follow the example of the United States and rush in a heterogeneous conglomeration of cheap people to furnish cheap labor and satisfy the outcry for more help on the farm and on the railway construction, not to mention other branches of industry. It is to be hoped that in the interests of posterity the Canadian Government will steadfastly resist the temptation to resort to unwise measures.

"Canada wants a nation of white men, even if it has to exercise denial and experience some temporary loss to insure this. We have stuck to our guns in the years gone by, and slowly built up to our present prosperity by the long years of struggling and persistent work. Now we are being asked to well invoke the same firm patience and resolution to avoid undue hurry in grasping the reward that has come to us. In our years of adversity we got on without Chinese, Japanese, Hindoos, and the riffraff of Europe. Much more should we be able to do so now without saddling posterity with a colored racial problem.

Go Slow.

"There is no hurry. There are years and centuries that have never been touched yet. Our population is barely 6,000,000, and our aggregated trade is near $500,000,000, and growing rapidly. The fewer our people are, the greater our wealth the more real will be the existing conditions. We have no need of cheap peoples. They are an inspiration of the get-rich-quick man who desires to pile up a few extra thousands or hundreds of thousands of dollars at the expense of the future of Canada.

"On the other hand, employers of labor in British Columbia are constantly complaining of the scarcity of labor, which has, they say, the effect of retarding the industrial progress of the province. Speaking to this end, the banquet given him a few days ago to welcome him home, Hon. Wm. Templeman, Minister of Inland Revenue, said, in expressing his views regarding alien immigration, that in his opinion no immigrant should be invited to Canada or permitted to citizenship who would not become a Canadian. He did not believe in the coming of Hindoos, Asiatics, or Doukhobors, or others who did not assimilate and become citizens of the Dominion."

Anti-Chinese Feeling.

"During the celebration in honor of the visit of His Excellency Earl Grey and party to Victoria this anti-Chinese feeling has been shown in numerous letters written to local newspapers protesting against the prominence given to an arch erected by Chinese of the city to welcome the Governor-General. The Chinese arch is a splendid one—it probably cost over $100,000—and at its last meeting passed a resolution in protest.

"Then commenced the newspaper letters, pro and con. Some writers pointed out that the trades and labor men, not having any business with themselves, should not protest against others who did display the patriotism, and the situation was not enhanced by the fact that the Governor-General was arrested at the arch by the Chinese, and an address of welcome formally presented by Chinese leaders, sent freight-paid, by the robes of their home-land."

Lines Newly Subsidized.

"Another new steamship connection is promised British Columbia and Western Canada by February or March next, when two steamers will be placed in service between Vancouver, Victoria, and Mexican ports, a contract having been made both with Canada and Mexico by British ship-owners, for whom a subsidy of $100,000 yearly will be provided jointly by Canada and Mexico. It is expected by British Columbia merchants that a considerable trade will be worked up between Canada and Mexico.

The steamer Pondo, of the newly-established line subsidized by Canada and New Zealand, left today, carrying a full cargo of nearly 5,000 tons of general freight. Included was a number of shipments of exhibits for the New Zealand exhibition, sent freight-paid, by the Canadian Government.

BATTLE WITH MOTHS

Trees Will Be Sacrificed in the work of Extermination.

Woburn, Mass., Sept. 26.—Work is now in progress under government direction looking toward the extermination of brown-tail and gypsy moths in New England under the provisions of the bill passed at the last session of congress appropriating $35,000 for this purpose. The greater part of this appropriation will be expended in Massachusetts, although a part of it will be used for work in New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

It is planned to leave along the highways only the best trees, and these will be at least forty feet apart. For a hundred feet back from the street line on each side the underbrush will be cut away and burned, and most of the trees will be cut down and moth nests found on them will be painted with creosote to prevent the eggs from hatching.

One of the chief objects in thinning out the trees along the highways is to prevent moths and caterpillars falling on passing automobiles and carriages, as this has been one of the most common agents in the spread of the moths from one town to another. The pests were carried into New York in this way.

THIEF SWALLOWS PEARLS

A Strong Emetic Administered by the Magistrate Proves Gull.

Paris, Sept. 27.—A Turkish gentleman with a nice taste in pearls was arrested this afternoon in a jeweler's shop, in the Boulevard St. Martin.

He walked into the shop and told the jeweler that he was engaged to be married, and wanted to buy his fiancée a $2,500 pearl necklace. While he was examining two or three necklaces with the help of a large pair of spectacles, one of the shop assistants noticed that he was apparently licking the pearls.

The assistant took up one of the necklaces which the Turkish gentleman had just laid down, and noticing that the cord was bitten through gave the alarm. The police came in and arrested the Turk, who protested angrily, and demanded to be searched. He was searched and no pearls were found on him, but the jeweler insisted on his being taken to the police station.

The Turk was then given a strong emetic on the authority of a magistrate, and was found to have swallowed two pearls worth $400 and $300.

BEER WAR IN GERMANY

Public Resents Advance in Price Made by Brewers.

Berlin, Sept. 27.—The beer war, which began by the brewers attempting to force the equivalent of the new tax on the pockets of their customers, is being waged with unabated bitterness all over the country.

The publicans are siding with their customers, who refuse to pay the extra half-cent a glass for beer, and a large number have placed their cards in their windows declaring that they sell no beer supplied by the brewers at enhanced prices.

The great brewers are using every endeavor to persuade workmen not to forego their beer, and they trust that the prevailing heat will help them to win. At present very little beer is being consumed, and the breweries are producing much less than their usual quantity.

Unless the boycott soon ceases, serious labor troubles will follow, for the breweries will find it difficult to keep their works going, and many thousands of men must be thrown out of employment.

Brewers say they cannot work at a profit if they have to pay the entire tax themselves, and they show no signs of giving way. It has been stated that plans have been drawn up for the establishment of co-operative breweries, but these could not be got ready fast enough to supply the present demand.

Marie Antoinette Went East.

The magnificent Goulay piano of Marie Antoinette design that attracted so much admiration in the T. Eaton Company's model drawing-room at the Toronto Exhibition, was selected by Mr. J. A. McDonald, of the McDonald Music Company, Halifax, who will exhibit it at the Halifax fair. This instrument, with the Sheraton, Empire and Louis XV. designs shown by Goulay, Winter & Leeming this year, gave the Canadian public, and American visitors too, an effective object lesson on the important position to which Canada has attained in the creation of the artistic.

Goulay pianos have secured the endorsement of the Canadian consumer with a readiness that falls to the lot of few commodities, and it has frequently been remarked that no other retail house in Canada could so readily manufacture an instrument and receive the immediate approval of a critical public, as the house of Goulay, Winter & Leeming has done.—From Canadian Music Trades Journal, Sept. 15, 1906.

PEDDLER FINED $25.

Stratford, Sept. 27.—An Assyrian peddler, who strayed into town without the necessary license to carry on his business, called at the house of Chief of Police McCarthy to sell his wares. Knowing that the stranger did not have a hawk's license the chief immediately placed him under arrest, and he was fined $25.

CALLED TO WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Sept. 27.—By a unanimous vote the congregation of Knox Church, of this city, have extended a call to Mr. R. B. Cochrane, M.A., to become pastor of the church in succession to Dr. McMillen, who resigns shortly. Mr. Cochrane, who for the past five months has been assistant pastor of Knox Church, also has calls from Owen Sound and Smith's Falls. It is understood, however, that he will accept the call to the pastorate here. He is a son of the late Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford, and a young man of exceptional ability.

LONDON "JAGGERS" MOTOR CAR PILOT

Charing Cross Messenger Boys
Guides to Chauffeurs in London.

London, Sept. 27.—A large motor car came whizzing down Piccadilly yesterday occupied by four French ladies. In front sat a French chauffeur of imposing appearance, and beside him was a spick-and-span diminutive district messenger boy.

When Piccadilly Circus was reached the messenger boy waved his left hand with the air of a general directing an army, and muttered something that was not English and certainly was not French.

The chauffeur waved his left arm in turn, and said something else very fast.

Then the boy nodded with a knowing smile, again waving his left hand gracefully, and the car swept up Regent street. It was plain that there was not a prouder messenger in London.

He was one of the boys from the Charing Cross office of the District Messenger Company, who have adopted a new role—that of guide to chauffeurs who do not know their London.

"A request for a boy to guide a chauffeur about the streets is an everyday occurrence now," said one of the officials of the company. "Foreigners often bring their own cars and chauffeurs to London, and provincial visitors also have drivers who do not know their way about. They apply to us, and we furnish them with boys who will take them anywhere by the shortest possible route."

Among the boys themselves the post is eagerly sought after, and some of them are studying maps of London during all their leisure hours in order to qualify for the task.

BOOKER'S REMEDY IS JOINT COUNCIL

Noted Negro Educator Gives
His Views of Race
Riots at South.

New York, Sept. 27.—"As a rule I never discuss the matter of mob violence except when I am in the south, but in this case I make an exception," said Booker T. Washington, referring to the race riots in Atlanta.

The colored educator, who is stopping in town for a few days, continued: "In answer to many requests I will state that in my address in Atlanta to the National Negro Business League, a few days ago, I spoke plainly against the crime of assaulting women and of resorting to lynching and mob law as a remedy for any evil. I feel the present situation too deeply to give any extended utterance at this time except to say that I would strongly urge that the best white people and the best colored people come together in council and use their united efforts to stop the present disorder."

"I would especially urge the colored people in Atlanta and elsewhere to exercise self-control and not make the fatal mistake of attempting to retaliate, but to rely upon the efforts of the proper authorities to bring order and security out of confusion. If they do this they will have the sympathy of good people the world over."

"Let me repeat that wherever I have met them, without exception, I have found the leading colored people as much opposed to crime as the leading white people; but what is needed now is to get the best element of both races together and try to change the present deplorable conditions of affairs. We, of both races, must learn that the inexorable enforcement of the laws against all criminals is indispensable, and in this I will do my utmost to have my race co-operate."

"The Atlanta outbreak shows us not to discourage our people but should teach a lesson from which all can profit. And we should bear in mind also that while there is disorder in one community there is peace and harmony in thousands of others. As a colored man I cannot refrain from expressing a feeling of very deep grief on the account of the death of so many innocent men of both races because of the deeds of a few despicable criminals."

DEARER BUTTER.

Petrols, Sept. 27.—Mr. Fred Dean, Government dairy inspector, who was here looking over the Lambton Creamery Company's plant, reports everything in good condition. Mr. Dean looks for a still higher rise in the price of butter, owing to decreased output of Australian and New Zealand butter to the old country.

ALVINSTON WOMAN GETS $45,000.

Alvinston, Sept. 27.—Mrs. W. R. Cooper, of this place, was one of the fortunate sisters of Mr. Lafayette Goodnow, the North Dorchester farmer, who recently inherited a large fortune through the death of a millionaire uncle in New York city. Mrs. Cooper's share will be over $45,000, which was the amount given to each of the six nieces and nephews.

Advertiser Correspondence

WAS MERELY A SUB-COMMITTEE.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In a recent issue a correspondent, writing on the much discussed subject of water power and the recent leases in eastern and northern Ontario, pointed out that the various municipalities controlling water powers throughout the province should watch their interests very closely, or, as he put it, "nail them down tight," before it was possible for the Government to dispose of them to other interests.

This advice has been strongly confirmed by the pronounced opinions of the hydro-electric commission in its report, just published, the conclusions it arrives at leading it to recommend most strongly that all the water powers not already leased should be reserved for municipalities in the district.

In the case of the Healey's Falls, Mount Chute and the Notch, no provision whatever seems to have been made to protect the municipalities, the leases apparently having full power to dispose of the energy developed either to themselves, subsidiary companies or any outsider, entirely at their own discretion.

Mr. Whitney recently announced that the hydro-electric commission was merely a sub-committee of the Cabinet, with an engineer added for the purpose of making the work of the Cabinet easier. In my humble opinion, the commission is liable to make the work of the Cabinet a good deal harder if it keeps on advocating policies contrary to the expressed wishes of the Premier. Mr. Whitney announces that the Government is not to be bound by any one method of dealing with water powers, and upholds the Healey's Falls lease, which excluded the municipalities from all consideration in the agreement. Mr. Whitney's sub-committee of the Cabinet reports that it is imperative that water powers not yet leased by the crown should be retained for the use of the municipalities, and that any future leases given should provide for the supply of a specified quantity of power to the hydro-electric commission, for the use of the municipalities, as a specified price.

In other words, the Cabinet, having disregarded the advice contained in the commission's report, that advice more strongly in its third report, and by implication criticises the leases that the Government has recently given out. It also, by implication, criticises the rejection of the Healey's Falls lease, the company's second Niagara franchise, which contained the very provision that the commission urges should be included in future leases.

Sept. 24. P. McMASTER.

POSSIBLE POSTAL REFORMS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

A few weeks ago a thoughtful article appeared in The Advertiser on the above subject. More than any other the postal department comes into contact with the whole community, and so there is a constant and general demand for the attainment of the highest possible standard of excellence. The field is a wide one, and the fact that there have been very great improvements in the past is no reason why we should settle in rules of precedent or cease to make further advances. It may be taken for granted that postoffice officials take pride in doing their work as faithfully and efficiently as possible, and rejoice at every reform that adds the accomplishment of this object, even when it gives them additional labor. With your kind permission, I venture to suggest, briefly, as the result of many years' experience, a few of the directions in which reform is both possible and desirable.

I can hardly suggest much improvement in the present rates and classification of mail matters. As a result of many years' careful supervision, and consultation and amendment, it seems to work fairly well, and I do not see how any radical change could be made to advantage. I would only suggest that for Great Britain and her colonies the unit of weight on letters should be ounces instead of half an ounce as at present, and, indeed, it would be better to have the same for all postal union countries.

It is well known that a large percentage of the work in a postoffice is due to either the ignorance or the thoughtlessness of many of its patrons. The only way to correct this is to give the necessary information. The department would, through the assistance and co-operation of a committee of postmasters, prepare a suitable digest of the postoffice regulations, with hints and suggestions inferred from them and founded on common sense and experience, and print them in a large bold type to be pasted up in the lobby of every postoffice. It would certainly be a great benefit, and would save much time and annoyance both to officials and the public. Many postmasters have done something of this kind at their own expense, and found it quite serviceable.

It is an imperative rule of the postoffice that a letter once mailed becomes the property of the person addressed, and cannot be delivered back to the writer on any plea, however urgent. While this may be technically right, it is well known that in many cases it is very arbitrary, if not even unjust. Take one or two instances: A strong running letter is mailed to a slow-paying debtor, but just before it is forwarded the writer receives a remittance. In full, and would like to get it back. Doubtless this would be better all round, but it cannot be done; the rule is imperative. Again a letter is mailed with a remittance to a distant firm, but just before it goes forward the writer discovers that the firm is fraudulent, and requests its return. Here again it cannot be done, the rule is cast-iron and allows no exceptions. It does seem as if a postmaster should have more power to use his own best judgment for the return of such letters in certain cases with proper safeguards.

It is a rule of the postoffice that the postmaster of a forwarding office cannot deliver any letter addressed to an office to which it forwards, but must send it on to its destination. Now this, in a general way, may be all right, but there are cases where it is arbitrary and more law than justice. Take the case of an office which receives mail only two or three times a week. A resident is anxiously expecting a letter, which fails to reach him. He comes to the forwarding office, and finds it came by the very next mail, and is lying there, but it is beyond his reach. He has to wait for two or more days till it goes to his own office, and meantime suffers serious loss or anxiety or inconvenience. Surely some discretion should be allowed postmasters in such cases when they know the circumstances and know they are delivering to the right person.

There is no doubt that there has been a very great improvement in our money order system in the past few years. Rigid rules which had not even common sense to recommend them have been done away, and new and better features introduced. The postal note system has also been found a decided success and great public convenience. But may there not be another and a crowning step forward? Why not combine the two into one complete and simple system? This may seem a radical departure, but I am satisfied it will come with the coming years. It would be only necessary to prepare a new form to take the place of both, somewhat similar to the postal note, which might be called a postal order, with receipt, blanks to enter the names of paying office, payee and amount, and stub in which to enter the same particulars with name of remitter. I know of only two objections, and neither one is very serious. One is the danger of doing away with the sending of an advice. As to this, postal notes are passing constantly and very extensively without advice, and I am not aware of any loss or difficulty having been experienced. Besides, the regulations have been so far relaxed that a postmaster even now can pay orders in certain cases practically without advice. Then there is not infrequently delay and inconvenience arising from the non-receipt of an advice, or the necessity of sending, even to long distances, for a second advice, which would be all remedied. The other objection is to writing in the amount instead of having it printed, as in postal notes. But the danger of alteration or loss from this cause is so small as to be infinitesimal, and besides, it would do away with the present clumsy method of attaching postage stamps to postal notes for odd change. Of course, there would be a difficulty in issuing such postal orders on foreign countries, as they could only be accepted by special arrangement and agreement, and not perhaps till the country of payment had adopted a similar system. But the world's postal congress has solved many problems, and might be equal even to such an emergency. While hasty action is not desirable, this is a reform to which postmasters and the postoffice department may well give consideration.

LONDON, THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1906.

THE CRISIS IN NEW YORK.

The people of the United States are stirred by the political melee in the State of New York, in which many thoughtful Americans see the beginning of a crisis, destined to shake the republic.

The Republicans have nominated for governor an eminent lawyer and a clean, upright man, Charles E. Hughes, who has been instrumental in the exposure of corruption in high places. His candidature is a defeat for ring rule in his own party. Public attention is now focused upon the Democratic convention at Buffalo, where an exciting struggle is in progress. William Randolph Hearst, the prince of yellow journalists, has been nominated for governor by the Independence League, a party of his own creation, and is trying to leap into the Democratic saddle. The conservative elements of the Democratic party are putting up a spirited but apparently futile opposition. Hearst's supporters have so far carried everything before them, and he will probably receive the nomination today. The platform laid down by the convention is not so radical as would be supposed. Socialism is denounced in unsparring terms. "We denounce the socialism which seeks to make the government the sole agent of production as nothing less than a proposal to re-establish the institution of tyranny and industrial slavery which perished before the advance of Christian civilization." The convention does not even pronounce for the public ownership of public utilities, but declares that it is the duty of the Government "to ascertain the actual cost of operating all public service corporations, and fix from time to time reasonable rates for the service they perform." The Republican tariff policy is described as legalized plunder, and is held to be responsible for the growth of socialistic sentiment.

Hearst's newspapers and his public addresses have given the impression that he is half-way on the road to socialism. The platform of the Independence League is also semi-socialistic, but the league will be merely a tail to the Democratic kite if Hearst gets his way at Buffalo. His nomination will be a signal for the revolt of the conservative Democrats, who hold that his defeat will be necessary to the salvation of their party. His election as governor of the Empire State would make him a candidate for the presidency six years hence. Hearst in the White House is a nightmare to millions of his fellow-countrymen.

ATLANTA'S SHAME.

The shame of the hideous outbreak of negro phobia in Atlanta, Georgia, will probably be crowned by a greater shame — the immunity of the assassins. The mayor of Atlanta virtually condones the butchery by saying that the only remedy for riots is "to remove the cause; as long as the black brutes assault our white women, just so long will they be unceremoniously dealt with."

The mob began its killing at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, and not till 1 o'clock Sunday morning was the militia called out. Of the fifteen or sixteen negroes slain in cold blood, not one was guilty of the crimes alleged. They were slaughtered because of the color of their skin. The Atlanta News, before the outbreak, did its utmost to foster the spirit of murder, by offering $1,000 reward for the killing of every negro accused of assault on a white woman. It is true there had been a series of these assaults, but they were not more frequent than similar crimes committed by degraded white men in the large cities. If the machinery of the law in Atlanta is inadequate to punish these offenses, and create a wholesome terrorism, the responsibility rests with the white citizens, who control the administration of justice. If they did their duty, the baser elements would have less pretext for taking the law in their own hands. At the root of all such crimes is a widespread disrespect of law and authority, and a latent savagery, which shows that civilization is merely a veneer. In what respect were the rioters in Atlanta above the butchers of the Russian Jews? The shambles of Odessa and Siedice were not more horrible. The good citizens of the United States are appalled by protesting against the massacres in Russia.

THE "SAXON" SUNDAY IN FRANCE

Reference has been made in the cable dispatches to the inauguration of the "Saxon" Sunday in France. There is no Lord's Day Alliance in the republic, but the French Government has had the wisdom to see that the principle of the "rest day" is necessary to the well-being of the nation, leaving religious considerations out of the question. The new law requires all employers to give their employees one day of rest in seven. The day must be Sunday, unless the occupation is such that it is impossible to suspend work on that day. In hotels, restaurants, bakeries and similar establishments any other day may by agreement be selected, or the employees may be given two half days in rotation. No arrangement for observing any other day than Sunday shall be made without the consent of the authorities.

The workmen, who have the chief sufferers by the policy of letting the Sabbath take care of itself, are solidly in favor of the new legislation. In Paris on Sunday last they carried their support of the law to the lawless extreme of rioting against merchants who refused to close their doors. Small proprietors, who do their own work with the aid of their families, have claimed the exemption from the law on the ground that only employees are entitled to a day of rest. There will be no injustice in making this class toe the mark. The selfish interests of the few must not be allowed to weigh against the welfare of virtually the whole nation. The merchants who are entitled to confine their business to six days a week in order to give their employees a day of rest, would be unfairly discriminated against if others, who employed no labor, were to be allowed to keep their places of business open every day in the year. This is a phase of the question which is overlooked by those who protest that legislation of this nature is an interference with personal liberty. There have been no Sunday laws in modern France, with the inevitable result that human selfishness has eliminated the rest day for a large proportion of the population. The French have discovered their mistake, and on purely secular grounds are trying to rectify it.

The nomination of Hearst will show a yellow streak in the Democratic party.

The water commissioners appear to be in rather deep water. Is it possible they have gone beyond their depth?

"Old Citizen" and others who are writing to The Advertiser on the waterworks question are reminded of the rule which requires the names of all contributors as a pledge of good faith.

His enemies say Mr. Hepburn should have taken his medicine. If he had been thinking only of himself he should have let the mud-batteries do their worst; but he stood aside in the interests of the Liberal party.

A reader incloses a clipping from a Chicago paper, giving an account of a dedication of a memorial drinking fountain in that city. He suggests that some wealthy citizen of London show his public spirit by providing similar refreshment for man and beast. The suggestion is a good one, and will be more feasible when the question of where the water is to come from is settled.

They do things on a large scale in Winnipeg, where the wide horizons of the prairies probably have an expansive influence on mankind. The Winnipeg Telegram comes to hand in a 70-page edition, replete with illustrations. It is surcharged with the western spirit of push and enterprise. The Telegram, is evidently keeping pace with the city, which is saying a great deal.

OCTOBER COMING.

[Archibald Lampman.]
Under cool elm trees floats the distant stream,
Moveless as air; and o'er the vast warm earth
The fallowen daylight seems to stand
And dream.
A liquid, cool ellixir—all its girth
Bound with faint haze, a frail transparency.
Whose lucid purple barely veils and fills
The utmost valleys and the thin last hills
Nor mars one whit their perfect clarity.
Thus without grief the golden days go by,
So soft we scarcely notice how they wend,
And like a smile half happy, or a sigh,
The summer passes to her quiet end.
And soon, too soon, around the cumbered eaves,
Sly frosts shall take the creepers by surprise,
And through the wind-touched reddening woods shall rise
October with the rain of ruined leaves.

PUBLICITY.

[Mr. Dooley in American Magazine.]
"There was me frind Jawn D. Three years ago he seemed insured against punishment ayeher here or hereafter. A happy man, a religious man. He had squared th' ligslatures, th' courts, th' pollyticians an' th' clergy. He saw th' dollars hoppin' out iv'ry lamp chimney in th' wuruld an' hurryin' to th' way iv' business. His head was hairless, but unbowed. Ivry Mondah morning I read iv' him lendin' a chorus iv' 'Onward Christian soldiers marchin' fr' th' stuff.' He was at peace with th' wuruld, th' flesh, an' th' divvie. A good man! What cud harm him?"
"An' so it seemed he might proceed to th' grave whin, lo an' behold, up in his path lads a lady with a pen in hand an' off goes Jawn D. fr' th' tall timbers. A lady, mind ye, dips a pen into an inkwell! There's an explosion an' what's left iv' Jawn D. an' his power wudden't frighten crows away fr'm a corn field."
"Who's afraid iv' Rockefeller, now?"
"Th' Priestid hit him a kick, a country grand jury indicts him, a golf caddy overcharges him an' whin he comes back fr'm Europe he has as many poor men to meet him on th' pier as Doc Owens a year ago anybody wud take his money. Now if he wanted to give it even to Chancellor Day he'd have to meet him in a barn at midnight."

A MARVELOUS FAY (KE).

[Ottawa Citizen.]
The methods of the "marvelous Pays" are being exposed in a lawsuit brought against an employe in New York. In affidavits filed in the case it is shown that the pads given out for the audience to write questions upon are chemically treated so that the under sheets take the impression and can be developed quickly by confederates, who endeavor to obtain information regarding the questions before the questions are answered. The information is sent by speaking tube to a box under the stage from which a small telephone is used to communicate with Mrs. Fay as she sits in full view of the audience except for a veil over her face.

NOT HIS DISPOSITION.

"Now then," said the photographer, "be perfectly natural. Look pleasant."

BALL PLAYER'S FINISH.

[Brooklyn Enterprise.]
The ending of a ball player's career has in it much the same tragedy that accompanies the loss of voice by the singer. At one fell swoop the player and his family drop from comparative luxury, ease and the ability to have all the ordinary pleasures of life and fall to something like actual poverty. Oftentimes poverty is encountered before the end of the struggle is reached. The still young couple, after several years of good living, traveling, seeing the world, enjoying all the fun in sight, suddenly come with a splash to the icy water of poor living, poor clothes, inability to pay for theater tickets and trips about, and inability perhaps to much more than pay the rent of a small flat—for the ball player who has never done anything but play ball and who has not saved his money is against a hard proposition before he can learn a trade or find something to carry him safely along.

AFTER THE FALL.

[Chicago Tribune.]
"Eve," snarled Adam, "how much longer have I got to wait for my breakfast?"
"You must give me time, my dear," responded Eve, with her mouth full of hairpins, "to learn how to fasten the back buttons on my waist."

THE HUNDRED-YEAR NATION.

[New Orleans States.]
A German statistician has made a careful investigation to discover in which countries the greatest age is attained. The German empire, with 55,000,000 population, has but seventy-eight subjects who are more than one hundred years old. France, with fewer than 40,000,000, has 212 persons who have passed their hundredth birthday. England has 146, Scotland 46, Denmark 2, Belgium 5, Sweden 10, and Norway, with 2,000,000 inhabitants, 23. Switzerland does not boast a single centenarian, but Spain, with about 18,000,000 population, has 410. The most amazing figures come from that troublesome and turbulent region known as the Balkan peninsula. Serbia has 573 persons who are more than one hundred years old, Roumania 1,084, and Bulgaria 3,883. In other words Bulgaria has a centenarian to every 100 inhabitants, and thus holds the international record for old people. In 1892 alone there died in Bulgaria 350 persons who had exceeded the century.

NURSE ADMITS POISONING BABY

Dramatic Scene at Funeral—Girl Resolved to Die and Take the Tot.

Brewster, N. Y., Sept. 26. — Jennie Burch, grief-stricken and in terror, threw herself across the coffin of little Wilbur Winship during the funeral today and confessed that she had murdered him.

The Winship residence, at Cowles Corners, twelve miles from Brewster, was filled with neighbors, and the Rev. Dr. Deane, of the Patterson Presbyterian Church, was in the midst of his service when the young girl, who had been crouching in a corner, wild eyed and tearless, burst through the company, threw herself upon the infant form still in death, and shrieking "Oh, my God! I killed him! I poisoned Wilbur!"

Consternation seized the company. The service was interrupted, Mrs. Winship, the mother of the boy, shrieked execrations at the shrinking figure prone upon the coffin. Men started to their feet, and women became hysterical, mingling their tears with those of the frantic mother.

A cry went up from without, where a hundred farmers, attracted to the scene of the tragedy, were congregated. The oft-repeated threat of lynching was again heard. These men felt no mercy for the child who had sacrificed a life to satisfy the craving of her Indian blood for vengeance.

At the height of the excitement, Coroner Mitchell, and a detective, who was stationed at the foot of the bier, seized the girl and took her from the room.

The confession was extorted from the child by the well-laid plan of the detective. Convinced that it was Jennie Burch, great-granddaughter of Minnawau, a Mohawk princess, who had fired the Winship house and made five distinct attempts to burn the residence and that the girl poisoned her little charge and herself for revenge because she was accused of incendiarism, the detective carefully worked upon the fears and sensibilities of the youthful suspect. He spent much of one night in the dead face with a convincing and depicting the sorrow of the parents.

When the funeral party arrived, and the tiny casket was opened to permit the family and friends to look for the last time upon the pallid features of the little victim, Jennie was brought into the parlor. She came reluctantly. They had almost to drag her into the presence of death. She crouched in a corner, covering her face with her hands. Her form shook with dry sobs.

"And now we are about to return this tiny form to earth," said the preacher, "but we know that he is at this moment with Jesus in heaven."

Tragic Confession.
Scarcely had the words been spoken than Jennie uttered the cry of a mad animal. She threw aside restraining hands and fell upon the coffin, covering the dead face with convulsive kisses. "I love him so!" she wailed. "I love him so I couldn't die without him. They said I burned the barns. I killed him! I poisoned him!"

The girl ended with a piercing scream and fell unconscious. She revived speedily and fought those who sought to tear her away from the dead child. Throughout the remainder of the service, although carried to an upper room far removed from the place where the services were being held, her shrieks terrified the mourners.

When the cortege followed the boy to the little grave in the Paxon cemetery, Jennie heard the wheels roll over the turf. She swooned, and for nearly an hour lay in a cataleptic state. When she came to herself an unnatural calm supervened. Serenely she told the incredible story of her crime. She loved the baby more than anything in life, she said. She experienced an irresistible desire to set fire to the barn, and burn down the hayloft, she applied the match.

But she denied firing the dwelling, and denounced a woman neighbor. An alibi establishes the fact that the woman is innocent. They accused her of firing the buildings. They threatened to lynch her. Her Indian blood prompted her to revenge. Although she knew she was a rightly good girl, she determined to die and take the baby with her.

THE AUTO-SHY HORSE.

There is a notion abroad in some quarters, apparently, that if a man brings a green colt down off the farm and drives him through the city, and if an automobile comes along with the bolt bolts and snatches things, that the owner of the "devil wagon" is legally responsible, not only for the material and obvious damage, but also can be mulcted on the ground that the colt's nerves have been injured and his saleable value thus decreased.

CZAR'S PALACE A DISMAL PRISON

Fleet Lies Outside Peterhof—Barbed-Wire Fences Enmesh the Ground.

Peterhof, Sept. 26.—Nicholas II. has at last dared to leave his palace and the fortress park around it and to take a cruise on the Finnish seas. Even a be-leaguered monarch prefers the risk of venturing abroad to perpetual confinement in a particularly ugly palace and a particularly gloomy park. I have been to Peterhof twice recently, says the correspondent of a New York Journal, and will relate what I saw of the comedy of guarding the Czar. It begins at the railway depot. On the two days when I was there the baggage office was closed, lest people should deposit bombs in their portmanteaus.

"Give your bag to the porter," was the request, and the porter, taking it gingerly, asked: "Is it locked? I am not allowed to take locked baggage."

The railway station teems with police, gendarmes and with plain clothes agents of the secret police, who accost every loitering passenger with the mark, "It's a fine day. Have you come to see the fountains?" and conclude innocently, "I think I've seen you before"—a remark which is supposed to make would-be terrorists start.

The same comedy is gone through at the public park, where everyone is told that it is a fine day, and asked if he has come to see the fountains.

Searchlights in Palace.

Last year the name of every leaseholder of a summer villa had to be submitted to the palace commandant. This year his name, address and description must also be submitted to the ministry of internal affairs. Owing to this continual espionage and annoyance, villa owners declare that their property has depreciated 30 per cent. And the utter worthlessness of these precautions is shown by the fact that three times lately stores of arms have been discovered in the village, and that two important generals have been killed within a mile of the palace walls.

But the guarding of the Czar's palace and of the domain which surrounds it is a very different thing. The most reckless, resolute conspirator could not either by land or sea get within the grounds.

From the seaside Peterhof resembles a blockaded fortress. In a crescent stretching for six miles outside the palace anchors a continuous cord of guardships and torpedo-boats, never more than three hundred yards apart. On the east side is a converted yacht, the Babotnik, which at night flashes its two electric searchlights across the bay. On Cronstadt fortress and the waters around a glare is always directed, and it is the glare in the glare of this searchlight Nicholas II. watched the fighting on the outlying forts during the recent mutiny.

Fortress on the Seaside.

After 10 o'clock at night only official launches which carry a special blue light are allowed to leave Cronstadt. In daytime the guardships beat warning shots if even a pleasure boat attempts to pass them. When sailing last week I succeeded in getting right up to the Babotnik, and asked the loan of a pail to bail out our leaking boat. "We cannot speak to anyone!" cried the officer of the watch. "Strait sailing in shore; if you sink there, the water is shallow."

From the land side the palace is another Port Arthur. The high, red-painted wall inclosing the park has a sentry every ten yards. At the main entrance are sentries, gendarmes, and a troop of Cossacks, armed with rifles, come to stare at and ask themselves, "How many more are inside?" The fact is that inside the outer park wall are three concentric crescents of sentries, all within a stone's throw of one another. They are mostly loyal Semanovs and their kindred, but all never belong to the same regiment, since the mutiny of the Preobrazhensky guards has shown that no single regiment can be relied upon.

Between the second and third line of sentries is a high barbed-wire fence, which runs along straight paths so that anyone crossing it can be seen against the sky line. Finally around the palace itself are sentries belonging to the Emperor's own Moslem guard.

Terror of the Workman.

But the terror of Peterhof is the honest workman, who comes in from the numerous palace buildings outside the park to plant flowers, weed paths, look after the trees and repair and paint the damp, dilapidated palace in which for the sake of safety Nicholas II. has to live. The workmen come in a body between 6 and 7 in the morning, dine in a pavilion in the grounds, and are not allowed to leave until 5 in the evening, when all depart together. Each man has his photograph sewn in the inside of his coat, and the general in charge of the police personally compares these photographs with copies at the lodge.

Tradesmen's carts never enter the park. At 12 every day they draw up at the east gate. Each box or parcel is separately opened, examined, and solemnly transferred to handcarts, which in turn are never sent outside the park. The whole system is so searching that it would be difficult to smuggle in an ounce of tobacco.

The amusing thing about all these precautions is that most terrorists deny that they desire to kill the Emperor. "He is too valuable to us," they say. "We much prefer him to his infant heir, backed up by the results of the press, and still more resolute dictator."

Thorns in the Flesh.

Even worse is the agony of corns. Why suffer?—cure is waiting in every drugstore in the form of Putnam's Corn Extractor which relieves at once, cures thoroughly and without pain. For good results use only Putnam's.

DIES OF POISON; BABE IN HER ARMS

Young Mother Separated from Husband Burns Child and Self With Acid.

New York, Sept. 26.—With her 3-months-old babe clasped to her breast, Mrs. Helen Crane, 25 years old, was found at noon in No. 363 Seventh street, Brooklyn. In her disengaged hand she held a phial which had contained poison.

Her face and neck and one arm and the baby's head had been burned by acid which she had spilled from a large necked bottle in what it seemed might have been a hasty attempt to swallow the contents.

Mrs. Crane was found by her brother, George Ramsey, with whom she and an unmarried sister lived. He, a plumber's apprentice, had gone home for dinner and found the doors of the flat locked and the baby crying and his sister moaning in a front room. He burst open the door leading from a hall to the parlor of the flat and found her on the floor unconscious.

Dr. James J. Keyes, of No. 226 Seventeenth street, and Dr. Richardson, of the Seney Hospital, were called, but they were unable to restore the young woman to consciousness, and she died within a few minutes after her arrival. Her relatives insisted that she had taken the acid by mistake, but the police of the Fifth avenue station maintained that she had committed suicide.

Mrs. Crane was the wife of William Crane, a stereotyper. They had been separated since the birth of their son, on June 29. They were married a year on short intervals, and when Mrs. Crane fell ill she was taken to a hospital.

When she and the child were able to leave the hospital her brother and a sister, a stenographer in an office in Broad street, fitted up a flat in the twelfth street and all went there to live. Mrs. Crane acted as housekeeper, and it was agreed that this arrangement should continue until the baby was old enough to be entrusted to a nurse, and the mother thus left at liberty to earn a living.

Mrs. Crane was often despondent. Lately, neighbors which she received a letter from her husband, which deepened her melancholy. She destroyed the letter without revealing its contents.

When he returned from work the brother thought he detected the odor of carbolic acid and questioned her. She told him it probably came from a lower flat and the matter was dropped.

None of the family but Mrs. Crane knew her husband's present address.

BEST-GUARDED MAN IN EUROPE

"Abdul the Damned," the Sick Man, Sultan of Turkish Empire.

Constantinople, Sept. 26.—In the Turkish budget for the coming year several million dollars are set aside to provide for the personal security of the Sultan, Abdul Hamid. It is well known to people who have traveled in Turkey that the Sultan has at his personal service a regular army of spies who are said to number 43,000. These thousands of spies are employed near the Sultan's palace, while several thousand more are scattered throughout the capital, some of them making a special object of their espionage the foreign embassies.

All over the Turkish Empire are the Sultan's spies, scattered so that even high officials do not escape their vigilance. Besides, the bodyguard of the Turkish sovereign, which numbers 35,000 men, is like a living wall which surrounds the Sultan in moments of danger. These soldiers are paid between $40 and $100 a month.

Much surprise was caused here at the second visit paid to the Sultan by Dr. Bergman, the Berlin specialist. Abdul Hamid is known to entertain a positive horror of physicians, and since the death of his personal medical attendant, the Greek doctor Movrogheni, he has positively refused to see another practitioner. As a matter of fact, the Sultan has acquired a smattering of medical knowledge, and religiously preserves the old prescriptions of the dead physician, which he occasionally uses when ill.

The Sultan leads a very regular life. He rises at 5 or 6 every morning, and after a walk in the spacious gardens of his palace he is ready for breakfast, which he generally eats alone. Osman Effendi, his special secretary, tastes all food before the Sultan takes of it, and he is the only one allowed to be present at the morning meal of the Turkish sovereign. After breakfast the Sultan spends an hour or two in his libraries, of which he possesses four, well stocked with books and manuscripts in all sorts of languages, among which are thousands of works of great value which have never seen the light of publicity.

After a siesta in his private apartment, during which he is guarded by chosen Circassians, he is ready to receive his ministers and attend to the work of state, which he never interrupts before sundown, excepting on Fridays for the ceremony of the Selamlik.

It is never known in which room of the palace the Sultan intends to take his night rest.

On Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays private theatricals are given at the palace, which the Sultan attends with all his harem and a few invited guests.

SLAYER SCATTERS VICTIM'S BODY

Skilled Fiend in New York Dismembers Man and Hides the Parts.

New York, Sept. 26.—A burlap bag stamped with the name "Z. K. Mano," a strip of a woman's skirt, and an oil-cloth table covering bearing a rude picture of the landing of Columbus are the only clues to the perpetrators of a revolting murder which was accidentally revealed at 604 West Thirty-sixth street.

The dismembered body of a man, apparently an Italian, wrapped in the burlap bag, was found in a hole twenty-four feet deep, forming a part of an excavation. The discovery was made by a watchman.

Later a systematic search by the police resulted in finding parts of a man's legs from the knees down and the arms and hands wrapped together in a newspaper of the date of Sept. 10. Bound around the bundle was a strip of a woman's skirt. All was neatly and securely tied with a string.

The latter bundle was found under a covering of hay in a freight car, from which horses had been unloaded.

The head and the thighs of the man are missing. It is the theory of the police that the murder was committed near where the body was found and that three packages of the dismembered parts had been made to be disposed of at some distance. The police believe that the persons carrying the bundles became alarmed and hurriedly disposed of them at the nearest hiding place. They expect to find a third package in the same vicinity.

Coroner's Physician Weston, who examined the body, said that the work of dismemberment had been skillfully done. The body had first been wrapped in a newspaper, then covered with a table cloth, of oilcloth. Dr. Weston said from appearances the remains were those of an Italian or Syrian about 5 feet 3 inches in height, weighing approximately 130 pounds, and from the appearance of the hands probably a mechanic.

The body had been washed after death. There were three stab wounds on the body, one immediately over the heart, another in the left shoulder, and the third in the right breast.

The burlap bag was of the kind used in the importation of Syrian nuts. Z. K. Mano was a Syrian nut importer, of 57 Washington street, who died six weeks ago. About three weeks since his wife sold about sixty sacks similar to the one in which the body was found.

An Official Locates New York City Property Valued at $1,200,000.

New York, Sept. 26.—Comptroller Metz has stumbled upon $1,200,000 worth of city property overlooked by city officials ever since the days of John Y. McKane.

The property lies right in the confines of the Coney Island resort section, has a frontage of a mile and a half, and the comptroller has visions of running its value up to $4,000,000 by filling in and otherwise improving it. The comptroller was surprised that no city official had made the discovery before.

"It was like finding money in the street," said he last night, after he had completed an automobile tour around the property. He was as proud and happy as a man who had just bought a big estate and he said he would start his experts to work to see if they could not find some more.

The discovery was due to a recent purchase of land for a site for its gas holder by the Borough Gas Co. This concern supplies Coney Island with light, and recently found it necessary to erect a huge gas holder. The site for this improvement was purchased from the Children's Aid Society, which owns a large tract of land at Coney Island running from the ocean front back to Coney Island creek.

Thomas F. Byrnes, appraiser of real estate, heard of the purchase and learned that owing to some flaw in the gas company was having trouble in getting a clear title. Byrnes, who of the shrewdest real estate men in Brooklyn, started on a still hunt and soon discovered that the city had a claim to the property, dating back to the time when John Y. McKane ruled Gravesend and Coney Island. He discovered that McKane had sold off this land, which belonged to the city, but in the rush of other business had neglected to give title to the purchaser.

Lefty Leifeld, Pittsburgh's south-paw, let the Quakers down without a jerday. Good boy, Lefty!

More one sees of "Dutch" Lobert performing around the third sack, he is convinced that individual is that the ex-Tri-State player is a complete Philadelphia Inquirer.

Lobert was a carpenter around Pittsburgh until two years ago. The team gave him a trial, but he could not deliver the goods at the time. He was then sent to the Tri-State League of Pennsylvania to make a player of him. He is a favorite of Hans Wagner, the batting jan.

A few more beatings and the Highlanders' hold on the American League will be a mighty poor one.

The coaches are falling down badly on the forward pass. There are no coaches on the ground to teach the New Haven men how to play the game.

No one is calculating the chances of the New York Americans to win the pennant this year, the brightest spot in the schedule of games yet to come looks like the closing week. The New Yorks meet Philadelphia and Boston on Oct. 3, 4, 5 and 6, while the Chicago meet Cleveland and Detroit on Oct. 6 and 7. Both Cleveland and Detroit have been very hard game for the Philadelphia, and 15 out of 20 from the Bisons. The Chicago have won 19 out of 20 from the Cleveland, and 11 out of 21 from the Detroit. The New Yorks have 13 games to play and the Chicago 14. The tie game with St. Louis last week will not be played off, and therefore New York's total of wins and losses at the end of the season, provided the rest of the schedule is completed, will be only 163. Here is the schedule of the New Yorks for the remainder of the season:

New York.—In Cleveland, Sept. 27, 28 and 29. As there are two postponed games with Cleveland, five games will be played there. In Philadelphia, Oct. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. One postponed game in Philadelphia, making four in all to be played there. In Boston, Oct. 5 and 6.

At home vs. Boston, Sept. 25 and 26. At home vs. Washington, Sept. 27, 28 and 29. In St. Louis, Oct. 1, 2 and 3. At home vs. Cleveland, Oct. 4, 5 and 6, and one postponed game. At home vs. Detroit, Oct. 7.

Chicago players think that "Muggsy" McGraw should play second base for the Giants. They say that McGraw did it this week in St. Louis. No doubt the New York players would learn some new lines of strategy from the umpires if he did.

Twenty-four thousand people at one game is the record at the Polo Grounds, New York. That is traveling a few.

Clinton, who is being foisted on an innocent public as a contender for the lightweight championship, has been beaten by two of the best fighters in the world, Russell, of Philadelphia; Tommy Daly, Brooklyn, and "Jeems" Britt, the erstwhile amateur champion of the world, A. C., of Frisco.

Mike Schreck, the Cincinnati welter-weight, is a great "in and outer." He has been mentioned by many prominent sporting writers as the man who will take Jack O'Brien's scalp. He might with a hatchet. The following men have earned decisions over him: Gene Bezenah, 15 rounds; Barney Turley, 15 rounds; Hugo Kelly, 20 rounds; Billy Stiff (a rank fourth-rater), 6 rounds; O'Brien, 6 rounds, and 15 rounds; Twin Sullivan, 10 rounds and 20 rounds. San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 26.—James Jeffries is out with a statement that the moment the man shapes or de-velopes so that the public is satisfied he will re-enter the ring. Jeffries reached San Francisco today after his return from a hunting trip and left this afternoon for Los Angeles.

It was to Promoter Coforth that Jeffries announced his readiness to fight whenever the occasion presents itself. Coforth asked whom Jeffries wanted to fight, and this was the reply: "Whoever looks to be the man for me to fight."

After this conversation, in the presence of Billy Delaney, Jimmy Britt and a number of newspaper men, Coforth intimated that the winner of the O'Brien-Berger fight next Thanksgiving day might be given a chance with Jeffries.

Promoter Billy Roche has signed Al Kaufmann and Fred Cooley for Oct. 16, at Colma. They are both east and Roche wired them transportation today. Billy Delaney signed for Kaufmann. Cooley was O'Brien's sparring partner when he went on the road after his Fitzsimmons fight. Roche also wired today to Claude Johnson, of Kansas City, asking him what were the chances for the match between Walcott and Rhodes, who were prevented from fighting at Leavenworth, Kas. He expects to secure this match.

A Bad Day for Canadians at the Port Huron Races

Went Wrong on More Than One Event—Starter Lowrie's Good Work.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 26.—Starter John Lowrie did excellent work at the second day's racing of Port Huron's fall meeting, getting off twelve heats in about 2½ hours, an average of about 12 minutes to a heat. Had not a heavy downpour of rain interfered with the finish, the day's sport would have proven the most enjoyable in the history of the local track.

In the 2:17 pace, unfinished from yesterday, Davie K., the favorite, proved all in at the clip set by William, the southern horse, though Davie showed himself capable of going some faster than the mark of yesterday.

In the fourth heat, the first today, William M. set the pace the entire mile, the Sarnia horse making a great drive on the home stretch, but finishing a neck behind; in time two seconds faster than the best of yesterday. In the fifth heat William M. was never in danger.

The Sarnia horse, backing their choice even today, believing firmly that he had his competitor's measure taken.

The Canadian boys also went wrong on the first race of the day's regular card, the 2:23 pace, Sunday Bell, the Wingham horse being first choice at $5 to 47 for the field.

Manie Riley, the Saginaw entry and second choice in some pools, would have won off the reel but for breaking her boot straps in the second heat.

The 2:15 trot produced Ora Wilkes, jun., another Canadian, as a strong favorite, bringing $20 to $12 for the three others, but out of four heats raced he landed only the first.

The Castle entry, Henry L., looked the best thing but was outdistanced by Bernardo, with whom Sutherland made a great drive in the last furlong, winning by a short nose. For the 2:24 trot the Baroness, likewise a Canadian, was made a strong favorite, but the two heats disposed of went to outsiders.

Roughness Must Stop

In addressing the jury in the case of George Williamson, of the Montreal lacrosse club, charged with assaulting Charles Querrie, of the Quebecs, Judge Winchester at Toronto said:

"I was somewhat surprised at Querrie saying that the case should not have been brought into court, but that the matter should have been left to the Lacrosse Association to deal with. Such a claim was entirely wrong and lacrosse and other sports must be amenable to law. This was a matter for the authorities to deal with. There was no doubt of the actual bodily harm, because Querrie was marked for life. Lacrosse is known as a rough game, and it is time to put a stop to rough playing in any kind of games."

The one best bet in the National League. The burly Dutchman has no dangerous rival except Harry Lumley. Mike Donlin has been sliding back every time he goes to bat in a pinch. At present Mike is leading, but his record for 26 games, hardly entitles him to a crown. Cy Seymour was the champion batsman last year. Cy has done well since he became a Giant, but got a poor start at Cincinnati, so he is not even in the .300 class at this writing.

Wagner is a batter of no frills, but he has the hits. He has long, strong arms, a powerful chest,

LABOR DAY WAS A BIG SUCCESS

The President and Secretary of Committee Rewarded for Their Hard Work.

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last evening a report on the Labor Day celebration was received from the special committee which had charge of the affair. The report was in every way satisfactory, showing, as it did, that the attendance at the celebration was up to the mark, and that a large surplus remained after all expenses were met. The balance was handed over to the council.

Previous to adjournment, the chairman of the committee, Mr. James McCormick, and the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Joseph L. Goodburne, were called forward to receive the council's commendation for the prominent part they had taken in making the Labor Day celebration so successful.

Mr. McCormick was the first culprit to receive sentence. By way of "punishment" Mr. J. T. Marks read a very complimentary address, and President McCormick presented Mr. McCormick with a lady's valuable diamond ring, for Mrs. McCormick, to be worn as a souvenir of Labor Day, 1906.

Secretary Goodburne received a nice gold watch for his wife as a recognition of his very valuable services. The recipients made short acknowledgments and thanked the council for being so lenient with them.

The committee were most heartily congratulated for the splendid success of this outing.

WILL SELL OLD HORSES

New Span To Be Secured for the Fire Department.

No. 3 committee of the city council, met last night and transacted much routine business.

The fire chief was given power to sell two of the old horses and buy a new span at once.

City Engineer Graydon's recommendation that four days' pay be deducted from each street watering contractor for the month of August, was adopted. This will mean that the city will save $108 on the month's pay list, as the result of there being no water to sprinkle the streets.

Ald. Garratt was present and protested against the city charging the people a frontage tax for street watering which had not been done, but the matter was laid over.

The matter of revising the transient traders' bylaw was left over, as were also several unimportant matters.

PROJECT ABANDONED?

Interesting Rumor Regarding Proposed Cutlery Company.

It was said at the city hall today that Mr. David Eastman, the Bradford, Pa. Bank who was trying to secure $400,000 for the Canadian Cutlery Company, has temporarily abandoned the project.

This rumor was spread through the city hall, and it is thought that the city will continue to hold the old east end hall for at least another spell.

THE GUELPH ACCIDENT

London Conductor an Important Witness at the Inquest.

The coroner's investigation of the accident on the G. T. R. near Guelph Junction on Saturday morning last, which resulted in the death of Engineer Farrell, of Palmerston, and Fireman Bright, of Hamilton, was opened at Guelph last night.

Among the witnesses called was Conductor Joseph Thompson, of this city, who was in charge of the fruit train. Thompson told the jury that he had orders to run from Harrisburg to Guelph Junction. These orders did not give him right of way over No. 44, the mixed train. After he had passed the deeded in the caboose, and did not waken up until he was thrown from his chair by the collision. He had not had more than one or two hours' rest a day during that week. He did not look for rest at London, because the roadmaster told him there was no one to take his place, and he went on with his run on Friday feeling he could attend to it. He had two new, inexperienced brakemen, and in consequence had more work to do.

The engineer of the train had told Thompson he passed Hespeler thinking he could make Guelph Junction before No. 44 left.

Thomas F. Ryan, dispatcher at St. Thomas, stated he issued the orders for the fruit train from Harrisburg to Guelph Junction. There were no night operators between the two points, and it was the duty of the engineer and conductor to give the mixed a clear track if they could not make the Junction before 6:30 a.m.

When he heard the fruit train had left Hespeler and the mixed Guelph Junction he ordered the Guelph operator to call doctors and get a train ready to go to the scene of the wreck.

MAY NOT RUN AGAIN

Rumor Says Chairman Darch Will Retire at End of Year.

It was stated at the city hall today by a close personal friend of Chairman Darch, of the water commission, that Mr. Darch will not seek re-election in January next.

Some time ago he was credited with an ambition to sit in the mayor's chair, but things have changed somewhat since that time.

It is hinted that Mr. Darch could not bank on the support of the entire Conservative party at the next election.

It is also evident that the agreement he put through with the London Street Railway Company, where that company was given control of Springbank Park, and the people were held up for a 15-cent cash return fare on the cars, and also for as high as 25 cents for a seat in the theater, has not made him any friends.

It is said the street railway company made a nice thing out of its percentage on the earnings of the theater this season.

COURT GONE OUT OF BUSINESS. Windsor, Ont., Sept. 27.—Owing to the removal of J. P. Hare, of this city, to Edmonton about a month ago, the Ontario admiralty court has practically gone out of business as far as Windsor and Western Ontario are concerned. The only way of securing a writ at present being to apply to headquarters in Toronto.

IT LOOKED LIKE GRUDGE TO COURT

The Laying of an Information Against Italian Under the Liquor License Act.

Joseph Marinetti appeared at the police court this morning to answer two charges—one of selling liquor without a license, and the other of keeping liquor for sale without a license. Judgment was reserved in both cases for one week.

The charge was laid by Inspector Galpin on information furnished by Wm. Stainton, who lives at 371 Hill street, next door to the house occupied by Marinetti.

Inspector Galpin was the first witness, and told of going to Marinetti's house on Sunday, the 16th, and finding three kegs of beer, one of which was on tap.

Stainton Squealed. Stainton was called, and he said that he had on several occasions gone to Marinetti's house and bought a pair of beer, for which he paid 25 cents. He said that he was taken into the house to one of the bedrooms, where several barrels of beer were kept, and that his pail was filled from one of these kegs.

In answer to questions put to him by Mr. E. W. M. Flock, who appeared for the defendant, Stainton admitted that he had an unfriendly feeling toward the defendant, on account of some trouble which had arisen over money matters.

Marinetti, the defendant, was called. He admitted that at some time past it had been customary for the defendant and one boy who boarded with him, and paid him $25 each per week, to club together and buy from one of three kegs of beer each week. The money, he said, was paid in equal shares by each, only excepting the boy, who paid neither beer nor money.

He said that he did not buy of the liquor, because he was the only one in the house who could speak English well. He denied ever having sold beer to anyone and said that Stainton had come over and wanted to buy some beer, but he gave him a pail without charging him anything for it. Friends would often call on Sunday, he said, and he would give them a glass of beer, but would never charge anything for it.

Denied Selling Beer. Another Italian, who lives in Marinetti's house was called to give evidence. He could not speak English, and the services of an interpreter were required. His evidence corroborated that of Marinetti. They were both emphatic in denying that any liquor was ever sold by anyone in the house.

Crown Attorney McNeill requested that judgment be passed upon Marinetti, and said that he considered the crown had good ground for a conviction, on the evidence produced. He said that apart from the charge of selling to Mr. Stainton, which had been disproven, he thought there was a clear case against Marinetti, as he had evidently been providing beer for the men as an inducement for them to stay at his house and thus making profit out of it, even if, as the evidence went to prove, he had not made any "rake-off" on the actual sale of it.

The defense claimed that the case was the same, no matter whether Marinetti or the boy had been the one who sold the beer, because it was simply a convenient way for these men to have a beer supply, and on account of Marinetti being able to use English he had been chosen to buy.

The magistrate said that he considered that Stainton had evidently laid the information because he had a personal grudge against the Marinettis, and that he considered that it would be rather hard on the Italians to stop them from having beer for their own use, as he understood they had a regular custom of buying a supply for Sunday in all the Italian settlements.

The case is different from any which has come up in the city recently, and the crown did not know just what action to take, so it was agreed upon that the case should stand for one week, in order that precedents may be looked up.

Other Cases. Hugh McCurdy, who was sentenced to a fine of $20 or 21 days in jail, a couple of days ago, has paid his fine and gained his liberty.

Lillie Gray, the young woman who was arrested the other day while on Becker's Island, in company with two young men, was again remanded for one week.

Fuller Foster appeared on a charge of insanity, and was remanded to jail for one week.

Henry G. Wagner, a feeble old man, appeared on a charge of vagrancy, and was allowed to go, as he said he was on his way west, and that if allowed his liberty he would go to Sarnia and from there up the lakes to Lake Superior.

CARDEN MURDER CASE Dillon Found Insane—Sent to Jail for the Present.

Lindsay, Sept. 27.—The Carden murder case was finished at the assizes here yesterday afternoon before Judge Mabee. The jury returned at 3 p.m. and handed the following verdict: "That having been given in evidence upon trial of William Dillon that he was insane at the time of commission of the offense charged, your jurors find that offense was committed by accused as charged, but acquit him on the score of insanity, finding him to have been insane at the time of committing the offense."

Judge Mabee thereupon ordered that the prisoner be confined in the county jail until the pleasure of the Governor-General be known.

Rochester, Sept. 27.—The Union and Advertiser of this city, established 1826, the oldest daily newspaper in the United States west of the Hudson River, declines to support Hearst. It has always been Democratic, but in its issue today it avers that it "owes no allegiance to the candidate of the Democratic convention at Buffalo."

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS

Adopt a Platform—Hearst Likely To Be Nominated.

Buffalo, Sept. 27.—The Democratic convention today nominated William Randolph Hearst for governor of New York after an all-night session. District Attorney William Travers Jerome, who entered the race because of the "disgraceful" condition which he declared existed, returns this afternoon to New York. He was asked this morning if he had any comment to make on the nominations. Mr. Jerome did not attend the convention.

"I will say nothing for the present," he said. "Later I may make my position and my views clear, but for the present I shall give out no statement."

W. R. Hearst had nothing to say this morning concerning his nomination by the Democratic state convention. He was engaged in preparing a speech which he will deliver at the county fair in Poughkeepsie this afternoon, and it was not expected he would make any statement.

The Platform. The platform devotes several paragraphs to defining Democratic conceptions of government to prevent any form of favoritism. It denounces Republican high tariff protection, the gross impartiality which punishes minor offenses while ignoring enormous crimes. It advocates placing officers of banks, trust companies and public service corporations under close and constant scrutiny, and that perpetrators or extensive robberies be given precedence in court on the road to prison.

"Graft" is denounced, but the cure is declared not to be socialism, but democracy. Public service enterprises are then defined, and declared to be a legitimate field for government control. The question of public ownership of such enterprises is treated in an exhaustive manner with the conclusion that for every instance the people of each locality must settle the question.

The recent insurance investigations are condemned as inadequate, and additional legislation to govern insurance companies is demanded.

The eight-hour law is pledged to enforcement, and its extension advocated. Such public improvements as the Erie canal, highways and forest preservation are advocated.

Atrocities against the Jews in Russia are deplored.

The election of United States senators by popular vote is advocated. William Jennings Bryan is hailed as a "great democratic leader," but nothing is said as to his candidacy in 1908.

A paragraph follows denouncing the socialism with a concluding plea for the support of the people.

The platform also advocates the application of the eight-hour law to the police force in the cities, by means of three platoon system or other adequate means. The three platoon system in New York was recently abolished by Police Commissioner Bingham, an appointee of Mayor McCallan.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The Rochester Morning Herald, ever since its birth a Democratic newspaper, in this morning's issue announces itself as an independent newspaper and advocates the election of Charles E. Hughes.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The third ticket likely as a result of the future sessions of the conference? District Attorney Jerome was asked.

"You will recall, I think, that I've nothing to say."

The possibility of a third party is generally commented upon because of the alleged revolutionary character of some of the speeches delivered in the course of the hall. Last night when speakers arose to nominate and to second William Wolser for the office of governor, they turned their attention to a denunciation of William Randolph Hearst in the bitterest terms their vocabulary could command.

Former Mayor Osborne, of Auburn, declared in an impassioned speech before the convention that the "bosses," whom he declared controlled the convention, would be swept away. "Out of the trail of your dishonor," he asserted, "a new democracy will arise in which you will have no part." The statement was greeted with hoots, hisses and cheers.

Osborne, this morning, said he had nothing to add at this time to his statement at the convention.

severe damage being done to New Orleans by flood. It subsequently proved that the city having been visited by nothing worse than a wind and rain storm, from which the damage was comparatively unimportant. The market rallied, but failed to reach the high prices of the first half hour, and in some quarters there was persistent and heavy liquidation. This was especially true of Southern Pacific, which stock these houses sold 36,500 shares between them. The specialists were of the opinion that this was long stock, but no one seemed to be able to form an accurate opinion as the origin of the buying. It is obvious that there must have been large supporting orders, as the decline caused by this liquidation was comparatively small. There was also pressure to sell in Union Pacific and Copper, and the stocks rallied but feebly after the break. There is some fear that the political sign has induced certain large interests to sell stocks, and that the buyers are speculators who would throw over their holdings in case of a sharp decline. In other words, there are indications that stocks have been passed from strong hands into hands less strong. Sales to noon were 646,200 shares.

WORK STARTED ON NEW CHURCH

Work was commenced yesterday on the new All Saints' Church on the Hamilton road. The present church was rapidly becoming too small for the congregation, so a short time ago a new church was decided upon. The building will be capable of seating 500 persons, by another 500 hydraulic pumps of 1000 gallons capacity. The underwriters figure, however, that if anything went wrong with the 4,000-gallon pump when the hydraulics could not be used, the city would be in a bad position in case of a big fire, and they consequently ask that a larger supply of reserve water be kept.

Miss Annie Gartshore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Gartshore, was married at the home of her parents, 122 Clarence street, last evening, to Mr. George De Groat, of Strathroy. The bride, attired in a dainty traveling suit of blue, was attended by her sister, Miss Flossie, while the groom was supported by Mr. Gordon Brookfield, of Niagara Falls. After the wedding dinner the happy couple left for points west. On their return they will make their home in Strathroy.

CANADIAN ACTUARY HONORED

By the Great Berlin Congress.—Mr. Macaulay of the Sun Life.

The fifth international congress of actuaries, which convened at Berlin on Sept. 10, and closed on Sept. 15, was one of the most largely attended of the congresses yet held. Some 600 delegates, representing 21 countries, were present. The sessions were held in the Chamber of the Reichstag or Imperial House of Commons. The Emperor, recognizing the importance of the gatherings, sent greetings. Every important country is entitled to a vice-president and secretary. The United States and Canada are in this connection considered as one, the actuaries of the two countries being internationally organized. To Canada has been given the honor of a voice in the administration of the congress, for Mr. T. B. Macaulay F.I.A., secretary and actuary of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, was elected vice-president for the United States and Canada, and Mr. F. L. Hoffman, of the Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., secretary. Dr. Hahn, of Magdeburg, is the new president, and Dr. Alfred Manes, of Berlin, the general secretary. Mr. F. B. Wyatt, F.I.A., of London, president of the Institute of Actuaries, is the vice-president for Great Britain.

Still Another Scheme.

The commissioners gave Engineer Moore orders to submit figures at the next meeting as to the cost of a 24-inch main from Komoka to London, and of another pumping station and dam below Kilworth.

It is the opinion of Commissioner Saunders that there is sufficient water between Springbank and Komoka to double the present supply, and furnish water for a city of 100,000 people. This would mean a supply of spring water for the next 25 years.

Consequently Mr. Saunders would like to have the figures for this new plant at Komoka. If this water was secured, he said, there would be no necessity for a river water plant.

In reply to a question, Mr. Moore stated last night that another hydraulic pumping station of 4,000,000 gallons capacity would cost about $35,000.

The following list of what is demanded by the underwriters as ample fire protection for a city of 100,000 people, was produced by Mr. Moore:

One hundred gallons per day per capita.
Storage—A reservoir of five days' capacity, or 4,000,000.

Sixteen steamships, with pressure of 80 pounds at the hydrant, 50 pounds at the nozzle. This equals a discharge from each nozzle of 12,500 gallons per hour, or a total of 4,800,000 gallons per day.

Supply Mains—To commencement of general distribution to be in duplicate. Hydrants—Not to exceed 250 feet apart, in mercantile, and 500 feet apart in other built-up sections.

The city has at present a steam pumping capacity of 6,000,000 gallons per day—4,000,000 by one pump and 2,000,000 by another. So hydraulic pumps of 5,000,000 gallons capacity. The underwriters figure, however, that if anything went wrong with the 4,000-gallon pump when the hydraulics could not be used, the city would be in a bad position in case of a big fire, and they consequently ask that a larger supply of reserve water be kept.

Mr. Moore is also to furnish the commission with an estimate of the cost of a main from Komoka to Springbank, for the collection of the water of the city. It is claimed that all water between Kilworth and Springbank will gravitate to the present pump-house, and all water as far west as Komoka could be pumped by hydraulic pumps into the reservoir, or it could be pumped to Springbank and pumped to the city in the old main.

U. S. MEAT INSPECTION

Ruling That the Law Applies Only to Domestic Products.

Washington, Sept. 27.—A decision has been reached by the department of justice that the meat inspection law recently enacted by Congress does not apply to foreign meat products shipped into the United States.

The question was raised by importers of foreign meats and meat products. The department of agriculture held that the law applied to these products, and permitted inspectors of the department of agriculture to pass on them practically as they would pass on domestic meat products.

The question, however, was referred to the department of justice for opinion. The opinion was prepared several days ago, and submitted to Attorney-General Moody.

He concurred, it is understood, in the opinion prepared by the department.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY GRANTS

How the Societies Will Fare Under Provisions of the New Act.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—A statement has been completed by Mr. H. B. Cowan, provincial superintendent of horticultural societies, showing how the various horticultural societies of the Province are likely to be affected by the new act governing horticultural societies, which was passed at the recent session of the Ontario Legislature and which will come into effect the first of next year. This statement shows that, owing to the fact that the grant to horticultural societies has been increased by $1,500, most of the societies in the Province will receive an increased grant. Only about ten societies will have their grants reduced to any considerable extent. These include the societies at Brantford, Cardinal, Stirling, Deseronto, Belleville, Napawan, Cobourg and Brantford. In each of these cases the society mentioned has been receiving larger grants in the past than most of the other societies in the Province, which accounts for the decrease in their grants.

All city societies, including those at Ottawa, London, Toronto and Hamilton, will have their grants greatly increased. The grant to the Toronto society will be increased $183, making a total grant of $323. The grant to the Ottawa society will be increased by $254, making a total grant of $904. The increase in the grant to the London society will amount to $154, making a total grant to that society of $294. Hamilton will benefit not quite as much as the others, their increase being just $92, making a total grant of $442. In the past the Toronto society has received a much smaller grant than the four other city societies.

A considerable number of the horticultural societies in the Province will receive a large increase in their grants. Those which will receive increases of $25 and over and the amounts of the increases they will receive are as follows:

Walkerville $25, Kincardine $71, Chesley $59, Windsor $115, Durham $29, Seaforth $61, Smith's Falls $59, Strathroy $57, Woodstock $45, Collingwood $33, Collingwood $34, Waterloo $30, Clifford $11, Tara $27, Paisley $55, Aylmer $119, Goderich $43, Owen Sound $31, Lanark $37, St. Catharines $116, Tillsonburg $61, Mitchell $31, Barrie $50, Lindsay $26, Galt $25, Guelph $41.

The year the societies will receive their grants on the same basis as usual, as the new act does not come into force until next year.

GLENCOE'S FAIR WAS SUCCESSFUL

Weather None Too Favorable, But Attendance Was Good—Fine Display of Horses.

The 31st annual union fair of the Moss and Ekfrid Agricultural Associations was held on the 25th inst. at Glencoe. Unfortunately the weather was not all that could be desired, but notwithstanding this drawback a large crowd was in attendance.

Among the striking features of the exhibition was the horse show. All classes of horses were well represented. The heavier breeds were much in evidence, while carriage horses were below the standard in both quality and numbers. Mr. W. Edwards, of Toronto, officiated as judge of carriage horses. He was not apparently overly well pleased with the showing, and stated that in his opinion the farmers would find it decidedly more to their advantage to pay more attention to the breeding of the finer classes of horses, as they do not require any more work in connection with feeding and stabling, and when they are put on the market for sale they bring much better prices. He said that Western Ontario presents splendid opportunities for the breeding of such horses, and that even at the highest prices it is almost impossible to get enough horses of this class to fill the demand.

During the afternoon the newly-organized Glencoe band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Callahan, made its first appearance, and provided a splendid programme.

The exhibits in the main building, which were of fancy work, roots, vegetables, grain, fruit and flowers, were very good, and in many ways in advance of those of past years.

The poultry exhibit was a record-breaker in both quality and quantity. The sheep, swine and cattle were about the same as they have been for some time past.

A good programme of races was run off. One of the particularly good events was the race for lady drivers. Miss Tait, of Glencoe, won the honors for her town in a splendid drive.

Some close finishes took place in the 2:30 trot and pace. The farmers' race was also very closely contested.

MORMON PRESIDENT IMMUNE

Court Holds That He's Not Liable to Prosecution.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 27.—Judge Armstrong, in the district court, has decided that County Attorney Parley P. Christensen could not be compelled to issue a warrant for the arrest of President Joseph Smith on a complaint sworn to by Charles Mottin Owen, charging the head of the Mormon Church with a statutory offense.

The court was of the opinion that the complaint sworn to by Owen was indefinite, and did not show that Mary Schwartz Smith, whose relations with the president formed the ground of the complaint, was not his legal wife.

Owen says he will take other steps to compel the issue of a warrant.

IMAGINES HE SLEW NELSON

Brooding Over Prizefight Made the Man Insane.

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—Brooding over the famous Gane-Nelson prize fight is said to have made Thomas Duckworth insane. He was arrested on a Cleveland street car. He terrorized passengers with the declaration that all the women were trying to shoot him.

When brought to the county jail Duckworth declared he had killed Battling Nelson the night before. "Yes, sir, I killed him," said Duckworth. "We fought to a finish, and that knockout I gave him certainly put my friend Nelson to sleep."

Duckworth said the woman whom he thought was putting him with weapons were those who are opposed to prize fighting in general. In the suburban car he pleaded with several of his imagined adversaries not to hurt him.

Duckworth is small of stature, but thinks he is a giant. He says his size is what told against Nelson. He also says a dashing "uppercut" is what makes Nelson's funeral in order.

Early in the morning the man leaped through a window on Prospect avenue, near the Colonial Hotel. He was trying to flee from men, women and children whom he thought were after him with guns.

Then he ran to Ontario street and got aboard the car from which he was taken. When he got in he asked the motorman to turn the power lever "clear around," and get him out of Cleveland as fast as possible. The motorman thought this was only a joke.
