FOUR SUBS DESTROYED BY U.S. WARSHIPS

36,000 HUNS, SLAVS' CATCH IN TWO WEEKS

Nine Hundred Men and Sixteen Officers Taken Sunday.

Petrograd, July 16.—The Russians yesterday captured 16 officers and 900 Austro-Germans in the battle in Eastern Galicia, says the official statement issued today, by the Russian war department. The Russians also took a number of machine guns.

From July 1 to July 13, the statement says, 854 officers and 35,809 men were captured by the Russians. General Brusiloff's forces also captured 93 heavy and light guns, 6 trench mortars, 403 machine guns, 43 mine throwers, 45 bomb mortars, 3 fire throwers, 2 airplanes, and much equipment.

NEW YORK HERALD SEES LITTLE GAIN BY BERLIN CHANGE

New Chancellor Will Be a Tool of Hohenzollernism.

ENEMY'S FIGHT HOPELESS

Sun Says German People Are Realizing They Cannot Win War.

New York, July 16.—Commenting editorially on the political crisis in Berlin, the New York Herald this morning says: "The substitution of a Michaelis for a Bethmann-Hollweg means nothing more to the outside world, nor does it mean anything substantial for Germany. As the chancellor who goes was the instrument and tool of Hohenzollernism, so will be the chancellor who comes. Neither changes in office at Berlin nor extensions of the franchise in Prussia have any bearing upon the problem which Germany presents to the world; nothing that can happen in Germany will have the slightest world significance so long as the kaiser remains a demigod in the eyes of the German people!

Depends On Army.

"Nothing of consequence to the outside world can happen in that country until the army rises in its might and takes the side of the German people against the kaiserism that is making for their destruction. Until that time comes, until there are tangible evidences that a movement in that direction is well under way, it will be useless for the nations against which the kaiser has launched this world war to divert to consideration of Germany's internal problems any of the thought they now are giving to the saving of civilization to the world."

The Sun says: "There are one or two deductions that may be made with a reasonable chance that they will not be far from right. One is that there is a far wider and deeper unrest among the German people than we have fancied, and that it is they who have forced the hands of the Government and the Kaiser.

A Hopeless Fight.

"Another deduction is that the German people are beginning to realize that they are in a well-nigh hopeless fight. After three years of struggle, with disappointment following disappointment, and with human loss and deprivation and untold suffering, they are in a mood to upset the Government, and in a mood, we may well guess, to demand measures looking to an early peace."

The World says: "If pulling down and setting up chancellors responsible only to the kaiser and his generals are nothing more than tricky responses to evidence of popular unrest, they are hopeful signs. If they are super-militarism's defence of liberty and responsible government, they are savage reminders to an embattled earth of the monstrous wrong which democracy is fighting to the death."

Significant.

The Times says: "Perhaps the fact that Dr. Michaelis is the first commoner to be made chancellor may be significant. Germany is weary of war, not as the other belligerents are weary of it—weary of the bloodshed and the cost—but with a weariness that has in it an element of terror. The hopelessness of any outcome but German defeat or the ruin of the world is becoming evident to all Germany.

"Germany wants peace before the day of wrath comes."

The opinion of the local German-American press shows considerable variation. But nowhere is any support given to the theory that the movement so far points to a radical reshaping of German institutions along democratic lines.

The Staats Zeitung, in its English article, says that the fall of Bethmann-Hollweg is a "distinct move in the direction of peace."

This is probably for American consumption.

MURDERED CHILD HAD RELATIVES HERE

Little Hope Irene Alexander, the 13-year-old daughter of Bertram Alexander of Detroit, Michigan, who was brutally murdered July 4 while gathering flowers in a wood close to a picnic ground, by a man who made his escape, is a grand neice of Mrs. R. H. Delaney, of 685 William street, and Mrs. R. H. Berry, 108 Windsor avenue. Mrs. Berry attended the funeral of the child in Detroit.

A number of suspects are at present under arrest, but the authorities are not certain of the guilt of any one of them.

COURSE IN CANNING.—A practical course for the women of London in vegetable canning will be given in the Lord Roberts School on July 17, 18 and 19, under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Association.

MONSTER MEETING AT MONTREAL DENOUNCES CONSCRIPTION BILL, BUT GIVES CHEERS FOR THE KING

Mayor Martin Says the Antis Are Strongly Supported Throughout Ontario.

Montreal, July 16.—Refusing to sing the British National Anthem, and substituting for it "O Canada," the 15,000 people who listened to anti-conscription speeches on Fletcher's Field yesterday were persuaded to cheer the name of King George before dispersing by Mayor Martin, M. P., who called the meeting.

A point made by the mayor in his speech was that people in Ontario had wired him, objecting to the military service bill. One of the telegrams which Mayor Martin read to the crowd was signed C. L. Henderson, Brantford, Ont. Henderson, after his signature, added the words "Irish-Canadian."

The telegram addressed to the mayor was as follows:

"A voice from Ontario. Permit me to congratulate you on your stand against conscription and upon the freedom of the press in the Province of Quebec compared with the censored press of Prussian-ruled Ontario. No wonder Ireland demands a republic since home rule in Canada has been made a mockery by order-in-council. The voice of the people must be expressed at the polls, since they are denied the freedom of the press.

"If Canada is to remain within the Empire, Ontario, like Quebec, is against conscription. The masses, not the classes, must rule."

Mayor Martin continued: "The prime minister today wants to put us back centuries. He cannot do it in the Province of Quebec, even if they let him do it in the other provinces. I receive letters every day from the Province of Ontario. They want me to organize anti-conscription meetings in Toronto."

LIBERAL VICTORY IN SASKATCHEWAN NOT DUE TO FOREIGNERS

Premier Martin Shows Falseness of Tory Reports.

VISITING PARENTS HERE

Tells of Campaign and the Part Women Played in It.

Taking a well-earned holiday after the big strain of the recent election capaign in Saskatchewan, Premier William Melville Martin has been in town, visiting his parents, Rev. W. M. Martin and Mrs. Martin, South London.

"Going back so soon," was the comment made by The Advertiser when he announced he was leaving again for the West on Wednesday.

"Ten days in Ontario will set me on my feet again," he replied with a laugh, adding: "In any case there is a great deal of work to be straightened up back in Regina which has been accumulating owing to the interruption by the election."

With the exception of perhaps one or two places, every constituency was visited by Mr. Martin during the campaign, a feat attended by a considerable number of disadvantages so far as traveling facilities are concerned. Notwithstanding this, he took the westerner's usual optimistic view. "Facilities are very much better than they were some years ago," he stated, "and, with the exception of one corner in the south of the province, practically the whole of it is now accessible by railroad. At least, it is possible to get to almost any point now by taking the train to within thirty miles and motoring across."

On one occasion, in order to relieve the tedium of a long, slow journey over a new road, the premier had the experience of a ride for thirty miles or more in the cab of an engine. At the end of this distance, he decided traveling would be less of a risk on the badly-ballasted road if he returned to the coaches. At least, they seemed to offer more chance for escape in case of accident.

Few German Voters.

With regard to the entire vindication of the Liberal party by a popular majority of something like 35,000 votes, Premier Martin gave a very decided contradiction of reports circulated in the Conservative press to the effect that the sweeping victory was largely due to the foreign vote and particularly the German and Austrian.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," he said, adding, "In my own constituency, Regina city, for example, in the southwest end which consists almost entirely of English-speaking people, I had a majority of more than 700.

"Cannington, the oldest English-speaking settlement in Saskatchewan, gave the Liberal candidate a majority of eight hundred. The fact is the Liberal party had the support of a large share of all classes throughout the province.

"Again, every candidate who ran for the Liberal party was an out and out Britisher, and the majority of them former Ontario men.

"So far as the foreign-speaking population of Saskatchewan is concerned, certain references in the press which are made to these people, would make it appear that they are all Germans or Austrians. The truth of the matter is that there are perhaps nine or ten thousand German people or people of German descent, several times that number of Ruthenians, and a large number of Serbians, Poles, Rumanians and other nationalities from Central Europe. In the last two years very little trouble has been heard of from the foreign-speaking citizens. In the beginning of the war a few cases occurred in Regina, and occasionally there has been an article written of a seditious nature. So far as the Ruthenians are concerned, they are mostly the peace-loving peasant class, who have come from Austria to find what they want

AUSTRALIA GIVES THOUSANDS TO AID WOUNDED OF FRANCE

Sydney, Australia, July 16—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—Fifty-seven thousand pounds sterling was subscribed to the fund for French wounded on Saturday, the occasion of the French fete day on the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille. Crowds thronged the streets day and night long. Great enthusiasm was shown, and the tricolor was flown and worn everywhere. It is expected New South Wales total contribution to the fund will reach a hundred and fifty thousand pounds.

CANADIAN KILTIES AT NEW YORK CITY SEEKING RECRUITS

Pipers and Brass Band Thrill American Metropolis.

New York, July 16.—British troops participating in this parade this afternoon in aid of recruiting of British subjects consisted of a detail of 11 officers and 150 men of the 48th Regiment of Canadian Highlanders, headed by their own brass band and pipers.

The Kilties, in command of Lieut.-Col. C. W. Darling, arrived this morning from Toronto. They were met by a detail of the 71st Regiment, now in the federal service, which has offered the use of its armories as headquarters. The officers will remain during the week at the Biltmore Hotel upon invitation of the management.

Welcomed by Mayor.

Early this afternoon the Highlanders in parade formation proceed to the city hall, where they were welcomed by the mayor. From the city hall they marched by way of Lafayette street up Fifth avenue to Forty-second street.

In the evening, the Highlanders will go to the armory of the 2nd Field Artillery in the Bronx for review with that regiment and the 8th Coast Defence Command.

Tomorrow the detail will go to Newark and on Thursday to Brooklyn. During the daytime on Friday the Highlanders will tour the city in busses, and in the evening will assist at the mass meeting in Madison Square Garden, which will be addressed by Lord Northcliffe. On Satjrday night they will hold a torchlight tattoo in Central Park, and will leave for a week in Chicago on Sunday morning.

REICHSTAG CATHOLICS WILL MAKE PEACE EFFORT

Amsterdam, July 16.—A Berlin telegram to an Amsterdam news agency quotes the Tageblatt of Berlin to the effect that the Catholic Centre party in the Reichstag has decided with two dissenting votes to make a declaration in favor of peace efforts without regard to the attitude of the National Liberals.

CHINESE ROYALISTS HAD PRUSSIAN HELP IN FIGHT FOR PEKING

Experts of the Kaiser Had Charge of Monarchist Batteries.

Tien Tsin, July 16.—Republican headquarters here has issued a statement in which it is declared that Chang Hsun was assisted by interned Germans in defending his residence, and that these Germans escorted him to the legation quarters, where he took refuge.

Foreign advices state that the accuracy of the fire from Chang Hsun's forces caused the suspicion that he had expert foreign assistance.

A FRIEND OF GERMANS.

London, July 16.—According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Tien Tsin, diplomats in Peking met secretly to discuss the extraordinary transfer of Gen. Chang Hsun from the Dutch legation, where he had taken refuge during the fight between republican and imperialist troops last Thursday, to the German barracks. Apparently a majority of diplomats think that Chang Hsun, by refusing mediation and thus causing loss of life, forfeited the rights of ordinary political offenders.

BLONDIN THREATENED BY PASSENGERS ON A THREE RIVERS FERRY; SAVED BY THE CREW

Nationalist Hissed and Menaced Because of Conscription Attitude.

Quebec, July 16.—News guaranteed as to its authenticity comes from Three Rivers that yesterday evening, the Hon. Blondin, while crossing the St. Lawrence at Three Rivers on the ferryboat Progress, was hissed, and threatened by some 150 passengers. The sentiment ran high and threats were made against the Hon. Blondin because of his attitude on conscription.

Employees of the ferryboat had to rush the Hon. Mr. Blondin to the toilet cabinet of the ferryboat, where they held him under protection, fearing that he might be hurt. There were some thirty automobiles on the ferryboat at the time, and all the drivers simultaneously blew their horns or danger signals, and the people ashore, fearing an accident, rushed about the Progress in motorboats.

ONLY THREE READINGS GIVEN BY SPIRITUALIST SPEAKER SUNDAY EVE

A lively interest in the subject of spiritualism, or at least a keen curiosity in regard to it was manifested in the large attendance at the Sunday evening service held by Lady Jean Hooper in the Church of Scientific Religious Research, which she has established in Sherwood Hall. Even standing room was at a premium. The service consisted of hymns from the official songster of the Spiritualist Church of the United States, invocation and an address on "Spiritualism" by Lady Jean, who again appeared in her flowing white robes, with yellow lining and stoles of black and orange.

To the disappointment of a number, "readings" were limited to three, owing to the fact that it is the spiritualist preacher's rule to give only a few for demonstration purposes at Sunday services.

It is understood that Lady Hooper is extending her missionary efforts to St. Thomas, and is holding Thursday evening services there, with the idea of establishing a branch church in the near future. It is further understood that she has discovered mediumistic gifts of a high order in well known London people and some of these are studying with her. In addition to her services, teachings and private readings, her time is also devoted to "healing treatments," and a number of prominent citizens are numbered among her patients. Lady Jean stated some time ago that she only prescribes out does not administer medicines. When these are required she sends the patient to a doctor.

HAMILTON MAN IS SLAIN AND BODY THROWN INTO BAY

Remains of Foreigner Found With Bullet in the Head.

Hamilton, July 16.—The body of an unknown foreigner, heavily weighted and with a bullet wound through the head, was taken from the bay near station ten at the beach this morning. Coroner Hopkins, who was called, said the man undoubtedly had been murdered.

The body was wrapped in chains and held down with a 30-pound weight. The remains had been in the bay for probably two weeks. It is believed that the man was from Hamilton's foreign colony and the police are investigating there in the hope of picking up a clue that will solve the mystery.

BOER IRRECONCILABLES WARNED BY S. AFRICANS

Cape Town, July 16.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—A mass meeting, held yesterday in Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope Province, passed a resolution condemning the revolutionary and republican agitation of a small section of Boer irreconcilables, and declaring uncompromising opposition to this or any other attempt to sever South Africa from the British crown and empire. The meeting solemnly warned the agitators that persistence in such attempts would inevitably plunge South Africa into bloodshed and ruin.

PERCY IN THE TOMBS

Capt. Willoughby Must Explain Passing of Worthless Check.

New York, July 16.—A Boston dispatch to the Tribune says:

Percey Seymour Kelly, of London, England, is back in Boston, but resting in entirely different surroundings from those which he enjoyed a while ago when he was wined and dined as Capt. De Willoughby in the fashionable hotels and clubs in the Back Bay as the guest of the city's elite.

Kelly arrived late last evening, accompanied by Inspectors Dorsey and Haggerty, and will appear in court to answer the charge of passing a worthless check for $250 on the First National Bank.

Before giving the reporters at the Tombs the account of his visit in Boston Percey told of his stay in New York, and that he had been a guest at the home of Cornelius Vanderbilt and Police Commissioner Woods.

He took much pleasure in telling of his ejection from the Hotel Astor because he appeared in kilts, and how he went direct to the home of Commissioner Woods to enter his complaint against the management, and was then invited by the commissioner to dine at his home that evening.

STUPENDOUS BATTLE RAGING BETWEEN RIGA AND RUMANIA; AUSTRIANS IN FULL FLIGHT

Germans Rushing Vast Forces From Italian and Western Fronts To Check Russians—Austrian Army Is Driven Back To Carpathians.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—The whole Russian front from the Gulf of Riga to Rumania is reported in official dispatches today from Petrograd to the Russian embassy here, to be alive with battle. The Germans are said to be rushing up troops from the Italian and French fronts and to be entirely rearranging their positions.

On the northern front near Riga, German reinforcements are rushing up by sea transport. On the Lemberg front the troops are being shifted back and forth by means of heavy automobiles in an attempt to prevent further advances by General Korniloff. On the southern front in the Carpathians, the Austrians are said to be in full flight.

London, July 16.—The occupation of the Galician town of Dolina is reported in a Petrograd dispatch to the Idea Nazionale of Rome, as quoted in a Central News dispatch from that city. The Austrian army of Gen. Boehm-Ermolli is said to have been thrown back on the Carpathians.

FOUR HUN SUBS SENT TO BOTTOM BY U.S. WARSHIPS

Large and Modern U-Boats Sunk by American Gunners.

London, July 16.—Four of the largest and most modern German submarines were destroyed by American warships which were convoying the first installment of American troops to France, according to a report from a German source, as contained in a Berne dispach to a Rome news agency, and forwarded from Rome by Central News.

FEW TRENCHES ONLY GAIN OF THE ENEMY WITH MANY ATTACKS

Series of Strong Assaults Are Repelled by the French.

Paris, July 16.—The Germans made a series of strong attacks last night between the Somme and the Aisne, and in the Champagne. Today's official announcement says they were repelled everywhere except near Mont Haut, in the Champagne, where they retained a few trench elements.

HAIG REPULSES RAID AND PUTS ONE OVER

London, July 16.—The following was issued today at the war office.

"Hostile raids were repulsed last night with loss to the enemy northwest of Fantaine-lez-Croisilles and in the neighborhood of Armentieres. We made a successful raid near Oppy. A few prisoners were taken by us."

CHARGE CORRESPONDENTS WITH ESPIONAGE PLOT

Paris, July 16.—According to a dispatch to the Matin from Lugano the Swss police yesterday arrested the correspondents there of the Berlin Tageblatt and the Budapest Az Est, charging them with complicity in an espionage plot. The plot, which is said to have had wide ramifications, has just been unearthed. The correspondent reports it as being against Italy in favor of Germany.

LINER BADLY DAMAGED

Kristianiafjord Stranded at Cape Race During Dense Fog.

St. Johns, Nfld., July 16.—Preparations were made here today for the arrival of the 900 passengers of the Norwegian American Line steamship Kristianiafjord which ran ashore yesterday seven miles west of Cape Race. After being landed safely at Portugal Cove, they boarded trains for this city.

Latest advices indicated that the crew remained aboard the steamer which was badly damaged. Three of the holds were full of water, but it was thought that if the sea remained calm there was a possibility of saving the vessel. The stranding of the steamer is supposed to have been due to the dense fog. She was bounded from New York for Norway, and had been examined by the British authorities at Halifax.

EXTRA VOTE OFFER TO BE EXTENDED FOR ONE WEEK AT CANDIDATES' REQUEST

$100 in Cash for Three Candidates Who Turn in Greatest Number of New Subscriptions This Week — Contest Manager Wants Suggestions for Additional Prizes.

Owing to the number of requests that have come to the contest department for an extension of the extra vote offer, because of the bad condition of the roads, which prevent many out-of-town candidates from making their showing they would like to have made during the previous weeks of the contest, and because several late entrants felt they did not get a start until well on in the week, and because it has been cited that mostly pay days are coming this week, which candidates consider an important factor, the contest manager of The Advertiser has decided to extend the 50,000 extra vote offer for another week.

Fifty thousand extra votes will be given for every $15 worth of new subscriptions in addition to the regular schedule. Twenty-five thousand extra votes will be given for every $15 worth of back subscription or renewals, in addition to the regular schedule. There is an additional inducement this week of $100 in cash, which will be divided as follows:

To the candidate turning in the greatest number of new subscriptions between today (Monday) and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 21, will be given $50 in cash.

To the candidate turning in the second greatest number of new subscriptions in this period will be given $20 in cash, and to the candidate turning in the third greatest number of new subscription will be given $20 in cash.

Candidates, this is your contest, and the opportunity may never come again to participate in a race for such valuable prizes as The Advertiser is giving in this contest. Your friends are only waiting for you to ask them for their support, and a little extra effort on your part may be the deciding factor in your winning the big McLaughlin touring car.

CONTEST NOTES.

There are thousands of ballots in the contest department which have not been counted, and it will be some days before the count can be brought up to date. The standing to be announced tomorrow will furnish surprises.

Candidates, make this your banner week. There will be no triple votes offer during this contest. The 50,000 extra vote offer is the best that will be given. Some candidates are holding back, thinking that a better vote offer will be given, but they will be sadly disappointed.

More prizes will be announced this week. In fact, they should have been announced before this, but it is the policy of the contest manager to consult as many of the candidates as possible, and find out first what kind of prizes the different candidates would like before purchasing same. Thus, if any candidate, or his or her friends, have any suggestions to make, the contest manager would be pleased to receive them.

RUSSIANS AND FINNS WILL PATCH TROUBLE, AVOIDING CIVIL WAR

Compromise Will Be Reached Between Petrograd and Helsingfors.

Petrograd, July 15.—The semi-official News Agency today received and made public the following telegram from Helsingfors, Finland:

"Confidence was expressed here today that a compromise would be reached on Monday which will satisfy Finnish independence."

The Ukranian national assembly does not desire separation of the Ukraine from Russia, according to official word received here today. It was brought by N. V. Nekrasoff, the minister of ways and communications, who has just returned from Kiev.

HON. L. J. TWEEDIE DEAD; LATE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR NEW BRUNSWICK PREMIER

Chatham, N. B., July 16.—The Hon. L. J. Tweedie, former lieutenant-governor and a former premier, died at his home near here late last night, aged 67 years. His health had not been good of late, but death was not expected. Mr. Tweedie had been in public life for forty years.

His wife, four sons and two daughters survive. One son is a lieutenant in a battalion overseas.

PONTA DELGADO SHELLED BY MONSTER SUBMARINE

Paris, July 16.—Advices from Ponta Delgada in the Azores regarding the recent attack upon that port by a German submarine, declare the shells fired were of 15 centimetre calibre, indicating that the U-boat was probably of unusual size, possibly of 1,000 tons. The vessel is said to carry two or three guns.

REICHSTAG NOT CHANGING PLAN TO GET TERMS

Will Stick to Resolution Despite Hindenburg and Ludendoff.

NEW FOREIGN SECRETARY

Zimmerman's Successor an Aristocrat and of the Militarist Clique.

Amsterdam, July 16.—According to the Berliner Tageblatt, Reichstag party leaders, after they had been received by Marshal Hindenburg and Gen. Lidendorff, held a conference in the Reichstag buildings and decided to maintain the terms of peace resolutions agreed on before the interview.

ZIMMERMAN'S SUCCESSOR.

Copenhagen, July 15.—The Berlin correspondents report that Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, the German minister at Copenhagen, has been selected to succeed Dr. Alfred Zimmerman as Imperial foreign secretary. Should this report be confirmed, it would mean the return of the aristocratic traditions of the German service.

Count Brockdorff-Ranzau is "born," in the German sense of the word, and highly connected at court through his twin brother, who holds a high court position, and through his mother, the Countess, Brockdorff-Rantzau, mistress of the robes to the empress, and one of the most masterful and dominant personages in court life.

The new foreign secretary has a superficial reputation for being something of a sluggard and a late riser, with small taste for society. But beneath he is a man of firm, strong hand, with considerable energy for execution. He is about the only German diplomat who has won the approval of the amateur diplomatic critics of Germany for keeping the diplomatic house in order and checking infractions of what Germans regard as the neutral attitude of the foreign press. He is a cousin of Count von Bernstorff, and unmarried.

MICHAELIS TO SPEAK THURSDAY.

Copenhagen, July 16. — Dr. Georg Michaelis, the new chancellor, will deliver his maiden speech in the Reichstag Thursday. The address is expected to contain an announcement of his forthcoming program, and is awaited with a great deal of interest. Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, who were summoned to Berlin by Emperor William, are continuing their conferences with party leaders. Dr. Michaelis is participating in them.

Representatives of the Berlin press were received Saturday by General Ludendorff, who discussed the military situation. He said the situation on all fronts was favorable.

Dr. Michaelis is the father of a family of a size encouraged by Emperor William. He has six children, but one son has been killed in the war. Two daughters are engaged in public welfare work, and the third daughter is in charge of a soldiers' convalescent home.

PRESS WELCOMES MICHAELIS.

London, July 16.—A German wireless dispatch received here summarizes the opinion of the German newspapers on the program of Dr. Georg Michaelis, the new imperial German chancellor, as "unity of internal questions and confidence and solidification regarding foreign problems and maintenance of the proved policy of alliances."

A majority of the papers, it is stated by the dispatches, welcome the new chancellor.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT.—The council will meet this evening, with quite a lot of business to be disposed of. The assessment question will probably come up in some form or other, and Ald. H. B. Ashplant will possibly discuss the city audit. The fixing of the assessments for the hotelmen, and the sale of temperance beer will also demand some discussion. There are other matters of importance. The witching hour of twelve may possibly find the aldermen wending their way homeward.

POSTAL CLERKS GET ASSURANCE OF RAISE TOTALING $20,000

Sixty-Seven in London Benefit From the Increase.

$500 FOR FIRST-CLASS

Maximum Is Raised From $1,400 to $1,900 in This Division.

The 67 postoffice clerks of this city will receive between $15,000 and $20,000 a year in increased wages by the Dominion Government, following appeals made by the members of the Postal Clerks' Association of Canada.

At the convention of the postal clerks in Winnipeg last week a demand was forwarded to the Government asking for the increase in wages in order that the clerks might adequately meet the increased cost of living.

The increases will be provided for in the supplementary estimates to be brought down shortly in the House of Commons.

The increase in pay has been granted in each instance according to clerkship.

Present Rates of Pay.

The present rates of pay are: First-class, $1,400 to $1,800; second-class, $1,000 to $1,400 and third-class, $600 first year with an increase of $100 a year until $1,000 is reached.

As a consequence of the assurances given by the Government, the new schedule of salaries will be as follows: First-class, $1,900 to $2,400; second-class, $1,200 to $1,800; third-class, $600 to $1,200.

In the local postoffice there are two in the first, 42 in the second and 23 in the third-class.

There were no delegates from the local office to the convention.

The men here appreciate the advances.

They Need the Money.

Up to the making of this demand the postoffice clerks had as a direct result of organized effort in the past few years their salaries increased $200 to $500, according to class of clerkships. This further increase which they will now receive is only what they claim to be entitled to owing to the higher cost of living.

The increase in wages was not the only request made upon the Government. Other requests were:

Granting of full statutory holidays or "time off" in lieu thereof.

Extra pay for all overtime.

War bonus to meet high cost of living.

A greater number of first-class clerkship, so as to clear the way for necessary promotions.

CLEVER CAPTURE MAY SOLVE PUZZLE OF RECENT ROBBERIES

Three Young Men Are Taken Single-Handed by P. C. Tutt.

Several mysterious burglaries may be cleared up as a result of a clever capture made in East London about 2 o'clock on Sunday morning by P. C. Tutt. Single-handed he captured three young men, Lorne Sared, Charles Kravaskes, and Oswald Clark, who, it is alleged, were trying to gain entrance to R. J. Young's store through a rear door. He handcuffed two together and holding the third with one hand, and the third man with the other, marched them out to Dundas street intending to call the patrol. Sergt. McDonald happened to be passing and at once assisted P. C. Tutt in handling his captives. When searched it was stated to the Advertiser that flashlights, screwdrivers and other articles were found. One man before being taken to the station had a handsome diamond ring. It has since mysteriously disappeared. What he did with it is not known. The three gave their home as Hamilton.

All three appeared in police court today, each charged with vagrancy. All were remanded to jail for one week to permit further inquiries to be made as to their past record.

Burglars Caught in Act.

Two unknown men were caught in the act of burglarizing the home of Mrs. A. M. Strongman, 566 Colborne street, by a friend of the family, who had been staying at the house during the absence of Mrs. Strongman and her daughter at Riperwash Beach.

He had just entered the house, intending to pack up some clothes, preparatory to spending the week-end at the Beach.

As he entered the main room he suddenly came upon the men, who bolted out the back door, mounted the rear fence and were lost to view in a few seconds.

They managed to escape with a suitcase filled with various articles taken from the dresser drawers. In their flight a hat stolen from the house was dropped.

Detectives investigated the case and are working on it.

CHANGED PLACE, INDEED

Court House About the Only Thing Remaining From His Days in City.

Dr. A. P. Reid of Halifax, N. S., is an Old Boy in the real sense of the word, who has come to London for a brief visit, after an absence of nearly 64 years. That is quite a spell to live away from the city, and he is trying to locate some landmarks and old friends.

Dr. Reid was born in London in 1836 in a house standing where the Harvester Company's plant is on York street. He attended school here, a private school by the way, where the two-foot rule was the only thing applied with any degree of fervor and enthusiasm. It was applied, and that rightly. The doctor says it was a good thing, that it taught him that he would have to care for himself.

When a young man, he started out of London on the first train that went out of this city to Detroit. Later he went to Montreal, where he started the study of medicine. He followed this up by a trip through Europe, finally graduating in medicine at the University of Edinburgh, after a special course in Dublin, London and Paris.

All Over the Continent.

On his return to Canada, in 1858, he started the practice of medicine in what was known as Flanagan's Corners, now Clandeboye. He stayed there for a year, and then started on a career of wandering. He got to St. Paul, and walked from that city through Winnipeg to the mountains, where he engaged in mining for a spell. In 1861, he and his party, were lost in the mountains, their guide having left them. Dr. Reid intended to go to Japan, but during the American war no ships went across the ocean, and they had to abandon the idea. Down to Frisco and Mexico, the wanderers went, but Dr. Reid finally had enough traveling, and drifted to Halifax, where he settled. For 46 years Dr. Reid has been connected with hospitals in Nova Scotia, and for 25 years he was in charge of the public health work of the province. He practically founded that work for the province. He has been prominently identified with medical work there for nearly half a century.

Mrs. Reid died last year, and Dr. Reid thought he would like to come back to London, a place that he had not seen for nearly three score years.

One Old Schoolmate.

"I have only one old schoolmate living in London at the present time, H. G. Abbott," said Dr. Reid. "All the others have gone. Many of them are dead. I knew Jas. D. Eagan, and I remember John McClary very well indeed. He probably will not remember me. It is strange coming back to London. There are few things that remain as they were when I left. The old courthouse is one. I remember Sheriff Hamilton very well. He was a great friend of mine, and as a lad he used to let me climb up to the top of the jail. Afterwards I saw the famous castles and buildings in Europe, but nothing to my mind ever compared with the jail in London. The rest is all changed. I am an old man now. Life has given me more possibly than I deserved. I am homeless, and I feel like wandering, but I cannot stand it like I used to. I am glad to be back here, just for a few days."

Dr. Reid was a caller on Mr. McClary and Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore this morning and was cordially received.

IN WINDSOR 50 YEARS.

WINDSOR, July 15.—Mrs. Margaret Egan, aged 84, a well-known resident of Windsor for more than 50 years, is dead at her home here. She was the widow of the late Edward Egan, veteran employee of the Grand Trunk Railway. Three daughters survive.

NEGRO WEDS WHITE GIRL OF 14, NOW HELD FOR BIGAMY

James Lawson Says He "Was Under Impression" First Wife Was Dead.

James Lawson (colored), who completes a three months term in jail tomorrow for a conviction under the Ontario temperance act, was arraigned in police court today and charged with bigamy. He was remanded to jail until Tuesday, July 24.

He pleaded not guilty, claiming that he was under the impression that his first wife was dead when he went through a form of morriage with Marjorie Robinson, a young white girl, on January 2 last.

She was less than 14 years of age at the time the ceremony was performed.

The marriage, it is claimed by the authorities, was the culmination of events that led to the girl becoming in a delicate condition.

Up to the present time the first wife has not been located, but efforts will be made to obtain her address during the time Lawson is on remand.

He claimed his wife was dead three years, and that when he married Miss Robinson he firmly believed that he was not committing a crime.

OLD MEMBER OF 7TH NOW IN CALIFORNIA RECALLS CELEBRATION

H. E. Finch of Santelle, California, and a member of the 7th Battalion at the time of confederation, writes from his home in the Golden State to affirm that this old regiment did take part in the celebration in this city fifty years ago July 1. He noticed the discussion in The Advertiser, and gives the following interesting facts:

"Re Canada's first Dominion Day in London, the 7th Regiment, as I believe it is known now, 50 years ago was known as the 7th Battalion, and it certainly took a very prominent part in Canada's first Dominion Day. I was at that time a member of No. 2 Company. Harry Bruce was our captain. The following are the names of some of the boys of that company: Three Arbuckle brothers, William, Alex., and Hugh; two Fitzgerald brothers, E. and J.; two Teale brothers, Charles and Chris.; James Brady, J. Screaton, myself and brother, and a number of others whose names I cannot recall, though their faces to me are as fresh as yesterday. I think Col. Lawrence was in command at that time. Major Walker, I think, too, was a member then—at least, if not then, he was very soon after. I could tell exactly if I was real sure when Prince Arthur's visit to London was, whether before or after the first Dominion Day. His guard of honor was made up from 7th Battalion boys and Major Walker was in charge.

Very few, I guess, of London's 50 years ago 7th Battalion boys are left to tell the tale, but I, for one, do vouch for the fact that London's 7th Battalion was in Canada's first Dominion Day parade."

CHILDREN AT SHELTER GIVEN A MOTOR RIDE

Forty youngsters from the Children's Shelter were given a motor car ride around the city on Saturday afternoon under the direction of Architect Murray.

Nine cars provided by citizens were furnished for the occasion.

After the ride the children were entertained by the Y. W. C. T. U.

The young women clerks of the Northern Life Insurance Company provided sandwiches, those of the Huron & Erie Loan Company ice cream, and the members of Miss Gurd's Sunday school class of the First Methodist Church the strawberries.

The Children's Aid Society wish to express their appreciation of the kindness shown by all who assisted in providing the outing for the boys and girls.

TAKES INVALID WINE FOR A FAINT HEART, THEN DOES WAR DANCE

Two citizens, charged with intoxication, appeared in police court today. Each pleaded not guilty, but after hearing the evidence each was convicted and fined $10 and costs or ten days in jail.

The first claimed he had taken an extra large dose of invalid wine for his heart, which was beating too faintly to suit him Saturday evening. The medicine apparently had the desired result, and the patolman who made the arrest testified that the prisoner had executed an Indian war dance at one of the downtown corners for the benefit of the Saturday night crowd.

He pleaded for another chance on the ground that he was the only support of an aged mother.

"You should have thought of that before you got drunk," said the magistrate, who stated that no matter how he might be inclined to display leniency he had no option but to impose a fine for conviction under the act.

The other pleaded not guilty, and stated that the patrolman pulled him away from his own door. His wife corroborated her husband's evidence. The word of the patrolman and desk sergeant, coupled with the prisoner's previous record, militated against him, and he was accordingly fined.

INSPECTOR TO TAKE CENSUS OF FOODSTUFFS

Inspector J. W. McCallum has prepared circulars to be sent out to the cold storage warehouses, wholesale grocers, bakers, and other jobbers in food stuffs, to secure information as to stocks on hand, prices paid, and prices received for each commodity, and other information.

Ald. Sam Manness, chairman of the high cost of living committee, is anxious to get full information on the subject, and will assist Inspector McCallum in making the investigation thorough.

FELL WITH ELEVATOR.

BRANTFORD, July 15. — Thomas Kirby, superintendent of the Kitchen Overall Company, was badly shaken up yesterday through an elevator dropping. He had just stepped on the elevator, when it dropped about twenty feet. Just how badly he was injured is not known.

WINDOWS SMASHED BY QUEBTC CROWD IN VIOLENT MOOD

Senator Landry, Lavergne and Others Denounce Borden.

CALL PREMIER "KAISER"

Anti-Conscription Meeting in Jacques Cartier Market Square.

QUEBEC, July 15.—Fifteen thousand persons assembled at the Jacques Cartier market square tonight to take part in an anti-conscription meeting, which was addressed by Senator Landry, Armand Lavergne, Laetare Roy, Louis Letourneau, M. L. A., and others, after which the large crowds marched through the streets with placards bearing the inscriptions: "Down With Kaiser Borden and His Bosches," "Long Live the Jails," "We Want Elections," "Sevigny, What Have You Done for Your Brethren?"

At the foot of the Champlain monument at Dufferin Terrace they passed a resolution opposing conscription.

After the demonstration the crowd on their way home smashed the windows of the Quebec Chronicle and L'Evenement, pasting printed inscriptions on the bulletin boards, "Down With Conscription."

One Choice—To Die.

Armand Lavergne was the most violent of the speakers, and told the crowd that if the conscription law was enforced Canadians had only one chance, to die in Europe or die in Canada. As far as he was concerned, if his body was to fall in any land, he wanted it to be on Canadian soil. Among the means which he suggested to prevent the application of the law were for the labor men to proclaim strikes, for the people to withdraw their money from the banks, and encourage only the newspapers which were not bought over by parties, and for city people to go out on the farms.

Will Not Be Muzzled.

He defied the Government to muzzle him, and pledged his word to hold a meeting at Jacques Cartier square as soon as conscription was passed.

Expressing regret that in such a grave time as the present the party leaders who had been invited were not present, he said it was time to know what Sir Lomer Gouin thought of the issue.

He repeated his assertion that England was not fighting for the freedom of Belgium, but to prevent Germany from taking over her trade.

POLICE BAFFLED BY BRUTAL MURDER OF LITTLE DETROIT BOY

Third Mysterious Child-Killing in a Short Time.

DETROIT, July.—With the discovery of the body of a five year old boy, Stanley Levine, in a yard in rear of his parents' home on 246 East Ferry Avenue, at four o'clock this morning without a mark upon it to indicate the manner in which he died, the police department believes it is facing one of the most puzzling of the many degenerate crimes ever recorded in this state. The little fellow, whose father, Julius Levine, is a wealthy Jewish merchant, was dragged from his bed through an open window into the yard, and there evidently suffocated, the physicians who made the post-mortem believe.

After working all day on the case the detective bureau expresses the view that the boy was carried off by a degenerate who had evidently mistaken him for his nine year old sister, Cecilia, a handsome dark eyed child who usually occupied the room in which her brother slept Saturday night. The girl had gone to a relative to stay, which fact was evidently unknown to the fiend who in the dark room grabbed the boy and then escaped.

The police have found that a man has several times been following the girl home and at picture shows in the afternoon has attempted to make advances to her.

Entrance to the Levine residence was obtained by "Jimmying" up a window. A younger brother sleeping with Stanley who tried to give an alarm was told to keep quiet or he would be killed. Another attempt to scream resulted in an attack by the man who inserted his finger in the child's mouth and brutally tore it. The noise alarmed the father who rushed into the room but too late to catch sight of the fiend. The boy's body was found still warm when Mr. Levine reached it. This is the third child murder of similar character in Detroit this year.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER WITH 1,200 ON BOARD WRECKED; ALL SAVED

Kristianiafjord Goes Ashore in Fog Off Cape Race.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., July 15. — The Norwegian-American steamship Kristianiafjord, carrying 1,200 passengers, went ashore today near Cape Race, the southernmost point of Newfoundland. All the passengers were landed safely at Portugal Cove and will be brought to this city by train. Several steamers left here this afternoon to aid the Kristianiafjord, a vessel of 10,665 tons.

Rustle to Aid Passengers.

As there is no accommodation at the landing place for any large number of persons, prompt measures were taken to have the rescued passengers brought to this city by train.

Several steamers from this port and the Canadian Government steamer Stanley, which was reached by wireless at sea, have been dispatched to the assistance of the stranded liner. Wireless dispatches from the Kristianiafjord indicated that she was badly damaged.

The Kristianiafjord, a steamship of 10,665 tons, in command of Capt. S. C. Hiortdahl, was last officially reported as arriving at an American port on June 25. She is owned by the Don Norske Amerikalinje of Christiania. The vessel was built at Birkenhead in 1913. She is of steel construction and is 516 feet in length.

MONTREAL, July 15.—Confirmation of the rescue of all the passengers aboard the Norwegian steamship Kristianiafjord, ashore near Cape Race, Nfld., was contained in a message received here this evening from Halifax.

The Halifax message says the Kristatiniafjord, which was bound from Halifax for a transatlantic port, went ashore last night. "Three of her holds are full of water, but it may be possible to save her," the message concludes.

P. M. OPERATORS GET 15 PER CENT INCREASE

ST. THOMAS, July 15. — The telegraph operators working on the Canadian division of the Pere Marquette Railway system have been given a voluntary increase of 15 per cent in their pay. Word to this effect was sent out from the company's general offices at Detroit today. The new schedule will make the minimum wage about $70 and the maximum about $100 a month for all operators and agents.

KAISER HAS NAMED MICHAELIS TO FILL HOLLWEG'S "SHOES"

British Admiralty Picks Up German Official Wireless.

LONDON, July 14.—Dr. George Michaelis, Prussian under-secretary of finance and food commissioner, has been appointed to succeed Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, as chancellor.

The message relating to the resignation of Bethmann-Hollweg was circulated through the wireless stations by the German Government and was received by the British admiralty. It says also that the emperor accepted the resignation and named Dr. Michaelis to succeed him.

The political turmoil which has been convulsing Germany ever since Russia's first startling success on the resumption of her offensive has culminated for the present in the resignation of the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, but all indications serve to show that his resignation far from being the last act in the drama, is but the beginning of far-reaching developments which are bound to affect the fabric of the German empire and have momentous consequences on the progress of the European struggle.

And He Nearly Triumphed.

The resignation of the chancellor came in the end quite unexpectedly, for Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, in the prolonged party discussions and heated debates of the main committee of the Reichstag, which have been proceeding all through the past week, seemed to have triumphed over his opponents, who have been clamoring for his head by making concessions which were tantamount to the formation of a kind of imperial coalition ministry.

At the same time the chancellor, by the declaration that Germany was defensively fighting for the freedom of her territorial possessions, evolved a formula that seemed satisfactory to both those who clamored for peace by agreement and those who demanded repudiation of the formula "no annexations and no indemnities."

In all this Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg was strongly backed by the emperor. The advent of the crown prince upon the scene—summoned by his imperial father to share the deliberations affecting the future of the dynasty—seems to have changed entirely the position with regard to the imperial chancellor. The crown prince at once took a leading part in the discussions, with the party leaders, and his ancient hostility towards Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, coupled with his notorious dislike for political reform, undoubtedly precipitated the chancellor's resignation.

LT.-COL. REXFORD IS ALMOST MOBBED AT MONTREAL MEETING

MONTREAL, July 15.—Lieut.-Col. I. P. Rexford, formerly officer commanding the 87th Guards Overseas Battalion and a soldier of a Highland reinforcing company, escaped maltreatment at the hands of a mob of about 5,000 persons on Fletcher's Field this afternoon, when, during the progress of the anti-conscription meeting called by Mayor Martin, M.P., Col. Rexford shouted contradiction of a statement made by Alphonse Verville, the Liberal-Labor member of Parliament.

The meeting was well attended, there being about 15,000 persons packed around the speakers' platform when the speeches were at their height. The principal speakers were Mayor Martin and Mr. Verville. Letters regretting inability to be present were received from Sir Robert Borden and from Hon. Mr. Pugsley, M.P.; E. M. MacDonald, M.P.; J. H. Rainville, M.P., and Hon. Charles Murphy, M.P.

Verville Interrupted.

The exciting climax to the meeting came while Mr. Verville was denouncing the Government's sponsorship of the military service bill. Mr. Verville, speaking in French, declared that there are many Canadian soldiers in England who are kept there to prevent their physical condition becoming known to the people in Canada.

"It is not so," Colonel Rexford shouted in English. Immediately the crowd broke up, although only a comparatively small number could have heard the denunciation, and hundreds followed a few who dashed towards the Highlander as the most conspicuous target. Colonel Rexford was in mufti. When the crowd realized that Colonel Rexford had made the remark both he and the soldier were "hustled." Under escort of Mayor Martin and the police, who ordered them to leave the vicinity for their own safety, the two boarded a street car. About five thousand persons followed them to the car lines, and, when they had boarded the car, stones were thrown and the car windows broken.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE 1,600 AUSTRIANS IN WEEK-END BATTLE

Enemy Suffers Another Defeat In Eastern Galicia.

PETROGRAD, July 15.—Attacks yesterday by Russian troops in the Lodzi-any region southwest of Kalusz in Eastern Galicia, resulted in the Austrians losing their positions, 1,000 men in prisoners, and a number of guns, the war office announced today. Elsewhere the Russians held their ground against attacks, and took more than 600 additional prisoners.

The fighting resulting in the capture of Kalusz subjected the revolutionary army to the severest test, according to the Russky Slovo, which says that the Russian cavalry entered the town at noon Wednesday and found it abandoned by the garrison. The Russians were soon attacked, however, by fresh enemy forces, which were rushed from the fortress. After a stiff fight the Russians were compelled to fall back. Reinforced, they returned and drove the Germans out. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Germans, supported by an armored train, counter-attacked, and again occupied Kalusz. But they were once more expelled with heavy losses. Singulary house-to-house fighting, mostly with the bayonet, ensued until 6 o'clock in the evening.

Germans Chained to Guns.

The Germans, says this paper, used explosive bullets with their machine guns. The Russians took few prisoners. In some houses the German gunners were found chained to the guns.

WATTERS SAYS BORDEN HAS NOT KEPT FAITH

Ottawa, July 15.—J. C. Watters, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, in a speech at Hull, Que., tonight, attacked Sir Robert Borden, the premier, who, he declared, had been guilty of a breach of faith in not consulting organized labor before bringing in conscription. He also asserted that organized labor throughout Canada would oppose the measure, even by a Domion-wide strike if necessary, unless the Government showed its faith by taking over the industries of the country and devoting them to the needs of the Empire.

Germans Send Assassins To "Get" Kerensky and Other Russian Officials

PETROGRAD, July 15.—The minister of ways and communications, N. V. Nekrasoff, has notified all militia chiefs at the various railway stations that information has been received from the staff that the Germans have sent agents to assassinate Government officials, with particular intention against A. F. Kerensky, the war minister, and urging every precaution.

BIG FREIGHTER WAS LAUNCHED AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, July 15.—The steamer Louis W. Hill, the first to be launched of three 10,000-ton steel freighters, building for the Producers' Steamship Company, Cleveland, was dropped off at the Lorain yard of the American Shipbuilding Company Saturday. The big freighter was launched without a hitch, and was christened by Miss Elsie S. Schaufele.

The Hill is 345 feet over all, 58-foot beam and 31 feet deep. She will have triple expansion engines and Scotch boilers. The steamer will go into commission in about five weeks, and Capt. George D. Brock will bring her out. The second steamer building for the Producers' Steamship Company, will be ready for the water in about a month and will be named for Carmi A. Thompson.

The William A. Amberg, the third boat of the fleet, will be late coming out.

WILSON PUTS SCREWS ON GERMAN INSURANCE

Marine Companies Prohibited From Doing Business.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Wilson late yesterday issued a proclamation, prohibiting German insurance companies from doing further business in marine or war risk insurance in the United States, and forbidding American insurance companies from reinsuring with them. Payment on existing contracts is suspended during the war except in case of vessels now at sea.

WOUNDED, SICK AND MEN OVER AGE ARE BACK HOME AGAIN

Party of 31 District Soldiers Welcomed to City.

SIX LONDONERS ARRIVE

Two Men Who Were Buried Alive Rescued To Return To Relatives.

Thirty-one wounded and invalided soldiers, including six Londoners, returned to the city at 11:30 o'clock today via C. P. R.

The men were met at the depot by representatives of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, Returned Soldiers' Club, relatives and friends.

Nineteen of the men returned because of over age or illness, has been assigned to permanent base duty at the barracks and were taken there direct.

The remaining soldiers were taken in motor cars to Military Convalescent Hospital, where a dinner was provided, followed by addresses of welcome by James Gray, Dr. Harry T. Reason and Ed. Lance.

The six Londoners were all invalided and each has been assigned to base duty.

They were: W. H. Watts, 24 Euclid avenue; L. Knowles, 25 Wyatt street; J. M. Kenny, 965 Colborne street; H. Eaton, 971 Elias street; A. Elson and M. Barry, both giving their addresses as general delivery.

Has Two Gold Stripes.

A. Jeffries, 367 Romeo street, Stratford, a member of the 34th Battalion, was the only one of the party wearing two gold stripes, indicating that he had been wounded twice. His first experience was at Courcellete in September last, when he was shot through the arm by a sniper's bullet as he was advancing with others toward German trenches.

After recovering from his first wound he returned to the trenches again, and in December last was buried alive by the upheaval of a mine exploded at Hill 60. His left arm was fractured on this occasion.

A. E. McLeod, Walton, was wounded on the Somme in October last, when he was shot through the leg by a machine gun bullet as he was mounting the parapet of a German trench. His brother, James, still on active service in France, was mentioned in Haig's dispatches recently as having been awarded the military medal for bravery on the field.

A. Carter, Windsor, a member of the 70th Battalion, was wounded in the wrist by shrapnel at Courcellete on September 15th last.

Buried for Hours.

W. Fawcett, 243 Vidal street, Sarnia, a member of the 16th Battalion, suffered shell shock at Ypres in June last. He was completely buried for some hours.

The remaining men, all invalided on account of illness, over age or under age, were:

W. J. Harrison, 815 Queen street, Chatham.
J. M. Patterson, 47 McKeough avenue, Chatham.
H. E. Wells, 283 Victoria avenue, Chatham.
W. H. Allen, 20 Daly street, Stratford.
J. Boon, 326 Douglas street, Stratford.
R. E. Jenkins, general delivery, Windsor.

CONSTRUCTION DEPOT MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

Rapid progress is being made at the Forestry and Railway Construction Depot at Carling Heights, under the command of Major N. K. Cameron, who proved himself remarkably successful in organizing and commanding the 63rd Battery, and although No. 1 Forestry Company left camp only last week, No. 2 Forestry Company is already about 60 strong. In addition, the two railway construction drafts are making big strides, one being already up to full strength of 50 men, and the other at about half strength.

Owing to the easier medical requirements, many men are being obtained for these units who could not join other branches of the service, and judging by the rate at which men are coming in at present, Major Cameron should be able to send away a couple of drafts in the near future.

NEW CRISIS IS LOOMING IN KINGDOM OF ALFONSO; CATALONIA IS REBELLIOUS

Madrid, July 16.—Barcelona newspapers publish a note saying that the assembly of members of Parliament from Catalonia will be held on Thursday, notwithstanding all denials, and that the organizers of the movement count on the support of a large part of the army. Various defence committees, on the other hand, have held meetings to protest against any such manifestation. It is asserted the army will remain aloof from politics and obey the Government.

Sixty Catalonia senators and deputies asked the Spanish Government recently for administrative autonomy for all provinces, and decided to call a meeting of members of Parliament in Barcelona unless the Government summoned Parliament. The Government declined to convere Parliament.

KING GEORGE DECORATES AMERICAN LEGION MEN

London, July 16.—King George has conferred the Military Medal for bravery in the field, on three members of the American Legion of the Canadian forces. The men are Lance-Corp. T. B. Dick of Boston and Sergt. H. Harlan and Pte. C. Porter, both from New England.

CITY BREVITIES

—Miss Edna Linnell, pupil of Miss Minnie Raymond, passed the primary examinations in music with honors through the Toronto University.

POLE ON FIRE.—The fire department was called to the corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets on Sunday at noon to extinguish a blazing telephone pile.

TO SPEAK AT STRATHROY.—Mrs. R. M. Graham has been invited to address the Daughters of the Empire in Strathroy at their meeting to be held July 25.

ARRIVES IN FRANCE.—Canon and Mrs. Tucker have received letters from their son Gilbert, stating that he has reached France after spending many months in England.

ANOTHER 7TH MAN.—The name of Lieut. Gerald H. Noyes, 787 Richmond street, city, has been omitted from the list of names of those serving overseas recommended and sent by the 7th Regiment.

QUICK PRODUCTION.—The motion pictures taken by the Canadian Film Company of the Orange parade on Thursday last will be shown at the Majestic Theatre today and Tuesday at all performances.

$80 FROM FLOWER SHOW. — The Isabel Hampton Chapter, I. O. D. E., raised about $80 last week through the tea room and flowers sold in connection with the rose and peony show of the London Horticultural Society held in Hyman Hall.

DISCONTINUE MEETINGS.—Meetings and practices of No. 28, Lord Kitchener Nursing Division, St. John Ambulance Association, have been discontinued for the summer, but will be resumed in September, when a first aid class will be started the first week of the month.

THREE MEN ACCEPTED.—Six recruits were examined at the armories Saturday by the medical board, and three were passed as fit, D. J. McCaughey, R. M. Leeson and T. H. Hamilton. The latter was from St. Thomas and the two former from this city. No recruits reported from the United States.

GROCERS' PICNIC WEDNESDAY.—The grocers' picnic will be held at Port Stanley on Wednesday next. Special trains will be run during the afternoon to accommodate the large crowds that will go down. A fine program of sports, together with some exceptionally good Scotch and Irish dancing, will entertain the visitors. The committees have the details practically all arranged.

PICKED ALL THE DAISIES.—One of the novel features of the First Congregational Sunday school picnic held at the farm of Mr. Spettgue, south of the city, was a daisy-picking contest, the prize going to the one who had the largest bunch to show. So industrious were the contestants that the host had the satisfaction of seeing an entire field rid of the pretty ox-eye daisy pest.

MAY PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK.—The Irish Benevolent Society will hold a meeting this evening to finally decide where to hold the picnic. The offer of the London Street Railway Company and the Victor Amusement Company to hold the outing at Springbank, and that of the Port Stanley folks will be submitted to the meeting. A decision will be made. The Springbank bids are most tempting, and the picnic may go to the city's park. Committees will be named this evening also.

CROP AND TRADE CONDITIONS.—London reports to Bradstreet's say that the trade outlook in Western Ontario has not undergone material change during the past week. Continuance of rainy weather has militated against the harvesting of hay and clover under the best conditions. Spring grains are reported to be in excellent condition. Beans have suffered considerable damage in many districts, and the heavy yield expected will be considerably lessened. Summer quiet has overtaken retail trade. In wholesale lines, the current movement is reported to be better, or at least as good as last year. Shipments of fall goods are now going out from wholesale drygoods houses. Industries are busy, and although farm labor is none too plentiful in some districts, the farming community generally is looking forward to harvest with serious apprehensions. Throughout Western Ontario the crop outlook has had a buoyant effect on trade conditions. Country collections are fair to good.

VETERAN OF YPRES WANTS TO GO TO THE FRONT AGAIN

Pte. Thomas Hamilton Makes Application at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, July 15. — Pte. Thos. H. Hamilton applied at the St. Thomas recruiting office for enlistment with the 25th Battalion Overseas Company, on Saturday.

Pte. Hamilton enlisted at Kingston with the 59th Battalion and went to France. He was wounded in the wrist at the battle of Ypres, and six months ago was given an honorable discharge. The recruiting officers have not determined whether he can be taken on the strength or not.

HIT BY LIGHTNING.

ST. THOMAS, July 15. — During the electrical storm Saturday the residence of Peter Cook, Yarmouth Township, was struck by lightning. The roof, chimney and veranda were badly damaged, but did not catch fire. In some of the rooms the furniture and floors were damaged. The parlor carpet was badly torne. Mr. and Mrs. Parker were in the home when it was struck, but escaped unhurt.

NO CLOTH PATCHES

Military Order Forbids Use as Distinguishing Marks.

Cloth distinguishing patches must not be worn in Canada by members of the Canadian expeditionary force, according to an order issued some time ago, and republished in camp orders today. The order also applies to those Canadian troops in England.

The order reads as follows:

Instructions have been issued by the authorities in England that cloth distinguishing patches, authorized by the Canadian Corps to be worn overseas, will not be worn by officers and other ranks evacuated from France and taken on the strength of the Canadian overseas military forces in the British Isles.

These instructions are also applicable to all officers and men who have returned to Canada, whether on leave duty or for ultimate disposal.

FARMER FOUND DEAD IN BED

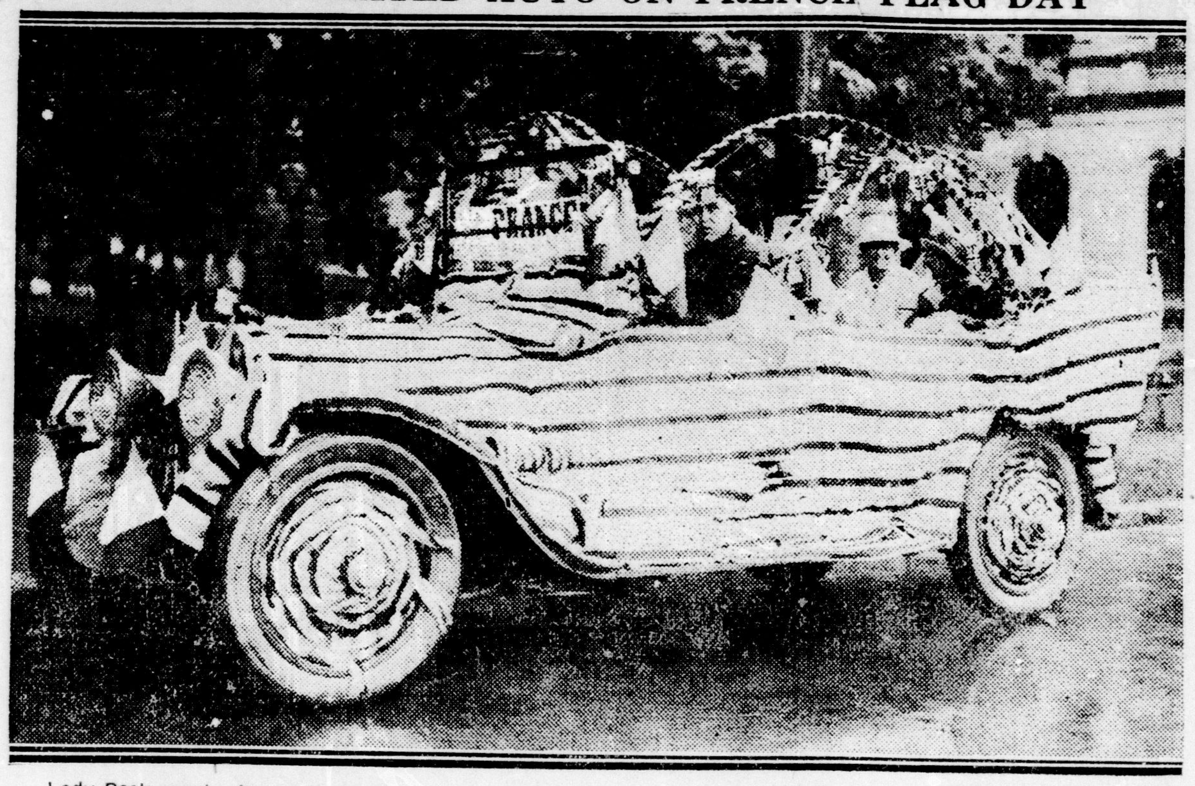

EMBRO, July 15.—Alex Lawson, aged 70, a retired farmer residing at Maplewood, ten miles north of here, was found dead in bed today by his son Bert. He retired in his usual health last night, but is supposed to have been stricken with heart failure. His wife died about a year ago.

Mrs. McKinnon, wife of Anthony McKinnon, editor of the Embro Courier, had her eyes terribly burned last evening when a can of chloride of lime which she was trying to open suddenly exploded. She has suffered the most intense pain ever since the accident. The attending physicians hope to save the sight of the eyes.

$750 AT KITCHENER.

KITCHENER, July 15.—The French flag day held here Saturday netted $750. The ladies connected with the Red Cross here, in spite of disagreeable weather, worked hard. The splendid response does not in any way interfere with the regular work of this society, which has been going on for almost three years.

BEST DECORATED AUTO ON FRENCH FLAG DAY

Lady Beck spent a busy day on Saturday in connection with the collection that was made to help the French Relief work.

FRENCH FLAG DAY NETS THOUSANDS FOR RED CROSS

French Flag Day on Saturday for the benefit of the French Red Cross was the greatest success of any event of the kind ever held in London, and this, notwithstanding the many campaigns of the past few years for patriotic objects and the tag days for various war relief purposes which have taken place this summer. By 11 o'clock Saturday evening, results amounting ao $4,618 had been counted with still some taggers to make reports.

Of this amount, more than $800 was received in checks ranging from $5 to $250. Boxes bristled with one dollar bills and a large harvest was taken in of $2, $5 and $10 bills.

A Mean Stranger.

Though the wonderful story of the modest stranger who unostentatiously squeezed a $20 bill into the slot in a tagger's box had gone up and down the streets and even found its way into the afternoon press on Saturday, it still retained its power to create a sensation when the box containing it was opened. But the rejoicing was short lived. By that time, three or four bank men had joined the force of ladies engaged in counting. These experts immediately detected the fact that the magnificent gift was nothing more or less than a gigantic hoax, a Mexican bill and absolutely without value.

Under the circumstances, no surprise was expressed that the strange donor had failed to leave his card.

Piles of Silver.

Notwithstanding the large donations the piles of silver seemed unending. Even the bank clerks declared they had never seen so much silver all at once. In the piles counted were no less than 1,000 quarters and 1,100 10-cent pieces, as well as 5-cent pieces and pennies galore, an indication of the general nature of the response.

One team which rendered especially fine service was composed of returned soldiers, captained by Mrs. W. E. Coles. Two of these, Ptes. Ross and White, established a record for the day, bringing in more than $81. So indefatigably did they work that the members of the committee began to fear the effects of the strain upon these two convalescents from the Central Military Convalescent Hospital. But they persistently refused to give up while there was a chance of doing anything. "We feel that we cannot do enough," they reiterated, though one of them limped up and down all day on crutches, the result of doing his bit at the front. Pte. Ross three times returned for more flags, and was the last to hand in his box at 10:30 at night. Pte. White sold three boxes of flags.

Did Good Work.

Two teams which met with notable success were the Lord Elgin Chapter, I. O. D. E., and the recently organized Senator Coffey Chapter.

Apart from the amount of money raised, Saturday's flag day was remarkable for the unanimity of effort upon the part of the women's organizations. Greatest harmony prevailed from beginning to end, and a number who have taken part in former flag day campaigns stated that there was less confusion than every before, a result of the splendid organization.

For one thing, a sufficient amount of supplies had been ordered in the way of boxes and flags. Though 65,000 flags were ordered, very few were left over.

Again, never before was the city so completely covered by an efficient army of workers on a flag day. In all, 480 boxes were given out, and much praise was bestowed upon Mrs. B. C. McCann asd Mrs. Fred White, convener of team organization. Thanks to Mrs. J. B. McKillop and Mrs. F. Spry, there was no lack of automobiles to convey taggers to their districts, and do the hundred and one things required of "motor transports."

Thorough Campaign.

The advertising campaign which preceded flag day had been so thorough that everyone seemed prepared when calls were made at their homes, or when they were accosted on the streets and asked to buy flags for the sick, wounded and prisoner of war French soldiers.

Refusals were fewer than ever, according to a number of the experienced taggers.

Lady Beck, Mrs. A. E. Cooper, Mrs. A. T. Edwards, Miss MacDonald and Miss Evans remained at headquatrers in Cronyn Hall till almost midnight, counting the returns, with the assistance of Mr. McArthur solicitor of the Canada Trust Company. Messrs. Carson and Armitage of the Huron and Erie staff, and Mr. Mills of the Bank of British North America.

Others who had been on duty from 7 o'clock in the morning and rendered heroic service for twelve hours or more had been obliged to go home. Not a single worker, however, begrudged any effort, and great was the satisfaction as the afternoon progressed and a real triumph was assured.

Outside Points.

Previous to Saturday, French Red Cross donations were received by the London "France's Day" committee from a number of outside places, these amounting to $2,000. In several cases organizations had not waited for "France's Day," but began selling their flags as soon as they received them, or took advantage of the 12th of July celebrations. In a number of outside points lawn fetes and other entertainments were held, in order to raise money.

TEACHES NEWSBOYS THRIFT AND SEES THEM PILE UP SAVINGS BY STARTING THEM WITH DOLLARS

Frank B. Silverwood, Los Angeles, Cal., who is visiting his brother, A. E. Silverwood, here, is a big man, with a big smile, who is having the bigges kind of a time in life. And he is having this fun with his boys. Modest, shirking the limelight as much as possible, Mr. Silverwood has started something that is getting bigger in every way. It bids fair to make him a big national figure in the United States. In fact, he is that now, but his fame will go on increasing, as the scheme is understood and put into practice.

Mr. Silverwood is making thrifty citizens out of newsboys. He started the thing a few years ago, by giving a newsboy a dollar, to start a bank account. The boy started, and he saved. He thought it would be good to try with others. He did so, they saved, too. They acquired the habits of thrift, and soon had tidy bank accounts.

Then he decided to make it a regular thing, and he got a lot of boys together, and started them with a dollar bank account. He wrote a song, "We Want the Flowers Now," a pretty bit of music, and he gave six copies to each of scores of newsboys. They were sold for 25 cents each. Of this, 25 cents went to the boy for selling the songs, 25 cents for the music, and the dollar formed the nucleus of the savings account.

Adds Dollar Every Year.

Hundreds of these songs were sold by the boys, and then bank accounts were started. Mr. Silverwood's dollar was the first contribution. Then he promised to add a dollar a year to every boy's bank account.

The results have been surprising. In Los Angeles alone, Silverwood's boys saved $34,000 last year. There are 5,000 of these youngsters, and they are all getting a start. Mr. Silverwood follows every individual case, sending letters of encouragement to them, and urging them to save. In very few cases do they fall down on him.

So important a work could not fail to attract widespread attention, and Mr. Silverwood has been importuned to make his work more widespread. In fact, he has been asked to nationalize it. He is now making arrangements to do this. That is one reason why Londoners have had an opportunity of meeting him.

Stories of His Boys.

Mr. Silverwood is extremely modest about the work. When you mention the boys, he will at once enthuse, and he will never tire of telling how this one made out, how the other fellow is getting a college education because of money saved through this scheme, how the spendthrifty youngster has been converted into a thrifty, saving lad.

"I am just having the most fun of anybody in the world, and am helping to build boys into regular men," said Mr. Silverwood. "Thrift and preparedness are my objects. I started out with nothing, when I was a lad, and I knew something about it. It is the hardest thing in the world to get a start, so that is the idea behind my nest-egg principle. A boy is picked out, and I put a dollar to his credit. I want to interest him in the scheme, and he generally responds. It is amazing the results I have had."

He showed two typical bank accounts, one of Harry Krugert, who started with one dollar on December 24, 1915. He was a hustling newsbcy, and soon the enthusiasm of saving got him, with the result that on May 19, 1917, he had $376 in the bank. H. Everett Meade is another lad who got the idea, and he had saved $90.92 from December 24, 1915, to January 13, 1917.

Keeps in Close Touch.

Mr. Silverwood keeps in close touch with the boys, urging them to save. The spirit of thrift induces a spirit of hustle to get the pennies to save, and work hard. That, in Mr. Silverwood's mind, is the thing that counts.

The movement is growing, and will become national. He was at a conference in Chicago recently when this matter was discussed, and a number of very wealthy men have stood behind it. In the east, the same thing is happening, and the scheme will be universally adopted in a few years.

"I am just glad to help these boys," said Mr. Silverwood. "They have to take our places, and it will be a good thing to teach them habits of thrift and economy. It will help them a great deal."

MUNITION WORKER HURT WHEN HEAD COMES IN IN CONTACT WITH A BELT

Part of Hanley Shaldon's Ear Severed While at Work.

Hanley Shaldon, Brick street, a munition worker at the London Machine Manufacturing Company's plant, had the upper portion of his left ear severed when he came in contact with a swiftly-running drive belt at the factory this morning.

He was picking up some material from the floor, and absentmindedly raised his head until his ear touched the belt.

He was removed to Victoria Hospital, where Dr. Norman Beal attended him and sewed the severed portion on again.

At latest reports he was progressing favorably.

LITTLE GIRLS FOUND WAY TO HELP FRENCH FUNDS

That patriotic endeavor is not confined to adults was effectively demonstrated on Saturday when three little girls between the ages of 4 and 6 bought some tags with their own savings and amply contributed to the success of French flag day by selling them at a 100 per cent profit, turning in all profits to the cause. The juvenile patriots, on hearing that flags were being sold in aid of a country for which their brothers were fighting, relinquished all thought of a picnic which they had contemplated and joined the ranks of the taggers for a period of six hours on Saturday.

The little girls were Misses Edna and Margaret Butler, neices of Capt. Chester Butler, at present in England, and Miss Margaret Hamilton. Their efforts were greatly appreciated by the ladies in charge of the taggers.

in Canada. They have contributed to the Red Cross, and a number of them have enlisted.

Tory Misrepresentations.

"One of the misrepresentations which has been made in regard to Saskatchewan has been that of including settlers who have come from the United States as 'foreigners,' and also French-Canadians. Both of these are mistakes, the latter from the fact that the French-Canadians were here before the English people."

In reply to a question concerning the possible attitude of the foreign-speaking population towards conscription, Mr. Martin said:

"So far as conscription is concerned, it will not very much affect the foreign-speaking people in Saskatchewan, from the fact that the large majority of them are on the land and not likely to be taken owing to the shortage of farm labor. Again, they marry very young and even those who are in the cities would not be taken until the second class.

"There has been talk in some quarters of disfranchising the foreign-speaking citizens and a probability of this coming up in the Dominion House. The unfairness of any such step is at once apparent from the fact that these people have been offered inducements to come as settlers and been given their citizenship. If we are to have a united people in the prairie provinces, we must not antagonize, but Anglicize. We must exercise care in guiding them to an appreciation of British ideals and institutions.'"

With reference to charges made for political purposes against the Saskatchewan school system, Premier Martin declared: "These have been entirely unwarranted. We have an educational system equal at least to that of Ontario, and I may say a more advanced law on the question of language in the Province of Saskatchewan than in the Province of Ontario. So far as the French language is concerned, the interpretation we place upon our law is that it permits the teaching of French in the first two grades. With regard to other languages, we make a concession of one period in the afternoon."

A survey of 222 Ruthenanian schools revealed the fact that only 29 of them were taking advantage of the period permitted.

How Women Helped.

The effect of the woman vote, according to Mr. Martin, was to largely increase majorities. "The women recognize the fact that the Liberal Government has given legislation along the lines which they consider in the best interests of the welfare of the province, and they have largely supported it. A number of women figured quite prominently in the election campaign in the way of organizing, and delivering addresses. In several places, the women worked with the men. In others, they had separate organizations. In Regina City a very large vote was polled by the women."

With reference to the construction placed by Tory press on suggestion contained in the Winnipeg Free Press regarding the advisability of a change in leadership of the Liberal party at Ottawa, Mr. Martin said: "This does not mean that the Winnipeg Free Press is not still loyal to Sir Wilfrid. The suggestion that Mr. Pardee should replace him as leader was made entirely because of the position taken by Sir Wilfrid on conscription. The same was true of the Liberals who voted for conscription. It wasn't a case of voting against the leader, but for the measure.'

JOHN FLETCHER DEAD.

Toronto, July 15.—One of Toronto's leading educationists passed away today at his home, 532 Huron street, in the person of John Fletcher, M.A., (Oxon) LL.D., professor of Latin, University of Toronto.

From 1872 to 1875 Prof. Fletcher was principal of Yarmouth Seminary and professor of classics of New Brunswick University, holding the latter post until 1881, when he left to accept the classical chair at Queen's University. For fourteen years he was professor of classics at Queen's, coming to the University of Toronto as professor of Latin in 1895.

WEDDING BELLS

SHORT—CHEESMAN.

A pretty wedding took place at the Ridout Street Methodist parsonage on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Olive Cheesman and Richard Henry Short, both of London, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Holmes, pastor of the Ridout Street Methodist Church. The happy young couple left on their honeymoon and will upon return reside on Colborne street. Many friends join in best wishes.

ROTARY CLUB WILL HELP FIND HOMES FOR SOCIETY WARDS

Decides To Take Up Child Welfare Work.

The Rotary Club, at the last luncheon of the season today, decided to request the executive to appoint a strong committee to deal with child welfare work in all its phases in London.

The suggestion was brought forward by Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore, who presided. Controller Little was the first speaker, and called attention to the fact that there was a considerable scope for service in connection with the Children's Aid Society. Much could be done in this way. There were many children in the shelter, and there was a tendency to institutionalize them. The club could assist in getting the children in good homes.

D. H. McDermid, chairman of the finance committee of the Children's Aid Society, stated that there were 40 children in the home at present. The aim of the society had been to get them into homes as soon as possible, but owing to the war conditions had arisen that made it necessary to keep more than the usual number of children in the institution. There was need of money, and assistance. He suggested that a day be set aside for the discussion of this work, with Inspector Sanders as principal speaker.

Doing Great Work.

W. A. Martin pointed out that Mr. McDermid was doing a great work in connection with the juvenile court. The Government had promised to institute a juvenile court here, but it had not been gone on with owing to the war. The Rotary Club throughout North America were doing splendid work in connection with the boys, and Big Brotherhood movements had been started in many places. He expected that many clubs in Canada would follow suit.

W. R. Yendall spoke of the survey of the boy life of London, and declared that a large number of the boys intended to be reached had not been reached. The Rotary Club could do a good service by surveying the field, and furnishing leadership in these movements. It was not necessary to develop an organization, as the club could co-operate with the organizations new in the field. He moved that a standing committee on this work be named at once.

Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore thought the thing should start with the babies. Many of them died from want of nourishment and poor food, and the Rotary Club could do much in helping to save the babies.

More Room Needed.

Sir Adam Beck dealt with the preventorium work at Byron Sanatorium. There were some 31 children in the preventorium now, and it was necessary to enlarge the building. Between 300 and 400 homes were now being supervised by the Ladies' Aid in connection with the Sanatorium. The future of Canada depended on saving the boys and girls.

After some further discussion, it was decided to request the executive of the club to name a committee.

It was decided to hold the annual picnic on Wednesday, August 15, at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Little, Springbank. Frank S. Ashplant, chairman of the commitee, stated that all arrangements had been made.

The sum of $10 was voted for the returned soldiers' picnic to be held on Monday next.

ONLY 160 MEN SIGN UP IN DISTRICT FOR FIRST HALF OF JULY

One of Lowest Records Yet Reached Here.

Only 160 men signed up in Western Ontario during the first half of July for service overseas with the Canadian forces, according to figures compiled at headquarters of military district No. 1 today.

This is one of the lowest figures yet reached for a half month in this district, the usual figure during the past few months being 300. Since the impetus given to recruiting by the announcement of the conscription measure slackened, the figures have been on the down grade, and this month has so far been the lowest for some time.

All of the above men were examined at tha two mobilization centres, London and Windsor, as the Guelph mobilizoation centre was recently closed. The medical board at London mobilization centre passed 68 men, but 18 of these were sent here from the various recruiting offices of the British Recruiting Mission in the United States. At Windsor, 92 men passed through the centre. Deducting the 18 men who reported from across the border, the number obtained in the district comes down to 142 men, and it is more than probable that many of these were obtained at Windsor from across the Detroit River.

The 7th Overseas Copmany obtained 15 men, the 25th Ooverseas Company 11, the Army Medical Corps 6, and the Royal Flying Corps 5.

Sir men enlisted at Woodstock, three at Sarnia, and two at Stratford.

STUDENTS MAY APPEAL WITHOUT PAYING FEES

Inspector Edwards calls attention to the fact that no fee is necessary in the case of students who failed at the recent entrance examinations, if they want to appeal.

"If the students are not satisfied, they can appeal before August 28th," explained Mr. Edwards. "The appeals must be made to me, or to Principal Rogers before that date, and the entrance board will make an investigation. If the students are not satisfied, and desire to make a further appeal from our finding, a fee of $2 is necessary. No fee is required for our work. That should be made plain, as I have received some money that I am not entitled to."

COYLE—WALTON.

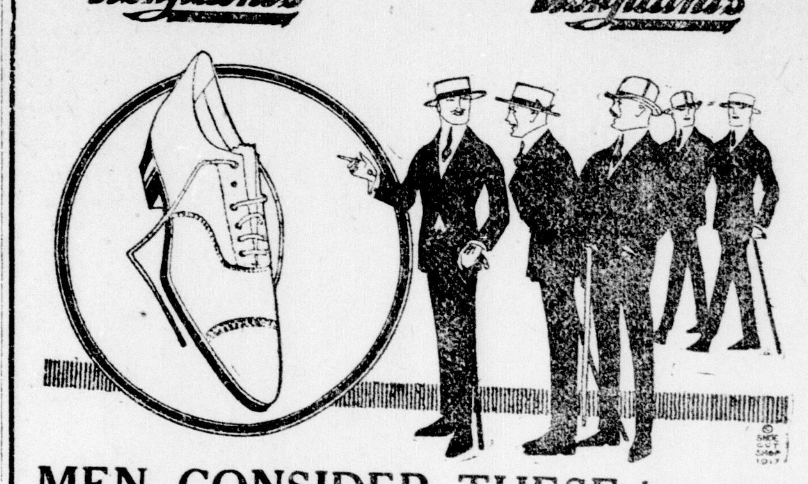

A wedding of much interest to Londoners was solemnized on Thursday, July 12, when Pearl Adele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walton, 972 Waterloo street, was united in marriage to L. S. Coyle, son of W. J. Coyle of this city.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a navy blue cloth traveling suit, with picture hat to match. Her corsage bouquet was of American beauty roses. The bride's mother was gowned in black silk and georgette crepe with handsome jet trimmings.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl lavalier. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Monroe, the couple left on an extended honeymoon to Duluth and other points. After their return they will reside in Chicago.

HOSPITAL VISITING HOURS.—Relatives and friends of soldiers in the A. M. C. Field Hospital at Carling Heights Camp may visit the hospital between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m. on week-days, and between 2 and 8 p.m. on Sundays. This is announced in camp orders today, owing to the impression that has prevailed that no one was permitted to enter the lines of the hospital. The military authorities are desirous of having this impression corrected.

CAR STOLEN IN FOUR HOURS.—Superintendent W. R. Davidson, Detroit, formerly superintendent of the Grand Trunk here, wants to claim the medal for being the hard luck person of the universe. Last Wednesday he purchased a fine machine and drove it oround to his home. He went in to have his evening meal, but when he came out his car had been stolen, in less than four hours after he got it. The police were notified, but so far have failed to locate the thieves.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FUNERAL OF THOS. McDOUGALL.

The funeral of Thomas McDougall, well-known high school student and former captain of the Collegiate football team, was held from the residence of his father, James S. McDougall, 515 Princess avenue, Saturday, to St. Peter's, where requiem high mass was sung by Father Forrestal, who also conducted the services at the grave. A soloist rendered "Face to Face" at the Cathedral. Many floral tributes were laid on the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Charles Clohesy, William Hopper, John Cox, G. Rowat, Fred Skinner and Arvida Smith.

DEATH OF MRS. LENNON.

From E. C. Killingsworth undertaking parlors the funeral of Mrs. Bridget Lennon, formerly Mrs. William Mulholland of Lambton County, who died here Friday in her 81st year, will be held to St. Peter's at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

The late Mrs. Lennon is survived by two sons, James Mulholland of Detroit and William of British Columbia, and three daughters—Miss Sarah of Detroit, Mary of Platka, Florida, and Mrs. John McDonald of Saginaw, Mich.

HOLLWEG'S RESIGNATION.

THERE is little solace for the Allies in the resignation of the German chancellor, Von Bethman-Hollweg, and the elevation of the Prussian Michaelis to take his place. It is a victory for the military party in the Teutonic empire, led by the crown prince.

An interview published in a Bavarian newspaper may have helped in bringing about Hollweg's downfall. In that interview he is quoted as saying that Germany's greatest danger was from those persons who expected a victory; the best he could expect from the war was a draw. He also expressed sympathy with the aims of the Socialists and Social-Democrats. The Allied nations may, however, see hope in the freeing of the chancellor from the ties which held him to the Conservative party; provided he uses his freedom to influence the non-official part of the German people.

While the political crisis pending in Germany is said to be the most serious in its recent history, it does not offer excuse for jubilation. It may be a symptom of unrest, which in the long run will cause the overthrow of the Hohenzollerns and their military following, but which has not yet by any means reached that stage. There have been political crises in Germany for more than a year. Hollweg and Tirpitz had it out some months ago over the submarine policy, and Tirpitz was forced to resign. This was looked upon as a defeat for the exponents of "frightfulness." In a short time unrestricted submarine warfare was resumed, and ever since then there has been a political war between the chancellor and the pro-military party. The resignation of Hollweg can mean only that the military party is once more in the ascendant. The new chancellor is said to be less sympathetic toward the reform policy, and inclined to favor continued rule by the iron hand of Prussia.

All this does not tend to confirm the rumor that the kaiser has abdicated. Although the kaiser and Hollweg are said to have been close personal friends the change in chancellorship does not in any sense harmonize with the idea that the emperor is about to give over the reins to a less powerful ruler. The world must wait a while longer for the end of the Hohenzollerns or for a German revolution to bring an end to the war.

THE SCANDINAVIANS.

A WRITER recently in the New York Outlook, a woman with a Scandinavian name, makes a plea for Denmark, Norway and Sweden, telling "what they have done for the Allies." She is not able to record very much. However, we are informed that "all three countries have passed laws making it criminal to break the guarantees to Great Britain respecting export trade," and that "drastic punishments have been meted out to those who have attempted to evade their contracts."

Miss Larsen says that the Scandinavian countries have done great service to the Allies in "keeping open the ways of traffic on land and sea," but she cannot really instance any such offices on Sweden's part, speaks of Danish ships as shut up for a time in harbor, and says that "Norway has been obliged for her own sake to keep up her shipping, which is the bone and sinew of her prosperity"; "in return for supplying Norway with coal, England has imposed certain conditions," which are enumerated: "England has the option on all the Norwegian fish that she desires to buy in return for giving coal to the fishing fleet." It is pretty clear from this that the Scandinavians do for Great Britain just what they are compelled to do.

Miss Larsen naively tells of Sweden that being dependent on Germany for coal, it "has been obliged to export a small part of the food so sorely needed at home in return for German coal," and that the ministry at Stockholm fell recently because of the people's growing desire for a trade agreement with Great Britain, "for the import of food and coal from the west," and a "fear that American supplies might be withheld, the disconteut breaking out in a demonstration before the Parliament Buildings." This last remark is extremely suggestive of how best to deal with Sweden, and Holland, too. The United States has the power, and is going to use it, of bringing all slippery neutrals to reason. Swedish newspapers are now raging against the Washington policy, and it is true that Sweden has put an embargo on the export of food, but the figures of Swedish trade will be investigated. We have greater reason, perhaps, for looking into the practice of the Dutch merchants and their Government.

GERMAN HATE FOR BRITAIN.

HATE for the English and Canadians surpasses all other feelings in the minds of Germans, and makes their treatment of prisoners of these nationalities more terribly cruel, more devilish than that accorded any others. The hymn of hate was no mere momentary flash of bitterness on the part of the author, but rather a true expression of the sentiment towards the British which appears to exist generally throughout Germany. Indications of this fact have been apparent ever since the war began, but the convincing proof is offered in an article printed in an American magazine, in which the story of the capture, imprisonment, escape, recapture and final escape of two Canadians is told in detail. These two were Corp. Edwards of the Princess Pats and Pte. M. C. Simonds of Oxford County, and it is a tale to make the blood run cold with horror of the Huns.

Soon after being taken prisoner and after the intervention of a high German officer had saved them from death at the hands of his soldiers, these two men were informed: "You fellows are lucky. Our orders were to take no Canadian prisoners." Perhaps they were, in that they are still alive, but many times during their captivity it must have seemed to them that death in action would have been preferable. There is no need to enter into all the horrible details of their treatment. It is enough to say that every move which they made which could be construed into a breach of regulations was punished by the cutting down of their already starvation rations, and the infliction of physical torture of one kind or another; every opportunity to beat them or prick them with bayonets was gladly embraced; their sleeping quarters were made as uncomfortable and filthy as possible; all the most repulsive tasks of the camp were given to the "Englanders;" males and females, high-born and low-born, of the civil population insulted and abused them whenever possible.

This hatred was emphasized by the better treatment of the French prisoners. These were allowed more liberty of action, were not nearly so much abused, were better fed and had all the easy labors of the camps.

What is it, one wonders, that has engendered this hatred for the British among the Teutons? Perhaps the answer is fear. Britain long has stood in Germany's path, a barrier to her world dominion. When the British sprang to the side of France and Belgium at the outset of the war, this fear became more acute. Was the kaiser's long-planned coup to be foiled by this little nation? The armies and the people were ordered to hate, to despise and to wipe out the protector of other nations. As the war progressed and British strength increased, the fear and hate became stronger, and it may be that they are now more bitter than ever before. But, it is the fear which is gaining the upper hand, gripping the Teutons, who will soon realize, if they have not begun to do so now, that every cruelty must be paid for in the end. If Britain knew all that has been done to her men taken prisoner, it is to be feared a fearful revenge would be taken.

ENTRANCE EXAMS.

IT WAS SUGGESTED in the House of Commons the other day, during a debate on civil service questions, that few members of the House would be able, without special preparation, to pass a matriculation examination or even the entrance. It sounds rather ridiculous, but a few moments thought will convince most people that the remark was correct. How many businessmen of this city could pass an entrance exam this week?

Somewhat condescendingly the grown-up congratulates the boy or girl who has passed the entrance; it is very good for the little person, and so on. But a glance at the questions which have to be answered should produce nothing but respect and warm admiration for the child in the early 'teens who can gain the necessary number of marks.

London schools have made a really brilliant showing this year, for which both teachers and pupils deserve the greatest credit. Perhaps some credit should be given also to the weather, which was not so hot as it frequently is at the examination season.

The holidays will be thoroughly enjoyed after the hard work, and some sympathy will be felt for the unsuccessful by those who are rejoicing. It is not a disgrace to fail if the effort was made to succeed, and, for the consolation of those whose marks did not reach the pass total, it may be pointed out that it is not always the ones who pass exams easily who leave the deepest and most enduring impression on their country's history. There are other trials coming in which they may be the leaders.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is to be a new Grand Trunk station. Oh, no! Not in London, but at St. Catharines.

Benevolent neutrality sounds about as foreign to Mexico as sultry days to the North Pole.

London city hall economy is a new brand which is not expected to prove popular; it is too costly.

The little emperor of China was on the throne just long enough to enter the list of deposed rulers.

Canada is not threatened with meatless days, but many families observe these without any legal compulsion.

A woman has been sentenced to hang at Hartford, Conn., but the sentence is about as far as it is likely to go.

Russia wants it understood that her offensive is not meant to crush Germany. We won't quarrel about motives if the action continues.

Hollweg expects nothing better than a draw, but he is mistaken. The war will have a much better result than that, and eventually Germany will see it in this light.

Luther Burbank announces that he has produced wheat which will grow anywhere in the temperate zone, and will yield much more grain than any hitherto known variety. This is great news, but what a pity it was not in use last year.

Lady Beatty, Portrait By P. A. DeLaszlo M. V. O.

This portrait of Lady Beatty, the wife of the naval commander-in-chief, is an excellent exemplification of the work of Mr. P. A. de Laszlo, who has made a name for himself in the front rank of portrait painters.

Canada, the Spellbinder

"CANADA THE SPELLBINDER," by Lilian Whiting. J. M. Dent & Sons: Price $2.00.

Another book on Canada. We are endlessly written up, and there is a gramophonic similarity among many of the accounts. Miss Whiting is an American who made a professional rush through the country, and undertakes to serve up with gusto and gush, all in one, some "history," a topography, a guide-book, a puff for Canadian poetry, and most important, pervading all, an advertisement.

It seems that a whiff of advertising blows everywhere in Canada. Anything written by Canadians or for Canadians is liable to take up the taint. "Canada the Spellbinder" has it strong, almost like a circus announcement. There is the pretentious, sententious and inflated style, the loading of adjectives like magnificent, marvelous, splendid, and the rest. Outwardly it is a handsome enough piece of printing. The book is publishe by J. M. Dent & Sons, whose work is always exquisite. The illustrations are numerous, interesting and representative.

The title of the book is not prepossessing. A bit of American slang, Spellbinder suits the author at least as well as it does Canada, and yet she is evidently quite a learned lady, her pages abounding in quotations from the poets and essayists. There is, however, considerable of what American college students call drool, a tendency to solemn platitude, or windy ponderosity, with now and then the stilted—awful tone of a spiritualistic seance.

The English really needs correction in some places. On page 21:

"That the results that were called into activity for a period of over fifty years, of momentous importance to Canada, by the causes set up by the young Scotsman, matters that would never have happened but for him, is evident to all who study closely the modern history of the Dominion."

What can this mean? The authoress is said to have written a book on "The Brownings." Her obscurity is of a different sort from theirs. Just above she informs us, with finger up, that the late Professor William James "had the unmapped power of spiritual divination." How is that for a writer on Browning?

On page 27: "Canada felt she had no potential voice in the administration of affairs." "Potential" is quite amiss. Page 34: "Almost every large city is adorned with a statue of Sir John Macdonald." The writer never wastes time oy words, except in using too many of them. At the foot of page 129 is another example of tangled verbiage as choice as that above quoted from page 21. In the next to last line of page 302, "whom" is probably a misprint. And so on.

Sir John Carling is given a curious prominence (p. 28-29) in the making of Confederation! More serious accounts exist. On page 6 Canada is said to have a longer coastline than any other country, and its "bordering on three oceans" is acclaimed as an asset. Hurrah for the Arctic Ocean and the Labrador coast!

However, there is much matter in the pretty volume. It rattles on with a plethora of goodwill and feminine excitement. The Grand Trunk's whistle is heard from dedication to map at the close. The whole country is vivaciously described in about ten chapters. There is an alluring account of Canadian national parks, an especially interesting passage on those of the far west. The writer had a good time here, it seems, and wants others also to enjoy "fair Canada."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

HOUSEKEEPER'S VIEWS TO CITY ENGINEER RE GARBAGE.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

If those who frame rules for garbage would take a round at collecting, they would witness some of their mistakes. Until recently, and when garbage collection was first installed, the collector brought in a large tin and emptied refuse into it, which meant one trip. Now they tell us the department cannot afford this, so carry ours out and have to bring it back, which is a loss of time. Out of $36,000 they might invest in a few tins. It does not seem fair that the householders' receptacles should be banged and battered on the wagon, as they are. The city seems willing we should buy new ones frequently. Formerly men closed gates; now they are left wide open. I believe it is only quantities of newspapers that are to be tied, and that is reasonable.

At present the collections are quite punctual and not three weeks behind, as they were in the winter.

YOURS FOR REFORM.

A REPLY TO MR. MOYER.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I do not know the address of Rev. Harvey D. Moyer, pastor of the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church. Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to ask Rev. Harvey D. Moyer if he is prepared to prove the statement he made that was published concerning Mr. Cecil, the medium from Battle Creek, Mich., who was arrested here in Stratford and was alleged to be caught in deliberate fraud. I was present at every meeting and saw the arrest made, and I was also at the trial, and as yet Mr. Cecil has not been convicted of fraud.

I also see an item in the paper that the Rev. Lady Jean Hooper, pastor of the Scientific Religious Research Church, Sherwood Hall, London, Ont., issued a challenge to Rev. Mr. Moyer to meet her in any hall or on any platform in London, where she would prove by the Bible and by the laws of the universe that spiritualism is of God and stands for the betterment of the world.

Now, Mr. Moyer, if you are a learned man and doing your best to show the people the right religion, respond to this chance. You told the congregation in your sermon that spiritualism is of the devil. My opinion is you should not be afraid to meet the Rev. Lady Jean Hooper on the challenge she has given you, and you would find time to do so, for the benefit of everyone interested. If spiritualism is not right, myself, along with thousands of others, would like to have it proven.

FOR THE RIGHTS OF ALL CANADIANS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Once again in the ebb and flow of the endless tide of years, the "glorious Twelfth" has come and gone, and, as usual, on the "13th" the daily papers contain lengthy accounts of the speeches made by the speakers of the day.

We note that one speaker states that the French-Canadians "must be taught that Canada was British and would remain British." Very good, and so it shall remain British, but let us hope, not by making use of force.

The same speaker states "one language must prevail." O, this "bugbear of a language" question. Let me appeal to the common-sense of this gentlemen. Does it make any difference, so far as my loyalty is concerned, whether I speak English, Gaelic or Hindu? The Hindus of India are allowed to speak their native language and practice a religion which we look upon as heathenish, and we pride ourselves in speaking of the liberty which we allow them. But the French-Canadian mustn't use the French language. That might tend to make him disloyal. Beautiful logic, isn't it?

I wonder how these critics of our French-Canadian people would like it if they were forced to give up speaking the English language, the language of their fathers, and were compelled to speak, instead, German (for instance). Doubtlessly they would resent it, and rightly so, because that would be interfering with their "civil liberty," which they have been boasting so much about upholding. Do not the French-Canadians have as good a right to stand up for their "civil liberty" as anyone else in Canada? We are all, or should be all, Canadians first, without regard to the countries from which our ancestors came.

Do we not owe a great deal to the ancestors of our French-Canadian people? Do we not owe something to Jacques Cartier, Samuel de Champlain, La Salle and numerous other Frenchmen who discovered and explored this country of ours when it was yet a wilderness? And what language did these men speak, and what language did their followers speak? French. Yes, French, was the language of Canada when this country was first known by that name.

This just reminds me of a little incident which happened during my high school days. Our principal was deploring the small number of pupils who were taking French. He said "French is as much a Canadian language as English." This old teacher of mine is now fighting for his King and country "Somewhere in France." Point your finger at him, ye critics, and call him disloyal if you dare.

Referring to what many people who have never seen the borders of the province of Quebec have to say about the disloyal talk of many French-Canadians, I wish to say that this may or may not be true, but I recommend to these critics a famous saying of the well-known Billy Sunday, namely, "We have enough dirt in our own backyard without troubling our neighbors." Mr. Editor, would it not be a good idea for us to begin by cleaning up our own backyard?

Again I appeal to the common-sense of the readers of your paper, when I ask what good will come of forcing the French-Canadians to give up their native language? Will it make them more loyal to force them to speak English? Wouldn't they be better citizens if they are allowed to speak their own language? They would certainly be better citizens, and good satisfied citizens form the bulwarks of a nation.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness in giving space in your worthy paper for this letter, I remain,

Yours very truly,
"RUBE."

A BON MOT FOR THE STREET RAILWAY.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—In your editorial column of this morning's paper, you say that should the Toronto people care to have a street car ride, the latch is out in London.

Now I agree with you, if you are referring to the London and Port Stanley road, but surely you would not invite anyone (even the poor Toronto people) who wishes a street-car ride to try and get one in one of those miserable little packing boxes, on some round and some flat wheels, that occasionally run along the London streets? If so, Mr. Editor, you are certainly to be credited with a wonderfully optimistic nature, because as far as I can see the London's street railway's care and service are in a class by themselves and that class would be marked a long way below zero. Yours truly,

OBSERVER.

Saving Worry and Money Through Service

There are many motorists buying Goodyear Tires to-day who base their preference on the assured comfort, appearance, or security these tires lend.

They are the epicures among tire buyers. Their standards are exacting. In Goodyear merits their demands are amply answered.

There is another class of Goodyear users. This class is overwhelmingly in the majority.

Men in this class bring their business instinct into tire purchasing. They measure tire virtues by a far more exacting standard—the capacity for delivering long, loyal, economical service.

It is because these men obtain their due in Goodyear Tires, that they regularly prefer them as their equipment.

For the construction of these tires is a summary of all our tire-building knowledge—the full embodiment of our laborious experience.

In the course of that long experience Goodyear engineers developed the tire-making machine, the No-Hook bead, the All-Weather-tread, the Braided Piano-Wire base, and other quality-giving Goodyear features.

These tires have out-grown experiment. Their goodness is in-built, exact, definite. Their qualities ensure that long, loyal, economical service that the bulk of business-minded motorists demand.

Yes—every Goodyear Tire that reaches the hands of a customer has had the benefit of Goodyear improvements. Its quality is further made sure by a rigid system of inspection. This inspection touches every process of tire-making from the gathering of the raw rubber to the delivery of the finished tires to the shipping room.

In Canada more than 1000 business men, realizing the reliable and economical service yielded by Goodyear Tires, have so organized themselves that they can support and extend this service.

They work beneath the emblem shown above. Their set aim is to make your tire bills smaller, to build their business on your friendship, to win your friendship by deserving it.

Their service embraces many tasks. It is yielded courteously and willingly. It involves doing many things that would take the pleasure out of your motoring if you had them to do yourself. It is a service that saves you worry and money.

You should take advantage of the Goodyear Service Station Dealer's work. It helps you realize what you and every other motorist desires—tire service that is long, reliable and economical.

Go to the Goodyear Service Station Dealer near you. Ask him to describe his work. He will be glad to tell you the many tasks he performs. He will be pleased to demonstrate to you that his service is money-saving, efficient, courteous, complete—that his service is service such as you have been seeking.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

Bread and Roses.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I wonder if you have a recipe for "pot-pourri" up your sleeve or any place else? I would love to have one, as we have lots of roses this year and I thought little jars of "pot-pourri" would make such nice Christmas presents—inexpensive and not much work for me in these busy times, as the children enjoy picking the roses. I have never made any, but if it is a success, I'll send you some.

Here's a hint for those who like Jerusalem artichokes—don't scrape them before cooking, as the skins slip off like beet skins if they aren't cooked too long.

Isn't "Mrs. Homebird" lovely? How old is the "Sunshine Baby?" I have three sunshine babies myself, the eldest not four years old.

Here is absolutely the simplest recipe for bread and can hardly fail. The two essentials are a bread-mixer (which pays for itself every baking) and good western flour, as Ontario flour isn't strong enough. In the evening put two quarts of warm water in mixer and add two yeast cakes and let stand half an hour. Then put in one-fourth cup of salt, three-fourths cup of sugar, a good pinch of ginger and six quarts of flour. Turn mixer five minutes, then put in a warm place to rise overnight. In morning it is ready to stir down and cut into loaves, but I generally stir mine down and let it rise a second time before cutting it. Everyone says my bread can't be beaten. We use sixteen large loaves a week, so that speaks for itself, doesn't it?

Yours sincerely,
"THE BOSS' WIFE."

Ans.—You would perhaps note the rose-jar directions in Thursday's issue (date of your letter) in answer to "Honey Chum's" inquiry. As I told "Chum," I've never tried to make one either, and so cannot vouch for success, but the formula sounds practical. Cordially agree with you about "Mrs. Homebird," though. I've yet to see her in the flesh. First thing we know the "Sunshine Babies" will be writing to the Mail Box—then won't the editor begin to feel old?

Your bread recipe is certainly a simple method, and as you say, those sixteen loaves tell their own story. We shall have to tell Hon. Mr. Hanna about you!

Re your last paragraph (censored), that adjective is most generous of you—but!

Patriotic for Comic.

Miss Grey,—Well this is my first visit to your cosy corner, and hope I don't bother too much. I often notice where your readers exchange recitations. I have a few good patriotic pieces I would be glad to exchange for some comical ones. I guess I will go now, with best wishes to your Mail-Box. May I call again? I'll sign myself, CLOVER BUD.

Ans.—You're not a bit of trouble, "Clover Bud," and I am keeping your address handy, hoping we may be able to effect the change for you.

"Marion's" Message.

Dear Miss Grey,—I noticed in today's paper that "134th Highland Girl" sent those pieces for me. I will be very grateful to receive them. Sorry I forgot to inclose postage in my last letter; will do so this time. I have a nice recitation entitled "The Last Hymn." I will gladly give it to anyone who would like to have it. Best wishes to you and the Pageites. Sincerely yours, MARION.

Ans.—Thanks for the missing postage, Maid Marion. We all forget at times, so do not feel too badly.

Send the Gift.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please let me know through your Page if proper to send a small gift to an old boy friend of mine (and our family) who was married this month. Now, although he has been a friend, I never met his wife, and do not know if she knows of me. I was sent one of their marriage announcements. Yours sincerely,
WATERMELON.

Ans.—I did not print all of your letter, "Watermelon," as I thought you would prefer not. It is perfectly correct to send a little gift, and the one you suggest would be admirable. Yes, inclose the card as you say. I am sure the bride will be pleased at your kind thought.

On Vimy Ridge.

Dear Miss Grey,—Received letter inclosing soldier's name. Was glad to get it. Have sent letter and papers to him.

We are having bad weather here lately, but yesterday and today are beautiful.

Extract from my brother's letters:

"No doubt by now you will be hearing about the great work done by Canadians at Vimy Ridge. It was some scrap, you can take my word for it. We have had to haul the 'dots' for a month together, with all kinds of material. These trips kept us out from about 2 or 3 in the afternoon till 2 or 4 o'clock next morning. After a while we left at 5 o'clock and came back at 5 to 6:30 a.m. All this time we were on the road. No doubt you have read of the rotten winter we have had. Most of these trips were made in cold rain or snow. Believe me, I have worked in some awful rainstorms and snowstorms this winter.

"Not content with making the great capture of Vimy Ridge on Easter Monday, we have followed up with the guns and ammunition. You can mark my words, it was no cinch hauling through mud knee high. After the night trips we slept till 9, 11 or 2 o'clock, according to the lateness of the hour. When we got up we had to groom and water our horses. Some had to clean harness. All these things kept us busy till we had to turn out for the next trip. It was usually two nights out and one in.

"After the advance itself was over and we were able to rest a bit, we shifted lines. Then we had to start in packing ammunition on forward. I spent five nights straight at this job. We had to walk all the way from the dump, only riding to the dump and back to the lines. I'll never forget those five nights as long as I live. I thought I had seen a bit of shell fire on the Somme, but it was nothing to what Fritz handed us as we went over the ridge. We had to pack the 'dots' over what was 'No Man's Land' a few weeks ago. It isn't exactly a straight, smooth trail over the shell holes. You can mark my words, that if Fritz had had his way there would be one less G in the world. He shelled us one night, and the captain led us right through the barrage. All kinds of dirt and shrapnel flew around our heads, but we got by O. K.

"The very next night was the worst yet. We had just started to load when he put up the worst barrage I've seen yet. His shrapnel was rattling against a row of boxes and we were on the other side of the boxes. Talk about a hot corner! We had the added task of looking after the horses loaded. My charger is a powerful big fellow, but a bit gun-shy. A couple of shells landed not ten feet behind us. The horse leaped ahead, carrying me along through the air at every leap. After a while we got along nicely till we started for a second load. We were right around where he put his gas shells. Gas is "no bon" for a soldier.

"The weather the last week has been great. The sun has my arms and neck burnt the worst hue I've ever had them burnt. Great dry-horse lines, too.

"We sure did have our plenty of excitement the other day. First we saw a plane about a thousand feet end on end, only the aviator right himself near the ground. Next on the program was the dropping of bombs by a couple of Hione planes. Then later on off goes an old mine. I have been able to work out with the old baseball the last few days. It is good weather for it, but a bit early.

"Any time you have any eats, shoot 'em along. Some talk of passes going on. If I get one will go to Ireland and Scotland.

"Have been in army two years the 14th of June; 17 months in France the 15th of June.

"All for now. Sorry to take up so much room. KNOCK EYON."

Ans.—I think we are indebted to friend "Knock" for sending his brother's letter. The latter's clear description of the dangers and trials in the front lines cannot but fill us with desire to do all possible to make their lot lighter and more comfortable. Now out with the grey yarn—let the needles fly.

Their Own Potatoes.

My Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again. It is quite a while since last I was here, but I have been too busy to even think of writing. I am going to inclose the name and address of our "lonely" who has been wounded and is in a hospital in England. I would like to correspond with someone in the Mail-Box just for fun, but I can't make up my mind who I want. I would like "Twelve-Year Old," if she wants me. Anyway, who will return the offer. I enjoy some of your letters very much. Where is "Tipp" and "Mr. Jiggs" lately?

Miss Grey, I have worked in the potato field, and I enjoy it immensely. We have one of our own. It's under water just now, though.

Well, I have gabbled enough for this time. So long.

"MINNEHAHA."

Ans.—How nice and independent it must make you feel to have a potato patch all your own. Hard work, sometimes, no doubt, keeping it in good order, but what a comfort to know that every horrid bug less, and every stroke with the hoe, means so much more towards a good crop.

If "Twelve-Year Old" will correspond will she please let us know? The "lonely" whose address you send, we shall try to take good care of. Now "gabble" in again some day, Minnie.

RECIPES

WHAT 1 CUPFUL OF SUGAR, 5 EGGS AND 1 CUPFUL OF FLOUR WILL MAKE.

Sponge cakes; yes, the good, old-fashioned sponge cakes. You will have a standby of sponge cake recipes if you master this first recipe, which contains all the rules required for successful making. Most people crave for something sweet at the end of a meal, so why not serve sponge cakes more frequently; They are nutritious and easy to make:

Use fresh and cold eggs. Sift the flour before measuring it, and return it to the sifter. Line your pan with brown paper and grease. Beat up your eggs in a shallow bowl, with a very light wire egg whip such as you can buy for five cents. Many separate their eggs for beating, but I do not find it necessary. Add the sugar and salt, and beat all together for fifteen minutes. Sift the flour over the entire top of the eggs and sugar at one time, and fold it in very lightly. Pour into the pan and quickly place in the centre of the oven.

Layer cakes and jelly rolls can be baked in a hot oven, but loaf sponge cakes require a slow oven. Dust the top of the cake with pulverized or granulated sugar as soon as you take it from the oven ,and remove it from the pan.

Queen of All Puddings.

Separate two eggs; to the yolks add two teaspoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt; beat until well mixed, and add two cupfuls of milk. Butter a three-pint pudding dish; put two cupfuls of stale sponge cake cut into half-inch cubes into the pudding pan; pour the custard over the cake and bake for forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Spread two teaspoonfuls of marmalade over the top; cover with meringue and place in a warm oven to dry. Just before serving garnish with orange marmalade.

Bird's-Nest Pudding.

Put pieces of cake, which have been covered with jelly, into sauce dishes; pour over the custard, and put the beaten egg white on top.

To make the custard: Heat two cupfuls of milk in the top of a double boiler; add the cornstarch, which has been mixed with a little cold milk, one tablespoonful of sugar, salt, flavoring and the yoke of an egg. Beat the white of an egg until dry; add one tablespoonful of sugar, and put on the top of the pudding; place in a warm oven to dry.

Toasted or Twice-Baked Sponge Cake.

Take the regular Sponge-Cake mixture in a shallow pan, and, when cold, cut into strips half an inch wide and five inches long. Put these strips on a baking tin and place in a moderate oven to dry and brown.

Sponge-Cake Crumbs With Cocoa Sirup.

Put two cupfuls of milk in the top of a double boiler; mix two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, a quarter of a cupful of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of cocoa and a pinch of salt with a little cold milk, and add to the boiling milk; cook for fifteen minutes. When partly cooled pour into a glass bowl and cover the top with cake crumbs which have been dried in the oven. Place bits of tart, red jelly over the top, and serve with or without whipped cream.

Plain Loaf Sponge Cake.

Break the five eggs into a bowl; add one cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt, and beat for fifteen minutes. Sift the flour and add to the eggs and sugar, folding in very lightly; do not beat after adding the flour. Line a pan nine inches square, or a brick pan, with paper, pour in the mixture, and bake for forty minutes. Flavor to taste.

Strawberry Sponge Cake.

Mix as for the Loaf Sponge Cake, but bake in two pans instead of one, for twenty minutes. When baked and cooled, and just before mealtime, spread the bottom layer with jelly, and fill with whole strawberries which have been washed and dried. Cover with pulverized sugar. Put on the top layer and cover with meringue or whipped cream. Add the berries, and dust with sugar. For the meringue use the whites of two eggs, whipped until dry and mixed with two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar. Put in a moderate oven for the meringue to dry.

Cocoanut Sponge Cake.

Again mix as for Loaf Sponge Cake. Line three cake tins with brown paper; pour in the mixture, and bake for fifteen minutes. Dust the top with sugar. Put together with icing. To make the cocoanut icing, boil one cupful of sugar with a third of a cupful of water until it forms a thread. Beat the whites of two eggs until dry; then add the boiling sugar slowly, beating all the time. When cold, add two-thirds of the cocoanut and spread between the layers. Sprinkle the rest of the cocoanut over the top.

Coffee Sponge Cake.

Break the five eggs into a bowl; add one cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt; beat for fifteen minutes; sift the flour and fold in very lightly. Line a baking tin with paper, pour on the mixture and bake fifteen minutes. Dust with pulverized sugar. Put together with a coffee icing made of two tablespoonfuls of hot coffee mixed with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and a teaspoonful of butter.

Orange Sponge Cake.

Mix as for Coffee Sponge Cake. Line a pan, about five by ten inches, with paper, and bake in a moderate oven for forty minutes; dust the top with pulverized sugar; turn out on paper, and remove the paper from the bottom by wetting it with cold water. Put two tablespoonfuls of orange juice and one tablespoonful of lemon juice into a bowl; add half a cupful of pulverized sugar; rub smooth; then add the melted butter and half a cupful of the sugar, and spread on the cake.

Filled Sponge Cake.

Bake the regular Sponge-Cake batter in a Turk's-head or tube pan. When a day old cut off the top crust, half an inch thick, and remove the center, leaving a shell about one inch thick. Fill this with a cupful of whipped cream, into which one cupful of strained and sweetened apple sauce has been folded. Put on the top, and place the remainder of the filling on this. Sprinkle with nuts and garnish with jelly.

Sponge Gems.

Break the five eggs into a bowl; add a cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt, and beat for fifteen minutes. Sift the flour and add to the eggs and sugar, folding it in very slightly. Do not beat after adding the flour. Brush gem pans with melted butter, fill them two-thirds full, and sprinkle the tops with dried cocoanut. Bake in a hot oven for from eight to ten minutes. This will make thirty-six cakes.

Lady Fingers.

Lady Fingers may be made by the same recipe as Sponge Gems. Pour the batter into lady-finger pans, or on a baking sheet, by means of a pastry bag, or drop batter off a teaspoon on a shallow pan lined with paper. Dust the tops with pulverized sugar, garnish with chopped almonds, a few currants or cut citron, and bake for from eight to ten minutes in a hot oven.

Small Cream Sponge Cakes.

Pour the Sponge-Cake mixture into buttered muffin or popover pans. Fill them two-thirds full and bake for from twelve to fifteen minutes. Dust the tops with sugar, and turn out on a cake cloth. When cold cut off the tops with a sharp knife and remove the centres. Dry the centres in the oven, and crumb to add to the custard. Make the custard by mixing three tablespoonfuls of sugar, a teaspoonful of cornstarch, one egg and a pinch of salt, and adding it to a cupful of boiling milk. Cook for two minutes; add the crumbs, and pour into the cakes. Put the tops on, dust with sugar, serve with whipped cream.

Sponge-Cake Crumbs With Fruit Syrup.

Crumb two cupfuls of stale sponge cake and brown in the oven. Place in ice cream glasses, and cover with fruit syrup. Serve with a spoonful of whipped cream or with marshmallows which have been cut into small pieces with scissors.

Stale-Sponge-Cake Pudding.

Separate two eggs; to the yokes add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt, and flavoring; beat until well mixed, and add two cupfuls of milk. Put two cupfuls of diced sponge cake into small custard cups and pour the egg mixture over the crumbs. Place the custard cups in a pan, surround them with water, and bake as a custard. Whip the whites of eggs until dry; mix with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and put a spoonful of this on each cup. Place in a warm oven to dry, and then serve.

Fancy Cakes With Whipped Cream.

Beat five eggs, a cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt for fifteen minutes; then fold in one cupful of sifted flour. Line a shallow baking pan with paper, pour in the mixture, and bake for fifteen minutes. When cold cut into diamonds or fancy shapes with a cake cutter. Spread with marmalade. Cover with whipped cream and sprinkle with cocoanut. A candied cherry may be placed on each cake.

Jelly Roll.

Break the five eggs into a shallow bowl; add one cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt, and beat for fifteen minutes. Sift one cupful of flour twice and fold in lightly. Line a shallow pan, ten by eighteen inches, with brown paper; put in a hot oven and bake for ten minutes. Dust the top liberally with sugar. Turn out on a cake cloth; wet the paper with cold water so it can be removed easily; then spread with a tart, red jelly and roll quickly the long way. Roll in cloth and let it stand for thirty minutes.

Cocoa Roll.

This is mixed as for Jelly Roll. Dust with sugar before turning out; remove the paper, spread the cocoa mixed over it, and roll while warm. To make the cocoa mixture: Put half a cupful of cocoa, one cupful of confectioners' sugar and one teaspoonful f salt into a bowl; add half a cupful of boiling water, and stir until smooth and thick. Sometimes the sugar does not thicken as much as at other times, in which case add more.

Crushed Strawberry Sponge Cake.

Mix as for Jelly Roll. Line a baking sheet, ten by twelve inches, with paper; pour on the mixture, and bake for ten minutes. Dust the top with sugar, turn out on a cake cloth, and, to remove the paper from the bottom, wet it with cold water. Cut the cake into two-inch squares. Wash, hull and crush two cupfuls of strawberries; add one cupful of sugar, mix well, and spread over the cake. Whip half a pint of cream, and put one teaspoonful on each cake; garnish with one large strawberry.

Small Cakes to Serve With Peaches and Whipped Cream.

Break five eggs into a bowl; add one cupful of sugar, and beat for fifteen minutes. Sift one cupful of flour; add to the eggs and sugar and fold in very lightly. Brush gem pans with butter, put a spoonful of the mixture into each, and bake for from eight to ten minutes. Serve with crushed peaches around the cakes and a spoonful of whipped cream on top of each.

Peach Dainty.

Put four slices of cake in an earthenware dish. Put two canned or fresh peaches in the center, and cover with a sauce made as follows: Separate an egg; beat the yoke until light, and add one cupful of peach sirup or of crushed fresh peaches; add sugar to taste; place in a moderate oven for from twelve to fifteen minutes until the sauce is firm. Remove, place two peaches on the top, and put a teaspoonful of meringue on the top of each peach; dry in the oven. Serve very cold.

Sponge-Cake Fritters With Currant Jelly.

Make a batter of one egg, half a cupful of milk, half a cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Dip slices of stale sponge cake into this batter, and fry in deep, hot fat. Remove from the fat with a wire egg whip, when they have become brown, and drain on tissue toweling. Serve with tart jelly. The oil or fat in which the fritters are fried may be saved and used again.

Sponge Cake With Raspberries.

First mash, then strain, two cupfuls of raspberries. Soak a teaspoonful of granulated gelatin in half a cupful of cold water for ten minutes, then place it over hot water until it dissolves. Add a teaspoonful of lemon juice and three-quarters of a cupful of sugar; mix until the sugar is dissolved, and add to the strained raspberries. Place the bowl in cold water and whip with a wire egg beater. Rinse the mold, or bowl, and, with cold water, pour in the mixture and set in a cold place. Remove from the mold and garnish with sponge cake which has been cut into three-cornered pieces. Place a whole raspberry on top of each piece and serve. These may be served with a cupful of whipped cream.

Domino Cakes.

Mix and bake as for the Fancy Cakes With Whipped Cream. Cut into strips one inch wide, and cut again to make oblongs. Cover with white icing, and, with melted chocolate, make the domino dots.

Advertiser Patterns

Waist 2047. Skirt 2043.

Here is a splendid model for afternoon or calling that may also do duty for an evening dress if properly developed. It is composed of Ladies' Waist 2047, and Ladies' Skirt 2043. For combinations of material this style is ideal. The tunic and overblouse portions of the waist could be of embroidered voile or bordered goods. The waist shows the new "wrinkled" or mouchoir collar. The sleeves may be made without the under portion. The waist pattern is cut in six sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 3¼ yards of 36-inch material for a 36-inch size. The skirt pattern has six sizes, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 3 yards of 44-inch material for the foundation skirt, and 2⅝ yard for the tunic for a 24-inch size. The skirt measures about 2⅜ yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern, in silver or stamps.

ADVERTISER PATTERN DEPT.

A Living-Room On the Back Porch

How few of the city back porches live up to their possibilities! To a casual passer the back porch appears to be forgotten, a neglected family catch-all. Brooms and buckets, rags drying on the railing, and decrepit ice-boxes and washing tubs, and a dreary grey outlook at best.

If the back porch must be the place where cleaning tools are kept, why cannot some one part or division of it be appointed to tools and equipment, closed away from sight by a neat closet? But the habit is formed of having nails put up anywhere, at any height, and of wasting a good 20 by 6 foot space in a maelstrom of untidiness. Let us then devote (if we must) a part of the back porch to the keeping of household utensils in orderly array, and allow the other three-quarters to emerge as a summer sitting-room.

In many flats the back porch need not have any brooms and buckets disfiguring it, since they have a small closet or hallway space which could be devoted to that purpose in the kitchen-ward. Many porches are wider and longer, too, offering the floor space and railing to make an outdoor breathing space, as is so much more done in eastern cities.

First, it must be made fly and mosquito tight. This is cheapest accomplished by using the black fine mesh mosquito netting which costs about $1 a bolt of twelve yards. This should be run up and down lengthwise, not using tacks in the cloth itself, but using strips or cleats of wood at top and bottom, and tucking the matting under. In most sheltered locations no cross-pieces will be necessary above the railing.

For sun protection the cheap Japanese shades of slatted bamboo costing about $1.50 in the six-foot length are excellent, and, of course, better quality may be bought. If flowers are desired, they should not be mounted on the railing, where the water used in them will leak down, and where their growth will interfere with the netting; but in one or two boxes on stands they will be safer, easier to water, and can then be moved if necessary.

Some kind of couch is necessary. There are many now, in canvas or twill, padded, with and without back, and of the swinging or stand type. They cost about $5 to $9 in plain models. The stand type is better for the small porch, as there is less danger from the "swing" of the couch.

Easy chairs of the willow or Chinese type can be bought for less than $5 each. With a fibre rug or two in pretty pattern, the outdoor living-room is complete. Now, this does not mean such an expense. It should be considered an investment in strength and comfort for the whole family. If there is a baby, then the outdoor screened porch means rest and less hauling of buggies up and down for the mother. If the children are of sandpile age, then a box of clean sand, with deep sides, painted, and only the simplest pieces of furniture used.

Turn, knit 10 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1; turn, purl 11 stitches, purl 2 together, purl 1.

Turn, knit 12 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1; turn, purl 13 stitches, purl 2 together, purl 1.

Turn, knit 14 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1; turn, purl 15 stitches, purl 2 together, purl 1.

Turn, knit 16 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1; turn, purl 17 stitches, purl 2 together, purl 1.

Turn, knit 17 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over.

Pick up and knit 17 stitches down the side of the heel piece.

Knit the 32 stitches of the front needles (on to one needle). Pick up and knit the 17 stitches at the other side of the heel piece. Divide the heel stitches on the 2 side needles, and knit right round again to the centre heel of the back needle, as if to knit; pull wool through, but leave stitch on. Return to front needle and repeat.

Knit plain until the foot (from the back of the heel) measures 2¼ inches less than the full length required, viz., 8¼ inches for 10½ inch foot.

To decrease for the toe—Begin at the front needle, knit 1, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit plain to within 3 stitches of the end of the needle, knit 2 together, knit 1.

Second needle—Knit 1, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit plain to end of needle.

Third needle—Knit plain to within 3 stitches of the end, knit 2 together, knit 1.

Knit 3 plain rounds, then decrease as before, knit another 3 plain rounds, then decrease as before.

Knit two plain rounds, then decrease as before; knit another two plain rounds, then decrease as before.

Knit 1 plain row, then decrease again, knit another plain row, then decrease again, knit another plain row, then decrease again.

Now decrease as above in each of the next three rows, which leaves you with 20 stitches.

Intake of toe.—Having 20 stitches on two needles, put ten on needle across the front and ten on back needle. Break off wool, leaving half a yard with which to finish off sock, and thread it into a darning needle. Put darning needle in first stitch of the front knitting needle, as if to knit, pull wool through and take off stitch. Put darning needle in next stitch of front needle, as if to purl; pull wool through, but leave stitch on. Go to back needle, being particularly careful that the wool is taken under the knitting needle each time and not over. Put darning needle in first stitch of the back needle, as if to purl; pull wool through and take off stitch; put darning needle in next stitch of the back needle, as if to knit; pull wool through, but leave stitch on. Return to front needle and repeat.

Make Your Own Bread.

Put up more food than ever this year, when you are packing for winter use. Clean up the old coffee grinder, or buy a new one, and grind your own cornmeal for griddlecakes, muffins and bread. If you do not like bread made of corn meal alone, use some wheat flour with it. Since home ground meal does not keep long, it is better to buy whole corn by the bushel and grind for meal as needed.

Don't Forget the Meek Little Gooseberry When Canning This Year.

When you are canning there are lots of times when you think that there is not enough of the fruit to bother about. There are several fruits that are much nicer when combined, than when just preserved alone, so when you have a little of each, you could do them up together and so add two or three more sealers to your store room shelf. Gooseberries may be combined with other fruits, when making jams such as strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries or currants.

Canning Gooseberries.

To can gooseberries, stem and remove the tails, then wash in plenty of cold water and drain. Pack in jars and fill with boiling water or a heavy syrup. Place the rubber and lid in position and process for ten minutes in hot water bath after the boiling starts. Remove and cool and then test for leaks.

Gooseberry Jam.

Use two quarts of gooseberries. Stem and tail them and place in a preserving kettle, adding one and one-fourth pounds of sugar and two cupfuls of water. Cook until very thick and pour into sterilized glasses. Cool and cover with paraffin. Store in the usual manner for jellies.

English Gooseberry Jam.

Two quarts of gooseberries, two cupfuls of water. Place in a small preserving kettle and boil until very soft, usually about one-half hour. Rub through a fine sieve and allow a measure of sugar to each measure of fruit pulp. Return to fire, cook slowly until thick. Pour into glasses or pots and cool. Cover with paraffin.

WINNIPEG MAN CURED

Says Dr. Cassell's Tablets Saved Him From Nervous Breakdown.

Mr. G. C. Inman, 330, Harcourt street, Sturgeon Creek, Winnipeg, for many years a well-known man in the business life of Canada, says: "I was terribly rundown and weak. I had no appetite, and I suffered if I forced myself to eat. My nerves were in a bad way, and my sleep very disturbed. Everything pointed to a nervous breakdown. Then I got Dr. Cassell's Tablets. The first result was that I could sleep, and then my health rapidly improved. It was really astonishing how my strength and fitness came back.

Mr. Inman is now in England, managing the well-known firm of A. W. Inman & Son, printers and publishers, Leeds. Letters will reach him there.

A free sample of Dr. Cassell's Tablets will be sent to you on receipt of 5 cents for mailing and packing. Address: Dept. old F. Ritchie & Co., Limited, 10 McCaul street, Toronto.

"Sennacherib's Invasion of Judah." II. Kings, xviii., 13-xix., 37.

Golden Text—"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." Psalms, xlvi., 1.

1. Verses 13-16—Why is it that God sometimes allows the righteous to be overwhelmed with calamity?

2. What is the compensation, if any, when an innocent nation is overpowered by an unscrupulous nation and compelled to pay an enormous tribute?

3. What is the character of an invader who, to satisfy his greed, allows a church to be stripped of its valuable ornaments?

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for the Hair

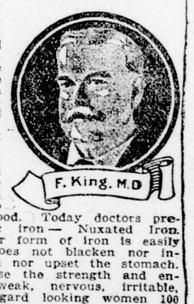

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author Says:
EVERY WOMAN
EVERY MOTHER
EVERY DAUGHTER
NEEDS IRON
AT TIMES
To put strength into her nerves and color into her cheeks.

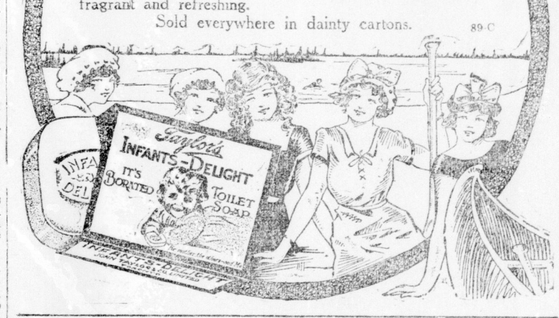

There can be no beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women without iron. The trouble in the past has been that when women needed iron they generally took ordinary metallic iron, which often corroded the stomach and did far more harm than good. Today doctors prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron. This particular form of iron is easily assimilated, does not blacken nor injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, irritable, careworn, haggard, looking women 100 per cent in two weeks' time in many instances. I have used it in my own practice with most surprising results.—Ferdinand King, M. D.
NOTE: NUXATED IRON recommended by Dr. Ferdinand King can be obtained from any good druggist who will guarantee success or return your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

Large Crowd Sees Cleveland Beaten on Sunday.

ERRORS HELP NEW YORK

Fohl's Lads Throw Away the Second — Senators Rally and Beat White Sox.

CLEVELAND, July 15.—In the presence of the largest crowd that has ever attended a game at League Park, New York took both ends of a double header, 4 to 0 and 8 to 2. Cleveland was unable to hit Fisher in the first game while errors let New York score six of its eight runs in the second.

TIGERS COME THROUGH WITH WIN ON SUNDAY

DETROIT, July 15.—Philadelphia's defense went to pieces in the eighth inning and Detroit, scoring four runs, won today's game, 7 to 2. Dauss and Myers were hit hard, but the Detroit twirler was more effective with men on bases. Bush was the batting star of the game. Score—

EDDIE FOSTER AND JOHNSON BEAT SOX

CHICAGO, July 15.—Eddie Foster's triple in the ninth inning when Washington had started a rally drove in two runs and gave the visitors the first game of the series here today, 6 to 5. Johnson's good judgment in passing Eddie Collins with the tying run on third and the winning run on second in the ninth probably saved the game for Washington. Score— R. H. E.

RED SOX WALLOP THE BROWNS TWICE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 15.—Boston twice defeated St. Louis today, 4 to 2 and 6 to 3. Boston won the first game with a batting rally in the tenth inning after an error by Hoblitzell had enabled St. Louis to tie the score in the seventh. Hoblitzell and Hardner singled and Lewis, who replaced Shorten in the seventh, tripled, scoring two runs. Rogers' wildness lost the second game for St. Louis. Scores—

DONOVAN CAN STAY LONG AS HE LIKES, SAYS YANKS' OWNER

CHICAGO, July 15. — Rumors that "Wild Bill" Donovan will be let out of the managership of the New York Yankees this year, were spiked yesterday by Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the club. He declared: "Donovan will manage the team next year and as many years after as he wants to."

WHO IS WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPION OF WORLD?

NEW YORK, July 15.—When Ted Lewis recently was awarded a referee's decision over Jack Britton, Ted immediately claimed the welterweight championship of the world. But it seems that Ted is not to have undisputed claim to the title. It will be recalled that Willie Lewis, chief advisor of Frank Moran, has taken Albert Badoud under his wing, and now Willie rises to ask the question how Ted Lewis can be welterweight champion of the world when Albert Badoud is the welterweight champion of Europe?

Willie Lewis is ready to concede that Ted Kid is the champion of this country, but he will not concede that Ted Kid is the world's champion. He insists that Ted Kid will first have to strip Badoud of his European title before he (Ted Kid) can claim the undisputed world's championship.

ANOTHER FOR SAM.

Panama, July 15.—Sam McVey, the negro heavyweight pugilist, knocked out Jeff Clarke of Philadelphia in the fifteenth round of a twenty-round match here yesterday.

QUAKER OATS FOR THE BACKUS FOUR

Good Scotch Breakfast for Thistle Club Winners of Saturday.

The rink skipped by Grant Backus won the "bacon," which in this case happened to be case of Quaker Oats, donated by Stanley Pollard, at the Thistle Club tourney Saturday afternoon. Grant is usually up there fighting at any old time, but especially if there is anything in the eating line. Quaker Oats will appear for 'steen months on the tables of F. E. Margrett, S. Pollard (who donated the breakfast food), G. H. English, and the aforementioned Mr. Backus.

A large number of entries have been received for the beautiful P. C. Powell oil paintings tournament, and in order to make it possible for every member to participate in this event, which has already awakened so much interest, the games committee decided that the games for this tournament may be played on any evening that may be mutually agreed upon between the skips drawn against each other, so long as at least one game be played each week. The draw will be held open till Tuesday evening next, July 17, and the rinks will be announced in Wednesday's papers.

MAYBE BAN WILL LEARN WOES OF THE UMPIRE

Ban Johnson may have a different opinion of umpiring after July 21. He has been selected as one of the arbitrators for the game that old-time Chicago players will put on on that date for the benefit of the Red Cross. Think of what might happen if Johnson should call Charley Comiskey out on a close decision, or rule that the third one was over on "Cap" Anson.

ROYALS LOSE TWO TO GREYS SUNDAY

Toronto Breaks Even With Birds Saturday.

MONTREAL, July 15.—The Royals lost both ends of a double header here today to the Providence Grays, by the scores of 6 to 2 and 3 to 2. The first game was an easy affair for the visitors, but the second was won only after the hardest kind of fighting.

Umpire—Bud Saunders, Kitchener.

TINKER HAS KICK COMING.

The call of the Chicago Cubs for return of Catcher Dilhoefer and Pitcher Carter caused Joe Tinker to raise a howl. The Cubs agreed to send Blackburn to Columbus to replace Dilhoefer, but had nothing good to offer in exchange for Carter. Blackburn had been promised to Vernon of the Coast League, but that deal was called off.

FREAKIEST OF FREAK HOMERS

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 14.—Outfielder McCabe made what was probably the "freakiest" home run in Three-I League history in the recent series with Hannibal here. When McCabe hit the ball Outfielder Lorance of Hannibal dashed to the left field fence in an effort to get it. Lorance thrust his hands against the fence to save himself from injury and the little finger of his ungloved hand became caught between two boards.

He pulled frantically to free himself, while McCabe was tearing around the bases. Manager Castle rushed over from centre to aid Lorance, but when the finger was out of the trap McCabe had scored.

OKE WINS PRIZES AT LONDON ROWING

Skips Rink That Runs Up 3 Plus 12 Score Saturday.

T. Oke was the only skip lucky enough to send his men through for more than two wins at the London Rowing Club Saturday afternoon, and, in consequence, grabbed off the prizes. Twelve rinks took part in the play, which was close all the way through.

FRANCIS OUIMET AGAIN CHAMPION

CHICAGO, July 15.—Francis Ouimet of Boston, former national amateur and open golf champion, Saturday won the western amateur championship by defeating Kenneth P. Edwards of Chicago one up in 36 holes at Midlothian, after two rather poor rounds, in which erratic golf was interspersed with brilliant plays and thrilling approaches alternated with miserable putts. Both players shared in the changeable golf and their medal scores were:

Ouimet	37	41	39	40—157
Edwards	41	38	39	39—157

Ouimet's appearance as an amateur in the only national amateur championship of the year, by invitation of the Western Golf Association, has met with approval among western followers of the game. With John G. Anderson of New York, Jesse Guilford, Massachusetts champion; Jack May, Argentina champion, and four former western champions entered, the field was all but equal to most of the past national amateur tournaments. In the championship matches all the play has been close to par 72 for the 6,053-yard course. Edwards had shot better golf during the week than Ouimet, but yesterday he appeared to be over-golfed and could not sink fairly simple putts. Ouimet was wild with his wooden clubs, putting to the rough frequently. Once the Boston man went into a creek in trying to hook around a clump of trees from a hooked drive. He halved that hole, however, as Edwards refused to take it, preferring three putts. This inclination to a multiplicity of putts caused Edwards to take 22 on the first nine holes, although his long game called for not more than fifteen. With proper putting the Chicagoan could have served a 34 and been two or three up, instead of four down, at the end of the first quarter.

Ouimet had more distance than the runner-up, but his wildness caused him to be on the defensive at many holes. Edwards was straight down the course nearly all the time, but he faltered fatally once, hooking his approach so close to a hedge on the 33rd hole that he had to shoot back towards the gallery to get out, losing the hole six and five, after Ouimet had tasted the rough himself.

Ouimet was over par on ten holes and had only one birdie, while Edwards was over par on twelve holes, with three birdies.

WOODSTOCK NINE EASY FOR LABELS

London Semi-Pros Romp Away From Visitors 16 to 1.

London ball fans who drifted over to Tecumseh Park Saturday afternoon wondered through nine agonizing innings as to who put the "wood" in Woodstock. It was there all right, as the score of 16 to 1 chalked up against the Woodstock nine by the Blue Labels will indicate.

Woodstock might just as well have journeyed here with a pitcher, catcher, a first and second baseman, with three or four youngsters in the outfield to chase fly balls. The pitcher had eleven assists, while the long, lean gentleman on first was credited with nineteen putouts. Stormoski, the visiting shortstop, bobbled his one and only chance, and stood a blot upon the landscape for the rest of the pastime. About all the other players did was take their turn at bat, with the accent at the turn. When the game finally ended at 6:07 o'clock, there was but a mere handful of snoozing fans in the stand. Eats were more interesting than the ball game.

However, we are through with wielding the hammer, and will give an account of how the slaughter took place. The locals started out in the first inning to show the visitors up. (P.S.—They waited a full hour after 3:30 o'clock to do this. Curses on the muddy roads between London and Woodstock, which were responsible for the delay). They were showed up to the extent of five runs, and the whole London nine had a chance to look over the slants of Pitcher Vance, who by the way, is a nice pitcher, and with a fast fielding nine behind him like the St. Thomas club, would have kept the locals jumping to win.

London grabbed another in the second, and two more in the third. Jack Danford, who caught behind the bat for Doc Reisling's London Canadian Leaguers, played first base for the Cigarmakers, and showed lots of pep. He whaled out a three-bagger in the third inning, and incidentally knocked the Woodstock first baseman half the way into right field when he stood on the line.

Woodstock's one and only tally came in the fifth, when Stormoski surprised himself by popping a fly over short. He was sacrificed round to third, and came home on Giles' hit. London got three more in the sixth, when Fotheringham, Dinsmore and Bullock all crossed the pan; while in the eighth the locals had another swatfest, grabbing five more runs. The visitors went out in easy fashion in the ninth. Everybody yawned and was glad the game was over.

The box score speaks for itself.

LEAF AVERAGES

TORONTO, July 14.—The Leafs did some grand hitting during the week. They took part in six fixtures, and the leading hitters added to their marks. Manager Lajoie and George Whiteman each tagged on eight points to their average.

Altenberg dropped eleven points, but Blackburne, Graham and Jacobson moved up at a nice pace. The hustling shortstop, Blackburne, improved by six points. Graham was the best during the week with 17 points to add to his mark. Jacobson hit safely in all six games and it meant a boost of 7 points.

Whiteman continues to lead the club in run scoring. He has crossed the plate 62 times in 77 games. Jacobson is next in order with 53 counters. Lajoie and Altenberg have each scored 40 runs.

Manager Lajoie has rapped out 103 hits in 74 games. Whiteman is second in this respect with 93 safeties. Jacobson has 75 hits to his credit.

RICKENBACHER IS PERSHING'S DRIVER

OMAHA, July 14.—The controversy over the whereabouts of Eddie Rickenbacher, the Omaha boy who in the last two or three years has taken many big prizes in automobile races, has been settled by a letter just received from him by Harry J. Van Hoven, his former manager.

It has been said Rickenbacher was driving Gen. Pershing's automobile in France, but this was afterward denied, and the assertion was made that he was teaching aviation at Mineola, L. I. The letter to Van Hoven was written at the Tower of London, which proved that Rickenbacher is with Pershing.

OLD ROSEBUD LEADS FIELD IN FRONTIER

Six-Year-Old Son of Uncle Ivory Bells Captures Classic Handicap at Windsor.

WINDSOR, July 16.—Amid thunderous applause from the throats of 12,000 or more rabid followers of the thoroughbred turf, the tumult fairly shaking the sturdy stand at the Windsor Jockey Club to its foundation, Old Rosebud, running in the colors of H. C. Applegate, won the Frontier handicap Saturday afternoon.

Back of Old Rosebud a length and a half came Boots, who in turn held Hodge safe by a substantial margin. Grump, the other candidate to finish in the money, saw Hodge's heels five lengths back.

Rain that fell just before noon-time and gave an encore several minutes prior to the scheduled time to start the handicap, caused the cancellation of all but eight of the thirteen that had accepted the weight imposts. Bad behavior of the elements couldn't control the ardor of the public, however, and as early as 11 o'clock in the morning the ferries were loaded to the guard rails bound for this side of the river.

Was Grand Struggle.

And they saw a race that will long be remembered as the classic of all turf events in the Dominion of Canada. There was enough impetus for all involved to bring about an event that can be listed with the most gruelling struggle between thoroughbreds in the memory of the oldest critic, too.

There was a fortune for winner, $10,000 net going to the fortunate owner, and under the circumstances it rivaled anything in value, interest and the class of horses involved that ever has been conducted for the edification and amusement of students of the sport in this section of the country.

To Jockey George Molesworth, who, while riding for Johnny Ferris at Devonshire and Kenilworth, never was rated better than a fair boy, in a large measure is due Old Rosebud's victory. Except for a few moments at the outset, when Waterbass threatened to spring a sensation, the winner was a front runner strictly, and might have won, had he been set down hard, by a much larger margin.

Loftus Gets In Pocket.

Nothing about the ride Loftus gave Boots, the favorite, could compliment him, though. Macomber's entry was permitted to get into a pocket almost as soon as the barrier went up, and much of his strength was used up in the effort to become extricated.

Another disappointment was the performance of Bromo, Harry Payne Whitney's eleventh-hour choice to represent his stable in the Frontier, vice Borrow, Rickety, Tumbler and Bellringer. Scenting something in the easterner's confidence in Bromo, the public gave him a strong play. But Bromo never assumed a position better than fifth, and when the parade passed, Frankie Robinson's mount was barely able to beat Waterbass, who, after making the early pace, melted like butter in a hot oven.

Boots was the mutuel choice when they pranced up to the barrier, with the ultimate winner ruling second in the affections of the public, and Bromo next in esteem. After Rancher was withdrawn by George M. Hendrie, the Canadian speculators divided their attention on the three liked candidates. Kentuckians never lost confidence in Old Rosebud, however, and 90 per cent of the cash wagered on his chances was sent into the machines by the contingent from the Blue Grass state.

All Those Long Shots.

This was a race where class told, and Old Rosebud, thought to be through forever last year, again demonstrated his right to be listed with the premier racing machines of all time.

In all due respect to the winner's performance, there was a feeling that a different result might have transpired had Loftus not mussed things up with Boots at the start. Despite the fact that the Suburban handicap winner got a lot out of him by unnecessary hard work in the early stages of the journey, due to the pocket he was lodged in, he came like a shot down the front stretch, and compelled Molesworth to ride Old Rosebud hard to stall off the challenge, although there always appeared to be something left in the leader.

DICKIE WINS OUT IN GOLF CONTEST

SARNIA, July 15.—In the play-off of the tie of the eighteen hole handicap golf tournament of July 1, between Walter Dickie and John Cowan, the former was the victor by one stroke, the net score being 76 for Dickie and 77 for Cowan. As indicated by the score, the margin was a very narrow one and was decided by a stroke on the last green. Walter Dickie wins the sweater and John Cowan the golf bag which were offered as prizes by the Watson Clothing Company.

SATURDAY GAME MAY BUST UP NATIONAL LACROSSE AFFAIRS

Shamrocks Play Roberts, and President Lally Resigns.

Montreal, July 15.—The National Lacrosse Union is again in turmoil as a result of Saturday's game here between Nationals and Shamrocks, the only game scheduled for the week-end, which Shamrocks won 14 to 8. President Jos. Lally, of Cornwall, announced tonight that he will forward his resignation to the secretary of the N. L. U. at once. Two of the National players are also out of the game for the season, if not for good.

All these developments are the result of Shamrocks playing G. Roberts, who had been suspended in the first part of this season by President Lally for improper conduct on the field. President Lally had announced on several occasions that if Roberts was played he would quit; he reiterated this action yesterday in a telegram which the referees handed to the presidents of the club, when it became evident that they intended to play Roberts. The management insisted that he should play.

Thereupon, Lamoureux, captain of the Nationals, asserted it was not right and refused to play. His connection with Nationals was quickly dissolved, and Newsy Lalonde was nominated captain. "Daredevil" Gauthier also took off his uniform because of the issue.

The game was an hour late in starting, and was a tame and uninteresting affair. The Irishmen excelled in every branch, and the result was never in doubt. The play was clean and only three penalties were imposed.

DIDN'T HAVE WELL DAY IN FIVE YEARS

Toronto Man Says He Feels Like New.

GAINED SIX POUNDS

Many of His Friends Have Begun Taking Tanlac Since Seeing Good It Did Him.

If there is a man in Toronto who believes in Tanlac; that man is Harvey Hamilton, who resides at 475 Church street, and is employed as fuse maker by the Copeland-Chatterson Company, 1303 Queen street. Mr. Hamilton has lived in Toronto eighteen years, and is well-known.

"Five years ago I had a severe attack of pneumonia," said Mr. Hamilton last Friday in conversation with the Tanlac representative, "which developed into a general rundown condition, and I have not been like myself since. I lost weight until I was almost a shadow. I felt like I didn't have hardly any life or energy about me, and was so nervous I couldn't sleep over four or five hours any night. I lost my appetite, and often didn't go to the table at meal time, for I knew if I did I couldn't eat a thing. The little I managed to eat did more harm than good, and soured on my stomach, causing a stuffed-up, uncomfortable feeling. I had pains in my stomach and sides, and often had dizzy spells. I got up of mornings feeling about half-dead and dreaded to go to work, and all day I felt drowsy and sleepy. Often I felt so weak and played out I just had to lay down my tools and quit work. Yes, sir, I went five long years without enjoying a well day, and you can imagine how blue and despondent I was. This is the very shape I was in when I read in one of the Toronto papers the statement of a man who described his trouble just like mine. He said he had been relieved by Tanlac and I lost no time in getting a bottle.

"It was about the best move I ever made in my life, for I now feel like I have taken a new lease on life. I have the finest appetite you ever saw, and eat three square meals every day, enjoy every mouthful, and have no disagreeable feelings afterwards. I have actually gained six pounds in weight and feel like my strength has been increased a hundred per cent. Gas has quit forming on my stomach, all the pains have disappeared. I'm not nervous, and I sleep like a log every night. I simply feel better all over, and my work is no longer a burden, but is a pleasure to me. My friends all know the shape I was in before I took Tanlac, and now see my remarkable improvement. I know of four or five people who have begun taking Tanlac since seeing the good it did me. If anybody doubts this statement all they have to do is to ask me and I'll tell them just what I told you, and that I consider it the finest medicine on earth."

Tanlac, the medicine that accomplishes such remarkable results in Mr. Hamilton's case, is being sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the personal direction of the special Tanlac representative.—Advt.

GOLFER EVANS PLANS TO RAISE HUGE SUM

CHICAGO, July 15.—"Charles "Chick" Evans Jun., national amateur and open golf champion, expects to raise $50,000 for the Red Cross by September 1, playing exhibition matches throughout the country. Within the last two months he has raised about $20,000.

Evans is the support of his father and mother, and although registered for military service under the conscription act, hopes to be permitted to remain at home and care for his parents. At the same time he plans to "do his bit" by raising funds for the Red Cross.

Guaranteed Rupture Holder On 60 Days' Trial

Won't Cost You a Cent If the Two Months' Test Doesn't Prove All Our Claims.

You can make a thorough prove-it-to-you test of this guaranteed rupture holder without having to risk a single cent.

We'll send it to you for sixty days' trial—practically lend it to you that long—just to let you see for yourself how it takes all the misery out of being ruptured.

If it cannot be made to keep your rupture from coming out or from bothering you in any way—in spite of any work you do or any other strains—then it won't cost you a penny.

The Only Thing Good Enough To Stand Such a Test.

You know as well as we that a mere try-on—like at a drugstore—can't possibly prove whether a truss or anything else for rupture is going to do any good.

Neither is just a few days' trial a safe test. A truss or so-called "appliance" may seem all right the first week or so and then turn out to be no good whatever.

But you can't possibly make a mistake after sixty days' trial.

And there is only one thing of any kind for rupture that you can get on such a long trial—

Only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test—

That is our guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe.

Made On New Principle.

The Cluthe is so radically different from everything else for rupture that it has received eighteen separate patents. Made on an absolutely new principle—far more than just a truss.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits in over 300,000 cases that physicians in all parts of the world now recommend it instead of advising operation.

To Save You From Operation.

A rupture can't possibly be relieved—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless protected against all strains and constantly kept from coming out. Just as a broken bone can't "knit" unless constantly held together.

And that is the curse of wearing elastic or spring trusses—not one in twenty ever holds successfully—they sooner or later make operation absolutely necessary instead of preventing it.

But remember, the Cluthe is guaranteed to hold—and it won't cost you a cent if it doesn't. And in addition, it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

It does that entirely automatically—without any attention whatever from you. And has thus brought complete recovery in thousands of cases that seemed almost hopeless, and has saved thousands of people from having to risk their life under the surgeon's knife.

No Belt, No Leg-Straps, No Springs.

The Cluthe does away entirely with the curse of wearing belts, leg-straps and springs. People who have tried it say it is as comfortable as their clothing. And it is waterproof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration-proof. Easily kept clean.

Get World's Greatest Rupture Book.

Just write for our free book and find out all about it. This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 104 pages, 20 separate articles, and 23 photographic illustrations—is full of facts for the ruptured never before put in print.

It shows why elastic and spring trusses are a crime—how they are the ruptured man's worst enemy—why the law should stop their sale.

It exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "locks," etc.

Explains why operation is always dangerous — and why, even if you manage to live through it, you may have to keep on wearing a truss.

And it tells all about the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss. Gives names and addresses of over 5,000 people in all parts of the country who have tested it and voluntarily indorse it. And tells how you can get it on sixty days' trial, and how little it costs if you keep it.

Simply use the coupon below or say in a letter or postal "Send me your book"—that will take only a minute, but may be the means of freeing you from all rupture troubles for the rest of your life.

$16,000 In Prizes

SPECIAL 50,000 VOTE OFFER EXTENDED UNTIL 8:30 P.M. JULY 21, WITH ADDED INDUCEMENT OF $100 IN CASH FOR THE CANDIDATES TURNING IN THE GREATEST NUMBER OF NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS.

At the request of a large number of the candidates in The Advertiser Prize Contest, the contest manager has decided to extend the special vote offer for another week. This is not usual, but a number of the candidates did not get a start until well on in the week. Consequently, they feel they have not had as fair a show as they would otherwise have had.

To encourage the candidates, the contest manager will give $50 in cash to the candidate turning in the greatest number of new subscriptions; $30 to the candidate turning in the second greatest number, and $20 to the candidate turning in the third greatest number, between Monday, July 16, and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 21. Can you earn $50 in one week easier?

The vote offer will not be increased—50,000 extra votes for every $15 worth of new subscriptions turned in by 8:30 p. m. Saturday, July 21; 25,000 extra votes for every $15 worth of back subscriptions and renewals turned in by 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 21.

This special offer is good between July 16 and 21 only. Make this your banner week. Let the end of the race take care of itself. Only a portion of the thousands of coupons sent in have been counted. We hope to have the balance counted for tomorrow's paper.

$50.00 IN CASH

Will be given to the candidate turning in the greatest number of new subscriptions between today (Monday) and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 21.

$30.00 IN CASH

Will be given to the candidate turning in the second greatest number of new subscriptions between today (Monday) and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 21.

$20.00 IN CASH

Will be given to the candidate turning in the third greatest number of new subscriptions between today (Monday) and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 21.

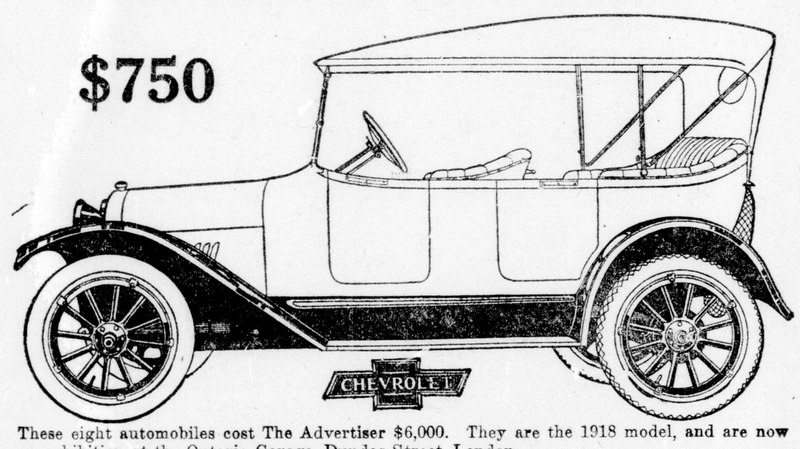

News Dealers and Agents

Newsdealers and agents may take subscriptions to The Advertiser and give the votes to some one candidate.

In remitting money to the contest department be sure and give the candidate full value in votes.

FIRST PRIZE IN EACH DISTRICT

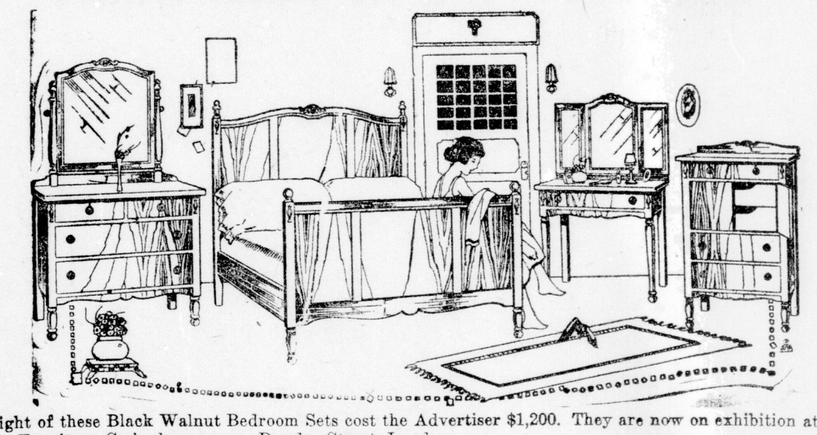

$750

These eight automobiles cost The Advertiser $6,000. They are the 1918 model, and are now on exhibition at the Ontario Garage, Dundas Street, London.

The Whole of Western Ontario Is Represented In This Contest

THIRD PRIZE IN EACH DISTRICT

Eight of these Black Walnut Bedroom Sets cost the Advertiser $1,200. They are now on exhibition at the Ontario Furniture Co.'s show rooms, Dundas Street, London.

50,000 EXTRA VOTES

For every $15.00 worth of new subscriptions turned in by candidates, a bonus of 50,000 extra votes will be given, in addition to the regular schedule.

Sit-Straight! It makes for health! and health is wealth.

ANNOUNCEMENT SOON ON GOVERNMENT PLAN FOR THE RAILWAYS

Policy Will Be Outlined Before Prorogation.

SQUIRM TO PAY INTEREST

G.T.P. Pays Out of Aid Vote; C.N.R.'s Method Not Known.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 15.—Canada will soon know what the Government proposed as a solution for the railway problem. Saturday, Hon. Mr. Cochrane was seeking supplies for the railway department, and, on a vote of $120,000 to pay for the Drayton-Ackworth commission, he stated that he had made up his mind as to what should be done as a result of the report, but that his colleagues in the Government had not yet reached a decision.

Mr. Sinclair of Guysboro remarked that Mr. Cochrane was the chief minister concerned in the matter.

"Yes, but I am not the only one by any means," replied Mr. Cochrane.

W. M. German said that there should be announcement of a decision before the end of the session which was approaching. He held there should be policy adopted that would safeguard the rights of the public if there was any further measure of aid given the railways.

Mr. Cochrane then stated that there would be such an announcement before the session closed.

E. M. MacDonald asked if the Government had helped to provide payment of interest that fell due on June 30 for bonds of certain railways.

High Financing.

Mr. Cochrane said he understood that the G. T. P. had paid its interest out of the money aid voted by Parliament last session. He could not say how the Canadian Northern had arranged its payment.

Mr. German thought the vote should stand until the Government had stated its policy. However, the vote was adopted, as Hon. Mr. Oliver, who was leading for the Opposition, said he was prepared to accept the promise of Mr. Cochrane that there would be a statement before the close of the session.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane stated that there would be legislation this session bringing the rates of the I. C. R. under the jurisdiction of the railway board.

Wants Cold-Storage Report.

Hon. Frank Oliver asked for the prompt printing of the report of Commissioner O'Connor on cold-storage firms and bacon. He said the press and public were greatly interested, and that the members of Parliament should have the report in their hands as early as possible.

Hon. Frank Cochrane stated that work on the enlarged Welland Canal would not be proceeded with until after the war.

Mr. German protested that this was a more useful work than the Hudson Bay Railway work, which was being continued.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane declared that work on the Hudson Bay Railway had been so advanced that it would be inadvisable to discontinue it. Rails would soon be laid to the bay.

Mr. German objected to the continuance of the expenditure on Toronto harbor front work.

Mr. Cochrane said that the Government was only paying its share.

Mr. German did not see why the Government should pay a third of the cost of the work that was designed for the benefit of Toronto only, and not for the benefit of the country at all.

He attacked the economy of the Government, and said that there were hundreds of the persons on the pay list of the militia department who were doing nothing.

"There is not one," said Sir Edward Kemp.

ALLEGED SPY HAD PLANS OF BIG FACTORIES

DETROIT, July 15. — Oscar Bittman, aged 50, is under arrest here on suspicion of being a German spy and for alleged complicity in a plot involving the Ford factory.

Bittman, a German citizen, was found to have in his rooms about 200 blueprints and sketches of various departments of the Ford plant.

He is held for the federal authorities.

Bittman was an employee of the automobile plant until recently. In his pockets were found several recent sketches of the new Ford plant additions and the power plant.

Communications from the Abendpost, clippings from German newspapers, pictures and detailed information of several large manufacturing plants throughout the country, and several letters mailed to Germany and returned, were also found. One of the letters was written by Bittman to his son in the German army.

LADY ABERDEEN URGES HOME RULE FOR IRELAND

NEW YORK, July 15.—The United States and England must continue to fight side by side until freedom against Prussian military aggression is assured, declared Lord Aberdeen, former lord lieutenant of Ireland, in an address here today.

Lady Aberdeen, who also spoke, declared home rule was the only cure for the social and economic ills of Ireland. She looked forward, she said, to the time when Ireland would take her place as "one of that sisterhood of free nations that make up the British empire." Lady Aberdeen is president of the Women's National Health Association of Ireland, and she asked support of the movement from Americans.

PIPERS GO TO NEW YORK.

TORONTO, July 15.—A picked contingent of the 48th Highlanders, including 81 bandsmen and pipers and 60 overseas infantrymen, left Toronto tonight for a two weeks' trip to New York city and Chicago, where they will hold special parades in connection with the recruiting campaign now being conducted by the British mission to the States.

CAUCUSES CALLED OF BOTH THE PARTIES ON BACON AND COALITION

Important Conferences Will Be Held at Ottawa

ON THE BIG ISSUES

Liberal Conscriptionists Will Again Consider Borden's Investigation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 15.—There will be two caucuses tomorrow morning. Conscriptionist Liberals are meeting to discuss the possibility of coalition. The welcome hand is still held out by the Government, and members of the Opposition have assurance that they can have portfolios in a coalition, union or business government, whatever it may be called. They have to agree upon the men they will send up for preferment. The selection promises to be anything but easy, for when portfolios are going there is a natural desire to take them, and there will not be enough to go around among the 26 Liberals who voted for conscription.

There are also terms to be considered. The Liberals, especially those from the West, feel that they can hardly accept places in the Government unless some of the desires of the West are conceded. The tariff, railways and banking accommodation are some of the things that the West has been pressing on the east for readjustment.

Worried About Flavelle.

The Conservative caucus has for consideration the position of divinity students under the proposal for the conscription of men, and the position of Sir Joseph Flavelle, under the proposals for conscription of wealth.

The O'Connor report on pork packers had hit hard. There is a feeling that Mr. O'Connor's report has understated, rather than overstated, the profits that the bacon baron has been taking from the Canadian people and the British Government since war began. There will be a demand in caucus for the fullest investigation.

One of the effects of the report has been the securing of Hon. Thomas Crothers in his portfolio. Mr. Crothers was one of the ministers selected to vacate his cabinet place and make room for someone else in the proposed coalition. Now, it is agreed that he cannot be dismissed without the feeling developing that he is being punished for allowing an officer of his department show up the bacon situation at a most awkward time. The Government is being deluged with demands for drastic action against the packing profiters.

Orangemen Have Kick.

The trouble over divinity students comes from the Orange element of the Conservative following in the House. The Government last week introduced an amendment exempting divinity students from conscription. A delegation from the Orange representatives in Parliament waited upon the prime minister last week and represented to him that this would mean a very large exemption of young men in the province of Quebec; that in all countries the clergy had largely gone into the fighting lines, and that there should be no exception made of divinity students in Canada.

This attitude on the part of a considerable number of men in the House was one of the chief reasons for the caucus call being issued.

If time permits the caucus may get down to the railway situation.

Lady's Work Praised.

One of the interesting things about the report of W. F. O'Connor, the cost of living commissioner, on cold storage conditions, is the tribute he pays to the work done by Miss Bessie J. McKenna, M. A., a young economist who is a product of Toronto University. Mr. O'Connor generously states that the larger share of the credit of the investigation is due to Miss McKenna.

When his cost of living regulations went into effect last November, Hon. T. W. Crothers, who had learned of Miss McKenna's abilities, invited her to join the staff of the labor department to do special work in connection with the investigations into the cost of living. She came to Ottawa, and has acted as Mr. O'Connor's chief assistant. She is very young, but has already established a high reputation, and appears to be a young lady with a future. She is a sister of the well-known Hamilton lawyer of the same name. The cold storage firms will be interested to know that she is regarded as "very pretty."

NEW GREEK MONARCH OPENLY HOSTILE TO PREMIER VENIZELOS

Refuses to Resummon Chamber—Clings to Tino's Policy.

PARIS, July 15.—A dispatch to the Temps from Athens says:

"Serious differences appear to have arisen between the new king of Greece and Premier Venizelos. One indication of this is the postponement by the king of the signing of a decree to resummon the 1915 Chamber of Deputies, which was illegally dissolved by the then Premier Skouloudis.

"M. Venizelos demands that the king openly cease to carry out his father's internal and external policy, but the king is postponing action or has refused to give his approval to such categorical repudiations."

TALKS NICELY TO FRANCE.

PARIS, July 15.—President Poincare has received, among other telegrams of felicitation, one from King Alexander of Greece, congratulating "your noble and beloved country" on the occasion of the national fete.

King Alexander further expresses his best wishes for "the greatness and prosperity of France, and triumph in the cause of right, justice and liberty, for which she has been heroically struggling for three years—a struggle in which Greece is happy to be able henceforth to participate."

GEN. BOTHA'S HEALTH DEMANDS OF HIM REST

Duties Will Be Performed by Others for Two Months.

PRETORIA, S. A., July 15.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—Reuter's is officially informed that Premier Botha's health has suffered owing to the continuous strain of official business, and he has been ordered to take two months of complete rest. Consequently Hon. S. F. Smallin, minister of industries and education, will take charge of the premier's office during that period, Col. Mentz, minister of lands, taking over the portfolio of defence, and Sir Jacobus Graaf that of native affairs.

Since February last, when the imperial conference was convened in London, Premier Botha, in addition to the duties of the premiership and administration of native affairs, has been discharging those of minister of defence in the absence of Gen. Smuts, who is still in London as a member of the war cabinet.

WATFORD HELPS FRENCH.

WATFORD, July 15.—Lambton's 149 I. O. D. E. celebrated Saturday as "French flag day." They were assisted by the members of the Q. P. Club. All the collections have not been handed in yet. The society expects to forward a creditable amount to the London headquarters by Monday morning. This week the chapter has appointed a committee to spend $50 for clothing to be made up for Belgian refugees.

Dog Fish by Another Name Will Taste Sweet

OTTAWA, July 15. — Third reading was given on Saturday to the bill of Hon. Mr. Hazen, changing the name of "dog fish" to "gray fish." It has been found that this fish is food, but people will not eat it under the name of "dog fish."

FRENCH HAVE TAKEN A STRONG NETWORK OF ENEMY'S DEFENCE

Attack Made at Two Points and All Objectives Attained.

PARIS, July 15.—A strongly organized network of German trenches, on a front of more than 800 yards and 300 yards in depth, north of Mont Haut and northwest of the Teton in the Champagne, was captured by the French in a brilliant attack last night, with 360 prisoners, the war office announced today.

The Germans made a heavy attack on the salient west of Cerny on the Aisne front, and penetrated to a support trench, but after an all-night battle they were ejected, except from some front-line elements on a front of about 500 yards.

ROUSING WELCOME FOR NURSE ADAMS

HANOVER, July 15.—Nurse Mary Adams, daughter of James Adams of the Merchants Bank here, was given a royal welcome on her arrival home on leave from the front, where she has been engaged in hospital work for the past two years and a half. She was met at the station and welcomed by Mayor Taylor and representatives of the council. A procession was formed, and she was conveyed in an auto to her home.

In the evening a splendid public reception was accorded her in the town hall. The hall was beautifully decorated and filled with enthusiastic citizens. The program consisted of music and addresses of welcome by Mayor Taylor and Rev. Mr. Jackson. Miss Adams gave a very interesting talk on her work overseas. A very pleasing part of the program was the presentation to Miss Adams of a basket of beautiful roses by the Daughters of the Empire, and a magnificent bouquet of carnations by the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church. The mayor, on behalf of the citizens of the town, presented her with a jewel case containing a $10 goldpiece. Miss Adams has two brothers on active service.

CHILDREN ESCAPED WHEN BOLT RIPPED CHANDELIERS DOWN

Scores of Little Ones Panic-Stricken in Strathroy Church.

STRATHROY, July 15.—Scores of children who were attending Sunday school in the Presbyterian Church here this afternoon were terrified when during the heavy thunderstorm a bolt of lightning crashed into the room and tore the big chandeliers down. No one was injured, but panic prevailed for some minutes as every light in the place was put out of commission, and the bolt was followed by a terrific clap of thunder. Tonight the services had to be held by the light of oil lamps.

FARMERS WON'T LOSE AS RESULT OF FIRE

STRATHROY, July 15. — The Dominion Canners has made arrangements by which huge quantities of peas which had been contracted for, and had just started to be delivered, when their factory burned, will be threshed at Kerwood and then sent to other district canneries for preserving. In this way what threatened to be a huge loss for the farmers and the company will be averted. The firm had contracted for 500 acres of corn in this vicinity and this also will be looked after, it is stated, whtn the time comes. It is expected that the big industry will be re-established here as soon as possible, and Strathroy may have a bigger factory than before. The matter will be taken up at the head office shortly, it is stated.

GENERAL CURRIE IS HONORED BY KING AT FRONT

Commander of Canadians Is Specially Decorated on Battlefield.

HIGH PRAISE FOR CANUCKS

His Majesty Stands on Vimy Ridge and Marvels at Accomplishments.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Sunday, July 15.—Via London.—The King during his visit just concluded on the western front was intensely interested in the battlefield of Vimy Ridge and in the men who fought there so splendidly. While on the Canadian front he stood on the highest point of the ridge and looked over the plain to the east, where the enemy still struggles tenaciously to retain his hold upon Lens.

The King had seen Vimy before, under very different circumstances. In 1916 he climbed to the top of Mount St. Eloi, at a time when it was a frequent target for German guns, and looked out toward the Vimy Ridge, then held by a victorious and confident foe. In the foreground, as memorials of the heroic battles of 1915 between the Germans and the French, lay the ruins of Carency, Souchez and Neuville-St. Vaast, while to the north, scored and seamed with abandoned trenches, stood the ridge of Lorette.

Blood-Soaked Land.

Within view was a tract of blood-soaked land, upon which not less than a hundred thousand men had died in battle. Possession of the ridge of Vimy was the prize for which they had striven. In the distance, upon the upward slope, a little beyond the shell-shattered trees that marked the Arras-Bethune road, could be seen the enemy's trenches, line upon line of them, protected by wide belts of wire and stretching back in ordered succession to the summit of the ridge. In all the ground between St. Eloi and the enemy's first line no man could show his head above the British trenches without risking his life.

Cheered by Canadians.

That was Vimy as the King saw it in 1916. On this occasion he motored up the Arras road while it was lined with Canadian soldiers, who cheered like men who meant it.

After greeting Sir Arthur Currie, the Canadian corps commander, and the commander of the various divisions in the corps, the King continued his drive to a point near an "O. P.," which is an army slang for "observation post." He viewed Lens, Mauricourt and many other points farther back within the enemy's lines.

The King was a sailor before he came to the throne and he still has the sailor's preference for a telescope rather than the field glass. After he had thoroughly acquired the "lay of the land," he turned to his immediate surroundings.

Gazes on Cemetery.

A little military cemetery where some of our men who died on the very crest of the ridge were buried, because there was no road by which their bodies could be taken down to Carency, first claimed his sympathetic attention. They represented a part of the price in blood and tears of the great victory they had helped to win.

After paying his tribute to the dead, the King visited the German reserve trench, with its smashed dugouts and heaps of wreckage of war material. A general presented to his majesty an uncommon bit of spoil in the form of body armor, not unlike the plate mail of the middle ages, which had been worn by an enemy sniper. The King found for himself a case of machine gun cartridges and a belt of unused ammunition.

Long in Danger Zone.

The program for the visit called for twenty minutes on the ridge. The King spent an hour and a quarter there, to the perturbation of those responsible for his safety. It is frequently shelled, but his majesty was fortunate. Nothing came within half a mile while the party waited. In the air were a group of guardian 'planes, sent up to drive away any enemy machines which might venture across.

Before leaving the King warmly praised the splendid valor of the soldiers of the Dominion. He passed out of the corps area as he had entered it, through the ranks of cheering Canadians.

Earlier, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, his majesty visited one of the Canadian casualty clearing stations, and was greatly interested in its organization. It was a nurse from this station who was deputed to attend the King when, during his former visit, he was thrown from his horse and injured. This is the most advanced station of the Canadian group, and has now accommodation for 1,400 men, with an operating capacity of 120 stretcher cases every 24 hours. Some of the operating tables have been improvised from the wings of smashed aeroplanes which came down near by. The station is so close to the front that there are frequent air fights overhead.

Honors Sir Arthur Currie.

Later on, at Albert, beneath the shadow of the famous cathedral, devastated by the enemy, the King conferred on Sir Arthur Currie the honor of Knight Commander in the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

A number of French leaders at the same time received accolade knighthood.

SARNIA HOTELMEN ASKING REDUCTIONS IN ASSESSMENTS

Court of Revision Holding Its Final Session Today.

WARM WEATHER NEEDED

Bumper Harvest Is Expected in Rich County of Lambton.

SARNIA, July 15.—The final sittings of the court of revision for the hearing of appeals on assessments will be held Monday, when the judges hope to conclude their work. Over 100 appeals have been received, including those from the hotels of the city, asking for a reduction owing to the falling off in business caused by the enforcement of the Ontario temperance act, and the end of the list is expected to be reached on Monday.

ON WAY HOME.

SARNIA, July 15.—Mrs. W. Fawcett, 243 S. Vidal street, has received a message from her husband, Pte. W. Fawcett, dated at Quebec, stating that he would arrive in London on Monday or Tuesday, having been invalided home on account of wounds. Pte. Fawcett, went overseas with the 34th Battalion in October, 1915, and was later transferred to the 1st Battalion. At Ypres, on June 13, 1916, he was shell shocked and buried, but was rescued and sent to a hospital in England. Mrs. Fawcett will go to London to meet her husband.

CHILD BADLY HURT.

BRANTFORD, July 15.—The 3-year-old son of A. R. Burns, grocer, was run over by an automobile at noon today. The child, with another youngster, was passing Mitchell's Garage on Dalhousie street when an automobile went to turn in. Internal injuries are feared. The car was a Studebaker, and was driven, it is claimed, by a London agent.

Money Rolls In For Hog-Raiser

CHATHAM, July 14.—Fred Lague, con. 5, Raleigh Township, a prosperous farmer, has just received a check for $2,011.78, in payment for 69 hogs which he recently sold to Dan Donovan of this city. The check is the largest ever paid by Mr. Donovan, who has been in business for many years. Mr. Lague recently sold $500 worth of porkers, and still has 20 fine hogs at his farm.

ANOTHER STORM IS LIKELY TO DESTROY S. LONDON HOUSES

City Still Refuses To Build a Breakwater.

RESIDENTS ARE IN DANGER

And Claim $900 Would Save Property and Make It Secure.

That the city authorities, by their refusal to erect a breakwater costing $900, are endangering the lives of at least fifty residents on the west bank of the Thames, south of the Ridout street bridge, is the claim made by property-owners in that section. Land at the rear of the homes is being continually washed away by the action of the river, they claim, and in time will completely undermine the buildings. The state of affairs, brought to the attention of the public some months ago by The Advertiser, was at that time serious. It has become more so as the summer progressed with little or no decrease in the rainfall.

To such a distance has the water worn its way that a board walk at the rear of Mrs. L. Upchurch's premises is supported now only at the ends, and has, in fact, become a bridge. Previous rains had eaten away the soil from the bank, and for many years its place has been taken by ashes. These are now beginning to fall away, and the dining-room of the house is in danger. It is claimed that a heavy storm from the west would make a frame section of the house at the rear unsafe as a living room if it did not topple it into the river. Trees, which formerly afforded shade in the back yard, have had the earth swept from beneath them, and have slid down the steep embankment.

No Drying Room.

The yard at the rear of the residence was at one time extensive enough to permit clothes being hung there to dry. This is an impossibility now, as there is scarcely six feet of earth between the side door and the edge of the cliff.

Seven other houses in addition to that of Mrs. Upchurch's have, through similar reasons, been placed in a precarious condition, although the property has not been worn away to the same extent. Fences at the rear have been undermined so that the posts which were sunk several feet into the ground are visible. Along other portions of the bank the fence has been carried away.

The chief causes of this condition, the owners claim, are the dam a short way above the bend, which they claim sends the water into the west bank with greater force than into the left, the continual dumping of rubbish on the east bank and the outlets of storm sewers on the west bank.

Since complaints were made some time ago, the use of the east bank as a dump has almost entirely ceased. It was claimed that it was used only as a private dumping ground, but those across the river point to the fact that the wagons of leading manufacturing establishments have frequently been seen unloading scrap material there. Before the havy rains of last wek and the consequent rise in the river, it is claimed that scrap tin and similar material were piled high along the bank. It has disappeared now and will, if not swept down stream, make the bed of the river still higher on that side and force the water over to the other bank.

Not Worth Saving?

The city has adopted an attitude of indifference, the property owners claim. F. Hemsworth, the owner of two of the houses, asserts that he was told by one of the alderman that the property was not worth saving. The city does not neglect to collect taxes on it, he points out.

Efforts to have a breakwater put there have been futile, as the city has demanded that it be paid for by those occupying the land, asserting, it is said, that their property rights extended to the centre of the river. The landowners state that their leases give rights only to the water's edge, and that they should not, therefore, have to bear the whole burden of the breakwater's erection. They say that it should be erected at the city's expense.

That the breakwater would cost more than the one in West London, which extends for three-quarters of a mile, is the claim made by the city, according to South Londoners. This claim is absurd, they say, and they claim to have tenders from a leading contractor to erect the necessary 300 feet of wall and fill in the land behind it for $900. This would be sufficient protection for a time, and the work could be extended later to protect other portions of the bank which have not yet been affected to a great extent.

KING AND QUEEN PAY VISIT TO WAR FRONT AND ARE GRATIFIED

Confident That Allies' Cause Is in Good Hands.

NATION IS WONDERFUL

Pluck Will See Triumph Won, Whether Early or Late.

LONDON, July 15.—The King returned yesterday from his fourth visit to the front. On this occasion, he was accompanied for the first time by the Queen. He issued a special order to the armies in the field, saying:

"I leave you with feelings of admiration and gratitude for past achievements and with confidence in your future efforts. On all sides I have witnessed scenes of your triumphs. The battlefields of the Somme, the Ancre, Arras, Vimy and Messines have shown me great results.

"It was a great pleasure for the Queen to accompany me and become personally acquainted with the excellent arrangements for the care of sick and wounded, whose welfare are ever close to her heart. For the past three years the armies of the Empire and the workers in the home lands behind them have risen superior to every difficulty and every trial. The splendid successes already gained in concert with our gallant Allies have advanced us well on the way towards the completion of the task we undertook.

"There are doubtless fierce struggles still to come and heavy strains on our endurance to be borne. But be the road before us long or short, the spirit and pluck which have brought you so far will never fail, and under God's guidance final and complete victory in our just cause is assured."

STRANGE HEADGEAR FOR OLD LONDON STREETS

As a part of a recruiting drive these British soldiers donned their gas helmets and paraded in London.

Financial, Market and Commercial Section

THE LOCAL MARKET

Little produce was offered on the market today, the advent of seasonable fruit being the main feature.

Cherries are in good demand, and are of a particularly fine quality this year despite unfavorable conditions for the perfect variety. They sell at 12½c per quart, but are expected to drop slightly before the cherry season is over. The red cherry is of a better all-round quality than the black or white sort, which are juicy, but have become insipid on account of the excess rains.

Strawberries were responsible for much confusion to buyers on Saturday as they dropped and increased in price according to the value the individual strawberry purveyors attached to them. They sold at an approximate rate of 17c per box, some of the best calling for 20c, and the poor quality bringing as low as 10c.

Dairy produce fluctuated considerably today, eggs advancing from 36c and 37c to 38c retail and from 32c to 34c and 35c wholesale. Butter, per pound, retail, brought 42c, and 39c wholesale.

Oats remained firm at $2.15 per cwt. Hay was not so brisk today as it was on Friday and Saturday when 20 to 25 loads sold most readily. It is expected however that farmers will begin cutting this week, which will likely lower hay prices.

Butchers' meats were slow and sold at unchanged prices. Vegetables remained stationary generally, new potatoes are selling at 90c per peck. A few of the home-grown variety brought $1 on Saturday [illegible] when the local growth comes [illegible] expected to do within a few [illegible] price will undoubtedly come [illegible]ntally.

GRAIN.

Chicago, July 16.—Assumptions that wheat would be brought under absolue government control kept trade in that cereal at a minimum today, with prices showing no great change.

First transactions varied from ½c down to 1c advance, with July at $2 05 and September at $1 95.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, July 16.—Receipts at the Union stockyards today were 3,545 cattle, 283 calves, 783 hogs and 744 sheep. Hogs declined 50c, and choice cattle held steady, but common grades were weaker. Quotations:

London, July 16.—Money was in increased supply today through dividend disbursements. Discount rates were quiet.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, July 16.—The stock market started the week with a good undertone. Most of the business was in the specialties, while Russian issues were favored by the war news. Brazilian bonds were 1 to 2 points up on the resumption of cash payments. The accumulation of week-end orders was small, but gilt-edged securities and oil, industrial and rubber shares were well maintained. Americans were higher in sympathy with New York, but business was meagre.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 16—Wall Street, 10:30 p.m.—Last week's belated rise in rails was resumed at the outset of today's trading, the Pacifics and other standard transportation issues leading the movement at gains of 1 to almost 2 points. Grangers and coalers also were strong, Delaware and Hudson rising 2⅜. Shippings were also in demand at average advances of a point, and Lackawanna Steel led the equipments and industrials to higher levels. Metals, motors and minor specialties were firm but inactive. Tobaccos and sugars record recorded fractional improvement. Many gains were affaced before the end of the first half hour.

1:30 p.m.—Rally at noon was short-lived, prices soon falling to lower levels on the 6 per cent rate for call money. Coppers were especially weak, but steels and other industrials became increasingly heavy in the absence of support.

TERRIBLY SICK WOMAN

Surgical Operation Thought Necessary, But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her.

Madison, Wis.—"I was a terribly sick woman for over three years. I sufered with terrible pains in my back and was about to have an operation when a friend said to me, 'Before having that operation just try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let the operation wait, and my husband bought me the Vegetable Compound and it has made me a well woman and we have a lovely baby girl. We cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, and I hope this letter will lead other suffering women to try it."—Mrs. Benjamin F. Blake, R. F. D. No. 5, Box 22, Madison, Wis.

There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Blake, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

All women are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Mr. Farmer, you can get more money for your wool by sending it direct to us.
In all probability it will come to us, anyway, at some time, no matter to whom you sell it.
For over thirty years we have been one of the largest buyers of wool in Canada.
We could not continue in business for this length of time if we had not treated our customers fairly and pay top prices.
We send your money the same day as wool is received, only deducting freight or express charges.
We are now paying for wool as follows:
Unwashed fleece, fine..62c to 61c per lb.
Unwashed fleece, coarse.61c to 60c per lb.
Washed fleece, fine...77c to 74c per lb.
Washed fleece, coarse.74c to 71c per lb.
Ship today or write us, telling how much wool you have, if washed or unwashed, and breed of sheep clipped from. We will then quote you a straight price and send you shipping tags with full instructions.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

DISAPPROVES OF TERM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Will you kindly allow me a small space in your paper to voice my sentiments re Rev. Mr. Moyer's attacks on spiritualism? I am not a spiritualist, but I don't think it was very Christian-like of Mr. Moyer to refer to the lady who is trying to do good in her own way as "the old woman in the barn." I have met the "old woman" referred to, and I know her to be a true God-fearing woman, and if she chooses to preach the gospel a different way than Mr. Moyer does, it's not befitting a Christian minister to ridicule her. It is a well known fact that some of the Rev. Mr. Moyer's own congregation have been attending the meetings held by "the old woman in the barn." Is that the reason he attacked her in such an ungentlemanly manner? If Mr. Moyer wants to fight spiritualism it would be more to his credit to fight it with different weapons than that.

JUSTICE.

POLICEMEN.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As there are not many fires now, it would be a good idea for the firemen to act as policemen in their district, as the policeman, in spite of himself, has generally to arrive after the horse is stolen, for the criminal commits no crime where there is a chance of being caught at it. Yours truly, J. BINNS.

P. S.—Why don't the authorities let houses burn down? The owner would get the insurance anyway.—J. B.

ANOTHER PRAYER CHAIN.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—As there seems some little variety in the wording of the ever-increasing "endless chain" letter, I am sending to you another I have just received, this time entitled "English Chain of Prayer," with the same threat, if not coupled with the same unworthy appeal to the selfish side of human nature, and the same implication that the God to whom our so-called prayers are supposed to be addressed is one to be bargained with.

Surely, when every cent is needed to meet the exigencies of the crisis through which we are passing, even the most credulous and fanatical amongst us should hesitate to respond to so unauthorized, so foundationless an appeal as that of these "endless chain" letters, which seem to be sent broadcast throughout Canada.

As my letter of today had upon it only a two-cent stamp, it must have come from our city and have been one of the seven copies obediently sent by the recipient of the original message. The handwriting was that of a cultured woman, not the illiterate scrawl of some of those which from time to time have reached me previously, therefore one is the more surprised to find superstition where one would have looked for better things and a truer conception of the true meaning of prayer. Faithfully yours,

HARRIET A. BOOMER.

A copy of the latest is as follows:

English chain of prayer: "Oh, Lord, I beseech thee to bless our soldiers and sailors. Keep them from harm and bring them to dwell with us."

This prayer was sent in ancient times of war, and must be sent all over the world. Copy it and see what will happen. All who pass it by will meet with some great misfortune. But all who write it will be saved from harm. Send it to seven persons and each day you will receive some great joy. Start the day you receive it, and do not break the chain.

FORMER LONDONER.

STRATFORD, July 15. — W. G. Owens, of Harding, Owens & Goodwin, will be recommended to the council Monday night as city solicitor, succeeding R. S. Robertson, now of Toronto, who has resigned. Mr. Robertson will be retained for the present as consulting counsel.

Mr. Owens' family moved to London in 1883, where he attended the collegiate, and later studied law with the late R. K. Cowan.

After graduating Mr. Owens commenced practice at Forest, where he remained until 1908, when he came to Stratford. While in Forest he was town clerk from 1896 to 1903.

SCATTER FLOWERS AND BRIGHTEN THE WORLD

Flower Sunday was observed at the Ridout Street Methodist Church Sunday afternoon. The church was prettily decorated with an abundance of flowers, palms and flags. On the platform with the pastor, Rev. J. E. Holmes, were seated four little girls, who had dainty little flower baskets filled with pansies, which they distributed through the congregation by passing down the aisles.

Mr. Holmes spoke of the ministry of flowers and their infinite variety. He stated that there were 600 varieties of roses alone, and that after coming in contact with the flowers, no one could possibly be an atheist. "Hold the rose in your hand, and stop to ask yourself the question: 'Who made this; whence came its exquisite design; who put in it such color combination?'

"What cheer they bring," continued the preacher. "What a world it would be without flowers. Like a house without pictures or rugs, just bleak and bare. What a comfort to the sick, and what tokens of loving friendship. The fading of the flowers indicated the brevity of life, while the sweetness of their tender ministries of love cannot be forgotten," he said.

Christ's likeness to the rose of Sharon and the fragrance of His life and influence, was the closing thought impressed on the congregation. "Scatter the flowers and brighten up this old world of sin and sorrow," was his parting advice.

TWO FINE CONCERTS IN VICTORIA PARK

Band concerts were held in Victoria Park Saturday and Sunday evenings. The Saturday evening program was provided by the Marconi Club Band under the leadership of Professor Venuta. The proceeds were in aid of the French Flag Day fund.

The attendance was not as large as anticipated, due to the stores, theatres and other attractiosn keeping the crowds up town.

On Sunday evening one of the largest crowds that has yet attended the Sunday series gathered at the park.

The collection taken up by members of the C. E. F. Returned Chapter, I. O. D. E., will be devoted to purchasing necessities for the families and dependents of soldiers who have made the supreme sacrifice in defence of King and country.

The 7th Regiment Band provided the musical program.

Both the 7th Regiment Band under the leadership of Lieut. Slatter and the Marconi Club Band are excellent musical organizations, whose efforts have at all times delighted citizens.

The Marconi Club Band at the Saturday night concert specialized on French airs in honor of the French Flag Day.

CANADA'S LEADERS MUST LEARN TO BE TRUE TO CONSCIENCE

Public Is Suffering From Miserable Greed and Dishonesty.

"Truth is on the scaffold, and error on the throne. We see this in our country today. At a time when men should sink every selfish, dishonest, ignoble thought, we see men in authority, men who should be above reproach in times like these, making capital out of the food, grafting out of the bacon. These men should be forced to acknowledge their wrongdoing and return to the country all profit filched dishonestly by their selfish greed."

Rev. Dr. Silcox spoke as above at the First Congregational Church last evening in a sermon on "The Regency of Righteousness."

"We are constantly facing questions which try our faith in an overruling Providence," he said.

Men Are Skeptical.

"Men today ask is there such a thing as disinterested goodness in the world? Will men be loyal to God and steadfast in duty when the rewards are not forthcoming? Will men stand by noble principles when doing so brings on them poverty, imprisonment, exile and death?

"We ask—Is God good? Is He good to those who strive to do His will? Is there any difference between the man who serves God and the man who serves Him not?

"The good things of life seem to be given as plentifully to the profane as to the prayerful.

The end and purpose of God's dealings with man is not to augment his happiness, increase his bank account, but to enlarge and ennoble his manhood.

Job argued with his accusers that so far as this world is concerned, the ungodly often fared as well as the godly—sometimes better. Multitudes of wicked men have achieved wealth, happiness and health, while many of the saintliest souls have lived in poverty, suffered persecution and death.

The Greatest Good.

But to be right—right with God, right with his neighbor and right with his conscience—is the highest good and goal of life.

And until our leaders in Canada learn that they must be true to conscience we are going to suffer from their miserable greed and dishonesty. What we need is men who are as morally efficient as they are mentally efficient. A leader without moral power is worse than useless. Men must be true to conscience, if they would guide the nation aright in these days. And the sooner we put out these men of corrupt morals and unclean hands, the sooner will we stand firm and invincible.

I would rather be an old pagan Stoic than be a Christian of the type that has degraded the religion of Jesus to a low utilitarian scheme of happiness that says, "Honesty is the best policy, because it pays best," or "Wrong-doing is ruinous and hazardous, therefore we should shun wrong-doing."

Types of Christians.

Some Christians, instead of being a hero battling to the death for some great principle, have degenerated into snivelling, namby - pamby creatures, singing, "Bless the Lord, I'm happy on my way."

This hymn for a true fighter is, "Nearer my God to Thee, e'en though it be a cross that raiseth me." Happiness is not the great end of life. Liking has nothing to do with it. We need the iron of duty in our blood. We are too anaemic.

Men are tested today in a furnace heated seven times over. Safety first? Well, stay at home and let someone else die for you in Flanders. Money first? Stay at home and try to garner the wealth while your brothers are standing with weary feet in the trenches or climbing the parapet, while you stay at home, nursing a craven conscience. Duty first? Then line up and take your place along with your brothers across the water, and do your part in bringing about the supremacy of this principle of righteousness. We need men of Job's calibre today, who, spite of everything, will hold fast to their integrity.

MEMORIAL METHODIST PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK

There was a large turnout of scholars and parents at the annual picnic of the Memorial Methodist Sunday School, held at Springbank on Thursday afternoon. CHRISTIANITY IS PRACTICAL FOR THE BUSINESSMAN

Pastor Warns Against Too Much Striving for Things Material.

That although many texts in the Bible make Christianity appear to the businessman to be impracticable, deeper study would reveal that they were compatible with every day existence and its problems, was the assertion made by Rev. Burton Robertson, new pastor of the Memorial Methodist Church, speaking Sunday morning from the text, "Take Therefore No Thought for the Morrow."

The text, he said, was one which was not attractive to the average man of affairs, and was one of those which at times made him think that the doctrine of Christ was not practical. This was not so, he said, for Christ was not a dreamer, his ideas and ideals appealed to the best minds in every generation. The text need not be accepted exactly as it stood. Translated from its original language three hundred years ago the word "thought" at that time conveyed to the English mind "worry," or "overanxiety."

Prone to Worry.

In Christ's day, as at present, men were prone to worry about many things. Young men entering business life or a profession were anxious to make a fortune or to become leaders in their work. To this ambition they sacrificed all their energy, neglecting their church, their family life and their health. Often they attained their goal, but always to find that they had lost the things which in life counted most.

Many people today, the minister said, were overanxious about the attitude of others toward them, and others although not worrying about themselves were overanxious about their children and their place in society. This worry often proved to be the chief obstacle in the road to success. A few people were overanxious in work for God. They became discouraged and imagined that God was not backing them up, and that the best thing to do was to drop out of the work. This sphere of labor, the minister said, was one where each one could be sure that not one bit of his efforts would be lost. It was the place where God was in full control and would take care of all that was done there.

Distorted By Fear.

One of the reasons why worry was of no use was because the morrow seldom turned out as pictured. Fear distorted everything.

God never promised strength for more than one day, the speaker said, and when the responsibilities of the morrow were added to the burden of today it made a path which led straight to failure.

Worry could be prevented, he asserted. God wanted everyone to plan his life, as a businessman planned his affairs and in this manner prevented needless anxiety. If a man's life were made as big as God wanted it to be there would be little need for worry. It was noticeable that the men and women performing the smallest tasks were those who worried most. Letting life go out in service for God was a sure cure for worry, we lost our trouble when we were willing to share the sorrows of another.

In the evening Mr. Robertson preached on "The Greatest Thing in the World."

Gold Braid Only For Officers Who Received Wounds

Silver Braid Cannot Be Worn by N. C. O.'s or Men, Says Order.

Attention is called in camp orders today to the improper use of gold braid by officers, N. C. O.s and men, and the improper use of silver braid, indicating that the wearer has returned on account of illness. The order is republished from general orders, and does not refer particularly to infractions of the regulations by soldiers in this district.

The gold braid is to be worn only by those whose names appear in the official casualty lists rendered by the adjutant-general's office. "Wounded—gas" or "Wounded—shell shock" are entitled to the distinction, but not accidental wounds.

The wearing of the silver braid is absolutely to be prevented, as it is unauthorized.

ESTABLISHED WORLD'S RECORD.

F. G. Mitchell, agent for the Franklin car in this city, Saturday morning received a wire from the firm's headquarters at Syracuse, giving him details of the test made on Friday by Franklin agents.

The wire says: "179 Franklin dealers yesterday demonstrated by road tests the Franklin car, and averaged 40 3-10 miles on a gallon of gasoline. Cowles Tolmie, New Haven, established a world's record by going 82 8-10 miles on a single gallon of gasoline; 86 dealers made better than 40 miles on a single gallon of gasoline. Weather and road conditions varied.

FIVE LONDON GIRLS SAFE IN ENGLAND

A cable has been received announcing the safe arrival in England of the five London girls recently chosen by St. John Ambulance Brigade Overseas for V. A. D. work in imperial military hospitals, under the auspices of St. John Ambulance Association. These are Misses Norine Butler and Doris Sabine of No. 28 Lord Kitchener Nursing Division, and Misses Cheetham, Dodge and Thomson of No. 4 Nursing Division. They went over in a detachment of thirty-eight young women representing St. John Ambulance Nursing Divisions in all parts of Canada.

GIVEN ROUSING SENDOFF

Big Crowd of Soldiers and Friends Were at the Depot.

Troops to the number of nearly two hundred joined in the trek eastward on Sunday, when two drafts, one from the 1st Hussars draft-giving depot, and another from the 21st Overseas Company, left for an eastern training point.

Led by the A. M. C. Pipe Band, the men from the 21st Overseas Company, 100 strong, marched from Carling Heights Camp to the G. T. R. station, where they left in two cars attached to the 4:25 train. Two officers accompanied the men, Lieut. F. F. Lovegrove, in charge of the draft, and Lieut. Orville Rolfson.

The 21st Overseas Company, which is commanded by Lieut.-Col. Milligan, has been most successful in securing recruits, and has not been long in reaching the required strength to send a draft of 100 men overseas. Recruiting will continue for the 21st Company until another 100 men have been obtained, and trained, when they will be dispatched overseas likewise.

Off in Evening.

A draft of about 90 men from the 1st Hussars draft-giving depot left on the 7:13 G. T. R. train for the east, in charge of Lieut. T. R. Grieves, assisted by Lieut. W. M. Campbell. They were led to the station by the 1st Hussars Band, and by the bugle band of No. 1 Special Service Company.

Major R. G. Stewart, officer commanding the 1st Hussars depot, was most enthusiastic concerning the men whom he sent away, and both he and his officers, and also the officers who inspected the men, spoke in the highest terms of them. "They are the best bunch of men in the district," was the way Major Stewart put it.

Earl Robertson, one of the members of the draft, is said to have broken all records for a quick trip overseas, having left within twenty-four hours after his enlistment. He was anxious to get away, and his inoculations and vaccination were done at once, and his name was added to the list of those about to leave.

Will Carry On.

Major Stewart will carry on the work of the depot and continue to recruit and train men for overseas service. It was hoped to send away a full draft of 100 men, but owing to illness the strength of the draft was slightly reduced. There are at present about fifteen members of the unit in the hospital, and these will, if fit, form the nucleus of another draft.

Both drafts received an enthusiastic send-off from the large crowds of friends and relatives that were at the station.

FIVE LONDON GIRLS SAFE IN ENGLAND

A cable has been received announcing the safe arrival in England of the five London girls recently chosen by St. John Ambulance Brigade Overseas for V. A. D. work in imperial military hospitals, under the auspices of St. John Ambulance Association. These are Misses Norine Butler and Doris Sabine of No. 28 Lord Kitchener Nursing Division, and Misses Cheetham, Dodge and Thomson of No. 4 Nursing Division. They went over in a detachment of thirty-eight young women representing St. John Ambulance Nursing Divisions in all parts of Canada.

God's greatest gift to humanity was an appreciation of music and music's ability to stir the human emotions. Have you ever realized how necessary music is in your life? If you contemplate this thought seriously, you will appreciate the absolute need of a New Edison Disc Phonograph in your home. W. McPhillips, 189 Dundas street, London.

Here are the Results of the Sworn-to Demonstrations of Franklin Thrift as Tested out all over the United States.

Last Friday, Franklin dealers everywhere were doing the same thing—measuring Franklin thrift by mileage on a single gallon of commercial gasoline. Our own record was 34 3-10 miles per gallon.

On Saturday we got a telegram from the Franklin factory, announcing the Grand National Average, confirmed by affidavits of prominent men in all localities where the tests were made.

In New Haven, Connecticut, a stock Franklin covered 82 8-10 miles on a single gallon of gasoline. That was the highest mileage.

Forty and three-tenths miles on a single gallon—the average of 179 stock Franklin cars, the ENTIRE number participating in this nation-wide demonstration.

Here you have the Franklin standard of thrift.

Think of the roads, the climate, the weather, all of these cars experienced! Then, think of the significance of such a nation-wide test.

It means, as a car for THRIFT, the Franklin stands alone among all fine automobiles.

Only a FINE car can show such results.

What's Back of It All?

Only by the elimination of 177 heavy and troublesome water-cooling parts and complicated mechanism everywhere, can gasoline-consuming friction and drag, wear and tear, be minimized.

Only scientific-lightweight construction and fine materials, rightly distributed, allow a car to put a stop to fuel waste.

More than Miles per Gallon

This EASY RUNNING of the Franklin means efficiency—waste cutting—all along the line.

TAKE TIRES—Franklin owners report an average of over 10,000 miles in a five-year period. Easy, buoyant, gasoline-saving operation is responsible for this record.

DEPRECIATION—Find a used Franklin for sale. Compare the Franklin re-sale price with the prices other fine used-cars bring, in proportion to their first cost. If gasoline is lasting, the car is long-lived. The same wearing drag that boosts the gasoline bill also boosts the repair bill.

Whenever you come to the conclusion that the next automobile you buy should deliver a dollar's worth of efficiency for every dollar you invest, then you are ready to investigate the Franklin.

FIELD DAY ON WEDNESDAY NEXT RECORD-BREAKER

Wednesday, July 18, will be military field day at Queen's Park, and promises to be a memorable one in the annals of amateur athletics and sports. All units in camp will take part individually and collectively in the many events which the program includes.

Foot races from 100 yards to 5 miles, high and broad jumps, pole vaulting, shot-putting, etc., will prove in themselves intensely interesting, particularly in view of the fact that contestants are drawn from all parts of the district, a number of them holding amateur records in their particular events.

Features which have never been witnessed in this city heretofore, such as military horse races of every description, embracing relay races and steeplechase, have been arranged for.

Added to this are practical demonstrations of bombing, throwing hand grenades, bayonet fighting, infantry attacks and formations. The afternoon promises entertainment of a novel, highly instructive and exciting nature.

The committee is blessed with a sense of humor, judging from items such as boxing in barrels, pie-eating contests, Uncle Hiram and his jaunting car, pillow-fighting astride the pole, and numerous others.

The ladies have not been forgotten either. A handsome prize is being offered for the best-looking girl on the grand stand.

Three prizes will be given for each event, and a silver medal to the champion of the day.

The First Hussars Band, Military Pipe Band and Juvenile Pipe Band (ten pieces) will all be in attendance.

Judges of equitation will be Lieut.-Col. Brown, Lieut.-Col. Mayberry, Major Baty and Major Cameron.

Master of ceremonies, Lieut. Atkinson.

Official starter, A. J. Taylor (physical director Y. M. C. A.)

Official scorers and referees, Capt. Garrett, Lieut. Nelles.

The doings are scheduled to start at 2 o'clock, and, being conducted by the military authorities, will commence right on the dot.

FLOWER SUNDAY AT HALE ST. METHODIST

A beautiful service for the children was held at Hale Street Methodist Church, when Flower Sunday was observed.

The church was decorated with all varieties of flowers, and the children added to the attractiveness of the service by their singing.

Rev. Byron Snell, pastor, addressed the children, choosing for his subject, "Flower Land."

After speaking of the agencies that produce flowers, he pointed out to the children some of the blessings to be found in flower land, such as beauty, fragrance, honey, etc., as well as poison found in some plants.

The flowers are a silent ministry for good, giving a great blessing from the beauty of their life as illustrated in Psalms, xix., 1-3.

In the fall the flowers fade and die, but every spring from the seeds grow up other flowers, and so the beautiful life in flower land continues.

In conclusion the speaker brought home the resurrection lesson. If the seed from the flowers that die in the fall survive the frosts of winter and produce flowers again in the spring, why should not man survive the blight of death and live a more beautiful life after death?

Rev. H. T. Ferguson of Centennial Methodist Church had charge of the evening service.

Anna Case, America's greatest soprano, has appeared before audiences in various cities in the United States in concert in actual duet with the reproduction of her own voice on the New Edison. She does this cheerfully and gladly in order to prove to the public that it is impossible to tell the difference. W. McPhillips, 189 Dundas street, London.
